Vietnam Air For Rotarians

By STAFFORD DERBY Fresh from reconnaisance flights in the flak-ridden skies of North Vietnam, Cdr. Lyn Higginbotham of RVAH-13, has brought a tale of courage and high ability countering increasing enemy resistance to the weekly meeting of the Sanford Rotary Club in the civic yesterday. His praise was for the Sanford-based RA5 C-the high altitude, unarmed Vigilante whose highly sophisticated sensory apparatus detects targets and reports raid results with calculator efficiency.

sured confidence, the very way in which he observed that anti-aircraft fire had greatly increased, that SAMs (surface to air missiles) were becoming more of a challenge portrayed the true strength of the Sanford based men who fly-in crews of two-into the Vietnam air and perform essential missions. This strength was a hard-headed recognition of the tasks and a boldness rising from confidence both in their missions and the planes they

Nine types of missions were described by the commander. Using pointer and map he showed the objectives which the RA 5s-"the finest tactical reconnaisance vehicle in the world today"-take a look at. These include the military objectives of SAM mstallations, iron mines, bridges, thermo-power plants and the like. One such is the Than Hoa railroad and highway bridge. "Tradition" said the veteran flier." holds that Vietnam will never be divided so long as this bridge stands. And stand it
