WHEN SNOW-COVERED ROOF OF THEATRE
CAVED IN UPON THOUSANDS OF PEOP-LE SATURDAY EVENING

ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY
THREE ARE BADLY INJURED AND MANY INJURED MAY DIE

Will Be Twenty-Four Hours or More Before the Wreckage Can Be Removed and All the Bodies located From the Building

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The death toll was brought to one hundred and eight today with the death in a hospital of Miss Mary a Forsythe, of Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—With a total loss of 107 dead and 133 injured removed from the ruins of the Knickerbocker Motion Picture Theatre up to an early hour today the rescuers are still struggling with the heavy wreckage left when the snow-laden roof of the structure collapsed during the showing of a comedy feature bill Saturday night. It is believed it will be twenty-four hours before it can be definitely said there are no more dead or injured in the wreckage of the twisted steel and concrete which yet remained to be cleared away. It is believed, however that the section now being cleared away would yield few additions to the toll of dead and injured. A triple investigation of the disaster is in prospect today.
In addition to inquiry ordered by the Board of Commissioners' District of Columbia, and another to be started by the grand jury, Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, a member of the Senate District Committee, announced as soon as the senate convened he would introduce a resolution calling for an investigation of the tragedy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Declaring there was so much grief in Washington as the result of the Knickerbocker Theatre disaster, President Harding today announced the postponement of the reception at the White House at which Washington residents of Ohio birth were to meet in observance of the birthday of President McKinley.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Investigation of the Knickerbocker disaster by the Senate committee was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, and was referred to the committee controlling the senate expenses, as is customary. Supporting the resolution Senator Frelinghuysen, Republican, of New Jersey, said the investigation "should be widespread one of entire District Government" adding he knew from personal knowledge that many buildings in Washington were fire traps which might at any time cost scores of lives.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—All the dead and injured had been removed today from the Christian Science church nearby. Edward H. Shaughnessy, Chicago, second assistant postmaster general, who with his wife and two children were injured in the crash described today as in a serious condition with only fighting chance for recovery.

The theatre was said to be comfortably filled at the time, and the roof, as it fell, imprisoned many under the mass of wreckage, the balcony collapsing also, while concrete pillars fell over to add their weight to the debris under which the wounded lay groaning.

The fire department was called by five alarms and police reserves were rushed to the scene, the rescuers immediately beginning the work of hacking at the wreckage to liberate the imprisoned. "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" was being shown and the second show of the evening had just begun when the roof crashed.

Two men were said to have been removed dead and a Miss Costley died of injuries after she had been taken to a hospital. Coroner J. R. Nevitt

CONGRESSMAN SMITHWICK, OF FLORIDA, TELLS OF THEATRE HORROR, SAW THE ROOF CRACK AND FALL.

DROPPED BETWEEN TWO SEATS AND WAS SAFE
FROM FALLING TIMBER.

Smithwick Escaped Unaided But Was Badly Injured by Flying Glass and Falling Debris—Is in the Hospital—His Story Interesting.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—An avalanche of broken plaster, bricks and snow, splintered wooden and twisted steel beams catapulting upon the audience while the orchestra played and a comedy film ground out its laughs, is the description of the Knickerbocker Theatre disaster given yesterday by Representative John H. Smithwick, of Pensacola, Fla. He was in the balcony of the theatre when the roof collapsed under its weight of snow, and escaped unaided—just how he cannot recall —with more or less serious hurts.

"The orchestra was playing beautiful music and a comic film was running," said Mr. Smithwick, lying in his bed, bandaged and with his face and hands covered with cuts. "Suddenly there was a sharp crack. I looked up and saw a great fissure running across the ceiling. It was right over my head. I instantly realized what was happening. The plaster began to fall, dropping down in large and small chunks all over the theatre, it seemed to me. While I was looking up a great piece right over my head started to fall. I ducked, crouching, involuntarily, I suppose, down between the seats. The piece struck the seat right where I had been sitting. The force was broken by the seat, but it pinned me down where I was crouching. The noise was awful. It was a great tremendous roar; it was simply indescribable. I can never forget it.

"In the midst of the roaring were shrieks and cries of woman and children, and a few shouts of men. There were cries for help, groans and wails of all, the moans of those in terrible pain. It was awful. I can't describe it. I see it all the time—those poor children, and men and woman, crying and groaning there.

"There were only a few of us in the balcony. Luckily, there wasn't more.
The balcony gave way and crashed soon after the ceiling began to fall, on those on the lower floor. They were caught the worst. We in the balcony were more fortunate.

"I guess there was a lapse of maybe twenty seconds—hardly more—before the balcony fell. Funny, but it spun around, kind of twisted as its supports gave way, and it swung down on those below. It did not go straight down; just kind of slid from the weight of the debris that had fallen on us upstairs.

"I don't know how I got out from where I was crouching under that chunk of plaster that had fallen on me.
I really believe it weighed all of 500 pounds. And I think I moved that plaster with my shoulders. Anyway, I crawled out between the seats to where I saw a small hole in the plaster above. I forced myself up through that hole, wriggling and shoving. Then I crawled out over the snow and plaster, over the tangled debris, to the doors on the Eighteenth street side.

"Across the aisle from me, when the crash came, was a little fellow—I never saw him again, and I wonder if he is dead—who laughed and roamed at every especially funny part of the film. I don't know what became of him or the others in the balcony after we were showered with plaster.

"As the ceiling broke the plaster fell first, in chunks—it was just like an ice pond breaking up. The roof didn't give way on one crash. It seemed to break up everywhere. That let in the snow, which came in thru the broken places where the ceiling had given way.

"It's queer, but I was conscious all the time when I was pinned down there by the great piece of ceiling.
My mind, when I saw the ceiling falling, and afterward, was just as clear and collected as it is now. I knew a was hurt some, but I didn't know how

THRILLING LEAP FROM PARACHUTE FOR DOLLAR DAY

MISS JAEGER AND PROFESSOR RAUB PULL OFF
STUNTS

"Daring, fearless, spectacular are words to mild to describe the thrilling performance given this afternoon by Miss Stella Jaeger and Professor Walter Raub under the auspices of Palatka merchants as a means of entertaining their visitors for the first of two Banner Dollar Bargain days. The sales continue over to tomorrow.

Both Raub and Miss Jaeger proved to the satisfaction of the large gathering at the corner of First and Lemon streets that the press notices they had secured truly tell that their act is thriller from the time the big bag gets its first "flash" until they both return to terra firma, Miss Jaeger was easily the most unconcerned person in the large gathering. Professor Raub, who has made many friends here, capably acquitted himself, even to the care of the smallest detail, in the arrangements.

As might be expected, the crowds were intent on getting their hands on the balloon. Professor Raub who has been engaged in this work for over twenty years, says that the conduct of his audiences in a greater degree strain than the thought of whether he ever returns safely to earth. For tomorrow's performance it is hoped that the crowding about the balloon will be less noticeable.

Palatka merchants have again proved themselves to not only be business getters, but real entertainers. The comments on the enjoyable character of the performance were most complimentary and many of the merchants say that the visitors were amazed at the expense of the entertainment in face of the big bargains advertised so generally.

For tomorrow's show Miss Jaeger will ascend promptly at 3 p. m. and, having reached a height of three-quarters of a mile, which she considers essential on account of the proximity of the St. Johns river, will leave her balloon to finally land after making a "triple drop," which means that three separate para-chutes will carry her down to earth.
She is the only lady to have successfully negotiated the triple drop over one thousand times.—Palatka News.
The merchants of Sanford have engaged these daring balloonists to give two days entertainment here Thurs-

If you have any friends visiting you—if you are going anywhere or coming home, or if you are entertaining, write a postal card to this department, giving details, or telephone the item. It will be greatly appreciated.

H. R. Cooper and family, of Cleveland, Ohio, are in the city for a short stay.

J. S. Frederick, of Greensboro, N. C., is in the city for a few days attending to business.

W. D. Cooper of Mt. Gilend, Ohio, is making his headquarters at the Montezuma white in the city.

Mrs. L. P. Hagan and Mrs. Weimann motored to Orlando yesterday afternoon as the guests of Mrs. R. J. Holly.

Mrs. Weimann, of Cartersville, Ga., is the attractive guest of her sister, Mrs. Shoemaker at her home on Sanford Heights.

Mrs. G. R. Kirtley and Mrs. Roy Chittenden were among those from Sanford attending the concert in Orlando yesterday given by Alberto Salvi, the harpist.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Willets and Miss S. L. Willits, of Flushing, N. Y., are among the tourists stopping in Sanford for some time. While here they are stopping at the Montezuma.

Mrs. H. B. Connelly and Mrs. O. L. Taylor have returned from the Eastern markets where they went to buy goods. The styles for this season were beautiful and these ladies have purchased an interesting line of pattern hats, materials and trimmings.

FOR MRS. HILL
A pretty compliment to her mother, who is her guest, Mrs. Turner Houser entertained a number of friends yesterday afternoon at her home on Palmetto avenue, the guests including the members of the former Priscilla Club. Quantities of cut flowers artistically arranged in crystal vases were effectively placed in the rooms. Sewing and music were the features of the afternoon. Mrs. J. K. Mettinger sang a group of solos in her usual charming manner.

Late in the afternoon the hostess assisted by Mrs. Lawson served delicious refreshments consisting of gelatine, fruit salad, saltines, olives, salted nuts and coffee.

Those enjoying this pleasant afternoon: Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Easterby, Mrs. Walter Hand, Mrs. C. N. Hand, Mrs. J. K. Mettinger, Mrs. C. C. Woodruff, Mrs. Alfred Lilja, Mrs. R. M. Mason, Mrs. J. J. Purdon, sr., Mrs. J. D. Roberts, Mrs. R. L. Griffin and Mrs. J. B. Lawson.

lief. The public know that Near East Relief works under a charter, granted by the Congress of the United States in August 1910; and that it is largely volunteer work. We know too, that the Near East is in a portion of southeastern Europe, western Asia, and Transcaucasia Russia, and centers in Armenia. We know that relief is administered to orphans and widows from national headquarters in New York, through certain centers, such as Constantinople in the Near East sections, and most all money and clothing handled by Americans who have lived for years in this sections and know conditions.

Near East Relief has 175 orphans, where 100,000 children are fed, clothed, trained industrially; 100,000 more are practically taken care of out of orphanages; 250,000 altogether are having some care in and out of homes and orphanages, and many thousands are starving and dying for lack of food and clothing.

We know the conditions are as they are, because of the Turks having occupied Armenia until April 1921, and devastated and carried away all food supplies; the drought in Russia prevented planting of crops, hence the lack of practically food.

The Near East has control of something like 118,000 acres of land which will help to provide labor and food for thousands later on.

All churches, Sunday schools, fraternal organizations, women and men's clubs, will be asked to make liberal donations.

Mrs. Dean Turner and her committee, is making a personal visit to all ministers, Sunday School superintendents, and asking that they present the matter on Sunday Jan. 29th; and on February 5th, which will be known as Church Day, the collection will be taken for Near East Relief.

The heads of clubs, and fraternal organizations will present the matter to their bodies and a donation or collection be given.

All collections will be turned over to Mr. D. L. Thrasher, county treasurer of the Near East Relief and the same will be forwarded to the state treasurer, Mr. A. P. Anthony, 505 Clark Building, Jacksonville.

It costs $5.00 a month to feed and clothe one child; it cost $100.00 per year to feed, cloth and train one orphan. How many will you feed and clothe?

Seminole County has been given the care of 42 orphans; in dollars, we are asked for $2500.00.
If every Sunday School class would feed and clothe one child for a month, the small sum of $5.00; if every church would take at least one orphan for a year; if every club and fraternal organization would take one orphan for three, six, nine or twelve months we would soon have our 42 orphans fed and clothed.
We have in our wonderful country of plenty; our own children with more than enough to eat and wear, and training far superior to any of these orphans can hope to have; can we not show our gratitude for the privilege of living in a country so rich in food and the good things of life, by giving generously of our big or little means, to so worthy a cause?
If there are any who wish to make personal donations to the Near East Relief, Mr. D. L. Thrasher, will be glad to receive same, as treasurer of Seminole county. Mr. Thrasher will have his headquarters at Thrasher & Garner's store and will be glad to talk the matter over with those interested.
We may be a wicked and cynical people, but the sins of a movie star are visited on the box office.

Irving Bacheller, the well known novelist, was talking to a farmer with great interest. The farmer saw that the novelist thought that country life was an easy one. "And when do you start plowing?" asked Bacheller. "I don't plow," said the farmer. "When the thaws come the rocks roll down from the mountains and tear up the earth." Bacheller was puzzled. "And what about sowing?" he asked. "I just sit at my door and shoot the seed out of a shotgun." "But look here," said Bacheller, "is this really the truth?" "The truth? No," laughed the farmer, "it's just conversation."—Oklahoman, Oklahoma City, Okla.

ON THE SURFACE OF THE BEAUTIFUL ST. JOHNS RIVER

From Jacksonville on for many miles there grow what are known as Water Hyacinths, some of them blooming, with green rosettes reaching up two feet above water. Whether it was a good wind that blew a blossom, a seed or a cutting that took root and grew again, is not certain, but tradition has it that some woman introduced these green rafts of lustrous leaves to beautify the river. It might have been Harriet Beecher Stowe, who made her winter home in Jacksonville for sixteen years. They are unattached to the bottom of the stream and are equipped with air-filled bulbs that keep them afloat. One sails through this Hyacinth garden for hours and hours. Almost every one can have a little garden of pictures or plants to brighten and gladden the home. John Wanamaker in New York Herald.

VALUE OF CLEAR CONSCIENCE

There is one thing which, more than any other, stands as a man's best friend in the time of trouble or of disappointment. That one thing is a clear conscience, the knowledge that one has at least been sincere and honest and has done the very best he knew how under the existing circumstances, and the knowledge that he was not a "quitter."

Criticism and rebuffs to such a man only strengthens the character. The inner knowledge he has that he has fought the fight and fought it fairly is a solace to him, even though in the end it proves a losing fight. To those who, instead of helping, either tried to discourage him or stood aloof and watched his struggle, and then when they felt he was weakening made it known that they were kind of it, the man possessing this knowledge can turn in "his" For such persons are missing one of the greatest things in life—the knowledge that they have played fair, and that they have lent a helping hand to their fellow man when he needed that helping hand. There is nothing in this world quite so precious as a clear conscience and the knowledge that one has done the best he can. It makes him a king in the face of defeat and failure, and though he may die poorer in this world's goods he can feel that he has been of some use in the world and that he has nothing to feel ashamed of.

FLORIDA OVERRUN WITH THEM

REFORMERS from northern points have so congested this state that by all means each of the profesh should wear a special emblem so as to prevent wasting time tackling one another. They have become more numerous in Florida than hooch-hawkers in South Carolina—and are not one-half as useful or entertaining. They figure that local pastors can keep the people from going to hell in the summer, but in the winter, when the blossom's on the orange and strawberry's on the vine, it is evident these same local pastors are worked overtime and need co-operation who in turn need expense-money. They come under all sorts of "auspices." They ride all sorts of hobbies. They are willing to work free—but, of course, they have been to some expense to get here, and there's the up-keep after they get here, and, for the good of the cause they represent certainly the pastor or one of the deacons ought to lunch 'em and lodge 'em. Of course, they had either that or punch 'em and dodge 'em.

They come from Chicago, or Gripple Creek—from Hannibal or Huggins' Hollow—from Boston or Benton Boggs—from Kalamazoo or Kathleen Crossing—from any old place. They just love "dear old Florida, with her balmy breezes her sunlight, her moonlight, the aroma from a thousand flowers," sure they do—just so long as evening is free for them, Florida is fairly fine so far as the people are concerned—yet they are somewhat crude and need a little touch of goodness injected into them while the season for injecting is ripe—and winter is the proper time.

Local clergymen are becoming sick of such trash. One of Kissimmee's pastors recently said from his pulpit that he was tired of "endorsing" all these wondermen who came unheralded except by a few circles telling what success had crowned the perigrinating pilgrims at other points. They not only prayed in a free pulpit but they preyed on the parishioners, pocketed the proceeds of the performance, then pushed for other points.

Another pastor said that he was going to investigate every tramp, exhorter or reformer that came his way then he would take the proceeds of the organization named. If that was not agreeable to the itinerant he would have to hunt another church in which to operate. They impose on the congregation and relieve the hearers of money that could be spent with better results directly in the home field.

The sooner the people of this state solidly and solidly refuse to patronize these hand-picked huckster will conditions improve. Add one way to job in this work is for a church, no school, no organization, to offer free papers for any of the promised performers or to give free propaganda to any project. They can probably hire the school auditorium or get the Casino for a Sunday performance—and take up their own collection on the plan of "findin' havin'." In such cases, provided they pay the rent in advance—and any shrewd manager would look out for that part of it—there will be on to say a thing in criticism.

JOHN D. WIELDS WICKED STICK IN SPIRE OF "DEATH"

Rumors circulating in New York and Florida last night that John D. died at his winter home in Ormond, were declared to be without foundation by members of Mr. Rockefeller's household. In spite of the reports Mr. Rockefeller enjoyed eighteen holes of golf yesterday afternoon, making the course in three strokes over bogey. This is said to be the best score the magnate has turned in since his arrival in Florida. Mr. Rockefeller first heard the reports of his driving off the fourteenth tee, and answered them by sending his ball more than 150 yards.

A long-haired individual poked his head into the door and said: "I understand, sir, that you are fond of poetry. Now, I can write any kind. Epics, bucolics, sonnets, madrigals—in fact anything in the shape of poetry, flows like trickling water from my fertile pen. What kind do you prefer?" "The poetry of motion," I suggested, and he took the hint.

JACKSONVILLE PRAISED

"TAMING OF THE SHREW" As a general rule Jacksonville is considered by theatrical companies one of the most conservative and unappreciative cities of the South, but when Edward Waldernat, the Shakespearean actor, gave his modern version of the celebrated comedy "Taming of the Shrew" at the Duval Theatre there, with local talent, under auspices of the Woman's Club a few weeks ago, the press and public were loud in its praise. The conservative Jacksonville Times-Union had this to say to Edward Waldernat's presentation of this play in that city:

"Last night at the Duval Theatre, after the audience had recovered from the first shock of seeing Shakespearean characters in modern costumes, and of hearing Mendelssohn's and Lohengrin's wedding marches played, and hearing modern musical selections sung during the first act, they settled back and laughed, applauded and thoroughly enjoyed the modernized version of the staid old comedy, which was presented by Edward Waldernat, the New York actor, supported by a cast of our leading local amateurs. Mr. Waldernat is an excellent actor of the part of Petruchio, and small wonder as he has played it in his repertoire for several years. His first appearance in this play was with Irving and Betty in London eight-five years ago. The parts of Katherine, the Shrew, Bianca the sweet sister, Hortense, the Lover and Baptista, the father and all the other parts in the comedy, were excellently acted, due principally to the expert stage direction of Mr. Waldernat. "All in all, it was one of the most pleasing performances of the kind ever given in Jacksonville. A positive novelty of the entertainment was the classic nature dance, given during the wedding scenes by four charming young ladies in gauze costumes. The "Taming of the Shrew" will be presented in Sanford, at the Princess Theatre next Friday evening, for the benefit of the Sanford Woman's Club. In the cast are some of the most talented amateurs of this city. Tickets may now be reserved at Bower's and Roumelat's Drug Store. TANGLEFOOT VS PERUNA The "Business" and "Professional" Woman's Club will give a mock trial, "Tanglefoot vs Peruna," on Feb. 9th at the Princess. The cast will consist of some of Sanford's best talent, a fun provoking, laughable comedy, of the year 1920. Prices and program will be announced later.

MISS SARA MARDE LEAVES

As a result of the serious illness of Miss Sara Marde in the fall it has become necessary for her to resign her position as the Head of The Temple School of Music. Miss Marde has served in this position for over a year and it is with deep regrets that her resignation was accepted. She has conducted a large class during this time in Piano and also pupils in the pipe organ. She has returned to her home in Auburn, Ala., where her mother holds a position with the schools of that city. She made many friends while in Sanford and has been a devotee of the art of music in no small degree. We shall always remember her.

Miss Simmons, a niece of Mrs. Dr. Langley will arrive at an early date and open a Music School. She teaches both the organ and the piano. She has three year training in the Conservatory of Music in Cincinnati and is well qualified for the work she will do in Sanford.
