Seminole Students' ACT Scores Top National Average

Seminole County high school students did better on the ACT college entrance assessment test last year than their state or national counterparts on average, according to results just released.

Seminole students had a composite score of 20 on the test, edging out the state average of 18.7 and the national average of 18.5.

The ACT test consists of four parts: English, math, social studies and natural sciences. In all four categories, Seminole scores were better than the state and national averages.

Seminole students' strongest showing, in comparison to the rest of the state and nation, was in math and social studies. In both categories their scores were 1.5 to 2 points higher.

ACT test scores are required for entrance into many colleges and universities, so the test is usually taken by college-bound students. It is administered each year by the American College Testing Program based in Iowa City, Iowa.

Jim Carr, regional director of ACT, said he could not release which county had the highest test scores, but he said Seminole County's scores were "excellent."

"If there is anybody higher, I don't know who it is," Carr said.

Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes praised the showing and said the scores were the result of "strong teachers, involved parents...and a strong curriculum program."

Karen Coleman, coordinator of community relations and public information for the school board, attributed the high scores to guidance counselors who are better preparing students for college.

The 330 Seminole County boys who took the test did better than the 450 girls in the math, social studies and science portions of the test. However, the girls trounced the boys in the English category.

The test also contained a biographical section where students could give their educational plans and rate their own schools.

About 37 percent of the Seminole County students said they planned to get a bachelor's degree, while 54 percent said they planned to go on to a graduate or professional school. Business and health were listed most frequently as planned majors.

About 45 percent of the students said their high school education was good and that they were generally satisfied with the instruction, courses and facilities offered by their schools. However, most of the students said they were dissatisfied with school policies.

More help with planning their college education was the number one need the students said they faced. Assistance in writing, reading, math and study skills fell below this.

Holiday Inn Renovations Get P&Z Nod

Plans for $1 million in improvements to the facilities of the Holiday Inn on the Monroe lakefront, including construction of a new lounge and rearrangement of the first story of the hotel to provide additional meeting rooms, received the blessing of the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday night.

This is to be the first phase of the modernization and expansion of the hotel property, which ultimately will see the addition of 60 guest rooms, explained Wallace Schoettelkotte and Ed Welsh, partners and owners.

Final approval must be given by the Sanford City Commission at its 7 p.m. meeting Monday. City commission approval is necessary because the site is owned by the city of Sanford and leased to Schoettelkotte and Welsh, said Assistant City Manager Steven Harriett.

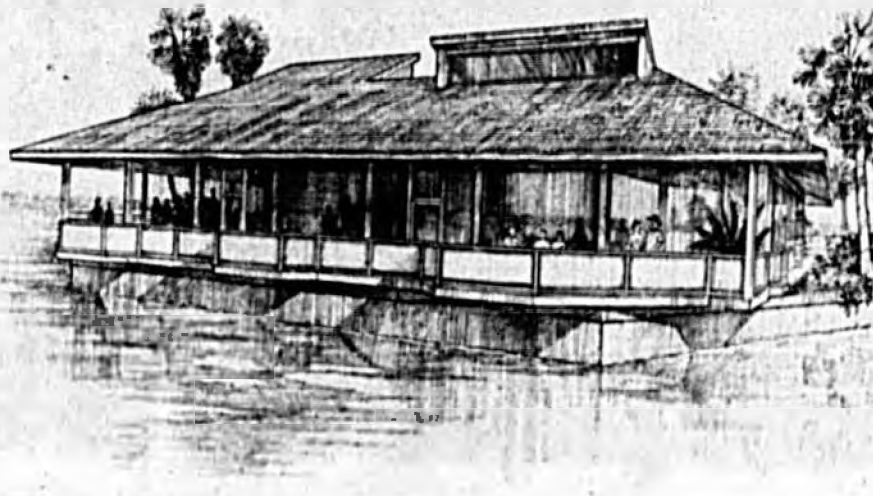

Sanford architect Jerry Gross designed the improvements.

Plans submitted to the planning and zoning commission show a 63 feet by 40 feet lounge at the southwest corner of the property right of the seawall overlooking Monroe Harbor, the marina and Sanford City Hall.

The new lounge will seat 120, Schoettelkotte said, with another 50 seats on the cantilevered deck over the water, Schoettelkotte said.

Cold seafood type cuisine will be served at the lounge.

Schoettelkotte said the restaurant at the hotel will be retained to serve breakfast, lunch and dinner and additional meeting rooms will be featured at the hotel.

Architect's rendering of Holiday Inn's planned new lounge to be built behind the inn, overlooking Monroe Harbor, the marina and Sanford City Hall. The lounge will seat 120 with another 50 seats on a cantilevered deck over the water.

He added that in about 18 months, contingent upon the state of the economy at the time, the second phase of the improvements at the site will include the addition of 60 rooms to complement the 100 rooms already available at the hotel.

Schoettelkotte said a building permit for the improvements will be requested from the city as soon as the city commission gives its blessing Monday night. Schoettelkotte and his partner have an 85-year lease on the city owned property.

The city commission approved original plans for the improvements and expansion two years ago. Because more than a year had elapsed since that approval, the process has to be repeated, Harriett said.

In other action, the planning and zoning commission:

- Approved the request of James

- E. Ferguson for a conditional use for a duplex at 295 and 297 W. 28th Place in a single family residential district.

- Granted a conditional use to Chris and Amanda Cranias to sell beer and wine for consumption on premises at 107 W. First St. (Christo's Restaurant).

- Approved a site plan for a control house for Seminole County Concrete, owned by Florida Mining & Materials, at 2281 Old Lake Mary Road.

- Approved a site plan for the conversion of the old Hutchison homestead at 2000 Park Ave. to a multi-family dwelling requested by Charles Cameron.

- Approved a site plan for United State Floor Covering Inc., a 20,000 square foot manufacturing facility at 2771 Depot St. as requested by owner, Kevin Spolaski.

Wants Bell For 911

Chamber Panel Endorses Tax

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The Legislative and National Affairs Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the proposed 1-cent sales tax to fund county jail expansion and renovations of the courthouse.

The committee also agreed to urge the county commission to accept the proposal of Southern Bell Telephone Co. to implement a 911 emergency calling service in the county rather than seeking proposals from other firms.

Shirley Schilke, chairman of the committee, said the committee decided Wednesday to recommend the chamber's board of directors at an Oct. 9 meeting endorse the sales tax proposal scheduled to be on the ballot for the Nov. 6 general election.

The Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee also endorsed the proposed tax to be levied for the 1985 calendar year, if the voters approve.

The tax is expected to generate some $13.2 million in revenues. More than $9 million of the money would be used, under the proposal, for a 500-bed expansion to the jail.

Of the enhanced 911 system, Mrs. Schilke said Doug Dickinson of the Association for Public Safety Communications Officers will be invited to a special meeting of the committee to share the knowledge he has gained about implementing 911 systems.

Mrs. Schilke said she and the committee members believe Southern Bell ought to be awarded a contract and the work should begin immediately to implement the program in this county.

Under the 911 system, county residents could dial 911 and get assistance in any emergency situation from the appropriate agency — police, fire department or ambulance service.

The county has asked for proposals from other communications industries to equip and implement the emergency system to see whether a more economical program than the one Southern Bell is suggesting can be found.

County Administrator T. Duncan Rose III has said it will cost some $400,000 "up front" for equipment plus an annual operating cost of $235,000 and $100,000 to develop a data base for the program under the Southern Bell proposal.

He said in addition the costs of personnel to man the system are not yet determined.

The early estimates do not include developing a data base — the names and addresses of those who call the emergency system for assistance — which will cost $100,000 whether the work is done by the telephone company or county staff, Rose said.

And the county commission responded by asking for proposals from any company in the communications business that might be able to provide the equipment and perform the maintenance service.

Mrs. Schilke said the committee's stand is that while the county might get lower bids to implement a less costly 911 system, there are real questions about the quality of maintenance service that would be provided.

UAW-GM Reach Strike Settlement

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers reached agreement early today on a three-year contract with General Motors Corp. and picket lines began to come down at many of the 17 plants struck by 91,300 workers across the nation.

UAW President Owen Bieber said strikers were ordered to return to their jobs as soon as possible, pending ratification of the new contract. The Pontiac, Mich., Fiero plant planned to resume production this evening, but it was doubtful all the struck plants would be back to full speed before Monday.

Despite Bieber's back-to-work order, some locals said they would continue picketing until local issues also are resolved.

The agreement was reached about 2 a.m. after a 15-hour bargaining session.

The contract covering all 350,000 hourly workers at GM includes higher wages for union members and job security promises for six years for a majority of the workforce.

"Our people are very delighted," said Leon Matthews, the president of UAW Local 653 in Pontiac. "The pickets have been withdrawn."

The settlement came one week after the expiration of the old contract, which was amended during the 1982 slump to grant GM concessions worth $3 billion.

Ratification is expected to take about two weeks.

The UAW's 11-member bargaining committee voted 10-1 in favor of the GM contract.

About 91,300 workers struck 17 GM plants this week in strikes sanctioned by the union. Another 18,845 workers were laid off at 23 plants because of the walkouts.

GM said it lost production of 36,600 cars and 9,000 trucks in four days, or 55 percent of its normal production. Analysts estimated the walkouts and layoffs cost GM about $175 million a week.

GM Vice President Alfred Warren described the negotiations as "very tough, very difficult" but said both sides will benefit from the new pact.

"It was very, very complicated to grant (job) security and still be competitive," he said.

"It is an excellent settlement that makes more secure than ever in history the jobs of our UAW-GM members," Bieber said.

'No Hazard'

Dozens of Australian Pines, which for years dotted Sanford property, died in the Christmas freeze, such as this one near the Civic Center; but their removal awaits city crews tied up with downtown beautification work. None of the dead trees pose a hazard, said Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett.

Paralyzed Man Knocked From Wheelchair By Car

A wheelchair-bound Sanford man, already paralyzed from being hit by a car 14 years ago, was hit again as he returned home from a convenience store.

Stephen Sukul, 35, of Shenandoah Village, was wheeling his chair along the shoulder of U.S. Highway 17-92 at about 10:30 p.m. Sept. 14 when a compact car hit his arm, knocking him out of his wheelchair. While Sukul floundered helplessly on the roadside, the car fled, he said.

Sukul was in satisfactory condition at Central Florida Regional Hospital Thursday after doctors treated the shattered bones in his arm. The Florida Highway patrol has no leads on who hit Sukul. Sgt. Chuck Williams, public relations officer, said. He said the car skidded 27 feet before whacking Sukul, indicating the driver was aware he or she had hit someone.

However, Williams said Sukul "was on the wrong side of the road," going southbound along the northbound lane of traffic. Williams also said he had no reflectors on his wheelchair, making it more dangerous to be traveling at night.

Sukul said it was "stupid" for him to be out at night without reflectors, adding that he was through with "street wheeling."

"I'm not going out anymore. It's the last time I do that," he said.

Sukul said he lost the use of his legs in a similar incident in 1970. While returning from a friend's house in Indiana, he said a car mowed him down from behind.

Since then Sukul said he has not driven a car, making it difficult to get a job.

Doctors say he may be in the hospital a few more days. He watches soap operas and thinks how "another five inches" of the car's impact could have killed him.

Prices On Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer prices rose a substantial 0.5 percent in August, the most since April, propelled by more expensive housing, clothing, beef, fruit and vegetables, the Labor Department said today.

The price of gasoline fell 0.9 percent, less a decline than in June and July, and so was not as much help to the index.

The inflation rate for January through August is running at a moderate 4.2 percent, the department said, but is now showing signs of moving up a notch by the end of the year to the 5 percent range most leading analysts have been expecting all along.

Prices went up 0.3 percent in July and 0.2 percent in May and June.

The price acceleration was noticeable across the board, with only medical care and a miscellaneous category doing better in August than in July.

"Inflation is gradually intensifying, although evidence of this will not be substantial in August," Georgia State University economist Donald Ratajczak said.

"The most noteworthy change in prices of non-food commodities is the absence of further price weakness for energy," Ratajczak said. The Consumer Price Index was 313 in August, equivalent to a cost of $313 for the government's sample market basket of goods and services that cost $100 in 1967.

Food prices went up 0.6 percent, compared to July's 0.3 percent, mostly because of a 13.2 percent jump in the cost of potatoes, tomatoes and lettuce.

Beef and pork prices that went down in July went back up in August.

In fact beef prices, up 1.4 percent, fell in the five previous months.

Housing costs were up 0.6 percent after gaining 0.5 percent in July. Maintenance and repair costs declined 0.1 percent but there was a sharp increase in both electricity, gas costs.

NATION IN BRIEF

MX To Have Tough Congressional Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Opponents of the MX missile now have four chances at killing the controversial program next year under an agreement reached after two weeks of congressional-administration negotiations.

Thursday's defense budget settlement now must be put in a final legislative form by several committees. Some options:

- $2.5 billion for the MX in fiscal 1985, which starts Oct. 1, but only $1 billion is immediately available and can be used only on 21 missiles approved last year.
- The remaining $1.5 billion will be subject to two votes in each chamber, and a loss by the administration on either vote will doom the missile. Should the missile survive, sources expect the money to be enough to build 15 of the 10-warhead units.
- The votes are to be within days of each other before Easter.

Stockman: No Further Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Budget Director David Stockman says he expects no more cuts in federal programs for the poor next year but does not anticipate any new government efforts to help them.

Stockman, testifying at a congressional hearing Thursday, defended President Reagan's fiscal policies and said the growing number of people in poverty will have to depend on the economic recovery for relief.

"What should we do? Put in a newsletter to those in poverty they are going to have to wait for the economy to improve?" an irate Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., asked. "I'm asking, what do you intend to do now?"

Stockman, an architect of Reagan's slash-back budget policies, replied, "We'd all like to find some panacea, some magic wand to make poverty go away," but none exist.

Reagan Says He'll Renominate Him

Meese Cleared Of Wrongdoing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, saying his longtime friend and aide would make a "truly distinguished attorney general," intends to renominate Edwin Meese for the post now that he is cleared of any criminal wrongdoing.

"It's always gratifying when the honor of a just man is vindicated and that's exactly what has happened with the report of the independent counsel on Ed Meese," Reagan said in a written statement Wednesday.

Special prosecutor Jacob Stein, in a 385-page report to a three-judge court, said a five-month investigation of the White House counselor concluded there was no basis for prosecuting Meese for any of 11 allegations against him.

Reagan tapped Meese for attorney general in January when Attorney General William French Smith resigned, but confirmation hearings were delayed when questions were raised about Meese's finances.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said last week he would not resume Meese's confirmation hearings until after the election because of the political overtones involved.

"I intend, if I am re-elected, to resubmit his nomination as soon as Congress convenes in January," the president said. "I'm confident that the Senate will confirm him and I know he'll be a truly distinguished attorney general."

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, who led efforts to block Meese's nomination in the Senate, said he was not satisfied by the report, which he said is "replete with contradictory statements."

"There is no doubt in my mind that the sum total of the report fully confirms my previous statements that Mr. Meese should not be confirmed to be attorney general," Metzenbaum said.

However, another frequent critic of Meese, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., said he accepted the report's findings.

Kennedy said he had some "real doubts" about Meese's sensitivity to civil rights and civil liberties but, "in all fairness, the questions examined and resolved should no longer be part of the confirmation process."

Meese called the five-month investigation a "long ordeal."

"I said at the outset of the investigation that I welcomed the opportunity to confront the allegations and rumors that had been generated in the course of the hearing on my nomination," Meese said.

Meese said he is looking forward to the resumption of the Senate confirmation proceedings on his nomination.

Bird House Billboards

Question: Do birds go on vacations? If so, do you really think they'd rather see Rock City than, say, the World's Fair or New York City? And if they don't knock off for a little R&R now and then, why did someone put this advertisement on these bird houses on Florida Road in Sanford?

Several Enter Pleas In Court

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford couple arrested for possession of Quaaludes, amphetamines, marijuana and hashish have pleaded guilty to possession of controlled substances.

Raymond Thomas Hall Jr., 25, and Harriet Lisa Hall, 24, of Cameron Wright Park, pleaded guilty Thursday before Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis who set Nov. 28 for sentencing.

Hall pleaded guilty to sale or possession of Quaaludes, hashish, more than 20 grams of marijuana and a firearm by a convicted felon. He faces up to 3 1/2 years. His wife faces a year for possession of marijuana and hashish.

According to court records, Seminole county undercover agents armed with a search warrant entered the Halls' home May 29 and confiscated about 20 pounds of marijuana, 100 pot plants, a quantity of hashish, several hundred Quaalude tablets, several hundred amphetamine pills and about a dozen firearms.

The search and subsequent arrests came after a 2-week investigation during which officers reportedly met with the Halls and a third suspect at state Road 46 and bought illicit drugs from or in the presence of them on three occasions.

The third suspect, William Sterling Moseley, 26, of state Road 426, Hall's Fish Camp, arrested for possession of marijuana and hashish, did not have felony charges filed against him by the state attorney's office.

The agents reported meeting Hall May 16 at his home where they reportedly bought a bag of pot for $35, five Quaaludes for $20 and five amphetamine tablets for $2.25. The other suspects were reportedly present during that sale and during two similar deals that Hall reportedly made with agents on May 18 and 23.

In other court action Thursday before Davis, a Winter Park man who gave a doctor a false name, address and phone number when requesting a prescription for a cough suppressant pleaded guilty to trying to obtain a controlled substance by fraud.

Richard Stephen Martino, 28, of 1029 Denton Road, reportedly went to Dr. Ramon D. Baker, at 1900 Howell Branch Road, Winter Park, on June 18 and told him that he had bronchitis and asked for a prescription for Tussonex, which the doctor gave him in the name of "Rick Martin," a sheriff's report said.

Martino had the prescription filled and returned to the pharmacy the following day and asked for a refill. The pharmacist referred him back to the doctor.

When Martino returned to Baker's office, the doctor notified authorities.

A Sanford man has pleaded guilty to attempting to shoot into an occupied dwelling.

William Paul Abney, 19, of 2429 Chase Ave., could receive up to 5 years when sentenced by Davis Nov. 28. He is to remain on bond until sentencing.

According to court records, Abney reportedly fired several shots from a .38-caliber handgun as he stood in his front yard and argued with a man at about 8 p.m. May 22. One of the shots reportedly entered an occupied house across the street at 2422 Chase Ave. Sanford. No injuries were reported, according to the police report which did not say why the men were arguing.

An Orlando man who was charged with possession of marijuana after being stopped for violating the right-of-way has pleaded guilty to possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana.

Thomas Wayne McBride, 32, entered the plea before Davis who sentenced McBride to one weekend in the Seminole County Jail and ordered him to pay the public defender's office $350. He could have received a year in the county jail.

According to court records, McBride was stopped on a traffic charge after he allegedly cut in front of another car that was making a left turn from state Road 431, Altamonte Springs at 8:49 p.m. June 14.

The drug charge was logged when an officer reported finding a plastic bag and several partially smoked marijuana cigarettes in the glove compartment of McBride's car, the report said.

A Lake Mary woman, arrested after she refused to leave the Sanford home of her former husband, pleaded guilty to resisting arrest without violence and was ordered to spend one weekend in the Seminole County Jail.

Kathleen Ann Lagalle, 36, of 208 Wimbleton Road, was arrested after an officer was called to 208 Malissa Court, Sanford, to settle a domestic dispute June 28.

Thomas Lagalle, of the address, told the officer that his former wife refused to leave his house, according to a police report.

When the officer attempted to issue a trespass warning, the former wife attempted to run from him, struggled and then kicked him when he tried to restrain her, the report said.

IN BRIEF

Prisoners Join Battle To Stop Spread Of Canker

LAKELAND (UPI) — Jail volunteers will join state and federal agriculture workers to help burn millions of young trees in an effort to stop the spread of a potentially devastating citrus canker disease.

The state and federal workers were headed back into the fields today to continue the tree-burning at three nurseries in central Florida.

They were to be joined by 45 prisoners from local jails who volunteered for the job, said U.S. Department of Agriculture spokesman Wayne Baggett.

"It's a big chore," said Baggett. "This certainly represents some manpower we can use."

The canker, which threatens Florida's $1 billion-a-year citrus industry, has been detected at four other nurseries in the first outbreak of the disease in the state in 50 years.

Cabinet Adopts Merit Pay Rule

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Despite opposition from teacher union officials, Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet have adopted a new rule implementing a merit pay plan for public school teachers.

In a unanimous decision Thursday, Graham and the Cabinet approved a proposal that will give about 6,000 Florida teachers an additional $3,000 annually. The extra pay is aimed at keeping the state's best teachers in the profession.

Despite approving the merit pay plan, three Cabinet members said teacher salaries would have to be increased in general if the state was going to achieve its goal of attracting and retaining qualified teachers.

"I support the concept of merit pay ... but I think implementation of those programs ought to come after we reach ... the upper quartile in teacher salaries and do something about reducing class size," Attorney General Jim Smith said.

Ford Scores Terrorists

LAKE BUENA VISTA (UPI) — Former President Gerald Ford says the death penalty is "too good" for terrorists such as the ones responsible for the latest bombing in Beirut.

Ford appeared in central Florida to campaign for GOP congressional candidate Rob Quartel, who is trying to unseat incumbent Democrat Bill Nelson in the 11th Congressional District.

Bank Bag With $2,900 Stolen

A bank bag containing $2,900 that didn't end up in the account of its owner, Jim Taylor Corp., has been reported stolen. The last person known to be responsible for that cash has taken an inconclusive lie detector test concerning the missing bag, deputies report.

A company vice president, Dennis Bryson, 47, of 1700 Walnut Ave., Winter Park, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies Thursday that the cash was to have been deposited in Barnett Bank, Maitland, at 5 p.m. Sept. 12, but the money never made it into the company's account.

The deputies report responding to a disturbance call at the home of Mary Root, 38, of 51A Bear Gully Road, Winter Park, at about 12:30 a.m. Thursday.

The officers noted a slashed waterbed when they entered the home and saw scratches and dried blood on Ms. Root's throat, according to a sheriff's report. She said that she had been choked by the suspect and deputies report that the man continued to argue with her in their presence.

They tried to calm the suspect, but he allegedly threatened to kill one of the lawmen and when they tried to handcuff him he began to struggle, the deputies reported.

James Carl Neff, 38, of 51A Bear Gully Road, was released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Oct. 3.

600-Pound Woman Still Serious In Hospital But 'Hungry As Usual'

A 600-pound Sanford woman remains in serious condition at Florida Hospital-Altamonte after undergoing surgery last week for an abscess on her leg.

Altamease Cherry, 54, of 909 W. 12th St., was taken to the hospital Sept. 7 after relatives knocked a hole in the wall of her house and slid her down a makeshift ramp to get her to the ambulance. Because of her weight and illness, rescuer workers said she was unable to walk.

While she is still in serious condition, her sister-in-law says she is doing "much better" than before.

"She is out of intensive care but it will be a long time before she can leave the hospital because of the extent of her infection," Mattie Cherry said. "She's talking now and she's hungry, as usual."

The Treaty On Genocide

President Reagan asked the Senate to ratify a treaty that has been in a holding pattern for 35 years around the U.S. Capitol. It is the "Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide," a statement of international repugnance at attempts to wipe out entire groups of people on the basis of their race, religion, ethnic strain or nationality.

The United States was a principal supporter of the treaty when it was adopted unanimously by the United Nations General Assembly in 1948, three years after the world learned the full extent of the Nazi holocaust that took the lives of 6 million Jews. The treaty defines genocide as an international crime and calls for sanctions against governments that practice it.

It is a peculiarity that the United States never ratified the treaty. Time and again the issue was raised in the U.S. Senate, and then tabled, not because of any sympathy with genocide but because of concern in some quarters that the treaty would lead to an infringement on our sovereignty over our domestic affairs.

Such legal questions can still be raised about the treaty, but the Reagan administration has concluded that, by rejecting it, the United States is suffering more embarrassment than such reservations are worth. We can hardly identify ourselves with the cause of promoting human rights around the world when we are not among the 96 nations that have ratified a treaty seeking to defend the most basic of all rights.

The treaty remains more of an expression of principle than a document that could prevent the abhorrent crime it outlaws. The large number of adherents to the treaty did nothing to save the estimated 2 million Cambodians who died at the hands of a revolutionary government in the mid-1970s — the most flagrant act of genocide recorded since World War II. Treaty or not, the practitioners of genocide can be expected to turn a face of innocence to the world and to try to conceal any evidence of their crime.

Resistance to ratification of the treaty has centered among conservatives in the Senate. The appeal for action from a conservative president should be reassuring to any senators who remain skeptical about the wisdom of making the United States a party to the treaty. We think there is more to lose than to gain by continuing to question the impact of the treaty on our national sovereignty.

Nuclear Power

To hear critics tell of it, nuclear power is an unreliable and unfeasible energy source for the United States. And, in a sense, they are right, but only because anti-nuclear power groups have made that a self-fulfilling prophecy by their determined opposition to anything nuclear.

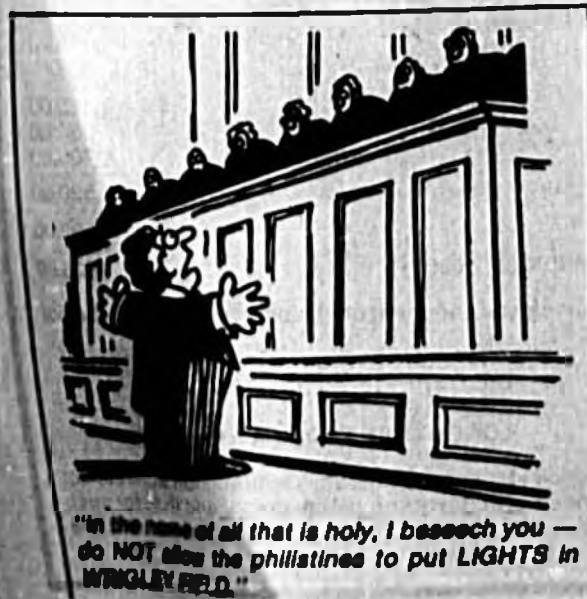

The situation is a bit different in other countries. Unencumbered by hostile environmental groups and their delaying lawsuits, development of nuclear power has progressed quite well in many countries that are attempting to liberate themselves from dependence on unreliable sources of energy, like foreign oil.

Several European countries, such as Belgium, France and Switzerland, have gone nuclear in a big way and now receive about 30 percent of their electricity from nuclear power. And countries in the Far East, like Taiwan and Japan, have also started ambitious nuclear power programs to free themselves from the specter of an energy crunch caused by a cutoff of imported oil.

The United States is lucky, in a sense. It is not as dependent on foreign oil as are these countries. And this nation has substantial stockpiles of coal for its future energy needs.

But these won't last forever. Nuclear power offers the United States a viable, feasible and reliable path to energy independence. Other nations have shown us the road ahead is safe. We need only follow in their footsteps.

BERRY'S WORLD

"In the name of all that is holy, I beseech you — do NOT allow the philistines to put LIGHTS in WINKLEY FIELD."

AROUND THE CLOCK

With the United Way of Seminole kick-off breakfast scheduled for next Tuesday, normally UW Executive Director Bob Walke would be speaking out loud and clear, but his secretary Clara Shannon is trying her best to hush him up.

Bob is unable to use his voice because he is undergoing a six-week series of radiology treatments at Florida Hospital, Orlando. He is communicating in whispers or in writing, but still on the job.

With the United Way golf tournament at Sabal Point raising more than $4,500 last week, it looks like the campaign is off to a good start.

HELP WANTED: male, female, young or old. Must care about this community and be willing to spend limited amount of time sharing talents. While the campaign leadership has been lined up, Dave Joswick, chairman this year, has announced that there is still a need for volunteers to help with the drive. The record goal this year is $500,000.

Assistance can come in many ways — high on the list is for industries to distribute brochures and pledge cards to their employees and assist in the campaign solicitation. Additional help is needed in preparation and mailing of Special Gifts letters; an increase in this year's telephone campaign is also planned and additional volunteers are needed for this effort.

If you would like to participate in the campaign, call the United Way office at 322-5050.

New this year are the service plaques that will be awarded to small companies, professional associations, and individuals contributing $300 or more to the Seminole County camaign. If similar contributions are made over the next three years year tabs will be added.

The deadline has been extended for artists and craftsmen to enter Sanford Seminole Art Association's 12th annual Fall for Art show to be held Oct. 27 and 28 in the area of the Sanford City Hall and County Courthouse. Contact show chairman Robert Garcia, 750 Pampas Grass Court, Lake Mary for details.

The Central Florida Society for Historic Preservation will hold an old-fashioned Ice Cream Social on Sunday, Sept. 30 at the Bradlee-McIntyre House on Warren Avenue off County Road 427 in Longwood. They will be serving up East India Ice cream from 1-4 p.m. The $2 donation covers the tour of the house as well as the ice cream.

Mexico: History, Tragedy

MEXICO CITY: The race of people we know as Mexican began to emerge in the middle of the 16th century within years after the Spanish, led by Cortez, conquered the Aztec nation in 1521, in the slaughter at Tenochtitlan and Tlatelolco, together the present site of Mexico City. Consumed by their greed for the Aztec treasures, the Spanish were themselves consumed, along with the Aztecs, and other tribes, in the formation of a new people — the mestizo, or Mexican.

Today, the ancient capital of the Aztecs, founded 200 years before Columbus landed, is inhabited by some 17 million descendants of the Spaniards and Indians. In traveling to work or to school, they ride in 70,000 taxicabs and in 20,000 buses. To one crossing the street, though, it seems that all of them are driving their own cars — directly at him. Apparently, Mexico City residents own in the area of 4 million autos — apparently, because no one knows exactly how many. In fact, no one really knows exactly how many people live there, since about 1,500 arrive from the countryside every day. But every educated guess makes Mexico City the largest city in the world.

As one of the great capitals of the West, Mexico City has the best of everything: richly-stocked museums, spectacular boulevards — the Paseo de la Reforma is 14 lanes wide — a combative, lively press, and the limitless energy of its people. Everyone, whether desperately poor or just ambitious, seems to be selling something — handmade jewelry, toys, newspapers, fruit and baked goods, shoehines, and a thousand other goods and services. The people of Mexico City live a large part of their lives out of doors. On a weekend afternoon one million people wander through Chapultepec Park in the center of the city.

Chapultepec is, of course, known to Americans as the final battle of the Mexican War, where the U.S. Army under Gen. Winfield Scott forced Mexico's surrender in 1847, and set in motion the beginning of the end of Santa Anna's empire, and the opening of the American West. In 1867, the Emperor Maximilian, placed on a powerless throne by the French, was executed, and Mexico began the long period of political decline that led to the Revolution of 1910. During the revolution, more than 1.5 million people died, of a population of 10 million.

Mexico, the nation and the city, is thus wracked by tragedy. The majestic beauty of the Zocalo, the central plaza, and the quick smiles of Mexican children are set off by the vast suffering of millions.

This Law Was Six Years Too Late

The recently passed Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act is intended to encourage U.S. businesses to invest in the region — and, at the same time, to protect their investments from the whims of recipient governments.

No country is to get Economic Recovery funds if it has repudiated a contract with a company in which a U.S. citizen or firm owns at least a half-interest.

The law came six years too late to help J. Royal Parker directly, but if the State Department takes a little belated interest in Parker's case, the new law might prove to be the indirect route to justice for Parker. Here's what happened:

In 1978, Parker's New Jersey-based firm entered into a joint venture with the Costa Rican port authority, JAPDEVA, to develop the country's ports as duty-free enterprise zones. Parker and the government agency each owned 50 percent of the venture.

DeLorean Reflections

After a lengthy and highly publicized investigation and trial, the jury voted rather quickly to acquit John DeLorean of cocaine-dealing charges, despite videotapes of him dealing in bogus cocaine transactions with disguised federal agents. The case is interesting in a number of respects.

Harvard law professor Alan Dershowitz has commented that DeLorean probably would have been convicted by a panel of law professors, on the basis of the letter of the law, but he goes on to add that the discretionary powers of the jury are a good thing. Whatever the law says, the jury — however instructed by the judge — can simply apply its common sense and vote to acquit. The jury also represents the current state of public opinion, which may be well be at odds with the letter of the law.

Interviews with the DeLorean jury indicated that it held the view that the federal investigators had gone too far, and in fact "created" the crime with which DeLorean was charged. Without the "investigation" there would have been no "crime." And the jury seems to have reasoned that the federal government should not be using its time and the taxpayers' money for such creative activity, even though it did not fall technically within the scope of the entrapment statute.

But the DeLorean case inevitably gives rise to further reflections. It is possible that the entire law-enforcement campaign against drug use should be re-examined. Some drugs are more dangerous than others, and some — such as LSD, which was in wide use during the 1960s — can produce dangerous behavior. But is this true of cocaine? And, if it is not true, why is cocaine a matter of federal concern?

I am provisionally prepared to say that if someone like John DeLorean is snuffing or smoking — or whatever you do with it — cocaine, well, that doesn't cost me a nickel. It can be self-destructive. I do regret that we will not be seeing John DeLorean on Saturday Night Live and that there will be no sequel to "Animal House," but, then, DeLorean sure had a right to his own destruction. Why should it be a federal case?

The lively journalist Taki, a Greek millionaire whose prose style has evoked high praise from Tom Wolfe, was recently arrested at London's Heathrow Airport for possessing a small amount of cocaine. He drew 16 weeks in prison, and his journalistic career is said to be under a cloud. It all seems excessive. His pinch of cocaine wasn't bothering me or anyone else, and if it hadn't been illegal there would be no problem. The British criminal justice system might be better employed combing the remaining spies out of its Foreign Service and Intelligence branches.

The legal excitement over drugs is of rather recent vintage. An occasional touch of morphine did not dim the wits of Sherlock Holmes.

Horses, Donkeys At Cornell

By Patricia McCormack
UPI Health Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even though mules can't have babies, two horses and a donkey were born to three different mules between June and August at Cornell University.

Researchers at Cornell's New York State College of Veterinary Medicine bypassed that natural reproduction barrier by transplanting horse and donkey embryos into the surrogate mother mules.

Mules can't have natural offspring because they are a hybrid of a horse and donkey. As a result, they have an odd number of chromosomes. That deprives them of the mix needed to produce sex cells that make eggs and sperm.

Dr. Douglas Antczak, assistant professor of immunology at Cornell, and Dr. William R. Allen, director of the Equine Fertility Unit of the British Thoroughbred Breeders' Association, are the powers behind-the-scenes of these barnyard doings.

In a series of embryo transfer experiments, they flushed out eight day-old embryos, conceived in horses or donkeys, and put them in the wombs of mules.

Antczak says the resultant three births, the first to mules by embryo transfer in the United States, are helping science understand how a fetus and mother adapt to one another and why a mother accepts or may reject a fetus.

The scientists said such information is needed to reduce spontaneous abortions — something that sometimes happens when the mother's immune system doesn't react normally to pregnancy and rejects the fetus as foreign matter. There also are other reasons for spontaneous abortion, including defective fetuses.

Horses, the scientists said, have the highest rate of spontaneous abortion among domestic animals.

"The data gathered from these embryo transfer pregnancies help us to understand the immunoregulatory mechanisms that operate during normal pregnancy," Antczak said.

"This knowledge may also be applied to other complex systems of immune regulation, such as clinical organ grafting, and the tumor-host relationship.

The scientist said the horse frequently creates an immune reaction to its own or transplanted fetus.

Antczak said the embryo transfer work will continue at the research center in Ithaca.

"We now have a system in which we can compare the behavior of embryos of different species in a neutral environment," he said.

That doesn't mean I know what they are."

TIGER ISLAND REVISTED: The Marines have quietly returned to Tiger Island, the Honduran outpost in the Gulf of Fonseca from which they were removed last May after a six-month tour of duty. A Marine Corps spokesman said they won't stay longer than six months this time, either.

The withdrawal in May followed an internal Pentagon dispute over whether the Marines were entitled to combat pay on the island. If the Marines were ruled to be in a combat situation, Congress would have to be notified specifically.

Meanwhile, the Pentagon has changed its tune on a shooting incident in which a Marine corporal was wounded the first day of the earlier landing on Tiger Island. The official word was that he was shot accidentally by another Marine. But Sen. Jim Sasser, D-Tenn., said an initial Marine investigation concluded that the shooting was "not friendly fire."

MEN WITHOUT A COUNTRY: Not surprisingly, there are few countries that willingly offer sanctuary to Nazi war criminals whom the United States wants to deport.

But unless some country does, these aging dregs of society are allowed to stay in this country.

It's the Justice Department's responsibility to track down and deport ex-Nazis, who covered up their bloody past when they immigrated after World War II. It's the State Department's responsibility to find countries that will take in the deportees — and Foggy Bottom isn't doing its job.

House Judiciary Committee sources complain that the State Department simply isn't interested. They say the department makes a cursory attempt to find a country that will accept an old Nazi, but makes no effort to persuade the reluctant ones.

Want To Know What Goes On In Seminole Schools?

Parents and residents of Seminole County will get to see and question how their school system works Monday at the School of Information Workshop at Lake Mary High School.

The program, sponsored by the county's School Advisory Council and Council of Parent Teacher Associations, is an annual event designed to give parents a three-hour survey of what their children are getting in the public school system.

The school board also hopes to get feedback and ideas from parents about what can be done to improve the school system, according to Karen Coleman, coordinator of community relations and public information for the board.

There will be workshops about topics that touch virtually every aspect of education — from budgeting to teaching, Mrs. Coleman said.

"There's going to be something there for everybody, including the citizen who says 'I want to know something about the way things are run in this district,'" she said.

The program will start at 6:30 p.m. with refreshments and an idea-sharing session. At 7 p.m., Wray Register, council chairman of the Florida Education Council, will give a speech. From 8 to 9:30 p.m., parents may attend their choice of 16 various 40-minute workshops.

In addition to informing residents about the school system, the workshop's planners hope to attract more parents into the school district's volunteer programs.

Mrs. Coleman says Seminole County schools enjoys a high amount of parental involvement but added more is needed to keep the system from becoming "inferior."

"We'd hate to go back to having a school district without that kind of involvement," she said.

Environmentalists Blast Acid Rain Study Which Says There's No Harm

ORLANDO (UPI) — Florida's lakes and rivers show no signs of damage from acid rain or emissions from fossil-fueled power plants according to a new study sponsored by a utility-backed organization.

But environmentalists say the report is self-serving and designed to help utilities avoid stricter emission controls.

"Florida utilities clearly do not want legislation to clean up garbage coming out of their smokestacks," said Steve Howards, a spokesman for the Wildlife Federation. "I think the (study's) goal is to forestall action to require them to do so."

A spokesman for the utility group agreed that Florida utilities want exemption from more stringent emission standards but he denied the study was biased in the industry's favor.

"Utilities support the Clean Air Act to clean up the environment," said Ron Spinka. "I think the position of most utilities is that we don't know enough in Florida and shouldn't be forced to take any action unless it's based on sound information."

The $3.2 million study was initiated three years ago by the Florida Electric Power Coordinating Group, an association of 37 utilities.

The organization started the study after taking issue with claims by environmentalists that power plant emissions were slowly killing lakes and forest along the East Coast and in Canada.

"We do not find that there is a crisis in Florida at this time from acid rain," said Ken Wiley, general manager for the association.

Wiley said the study, which will not be completed until next year, indicates the acidity of Florida rainfall has remained relatively constant over the past 10 years with acid levels dropping slightly between Sept. 15, 1982 and Sept. 14, 1983.

Elaine Harrington, chairwoman of the Florida chapter of the Sierra Club, said a report on acid rain in the Southeast prepared by the National Clean Air Coalition and Friends of the Earth claimed that dozens of lakes already have been affected by acid rain.

She said the pollution begins by killing micro-organisms and disrupts the entire food chain.

Everyone Wants To Talk To The Dead

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Ken McAvoy, a terminally ill cancer patient who has offered to deliver messages to the dead for $20 each, says he has been deluged with calls.

McAvoy, who has a malignant brain tumor that his doctor says probably will kill him by the end of the year, is guaranteeing he will locate deceased loved ones after his own death and "spiritually deliver messages."

He won't say how he will deliver the messages, but tells doubters: "How can you be sure I can't?"

"I've had some wisecracks," McAvoy said. "There are some who think I'm a kook. One guy said that the doctor didn't go deep enough into my head. But I've got my own things to worry about."

McAvoy said he wants to "ease the burden" of people who have lost a loved one without being able to say goodbye.

He placed his ad in the South Florida Single Living publication and editor Bunney Brenneman said her phones have been "ringing off the hook."

"I had no idea that anyone would care about this," Brenneman said. "I stopped counting at 40 (calls). It's probably over 60. The rest of the people in the office can't get any work done."

McAvoy's wife, Missy, said her husband has been spending much of his time on the telephone with the news media.

"I'm flabbergasted," she said. "Australia has called four times. The London Times has called. Everybody seems to have a very good reaction to it."

WORLD IN BRIEF

All Americans Accounted For In Latest Suicide Bombing

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — U.S. Embassy officials today accounted for all Americans in the area of the latest suicide bombing and investigated the security breakdown that allowed the attack, which killed 23 people, injured scores of others and severely damaged the mission.

"The search for bodies has ended and we have accounted for all Americans," Deputy Chief of Mission Stephen Lyne said. "We have two Americans dead and 16 others wounded seriously enough to stay overnight in hospital. Four other Americans were treated and released," he said.

Lebanese troops and the U.S. Embassy's locally hired guards sealed off the shattered U.S. compound today as embassy officials investigated the security breakdown that allowed two pro-Iranian terrorists to career past concrete barriers and set off an explosives-packed truck outside the embassy.

Police said 23 people were confirmed dead in the explosion, including two American servicemen. Some 71 people, including 25 Americans, were wounded, hospital and rescue workers said.

Begin To Write Memoirs

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Menachem Begin, recovering today from prostate surgery, plans to write his memoirs, from his days as a militant underground leader before the creation of Israel to his tenure as prime minister, an aide says.

The 71-year-old Begin, hospitalized 10 days ago after complaining of urinary tract problems, underwent an operation Thursday to remove an enlarged prostate gland. Doctors at Shaare Zedek hospital said the operation was successful.

Dr. Amitzur Farkas, head of urology at the hospital, operated on Begin in the presence of a cardiologist, Dr. Monty Zion. Begin received a local anesthetic and was conscious throughout the surgery, a hospital spokeswoman said.

"I don't anticipate any problems whatsoever," Zion said after the procedure.

Zion said Begin, who has had two heart attacks and a stroke, had no cardiac problems during the surgery.

Thousands Killed In 'Dirty War'

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentina's former military rulers committed "the most savage tragedy" in the country's history by abducting, torturing and executing more than 8,960 suspected opponents in the 1970s, a government human rights panel says.

The 11-member National Commission on the Disappearance of Persons Thursday presented to President Raul Alfonsín a report on the fates of thousands of people missing in the armed forces bloody "dirty war" against leftist rebels.

The 350-page report gives a chilling account of human rights abuses allegedly committed by the military regime that governed the country from 1976 to 1983.

Elections Set In Three Cities

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Two mayors and seven city councilmen or commissioners are up for election in the cities of Winter Springs, Casselberry and Altamonte Springs on Nov. 6.

In Winter Springs where the candidate qualifying period closed earlier this week, Mayor John Torcaso is being opposed in his bid for re-election to a new three-year term by an old foe, Martin Trencher.

Two years ago, Torcaso and Trencher vied for the unexpired mayoral term of Troy Piland and Torcaso emerged victorious. Trencher, who had served on the Winter Springs city commission previously, resigned from that post.

Meanwhile, in Winter Springs, the commission seats held by Burley "Buck" Adkins and Bill Jacobs are also up for election to three year terms.

Adkins, completing his first term is opposed by Lawrence Cera and Arthur Hoffman for Seat 2.

Jacobs, appointed to a vacancy on the commission in June, 1983, is opposed by Ray Bradshaw, former city public works director and building official.

Jacobs had also served on the city commission for one term, prior to his current term.

Winter Springs has 5,783 registered voters.

In Casselberry, incumbent councilmen Carl Robertson, Frank Stone and Richard Russo are up for election.

Robertson, who has served as council chairman for the past two years, elected to that post by his colleagues, is being opposed for Seat 3 by Gloria Smith, a homemaker. Robertson has served on the governing body for three two-year terms.

Challenging incumbent Stone, a former city firefighter who is completing his first term in office, is former three-term city councilman Frank Schutte for Seat 2.

This will be a replay of the election battle between the two men seen in the 1982 city election. At that election, Stone, then a newcomer to city politics, defeated Schutte.

Incumbent Seat 1 council member, Russo, also completing his first term, is vying with Bill Ritter, a city builder, in his bid to continue in office.

This will also be the first Casselberry election held in November, in accordance with a charter change approved by the people last year.

The candidate qualifying period in Casselberry closes at 5 p.m. today.

Casselberry has 6,510 registered voters.

In Altamonte Springs, the mayor's office and two city commission seats are up for grabs.

With the candidate qualifying period scheduled to close Monday, all three incumbents, Mayor Ray Ambrose and Commissioners Lee Constantine and Bob Reis have qualified.

Ambrose, completing his first three-year term as mayor, has not gathered opposition so far. Neither has three-term city Commissioner Constantine.

Reis, however, completing his second two-year term, is being opposed by Eddie Rose, formerly director of the city's civic center.

Altamonte Springs has 10,098 registered voters.

The voter registration books for the three cities will close on Oct. 6.

In Winter Springs, terms are three years while terms are two years in Casselberry. Terms of office in Altamonte Springs for mayor are three years and two years for city commissioners.

Rams-Pats Pick 'Em

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Harry Nelson and David Tullis say "Pick 'Em."

Both think it will be that close when Nelson's Lake Mary Rams and Tullis' Lake Brantley Patriots crack helmets tonight at 8 in Five Star Conference football action at the Lake Mary High School Stadium.

It's also the Mayor's Trophy game. Altamonte Springs mayor Ray Ambrose will be on hand to cheer the Patriots and Lake Mary mayor Walter Sorenson will be clapping his hands for the Rams.

"This is what high school football is all about," said Nelson. "There's going to be a helluva crowd. I hope it will be a good, clean, wholesome rivalry."

Tullis agrees. "It's a big game emotionally for both teams," says the fifth-year Patriot coach. "If we win, we'll have two tough conference games (Lyman and Lake Mary) out of the way. For the loser to get back in the conference race, he'll need a three-way tie. I don't see Lake Mary or Apopka losing two games."

Tullis is right. Even though tonight's blockbuster is just the second conference game for each, it could be pivotal. If Apopka lives up to its second-place ranking in the state poll, the Blue Darters' encounter with tonight's winner could be of the conference and district titles.

Lake Mary (1-0, 1-0), which dispatched DeLand with a furious fourth-quarter rally last week, host Apopka Oct. 26. Lake Brantley (1-0, 2-0), which pounded Lyman (28-6) last Saturday, gets its shot at the Blue Darters a week earlier, Oct. 19.

Last year, the Patriots beat lumps on the Rams, 32-6. Lake Mary, nevertheless, bounced back to finish 6-4 in its first season of 4A competition. The Rams were 1-9 the previous year. Lake Brantley has blossomed during Tullis' five years. The Pats have always sent an abundant supply of talent to the major colleges, but it seems Tullis has the program on an 8-victory a year diet which may continue for sometime for the hard-working 37-year-old. The Big Blue was 8-3 last year with a bowl appearance.

Because the team clubs are so much alike, it lends to the "Pick 'Em" prediction. Both have strong physical offensive and defensive lines. Both have good, solid running backs. Both defenses are savage hitters. Neither will ever throw in the towel.

"We're close in a lot of areas," says Tullis. "Lake Mary really impresses me more than Apopka. Apopka has that one great runner (Sammie Smith), but Lake Mary is just so balanced."

"Their offensive is explosive, yet they can grind it out if they have to. They also have good special teams. Anytime that you punt or kick off, they have a chance to break it. That (Ray) Hartsfield is really quick. He doesn't run scared, though. He runs with a purpose."

Although Tullis, no doubt, has been gearing for Hartsfield at quarterback, Nelson said he will start junior Mike Schmitt instead. "That's the way I'm leaning right now," said "Harry The Ram" Thursday night. "I'm going to give it a change of pace."

Nelson's reasons are twofold. Hartsfield, who is also an outstanding safety, took a beating last week. "He's such a nice little target to jump on that he takes a lot of punishment," said Nelson. "We didn't protect him very well last week."

Nelson also said he will start his seatbacks instead of his Lake Mary's Patt Murray freezes DeLand defensive end DeDe McNeil while picking up eight yards on a counter play. Rams butt head with Lake Brantley tonight.

"Hison Backfield." Which means Charlie Lucarelli (107 yards against DeLand) and Patt Murray (wingback) and Scott Underwood (fullback). "We also want to rest Hartsfield and (fullback) Billy "Bang Bang" Caughell. We're going to need them on defense all night."

For the second week in a row, Tullis will start David Delliaeco at quarterback and move Dennis Groseclose to tightend. "David and Dennis both do positive things for us," said Tullis. "But they each supply us with something different. David is a quicker runner while David is a bigger (6-3, 195), stronger runner." Tullis needs that quickness against Lake Mary. Although Brantley handled its first two opponents (Colonial and Lyman) rather easily, neither has the explosiveness of Lake Mary.

Lucarelli, Murray and Hartsfield are all sprinters. And Tullis' fear of Lake Mary's kick return game is well founded. Donald Grayson, the Rams' explosive tightend-wideout, carried a punt back 89 yards against DeLand to run the game around. Lake Mary scored on the next play from the 6-inch line to take the lead for good.

Posey: Line Shift May Spring Backs

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

After being short-circuited two weeks ago by Titusville Astronaut, Seminole will try to turn on the speed tonight at 8 as it travels to Lake Howell to take on the 2-0 Silver Hawks in Five Star Conference football.

The tenacious Astronaut defense kept Seminole's lightning-bolt backs bottled up all night long as the War Eagles downed the Seminoles, 28-0. Lake Howell coach Mike Bisceglia is concerned that his team won't be able to do the same thing Astronaut did to the 'Noles.

"We don't have the guns to shoot them (Seminole) down like Astronaut did," Bisceglia said. "We have to keep their backs from turning up field on those wide plays. With the speed they have, Seminole can score at any time."

Seminole coach Jerry Posey has made some changes in the offensive line and looks for the new-improved line to lead the way for speedy running backs such as Dexter Jones and Cliff Campbell.

"The offensive line wasn't very explosive against Astronaut," Posey said. "They didn't make any holes for our backs. We worked on that a lot this week and are looking for a solid effort from the linemen."

The offensive line for Seminole includes Alan Kendall and Danny Stone at the tackles, big Anthony Hall and Carl Tipton at the guards, Strickland Smith at center and Jerry Littles at tightend.

While Posey is hoping the offense can get rolling, he is counting on defense to hold off the Hawks. "The defense showed a lot of potential against Astronaut," Posey said. "If you take away three Astronaut plays, it was a 7-0 ballgame. The offense gave them two touchdowns."

"We're going to have a hard time stopping Seminole's quickness on defense," Bisceglia said. "A lot of times their linemen are in the backfield before you have a chance to block them. They have a much stronger defense than Spruce Creek."

Prep Football

The Silver Hawks pinned a 30-14 loss on Spruce Creek last Friday and Lake Howell opened the season with a 17-0 blanking of Bishop Moore.

"We're going to have the same game plan for Seminole," Bisceglia said. "We have to control the ball and put up some points. We had three scoring drives last week that consumed six or seven minutes. We have to keep the ball away from Seminole's offense."

Lake Howell relied on the running of Steve Innamen (108 yards) and Efrim Brooks (44 yards) and the passing combination of Allan Jack (6 of 8 passes for 98 yards) to Jeron Evans (5 catches for 58 yards) to sustain its drives against Spruce Creek.

"Lake Howell doesn't make a whole lot of mistakes," Posey said. "They only had three penalties against Spruce Creek and two of those were aggression calls (clipping)."

While Lake Howell has almost a completely different team from a year ago, Bisceglia won't soon forget last year's Seminole-Lake Howell game.

Lake Howell built a 20-2 halftime lead only to see Seminole come back to claim a 29-27 victory. "We had an 18-point lead at halftime," Bisceglia said. "But we came out and turned the ball over four times in the second half and Seminole converted all four into scores. We can't play that kind of football tonight and expect to stay close to Seminole."

Lady Greyhounds 'Stump' Lake Howell — Tribe Takes 1st

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The way the Lake Howell and Lyman volleyball teams were trading points early in Thursday's match, it looked like it would go down the wire.

But along came Regan Stump. With the score tied at 5-5 in the opening game, Stump's sizzling serve enabled the Lady Greyhounds to reel off seven straight points to take a 12-5 lead and command of the match.

Lyman went on to win the first game, 15-9, and rolled to a 15-7 win in the second game in Five Star Conference action at Lyman High. Lyman improved to 4-2 overall with the win and 4-1 in the conference. Lake Howell now stands at 1-2 overall and 1-1 in the conference.

While it was Stump's service string that got them rolling, the Lady Greyhounds turned in a tremendous team effort against a powerful opponent in Lake Howell.

"The team was really up for the game," Lyman coach Annelie Griffin said. "Our passing was superb, we were moving well and communicating. I couldn't have asked for anything better."

The Lady Hawks stayed close in the early going behind some outstanding defensive play by Sandy Gillies and Grace Ley. But Lake Howell couldn't get anything going offensively as it had six missed serves in the first game alone.

With the score tied at 3-3, Jolce Johnson served a pair of points to give Lake Howell a 5-3 lead. But a missed serve gave Lyman a side out and Dawn Boyesen served two points to tie the score at 5-5.

Lake Howell got it back on Kim Montegny's spike, but the Lady Hawks failed to break the tie. Stump then came on to serve and Lyman rallied for seven straight points behind the senior standout to take a 12-7 lead. Lake Howell mistakes led to most of the points while spikes by Kim Forsyth and Kim Vocks accounted for two points.

Prep Volleyball

"Regan (Stump) did an outstanding job of serving," Griffin said. "She really got us going with those seven straight points."

Stump's serving was one of the highlights for the Lady Greyhounds Thursday and with Griffin also cited the front row play of Forsyth and Lori Helms. For Lake Howell, Gillies had an outstanding game both hitting and defensively.

In Thursday's junior varsity match at Lyman, the JV Lady Greyhounds improved to 3-0 on the season with a hard-fought 16-14, 10-15, 15-13 victory over a tough Lake Howell junior varsity team.

SEMINOLE WINS FIRST

Beth Nelson and Debra Hillery turned in stellar efforts to lead Seminole High to its first volleyball victory of the 1984 season, 15-9, 15-8 over Spruce Creek's Lady Hawks Thursday night at Seminole High.

Hillery served nine points for the Lady Seminoles in the first game while Nelson put together an impressive string of 10 straight points in the second game. Seminole, 1-3 overall and 1-3 in the Five Star Conference, hosts a tri-match Tuesday with Lyman and Laytona Beach Mainland.

"It's one step in the right direction," Seminole coach Beth Corso said of Thursday's performance. "Debra (Hillery) and Beth (Nelson) were really on with their serves. Debra also played a fine game in the back row and Beth set well all night."

With Seminole holding a 1-0 lead in the opening game, Hillery came in to serve four straight points to give the Lady Tribe a 5-0 lead. Spruce Creek eventually battled back to take a 8-7 lead, but Seminole made it 10-8 on Nelson's serve.

Spruce Creek pulled to within 10-9 before Seminole regained the serve and Corso then called a time out. "We started out playing well, but then we slowed down and started playing their (Spruce Creek's) game," she said. "So I called a time out and woke up the girls and I guess it worked."

After the time out, Hillery came on to serve five straight points to give Seminole the first game, 15-9.

In the junior varsity match Thursday, Seminole pulled out a tough three-game victory over the Spruce Creek JV, 17-15, 8-15, 15-9. Jackie Farr's seven straight service winners in the third game was the key to Seminole's victory.

LADY RAMS OUTLAST APOPKA

The officials weren't too comfortable and Lake Mary got off to a poor start but the Lady Rams still managed to come out of Apopka with a victory Thursday.

After dropping the opening game, 15-9, Lake Mary battled back to win the next two, 15-4, 15-6, and the match. Lake Mary improved to 2-4 overall and 2-3 in the Five Star.

Lyman Looks For Maiden Vs. Colonial

ORLANDO — Something has to give. Lyman's Greyhounds and Colonial's Grenadiers both will be seeking their maiden victory tonight when they collide at Colonial High School.

Coach Bill Scott's Greyhounds lost a tough one to Boone in the opener and then were blown out by Lake Brantley last Saturday. Colonial dropped a 20-8 decision to Lake Brantley two weeks ago, then gave Winter Park all it could handle in a 16-9 loss last Friday.

A loss, Scott says, should have been a win. "They should have beat Winter Park." Big Bill declared. "A kid bobbled a pass at the goal line and it got intercepted. Then, they moved down to the 15 (yard line) and time ran out on them."

Lyman, which lost defensive tackle Greg Smith and fullback-linebacker Ron Beasley to injuries, is off to a slower than usual start. Last year, Colonial pulled out a 20-16 victory. After that, however, the 'Hounds won five of their last eight games to finish 8-5. The defense, which returned everybody except the backfield from a stellar unit, has not

Gordon's 3 TDs Propel Seminoles

Stewart Gordon ran for 98 yards and three touchdowns as Seminole's junior varsity upended Lake Howell's JV, 18-7, Thursday night at Lake Howell High.

After being shutout in the first half, Seminole scored once in the third quarter then added a pair of touchdowns in the fourth to ice the victory. The JV Tribe now stands at 1-1 and will be back in action Wednesday against Seminole County rival Lake Mary at Seminole High.

Seminole had a chance to get on the board in the early moments of the game when it drove down inside the Lake Howell 10-yard line. Seminole eventually got down to the one-inch line, but couldn't push into the end zone. Lake Howell then took over and mounted a long, time-consuming scoring drive. The first quarter ended during the Hawks' drive and Lake Howell broke the scoreless tie with a touchdown early in the second quarter. The extra point gave the JV Silver Hawks a 7-0 lead and they maintained that lead at halftime.

"After that touchdown in the second quarter they (Lake Howell) never threatened again," Seminole coach John Brady said. "We controlled the ball most of the second half and whenever Lake Howell got the ball it was just three plays and a punt."

Gordon's two-yard touchdown run midway through the third quarter cut Lake Howell's lead to 7-6. The third quarter ended with the same score, but Seminole put two TD's on the board in the fourth quarter.

Both of the touchdowns came on short runs by Gordon as Seminole built a 18-7 lead and never looked back.

While Gordon picked up 98 of Seminole's 198 yards rushing, a pair of Seminole quarterbacks and a Tribe halfback combined for 100 yards passing. Darrell Taylor completed 2 of 11 passes for 50 yards, David Roland completed 2 of 2 passes for 25 yards and Dwayne Willis completed a halfback pass for 25 yards.

Sonny Osborne, Willis and Alonzo Galney each hauled in passes of 25 yards and Horace Knight caught one for 20 yards.

Troy Turner led the Seminole defense with two solo tackles and five assists and Knight added four solo tackles. Willis was practically all over the field Thursday as he intercepted a pass, recovered a fumble and came up with a quarterback sack.

Lake Mary 27, Lyman 0

About two weeks ago, Shane Letterio and Ryan Lisle were marching in a parade at Walt Disney World as part of the Altamonte Springs Senior League All-Stars, winners of the Senior League World Series.

Thursday night, Letterio and Lisle contributed to another parade — Lake Mary's scoring parade at Lyman High. Letterio threw for a pair of touchdown passes and Lisle rushed for 166 yards as the junior varsity Rams rolled to a 27-0 blanking of the JV Greyhounds.

Lake Mary improved to 2-0 with the victory and will go up against Seminole Wednesday. Lyman, which fell to 2-1, travels to Bishop Moore next Thursday.

Letterio hooked up with David Martin for a 30-yard touchdown pass as Lake Mary took a 7-0 lead in the opening quarter. Letterio hit Martin again in the second quarter for a 50-yard TD pass. Lisle added a seven-yard touchdown run in the second quarter as the Rams built a 21-0 halftime lead.

Patriot Meet Draws State's Elite

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Five of the top girls teams and three of the top boys teams in the state will be one hand Saturday at the Lake Brantley Patriot Invitational cross country meet at Seminole Community College.

The meet begins at 9:30 a.m. with the girls junior varsity followed by girls varsity at 10, boys varsity at 10:30 and boys junior varsity at 11.

Four of the top five teams in the 4A rankings and one of the top 2A schools in the state will make the girls race an interesting one. Top ranked Tampa Leto and second ranked Lake Howell are expected to fight it out for the top spot with fifth ranked Seminole, tenth ranked Lake Mary and 2A powerhouse Father Lopez right behind.

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks are looking to move into the top spot if they can out-pick Tampa Leto. The Lady Hawks have been impressive in the first two weeks of the season led by its top six runners, Lisa Samocki, Amy Ertel, Nancy Nystrom, Martha Fonseca, Belinda Laseur and Mary Fonseca.

For Seminole High, Saturday is a chance to run against the two top teams in the state.

"We'll be able to see how far we've come and how much further we have to go," Seminole coach Ted Tombros said. "The best way to keep getting better is to run against the best teams in the state."

Seminole will also look to move past Father Lopez. Seminole and Lopez tied for second in the Lyman Opener two weeks ago, but Lopez got second place because its sixth runner finished higher than Seminole's.

The top six runners for Seminole include Shownda Martin, Dorchelle Webster, Debbie Coleman, Katrina Walker, Jennifer Roberts and Glenda Bass.

While Seminole is trying to inch closer to the top, Lake Mary's Lady Rams are trying to move closer to Seminole. "Seminole is the team we need to key on," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said.

The Lady Rams will have its top five, which finished third in the Edgewater Invitational, intact for Saturday's meet. Lake Mary was without number three runner Heather Heikkila in Tuesday's dual meet with Seminole and number five runner Jodie McCurdy dropped out midway through the race. Both Heikkila and McCurdy will be back and ready Saturday. Leading the way for the Lady Rams in Sue Kingsbury followed by Fran Gordon, Heikkila, Niki Hays and McCurdy.

Cross Country

Since Lake Mary is keying on the county team ahead of them (Seminole) Lake Brantley will key on the team ahead of them, Lake Mary.

"Lake Mary is the first team for us to shoot for," Lake Brantley coach Jim Marshall said. "I would be very pleased if we could finish in the top five, but realistically, we should be around sixth or seventh."

Lake Brantley's top five includes Joanne Hayward, Kim Lubenow, Kim Pacetelli, Kim Wain and Melissa Meghdadi.

Lyman won't be in the running as far as team scores go, but the Lady Greyhounds have two fine individuals in Tracy Fisher and Julie Greenberg.

Among the favorites in the boys portion of the meet will be third ranked Tampa Leto, fourth rated Winter Park and seventh ranked Lake Mary.

The Rams finished second to Winter Park at the Edgewater Invitational and are looking to sail past the Wildcats Saturday. The top six for Lake Mary includes Matt Palumbo, Ken Rohr, Harold Pitts, Jim Shepherd, Bobby Howard and Tom Wait.

Tombros is hoping the Seminole boys can turn in a better performance than they did in the Edgewater meet and in Tuesday's dual meet.

"I'm looking for a better overall team performance," Tombros said. "Our intensity has to be a little harder."

Tombros said number two runner Larry Cosby is still fighting a cold and may not be in the race Saturday. Number one runner Billy Penick leads the way for Seminole and Tombros is looking for improvement from number three man Kelly Faint and number four runner Kelvin Abney.

The Lyman Greyhounds have performed well the first two weeks of the season and the top five of the 'Hounds includes Steve Grundorf, Carl Schmalmaack, Charles Mullins, Tim Jones and Mike Mohler.

Padres Finally Rule Roost In N.L. West

United Press International

The team whose only claim to fame was a Chicken now rules the roost.

The San Diego Padres, behind a three-run homer by pitcher Tim Lollar, used a 5-4 victory over the Giants and a loss by second-place Houston Thursday night to clinch the NL West — the first division title in their 15-year history.

Thus, the Padres are no longer known solely for their odd mustard-and-brown uniforms or their former mascot, the zany San Diego Chicken. Now they are known as champions.

"All of us are very proud of what this team has accomplished," said first baseman Steve Garvey, whose arrival last season signalled the club's turnaround. "It's great to have a baseball winner in San Diego."

N.L. Baseball

"You have to give of yourself. It takes a lot of work. But a lot of us have worked 24 hours a day and now it's paid off."

Rather than celebrate the historic moment on the field, the Padres popped the bubbly later at the home of reliever Rich Gossage after gathering around a radio and listening to the Los Angeles Dodgers post a 6-2 victory in Houston.

Lollar, who has three homers this year, got credit for his 11th victory against 12 losses but left in the sixth with the score 5-3 and the Giants threatening.

Pirates 7, Cubs 6

At Chicago, Johnny Ray's sacrifice fly scored Joe Orsulik to climax a two-run eighth inning that lifted the Pirates to a sweep of the three-game series. The Cubs, who dropped their fourth straight, had their magic number to wrap up the NL East remain at three. A crowd of 33,651 enabled Chicago to draw 2 million fans for the first time in its 108-year history.

Braves 9, Reds 3

At Atlanta, Gerald Perry had a three-run homer and drove in five runs to power the Braves. Rick Camp, 8-6, pitched seven innings and allowed six hits while striking out two and walking three.

Cardinals 3, Expos 2

At St. Louis, Andy Van Slyke hit a two-run homer and rookie Terry Pendleton went 4-for-4 with an RBI double to lift the Cardinals. Dave LaPoint, 12-10, went seven innings for the triumph. Bruce Sutter pitched two innings for his 43rd save. Bill Gullitckson, 11-8, took the loss.

Wrong Corks Pop, K.C. 'Padding' Comes Loose

United Press International

The wrong cork was popping at Anaheim Stadium Thursday night.

The Kansas City Royals, hoping to pad their lead in the American League West, instead lost ground to both contenders. California blanked the Royals 2-0 in a game marred by protests filed by both teams over illegal bats. Earlier, the Minnesota Twins scored a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

The Angels' second straight victory over Kansas City moves them one-half game behind the Royals while the Twins pulled to within one game of first.

Mike Witt limited Kansas City to three singles and Brian Downing hit his 21st homer to sink the Royals.

"We're still in good shape," Royals manager Dick Howser said. "Face it, we just got shut down by Witt tonight. He only gave us a couple infield singles and there's not much you can do with that. We'll just have to reload and come out firing tomorrow night."

Witt struck out seven and walked none to improve his record to 14-11. In completing his eighth game of the season,

N.L. Baseball

the 23-year-old right-hander set down the first 12 batters before designated hitter Jorge Orta lined a single to left to open the fifth.

At Minneapolis, Tom Brunansky scored the winning run from third base on a wild pitch in the 13th inning, enabling the Twins to snap a three-game losing streak.

"It's about time we won one like this," Minnesota manager Billy Gardner said. "We've hit balls hard for the last three days and haven't had anything to show for it."

Brunansky drew a walk off White Sox reliever Bert Roberge, 3-3, to start the 13th and moved to second on a sacrifice by Gary Gaetti. He took third on a passed ball and scored on the next pitch when Roberge threw the ball into the dirt and off to the right, rolling past catcher Joel Skinner all the way to the backstop.

Twins reliever Ron Davis pitched two innings and struck out three batters, raising his record to 7-9.

Ali: I'm Still The Greatest

NEW YORK (UPI) — Boxing great Muhammad Ali, "looking pretty" and insinuating he is "still the greatest," planned to check out of a hospital where he has been treated for Parkinson's syndrome so he could attend an Islamic conference in the Sudan.

All, accompanied by the Rev. Jesse Jackson, came out of Presbyterian Hospital in Manhattan Thursday evening to meet with reporters who had waited for him all day.

"I'm in good condition. I'm not hurting and I'm not in pain," he said.

Muscles Need Rest In Order To Grow

DEAR DR. LAMB — I've been running for more than two months and have only had three days off during this period. Right now I'm averaging four and five miles a day. I'm 16 and weigh 136.

I've lost seven pounds this summer. Is this from water loss during running? I lift weights three times a week, but don't seem to be building any muscles. It seems to me that running firms the muscles, while weightlifting tries to build them up. My muscles are firm, but I would like to put some shape into them.

Am I receiving maximum benefits by running seven days a week, or should I run only five or six days? I'm getting ready for a 10-kilometer race and want to know how to best prepare for this. I've heard that one should run four or five miles until the race so that you will be at a peak for the six-mile race. I've also heard that you should run eight to 10 miles a day so the six will seem easy.

DEAR READER — You can lose fat while growing muscle. Your firmer muscles may mean that you have done this. Some larger muscles are fat muscles, not strong muscles, like marbled beef. Good exercise programs and sensible diets prevent this from happening.

Don't expect maximum benefits from a muscle-building program if you exercise daily the way you describe. Your muscles need a day of rest between exercises to form new protein and grow.

The best way to train for any exercise event, such as your race, is to develop the capability to do more than the event requires. That is also sound medical advice. The people who get into trouble are those who try to do more in one day than they have trained themselves to do. It is the person who has not run a step in 10 years, but suddenly tries to run a mile, who is in trouble.

Train to be able to run six miles without difficulty and the six miles will not strain you even with the excitement of the competition. But don't do a lot of exhausting exercise during the two days before the race.

You will find additional exercise information to help you in The Health Letter 15-12, Exercise Wise.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is dried milk really harmful? Does this include nonfat dried milk? I mix it with water and use about a quart a day.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

I have not asked Toronto expert George Mittelman for his favorite hand. But it might well be this deal from 1975, and it is a beauty. George was sitting South and became declarer in a four-spade contract.

He won the opening club lead with his ace and led the queen of spades. East won the ace and returned a club to dummy's king. A third club was played, on which declarer discarded a diamond as West trumped. We can certainly all see that a diamond lead now dooms the contract, but West saw no danger in playing the heart ace. George trumped with the spade seven, saving the deuce. He drew one round of trumps, noting the fall of the spade eight from the West hand. If East, as it seemed, had started with three spades, one heart, four diamonds and five clubs, it was more likely that the king of diamonds was with East. Accordingly George got out of his hand with the carefully preserved deuce of spades. East had to win the spade four and lead a minor suit to dummy.

George made the hand, which was written up in quite a few bridge magazines in 1975. As for East, he was left praying that the next time he was dealt the ace and two small trumps, one of them would be the deuce so he could keep out of the lead when he didn't want it.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY

SEPTEMBER 22, 1984

This coming year will be one in which you will reap rewards from situations where you have already paid your dues. The efforts you expended in the past were not in vain.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's better today to tell it like it is, instead of using empty, sweet-sounding phrases to make a point. Sincerity has the most powerful impact. The Matchmaker wheel reveals your compatibility to all signs, as well as showing you to which signs you are best suited romantically. To get yours, mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are entering an interesting financial cycle. You could reap a very large return through an unusual chain of circumstances. Be money conscious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Continue to view things realistically today, but by the same token, dare to be a dreamer. When you anticipate the obstacles, they won't obstruct your hopes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Important achievements are possible today. Don't cave in when things look the darkest because that's when dawn is about to break.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) No one is so wise that he cannot learn something from others. You'll be innately aware of this today and therefore gain new knowledge.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Strive to be flexible today and play things as they come. When you flow with the tide of events, you'll surf to success.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A situation may develop today that could put you in a position to take advantage of another. Yet, much to your credit, you'll play fair.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If the status quo is not to your liking there is no reason for you to continue to accept conditions as they are. Make changes for the better.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Persons you know socially will be willing to help you today if you make your needs known. Don't be hesitant to talk to them about serious subjects.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is a good day to catch up on projects that you've been side-stepping. Nothing will prove too tough, provided you're determined to see it through.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have excellent organizing abilities today and you might be called upon to piece together a situation others are unable to manage.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Instead of taking advantage of opportunities for personal gain today, you'll unselfishly work just as hard for others to see that they fare as well as yourself.

Fungus Disease Control Can Be Complicated

This time of the year fungus diseases are a real problem in our gardens and landscapes. Unfortunately, fungus disease control can be a complicated matter. Obviously, it's essential to choose the right material for the job. But, you must also apply it at the right time and at the proper rate.

The most confusing thing about using fungicides is selecting the right material. Some fungicides are specific and will control only certain diseases on certain plants. Others are "broad spectrum," and will control a lot of different fungus problems on a variety of plants. And, sometimes a lot of different fungicides will be recommended for the same disease problem. How do you know which one to use?

Sometimes a number of fungicides will be recommended for the same disease problem, but these can vary in strength and effectiveness. If the disease is severe, either because you waited too long to do anything about it, or because it's one that spreads rapidly, such as downy mildew, use the most effective fungicide you can find. You may have to go to a specialty shop for a fungicide of this type, as they aren't always available at garden centers.

If you spot a disease before it becomes severe, a less potent fungicide may do just as well in clearing up the problem. You can generally use less potent fungicides if you've practiced such things as crop rotation, resistant varieties and good cultural practices.

Using the right amount of the right fungicide is essential for most effective disease control. Use the rates listed on the label. Sometimes rates are listed in ranges, such as "four to six ounces per 1,000 square feet." Generally, the lower rate is the amount used early in the season, or when the plants are small. The higher rate is used when the plants are fullgrown, or the disease has become severe. It's a good idea to use the higher rate early in the season. This will reduce the chance of disease early in the plant's life, and make any disease control that is necessary later in the season more effective. Unless the label specifically states otherwise, it's usually okay to use the higher rate right from the start.

Remember, fungicides work by preventing disease—they serve as shields against infection—not cures. These chemicals can't save plants that are already infected. They can only limit the spread of a disease to healthy plants. You can see how important it is to begin a fungicidal spray program at the first signs of attack...or better yet, even before you notice any symptoms at all.

When you notice the first signs of fungus disease, usually leaf spots or blight, you can be fairly sure that the plants have been infected for at least three days, and perhaps as long as two weeks. Symptoms of bacterial leaf spots and downy mildews usually appear three to 10 days after infection. Other leaf diseases have incubation periods of from seven to 10 days—in some instances, as long as 14 days. Greasy spot on citrus can take several months to show up.

Generally, the longer the incubation period, the slower a disease spreads and the more easily it can be controlled. Obviously, diseases that have short incubation periods, such as bacterial blights and downy mildews, are the most difficult to control.

Other things, such as weather conditions, cultural controls, fungicide toxicity, and spray application techniques will have some effect on your attempts to control a disease, also. The one factor that will have the most influence is the time at which you begin your spray program. The earlier you begin, the more successful you will be.

Always inspect your plants carefully and frequently, and begin spraying at the first sign of infection. It may seem that extensive disease symptoms develop overnight. However, a few spots always appear on the leaves before a sudden explosion of symptoms. And, you should remain alert for these early warnings. If you know from past experience that a disease problem is likely to develop, begin a spray program before you see any symptoms at all. Then continue spraying at the intervals suggested on the product label.

If disease symptoms that have appeared seem to get worse after you've sprayed, don't get discouraged. Remember, fungicides can only prevent—not cure an infection. A disease may continue to produce symptoms for some time after spraying. You should notice a slowdown in symptom development within about 10 days following application of a fungicide.

Begin your control measures at the first sign of infection. If you don't begin spraying until a disease has spread quite a bit, use the most effective material you can find and apply it at the highest rate allowed on the product label. Also, shorten the interval between sprays as much as the label recommends. And, water the plants only when necessary.

Happy gardening!

Robin Jones, B.J. Von Herbulis Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Robin Elizabeth Jones and Brett James Von Herbulis were married Aug. 18, at All Souls Catholic Church, Sanford. The Rev. Father Lyle Danen performed the 7 p.m., double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.O. Jones, 503 Satsuma Drive, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Von Herbulis, South Sanford Avenue, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal satin gown lavishly embellished with Venise lace and seed pearl motifs. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long tapered sleeves. The controlled skirt gracefully cascaded into a sweeping chapel train trimmed in Venise lace. A wreath of silk flowers and pearls held her tiered veil of imported illusion and she carried a cascade of white roses, white freesia, and baby's breath showered with white streamers.

Lori Fieger, the bride's niece, was the maid of honor. She wore a rose taffeta gown with a sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves and a matching bustle. She carried a Colonial nosegay of white starburst pompons and dusty rose miniature carnations and baby's breath. Her headpiece was a halo of rose carnations and baby's breath. Bridesmaids were Deanna Brorup, Barbara Fedder, sister of the bridegroom; and Christi Fieger, niece of the bride. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant.

John Bono served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Josh Bassett, nephew of the bride; and Bill Von Herbulis, Bernie Von Herbulis and Brian Von Herbulis, brothers of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Bobby Von Herbulis, brother of the bridegroom, and Frank Stafford and Darwin J. Fedder.

Flower girl and ring bearer were Jill Fedder and Neil Fedder, niece and nephew of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at the Knight's of Columbus hall. Assisting were Kort Bellinger, Lisa Bellinger, Mrs. Albert Payne, Mrs. Carl Brorup and Marcia Brorup.

After a wedding trip to Ormond Beach, the newlyweds are making their home in Sanford while their new home on South Sanford Avenue is being constructed.

The bridegroom is employed by Daniel Hooper Construction Company.

SOS Self-Help Group Sure-Fire Answer For Smokers' Spouses

DEAR ABBY: I take exception with your response to "Mrs. X," whose husband had suffered four heart attacks, was ordered by his doctor to quit smoking, but sneaked smokes every chance he got. (The poor man was not allowed to smoke in his own home.) You weren't much help, Abby. You told her that her husband was hooked on cigarettes, which she already knew. Then you suggested ways for him to quit, saying he could quit if he really wanted to (another needle).

This angry wife needs psychiatric counseling. She's been married to this man for 40 years, during which time I'm sure he smoked, and now suddenly she's developed a holier-than-thou attitude.

You should have told her to get off her husband's back and encourage him to exercise more, reduce his sodium (salt) intake, cut out all saturated fats and avoid sugar. He's in his 60s now, and her continual nagging will only destroy their 40-year marriage and shorten his life.

In case you think I'm a smoker, I'm not, but my wife of 42 years is.

SAME PROBLEM, DIFFERENT SOLUTION

DEAR ABBY: Your solution makes sense. Read on for another:

DEAR ABBY: This is in re-

Dear Abby

sponse to "Mrs. X," whose husband continued to smoke after having four heart attacks.

My husband had a near fatal heart attack six months ago. Since then, he's made a remarkable recovery physically, but emotionally he's a wreck. Our marriage is on the rocks. I've asked him to seek counseling. He refuses.

A close friend suggested I get in touch with a self-help group through my local American Heart Association. I did, and it has helped me enormously. It's called "S.O.S." — Support Our Spouses. We meet once a month at a local hospital and learn how to deal more intelligently with our spouses' afflictions. We talk about smoking, diets, sex, personality changes, drugs, etc. It operates much like Al-Anon group meetings.

I've learned to quit nagging my husband about his smoking — that I cannot take responsibility for his actions, and if he chooses to ignore his doctor's advice, I should not feel guilty.

I look forward to those meetings. It helps to spill my heart out to others who have the same problem.

MRS. R., NEW ORLEANS

DEAR MRS. R.: Thanks for sharing. Interested Readers should contact their local American Heart Association to learn if there's an SOS group near them. If there is none, perhaps you can start one.

DEAR ABBY: I just started going with a guy who's 23. I'm 21. He told me he's living with a 30-year-old woman, but it's strictly platonic.

He gave me his telephone number, but said if I call him and a woman answers, to hang up. That makes me wonder. He also told me that this woman has a crush on him, so he told her he wasn't dating anybody because he didn't want to upset her. Also, she's been supporting him for a while, so he feels he owes her, but he's in love with me.

What do you think? And what should I do? I don't want to lose him.

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: I think he's lying to you and he's lying to the woman he's living with. Quit seeing him. You can't "lose" him because you never had him.

Abracadabra (Poof) You're Now A Frog!

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

With a spellbinding flash of his eyes, a sleight of hand and a little hocus-pocus, the first caveman magician probably astounded his friends who just couldn't figure out what happened to the pebble that vanished after they saw him place it under half a coconut shell.

That's how Casselberry magician Stanley Lobdenstern sees the beginnings of his mysterious craft. And, he said, there was probably another budding magician in that pre-historic audience who, enthralled by a live magical performance, went back to his cave to try his own hand at some simple sorcery.

Both 51-year-old Lobdenstern and fellow professional magician Gary Kornfield, 35, of Longwood, got hooked on their craft after seeing live performances when they were youngsters.

"I saw a live show when I was about 10 or 12," Kornfield recalled. "I had seen it on television before, but it was really fascinating to see it live. My father introduced me to the magician after the show and he took a liking to me. He lived in the area (a Philadelphia suburb) and got me interested, started teaching me."

That specialized attention was unusual. Most young magicians start out teaching themselves tricks through the aid of library books or with a basic magic set that contains an assortment of simple tricks, and which can be bought through a mail order business like the one Lobdenstern runs from his Casselberry home or at a magic shop. The cost of becoming a illusionist can range "from nothing up to as much as you want to spend," Lobdenstern said.

His first trick was a ball and vase bought from a peddler who visited his father's grocery store. That sent him at the age of 8 to the library to search for books on magic which enabled him to emulate the tricksters he had seen perform at his school in New York.

At the center of his wizardly education was the cardinal rule of legerdemain — never reveal the secret behind a trick. For if you do, the thrill and fascination which makes it so mystifying vanishes.

"There's no sense in revealing the secrets, because that would take the magic away," Lobdenstern said. "You don't really want to know how things are done, because then it wouldn't be a trick to you anymore. There's really nothing new in magic. There might be a new way of doing something, but it's going to be based on something that's already been done."

"There's no magic in modern magic," Kornfield said. "I stress that magic is an illusion, a trick, a created fantasy. It's just like watching a movie, to suspend consciousness and have a good time, to live in fantasy for a few moments and to create a great sense of wonder."

In his act, Kornfield develops that sense of wonder by donning a sleek, black tuxedo and working magic with his top hat, white rabbits and a flock of white doves, which disappear into a ball of fire as they flutter

"The only thing possibly bad about magic is if someone tries to pass a performance off as real magic, if they try to con you into believing they have the ability to perform the real thing. We have only one word for magic," Kornfield said. "It encompasses a lot of things. My magic is white magic, a skilled technique. It is not in any way spiritual, or occult, or black magic. A lot of harm can be done under the guise of black magic."

"It's a learned skill, but you can't be a magician without being an entertainer," he said. "Some people buy a few tricks and learn a few tricks and think they are a magician. That's not entertaining, although it may be technically correct."

"And it takes no special talent to become a magician," Kornfield said. Even a 5-year-old can do it with a little practice. And it's the close-up card and coin tricks that a youngster can easily master, he said, that are drawing audiences back to magic.

"In the last few years there has been a resurgence in the tricks that can be done in front of a person's face and that require no strange equipment. The magic happens in the hand. Seeing a woman in a box sawed in half isn't as exciting, because people are smarter and are very skeptical. When you

'Rituals' Probably Won't Survive

By David Handler

Game shows and talk shows have dominated the syndicated TV marketplace in recent years, along with reruns of hit network shows — sometimes reruns of shows that are still running in primetime. This season's second-run biggie is "Dallas."

Meiromedia has gone against the grain by producing brand-new episodes of canceled network series like "Fame" and "Too Close for Comfort."

Now it has boldly launched a new, syndicated daily soap opera, "Rituals," which is running in primetime in some cities.

"Rituals" is being touted as the first non-network serialized drama. For local stations that lost out in the hotly contested "Dallas" derby — or couldn't afford to enter it — "Rituals" is an appealing programming alternative.

Not so for viewers, who already have many, many soap operas to choose from. "Rituals" is too boring to compete with the spicy daytime lineup, and too cheesy to go against the elegant nighttime soaps. It offers nothing new. The truth is, it is painfully familiar.

Here we are again in the world of greed, corruption and unrestrained animal lust. Our backdrop this time is Wingfield, a college town in the ritzy horse country outside Washington, D.C.

"Rituals" opens with a scream. Literally. This rich old lady, Katherine Chapin, dies in the chairlift attached to her mansion staircase. The maid finds her. That's where the scream comes in.

Now that the series has our attention, we move along to the funeral. Everyone turns out. The Chapins own the town, and founded the college, Haddon Hall.

"Don't worry, my dear," whispers Robertson (Monte Markham), the smarmy college president, to his wife. "This will be over soon, and then we'll get everything we worked for."

Suddenly a helicopter swoops down on the ceremony. Time for the grand entrance of our resident vamp, Taylor (JoAnn Pflug), who has been married five times and owns a football team. Taylor kisses the casket and coos, "I'm sorry, mom, I'm late."

Miss Pflug, as Taylor so broadly that she's almost a hoot. Almost, but not quite.

Clearly, Taylor is back home to get a piece of the old lady's pie. How long will she stay? "You know me," she says. "I get restless after two or three weeks away from civilization."

She also has designs on Logan Williams, the famous playwright, who was her first and only great love. Movie buffs will delight to see Logan is played by George Lazenby, the stiff who tried to play James Bond in "On Her Majesty's Secret Service."

The serial's initial plot hook is the old lady's will — who's in it, who isn't. Robertson, who has embezzled written all over him, is the executor.

Will "Rituals" catch on? I don't think so. It will have to attract a cult following like "Dark Shadows" or "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman," and it lacks the novelty to do it. "Rituals" is stale stuff. There's already too much of it around.

'Good Sports' Premieres Sunday On WESH Channel 2

WESH TV, Channel 2, has set 7 p.m. Sunday for the premiere showing of "Good Sports," its new weekly look at the Central Florida active lifestyle.

The half-hour program, hosted by Tom Korun, will air each Sunday evening at 7.

"'Good Sports' is not only a name, it's what the program is all about," said Steve Homan, WESH vice president for news and public affairs. "It will look at the people who are trying to bring us the USFL; the coaches and the young athletes who are making Central Florida known for top competitors in a wide array of sports, and about the duffers of the golf course, bowling alley and tennis court — all of us who benefit from the outdoor lifestyle Central Florida offers."

From time to time, Homan said, the program will single out "Especially Good Sports" to be honored on the air for acts of sportsmanship. Viewer nominations will be invited.

Korun noted that many activities, particularly spectator sports, have solid cores of loyal fans but struggle for lack of broad-based support.

"We'll be cheerleaders for the O-Twins and Daytona Beach Astros, for the Bethune Cookman Wildcats, the UCF Knights and the Stetson Hatters, because if they don't have the interest of people in the area, they aren't going to survive. Our coverage will be people-oriented," he said.

Korun noted that within the context of the program, horse shoe pitching could be as important as baseball spring training, and that he is inviting those who enjoy the outdoor lifestyle to let him know what interests they'd like to share with others.

San Francisco Third Star Of New TV Series

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The streets of San Francisco have once more been cast in a starring role for a television series — this time opposite high-powered sex symbols Loni Anderson and Lynda Carter.

A bit of the city's Sam Spade mystique — feminine style — emerges in the light-hearted NBC mystery-detective series, "Partners In Crime," which premieres Saturday at 8 p.m.

In the one-hour episodes, Lynda Carter, in her first TV series since "Wonder Woman," and Loni Anderson of the former series "WKRP in Cincinnati," play distinctly different characters with one thing in common — they were both married to the mysteriously slain detective, Dashiell Raymond Caulfield.

As ex-wives, they inherit a partnership in Caulfield's detective business and reluctantly take on crime-busting assignments.

Carter, interviewed on the set in a 23rd floor suite of the Fairmont Hotel, complete with a sweeping view of San Francisco Bay, said she and Anderson developed their own characters for the series after they met in a boutique and became friends 18 months ago.

"Loni and I decided to do a series together," the dark-haired former Miss World-USA said. "We came up with our own ideas about the characters we'd like to play. And we had the same agent who liked the concept."

The result is two sex symbols of different temperaments teamed together. Anderson takes the role of Carole Stanwyck, a sophisticated, elegant, chic photographer who hails from an old money family that is no longer wealthy. Anderson, more upbeat and zany, plays Sydney Kovack, who grew up on the streets as an adroit pickpocket who yearns to be a concert musician.

Carter said she and Anderson have worked well during the 12-hour-a-day shooting schedules which began in July on the first 13 episodes, which costs an average $900,000 apiece to produce.

"When you work the kind of hours we work, mainly around male company, it's nice to have a girlfriend on the set," said Carter, who gets up at 4:30 a.m. daily to exercise with weights. "We've become real close."

Anderson, whose bleached-blond hair contrasts with the dark hair of Carter, said the characters played by the two women are vastly different but contain the same basic values which makes the acting easier.

"Sometimes, when we're playing our roles, I feel as though we're at a pajama party — giggling, laughing and telling each other stories. We're dealing with the camaraderie of women."

"Men have always had that, but not women. It's like a whole new territory we're exploring."

Producer Everett Chambers said his most trying ordeal was getting the cast and crew of 90 around town for the outside scenes. The show is the first network series to be filmed in the city since the popular "The Streets of San Francisco" (1972-1977).

The particular episode being filmed, "Duke," contained 13 exterior and 12 interior scenes, some of them shot at a sound stage set up in a warehouse in an industrial district.

Some of the scenes have included the DeYoung Museum, Steinhart Aquarium, China Basin, the Mission District, the TransAmerica Pyramid building, Pacific Heights Mansions, the Golden Gate Bridge and several famous hotels.

"San Francisco," said Chambers, "is the third star of the series."

There's Life After 'Hart To Hart'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Is there life after "Hart to Hart"? Stefanie Powers asks rhetorically.

She responds with a resounding "Yes."

The chestnut-haired beauty will be seen beginning Monday in the eight-hour miniseries "Mistral's Daughter" and will soon begin "Hollywood Wives," a six-hour miniseries.

But she remains in semi-shock over the cancellation of "Hart to Hart" after a highly-rated five-year run.

"I got the news this summer while I was in Paris doing 'Mistral's Daughter,'" she recalled. Stefanie, fetching in a black silk dress, was seated at her Burbank Studios desk, headquarters for the William Holden Wildlife Foundation.

"We assumed we were going to start this season with four episodes in Europe. It came as a shock that we were canceled. It was like having the rug pulled out from under us."

"No one had any contingency plans. We had no idea we would be out. We were like a family. We were all very upset. We'd been through quite a lot together."

Indeed, Stefanie and co-star Robert Wagner both suffered tragedies. Stefanie's long-time companion, William Holden, died in a fall in his apartment. Wagner's wife, Natalie Wood, drowned off Catalina Island.

"It doesn't often happen when two people are working together they would lose their mates within two weeks of each other," Stefanie said.

"R.J. (Wagner) supported me. I supported him. We already shared a bond but the deaths brought us closer. All that we went through made our relationship more and more important."

"We will be friends for the rest of our lives. Lionel (Stander), R.J. and I spent 14 hours a day together with one communal concern, which affected us on a daily and yearly basis. It galvanized us in a way mere friendship cannot."

"The feeling of closeness, however, can't exist now on the same level because we won't have that daily contact. But we do love each other dearly."

"I have a very nice deal with CBS. We will develop some deals and eventually I'll do another hour series for them, maybe a year and a half from now."

When she isn't involved in performing, Stefanie is busy working for the William Holden Wildlife Foundation.

On Oct. 22, Stefanie will hold the second annual "Hart to Hart" pro-celebrity polo match at the Los Angeles Equestrian Center to benefit the foundation. The players will include Pamela Sue Martin, William Devane, Alex Cord, Stacy Keach, Robert Logan and Tommy Lee Jones.

DeLorean Fighting Movie

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — John De Lorean, the former wonderboy of the auto industry who recently beat federal cocaine charges, is fighting to stop production of an unauthorized movie about his life.

Susan Schaefer, the attorney handling De Lorean's life-story rights, said the former automaker will do "whatever is necessary" to prevent Independent producer Woody Clark from making a planned film.

Clark said that no one else will touch the De Lorean story.

Clark said he has finalized $6.5 million in financing and is close to closing a deal with screenwriter Lionel Chetwynd, who was nominated for an Oscar for "The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz."

To Levels, Atlanta Child Murders Case Far From Being Closed

By Dick Kleiner
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — After playing the part of the man convicted in the Atlanta child murders, actor Calvin Levels says he has become convinced that Wayne Williams is innocent.

"There has been a miscarriage of justice in this case," says Levels. "And my hope is that when our program goes on the air, it will lead to a new investigation into all the murders."

"The Atlanta Child Murders," a CBS-TV project, will air probably during the winter. It was originally designed to be a four-hour movie. But CBS felt there was so much good material that it expanded the show to five hours.

In 1982, Williams, a black free-lance photographer, was convicted — based largely on circumstantial evidence — of murdering two of the 28 young blacks killed over a period of two years. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

During the trial, the prosecution tried to link textile strands found in Williams' home and car with those found on the bodies of the two victims. It also repeatedly pointed out that the arrest of Williams eight months previously seemed to have ended the mass slayings of young blacks.

When he was cast as Williams, Levels went to Atlanta on his own before filming began. He went to talk to people involved in the case — including several mothers of the victims.

He says the people he met believed Williams was not the murderer.

"He may have been involved in some way," Levels says. "But he himself did not kill anybody. And everybody believes that the real killer or killers is still at large."

Levels also hopes that the telecast of "The Atlanta Child Murders" leads to action in the entire area of child abuse — not just murder. He feels that all of it is tied together, all pieces of a big, ugly whole.

Levels is a serious young man from Cleveland. He grew up within walking distance of the city's noted black theater, the Karamu Playhouse. From the time he was 4 years old, he would walk to the Karamu and talk to the actors, and pretty soon he started acting.

His father, who had been a professional fighter, wanted him to fight. "He said I had the body for it." But Levels never had the necessary killer instinct.

For a while, he wanted to be a nuclear physicist. But one night, when he was a teenager, he saw a telecast of the Tony Awards from Broadway and it suddenly dawned on him that he was meant to be an actor.

It also dawned on him at another point that he was not meant for Eastern winters. He remembers one morning, in a typical Ohio blizzard, standing on a street corner waiting for a bus. He was wearing an old raccoon coat with a Russian fur hat, a heavy scarf wrapped around his neck, mittens and boots. "And I was still freezing," he says.

plaid opening and closing ceremonies) and other producers said something like, 'If you people at public television want to know how to do it come and see us.'

"So we did."

While some of the programs are original productions, others will be foreign films not seen before in this country and still others will be award-winning theatrical productions that had limited runs.

Among the latter group is the Oscar-winning short film "Boys and Girls," a story set in Ontario, Canada during the 1940s about a young girl who rebels against the traditional female role imposed upon her by her parents.

...Magic

take away the props and just use cards or a pen knife or coins people are fascinated."

Most modern magicians, Kornfield said, play to audiences at corporate or trade shows, and they make a good living.

Lobdenstern said it isn't unheard of for top magicians in Las Vegas to earn $500,000 a week. He turned professional when he was 14 and had the first network television magic show in the country when he was 16. His "Stan the Magic Man" show had a short run of six weeks, and he earned $10 per show. Television, he said, made it easier to create illusion.

But audiences developed shorter attention spans and now demand a fast paced show.

"Houdini's act wouldn't go over today," he said. "People aren't going to sit in a theater and watch somebody build a crate while a band plays, and then watch somebody get nailed into a crate while the band plays, and then sit in front of a screen hiding the crate while the band plays. They're not going to sit there for an hour and a half while the band plays and the guy finally pops out," Lobdenstern said.

Both Kornfield and Lobdenstern see magic as an ideal outlet for youngsters. "Magic is terrific for children. It develops creativity and imagination. It's used in hospitals to rehabilitate children with mental and physical handicaps," Kornfield said.

"I've never known a child that dabbled in magic, as an amateur, professional or just an enthusiast that has ever gone to reform school," Lobdenstern said. "They've got enough to keep them busy practicing their tricks and learning. Unlike a lot of things where you need a lot of money, like stamp collecting, coin collecting, with magic you can just go to the library and sit for an hour and learn."
