Board Violates Sunshine Law, Adjourns Quickly

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County advisory board met without public notice Wednesday, then adjourned after a member said he thought the meeting was in violation of the Sunshine law. The board was also told at the time the county's attorney office said the meeting was in violation of the law.

The meeting of the Seminole County Plumbing Contractors Licensing Board convened at 3:30 p.m. in the county's building official's office. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss changes in various building codes, according to Chuck Long, deputy building official.

Long said it was an informal get-together, a workshop meeting, to go over various codes and determine if the members had any recommended changes to offer to the Southern Building Code association.

Art Davis, a member of the five-person board, said he received a notice of the meeting but told the members when they met Wednesday that he did not think it was a legal meeting because the public had not been notified. He said that when he was appointed to the board he was informed that it was subject to the Sunshine Law.

Davis told the members he didn't want to "make waves," but was involved in some action against the county and didn't want to have anyone casting aspersions in his direction by his attendance to an unpublicized meeting.

Davis is one of two developers who have questioned the county's purchase of 2,900 acres for a regional sewage treatment facility. They maintain that the purchase was illegal and part of a larger scheme to benefit elected officials and a private residential development. That issue has been discussed before a grand jury and may be investigated by another grand jury that holds its first meeting today.

According to a recording of the plumbing meeting, Davis was told the meeting was an informal one, and as such, a public notice was not necessary. Business then continued, and Davis objected again.

A secretary was told by the board to contact the county attorney's office to determine if the meeting was in violation of the Sunshine Law and, according to the tape, she reported that it was. Davis then left and the meeting continued, reportedly adjourning shortly thereafter.

Lonnie Groot, of the county attorney's office, said that office did not have enough information about the incident to have any comment even though that office was apparently contacted about the meeting.

The board members, appointed by the county commission, meet once or twice a year to review building codes and recommend code changes to the county commission. It last met in February.

Long said. Long said even though it was an informal meeting, it ended after the members were told the meeting was in violation of the Sunshine Law.

"There was no meeting," he said. Long said the five members of the board were asked to get together to determine if they had any recommendations to make to the Southern Building Code and had no county business to discuss. He said there were no minutes planned and the meeting was not chaired. The county chief plumbing inspector also sat in, he said. Long said the next meeting of the board will definitely be announced to the public.

Joy McIlwain, spokesman for the state Attorney General's Office, said any meeting of an appointed advisory board falls under the protection of the Sunshine Law and has to be publicized. She said the law also applies to ad hoc committees that only make recommendations.

Honored Family Enjoys Life With Nature

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Life is not easy on the Yarborough ranch, home of Seminole County's "Farm Family of the Year." It's up in the morning between 5 and 6 to feed the horses and cow dogs. There's mending fences, marking calves, rounding up cattle, baling hay and logging timber to be done.

But for Ed Yarborough, 55, who rode the range on the horse with his uncle, before he was old enough to sit in a saddle by himself, it's the only life. His mother cooked at Geneva Elementary School and there wasn't any babysitter, so he went to work with his uncle.

King Speaker Causes Stir

Selection Called 'Asinine'

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

The selection of Art Linkletter as guest speaker at culminating ceremonies for Sanford's Martin Luther King celebration "is asinine," City Commissioner Bob Thomas said this morning.

"This is not a racial thing. I want to make that perfectly clear," said Thomas, the city's first black commissioner. "Linkletter is an entertainer, not someone who can identify with King's ideals. It's an asinine choice in my opinion."

A Wednesday Sanford Herald article carried word that King celebration planners had tagged Linkletter for the city's Jan. 17 King celebration banquet. Thomas said since the article's appearance, he's received "more than 20 calls from people who are outraged, incensed," over the selection.

Linkletter is a "selling point" who will share equal billing with Dr. Fred Humphries, black president of Florida A&M University, according to King committee chairman Dr. Lurleen Sweeting. Planning to bring both speakers to Sanford began last month.

Dr. Sweeting and banquet sub-committee chairman Shirley Schilke said before Linkletter was selected they tried unsuccessfully to secure a nationally recognized black for the Sanford celebration. They say those they contacted were already planning to be part of the King celebration in Atlanta, Ga., or their appearance fees were too steep.

Linkletter "hasn't definitely said yes or no," about coming to Sanford. Mrs. Schilke said this morning.

Mrs. Schilke was not at Tuesday night's King celebration planning session, when committee members said they were confident she was to have finalized plans by the end of this week to bring Linkletter to Sanford.

Dr. Sweeting said she has invited Humphries to appear at the ceremony and expected to finalize the agreement within the next few days. "It will be equal," she said of the guests' appearance. "We'll have two featured speakers. We're doing this to be sure everyone feels they're a part of the Martin Luther King celebration and all feel they're repre-

Joint Panel Meeting Pledges Cooperation

Better cooperation and open lines of communication were pledged today following a joint meeting of the Industrial Action Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, members of the Sanford City Commission and the Seminole County Board of Commissioners.

The joint meeting was called so the committee could explain its objectives and air complaints involving the city and county; said Dave Farr, president of the chamber.

He said the committee is actively working to attract industry to the Sanford area but has seen some of its work stymied by city and county rules and regulations. The company involved commits itself to moving and then is required to make changes or meet requirements which make the offer to move less attractive.

Two examples were presented at the meeting, Farr said. One was of an Orlando paving company that agreed to move to Sanford but could not get a variance from the city of Sanford for a fuel tank it needed. The other example was that of developers not building in the Upsala Industrial Park west of Sanford because of required county permits and various regulations.

Farr said each commission plans to assign one of its members to meet once a month with the committee. That way the commission can know what the committee is doing and have an understanding of the various problems it and industrialists are having in their planned moves to the Sanford area.

Farr said the Chamber sponsors the committee because industry widens the tax base and provides jobs locally.

The committee meets every Thursday at 8:15 a.m. at the Chamber of Commerce in Sanford.

Unconnected Head Bones

No bones about it: The county road crew was shaken when they looked in an abandoned plastic bag and saw skulls and bones.

Down went the bag. Out went the alarm. And a lot of law officers thought that not only was the noon hour ruined but another tough case to solve had been found.

There was, however, no corpus delicti.

The bag, found around 11 a.m. off General Hutchinson Parkway near U.S. Highway 17-92 contained two skulls and some rib bones, similar to those found in physicians' offices for demonstrations.

An investigator for the Seminole County sheriff's department said the skulls, complete with latches to hold the tops on, were abandoned about six months ago. He said most of the skulls used now for educational purposes are plastic. A national supply house in Chicago said plastic skulls cost around $85 each. They don't sell real ones.

Mark Bennett, 26, of Chuluota, said he was with the crew laying sod when he saw the bag, folded and stuffed under a log. Thinking perhaps it was a cache of hidden cash, he cut the bag in half, letting a skull roll. Bennett, father of three, hoistfooted to the crew's supervisor. He said his first thought was that he had stumbled onto a situation similar to the death of Adam Walsh, a Florida youth who was decapitated.

When the supervisor opened the bag, another skull rolled out.

Bennett said the skulls had a few missing teeth and were stained and wrapped in towels. Investigators said some of the bones were wired together and there was no indication a crime had been committed.

Law agencies in Seminole County had no record of any such theft this year.

Longwood, County Seek Agreement

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Attorney Ann Colby and County Attorney Nikki Clayton are scheduled to get together this week to work out some of the concerns the city has over the first draft of a wholesale sewer treatment and disposal agreement between the city and the county.

Ms. Colby discussed the proposed pact with Longwood City Commission Monday night. The agreement calls for the county to provide treatment and disposal of Longwood's wastewater for an initial user charge of $1.50 per thousand gallons of wastewater. The charge would be adjusted from time to time by the county based on its cost for providing wholesale service.

The county agrees to keep its rates to Longwood at the lowest available rate for equivalent wholesale service. The county would reserve up to 600,000 gallons per day sewage service capacity.

Under the proposed agreement, Longwood would be responsible for designing, permitting and constructing a master lift station to located at the existing Skylark Wastewater Treatment Plant property, but the commission would like to see it built next to the railroad tracks on city property on Grant Street.

Longwood would be responsible for the operation and maintenance of its lift station as well as the cost of electricity necessary to transmit flow through the county's transmission system to the county's Greenwood Lakes plant.

The city would also be responsible for construction of the transmission system within the county's Water and Sewer Planning Guidelines. The city would dedicate the transmission

Brantley Applauds Senate Election

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Lieutenant Governor-elect Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, says the Florida Senate's election Tuesday of Democrat John Vogt, Merritt Island, as president, is "exciting" and "positive."

Vogt was elected as president of the Florida Senate on a 27-13 vote, which was then made unanimous at the request of the man Vogt defeated for the job, State Sen. Ken Jenne, D-Hollywood. Jenne requested the vote be unanimous as a gesture of unification.

"It's certainly exciting for central Florida to have someone from that area leading the senate," Brantley said.

Vogt represents the 17th state senate district, which encompasses much of Seminole County, including all of Sanford and Casselberry. Also in the district are portions of Brevard, Orange, and Osceola counties.

"It's very positive to have that type of individual leading that body," Brantley said of the Senate's vote.

"I served with him in the Seminole County Legislative Delegation, and our families are friends," he added.

Republican governor-elect Bob Martinez, Tampa, and Brantley won their top state jobs in the Nov. 4 general election. They take office Jan. 6. Martinez was mayor of Tampa until last summer when he resigned to run for governor, and Brantley was a state representative in the 27th House district, which includes a portion of Seminole County.

"I think we're going to have a senate that's basically in-tune with the philosophy of the Martinez-Brantley administration and will work for the programs we advocated in our campaign," Brantley said. Those programs include growth with management and state budget belt tightening.

"John Vogt is a very dedicated and conscientious individual and he was interested in that (senate presidency) position for some time," he continued. "Now that he has it, I think he'll be one of the best presidents that anybody has seen."

Vogt replaces outgoing president Harry Johnston.

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Burglary Suspect's Abandoned Car Leads Deputies To Arrest

A 21-year-old Casselberry man who allegedly tried to burglarize vehicles in the Ambherst Subdivision at about 1:30 a.m. Monday fled from Seminole County sheriff's deputies in that area. The man reportedly left his girlfriend's car behind, and that linked him to the case.

Police traced the ownership of the vehicle and tracked down the suspect who was questioned at the sheriff's department and arrested at about 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Robert Jonathan Butzlaft, of 1118 Galahad Drive, Casselberry, has been charged with attempted vehicle burglary and was being held without bond.

Husband Charged With Abuse

Marilyn J. Burk, told Altamonte Springs police at her home at about midnight Tuesday that she was fearful of her husband, who had allegedly threatened to stab her. She said he had threatened her in the past.

Police were concerned for her safety and charged Richard Arlen Burk Jr., 27, of #2149, 639 Jamestown Blvd., Altamonte Springs, with assault/spouse abuse. Police reported that Burk, who was apparently under the influence of alcohol, said his name was "Hellion Warlord."

Good Samaritan Attacked

Albert G. Lutz Jr., 22, of 1940, Hunterfield Road, Maitland told Seminole County sheriff's deputies he was robbed of $15, attacked and had his car stolen by two men he had given a ride.

Lutz said he picked up the first suspect, who was carrying a gas can on Lakeview Drive, Fern Park, at about 1:45 a.m. Wednesday. Lutz took that man to a car parked at the ABC Lounge, U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, where they met the second suspect. Lutz agreed to take the suspects home, and when Lutz drove onto North Street, he said the first suspect put a bayonet to his throat and demanded cash.

Lutz struggled and stopped the car. The first suspect told the second suspect to knock Lutz out, and that man choked him and beat his head with his fist — but Lutz managed to escape from his car, a sheriff's report said.

The suspects fled in Lutz's car, which lawmen found wrecked on Lakeview Drive in Fern Park. Lutz, who was treated at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs, was given a referral notice by deputies, meaning he has 10 days to file charges in the case.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Lisa L. Fritzell, 17, of Longwood, and Jina Griffiths, 17, of Apopka, reported to sheriff's deputies that items including clothing, cash and jewelry were stolen from their lockers at Lake Brantley High School, Altamonte Springs, Tuesday. Ms. Fritzell's loss was estimated at $225, while the goods stolen from Ms. Griffiths were valued at more than $180.

A $300 concrete cutting saw was stolen from a truck belonging to Professional Service Inc. of Clearwater when that company's crew was working on gasoline pumps at the Eastern station, State Road 496, Altamonte Springs, Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Russell Burks, 21, of 308 Satsuma Drive, Sanford, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen a $250 rifle from his home.

Sheriff's deputies have the name of a suspect who may have stolen a guitar, three leather jackets, a television, and other items from the home of Douglas Alan Springs, 34, of 4718 Dyke Road, Oviedo, Monday or Tuesday.

Tools and other items valued at about $1,700 were stolen from the vehicle of Randall W. Flake, 23, of 3518 Baxter Drive, Winter Park, Monday or Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Margaret Jane Capuzzi, 24, of 877 W. State Road 434, Oviedo, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen about $400 worth of jewelry from her home between Nov. 11 and Monday.

A 1985 Dodge Lancer, valued at about $8,000, was stolen from Bob Dance Dodge, U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Daniel P. Cuevas, 40, of Winter Park, reported to sheriff's deputies a 1982 Pontiac valued at $6,634 was stolen from Allied Motors, 3851 S. Orlando Ave., Sanford, Monday or Tuesday.

Sarah C. Nash, 25, of 123 E. Lauren Court, Fern Park, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen her 1967 Volkswagen van valued at $1,500. The theft occurred between Sunday and Tuesday.

A calculator, a jumpstart and other items with a combined value of about $100 were stolen from the locker of Sharon L. Pollick, 18, of 211 Timbercove Circle, Longwood, at Lake Brantley High School, Altamonte Springs, Monday, a sheriff's report said.

Kenneth Walter Lee, 27, of 224 Georgetown Drive, Casselberry, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $279 bed liner was stolen from his pickup truck Sunday or Monday.

Jewel Hawley, 48, of Kenansville, Fla., reported to sheriff's deputies that a watch and other items were stolen from her car while parked at 5019 Ferncrest Drive, Winter Park, between Nov. 11 and Monday. She named a possible suspect.

FIRE CALLS

Sanford fire fighters have responded to the following calls, details based on fire department reports:

TUESDAY
—4:47 p.m., 217 Park Ave., rescue. A 31-year-old man fell after reportedly becoming light headed. He was transported to the hospital.
—11:56 p.m., 1101 E. First Street, County Services Building, fire alarm. System malfunction determined after survey.

WEDNESDAY
—5:56 a.m., 1125 E. Seventh Street, smoke alert. Smoke reported behind wall, attributed to short in electrical panel. Firemen advised owner to call an electrician after disconnecting main circuit breaker.

—5:42 p.m., 1116 W. Third Street, rescue. A 74-year-old man suffering from chest pain was transported to the hospital.

—9:54 a.m., 2207 W. 13th Street, Crooms School of Choice, rescue. A 22-year-old pregnant woman, employed at the school, reported feeling light headed after standing up too quickly. She was advised to seek a medical check-up after rescue workers' survey.

Longwood Parade Route Disputed

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

A proposed new route for the Longwood Christmas Parade has received consensus for approval from the Longwood City Commission pending state Department of Transportation consideration. But enthusiasm for the change is not unanimous among some of the parade committee members. The parade is scheduled for Dec. 13 at 10 a.m.

"It stinks as far as I am concerned," committee member Charles Miller told the commission Monday night. "The staging is not as good; there is less viewing area, and there is not as much parking." He said he had driven the two routes and the new route is shorter — the proposed route being .35 mile as compared to .65 last year.

However, Longwood Parks and Recreation Director Bill Goebel said the city police department had measured the proposed route and reported it was longer.

Miles was not the only committee member expressing disapproval. Ethel Goldberg, a member of the committee and wife of Mayor Larry Goldberg, said, "I don't like the new route either."

The proposed route would be along State Road 434 from Grant Street to a private drive to the First Baptist Church of Longwood, but the road will be blocked all the way to the U.S. Highway 17-92 intersection, according to Longwood Police Lt. Mark Smock. He said Westbound traffic coming from Winter Springs will have to either turn left or right on 17-92.

The parade staging area would be from the church parking lot along Bay Street, and the line of march will be on Grant Street to State Road 434. Traffic will be detoured on S. Grant Street to Wildemere and east to U.S. Highway 17-92 until after the parade units have passed, and then North Grant Street will also be open to traffic which can move east on Church Avenue to 17-92, according to Goebel.

Last year, the parade necessitated the closing of State Road 434 from Range Line Road to County Road 427 for about 3 1/4 hours, bringing objections from some business owners and doctors on staff at South Seminole Hospital. Goebel has said the route switch was mainly for safety reasons because of the potential problem of access to the hospital by emergency vehicles and to the city's main fire station on W. Warren Avenue.

Goebel said the old route caused a problem restricting maneuvers for some of the parade groups because of median strips, which would not be the case if the new route is used.

Miles, who was not at the committee meeting at which the decision was made, said only two or three members were present. He said only five percent of the merchants along the portion of State Road 434 that was closed for the parade last year complained, and the route had already received the DOT's approval this year. Miles said the merchants should consider themselves citizens and promote the parade in the spirit of goodwill.

Charles "Rusty" Miles Jr., also on the parade committee, commented, "It is a shame that a minority of businesses can cause trouble. We are trying to build some community spirit and continuity, but by changing the route we are destroying what we began."

Dale Lilly, parade committee chairman, said it would be easier to control the new route. Goebel said it will take only half as many patrolmen and half as many barricades.

Smock said motorists will be given more advance notice this year with generator-operated lighted signs giving them warning and direction. He said arrows will be used to split westbound traffic on 434. He said 29 signs of various types will be needed to block the parade route and detour traffic.

Patrolmen will be stationed at every intersection and will assist detoured motorists in getting onto 17-92 at Church and Wildemere.

Those wishing to enter units in the parade can do so at city hall at 175 W. Warren Ave. The deadline is Dec. 1.

Longwood Cancels Candidate Forum

The Longwood commission candidate forum scheduled for 7 p.m. today at city hall has been canceled because several of the candidates are unable to attend. Commissioner Perry Faulkner, who spearheaded the forum by getting the League of Women Voters to moderate it, said the decision to cancel was made because the other candidates for his District 3 seat, Lynette Dennis and Irene Campbell, had conflicting meetings; and District 5 candidate David Gunter was going out of town on a hunting trip. Mrs. Dennis had a Longwood Historical Commission scheduled for tonight.

This would have left only three of the six candidates. Mayor Larry Goldberg and Bill Mitchell in the District 5 race and Faulkner in District 3. He said he did not want it to appear one-sided.

Local State Rep Office To Open

New District 34 State Rep. Frank Stone, R-Casselberry, will open his local legislative office Thursday.

Stone defeated incumbent Carl Selph, R-Casselberry, in the September Republican primary to win the seat. He had no opposition in the Nov. 4 general election.

Stone's office is located at 950 South Winter Park Drive, Suite 325, Casselberry. The phone number is 767-9704.

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Burglary Suspect's Abandoned Car Leads Deputies To Arrest

A 21-year-old Casselberry man who allegedly tried to burglarize vehicles in the Amberst Subdivision at about 1:30 a.m. Monday fled from Seminole County sheriff's deputies in that area. The man reportedly left his girlfriend's car behind, and that linked him to the case.

Police traced the ownership of the vehicle and tracked down the suspect who was questioned at the sheriff's department and arrested at about 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Robert Jonathan Butzlaff, of 1118 Galahad Drive, Casselberry, has been charged with attempted vehicle burglary and was being held without bond.

Husband Charged With Abuse

Marilyn J. Burk, told Altamonte Springs police at her home at about midnight Tuesday that she was fearful of her husband, who had allegedly threatened to stab her. She said he had threatened her in the past.

Police were concerned for her safety and charged Richard Arlen Burk Jr., 27, of #2149, 639 Jamestown Blvd., Altamonte Springs, with assault/spouse abuse. Police reported that Burk, who was apparently under the influence of alcohol, said his name was "Hellion Warlord."

Good Samaritan Attacked

Albert G. Lutz Jr., 22, of 1940, Hunterfield Road, Matland told Seminole County sheriff's deputies he was robbed of $15, attacked and had his car stolen by two men he had given a ride.

Lutz said he picked up the first suspect, who was carrying a gas can on Lakeview Drive, Fern Park, at about 1:45 a.m. Wednesday. Lutz took that man to a car parked at the ABC Lounge, U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, where they met the second suspect. Lutz agreed to take the suspects home, and when Lutz drove onto North Street, he said the first suspect put a bayonet to his throat and demanded cash.

Lutz struggled and stopped the car. The first suspect told the second suspect to knock Lutz out, and that man choked him and beat his head with his fist — but Lutz managed to escape from his car, a sheriff's report said.

The suspects fled in Lutz's car, which lawmen found wrecked on Lakeview Drive in Fern Park. Lutz, who was treated at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs, was given a referral notice by deputies, meaning he has 10 days to file charges in the case.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Lisa L. Fritzell, 17, of Longwood, and Jina Griffiths, 17, of Apopka, reported to sheriff's deputies that items including clothing, cash and jewelry were stolen from their lockers at Lake Brantley High School, Altamonte Springs, Tuesday. Ms. Fritzell's loss was estimated at $225, while the goods stolen from Ms. Griffiths were valued at more than $160.

A $300 concrete cutting saw was stolen from a truck belonging to Professional Service Inc. of Clearwater when that company's crew was working on gasoline pumps at the Eastern station, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Russell Burks, 21, of 308 Satuma Drive, Sanford, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen a $250 rifle from his home.

Sheriff's deputies have the name of a suspect who may have stolen a guitar, three leather jackets, a television, and other items from the home of Douglas Alan Springs, 34, of 4718 Dyke Road, Oviedo, Monday or Tuesday.

Tools and other items valued at about $1,700 were stolen from the vehicle of Randall W. Flake, 23, of 3518 Baxter Drive, Winter Park, Monday or Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Margaret Jane Capuzzi, 24, of 877 W. State Road 434, Oviedo, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen about $400 worth of jewelry from her home between Nov. 11 and Monday.

A 1985 Dodge Lancer, valued at about $8,000, was stolen from Bob Dance Dodge, U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Daniel P. Cuebas, 40, of Winter Park, reported to sheriff's deputies a 1982 Pontiac valued at $6,634 was stolen from Allied Motors, 3851 S. Orlando Ave., Sanford, Monday or Tuesday.

Sarah C. Nash, 25, of 123 E. Lauren Court, Fern Park, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen her 1987 Volkswagen van valued at $1,500. The theft occurred between Sunday and Tuesday.

A calculator, a jumpsuit and other items with a combined value of about $100 were stolen from the locker of Sharon L. Pollick, 16, of 211 Timbercove Circle, Longwood, at Lake Brantley High School, Altamonte Springs, Monday, a sheriff's report said.

Kenneth Walter Lee, 27, of 224 Georgetown Drive, Casselberry, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $278 bed liner was stolen from his pickup truck Sunday or Monday.

Jewel Hawley, 48, of Kenanville, Fla., reported to sheriff's deputies that a watch and other items were stolen from her car while parked at 5019 Ferncrest Drive, Winter Park, between Nov. 11 and Monday. She named a possible suspect.

FIRE CALLS

Sanford fire fighters have responded to the following calls, details based on fire department reports:

TUESDAY

—4:47 p.m., 217 Park Ave., rescue. A 31-year-old man fell after reportedly becoming light headed. He was transported to the hospital.

—11:58 p.m., 1101 E. First Street, County Services Building, fire alarm. System malfunction determined after survey.

WEDNESDAY

—5:10 a.m., 1125 E. Seventh Street, smoke alert. Smoke reported behind wall, attributed to short in electrical panel. Firemen advised owner to call an electrician after disconnecting main circuit breaker.

—5:42 a.m., 1116 W. Third Street, rescue. A 74-year-old man suffering from chest pain was transported to the hospital.

—9:54 a.m., 2207 W. 13th Street, Crooms School of Choice, rescue. A 22-year-old pregnant woman, employed at the school, reported feeling light headed after standing up too quickly. She was advised to seek a medical check-up after rescue workers' survey.

Longwood Parade Route Disputed

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

A proposed new route for the Longwood Christmas Parade has received consensus for approval from the Longwood City Commission pending state Department of Transportation consideration. But enthusiasm for the change is not unanimous among some of the parade committee members. The parade is scheduled for Dec. 13 at 10 a.m.

"It stinks as far as I am concerned," committee member Charles Miller told the commission Monday night. "The staging is not as good; there is less viewing area, and there is not as much parking." He said he had driven the two routes and the new route is shorter — the proposed route being .35 mile as compared to .65 last year.

However, Longwood Parks and Recreation Director Bill Goebel said the city police department had measured the proposed route and reported it was longer.

Miles was not the only committee member expressing disapproval. Ethel Goldberg, a member of the committee and wife of Mayor Larry Goldberg, said, "I don't like the new route either."

The proposed route would be along State Road 434 from Grant Street to a private drive to the First Baptist Church of Longwood, but the road will be blocked all the way to the U.S. Highway 17-92 intersection, according to Longwood Police Lt. Mark Smock. He said Westbound traffic coming from Winter Springs will have to either turn left or right on 17-92.

The parade staging area would be from the church parking lot along Bay Street, and the line of march will be on Grant Street to State Road 434. Traffic will be detoured on S. Grant Street to Wildemere and east to U.S. Highway 17-92 until after the parade units have passed, and then North Grant Street will also be open to traffic which can move east on Church Avenue to 17-92, according to Goebel.

Last year, the parade necessitated the closing of State Road 434 from Range Line Road to County Road 427 for about 3 1/2 hours, bringing objections from some business owners and doctors on staff at South Seminole Hospital. Goebel has said the route switch was mainly for safety reasons because of the potential problem of access to the hospital by emergency vehicles and to the city's main fire station on W. Warren Avenue.

Goebel said the old route caused a problem restricting maneuvers for some of the parade groups because of median strips, which would not be the case if the new route is used.

Miles, who was not at the committee meeting at which the decision was made, said only two or three members were present. He said only five percent of the merchants along the portion of State Road 434 that was closed for the parade last year complained, and the route had already received the DOT's approval this year. Miles said the merchants should consider themselves citizens and promote the parade in the spirit of goodwill.

Charles "Rusty" Miles Jr., also on the parade committee, commented, "It is a shame that a minority of businesses can cause trouble. We are trying to build some community spirit and continuity, but by changing the route we are destroying what we began."

Dale Lilly, parade committee chairman, said it would be easier to control the new route. Goebel said it will take only half as many patrolmen and half as many barricades.

Smock said motorists will be given more advance notice this year with generator-operated lighted signs giving them warning and direction. He said arrows will be used to split westbound traffic on 434. He said 29 signs of various types will be needed to block the parade route and detour traffic.

Patrolmen will be stationed at every intersection and will assist detoured motorists in getting onto 17-92 at Church and Wildemere.

Those wishing to enter units in the parade can do so at city hall at 175 W. Warren Ave. The deadline is Dec. 1.

Longwood Cancels Candidate Forum

The Longwood commission candidate forum scheduled for 7 p.m. today at city hall has been canceled because several of the candidates are unable to attend. Commissioner Perry Faulkner, who spearheaded the forum by getting the League of Women Voters to moderate it, said the decision to cancel was made because the other candidates for his District 3 seat, Lynette Dennis and Irene Campbell, had conflicting meetings; and District 5 candidate David Gunter was going out of town on a hunting trip. Mrs. Dennis had a Longwood Historical Commission scheduled for tonight.

This would have left only three of the six candidates, Mayor Larry Goldberg and Bill Mitchell in the District 5 race and Faulkner in District 3. He said he did not want it to appear one-sided.

Local State Rep Office To Open

New District 34 State Rep. Frank Stone, R-Casselberry, will open his local legislative office Thursday.

Stone defeated incumbent Carl Selph, R-Casselberry, in the September Republican primary to win the seat. He had no opposition in the Nov. 4 general election.

Stone's office is located at 950 South Winter Park Drive, Suite 325, Casselberry. The phone number is 767-9704.

Kremlin Is Smiling Big

Although his name did not appear on any ballot, the biggest loser in the midterm election was Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger. Conversely, among the prime victors was Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

The Kremlin was quick to praise the results of the recent balloting, asserting that the Democrats' recapture of the Senate demonstrates, according to the official Novosti News Agency, that "the Reagan era is on the wane."

Nowhere will the president's electoral setback be felt more acutely than at the Pentagon, a department to which the Soviet Union pays more than passing attention. As a general rule, the Pentagon's loss is Moscow's gain.

Thus Mr. Gorbachev is understandably filled with anticipation at the prospect of gaining from a Democrat-controlled Congress concessions that he has been unable to coax from Mr. Reagan at Reykjavik and Geneva. Indeed, it is on matters of defense spending, arms control and support for the anti-Soviet Contras in Nicaragua that the Democratic majorities in the Senate and House are most likely to wrest American policy from White House control.

Under assault by Democrats on Capitol Hill, the Defense Department budget already has declined by 7.5 percent in real terms during the last two years. The rollback will accelerate in 1987 as Democrats seek to control the budget deficit without deep cuts in domestic programs. Among the likeliest casualties of the Pentagon squeeze is the 600-ship Navy, which simply cannot be sustained without budget growth in the years ahead. The military's readiness for combat, as measured by training time and stocks of ammunition, fuel and other war reserves, also will suffer, as will the caliber of recruits entering the underpaid armed forces.

The Democrats' likeliest target in the defense budget is the president's Strategic Defense Initiative. The prospective new Democratic chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Sam Nunn of Georgia, supports SDI while raising fundamental questions about it. Nonetheless, the program will sustain deep reductions at the hands of the all-powerful Budget Committee, which is less knowledgeable about defense programs and correspondingly less supportive.

Even with the Republicans in charge of the Senate, lawmakers slashed Mr. Reagan's 1987 SDI request from $5.2 billion to $3.6 billion. Mr. Gorbachev may have failed to negotiate an end to SDI at the Reykjavik summit, but surely he recognizes that starving the program of funds is not only a quicker means to kill it but also a cost-free way to the Kremlin.

If this weren't reason enough for Moscow to hang tough in the Geneva weapons talks, consider the Democrats' arms-control agenda, as illustrated by provisions, approved by the House earlier this year over Mr. Reagan's ardent objections. They include a ban on all but the smallest underground nuclear tests; a ban on further development of the American anti-satellite weapon; a ban on production of a new generation of binary chemical arms; and required adherence to the limits of SALT II, the unratified 1979 treaty on strategic arms which the Soviets are violating.

The degree to which the Democrats have embraced the Politburo's bargaining positions must prompt Mr. Gorbachev to envision the next superpower summit as an occasion for the president to accept capitulation. With the Democrats driving American defense policy toward Soviet objectives, why should Mr. Gorbachev make any arms concessions to a lame-duck president with only 24 months left in office?

Meantime, the anti-Sandinista Contras fighting the Soviet-backed regime in Nicaragua can expect their American funding to evaporate under a Senate and House ruled by Democrats. This development can only lessen pressure on the Sandinistas to adopt democratic reforms and embolden Moscow to further exploit opportunities in this hemisphere.

All in all, the world as viewed from behind the Kremlin walls is considerably brighter today than it was a week ago.

BERRY'S WORLD

Fighting The 'Videocracy' Is Futile

The '86 elections and subsequent political developments are depressing proof that TV has turned this democracy into a "videocracy."

It's bad enough that a national obsession with electronic images has caused test scores to decline and reading comprehension to wither, and relegated American students to the back of the cognitive bus among industrial nations.

A major factor in the recent challenge to Democratic Sen. Robert M. Byrd's claim to be majority leader had been his dismal TV performances.

I'm no fan of the West Virginia ex-Ku Klux Klansman. (If Kurt Waldheim's Nazi past is not forgiven, why should Byrd's former KKK involvement be shrugged off?)

But no one should ever have considered denying Byrd a position to which he is entitled because of his TV image. Patch him up with cosmetics, and give him speech lessons.

The November elections almost became a non-event after two of the major networks — ABC and NBC — announced they would not provide "wall-to-wall" coverage.

"The Election Night That Wasn't," read a tongue-in-cheek Washington Post headline, reminding us that if all three TV networks don't announce simultaneously that an event is happening, "It ain't happening."

CBS hung in there with "wall-to-wall" coverage and came in dead last in the ratings. CBS learned the hard way that "Greater than the tread of mighty armies is an idea whose time has come."

No idea has arrived with more irreversibility than the networks' concession that "Moonlighting" and "Matlock" must not be replaced by returns from Massachusetts and Maine.

ABC and NBC simply authenticated what TV really is and always has been — home-based theater wrapped up in a minstrel show inside a situation comedy systematically interrupted by animated Barbie dolls reading news stories.

Don't misunderstand me. I'm no print-media purist.

I've hosted two TV shows and appear occasionally as a guest on TV news shows. Like death and taxes, TV is a permanent certainty in our lives.

That historical certitude may be the main reason why the San Francisco Examiner is standing like King Canute before the ocean, commanding the tides not to advance.

Confronted with a catatonic circulation, the paper's publisher, William Randolph Hearst III, decided to fight the videocratic invasion. Hearst struck a blow for liberty (and literacy) by saturating San Francisco with newspaper ads, billboards and TV commercials, all ridiculing TV as an apostle of ignorance.

And it is indeed, Studies document that the more TV kids watch, the lower their test scores are. The statistical correlation between TV watching and low grades is almost perfect.

"Television is not too bad for your brain," declared one ad.

Another depicted two immaculately coiffed blond, blue-eyed Barbie dolls, with the caption, "These people have everything it takes to be an award-winning TV news team."

My favorite is the billboard that laments: "A TV writer is an oxymoron."

But Hearst won't win his battle.

VIEWPOINT

Flunking Foreign Policy

By William R. Hawkins

Pierre S. du Pont, former governor of Delaware, announced his bid for the Republican presidential nomination Sept. 16. Gov. du Pont is well-known for his views on domestic policy, but he is without experience in foreign policy. This is a major liability given the vital role that strong presidential leadership plays in the international arena.

The one area of foreign policy on which Gov. du Pont has spoken out is trade, but his pronouncements do not show a very strong grasp of how the world works, as he has proclaimed himself a free trader.

Gov. du Pont expressed his extreme opposition to measures to save American industry in the Heritage Foundation's Policy Review published last November. In his article, "Kamikaze Economics," he presented the narrow vision and shallow reasoning of the free trade school, thus demonstrating why it has lost credibility. He argued that the Smoot-Hawley protective tariff caused both the Great Depression and the rise of Hitler, devoting only one sentence each to explain two of the century's most momentous events.

Smoot-Hawley, of course, was enacted in 1931 after the Depression started. Yet this reversal in causation pales next to Gov. du Pont's attempts to make a revision in U.S. rates on agricultural products and textiles the decisive event in the transformation of German politics.

Not content to misread one century, Gov. du Pont argued that because the framers of the Constitution wanted to eliminate barriers to trade between states, they felt the same about trade between nations. This is not the conclusion one gets from reading James Madison's notes or the Federalist Papers or Alexander Hamilton's Report on Manufactures. While Americans wanted access to foreign markets as well as to a large and unified internal market, it was realized that domestic industrial development would require protectionist policies. That is why the Constitution treats exports and imports differently. It prohibits taxes on exports while allowing taxes (tariffs) on imports.

American capitalism was built on "sound money, low taxes and protection," the battlecry of the Republican Party during its 65-year era of preeminence after the Civil War. While Gov. du Pont supports the first two tenets, he has forgotten the third.

Rehnquist Wants To Keep His Free Car

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Is Chief Justice William Rehnquist a scowlaw? That's exactly what congressional sources say he is. And at first or second glance, it certainly looks bad for Rehnquist.

He has been deliberately ignoring a new law — passed by Congress and signed by President Reagan last month — that prohibits all but a handful of high officials from having chauffeur-driven government limousines take them to and from work. The chief justice is conspicuously absent from the list of eligible VIPs.

A Supreme Court spokesperson confirmed that Rehnquist is being driven to and from work in a government limo. She told our associate Donald Goldberg that the chief justice is aware of the new law's provisions and has a Supreme Court attorney analyzing the statute.

The court spokesperson said Re-

WASHINGTON WORLD

Credibility Crisis

By Helen Thomas

UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ronald Reagan is facing one of the toughest crises of his presidency. The credibility of his administration has been called into question.

In many ways, his secret dealings with Iran evoke memories of the classic line by former Attorney General John Mitchell in the Watergate era: "Watch what we do, not what we say."

The dimensions of the problem are not Watergate size. People will forgive if not forget and they could accept the president's explanation that the covert approaches to Iran to improve relations and seek the safe return of the hostages were worthy goals.

After all, presidents should constantly probe the geopolitical scene to enhance U.S. security and interests.

What is questionable is why day after day, especially on the campaign trail, Reagan so loudly and vocally proclaimed hostility to any form of negotiation with terrorists, including presumably nations on his list of those sponsoring terrorism.

The same goes for Secretary of State George Shultz who knew about the switch in policy, if not all the operational details, and kept up a facade of no deals, knowing otherwise. He would bang his fist for emphasis. Anti-terrorism has become the focal point of his foreign policy. It was like being against sin, and safe to sell the world.

The point is that when three hostages were released, one by one, he certainly was privy to the deals that were made to get them freed from their pro-Islamic Jihad captors in Lebanon. He knew that all of a sudden there had not been a change of heart without a quid pro quo. Even so, he continued to pound away, saying one thing while knowing that the administration was carrying out a secret plan.

Even after the story broke of U.S. relations with Iran and the linkage to the hostages, he went to Paris to urge French officials not to deal with terrorists.

So he pursued his own agenda and Reagan and some of his national security advisers pursued another.

When Secretary of State Cyrus Vance thought President Carter's ill-fated rescue mission to retrieve 52 American hostages was ill advised, even before it was executed, he said so. And afterward he resigned, having been out trumped by then national security affairs adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski who amazingly enough is berating the present administration for its actions.

Both Reagan and Carter were in the same boat — a superpower that cannot act and a people becoming more restive that they are not doing more. Oftentimes they are moved to action, and in such secrecy that they defeat themselves.

It happened to both presidents who played their cards so close to the chest that they did not weigh the options, the possible results and world opinion.

The Iranian adventure had a lot to do with Carter losing the presidency. Reagan is secure in his post for another two years, but the revelations on Iran have hastened the lame duck aspects of his administration and focused a stronger spotlight on his failures in foreign policy.

He has no big wins in foreign policy with the exception of the invasion of Grenada.

Probing Food Imports

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — While Congress and the public have become aware of the danger posed by a flood of foreign-manufactured goods, there's little understanding of the severe impact of imports on agri-business.

Increasingly, domestic food processors are using imported meat, vegetables, fruit and cooking oils. Between 1983 and 1985, imports of fruits and vegetables rose from $2.8 billion to $7.57 billion.

In a pioneering report on this situation, the Knight-Ridder newspapers point out that the Campbell Soup Company has increased its purchase of foreign food products from 63 million to 261.6 million pounds in 10 years. It quotes the president of Campbell's as saying that the U.S. farmer is "not competitive."

Some companies, however, don't buy this argument; they adhere to buying American. McDonald's Corporation, the fast food organization, refuses to purchase any foreign commodities, regardless of the price differential. This is welcome and admirable recognition of the national interest by a company that has become a national institution.

The next Congress must address the problem of food imports. The United States already has lost much of its manufacturing to foreign competitors and offshore production in Mexico and elsewhere. It can't afford a flood of food imports produced by the lowest-paid labor in the world.

There already is defeatism on this subject. Bill Helming, president of the Livestock Business Advisory Service, is quoted in the Kansas City Star as saying he believes the shift overseas will continue until all products are produced where they can be produced the cheapest and most efficiently.

It should be understood that no U.S. business — manufacturing or agri-business — can compete against businesses in countries where workers earn 25 cents an hour. The countries which ship low-cost food products to the U.S. aren't more efficient; they simply have a much lower standard of living and engage in wage-cutting trade, using their vast pools of cheap labor. The American people don't want to reduce their standard of living.

Those who turn to foreign food products, saying that U.S. farmers aren't competitive on a global scale, are promoting what Dr. John M. Culbertson of the University of Wisconsin calls "a one-world economic commune."

The White House has assured her she will be among the 10 officials the president can designate to receive home-to-office transportation.

Other VIPs won't be so fortunate and will either have to drive themselves to work, take buses or ride the Metro. Neither the comptroller of the currency nor the chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., for example, made it onto the short list of free riders, even though their agencies lobbied long and hard. Maybe they can hitch a ride with the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who did make the commuter list. Even heavy clout in Congress proved unavailing this time. Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, who chairs the influential Senate Post Office subcommittee, tried to get chauffeured commuter rides for the postmaster general and his two top aides. He had to settle for just the postmaster general.

WORLD IN BRIEF

France Offers Reward For Car Maker's Killer

PARIS (UPI) — The Interior Ministry is offering a $150,000 reward for information leading to the arrests of the killers of the president of the state-owned carmaker Renault.

The ministry said Wednesday posters bearing photographs and names of two suspects — presumed members of the leftist terrorist group Direct Action — would soon be distributed to public places in France offering the reward.

Renault president Georges Besse, 58, was shot to death at point-blank range by one of two young women who ambushed him on the sidewalk as he arrived home from work Monday night. They escaped on foot.

Photographs on the posters will be those of two presumed members of Direct Action, Nathalie Menigon and Joelle Aubron.

Trial Sparks Diplomatic Dispute

BERLIN (UPI) — Allegations by two Palestinians that Syria was involved in a terrorist bombing for which they are on trial have caused a debate in West Germany focusing on whether to break diplomatic relations with Syria.

Hans Stercken, head of the parliament's Foreign Relations Committee in Bonn, said Wednesday a break with Syria would be unavoidable if the West Berlin trial of the two Jordanians shows Syria was behind the terrorist bomb attack.

But Deputy Foreign Minister Juergen Moelleman said he opposes a break with Syria. He said no one thinks of ending diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union just because of Afghanistan.

The attack occurred in March at the German-Arab Society headquarters in the U.S. sector of the Western outpost.

Farouk Salameh, 39, and Admed Hasi, 35, went on trial Monday, accused of planting the bomb that injured nine people. Hasi is the brother of Nezar Hindawi, who was sentenced to 45 years in prison last month by a London court for trying to plant a bomb on an El Al airliner bound for Tel Aviv, Israel.

Funeral Marchers Demonstrate

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — About 50,000 Filipinos joined a funeral march today, carrying the flag-draped casket of a slain leftist leader in the biggest demonstration since Corazon Aquino came to power eight months ago.

Police said the mourners marched along a 20-mile route in a daylong "National Day of Mourning" called by supporters of Rolando Olalia, who was kidnapped and killed last week.

Wearing black armbands and waving red flags, the mourners set out from the University of the Philippines chapel, where 26 priests celebrated mass for Olalia, leader of the militant trade union KMU, or May First Movement, and the leftwing People's Party.

Diplomats from seven countries, including Japan, New Zealand, Australia and Canada, attended the service. Also present were rebel representatives Antonio Zumel and Saturnino Ocampo, who called off peace talks with the government aimed at ending the 17-year communist insurgency after Olalia was killed.

Fighting In Lebanon Continues

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas and Shiite Amal militiamen fought around a refugee camp in south Beirut today despite peace talks in Syria, and police said four persons were killed and 85 others wounded in the last 12 hours of the month-old conflict.

County Considers Code Changes

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners and the county planning and zoning board will consider proposed changes to the county's Land Development Code in December. The codes are rules which county developers must follow in construction projects.

Several of the proposed changes involve the county's Arbor Ordinance and the protection of trees on construction sites, according to Herb Hardin, Land Management Director.

The proposed changes are in two categories — one which is a reduction in requirements and standards, and the other for increases in requirements and standards.

Under the reduction heading is the exemption of the preservation of a group of trees from protection from development, because they are no hardy enough to stand the cool winter temperatures. The trees which will be proposed to be eliminated from the protection list include the Australian Pine, Brazilian Pepper, Silk Oak, Jacaranda, and Eucalyptus.

Under the increase in standards heading, another group of trees are eliminated from being used as replacement stock for trees lost in construction. Rosewood, Silk Oak, Citrus, Bottlebrush, Mimosa, Silver Dollar/Eucalyptus, and the Monkey Puzzle have been eliminated from trees that can be used.

In addition, a new requirement proposed is that 25 percent of all trees with a trunk diameter of six inches or more be retained in site development. Also proposed is an increase in the number of replacement trees required for trees removed in construction. That number is proposed to be doubled from 2 trees for each tree removed to 4 trees for each tree removed.

Also, developers would have half the time to replace vegetation that has died on a site. The 90 day period would be reduced to 45 days.

Another proposal would allow the Land Management division to waive portions of the Arbor Ordinance under emergency conditions.

Other proposed code changes include:

— Increase maximum time permitted for limited mobile home permits for medical hardships from 6 months to 12 months;

— Add requirements for skirting of mobile homes and for engineering review of flood prone mobile home sites prior to board of adjustments hearing;

— Add a provision that trailer sign permits are automatically voided if placed in right-of-way.

— Add a provision that if a trailer sign is not removed within five days of expiration or voiding of permit, the business would be prohibited from obtaining a permit for any trailer sign for 120 days.

— Establishing a planned commercial district designation.

— Adopting the wetlands overlay zoning classification.

— Prohibiting the construction of masonry structures such as mail box posts or erecting private signs in public right-of-ways.

The planning and zoning board will review the proposed changes in a public hearing Dec. 3, and the county commission reviews the changes Dec. 9.

OF THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION.

IF YOU ELECT ME AS YOUR CITY COMMISSIONER, I WILL:

- Be responsive to our elderly citizens
- Require the scenic improvement board to be responsible to the city commission.
- Insist on a conservative fiscal approach — (in plain language I'll be as "tight fisted" with your hard earned dollars as I am with my own dollars)
- Insist on doing business with local firms (for instance, I would not have gone out of town to hire an accounting firm with several local qualified firms — in fact the out of town firm is being paid several times more than the previous local firm was charging)

IF YOU ELECT ME AS YOUR CITY COMMISSIONER, I WILL NOT VOTE TO:

- Hire 59 new city employees in a two year period
- Increase the city budget more than six million dollars ($6,000,000.00) over a two year period — (in fact the actual two year increase for your city government is 61.62%) DID YOUR INCOME INCREASE 61.62% IN THE PAST TWO YEAR PERIOD?
- Increase your real estate taxes 21.22% in a two year period
- Harass our elderly senior citizens

NATION IN BRIEF

President Douses Shultz Resignation Rumors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Shultz is still President Reagan's man at the State Department with the president's public assurance that U.S. arms shipments to Iran are over.

In his nationally televised news conference Wednesday night, Reagan denied the secretary of state had threatened to resign in protest over the secret arms sales that he strongly disapproved.

"There's been no talk of resignation," Reagan said. "He has never suggested to me in our meetings resignation, and in fact he has made it plain that he will stay as long as I want him — and I want him."

In a statement that seemed to meet Shultz's unusual public reservations about what Reagan acknowledged as a "high-risk gamble," the president promised there would be no further arms sales "of any kind" to Iran. He asserted, however, there were "no conditions" to Shultz's continued service in his Cabinet.

Duffy's Parents Killed For Money

BOULDER, Mont. (UPI) — Two teenagers murdered the parents of "Dallas" television series star Patrick Duffy in their tavern in Boulder because they were after money, said investigators searching for a motive in the shootings.

The amount of money stolen from Terence and Marie Duffy, slain Tuesday, was not disclosed, but Lewis and Clark County Undersheriff Ed Schild said Wednesday one of the two 19-year-old suspects implicated the other.

One suspect reportedly was spattered with blood when arrested Tuesday night, a couple of hours after the murders, and money from the bar was found on the two men, the undersheriff said. He added that a liquor bottle with a "professional-type pouring spout" was also in their possession.

Gunman Wounds Six Officers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Detectives combed the desolate South Bronx today in search of a gunman who wounded six police officers, opening fire with automatic weapons and shotguns as they tried to arrest him for a quadruple slaying.

One officer was in an intensive care unit but listed in stable condition following surgery, a hospital spokesman said. All others — including a woman officer shot in the mouth — also were stable in other area hospitals.

Police identified the suspect as Larry Davis, 20, wanted in the Oct. 30 execution-style slayings of four people in the notorious "Fort Apache" area of the South Bronx and in an unspecified number of homicides in Manhattan.

Police believed he was armed with a .45 automatic pistol when he escaped, said Sgt. Raymond O'Donnell, a police spokesman.

The attack occurred about 8:20 p.m. Wednesday as the officers tried to serve an arrest warrant on Davis at an apartment in the severely depressed South Bronx, said Police Commissioner Benjamin Ward.

Committee Assignments Readied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democrats and Republicans begin today the sometime touchy task of making committee assignments for the 100th Congress.

The assignments, subject to confirmation by party conferences, will be made by the Republican Committee on Committees and the Democratic Steering Committee.

In most cases, assignments are made on the basis of seniority, with the most senior senators given preference and with the newcomers often losing out on spots which they have requested.

Stennis, as the senior Democrat, will succeed Thurmond, the senior Republican, as president pro tem of the Senate, fourth in line to the presidency.

Crime Bosses Convicted

NEW YORK (UPI) — The racketeering convictions of three crime family bosses and five henchmen for running a national "commission" of La Cosa Nostra prove for the first time that the Mafia and its ruling council exist and show both "can be crushed," officials say.

After a 10-week trial, the eight were found guilty Wednesday of participating in a board of directors that has kept crime organized in America since 1931, in this case by sanctioning a mob rubout, loansharking and union domination.

The eight, including bosses of New York's Genovese, Lucchese and Colombo families, could be sentenced to a total of 1,916 years in prison, with seven facing terms of more than 300 years each. Sentencing was set for Jan. 6.

Reagan Defends Decision

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan steadfastly believes "in the correctness of the decision" to engage in a secret deal with Iran, contending it could have brought freedom for American hostages in Lebanon had it not been exposed.

In a spirited defense of his policy at a nationally broadcast news conference Wednesday night, Reagan conceded his decision 18 months ago to explore better ties with Iran was "highly controversial" and divided his top advisers.

"(But) I don't think a mistake was made," he said, denying the uproar over his covert operation has placed him on the defensive. "It was a high-risk gamble ... but I don't look on this as a fiasco or a great failure of any kind."

"I deeply believe in the correctness of the decision," he added. "The risk was great but so was the potential reward."

But Robert McFarlane, who headed the secret mission to Iran and was former national security affairs adviser to Reagan, disagrees with his former boss on whether it was a mistake to ship arms to Iran as part of any deal involving release of Americans held hostage. The Washington Post reported today.

"I think that it was sensible policy to determine whether one could have a political dialogue with reformist people in Iran," McFarlane told the Post, referring to one of the purported goals of the clandestine operation.

"I think it was a mistake to introduce any element of arms transfers into it," McFarlane said.

Reagan also again denied that shipment of TOW anti-tank missiles and spare parts for anti-aircraft batteries represented a ransom for hostages held by pro-Iranian terrorists in Lebanon.

"Iran held no hostages," he said. "I don't see that the hostage-takers, the kidnappers, got anything."

However, for the first time, Reagan directly linked the sale of arms to the release of hostages, saying that after one U.S. shipment, "I said to them there was something they could do to show their sincerity, and if they really meant it that they were not in favor of backing terrorists, they could begin by releasing our hostages."

Three U.S. hostages have been released by the Islamic Jihad, a pro-Iranian faction in Lebanon, since Reagan undertook his secret initiative.

Terry Anderson, head of the Associated Press in Beirut, and Thomas Sutherland of the American University of Beirut, were longtime hostages Reagan hoped would be freed along with the university's David Jacobsen, released Nov. 2.

"If there had not been so much publicity," the president said, "there would have been two more" hostages released — presumably Anderson and Sutherland.

Three others — Joseph Cleopio, Frank Reed and Edward Tracy — are believed being held by factions not directly associated with the Islamic Jihad. Another American, William Buckley, was reported slain by his captors last year.

"As a matter of fact," Reagan said, "I have reason to believe that we would have had all five of them by last week" had the secrecy of the operation not been breached.

The three hostages who were released were the Rev. Benjamin Weir, who was freed last year; the Rev. Lawrence Jenco, released in July; and David Jacobsen, who gained his freedom Nov. 2. Less than 48 hours after Jacobsen's release, a pro-Syrian magazine published in Lebanon disclosed the secret deal.

The president, questioned about damage to his credibility since he undertook the clandestine operation, said he was confident the American people "understand that some times you have to keep a secret in order to save lives." But in trying to explain his position, Reagan sowed new confusion by asserting the United States "had nothing to do with" any shipments of weapons to Iran by a third country — a position he reversed in a written statement moments after the news conference ended.

Israel has been widely identified as the third country that may have played a part in the arms shipment to Iran.

Seminole Seniors Bid Emotional Farewell In Homecoming Friday

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

The day that nine Seminole High football players hoped would never come is just 24 hours away. Friday against DeLand, the "Seminole 9" will pull on the gear for the final time as a prep football player.

"The End" has arrived for Seminole's nine seniors.

Friday's homecoming will showcase a fitting farewell. Emotions will spill forth. Emotions that accompany bidding adieu — forever for some — to the feeling of camaraderie and aggressiveness which only a football player can understand.

All of the nine, of course, hope for victory. While they look forward to the game with great anticipation, they also approach it with apprehension. It creates the same anxiety as a day in court or a big exam.

They wanted it to come — but they didn't want it to come.

The lack of a successful season no doubt plays a big part in their feelings. They want so desperately to atone for a 3-6 record. They wanted a homecoming win which would soothe some of the bitterness and hurt only losing can bring.

"I'm missing football already," linebacker

Rick Kelley said. "I'm trying to take this week as slow as I can. I don't want it to end. It seems like all the work we've done is all over Friday night."

Kelley, too, relishes the end against DeLand. "It's real important to win. The whole team needs a victory," the three-year varsity performer said. "DeLand is always the hardest-hitting team we play. Both teams just love to hit. A lot of guys are a little bit crazy."

"It will be the most ferocious game you'll ever see."

Schmidt Snares Third MVP

Davis Is Distant Runner-Up, Raines Finishes Sixth

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Mike Schmidt and the baseball fans of Philadelphia have had an uneasy relationship the past 14 years.

For many years, Schmidt was a target of boo birds every time he struck out in a crucial situation. Schmidt occasionally struck back, criticizing the fans and their attitude.

This past season, however, Schmidt overcame sore knees and nagging injuries to lead the National League in home runs and RBI. Veterans Stadium crowds responded more warmly to the veteran slugger.

And Wednesday, Schmidt became the third player in NL history to receive the Most Valuable Player Award three times.

The 37-year-old third baseman was a runaway winner in balloting by 24 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America — two from each NL city. Finishing second was Houston first baseman Glenn Davis.

Schmidt received 15 first-place votes and 287 points while Davis had six first-place votes and 231 points. Gary Carter of the New York Mets came in third with one first-place vote and 181 points.

"This is quite an experience for me,"

N.L. Baseball

Schmidt said. "It was like the end of a political campaign the way the Most Valuable Player voting went. But any way you slice it, winning the National League MVP, it's an honor."

"The most encouraging thing about the 1986 baseball season was the warmth, encouragement and respect coming out of the stands to me. That was something special. It's the one thing I'll cherish the most."

Rounding out the top 10 vote-getters were Keith Hernandez of the Mets, Cincinnati's Dave Parker, Montreal's Tim Lincecum, Houston's Kevin Bass, Philadelphia's Von Hayes, San Diego's Tony Gwynn and Houston's Mike Scott, the NL Cy Young Award winner.

Raines, a Seminole High School product, had his finest season ever, winning the N.L. batting championship with a .334 average. Raines also stole 70 or more bases for the sixth consecutive season, a major-league record.

Schmidt joins Stan Musial of the St. Louis

Cardinals and Koy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers as the only three-time winners of the NL MVP since the award was started by the BBWAA in 1931. Musial won in 1943, 1946 and 1948 and Campanella was the winner in 1951, 1953 and 1955.

Four players have won the award three times in the American League: Jimmy Fox (1932-33-38), Joe DiMaggio (1939-41-47), Yogi Berra (1951-54-55) and Mickey Mantle (1956-57-62).

All six previous three-time winners are in the Hall of Fame.

Schmidt played this season for a team that finished 21 1-2 games behind the Mets in the NL East. He played in 160 games despite aching knees and various other ailments. He hit .290 — his best average in five years and the second-highest of his 15-year career — and led the league in home runs (37), runs batted in (119) and slugging percentage (.547).

He led NL third basemen in fielding percentage with a .980 mark, committing only six errors in 304 chances.

"I'm at this point in time convinced that I have one more year of active playing in this body," said Schmidt, 37, who needs five home runs to reach 500.

'Hawk Hysteria' To Hit Fever Pitch Monday

What has been one of the most exciting and successful seasons ever for Lake Howell High football will hit its fever pitch this Monday when the Silver Hawks, Apopka's Blue Darters and Winter Park's Wildcats will go after the District 5A-5 championship.

Chris Fister
SANFORD
HERALD
SPORTS WRITER

Call it "Hawk Hysteria." Because of a three-way tie in the regular season, the powerful trio will lock up in the Kansas tiebreaker system Monday at Apopka High School. A blind draw by the Florida High School Activities Association on Tuesday decided that Apopka not only gets to host the event, but gets the first-round bye. Winter park and Lake Howell will go up against each other from the 10-yard line with four plays to try to score either a touchdown or field goal. The winner of the first round will then play Apopka in the same tiebreaker system.

Of the three teams, Lake Howell will be the hardest to stop on offense. With their mammoth offensive line and outstanding skilled-position people, the Hawks rolled up over 200 yards rushing per game this season. So, unless Apopka or Winter Park rise to the occasion defensively, nobody figures to stop Lake Howell from going 10 yards in four plays.

The Hawks also have one of the strongest defenses in Central Florida and are capable of holding Winter Park or Apopka scoreless. The Hawks held the same Winter Park team that scored 25 points on Apopka to just seven points. Lake Howell also held Apopka scoreless for three quarters but the Darters came back with 10 fourth-quarter points to hand Howell its only loss.

Winter Park relies on the running of Hilton Mobley and the versatility of quarterback Jerry Magee while Apopka's chances hinge heavily on the passing game led by quarterback Steve LaForest.

It should be an exciting way to decide who wins the district and goes on to the playoffs, probably against top-ranked Merritt Island.

Offensive Line Beats Loudly As The Heart Of Howell's Success

By Mike Andrew
Special to the Herald

When one studies at the anatomy of the Lake Howell Silver Hawks, the head would be quarterback Mark Wainwright. The legs, definitely Cornel Rigby and Nate Hoskins. The backbone of the Silver and Blue is the defensive unit. When you dig inside though, and look for the heart of this dominating Lake Howell team, it's the offensive line.

The Hawks can finish the season with the best record in the school's history (9-1) with a win on Friday against Oviedo, and much of the credit can go to the offensive line.

The conglomeration of Jason Kotar, Kevin Hunnewell, Mike Schaefer, Steve Vadala, Ken Joseph, and supersub Jack Benedict form arguably the finest line in Central Florida.

These six have opened holes for Hoskins and Rigby all season, allowing the tandem to average 5.6 yards per carry. Hoskins has been atop the Seminole County rushers the entire season, while Rigby is ranked in the number five slot.

When called upon to provide time for Wainwright, Howell's monstrous front wall has allowed the senior signal caller to rack up the top numbers in the county as well. Wainwright has completed 47 percent of his passes for 618 yards and 6 scoring tosses. All of these figures rank number one among county passers.

According to offensive line coach Mike Bouch, what makes Howell's human blocking sled so successful is its diversity.

"Each one of these guys excels at something different," Bouch said. "Steve Vadala (6-1, 220 pounds) is our best puller. We use him to lead our sweeps, and is the key to a lot of our trapping plays."

"Kevin Hunnewell (6-1, 216) is our most effective reach blocker," Bouch added. "When we have to cut off someone in the gap, or get into the slots, we try to use Kevin."

"When we are in a situation where we go to 'brass tacks', we turn to Mike Schaefer (6-4, 273 pounds). It's just have to have two or three yards, we run behind him. You've got to go with the power, and Mike gives us that."

And when the Hawks have to out-think the opposition, Bouch said he turns to a 4.0 grade-point average guard.

"The mental leader is Kenny Joseph," Bouch said. "He provides stability out there, and is the guy I communicate with. Kenny calls all of the assignments in the huddle, and makes the adjustments at the line of scrimmage."

The Hawks lost a top-notch center when Steve Trier switched over to defense. It was the one question mark left to answer. Jason Kotar, a defensive player a year ago, however, has made a smooth transition.

"Jason was the most pleasant surprise this season," Bouch said. "He didn't play a down of offense until the final day of spring practice, but has exceeded all of my expectations so far. He had to fill in for Steve Trier, who had been a two-year starter at center before switching to linebacker this season."

Ironically, Kotar gave up his linebacking chores to take over the middle of the line for the Silver Hawks.

These five guys average just over 6-1 and 221 pounds each. Those numbers increase when Bouch puts in his top substitute

Football

'Some teams can only pass block or only run block. But we can do either.'

—Mike Bouch

In 6-4, 287-pound Jack Benedict, Benedict is only a junior, as are Kotar, Joseph, and Schaefer. It's luxury Bouch will definitely enough one more year.

Whereas much is made of Howell's size, Bouch concedes it is a definite advantage yet he said it's more than size that has allowed his team to dominate the line of scrimmage in nearly every game.

"It's good technique and teamwork, too," Bouch said. "We go through a progression drill every day in practice to work on the basics. We work on getting the first step, and turning our hips in to get the leverage in order to move the defenses out."

Lake Howell has been able to rush for 1,653 yards among Hoskins, Rigby, and Wainwright alone. That real estate, coupled with Wainwright's 618 yards through the air, proves that the offensive line is not just one-dimensional.

"Some teams can only pass block, or only run block," Bouch said. "But we can do either. This allows us to take advantage of whatever the other team gives us. I prefer to run, but we proved last week that we can pass as well."

With its success running the ball, Howell has encountered different defensive looks the past few weeks.

"It seems like the last two or three weeks, we've seen more and more men on the line to try and stop the run," Bouch said. "(Orlando) Evans had seven or eight men on the line, and Brantley tried nine last week, so we had to pass."

"Woody Hayes said 'when you throw only three things can happen, and two are bad. You can drop it, or throw an interception,'" Bouch said. "But when you throw you only need to connect one third of the time and you are moving. Last week proved that we'll be able to pass if they try to stop the run by overloading up front."

Bouch has tried to instill in his players the team concept.

"We have a complete team concept," Bouch said. "We think a bad play is when four guys get their block and one guy misses. If one guy misses his assignment, it's usually his man that makes the tackle. The only time we've had poor games is when we get four blocks, but not the fifth."

Bouch said by emphasizing all five blocks, the Hawks have come together.

"We have really pushed the teamwork this year," Bouch said. "And I think it's paying off. Last year we were pre-dominately a right side team, but this year we can run anywhere with confidence. That makes it a lot tougher on the defenses."

In Bouch's opinion, if his offensive wall has a weakness, it is overall team speed. "I guess if you had a dream team, you would have great size and good technique with a lot of speed," he said. "We aren't able to get to the safeties as much as we'd like and score the touchdowns a little quicker, but I guess we've done all right."

Economics May Sour LSU Sugar

United Press International
If Baton Rouge weren't so close to New Orleans, Louisiana State would be closer to the Sugar Bowl.

The No. 8 Tigers have already clinched at least a tie for the Southeastern Conference championship and the only team that can catch them is No. 9 Alabama, a team LSU beat, 14-10, two weeks ago.

The standing dead between the SEC and the Sugar Bowl says an outright conference champion gets an automatic berth, but in case of a tie, the bowl makes the choice. Economics plays a factor in that choice and New Orleans would rather have a four-day invasion of free-spending Alabama fans than have nearby LSU fans come in on New Year's Day for the game.

But Alabama's bid to tie for the SEC crown is on hold until the Crimson Tide plays No. 14 Auburn in Birmingham Nov. 29. And with the floodgates opening on bowl bids at 6 p.m. est this Saturday, there are indications the Sugar Bowl may not wait.

Word out of New Orleans is that if Louisiana State beats Notre Dame Saturday in Baton Rouge, the Tigers, who would be 8-2 with Tulane left to play, likely will get the Sugar Bowl berth — opposite the loser of Saturday's game between No. 3 Oklahoma and No. 5 Nebraska — and Alabama, which has an open date this week, would wind up in the Sun Bowl opposite No. 12 Washington.

There are only two other games Saturday involving SEC teams — and both of those have bowl implications. Tennessee hosts Kentucky with an understanding that the winner gets a Liberty Bowl berth, and Ole Miss and Mississippi State meet in Jackson with that winner expected to go to the Independence Bowl.

In independent action, Louisville is at Southern Miss and Memphis State hosts New Mexico.

LSU has had an unusual season. The Tigers opened with a victory over No. 11 Texas A&M, then immediately lost to unheralded Miami of Ohio. The week before beating Alabama, the Tigers lost at home to Ole Miss. And last week, LSU looked like world-beaters in a 47-0 win over Mississippi State.

Notre Dame, in its first season under Lou Holtz, appears much better than its 4-5 record indicates. The Fighting Irish opened their season with a 1-point loss to No. 6 Michigan and last week lost by only 5 points to No. 2 Penn State.

LSU beat Notre Dame, 10-7, last year at South Bend. Tennessee (4-5) and Kentucky (5-4-1) both have winning seasons riding on Saturday's game in Knoxville.

No. 1 Miami of Florida, winner of 20 straight regular-season games, has an open date Saturday. The Hurricanes, who hope to play Penn State in the Fiesta Bowl for the national championship, close their regular season Thanksgiving Day by hosting East Carolina.

In addition to Alabama-Auburn, the Nov. 29 schedule has Tulane at LSU, Georgia Tech at No. 20 Georgia, Florida at Florida State, and Tennessee at Vanderbilt.

Georgia, 7-3 after upsetting Auburn last week, is expected to meet Boston College in the Hall of Fame Bowl at Tampa. Florida State, 6-3-1 — with the losses to Nebraska, Michigan and Miami, who are all among the nation's top 6 — is expected to be in the All-American Bowl at Birmingham, Ala.

World Bass Association Casts Into Competition

There are a few fishermen who do not know what B.A.S.S. stands for. The Bass Anglers Sportsman Society was founded 19 years ago, and has revolutionized the sport of bass fishing.

B.A.S.S. is the world's largest fishing organization, and has over 450,000 members. In addition, there are more than 1,600 B.A.S.S. affiliated clubs in the United States, Canada, Japan, Spain, and South Africa.

B.A.S.S. also publishes "Bassmaster Magazine," "Southern Outdoors Magazine," "Fishing Tackle Retailer Magazine," "Shooting Sports Retailer Magazine," "Saltwater Dealer Magazine," and other books and periodicals. B.A.S.S. Inc. also produces the "Bassmasters," a highly acclaimed television fishing series on The Nashville Network.

It is obvious from these statistics that B.A.S.S. is the undisputed king of bass fishing organizations. Well, watch out Bass Anglers Sportsman Society, here comes the World Bass Association!

Don Durant and J.R. Rogers Looks For 'Pull' To Enhance State Finish

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer
Robin Rogers, Seminole County's top male runner, earned an individual state berth with a fifth place finish in 4A-Region 3 Cross Country meet this past Saturday held in Lake Worth.

Cross Country

There are a lot of good runners around the state. I hope I get pulled along up front.

— Robin Rogers

Rogers has led the county since the preseason as he finished third in the Seminole Community College Jamboree. The talented junior has not lost to a county runner all year and is looking for a top five finish in the state meet Saturday at the DeLand Airport.

Lyman coach Fred Finke has brought Rogers from an ankle injury suffered last season in track and turned him into one of the best runners in Central Florida. Rogers will represent Lyman as an individual Saturday as the Greyhounds took a heartbreaking loss via a tiebreaker in the regional meet. Lake Howell, Lyman and Orlando Boone tied for the last qualifying spot but Howell's sixth runner finished first to give the Hawks a state berth.

"I had a good idea he would run this well," Lyman coach Finke said. "He put in a lot of miles over the summer, and with that kind of dedication you just don't settle for sixth or seventh place finishes."

Rogers, though quiet, has been the Greyhound leader all season. "Robin leads more by example," Finke said. "He doesn't say much, he leads the way and it's up to the rest of the team to follow his lead."

Rogers will now take his summer efforts into the state meet with hopes of a top five finish. "It's up for grabs," said Rogers. "There are a lot of good runners around the state. I hope I get pulled along up front."

Finke believes his junior standout has a good shot at finishing in the top 10 and a reasonable shot at a state championship. "We worked hard up until the regional meet," Finke said. "At state, times and individuals don't matter, it's who has the better day."

Rogers feels with the addition of stronger runners that will appear in the state meet his chances only get better. "I think I'm ranked seventh in the state right now," Rogers said. "I think

I can run better against (Ken) Gamber of Winter Park, and (Angelo) Bonnarigo of Palm Bay if there is someone up front pulling me along."

Rogers has not finished out the top five in any race all season and has run a 15:37 5,000 meters which is comparable to a 14:57 three mile, the distance which will be run Saturday.

"I've reached all my goals so far," Rogers said. "Now I just want to finish seventh or higher at state."

In preparation for state meet, Finke has changed from a distance format to speed work. "We started speed work last week," Finke said. "Now we're tapering off and we're looking for a really good race."

Rogers will be running without his teammates Saturday. The last time he did that was at the Boone Invitational, one of the four major races he won during the season.

"It's really too bad the team didn't make it," Rogers said. "There are a couple of seniors who really wanted to run."

Rogers will go into the meet with confidence and will be after all he can get. "I'm going for it," Rogers said. "The season is over after that and I really want to do well in the race."

Rogers will be looking for his time to come down with a good effort put forth Saturday. "I need to run a good time to be up front," Rogers said. "I feel knowing the course already will really help me." Rogers did not know the course at Lake Worth. "I ran a good time," Rogers said of his 15:34 effort. "But I think I could have run a better race."

Finke will also be looking forward to working with Rogers again this year during track season. "He has a lot of potential to do well on the track," Finke said. "He has really worked hard during cross country and that will pay off in track."

Chargers Aim Rush At 38-Year-Old Legs

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The San Diego Chargers will aim the NFL's best pass rush at Jim Plunkett and his 38-year-old legs tonight, trying to stop his still-lively arm from beating their vulnerable secondary.

Football

Tonight's TV: Raiders at Chargers WFTV-9: 8 p.m.

Plunkett threw three touchdown passes in the Los Angeles Raiders' 27-14 victory over Cleveland last week. Since replacing Marc Wilson at halftime against Dallas two weeks ago, Plunkett has thrown five touchdowns — four to speedy Dokie Williams.

Los Angeles has won seven of eight after an 0-3 start to get back in the playoff picture.

Off Plunkett's recent showings, Raiders Coach Tom Flores is sure his quarterback will perform well on three days' rest.

"It would concern me if Jim had been playing all year and he was worn down a little bit from the 11 games," Flores said. "He really hasn't played much and he is very fresh on Sunday. He still is fresh."

"But I don't like Thursday games, even for younger people."

The 9-2 Chargers will play without Dan Fouts in the starting lineup for the fourth time in five weeks. Fouts suffered a shoulder injury in Sunday's 24-21 loss to the Cowboys and will be replaced by Tom Flick. Fouts had missed the Chargers' three previous games after suffering two concussions.

The Chargers pummeled Steve Pelluer, Dallas' young quarterback, last week, recording an NFL-record-tying 12 sacks.

San Diego has 45 sacks this season. Rookie end Leslie O'Neal, who leads the team with 11.5, had five last week.

"Leslie played like a first-round draft choice," Chargers Coach Al Saunders said of O'Neal, a first-round draft choice from Oklahoma State. "He's an impact player."

The Raiders defeated San Diego 17-13 in Los Angeles eight weeks ago for their first victory of the season. For the Chargers, that was the third game of an eight-game losing streak. San Diego snapped the skid with a 9-3 upset of Denver two weeks ago in Saunders' first game since replacing Don Coryell as head coach.

The Chargers then led 21-10 in the fourth quarter last week against Dallas, before losing 24-21.

Despite the records and the injury to Fouts, both teams expect the Chargers to be tough to beat. The Raiders are never welcome in San Diego.

"I just know what the people in San Diego think about the Raiders," said Los Angeles linebacker Linden King, who was cut by San Diego in training camp. "Besides, this is a pretty good football team now. And I can guarantee you, this is their season down there."

Fouts did not practice this week, but hopes to be available if needed as a backup.

"I'm hoping I'll be ready to play, but I just don't know," he said.

The Raiders will be without defensive end Howie Long, who underwent minor surgery on his right thigh Monday and should return next Sunday against Philadelphia.

LAYNE: STILL CRITICAL
LUBBOCK, Texas (UPI) — Bobby Layne, former Detroit Lions quarterback and an NFL Hall of Famer, remained in critical but stable condition Wednesday, a Methodist Hospital spokesman said.

"There's been no change in Bobby's condition today," hospital spokesman Doug Hodel said Wednesday. "He's still holding his own. Nothing much has changed since yesterday."

Layne, 59, Saturday underwent surgery to control bleeding in his esophagus, and his condition deteriorated until Tuesday, when his breathing improved slightly and he was taken off the very critical list.

SCC Center Hall Signs To Play Next Year With South Alabama

Vance Hall, a 6-8 sophomore center for Seminole Community College, has signed to play basketball next year at South Alabama University. SCC coach Bill Payne announced Wednesday.

"I liked the school and I liked the coaches," Hall said. South Alabama, coached by Mike Hanks, was 16-16 last year. The Mobile, Ala. school plays in the Sun Belt Conference. The Jaguars were 22-8 two years ago and earned a bid to the NCCA Tournament. Hanks was previously an assistant for Indiana's Bobby Knight and helped the Hoosiers to a 31-0 record and NCAA title in 1976.

Hall, named JuCo Player of the Year by the Central Florida Basketball Coaches Association last year, has been called the "best center in Florida regardless of division," by Payne.

He turned in a fine freshman season when he led the Raiders to a 26-7 record while averaging 15.8 points, 7.8 rebounds and 2.8 blocked shots per game.

This year, Hall has been instrumental in SCC's 7-0 start by averaging 17.3 points, 9.4 rebounds, 3.7 blocks and 1.4 dunks per outing. Hall is shooting 61 percent from the floor and 72 percent from the foul line.

TRC, Six Flags Win Finales

Tim Raines Connection and Six Flags Nursery closed the Sanford Men's Fall Softball League with victories Wednesday night at Pinehurst. TRC was league champion with an 11-1 mark and Six Flags finished second with a 9-3 record.

The Connection routed All-Sports Program (3-9), 12-4, as Tim Raines and Rodney Turner rapped three hits each while Levi Raines, "Steady Eddie" Jackson, Ernest Shuler, Ned Raines and Sam Raines chipped in two apiece.

Tracy Walker led ASP with three hits while Terry Russi, Junior Johnson and Roy Smith roped two each.

Six Flags outslugged Bill Knapp's (1-11), 17-13, as Scott Williams ripped a three-run homer while Joe Ervin, Ted Miller and Mike "Harmonica Man" Galloway had three hits apiece. Mark Whigham had a double and triple for three ribbies.

Doug Emmons drove in six runs for the losers. Mike Reeder, "Hard-Hitting Harry" McCarty, Jeff Smith and Jim Oiger had two hits each.

Garrison, McNeil Lose But Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Close friends as well as rivals, Zina Garrison and Lori McNeil are climbing to the top of the tennis rankings.

The two friends shared another experience Wednesday night, and although both came up losers in opening-round play of the $1 million Virginia Slims Championships, they had reason to be proud of their efforts.

McNeil, whose world ranking has climbed to No. 14, very nearly upset second seed Steffi Graf before bowing to the 17-year-old West German, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, and Garrison, ranked No. 12, was up a break in each set but wound up a 6-3, 7-5 loser to sixth seed Claudia Kohde-Kilach.

Completing the opening round of this season-ending championship, fourth seed Helena Sukova beat Gabriela Sabatini, 6-4, 6-4.

Glamalva Out, Connors Wins

HOUSTON (UPI) — Sammy Glammalva, a local favorite in the $279,000 WCT Houston Shootout, withdrew from his match against top seed Jimmy Connors Wednesday night because of back spasms.

Rotary Bowl To Kick Off With Brandt

Gil Brandt, personnel director of the Dallas Cowboys, is the scheduled guest speaker for the Rotary Bowl's kickoff breakfast this Friday at the Park Suite Hotel in Altamonte Springs. The breakfast buffet will begin at 7:15 followed by the program at 7:45.

The 13th annual Rotary Bowl game is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 26, at Lyman High School. The game will pair Orange County power Orlando Evans and Seminole County stalwart Lake Mary with an 8 p.m. kickoff.

Festivities on Wednesday will begin at 5:45 with a pair of youth football all-star games. There will also be a parachute and fireworks prior to the high school kickoff.

"We're really happy to get these two teams," Rotary Bowl Chairman Larry Cowart said. "It's a natural. Evans and Lake Mary have never played each other before and both have something to prove. Evans was ranked number one in the state for five consecutive weeks and Lake Mary was district champion the previous two years."

Proceeds from the game are donated by the Rotary Club of Seminole County South to organizations in Seminole County. Since 1980, the club has donated $62,000 to local charities and organizations.

For more information about the bowl game and the breakfast with special guest Brandt, contact Chuck Zegelbone at 628-4828.

Karl Uses Borrowed Theatrics To Wrestle Win

United Press International Golden State Coach George Karl borrowed some theatrics from pro wrestling Wednesday night.

After being fired last March by the Cleveland Cavaliers, Karl said he "would come back to the Richfield Coliseum and whip 'em."

Karl, thanks to an 18-5 run in the fourth quarter, made good on his boast with a 112-104 victory over the Cavaliers. Afterward, the Warriors' first-year coach — acting like a professional wrestler — wasn't just satisfied with the victory. Just enduring a chorus of boos throughout the game, Karl had to gloat.

"We stuffed 'em," he said, whipping an imaginary sword into a scabbard. "It feels great."

Basketball

After a few beers, it'll feel even better. Finally, I slapped the hand that bit me."

Karl, however, won't be back for another slap. Unless the two teams meet in the NBA finals, Karl, much to the chagrin of Cleveland fans, won't be back in Richfield during the regular season.

The loss may have been costly to the Warriors. Purvis Short, Golden State's leading scorer, scored 21 points before leaving with a knee injury.

Celtics 111, Hawks 107
At Boston, Dennis Johnson hit 3 jumpers in a 2:53 stretch late in the fourth quarter and Larry Bird delivered a 3-point play with 55 seconds remaining to defeat Atlanta. Kevin McHale paced the Celtics to their 42nd consecutive triumph at Boston Garden with a game-high 30 points.

Sixers 98, Knicks 94
At Philadelphia, Roy Hinson scored 23 points and Tim McCormick added 18 to help the 76ers defeat New York. Six players scored in double figures for the Sixers, who led 59-50 at halftime. Kenny Walker led the Knicks with 25 points, including 17 in the first half.

Bullets 110, Pistons 105
At Landover, Md., Moses Malone scored 31 points and Jeff Malone added 21 to lead Washington. This season, one of the two Malones have led Washington in scoring in 9 of 10 games and the pair has accounted for nearly 50 percent of the Bullets' points.

Suns 111, Nets 101
At Phoenix, Mike Sanders came off the bench to score 21 points and lead the the Suns. Larry Nance scored 12 of his 15 points for Phoenix in the opening quarter and Walter Davis added 20 points for the Suns. Orlando Woolridge led the Nets with 24 points.

Lakers 117, Spurs 108
At San Antonio, Magic Johnson scored 25 points to lead the Lakers to their seventh consecutive victory. Byron Scott scored 9 of his 23 points in the third quarter to help the Lakers enter the final period ahead 84-83. The Spurs' Alvin Robertson led all players with 34 points, 24 in the first half.

"I don't believe it (the end) is here already," he said. "I'm going to miss it. I just wish we could win homecoming and show all the folks around here that we are a comeback team."

"I'd like to see all the guys happy and let the end of the season become positive."

Two offensive linemen, who perhaps have agonized more than the rest because of the offense's inability to move the ball this fall, have placed winning above everything else Friday night.

They say they have good vibes.

"I really feel that we're going to win," tackle Wendell Springfield said. "Homecoming has really psyched us up. It means a whole bunch to me. We haven't had the greatest of season, but it would be nice to go out a winning game."

Keith Redwine, a guard, has suffered doubly this year. Redwine, like several young men have done at Seminole, skipped his junior year on the gridiron. He said he has kicked himself ever since. "The 3-6 mark this year has made it that much tougher to Another emotion Friday will be nervousness. No one feels it more than Herb Hillery, who will draw the start at quarterback as Willis joins fullback Curtis Rudolph in the backfield. "I'm pretty nervous right now," Hillery said. "Once I get a couple of snaps I'll be all right. I thought our senior year would be the best, but it hasn't been."

"We're playing for pride now. I just wish we could shut out DeLand. It might help overcome all the hard times that we have been through."

Carl DeBose wants badly to win Friday's game, but unlike the others, who are starters, DeBose hasn't played much. He didn't play his junior year but he has worked hard as a senior to improve his standing and will split time at wide receiver.

"This game means a lot," he said. "Our attitude is good. I'm looking forward to playing. That means a lot to me."

Ed Banks, a defensive end and fullback, has taken the homecoming one step further. He believes since DeLand has already won its district and clinched a spot in the playoffs against Jacksonville Sandalwood next Friday, the Bulldogs will just be "using" the Tribe.

"I think DeLand is trying to use us as a warm-up," Banks said. "We aren't going to let them warm-up."

Stocks Open Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues, reducing the losses suffered earlier in the week by the tremors connected to the insider-trading scandal.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 9.42 Wednesday, was up 12.37 to 1839.00 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 667-234 among the 1,316 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 10,775,300 shares.

The stock market trading mixed Wednesday in heavy trading as reverberations from the Ivan Boesky insider-trading scandal sent investors fleeing from takeover-related stocks to the safer haven of blue chip issues.

Traders said blue chip issues advanced because investors shunned more speculative issues in favor of the heavily capitalized market stalwarts that comprise the Dow Jones industrial average.

Fears linked to the insider-trading case continued to undermine the market's confidence, throwing into doubt two multi-billion dollar takeover deals.

Late Tuesday, Wickes backed off from its planned $1.7 billion purchase of Lear Siegler. Wickes said it is not optimistic about its ability to finance the deal.

Gold Drops Sharply; Dollar Looks Mixed

By United Press International

The U.S. dollar was mixed on major world money markets today. The price of gold dropped sharply.

In Tokyo, the dollar closed slightly lower at 162.65 yen, down 0.15 from Wednesday's close of 162.80.

Dealers in Japan said reports of slow housing starts in the United States touched off dollar sales.

In European trading the dollar opened in Zurich at 1.6895 Swiss francs, up slightly from Wednesday's close of 1.6668; in Amsterdam it opened at 2.267 Dutch guilders, up from a previous close of 2.266.

The dollar gained nearly 1 cent against the British pound sterling in London. The pound opened at $1.412, compared with Wednesday's close of $1.4215.

The dollar opened lower in Frankfurt at 2.0055 German marks, compared with Tuesday's close of 2.0198. The markets were closed in West Germany Wednesday for a national holiday.

Personal Income Up .4 Percent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans earned an estimated 0.4 percent more in October than they did in September, the best month-to-month gain since April, the Commerce Department said today.

Personal consumption, on the other hand, nosedived. After rising 1.4 percent in September, outlays fell a record $56.1 billion — a full 2 percent — in October. Purchases of durable goods fell by $70.4 billion, but that was partially offset by an increase in outlays for nondurable goods and services.

The tumble in durable goods coincides with the expiration of low-interest incentive financing on 1988 autos. Analysts with the department's Bureau of Economic Analysis said the drop-off in consumption, the steepest since the department began keeping the statistic in 1959, was centered in autos.

The morning fixing in London was $387, off $6.25 from Wednesday's close.

Silver opened 10 cents an ounce lower in Zurich at $5.45, compared with Wednesday's close of $5.55; it fell 9 cents an ounce in London to $5.45 from $5.54.

In earlier trading in the Far East, gold closed at $386.55 an ounce on the Hong Kong Bullion Exchange, off $5.95 from Wednesday's close.

In early trading on New York's Comex, a 100-troy-ounce gold futures contract for current delivery in November opened at $389.40 an ounce, up $1.50 from Wednesday's close. A 5,000-troy-ounce silver futures contract for delivery in November opened at $5.45, off 1 cent an ounce.

Yarborough Served Two Terms

Yarborough served two terms on the Seminole County Commission, following in the steps of his late uncle, W.G. Kilbee, and grandfather, W.G. Kilbee, who were also elected county commissioners. Ed has been president of the Seminole County Cattleman's Association for 12 years.

Lynn, 28, the oldest, her mother said, she "played cowboy with her dad until her brothers got old enough to do the work. They all work cattle, drive tractors and pickups, bale hay, and whatever it takes." Mrs. Yarborough said, "They put up with the mosquitos, heat, dust, rain and what have you."

Lynn received her degree from University of Central Florida where she studied motor movement for the learning disabled, math and physical education.

Lynn is a former 4-H Club leader, who is a teacher at Pace School.

W. E. "Bo," 25, is married, and he and his wife Beverly have a son, Robert. J.W., 22, is still at home. On the football and track teams before graduating from Oviedo High School, he was an all-state fullback. He has a dream of playing college football. He plans to attend Seminole Community College for two years and transfer to Georgia Southern.

wouldn't do anything else," he said. "You're independent. You work for yourself — it's a great feeling!"

As to the award, which was presented to him today at the annual Farm/City Week luncheon held at the Seminole County Agriculture Center auditorium, he said, "I'm real proud of it." The luncheon was sponsored by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Agri-Business Committee.

Sam Brashear, committee chairman, said the Yarboroughs were chosen from five Seminole farm families nominated. Other families nominated and interviewed were: the John Lommerse family, which has the Dutch Mill Nursery, Sanford; the Paul E. Klanger Sr. family, owner of the Lake Brentley Plant Corporation; the Jack Vaughan family of the Vaughan Nurseries, Fern Park, and the W. Rex Clonts family, Oviedo vegetable growers.

Brashear said the Yarboroughs were chosen because of their contribution to agriculture in the community and dedication over the years to the beef cattle industry. Yarborough is strictly a local community-involved farmer and has shown ability to adapt to the changing agricultural situation in the county, he added.

"I was chosen Young Farmer of the Year by the Jaycees in 1962," Yarborough said, "and I'm proud of this one, too. I wouldn't choose any other way of life. We don't make any money, but we enjoy working. We had to do logging, raise hay and sod, but we're hanging in there. We've had bad prices on cattle for the last 7-8 years."

With 800 breed cows on the ranch, there are about 725 calves born there each year. "When we take our product to put on the auction block we take the highest bid, but when we go to buy seed or equipment we are told what we have to pay," Mrs. Yarborough said.

The 8,000-acre ranch is divided by the Econ creek. The land has been in the family on his mother's side since 1880. Yarborough's father, J.W., was county road superintendent for 26 years.

The cow/calf operation is a family affair involving Ed, his wife Imogene, 51, and their four children, who from age 5 were already riding a full day working cattle. Their's is the fourth generation of the family to be in the ranching business in Geneva.

Imogene said her mother's people were ranchers in Sumter County and she moved to Geneva from Ocala in 1949 when she was in the eighth grade. She met Ed when her parents rented a house from his mother. She said she finished high school while Ed served in the Army and "waited for her to grow up." They married when she was 18 years old.

She said there are 11 national awards given during Farm/City Week and she received one two years in a row in 1981 and 1982 for her work for the Cattleman's Association educating school children about cattle and promoting beef and nutrition. She developed a wooden cow that had a plastic bag inside containing items made from cow by-products such as lipstick, emory boards, and insulin for use in school education. She is past president of the Florida Cow Belles, now known as the Florida Cattlewomen.

She is a former 4-H leader and helped develop the FFA program at Oviedo High School and is still on the advisory board. She serves on the board of the Seminole County Farm Bureau and is Women's Chairman. She has been awarded a gold star twice and a silver star once for her work on the bureau's community projects. Her husband is a former board member.

Yarborough served two terms on the Seminole County Commission, following in the steps of his late uncle, W.G. Kilbee, and grandfather, W.G. Kilbee, who were also elected county commissioners. Ed has been president of the Seminole County Cattleman's Association for 12 years.

Lynn, 28, the oldest, her mother said, she "played cowboy with her dad until her brothers got old enough to do the work. They all work cattle, drive tractors and pickups, bale hay, and whatever it takes." Mrs. Yarborough said, "They put up with the mosquitos, heat, dust, rain and what have you."

L-1011 Jumbo Jets Grounded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal safety agency recommended Thursday that the government order the nation's airlines to ground older Lockheed L-1011 jumbo jets while they are inspected for possible wing structure problems.

The National Transportation Safety Board recommendation followed an accident at Newark International Airport on Nov. 13 during which a Delta Airlines L-1011 reported a "hard landing" and sprung a fuel leak.

The leak was apparently caused by a spar, a part of the wing structure, that separated from the airplane's fuselage. The safety board asked the Federal Aviation Administration, which alone has the authority to issue grounding or inspection orders, to "require an immediate inspection" of the jumbo jets.

The NTSB said it would leave it up to the FAA the number of planes to be inspected.

sented. It will be equal, fair and right. We feel someone like Art will be a selling point."

Tickets for the banquet will be sold for $15. The affair will recognize local residents, civic and corporate leaders who are committee planners say represent King's ideals.

Thomas says he's "not buying" Humphries as co-speaker with Linkletter. "I just feel Humphries should be the one, not with Linkletter. He can identify with the struggle, Linkletter can't," Thomas said. "If they (planners) wanted to do something big they could have tried to get Jane Fonda, or Peter Paul and Mary, who were at the civil rights marches in the 1960's. They came out to support our struggles. Linkletter can only identify with what he saw on television. He wasn't there."

Thomas also takes issue with Linkletter's serving as a "selling card." He said "The activity itself should be the selling point and if they're going to have to compromise it by having a gentleman who cannot identify with the struggles, the marches, people being beaten and spat upon, then it's not worth it. It's wrong if he's the selling card that will draw white people to this activity. They should come on the merits of what Dr. King did for this country, in trying to bring all races together. If they can't come out because of King, then they shouldn't come out at all. There should be some re-vamping, they (celebration planners) should go back and get someone, white or black, who can identify with the struggle. I feel it's a discredit to Dr. King if people come out just because Art Linkletter is here."

Mrs. Schilke said Linkletter was selected "after we did reach out" to blacks of national prominence, who were a part of King's life and the ideals he represented. She said committee contacts determined they would be in Atlanta, for that city's King celebration.

"We do have to have someone with name recognition coming in," Mrs. Schilke said. "If not, how do you get people to come out and buy tickets?"

She also said she felt Linkletter "is a great humanitarian, and King is categorized as a great humanitarian. Art is also a caring person, as King was."

system to the county, which after acceptance would be responsible for operation and maintenance.

The commission would like to see the transmission lines either to remain the property of the city or would revert back to the city if the agreement was terminated in the future.

The commission anticipates that there will be those in the city that presently hooked up to the city's sewer system that will want to connect when additional capacity is made available by the agreement with the county. They want to make it clear in the contract that anyone in Longwood connecting to the transmission facilities within its incorporated limits will pay the city's rates, fees, charges and deposits for wastewater service.

Mayor Larry Goldberg said at a workshop Monday that St. Laurent Properties industrial park is definitely interested in going with the county and wants 60,000 gallons capacity initially and later another 60,000 gallons. He said Florida Residential Communities, Florida

Homecrafters and other developers are also interested in tying in to the system.

Under the agreement the city would agree to pay the county within 30 days from the date of the county's bill each month. City Finance Director Barry Weeks said he has a problem with this and needs 90 days instead.

The agreement calls for treatment of "domestic type wastewater as would be considered normal for a residential plant." The city wants to add "or commercial." City Administrator Ron Waller said that any non-residential sewage producer would have to have pre-treatment before going into the county system.

Upon request by the county, Longwood would have to oversize the portion of the transmission system located in the unincorporated area and the county agrees to reimburse the city for the actual costs incurred for oversizing the lines.

Operation and maintenance of the collection facilities, including the master lift station and the wastewater transmission flow meter to the point of connection to the transmission facilities would be the city's responsibility.

The first draft calls for the term of the agreement to be 10 years renewable for an additional five years on mutual consent, but the city would like to see it changed to call for a 10 year renewal period at the request of the city.

Mrs. Colby said she is awaiting comments from the bond counsel and she suspects the bond company will probably require 20 years before giving consent to using the funds borrowed for construction of a 600,000 gpd sewage treatment plant on Grant Street for hooking up with the county.

Mrs. Colby wants it made clear if the contract terminates at the end of 10 years this doesn't mean the county can stop sewage service.

If the agreement with the county goes through plans for the facility will be janked.

Goldberg said the county agrees to supply more than 600,000 gpd if needed and added, "this means we will have a growth potential we've never before had."

Mrs. Colby said as soon as she gets the county's response she the changes the city has proposed, she will schedule a conference with Ms. Clayton, the bond counsel and Dyer Riddle Mills and Precourt, the city's engineering consultant.

TREES, KIDS AND POWER LINES CAN BE A DEADLY MIX.

Ordinarily, power lines are quite harmless. But when a tree grows up close to a power line, climbing the tree could be dangerous. Especially if your child tries to reach up and touch a power line with a stick, a pole or anything.

And under certain conditions, such as wet weather, if a branch makes contact with a power line, your child could get a shock just from touching the tree trunk.

Always look up. Whether you're flying kites, picking fruit or pruning trees, installing antennas or doing any activity that puts you in possible contact with overhead lines. Don't be a victim of your own carelessness.

Museum Preservation Society Conducts Membership Drive

The Henry Shelton Sanford Museum Library Historical Preservation Society, an auxiliary arm of The Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Museum Library, is sending invitations out for membership in the society.

The Preservation Society was established to raise funds for memberships and other fund-raising activities for the enlargement of the present building and to stimulate interest in the museum library.

A.B. Peterson Jr., president of the Preservation Society, said, "The society has only an advisory responsibility for the maintenance and day-to-day operations of the museum library. The facilities of the Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library and Museum will soon become the sole responsibility of the city of Sanford and our organization will be a strong support group performing those functions requested by the city."

The society feels that the preservation of Sanford's heritage, in a time of dramatic change, is an obligation to present and future generations, Peterson adds.

"The museum library has an important role in the cultural development of the community and hopes that all residents will want to share their time as volunteers and their money to enlarge the facility which will enable it to house accurate and lasting records of the past, present and future," Peterson said.

Optimists Mark Youth Week

As part of a nationwide Optimism observance, the Optimist Club of South Seminole will host Seminole County High School Students at their annual Youth Appreciation Breakfast. Through the efforts of Optimist Chairman Bob Jacobs, his staff, Linda Sawyer of the Seminole County Career Education Office and the guidance counselor of the Seminole County High Schools; up to five students from each school will spend a day with business people of their chosen avocation. One student will be chosen from each school to receive the John R. Bethea Memorial Hall of Fame Scholarship.

John R. Bethea was a noted agronomist and past governor of the Florida District of Optimist International. Just prior to his death, Mr. Bethea proposed a Teenage Hall of Fame and set the standards that determine the winner in each Seminole County High School.

The Youth Appreciation Breakfast will be held Friday at 7:30 a.m. in the Park Suite Hotel on Highway 436 just east of Interstate 4 in Altamonte Springs. For further information please contact Lt. Governor Herb Weissman at (305) 774-9895.

Lions Help 'Quake Victims

Local Lions Clubs sent over 5,000 pairs of used eyeglasses by air freight today to El Salvador for distribution to earthquake victims. The glasses will be personally delivered in El Salvador today by John Gehrig, vice president of the Winter Park Lions and chairman of "Operation Anteojos." Delivery will be made to Jose Prado, Governor of the Lions of El Salvador.

The eyeglasses were recently collected by the Lions Clubs of Winter Park, Maitland, Altamonte Springs and Sanford as part of the clubs' continuing effort to aid visually handicapped people everywhere.

Congressman Bill McCullom's office assisted in transportation efforts by arranging for duty free delivery of the glasses to El Salvador as an international charitable gift.

Student Studying In Germany

Ellen Crigar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Crigar of 240 Slade Drive, Longwood, is one of 39 American college students studying and working in Germany on a special scholarship.

Miss Crigar, a graduate of Lyman High School in Longwood, is a senior majoring in German at Western Carolina University, Cullowhee.

The scholarships are sponsored by the Congress-Bundestag Youth Exchange for Young Professionals. Scholarship recipients learn German through intensive language instruction and personal contact with Germans. They live with host families to become acquainted with German family life and culture.

Kleiman Named To Commission

Governor Bob Graham announces the appointments of 15 to the newly created Affordable Housing Study Commission.

The commission was created by the 1986 Florida Legislature to analyze the solutions and progress needed for low-income housing in Florida.

Edward J. Kleiman, 40, of Longwood, executive vice-president of Oxford Development Enterprises, Inc., a housing construction business, has been appointed to the commission.

Sculptor Wins Best Of Show

The 20th Annual Highland Arts Festival, sponsored by the Highlands Art League, was held in Sebring on Nov. 8. The entire downtown circle area was blocked off to accommodate the 147 artists and craftsmen.

Johanna Drummond of Longwood was awarded Best of Show and first place in the sculpture category for her works "Tlaloc II." The winning entry was a jaguar crouched on a log base, both sculpted of clay; dimension: 18" x 14".

The $3,000 piece was also a purchase award selection by the Highlands Art League of Sebring.

Johanna and her art will be featured in an article in the forthcoming Winter quarterly issue of "The Naturalist," published by the Florida Audubon Society.

Kelly McClellan, David C. Collins Exchange Vows

Kelly Sloan McClellan of Longwood, and David Craig Collins, Tampa, were married at 2 p.m. on Nov. 15, at All Saints Episcopal Church, Winter Park. The Very Rev. Harry B. Sherman was the officiating clergyman for the High Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. McClellan Jr., 350 Virginia Ave., Longwood. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Collins, 517 Quadrant Road, North Palm Beach.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a white satin gown fashioned along the Queen Anne silhouette. Beaded inserts embellished the fitted sheer bodice and lower sheer section of the leg-of-mutton sleeves. Tiny satin-covered buttons fastened the back of the gown from the high Queen Anne neckline. The full skirt gracefully cascaded into a sweeping chapel-length train. Her headpiece was a white satin hat with lace and pearls accenting the wide brim caught at the back with a pouf of French illusion that extended into a flowing chapel-length veil. The bride carried a bouquet of white lilies and white Freesia with peach glameillas and ivy.

Karen Holigrefe attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore an emerald green lame tulle-length gown fashioned with a drop waistline and a V-neckline in the back enhanced with a large bow. Her headpiece was a green lame bow to match her gown and she carried a festival bouquet of lilies, yellow carnations and peach glameillas.

Shayna Thomas and Dorothy Littlewood were the bridesmaids. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Monroe A. Coogler served the bridegroom as best man. Serving as ushers were Thomas Eckes, Reed Fitton and Bob Trainer. Groomsmen were Jeff Collins and Steve Rinaldi.

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held at the Winter Park Women's Club.

Following a wedding trip to San Francisco and Lake Tahoe, the newlyweds are making their home in Tampa where the bridegroom is employed as executive director of The Florida Council of 100 and the bride is a student at University of South Florida.

Mrs. David Craig Collins

Living With Lover Is Living With Guilt

DEAR ABBY: I am a 20-year-old third-year college student with a big problem. Four months ago I moved in with my boyfriend, and since that time my family has thrown more guilt my way than a person can deal with in a lifetime. My mom says I will roast in hell and she will never accept my boyfriend as a son-in-law. (We plan to marry next year.) The last time my mom called, she begged me to move out, saying my sinful action is killing my grandparents — that my grandfather has removed all my pictures from their house and refuses to speak my name. My mom says my grandparents cry all the time and may never let me in their house again. Also, their 50th wedding anniversary party has been called off because I chose to live with my boyfriend.

Dear Abby

Don't you think I am old enough to make my own decisions for my life, or should I allow my family to "blackmail" me into a decision made by them? I want to do the right thing.

LOST IN PORTLAND

DEAR LOST: You are indeed old enough to make your own decisions, but unless you can live with those decisions, you will reap more grief than joy. It's to your credit that you care enough about your family's feelings to have written to me, and even though you'd be submitting to emotional blackmail to move out, I think for now you'd be happier moving than staying.

DEAR ABBY: Re the poem in your column that went:

"Married in white, you've chosen right.

"Married in blue, you will always be true.

"Married in green, ashamed to be seen.

"Married in red, you'll wish you were dead" etc. I have a better ending:

"Married in pink, your marriage will stink."

I was. And mine did. ANNABELLE IN SPARKS, NEV.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DEEPLY INVOLVED AND NO REGRETS: If not for your own protection, consider the heart-break such a revelation could cause your husband and family. Destroy those letters, and don't carry them with you for "safe keeping." Should you be involved in an accident and their contents are revealed, if you live, you'll be a dead duck.

Husband's Habits Can Cause Concern

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm a very health-conscious person, but my husband is not. He is overweight, eats large portions of fatty foods, uses a lot of salt and consumes large quantities of coffee and cola (although he has cut down on alcohol). Could years of neglect produce abnormal sperm? We want to have children, but I'm afraid they might be mentally or physically affected because of my husband's lifestyle.

DEAR READER — I do not believe that your pains are due to the vein operation. I suspect that your problems may be due to back or joint disorders, such as a ruptured disc, arthritis or poor circulation to the muscles of your lower body. Make an appointment with a specialist in internal medicine, a doctor who is trained in the art of diagnosis.

DEAR DR. GOTT — There is little likelihood that your husband's sperm will be affected by his unhealthy lifestyle. He may develop problems as he grows older, but I doubt that your children will be influenced, unless they inherit difficulties of a genetic nature, such as a tendency to overweight, diabetes or heart disease. Try to encourage them not to emulate your husband's bad habits.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor prescribed a four-month course of Azulfidine (500 milligrams) for ulcerative proctitis. I been taking Peritrate for 25 years. Is it safe to take these two drugs together?

DEAR READER — As far as I know, and in examining the manufacturer's precautions, Azulfidine and Peritrate do not react with one another. Azulfidine, a sulfa antibiotic, and Peritrate, a form of nitroglycerine, are safe when taken together.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I live next door to a truck stop and gas station. I've been bothered by the stinky gas and diesel fumes. Can they affect your health?

DEAR READER — Yes, they can. This type of air pollution can cause a variety of ailments, especially lung problems and a tendency to pulmonary infections. See a doctor to determine if you have suffered any lung damage.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Two years ago I had an operation to clean out blockages in the veins going to my legs. Since then, I've had nothing but pain in my lower back, hips and right leg. My doctors don't know how to treat me, or even what I have. Can

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Here is another page in the book of mangled defensive plays. Against four spades, West led the heart three. Declarer played low from dummy and won the ace as East played the 10. Now came a low club to dummy's jack, won by East's queen. Naturally East now cashed the heart queen. Just as naturally, West allowed East to hold the lead with that queen. And that was it for the defense. East played back a spade, but declarer won in his hand and played another club, guessing to put in dummy's nine. That made dummy's club king a winner to take care of declarer's second diamond loser, so the game was made.

A cursory analysis shows that the contract would easily be set if West selected a diamond as his opening lead. But in the battle of the bridge hand, previous plays are history. West was supposed to do his best to set the contract after the unfortunate heart lead, but he missed his chance. All he had to do was overtake East's queen of hearts and lead a diamond. If declarer rises with dummy's ace, draws three rounds of trumps ending in his hand and sheds a diamond from dummy on the heart nine, East will ruff. If declarer ducks the diamond, East will win the king.

How can West know that East started with the heart Q-10 alone instead of Q-10-x? With the latter holding, it is correct for East to play back a low heart. Finally, if declarer had started with six trumps headed by the jack, nothing was going to work for the defenders.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 21, 1986
Exciting new involvements will keep you on the go in the year ahead. They will satisfy your mental and physical requirements and, in addition to being fun, they'll also provide you with opportunities to learn.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Lessons you've learned from experience will give you the edge over those you compete against today. You're not apt to make the same mistakes they will. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Joint ventures look very promising for you at this time, provided you supply the expertise and know-how while your counterpart handles the financial requirements.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
You can accomplish, in association with the proper people, things that you would never do on your own. Select partners who meet your present needs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Good things could happen for you today in your career. Persons in high places will be favorably disposed to your proposals.

FIBES (Feb. 20-March 20)
The restless and adventurous aspects of your personality may predominate today. Select active companions who'll be able to satisfy your craving to get up and go.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You'll do well in situations today where you are strongly motivated to succeed. You will channel your assertiveness in an effective fashion.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
In situations where you are closely involved with others today, your behavior and thoughtfulness will make a favorable, lasting impression.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
It isn't likely that you'll be using any red ink on the ledgers today. Your business smarts will come into full play.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Conditions in general favor you today. You're apt to be admired for your leadership, sought out for your advice and questioned as to where you bought your attractive attire.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Your behavior won't be considered devious today if you gently prod, push or direct others from the background in order to move them in a favorable direction.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You're a lot better off than you've been leading yourself to believe lately. Take time today to count your blessings and review all the good things you have going.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You're still under favorable influences in situations that affect your material well being. Don't let anything that could make or save you money slip through your fingers.

Outgoing school board member Jean Bryant (center) is congratulated by Owen McCarron, assistant superintendent for administrative services. Behind is outgoing member Bill Kroll, also honored this week.

Schools Superintendent Honors Two Outgoing Board Members

Twelve-year-veteran school board member Jean Bryant and eight-year member Bill Kroll were honored Tuesday for their long service to the school district. Both were replaced by new members at this week's organizational meeting.

Superintendent Robert Hughes present plaques in honor of Kroll and Mrs. Bryant and the audience gave a long ovation to the pair as they were hugged and shook hands with many members of the administration.

Mrs. Bryant, a graduate of Purdue University, worked as a volunteer "Dividend" at Midway Elementary School for many years. She was also active in getting programs going in Alternative Education and Head Start. Married to O.G. Bryant, she has three grown sons.

She was active as a homemaker and also in the real estate field in Seminole County.

Instead of running again for public office, she said she would look forward to enjoying retirement with her husband when he retires from county government in a few years.

She said she would remain available for consultation with any of the school administration or board members if needed.

Kroll, who served two terms on the board, worked in sales for a chemical company. His major work with the board has been in getting the building program under way. He approved a force behind getting the bond projects approved and school construction approved. He also worked in the ongoing study of school food service.
