Road remains closed until Oct. 19

CR-427 has been closed at the railroad tracks north of SR-434 to allow CSX to complete improvements on their tracks. That section was scheduled to be re-opened Friday, Oct. 6. Unfortunately, things don't always go as planned and now the section will remain closed until Friday, Oct. 19. The final closure of CR-427 will be at the railroad tracks south of Dog Track Road, and this work is scheduled to begin Monday, Oct. 30.

A little Irish music

There will be a special performance Saturday, Oct. 7, beginning at 8 p.m., at the Helen Stairs Theatre, 201 S. Magnolia Avenue in downtown Sanford.

Over the past dozen years, the name of a time honored Irish traditional jig has become equally well known as the name of the most engaging ensembles in Irish music; Cherish the Ladies. They have grown from a one-time concert concept to an Irish traditional music sensation, literally the most successful and sought-after Irish American group in Celtic music history.

Though they originally won recognition as the first and only all-woman traditional Irish band, they eventually established themselves as musicians and performers without peer and have won many thousands of listeners and fans.

Ticket prices for this once-only presentation are $30 for adults and $25 for seniors and children under 12.

For reservations, phone the theater at 407-321-8111.

Ground broken for city's newest school

By Michelle Jeria Managing Editor

SANFORD — City and county officials gathered Friday to celebrate the groundbreaking of Seminole's newest school and its namesake.

Construction for Altermese Bentley Elementary School, named after a woman who has dedicated her life to education, officially began after a brief ceremony honoring Bentley and Seminole County's record in educational excellence.

"This is a wonderful moment in time," Seminole County Schools Superintendent Paul Hagerty said. "This school is not only dedicated to Ms. Bentley, but also to the children who will come here to learn and who will make the future brighter."

Altermese Bentley Elementary School is located at 2190 Oregon Ave. on 17 acres of land. Construction on the school began several weeks ago in order to meet the Fall 2001 completion date.

The school will have a capacity to house 800 students and will be approximately 110,000 square feet.

The school will be included in Seminole County's northwest cluster, which includes Idyllwilde, Wicklow and Wilson elementary schools.

During the summer, a contest was held to name the new facility. Numerous suggestions were submitted by the public, including Oregon Trails Elementary, Chase Elementary and Fort Mellon Elementary.

In August, the Seminole County School Board unanimously voted to name the school for Bentley.

A Sanford native, Altermese Smith Bentley grew up in Bartow, where her father served as pastor of Mount Gilboa Baptist Church. She holds a bachelor's degree from North Carolina's Shaw University and a master's degree from Pepperdine University in California.

After receiving her teaching certificate, Bentley taught school in Florida and Philadelphia, where she retired on Jan. 31, 1973. She also was the supervisor of elementary education in Columbia County.

According to Kathy Dillard, Wicklow PTA health and safety chairperson, the day is honored to promote safety by pedestrians, bicyclists and motorists during the school day. At left, fifth-grader Courtney Freeburn and her mother, Alisa, of Lake Mary wait in the rain to walk to Wicklow. It was the first time Alisa and her brother, second-grader Ryan, walked to school. Florida wildlife officer finds body off dirt road

Police searching for clues in women's death

By Nick Pfeiffer Staff Writer

The body of a woman, identified as Patricia Fritts Howard, 35, was found at approximately 7:30 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 5. The body was discovered by a Florida Wildlife officer on Painted Post Point, a dirt road just off West SR-46 west of Sanford, near the Lake County line.

The cause of death has not been revealed but it was described as "violent."

Investigators were unable to immediately identify the woman but described the death as an apparent homicide.

Investigators said her hair was an Auburn color and she had purplish fingernail polish.

Late Thursday night, Seminole County Sheriff's Investigators were able to get a fingerprint match from the FBI database, which showed the victim had an arrest in 1999 in Orange County for a misdemeanor.

She was subsequently identified as Patricia Fritts Howard, although she had at one time gone by the name of Patricia Ann Ferguson.

Apparently unrelated to this, a body of another woman, younger in age, was discovered near the same location on January 16, 1991. That body had been wrapped in a blanket. The case is still considered open at this time.

The sheriff's department is asking anyone with information regarding this latest case to contact Crimeline at 1-800-423-TIPS (8477) or the Sheriff's Office at 407-665-6650.

Seminole cracking down on vehicle weight limits

By Nick Pfeiffer Staff Writer

Beginning Oct. 16, limitations are being set on truck weights on Orange Boulevard, (CR-431), also known as Paola Road, between SR-46 and International Parkway in Sanford.

According to Seminole County Traffic Engineer Robert Zaitooni, "The opening of the new I-4 interchange is prompting a number of large trucks to use Orange Boulevard as a cut-through to get to the Interstate. The road is primarily a residential area and there is a school there, so we need to do something." He added that the county had received a number of complaints about large vehicles and noise they often cause.

As a result, Zaitooni said no trucks over 13 tons will be allowed on the roadway, except for local deliveries between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m. No trucks over 10 tons will be allowed between 7 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Commission will continue discussions on Wekiva Trail

By Nick Pfeiffer Staff Writer

Even though other government agencies allocate money to Seminole County for various projects, the County Commission is required to recognize the money has become available. Such will be the case at the next County Commission Meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 10.

The items are listed within the consent agenda, to be discussed during the morning hours. This portion of the agenda is generally voted upon with little or no discussion, as part of the overall consent agenda recommendations from the various departments.

The total money received by the county is $6,326,000. It has been allocated for three separate projects, and is required to be recognized as "Unanticipated Revenue". If the funding will require matching funds from the county, that will have to be brought up at a subsequent meeting. The first item involves a LAP agreement (Local Agency Participation) in which the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) has made $2,148,000 available from the state budget, toward the construction of the Seminole-Wekiva Trail.

The entire project consists of two phases in western Seminole County between the Little Wekiva River and I-4 along the abandoned Seaboard Coastline and Tavares Gulf Railroad beds. Phase II is from SR-434 to Lake Mary Boulevard.

The second item also from the FDOT, makes $1,678,000 available for the design and construction of a pedestrian/equestrian overpass over State Road 434 in Winter Springs. This will be part of the Cross-Seminole Trail.

For the third item, the FDOT is making $2,500,000 available for the design and construction See Commission, Page 12A

State plans to make changes to annual FCAT

From staff reports

Mention the word "test" to a school child, and the youngster may be nervous about it. Add the fact that it's a state-mandated test, and the worries about it could become even more intense.

Such is the case with the annual Florida Comprehensive Assessment Test (FCAT). Some teachers have commented, "Well, we have to go through this again." And every year, after the tests have been taken, the Florida Department of Education hears complaints about the results and is ordered to reassess the testing process. This has now taken place based on the preceding school year's FCAT test.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

People love to sing

Show me employees who occasionally burst into song, and I'll show you a happy workplace. Some people have good voices. Unfortunately, for those of us who have to

Nick Pfeifauf

..... listen, the majority of others do not. Why do people sing, or try to? Some people hear a tune on the radio driving to work, and it sticks in their mind to the point where they feel the need to emulate it during the day. Others may hear something, such as a phrase that brings a particular song to mind. It could also be prompted by hearing someone say the name of a singer; Patsy Kline, Bing Crosby, the Beatles, Perry Como, don't those names bring a song to your mind?

Naturally, depending on the environment at the workplace, many businesses frown on individuals who break out in song; but many, especially those out-of-doors, have no problems with lifting a voice in song.

We haven't heard of any human being who objects to the art of singing — especially if it is done exactly as that — artfully. Everyone has a favorite. It may be country, jazz, classical, or one of the pop singers including the new groups.

Of course there are always some who, if you don't approve of the type of singing they prefer, have a tendency to call you ignorant or "not with it." This kind of person however, has the right to his or her own opinions, and we must try to overlook their comments.

Music is music. Singing or playing, music stirs one's soul.

Whoa, wait a minute. Lest we forget, the oppressed also sing. Several decades ago, we can recall field workers, some in slavery, singing songs, mostly to God. (Some may remember, others have seen it in movies.) They sang not because they were happy, but singing gave them hope of better days to come, either in this life or another. In the Civil War era, singing was also a method of informing others of ways to obtain freedom, such as through the underground railway.

People going into battle also have a tendency to sing from time to time. It helps lift one's spirits, and when singing together, often adds to a feeling of being together with others in the same future.

In summary, sing out if you feel like it — or just hum under your breath. Regardless of your situation, it will make you feel better.

Seminole sponsoring public memorial

From staff reports

October has been designated Domestic Violence Awareness Month. On Oct. 17, Safehouse of Seminole is sponsoring a public memorial service for domestic violence victims who have died as a result of domestic violence.

The memorial and dedication will take place at Orlando Regional South Seminole Hospital, Emergency Room entrance, 555 West State Road 434 in Longwood beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Attendance is free and the public is invited. Safehouse of Seminole is the certified domestic violence center for Seminole County and is dedicated to ending the cycle for domestic violence. Safehouse services include a 214 hour crisis Hotline, an emergency shelter, a court advocacy program, outreach and faith community services.

According to Safehouse Executive Director Michele Hickey, there were 212 victims who died as a result of domestic violence in 1998 and 1999.

In statistics, she said $5 billion annually is the estimate of health care costs for treatment of injuries due to domestic violence, and 80 percent of violent juvenile offenders and adult prisoners come from homes were domestic violence occurs.

For additional information on Safehouse of Seminole or the Domestic Violence Memorial Service, contact Michele Hickey at 407-302-1731 or Special Projects Coordinator Patti Page at 407-302-4677.

People who have been contacted by a person or group in connection with this are asked to phone the Crime Prevention Unit at 407-665-6977.

Voucher supporters prove turncoats

Tim Draper knew he was in for the mother of all political battles when he dared to place a voucher initiative on the California ballot. He fully expected that the California Teachers Association and the National Education Association would combine forces in a take-no-prisoners campaign to rout the measure at the polls, thereby discouraging future ballot propositions.

Joseph Perkins

But what the Silicon Valley entrepreneur did not expect was to be betrayed by supposed voucher supporters — turncoats who have come out publicly against Draper's ballot measure, providing aid and comfort to the public teachers unions.

"It's just not good policy for public education," said state Sen. Bruce McPherson, one of a group of Republican lawmakers in Sacramento who have repudiated the party's previous support of vouchers.

"The education reforms now in place should be given a chance to work," said the California Chamber of Commerce, backing away from its previous advocacy of vouchers.

"The Draper initiative ... would create a largely unregulated school voucher scheme," wrote University of California Berkeley law professors John E. Coons and Stephen D. Sugarman, co-authors of "Making School Choice Work for All Families."

The Republican minority in the Legislature, the California business community and academic types like Coons and Sugarman, who claim to support vouchers, have completely capitulated to the teachers unions.

Yet the arguments against Proposition 38 by these voucher turncoats are as specious as those of their new comrades-in-arms in the teachers union.

State Senator McPherson, for instance, frets that vouchers are deleterious to public education.

But what about the hundreds of thousands of California children who are mired in the state's worst public schools? These children are doomed to an inferior education because their parents (including a third of California teachers in the state's inner cities) haven't the financial means to enroll them in private or parochial schools.

The California Chamber suggests that putative education "reforms" be given a chance to work. Well, that's what voucher foes argued back in 1993, when the last voucher measure appeared on the state ballot. (It was defeated on the strength of the teachers union's $40 million blitzkrieg.)

Here it is, seven years later, and California's public schools are doing no better a job educating the state's schoolchildren. Indeed, four out of five California fourth-graders cannot even read at their grade level. Moreover, California schoolchildren rank 49th in the country in math proficiency.

Coons and Sugarman actually adopt one of Al Gore's favorite dismissive terms — "scheme" — to deconstruct Draper's voucher initiative.

Their problem with the measure, they say, is that it is too broad. It would offer $4,000 vouchers to every parent in California, which could be used for tuition at private or parochial schools.

Well, it is true that the voucher programs that have managed to get off the ground so far — in Milwaukee, Cleveland and Florida — are targeted to poor children. But that doesn't mean that such a limited voucher program is optimal.

What about non-poor families who happen to be working class or hard-working middle class? Should they be denied the option of enrolling their kids in private or parochial schools if the public schools in their neighborhood do not meet their expectations?

The voucher turncoats have lost sight of principle. Let us remind them: If the public schools in California, in any state for that matter, were providing a proper education to each and every child in their charge — white, black, yellow and brown; city and suburban; poor, working class and middle class — there would be no demand for vouchers. There would be no voucher ballot measures.

But the fact is, public education is highly uneven. Some public schools are excellent. But far too many, usually located in blighted, minority communities, are educationally bankrupt.

Not one of the California Republican lawmakers who came out in opposition to Proposition 38, not one member of the California Chamber of Commerce, and not one law professor at Cal-Berkeley would dare send their own beloved child to a failing public school.

So why would they consign someone else's child to such a school? Why would they deny parents — not just poor parents, but also working-class and middle-class parents who have to struggle to make ends meet — a voucher that gives them the opportunity to enroll their children in better private or parochial schools?

Voucher turncoats in California have acquiesced to the teachers unions. In so doing, they have all but assured that yet another generation of the state's most needful schoolchildren will be cheated out of a quality education.

Booth wants better treatment from Lynx

To the editor:

My name is Nancy Booth. I am a 67 year old widow with numerous medical problems. I do not drive. I have a leg brace and a walker. public transportation is not an option. I am on Social Security disability. My income does not allow me to take cabs. Medicaid Transportation is the only means available to me to meet my medical needs.

This letter is a plea for help. It is also to apprise any persons, organizations, etc. of how their tax dollars are being misused. Those who are paid, substantially, to provide this necessary assistance have blatantly ignored the very people for whom this transportation service was created.

We do not expect perfection. However, when the times we get to our medical appointments is less than the times we do not, it is evident that the system is only making money for those who manage it. The elderly/disable are of the least concern.

According to the Health Care Financing Administration, $360 billion is spent for health care services. If we can not get to those medical services due to the inefficiency of those in charge of Medicaid Transportation, they are taking the government funds fraudulently.

There was an article in the Orlando Sentinel (09/22/00) "AFTER SCORES OF COMPLAINTS, LYNX PROMISED TO FIND OUT WHAT'S GOING ON AND FIX IT." Since the problems originate for Lynx and A+Links and its carriers, shouldn't an independent investigation be conducted?

A few examples of the problems we face:

- Being picked up late for appointments on a regular basis.
- Being picked up so late we have to cancel because our allotted time would be over by the time we arrive.
- When No. 2 occurs it is marked down as a "No Show" that infers we just did not want the ride.
- Being picked up on time, but sitting in the van while the driver picks up or drops off 34 other people. The result is all of us are late.
- When you call to inquire when to expect your ride some of the answers (when you finally get through to someone) are "We are running very late. Maybe you should reschedule." or "There are no drivers available at this time."
- Being left outside with no access, shelter or a phone. This has happened to me personally and many others. This occurs after the carrier has been told the doctor's office will close at a certain time and we really need to get home. It can and has taken two to three hours before someone arrives.
- When the carrier takes you to the wrong hospital and you ask to be taken to the right one, you are told to reschedule. If you state it is absolutely necessary to get to the hospital you are told "You'll have to find your own way home!"

A few suggestions on how to serve those who must use this service:

- Have more than one telephone number for the hundreds who call in to make reservation. The average time spent on hold is an hour.

- OVERSEE the carriers more diligently.
 - Insist the carriers keep the vehicles in repair. I was taken to one appointment in a car whose right side door panel fell off.
 - If we have to get confirmation numbers, make the carrier honor them and not put us on an "open" list. That means you have no scheduled driver and you will only be picked if some driver is willing.
 - Have all Vans without lifts equipped with step stools for those of us who are of lowly stature.
 - When we call to complain, treat us with courtesy not sarcasm.
 - Do not blame us for your incompetence.
 - Treat us as intelligent human beings.
- Not all older people are senile.
- Physical Handicaps do not mean diminished mental capacity.
 - More vehicles, more drivers, more phone lines, better dispatcher, more competent route planners.

Since Lynx took over the contract in February of this year it has gone from bad to worse. The only person who has been courteous and helpful is Ms. Judy Jacobs. She is the Medicaid transportation coordinator here in Seminole County.

The carrier Seminole Transportation is one of the worst companies I have had to deal with.

With a few exceptions the drivers are the only ones who treat us with dignity.

I realize this is a long letter but I felt it was necessary to give you an overall view. I would be glad to answer any questions.

Thank you for your time and patience,
Sincerely,
Nancy Booth

Learned believes cutting back issues a good start

To the editor:

Thank you, Seminole Herald editorial staff, for your keen sense of right and wrong to point out the "sinister involvement" of one County Commissioner's endorsement of another new face running for McLain's seat in last Sunday's edition. With that in mind, do you feel just as strongly about the endorsement of Sanford's City Hall, City Commission, Sheriff, etc. for Daryl McLain as being a bit too stacked to be totally spontaneous and genuine?

Frankly, when one of your editors has to resort to foul language in that Sept. 24th editorial directed against the "radical right, ultra-conservative, Christian Coalition, wing of the Republican Party" (sounds really hairy-scary the way you word it), you're really talking about the average Christian person of this county. He or she really cares about this country, this area and the downhill slide that has been modeled in higher echelons of government, in the media and the entertainment world in the areas of morals, in flagrant injustices, in the sabotaging of our God-given, Constitutionally-guaranteed rights, and how it is affecting our community and families. You who purport to speak on behalf of Seminole County treat opinions voiced against such decadence as unacceptable.

Frankly, I think your move to cut back on the days for publishing your "sterling paper" is a good start. Try knocking off two more days while you're at it. At least spare us such editorials ... or clean up your act.

While I'm at it, I agree with another recent comment that your cartoonist deserves applause, and probably should have the whole page!

Sanford zoo doesn't need an Orlando name

To the editor:

There is no reason in the world to change the name of the Sanford Zoo to Zoo Orlando!

Its official name is Central Florida Zoological Society Inc. It does mainly draw people from Central Florida, which includes Orlando.

Why, all of a sudden, do we have to call everything in Sanford, Orlando?

I was against changing the name of Sanford Airport to Orlando-Sanford Airport. It's very confusing.

We worked long and hard to save our Sanford Zoo. It's not "for sale" to Orlando!

From A to Z

Art Ziellinski asks people what they think ...

Names like Floyd and Andrew are well known to Florida residents. The names represent major hurricanes with winds that reached 130 mph or greater. When it comes to hurricanes, Florida is ranked No. 1 in the United States with a total of 57 since 1900. We are in the middle of hurricane season, and so far we've managed to dodge the bullet. So our question this week is, "Do you expect a major hurricane to hit Central Florida this year?"

I don't think one will hit — I keep waiting and nothing ever happens — not that I want one to happen. The news people get you all excited, but if the truth be known, people are fascinated with storms.
Karen Hagen,
Sanford

I think Floridians can always expect a major hurricane and should be prepared for one. And hope it doesn't happen.
Sara Jacobson,
Sanford

I don't think one will hit, but we're thankful every time one misses us. A hurricane is very unpredictable so there is no way of telling if one will hit.
Gerald Slack,
Leesburg

I'm concerned about a hurricane, and I'm partially prepared. There is a lot I need to do at the last minute. But I don't think we're going to get a major hurricane.
Arles Dean,
Sanford

I'm only slightly concerned about a major hurricane, but I'm not frightened. We prepare as best we can. We do everything — extra water, canned goods and fill the bathtub with water when one comes close.

Creedon believes editorial in poor taste

To the editor:
Congratulations! Your candidate for Seminole County Commissioner has won his runoff election in District 5.

Unfortunately, victory does come with some small costs, one of which is the cancellation of my subscription to your newspaper. Your editorial page editor has yet to learn the art of subtlety. Many of your readers took great offense at the unnecessarily coarse and strident tone of his Sept. 24 editorial endorsing Mr. McLain. There was no reason, short of self-righteous hatefulness, to bash the Christian community who happened to commit the great sin of supporting Mr. West.

Journalism has its privileges and we would have no objections to your endorsing any candidate — as long as it were done tastefully. Mr. Ping and his staff have sunk to the lowest level of trash writing that I have seen in my many years of reading general circulation newspapers. This journalistic overkill has helped to divide this county at a critical time in its development. In addition, it has made some serious enemies for your company ... which is sad from a personal and business standpoint. We hope that you're feeling smug and happy today because a large part of your readership is not of like mind.

Kindly cancel my subscription immediately and refund the unused portion of my payment. My address label is enclosed for your convenience.

Regretfully,
Richard T. Creedon

Publisher's Note: I cannot let our editor, Dan Ping, or his staff take the heat for that editorial. I wrote it, and I do not apologize for it. I am sorry to lose you as a reader, Mr. Creedon, just as I was sorry to lose Grant Maloy's father as a subscriber. Your two subscriptions were the only ones we have lost due to that editorial. I did not bash the Christian community ... I bashed the radical right wing fringe of zealots who thought that they could stop progress and growth in Seminole County. In fact, I thank God that Daryl McLain won the runoff for district five.

The Democrat party's Joseph Lieberman problem

It is widely agreed that Al Gore's choice of Joseph Lieberman as his vice presidential running mate was a master stroke. Insofar as anything could, the designation of this vociferously moralistic Orthodox Jew inoculated the ticket against the most disagreeable aspects of the Clinton legacy.

William Rusher

To be sure, everything depended on the entire liberal establishment, including the media, understanding that the move was simply a ploy, not to be taken seriously as an indication of the slightest sympathy for Gore's (or the party's) part for the views of the religious right. Just imagine the hell that would have broken loose if an examination of Dick Cheney's record revealed that he had written, "The religious right seems to me in hindsight to have been more right than not in its expressed concern about the decline of community morality and the decay of public culture." Or, "We appear to have become so wary of being labeled intolerant that we were increasingly unwilling to assert long-held communal values and make moral judgments." The world would have stopped spinning on its axis while George W. Bush was forced to disavow the deadly implication that he and Cheney were determined to impose their Puritan notions of morality on everybody else.

But Al Gore knew his liberal establishment, and correctly calculated the willingness of the media to give him a badly needed pass on these and scores of other hair-raising instances of moralistic judgmentalism in Joe Lieberman's past. True, Lieberman was forced to eat his many favorable words about school vouchers and recant his brave opposition to affirmative action. But nobody seriously supposes that Senator Lieberman has repudiated a lifetime of devout Jewish orthodoxy and the rigid morality it entails. The liberals have simply agreed to ignore it, in the higher interest of electing Al Gore president of the United States.

This will cause no problem if the Gore-Lieberman ticket is defeated. Lieberman's designation will simply be noted, in histories of the campaign, as the aforesaid master stroke.

But what if the Democrats win? The nation will then witness the swearing in, next January, of a vice president with a far more sensitive moral compass than any that has ever been imputed to George W. Bush or Dick Cheney. The new vice president may feel impelled to reiterate, in his first speech, the following words, which he has never repudiated: "There is a swelling sense that much of our culture has become toxic, that our standards of decency and civility are being significantly eroded by the entertainment industry's shameless and pervasive promotion of violence, sex and vulgarity, and that the traditional sources of values in our society — such as faith, family and school — are in a life and death struggle with the darker forces of immorality, inhumanity and greed." Once safely reinstalled in the West Wing, just how much of this sort of thing do you think the liberals generally, and the media in particular, are going to be willing to swallow? And how ready are you to bet that Vice President Lieberman can be persuaded, or compelled, to stop saying such things for four years?

Worse yet, what if President Gore inhales too much second-hand tobacco smoke and is prematurely translated to a better world? The new president, Mr. Lieberman, is on record as complaining that the Democrats have "cast out religion and faith as having virtually no presence or value whatsoever in politics and public life." Is it being far-fetched to suppose that he might seek to redress the balance during his term as president?

In other words, by designating Senator Lieberman as his running mate, Mr. Gore has given a truly tremendous hostage to fortune. If he loses, it won't matter. But if he wins, he will almost certainly be unable to avoid ugly attacks on his vice president by some of the most powerful forces in the Democratic party — and, quite possibly, responses in kind by Mr. Lieberman.

To be sure, all this can be avoided if Mr. Lieberman will only agree to shut up. But, once sworn in as vice president, is he likely to be more inclined to bend the knee to his critics, or less so?

And if it remains true that a vice president is always a likely contender for the succession, the stage would be set for a battle in the Democratic party, four or eight years hence, that I would pay real money to watch.

Even Glavin has fallen victim to the curse of anti-Clinton crusaders

When Hillary Clinton defended her husband by denouncing "a vast right-wing conspiracy," she could well have had Matthew Glavin in mind.

Glavin, who headed a conservative Atlanta-based legal group, is not wealthy like Richard Mellon Scaife or well-known like Jerry Falwell. Nevertheless, he was a crucial player in the campaign to bring down Bill Clinton.

Now Glavin — like so many of Clinton's foes — has ended up a casualty himself. He resigned last week as president and CEO of the Southeastern Legal Foundation after revelations that he has twice been charged with public indecency in a suburban

Atlanta park that is a popular meeting spot for gay men. Like Newt Gingrich and Bob Livingston, Glavin has met the curse of the anti-Clinton crusaders.

Just a few months ago, Glavin was relishing the preliminary success of his campaign to have Clinton disbarred in Arkansas. The Southeastern Legal Foundation triggered the recommendation of disbarment — made by an Arkansas Supreme Court disciplinary committee in May — when a member of its advisory board filed an ethics complaint with the court in September 1998.

The foundation has had many conservative causes. It fought the Clinton administration's efforts to use statistical sampling in the U.S. Census and filed local anti-tax lawsuits. Among affirmative action proponents, the organization became notorious for a series of successful court challenges of set-aside programs that benefited minority- and female-owned businesses. And notably, given Glavin's current predicament, the organization was active in anti-gay crusades. It helped the Boy Scouts fend off a court challenge to their anti-gay posture, and it led a charge against an Atlanta City Hall initiative to provide insurance and other benefits to same-sex partners.

But it was his campaign against Clinton that gave Glavin a special delight. He even became an advocate of former FBI agent Gary Aldrich, who faced legal challenges in his effort to publish a now-discredited book that attacked the Clintons.

Given his high-profile advocacy of controversial causes, you would think Glavin, who is married with children, would have conducted his private life with utmost discretion and prudence. And not surprisingly, he says he has; Glavin has denied the charges. But it is difficult to explain a second public indecency arrest in four years in the same park, described as a "hot spot" for gay cruising.

Hadn't Glavin learned anything from all the other conservative crusaders who have made a public career of attacking the ethical failings of others, only to have their own clay feet revealed? What is it about these finger-pointing, stone-throwing moralists who build their own houses of glass?

Glavin, who never conducted himself in the mean-spirited manner of some of his ideological fellow-travelers, deserves privacy, compassion and most of all mercy. But it is unlikely he will get much from either his foes or former friends. That is the price you pay for a public career that counts among its successes attacks on the private lives of others.

Belleville takes Society members on river journey

By Grace M. Stinecpher
Special to the Herald

At the Sept. 28 meeting of the Sanford Historical Society, Bill Belleville, author of "River of Lakes, a Journey on Florida's St. Johns River" took the members on a journey down his river through slides and narration.

The trip began at the source of the river, which is 20 miles northeast of Okeechobee and ends north of Jacksonville where it empties into the Atlantic Ocean. Notice that the river flows north, one of the few in the world to do so.

There are 9,000 square miles in the river basin, everything there flows toward the St. Johns. This river is the most prominent feature in the area.

There are three major tributaries; the Econlockhatchee (Econ), Wekiva and Oklawaha.

The Wekiva is spring fed by 20 springs, one of which is Blue Spring near Orange City.

There are nine to 12 lakes. Those in our area are Jesup, Harney and Monroe. The largest is Lake George, which measures nine-by-12 miles.

Many features of the river were shown and explained such as slides, headwaters and marshes. Wildlife was pointed out which, includes turtles, gopher tortoises, Florida Black bear, alligators and various birds and reptiles. The area is also noted for its abundance of wildflowers of which Belleville had many beautiful slides.

Explorers and excavations have found many evidences of earlier times such as a woolly mammoth. The river and its environs continue to change, so its exploration will always be of interest.

Some who have shown interest in the St. Johns have been William Bartram, John James Audubon, Harriett Beecher Stowe, Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings and Bill Dreggors of DeLand.

So much interest was shown in his presentation that Mr. Belleville sold out of the book he had brought.

The business meeting was presided over by President Grace Marie Stinecpher, at which time several bylaw changes were adopted. A nominating committee was also appointed for the 2001 officers; election will be held at the Nov. 16 meeting.

Volunteers were secured for selling Society items at the Florida Authors Book Celebration in Tavares on Oct. 13 and the Heritage Festival on Nov. 11. Other members volunteered to decorate the Sanford Museum for the Christmas holidays.

The publications committee reported that the booklets on the history of Monroe Station and on the Swedish community should be completed by December.

The calendar committee was commended for an outstanding job, and Joe Hunt, who did the majority of the work, was presented with a gift certificate in appreciation.

These Historic Calendars were signed out by members to sell.

In recognition of the city of Sanford's 123rd birthday (It was incorporated Sept. 29, 1877) the social committee, headed by Helen Brown, served a beautifully decorated sheet cake to the approximately 40 members and guests.

Meredith to assist in relief operations

A Longwood from the American Red Cross of Central Florida left for the South Florida area to assist with emergency relief operations following damages caused by a low-pressure system dropping up to 18 inches of rain.

Robert Meredith of Longwood, left Thursday, driving an emergency response vehicle from the chapter's headquarters in Orlando, to the Red Cross relief operation's headquarters in Fort Lauderdale to help provide emergency food and clean-up supplies to effected families.

He is a local Red Cross volunteer, a member of the Disaster Services Human Resource system and is expected to remain in South Florida for up to three weeks.

As of late Wednesday, four damage assessment teams were determining the scope of the disaster. Initial assessments indicate serious flooding in Homestead, Kendall, Hialeah, North Miami, Sweetwater, Country Walk and Florida City. An estimated 26,000 people are without power in Miami-Dade County.

The Way We Were: Memories from a 1960s scrapbook

The following items from the 1960s were found in one of my scrapbooks:

Crill Harden — Member of Orlando Rebels
I mentioned Crill Harden a couple of weeks ago in reference to her activities in Girls Future Teachers at Seminole High. Well, while all this was going on, Crill was also a member of the Orlando Rebels Softball Team. Those of you who follow sports will remember that this team played a prominent part in women's sports for many years. The Rebels played teams from all over the Eastern United States.

In the August 11, 1966 Sanford Herald there was a cartoon depicting Crill's softball career drawn by Doug Marlette. The first panel states, "Crill Harden — a leading hitter of the Orlando Rebels — one of the nation's top women's softball teams."

In the second panel is a large drawing of Crill while the third panel states that Crill led the team in extra base hits and runs batted in last year, while hitting close to .300 which is very good for fast pitch softball. In that panel, Crill is at bat with a person watching her, who says, "Er...Miss Harden...My name is Willie Mays and I wonder if you could give me a few tips in batting!"

The last panel has a drawing of Crill in a baby carriage batting a ball with her rattle. The wording says, "A Seminole High Grad, Crill has been playing for the Orlando squad since she was 15."

I also have an article that I have not dated, but is probably the same year. It is announcing an upcoming double header between the Orlando Rebels and Springfield, Ma., at C.L. Varner Stadium.

If you remember the Rebels you would recall Jean Daves as its outstanding pitcher and Marge Ricker, coach. Others on this team listed in the article were Ernie Rinks, Carolyn Webb, Mary Jane Torrez and Pat Walker. But it is Crill's picture there with the article as leading hitter with .425.

Grace Marie Stinecpher

Since I worked with Crill for three years in FTA and also taught her in geometry, I naturally became interested in her career with the Rebels. My dad and I would drive over to the Rebels games as often as possible and thoroughly enjoyed them. I remember always seeing her parents, Garvin and Emory Harden, and also Mr. Ferrell whose first name I can't remember. He was the father of Randall and Vivian and they lived on Sixth Street at the corner of Elm Avenue. I believe he had a reserved seat as he was always in the same place, right where we would walk by.

My dad would go over alone sometimes when I couldn't and he remained a fan of the Rebels long after Crill stopped playing for them. I know that Joe Koke would often go with him as would Ted Runge.

Baptist T.U. to Give Drama
This article states that Grace Marie Stinecpher, Training Union Director of First Baptist Church, would take a group of 26 church members to Stetson Baptist Church in DeLand, on Sunday, January 28, 1968. There, they would present the drama, "Who Cares Anyway?"

The drama, written by Dorothy Murphree, presented the yearly Southern Baptist theme, "A Church Fulfilling its Ministry through WITNESSING."

Those in the case were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker, Keith and Nancy Walker, Jr. and Mrs. Joe Duggar, Bobby and Beth Duggar, Mr. and Mrs. James Rhiner, Jimmy and Terri Rhiner, Don Knight, Donald Knight, Mrs. W.E. Giles, Ralph Foley, Pam Robinson, Debbie Warfield, Mrs. H.R. Heckenbach, Jim Heckenbach, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bose, Mark and Alice Margaret Bose, and Wade

Singletary. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tucker were in charge of lighting. I remember this quite well. As the church's Training Union Director, I received information about this drama, suggesting that it be used at the annual Associational M (Mobilization) Night. Bill Warfield was Minister of Education and we decided to send for the material to see if it were feasible for us to produce it.

Well, it looked easy as the narration was all on one, along with a great theme song, and there were no speaking parts. The actors would appear in different tableaux which would be explained by the narration.

Recruiting the actors was fairly easy, but the hard part was finding a convenient time for all to practice. I know we had to have stand-ins quite often, a few in the actual performances. I remember Beverly Benton Douthitt and Herold Heckenbach as substitutes in one of our presentations.

I can't recall all of the scenes, but I do know that Jim Heckenbach and Wade Singletary portrayed teenagers (which they were) who were asking who cared about them. The different scenes showed how the church cared for them and also other segments of society. For instance, the Bose family portrayed a Navy family. The Rhiner family was visiting with their husband/father in jail, Pam Robinson portrayed an unmarried pregnant teenager, and Lois Heckenbach was an older person in a nursing home.

The drama was well received at M Night on Monday, Dec. 4, 1967 at Central Baptist Church when it was located on 14th Street and Oak Avenue. At that time, John Krider, Jr. (formerly of Sanford) asked us to present the drama at his church in DeLand which we did as stated in the newspaper article. Then, on Sunday, Feb. 4, 1968, we presented it in our own church. We laughingly called this the drama that we "took on the road!"

Picture Identifications
I have had a few callers to identify the people in the picture of the women and their babies in front of Fernald Laughton Memorial Hospital. It was published on July 9. Most believe that it was taken in 1941 or 1942. It was hard to be sure in some cases which person was being identified, so contact me if I get these wrong.

Frances Phillips identified the nurse on the front row as Mrs. Weeks. Frances is in the third row right/center in front of the woman with the white hat. Her son pictured is Neil Phillips.

Dot Williams is supposed to be in the picture, but I could not find her. Her child would probably be Dottie Williams.

Frances Tillis identified the third person on the right on the front row as Lily Tillis. She has on a striped dress.

Lois Tyre found herself in a striped dress on the front row to the right of the nurse. She was Lois Chapman Waters then, and her son was Thomas Waters.

Three people called to identify LuRene Ball (Mrs. Raymond) in the Pilot Club photograph published Sept. 20. She was the unknown next to Lourine Messenger and Lida Stine. Those calling were Barbara Chapman, Joan Anderson and Laurie Neeley. Laurie is Mrs. Ball's granddaughter.

I remember Mrs. Ball well as she was secretary to Mr. R.E. True at Sanford Junior High when I was a student. I knew she looked familiar, but her name wouldn't come. Thanks to all for calling.

If you can identify any others or want to correct any of the above, contact me at 407-322-4381.

Advisors suggest people should plan now for the later years

It's a situation sons and daughters will almost inevitably confront: coping with an infirm parent's final years.

More than 22 million American households provide some level of support for a family member aged 50 or older — 300 percent more than a decade ago.

Caregiving is taxing enough, but the burden is far heavier when the strains of managing complicated financial and legal decisions are added.

Whether you are a recent retiree wishing to ensure that you and your family enjoy peace of mind in your later years, or a grown child hoping to provide care for your parents, you should begin putting together a legal and financial plan all family members can live with. Communication among family members is the indispensable first step. Here are some basics you should follow:

— The paper chase. Before you can decide on a plan for your parent's care, you'll need to gather and organize key financial and legal documents. These should include records of all income sources: Social Security documents; pension records from previous employers; IRA statements; and any other investment, bank or brokerage records from institutions where the parent maintains accounts. Determine what insurance coverage the parent may have, including all active life, health, casualty and disability insurance policies. You'll also need copies of deeds for the parent's primary residence and any other property owned individually or jointly. And if a parent does not have a will or living trust drawn up in conformity to the rules of the state where he or she resides, have an attorney prepare one immediately.

— Building a safety net. Even healthy, younger seniors should vest a spouse, an adult child, a close friend or a trusted adviser with the authority to make legally binding decisions for them when help is needed. A medical proxy, for example, empowers the designee to intervene in decisions involving medical care in the event of incapacity. A durable power of attorney reflects the elder's express wishes for use of his or her financial resources. Some families, worried that a parent might make poor financial decisions, choose to add an adult child's name to deeds, leases, and bank or brokerage accounts, effectively making the child a co-owner of the parent's property. — Matching needs and means. The costs of assisted living or nursing-home care can be crushing, amounting to several thousand dollars monthly. A qualified geriatric-care manager can provide valuable guidance, helping to anticipate the level of care the elderly parent may need. Working in cooperation with an independent, fee-only financial planner, a manager can also review the parent's assets, help create a realistic budget, and suggest how best to put private philanthropic and government income-support programs to work to augment the parent's own resources.

Before your family turns to experts for help, check professional credentials, inquire about fees, and ask about references from other clients. You can get leads from the National Aging Information Center (www.aos.dhhs.gov/naic/notes/elderlaw.html) — a resource guide of the Department of Health and Human Services'

(HHS) Administration on Aging that provides links to government agencies, professional associations, and a host of other information sources covering health care, financial-benefit programs, elder law and advocacy groups that work on behalf of seniors.

Plans move forward for Park Place at Heathrow

Project includes 304-room hotel and retail development

From Staff Reports

Seminole County and the city of Lake Mary continue to grow by leaps and bounds as Park Place at Heathrow is about to become a reality.

In a three-party arrangement the development team will produce a mixed-use project within the Heathrow International Business Center (HIBC). The $60 million complex includes a four-star Marriott Hotel, connected by a one-acre pedestrian plaza to a 90,000 square foot retail, restaurant and entertainment destination venue.

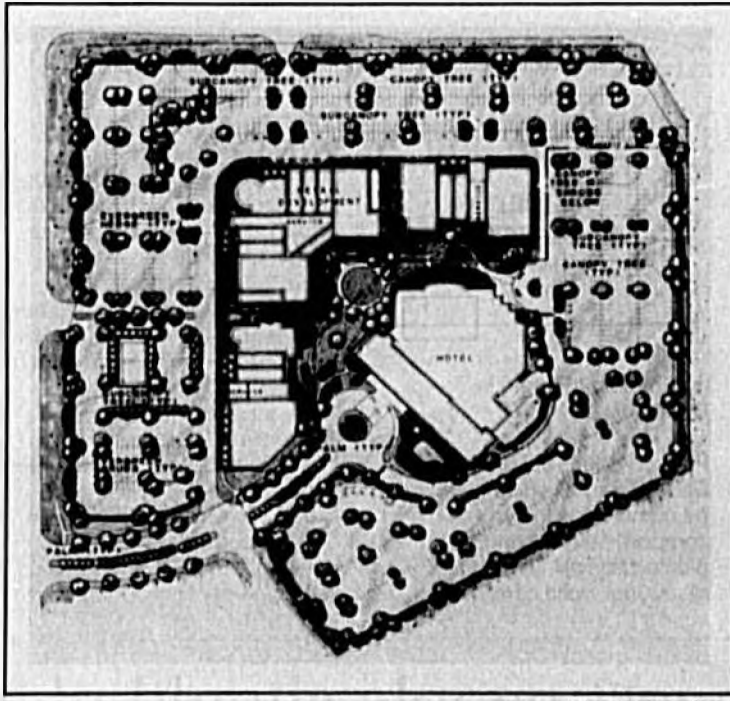

Newly named, Park Place at Heathrow, the project will span adjacent sites totaling 20.5 acres at the north end of HIBC bordering the intersection of State Road 46A and Interstate-4.

LLC purchased an 8.8-acre site for the development of a 10-story, 304-room, four-star Marriott hotel. Designed by Jonathan Nehmer and Associates Inc. of Rockville, Md., the hotel's 11,000 square feet of meeting space is the largest in Seminole County with a capacity for 900 people. A restaurant and lounge component, as well as a gift shop, health club and business center, are planned for the hotel.

"We believe we can be the premier full-service hotel in the very strong North Orlando hotel market. The combination of the best hotel brand in the business with a premier location and amenities makes the project a sure winner," said Ron Franklin, president of Pinnacle Hotel Management, the hotel operator and spokesman for Heathrow Hotel Associates LLC.

Welbro Building Corporation, the general contractor, is scheduled to begin construction on the hotel in January 2001.

Seven buildings totaling 90,000 square feet, are planned as a destination venue of retail

The Pizzuti Companies' site plan for Park Place at Heathrow, a $60 million mixed-use project including a 304-room Marriott Hotel, connected by a 1-acre pedestrian plaza to 90,000 square feet of retail.

shops, restaurants and entertainment facilities. Pelloni

Development Corporation of Lake Mary purchased 11.4 acres in HIBC adjoining the hotel site.

Master planned to complement each other, the hotel and retail projects share a one-acre pedestrian park.

Roy Ashley, president of Roy Ashley and Associates of Atlanta, Ga., the firm that designed the project, said the park will offer guests and patrons an opportunity for dining, meandering, conversing and just relaxing outside the hotel, restaurants and shops. "It is uncommon in development for two owners to agree to build a park as a vital part of their project," he said.

"With regard to the restaurant and retail portion of the development, we focused on the needs of potential customers. As people spend an increasing number of hours in front of computer monitors, what they need is a venue where they can be outside, move about and see other people. This is what we will provide," said Jim Pelloni, president of Pelloni Development Corporation.

Principals in the tri-party agreement are The Pizzuti Companies, which sold two parcels totaling 20.2 acres to the development teams, Heathrow Hotel Associates LLC, the hotel owner and Pelloni Development Corporation, the retail developer.

The joint development team employed nearly a dozen consultants to achieve final design. "The complex nature of completing a three-party land sale transaction and designing a development of this magnitude required a large consulting team," said Ken Simback, senior vice president of The Pizzuti Companies.

"This has been an important project for the city of Lake Mary and for Seminole County. We are pleased to deliver a project of such quality," said Simback.

The Pizzuti Companies, developing in Florida since 1985, has completed 11 buildings totaling more than 1.4 million square feet of Class A office space in Heathrow International Business Center since 1995. Plans call for an additional 1.5 million square feet of office space, a day care facility and restaurants.

Additional land development planned for Altamonte Springs

From staff reports

For better than three-quarters of a century, it has endured as one of the most prestigious parcels of real estate in Seminole County.

Now, its owners hope to transform a 9.33 acre lakefront parcel adjacent to the Maison et Jardin Restaurant in Altamonte Springs.

That is the immediate plan for Spring Lake Pointe, said Alec String, director of the New Homes Division in Florida for Coldwell Banker Residential Real Estate, Inc., which is handling the exclusive sales and marketing for the development expected to get under way next year. Spring Lake Pointe will be a gated enclave of 17 estate homes overlooking Spring Lake.

The homes are expected to range from the high $500s to over $1 million in price.

Coldwell Banker has already lined up three builders; Hanington Homes, Inc., RJV Homes, and Heidenescher Homes, Inc.

Spring Lake Pointe will feature three lakefront lots and 14 interior lots, none of which backs up to the other.

All trees will be retained in order to preserve the natural ambiance of the project.

You know him from "Roots", "Good Times", "Coming to America", "Lock Up", "Die Hard II", "Fresh Prince of Bel-Air", and "In The House". John Amos' performance in "John Corner" is truly incredible. A parade of characters who witness first-hand a truly astonishing event. "John Corner" is a fascinating, incredibly funny, thought provoking theatrical experience.

Fire drills guarantee safe escape

DEAR ABBY: When I went to the movies with my mother as a young boy, she would sometimes cover my eyes with her hand and ask, "Can you tell me where the exits are?" She made it a game that was fun, but she was serious about teaching the lesson. I've always remembered it, because it's a very important one.

No matter where people are, everyone needs to know how to escape safely if fire should break out. That's why I've joined the non-profit National Fire Protection Association in its public safety efforts during Fire Prevention Week 2000. NFPA's campaign is called "Fire Drills: The Great Escape!" Its goal is to encourage people everywhere to plan and practice their own fire drills, especially in their homes, where eight out of 10 fire deaths occur.

When was the last time you had a fire drill? Please, take a few minutes to walk through your home with your family and identify at least two escape routes in case a fire blocks one of them. Then practice using them, and choose a specific place outside to assemble and make sure that everyone is safe and wait for the fire department. Also, if you haven't done it lately, test your smoke alarms to be sure they're working.

Abby, I hope your readers will take this message to heart. Fire is fast — so fast, you may have only a few moments to get out. However, if you react quickly, you can survive a fire. Fire drills really are the "Great Escape." Planning ahead and practicing carefully are the keys to survival.

SEN. EDWARD M. KENNEDY, NFPA HONORARY CHAIR, FIRE PREVENTION WEEK 2000

DEAR SENATOR KENNEDY: That you are lending your name to this lifesaving effort is terrific. Too often, lessons about fire safety are learned the hard way — in the aftermath of a tragedy.

National Fire Prevention Week runs from Oct. 8 to Oct. 14. Across North America, fire departments will be teaching these important lessons. Please, readers, plan and practice your fire drill today. It shouldn't have to take a tragedy to get people to pay attention.

Test

number of suggestions to the School Superintendents across the state. They are as follows:
Test as late (in the school year) as possible so that districts can maximize instructional time.
Distribute student score reports as early as possible so that promotion decisions can more readily include this data.
Reduce the amount of testing.
Reduce the stress associated with testing.
Structure the score reports in a more detailed format to enable them to directly impact curriculum and instruction.
Make specific modifications to the test administration design - for example, allow more time for students to complete the tests.
Additionally, educators and parents have asked the Florida

Department of Education to devise a way to better demonstrate how students perform on multiple choice versus performance based items. In an effort to address this request, score reports are to be reformatted. This will enable the Department to provide specific information about students' learning strengths.
The primary FCAT dates for next year are February 21, 2001 for writing, and March 12 - 15 for reading and mathematics.
All schools in Florida are required to follow this schedule unless there is a conflict with Spring Break, which is occurring in six school districts. Their dates will be changed.
With the changes suggested by the state, the following will now be put into the test:
For most grades and subjects, students will have 10 additional minutes for the test.

FCAT Reading will be given before mathematics with one exception, the mathematics performance tasks at Grades 5 - 8 and 10 will be given on Monday prior to the reading test.
The number of performing tasks has been reduced. Previously there have been between 8 and 10 tasks, but in 2001, there will be 4 to 8, including field test items.
Scores will be released before the end of the school term.
Additionally, there will be several changes in reporting results of the test, and compiling the overall statistics.
For high school students who will be taking the High School Competency Test (HSCT), some of the same changes will be made. But High Schoolers were to start taking the tests this past week, through Oct. 13.

Bentley

Bentley is active in the church and has helped develop programs for youth groups, women's mission organizations and Christian education departments. She is the author of "The History of the First South Florida Missionary Baptist Association, 1888-1989" and "Georgetown: The History of a Black Neighborhood."
Honors include The Martin Luther King Jr. Community

Award for Leadership in Civic and Education Activities awarded by the city of Sanford; twice-cited for Service to Neglected and Abused Children; inducted into the President's Fountain of Excellence at Florida Memorial College in Miami; and received the Seminole County Branch of NAACP Community Service Award in recognition of her outstanding community involvement and contributions.

On Friday, Bentley said she has mixed emotions about the school's name, including apprehension. But, she approached the day with a sense of humor.
"I didn't know if the phone would ring and they would tell me, 'No, we didn't mean that.'" "I am very happy to be here," she said. "I hope I have a few years to sit with the boys and girls who will occupy this school. I am so proud of this honor."

and Heathrow, Zaitooni commented, "This will probably cause the problem to expand, and probably the way to handle it is to start with restrictions right now." He indicated the restrictions on truck weights will probably not be lifted in the near future, if at all.
He suggested trucks traveling that area use normal routes such as SR-46 and Rinehart Roads, which are wider and more capable of handling the large trucks. "Orange Boulevard is simply too narrow for this increase in truck traffic," he said.

The Seminole County Traffic Engineering department is urging employers and delivery companies to heed this restriction and notify others with whom business may be conducted.
The change will not prohibit the movement of emergency vehicles.
For additional information phone 407-665-5677 or 5678.

of a pedestrian overpass over Interstate-4 near Heathrow. This passageway is to be part of the Florida National Scenic Trail. The bridge will ultimately connect the Seminole-Wekiva Trail (west) to the Rinehart Road Trail (east).
A developer would build the trail from the bridge west to International Parkway.
During previous meetings, the County Commission has approved receiving the money.

Kittleston wins first feature at Smyrna

By Hank Sanders
 Special to the Herald

SAMSULA — Young Gun Travis Kittleston drove his #88 Bob Steele Chevy to his first Super Late Model feature win at New Smyrna Speedway last Saturday night (Sept. 30).

David Rogers' #11 TM Ranch Dodge passed several cars to challenge, but failed to run down Kittleston at the flag. Mike Franklin was on hand tuning up for the Governor's Cup, and made his way up to third place with Tom Root 4th in the #19 Dodge and 1998 Champ B.J. McLeod was fifth in the 13 car field.

The Ed Meridith Memorial 100 lap race had 22 of Florida's best taking the green for the big Modified event.

The #52 of Robert "Hollywood" Ham set fast time, started on the pole, and led every lap to get the big money prize. The real battles were behind him as the top seven cars of Jerry Symons, Doug Mott, Mike Pritts, David Rogers, Teddy Nelson, Ricky Wood and Brad May battled every lap for position. The race ran smoothly with only a few short cautions and no big wrecks. The top five spots remained pretty fixed with most passing on the restarts. The final restart was at lap 95 and when it was over, Symons was 2nd, Ricky Wood 3rd, Brad May 4th and David Rogers 5th. It was a smooth, well run race.

Marty Pierce's #75 BBM Mustang added to his impressive string of wins to beat the small Mini-Stock field. Eric Powell from Windermere FL drove a good race and claimed the runner up spot over J. D. Duncan, Jamie McCague, and Rex Christensen in the SMART V-3.

Bob Andercheck's #90 Blacky's Baloon/KOA/U. S. Marines Camaro again got the win in Sportsman, but had to battle Doug Samion right to the end in the Rinaldi's #04.

Steve Redditt in the #1 Blue Pontiac Grand Prix had a good run for third. Ron Lucy's #07 came away with fourth over David Rowe in the black #5 car. The crowd favorite Tasmanian Devil car, ONO, was back after winning last week's mattress race, but a dented roof seemed to slow him down a bit.

The fans love a good field of cars, and Super Stock is a crowd favorite class. Jim Winterstein's #13 Olds won the feature and added to his points lead as he again crushed the competition. Charlie Merz had a real strong drive from the rear to gain second at the line. Homer "Ladies Man" Gordon wanted to let all his fans know he has moved his shop from the Trill, to Taft, and he is now available for autographs after the races. The move must have

Banged-up Lions limp into bye week

By Tony DeSormier
 Herald Correspondent

OVIEDO — This is what bye weeks are for, a chance to get healthy and pull things together.

For the Oviedo Lions, it couldn't have come at a better time.

Banged, bruised, and bewildered, Oviedo stumbled to its third consecutive loss Friday night, dropping a 16-6 decision to the previously-wireless DeLand Bulldogs in a 6A-District 3 football contest at John Courier Field.

The Lions (now 3-3 overall and 1-2 in the district) is off until Oct. 20, when they will travel to University for another district contest. DeLand improved to 1-5 and 1-1 in the district.

"We need this week off," said Oviedo head coach Greg Register. "We had three more ankles twisted tonight. We've had a lot of bad luck, but we're not quitting. We're hanging in there."

The physical trials and tribulations suffered by the Lions would have tested the proverbial patience of Job (who was the topic of Register's post-game comments to his team Friday).

Every Central Florida high school football fan knows the story of Oviedo senior defensive back Sammy Hughes, who currently is undergoing therapy for his spinal cord injury in Atlanta.

Prior to the game, it was announced that Papa John's Pizza had raised $1,400 during a recent fund-raiser for the Sammy Hughes Foundation while DeLand High School contributed $3,000 ($2,000 coming from the DeLand Booster Club and another $1,000 that was collected at a recent Bulldog home game).

And while Hughes' loss is a very emotional one for the Lions, it wasn't the beginning of Oviedo's physical woes and certainly wasn't the end.

Brian Lorenzetti, a returning senior running back who is the school's nominee for the Wendy's High School Heisman Award, has yet to play a down this year. Steve Asby, one of the Lions' top receivers as well as one of the area's premier kickers, has seen limited action due to mononucleosis. Tyrone Foster, who splits time at running back and defensive back, was on crutches with an undetermined injury Friday.

On Friday, linebacker Tim Wilde twist-

Seminole shows its total game in 31-8 win over Lake Howell

SANFORD — The Seminole High School football team put on a clinic at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium Friday night.

The Fighting Seminoles excelled in every phase of the game in disposing of Lake Howell, 31-8, in a Class 5A-District 4 contest that was not as close as the final score would indicate.

They scored on the run, they used the pass effectively, they kicked field goals, and even the special teams got in on the scoring.

Seminole running back Tim Hunter leaves a pair of Lake Howell defenders in his wake as he breaks loose for part of the 86 yards he gained Friday night. The junior also scored a pair of touchdowns as the Fighting Seminoles walked past the Silver Hawks, 31-8, in a Class 5A-District 4 game at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

Rams eke out huge district triumph

By David Quinones
 Herald Correspondent

ORLANDO — The Lake Mary Rams survived a huge scare as they faced off against the University Cougars in a Class 6A-District 2 contest at University High School Friday night.

The Rams defense again played a key role as Lake Mary defeated the Cougars 13-7, allowing only one touchdown and stopping the home team on several occasions.

The Rams' biggest defensive stop came however with nine seconds remaining in the game as the Cougars were trying to put together a last ditch effort to put one in the end-zone. The Cougars were faced with a 4th & 16 situation at the Rams 20 yard line when the defense forced Cougars senior quarterback Nick Buchert to over throw every receiver in sight to give the Rams the ball back for the win.

SANFORD — The Shoestrings were perfect for the third straight week in the A League, but the B League was a different story as for the third week a third different team, this time Sanford Church of God, went unbeaten in the B League to tighten the standings up even more in the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Fall Co-Ed Volleyball League in the Dan Pelham Gynatorium at Sanford Middle School last Monday night.

The Shoestrings went 3-0, topping Beer :30, 15-5, MJ's, 17-15, and Nation's Fence, 15-5. Beer :30 was right behind at 2-1, beating MJ's 15-13, and Nation's Fence 15-8.

The other win went to MJ's, which beat Nation's Fence 15-5. The Ynots had the week off. After three weeks, Shoestrings is 11-0, Beer :30 is 7-4, MJ's is 5-6, the Ynots are 3-5 and Nation's Fence is 0-11.

The Sanford Church of God followed the Guppies and the Saints with a perfect week. Sanford Church of God (3-0) took down the Guppies, 15-10, the Saints, 15-7, and Idyllwilde, 15-0. The Guppies were next at 2-1, knocking off the Saints, 15-11, and Idyllwilde, 15-9.

The Saints picked up the other victory, spiking Idyllwilde, 15-6.

Tribe upsets Hawks

By Dean Smith

SANFORD — It's been an odd week for Seminole Athletic Conference girls volleyball teams.

On Tuesday, Seminole dropped a winnable district match at Pine Ridge (7-6), 11-15, 15-10 and 15-12, but then pulled off a huge upset over No. 11 state-ranked (Class 5A) Spruce Creek (14-3), 15-8 and 16-14, on Wednesday.

On Tuesday, No. 6 state-ranked (Class 6A) Winter Springs (11-2) won a grudge match with Lake Mary (11-6), 15-10, 2-15 and 15-8, then got upset by DeLand (16-2), which had also beaten Oviedo, 15-7, 5-15 and 15-11 on Wednesday, in straight games, 17-15 and 15-6, on Thursday.

On Thursday, Oviedo (11-6) bounced back from the loss to DeLand to whip Lake Mary (11-7), 15-6 and 15-10.

In other girls matches from Tuesday, Bishop Moore (11-2) defeated Lake Brantley, 15-2 and 15-11; Oviedo swept past Lake Howell, 15-6 and 15-0.

The Fighting Seminoles of coach Beth Corso improved to 13-10 with win over the Hawks at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium and avenged a loss two weeks ago at Spruce Creek's gym.

Seminole lost that earlier match in two games, but both were extra point marathons and the Tribe was playing without Corso on the sideline as her husband had to have emergency surgery. It was the first time Corso had missed a match in 22 years of coaching.

"The team played with intensity and intelligence," said Corso. "We covered and all the rest came with the floor work. We had 30 kills, 39 digs and 21 assists. Way to end the week Lady 'Noles."

The Seminole freshman team also won to improve to 11-3 on the season.

In freshman football from Tuesday, Maurice Byrd scored the only touchdown of the game as Seminole won its fourth straight game, 6-0, on rain-plagued night over Lake Brantley at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

It rained almost the entire game, but Byrd was able to score on a 20-yard sweep for coach Scott Casco's Fighting Seminoles.

The Seminole defense also did its part, forcing a turnover on its own two-yard line to deny the Patriots the tying and possible go-ahead touchdown.

The backfield of quarterback Michael Harlow and running backs Daniel Johnson and Kendrick Knight all had good games for the Tribe. The Seminole offense was also helped by the return of tight tackle Michael Gibson, who had missed the previous two games with an injury.

The Fighting Seminoles are now 4-1 on the season and will be at Lake Mary on Tuesday. In a boys volleyball match from Wednesday, Bishop Moore (7-12) defeated Lyman (10-18), 14-6, 15-9 and 15-6.

Rams

Continued from Page 7? game when they scored on their opening drive in the first quarter on a 11-yard touchdown pass from Jason Hadley to senior running back Anthony Ballerino, putting the Rams on top 7-0. This play capped an eight-play, 69-yard drive that took a total of 4:01 off the clock. University would strike back in the second quarter with a touchdown of their own when junior running back Gabriel Torres scored on a 6-yard touchdown run capping a six-play, 36-yard drive and tying the game at 7-7.

The Rams would tack on six more points on a spectacular 47-yard touchdown pass from Hadley to Ballerino putting the Rams on top 13-7 (the 2-point conversion try failed). The Lake Mary defense, led by senior linebacker Adam Donnelly who had a key sack and was involved in every aspect of the Rams defense, stopped the Cougars a total of five times since their first and only score including the game winning stop in the closing seconds. "This win was so big, it was a district game and we had to come out here and step it up," said Ballerino. "We were coming off of a bye week so we were a little rusty but we picked it up as the game went along. I have to compliment our offensive line, they were huge for us without them we wouldn't have been able to do anything tonight." With this win the Rams improve to 3-2 overall and more importantly 3-0 in district play. With the loss the Cougars fall to 2-4 overall and 0-3 in district play. The Rams will host district foe Colonial High School next

Continued from Page 1B Defensively, the Tribe held the Silver Hawks to only one first down in the first half and two through three quarters before Lake Howell got the offense going against Seminole's second string defense.

Not that the Tribe was perfect as they were flagged for 11 penalties for 125 yards. The Silver Hawks started like their single-wing offense was going to confuse Seminole, moving 37 yards on the first three plays, but then a fumbled snap and an interception by Victor Tate turned the momentum over to the Tribe for good. Seminole methodically moved the ball downfield and Matt Groover capped a seven play, 78-yard drive with a 23-yard field goal.

The score remained 3-0 through the rest of the quarter, but Groover got the Fighting Seminoles on the board on the second play of the second quarter when he nailed a 41-yard field goal, his second 40-plus yard field goal in three weeks. Another short punt on the next series put Seminole right back in business as the Lake Howell 40 and four plays later Joe Harris scampered in from five yards out. A two-point run by Andre Raines was called back and the ensuing extra point kick sailed wide left, leaving the score at 12-0.

It did not remain 12-0 for long, however, as the Tribe got the ball back two minutes later and Hunter capped a nine play, 11 yard drive with another five yard run. At this time the ATUvs blocked and the score was 18-0 Seminole at halftime. After intermission, the Tribe took the opening kickoff and kept the ball for over half of the third quarter. They did not score, but now we was getting tight. The Silver Hawks got a quick first down, but then lost 17 yards on two plays and Chris White blocked the ensuing punt try and chased the ball into the end zone for a touchdown. Groover added the extra point and the score was 25-0 after three periods.

It was the second block of a punt in the game for Seminole as Calvin Thompkins got his hands on one near the end of the first half.

Early in the fourth quarter the Tribe got its final touchdown on a 12-yard run by Willie Bennett. Lake Howell finally got things going behind Josh Hancock, who was inserted into the game at quarterback when the Hawks had to start throwing.

Hancock completed eight passes on an 85-yard drive, which he capped himself with a one-yard plunge with 4:19 remaining. Ivan Scott added the two-point run.

That was the last hurrah as an onside kick try failed and on its final series Hancock had a pass intercepted by Andre Green.

Seminole is now 4-2 overall and 2-1 in Class 5A-District 4, while Lake Howell fell to 1-4 overall and 1-1 in district play.

Next Thursday, Seminole will travel to Deltona to take on Pine Ridge in a district game on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. and Lake Howell also be in a district match on Thursday, taking on Mainland at the Daytona Beach Municipal Stadium starting at 7:00 p.m.

"Steve may be back for the University game," said Register. "The doctors have examined Tyrone's knee and they can't find any cartilage damage. There's nothing broken either, but it's swollen and sore.

"It's just one of those years. We have to keep playing hard and well get through this together. We've had years where we've had very few injuries. This is one of those other years."

Friday night's first half was a defensive struggle, DeLand taking a 3-0 lead into halftime on the strength of Justin Dixon's 27-yard field goal with 5:13 left in the second quarter. Oviedo got inside the DeLand 30-yard line twice, but was unable to convert either chance into points.

The Bulldogs padded their lead with a 4-yard touchdown run by Shyrus Rolle in the third quarter and Ferrel Williamson's 3-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter.

Oviedo avoided the shutout when Brett Murphy tossed a 1-yard scoring pass to Bobby Raulerson with less than 90 seconds remaining in the game.

Drew Bailey-Barnett led all rushers with 99 yards on 14 carries for Oviedo. Billy Dreggors contributed 41 yards on six carries. For DeLand, Williamson finished with 63 yards on 15 rushes while Rolle had 25 yards on four carries.

Commercial Agriculture Director Richard Tyson, at left, reported 611 volunteers were involved in agricultural projects this past year, donating more than 16,000 hours of service. Statistics also report the Seminole County Extension Service had 73,809 contacts with customers this past year.

Latest figures indicate county still prominent in agriculture

By Nick Pflaumer
Staff Writer

Long-time residents can attest to the fact that the agricultural industry in Seminole County has been diminishing with each passing year. Yet the latest figures for the county indicate agricultural producers are averaging approximately $20 million in sales each year. That's no small potatoes.

Considered as agriculturally related are citrus, cattle, vegetables, ornamental nursery and landscape plant production.

Heading up agricultural, as well as other related operations, is the University of Florida Seminole County Extension Service, located at 250 West County Home Road in Sanford.

The Extension service was established in 1862 by a grant to the university system, improved in 1887 with the addition of an agricultural research service, and finalized in 1914 with the establishment of the Cooperative Extension Service.

To operate the Extension Service, state and federal contributions in financial support amounted to $519,207 for this past year. In addition, the Seminole County budget has been allocating $312,600 for a number of years. The service thus is a partnership between the federal, state and county governments.

Locally, there are four major projects; Agriculture, 4-H, Family and Consumer Sciences, and Home Horticulture. Nationally, the focus is on 4-H, since Oct. 1 through 7 is designated as 4-H week.

The Extension service has a large listing on its Calendar of Events through the end of this year with special workshops, meetings, seminars, contests, and other events. The brochure is free for the asking.

The Extension Family and Consumer Sciences is designed to help Florida families meet the practical challenges of daily life through such programs as financial and clothing resource management, consumer education, food and food safety, nutrition and health, and many others.

For home agriculture there are programs regarding pest management of landscape plants, lawn grasses, fruits, vegetables and house plants, including a quarterly newsletter "The Green Thumb."

For these endeavors, volunteer support is always in demand. Nationwide, more than 94 million people give volunteer services. Locally, Commercial Agriculture Director Richard Tyson reported 611 volunteers were involved in this past year, donating more than 16,000 hours of service. Statistics also report 73,809 contacts with customers this

'Celerybration'

Ron Rose is preparing for the third annual Sanford Heritage Festival

November is just around the corner, and with it comes the annual celebration in downtown Sanford. Held the second weekend in November (this year it's Nov. 10-12), the Sanford Heritage Festival attracts almost 35,000 people to the city's historic downtown. Chubby Checker was the featured performer for the last two years, but the "Twister" will be replaced this year by country superstar

Charlie Daniels and his band on the opening night of the festival. Fan of the Motown Sound? Not to worry because Percy Sledge will belt out his timeless rhythm and blues tunes on Saturday night. There will also be non-stop entertainment on three stages throughout the festival, as local performers showcase their talent.

Who's the man behind this annual — as organizers are calling it — "celerybration?" Actually there are hundreds of men and women who are responsible for the success of the festival, but Sanford Chamber of Commerce Director Ron Rose brought the idea to town three years ago when he was hired to lead the chamber. Ron sat down with Herald Editor Dan Ping to discuss the festival's past and future.

Ron Rose

Q: Why have a Heritage Festival?

A: When I first got the job in Sanford, one of the things the board stressed as being very important was having events in downtown. I had experience organizing the Pineapple Festival in Jensen Beach, so we decided to do a similar festival in Sanford. There hadn't been a signature event in Sanford in a long time, and an important part of the overall effort was to enhance the image of the city, showcase our historic community and to help raise funds for other downtown

Q: How successful have you been in accomplishing those three goals?

A: I think we've been very successful. You've got to remember, the Sanford Heritage Festival is only three years old, but already it is getting a very positive reputation. The first year we lost $7,000, but that was because we made a major investment in the electrical equipment downtown to run the main stage. That equipment is now there for future events, and it's already paid for. Last year we actually made money. If you talk to people who do these types of festivals professionally, they'll tell you that events like this don't make money until the fourth or fifth year.

Q: With this being the third year, are people beginning to mark this festival down in their calendars every year?

A: Oh, absolutely. This festival is very well received, and now that we have done it a couple of times, people start anticipating it. All the vendors and amusement ride people know that the festival is the second weekend in November, so they automatically block that weekend out for us. What's neat is people in the community are beginning to do the same thing, especially those who volunteer, and that's very important because we couldn't pull this off without the help of hundreds of volunteers.

See Rose, Page 2C

Q: So are things going smoothly during the planning stages for the third annual festival?

A: Actually, this year has been a tougher than the previous years because the money is limited because of the elections. It's always that way at election time, but there always seems to be sponsors who step up and help us out. For instance, Eller Media and Infinity have donated billboards promoting the festival along I-4 and 17/92. Massey Cadillac Oldsmobile has joined on as the presenting sponsor this year, and we really appreciate them doing that. They're doing some new things in Sanford, and really believe in the Heritage Festival. We've also got some big radio sponsorships this year. Both K-92 FM and Star 94.5 are involved with the festival, and we're excited about their participation.

Q: What's new for this year's festival?

A: A lot. One of the biggest things about this year's festival is Charlie Daniels. We're expecting a big crowd for both of his shows Friday night. In between those two shows we'll have Roxanne, a 12-year-old girl from Jacksonville who is becoming well known nationally. Some people say she could be the next big star. Our festival is kind of known for that. If you'll remember, Lone Star played at our first Heritage Festival and they've gone on to hit it big. Percy Sledge is going to be a big draw on Saturday night. He'll be fun to watch. One of the neat things is we've got a guy named Mike Piel who's helping us with the festival. Mike helped organize the first Woodstock festival, so he's got a lot of connections in the business. One thing Mike has done is bring in the producers from Ed McMahon's new television show "The Next Big Star." They're going to be here throughout the weekend filming the local talent, as well as the Karaoke Championship on Sunday. It could be that a number of our local people receive invitations to appear on that show.

Q: Sounds great. What do people do if they want to be a part of the festival?

A: They should call the Chamber at 407-322-2212. We welcome anybody who wants to participate, whether it's as a sponsor or as a volunteer. I can't stress to you how important our volunteers are, and we can always use more. It's going to be a great festival, and something our community can really be proud of.

Lake Mary's going back to the future

Twenty years ago, what was your vision of the future? Did you think we'd have flying cars by the year 2000? Robots to deal with the menial chores in your life? Or were you plagued by darker visions of life "Planet of the Apes" style?

Mary Rowell

Humanities view of the future in the past can tell us a lot about ourselves. That's what the new traveling exhibit from the Smithsonian Institute is all about.

"Yesterday's Tomorrow's: Past Visions of the American Future" shows us what the future has looked like to people for the past 100 years. Computers, cell phones and the Internet have given us closer contact with the rest of the human race than ever imagined or predicted in the past. But the ray guns and robots that have been predicted since the '30s have yet to appear. Nor has the house, predicted in "Popular Mechanics" in which everything inside was made of plastic so that all the modern housewife had to do was turn on the hose to clean it.

We have a space station now, but what of the predictions for cities in space that would support 10,000 people? Where are the colonies on the moon? "Yesterday's Tomorrow's" is a unique exhibit featuring toys, books, movie stills and more from the past that detail visions of the future that never were. It also shows American's love of the automobile.

Cars of the future were big on the list of predictions for everyone. Examples of futuristic vehicles include atomic-powered automobiles like the Ford Nucleon and of course, flying cars.

The exhibit has been designed for small museums and will be coming to the Lake Mary Historical Museum in August 2001. It is quite a coup for a museum as relatively new as the Lake Mary Historical Museum to get the exhibit. The Lake Mary Historical Commission was able to obtain the exhibit with the help of the Florida Humanities Council.

The Historical Commission must come up with their own display/exhibit to compliment "Yesterday's Tomorrow's" when it comes. Members of the Commission will be traveling to other museums in Florida that have the exhibit scheduled earlier and finding out how they're handling it.

The next meeting of the Lake Mary Historical Commission will be Tuesday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m. in the museum. The public is welcome to attend.

past year, as well as more than 19,000 hours of teaching contacts.

Regarding the teaching, courses coming up in the near future include Biological Pest Control on Oct. 18 and Diseases of Plants on Nov. 8, as part of the Lunch and Learn series held at the Seminole County Extension Auditorium.

In addition to Tyson, other members of the program staff include Barbara Hughes, Seminole County Extension Director in charge of Family & Consumer Services, Sheila Wilkins with the 4-H Youth Development, and Dr. Al Ferrer with Urban Horticulture.

"In addition," Tyson said, "We have cross-county support from four additional agents, which are available at no cost to Seminole County."

These include specialists in Citrus, Livestock, Foliage and Woody Ornamentals.

Tyson said the Seminole County Extension Service offers many programs, projects, lectures and information available to the general public, and urges people to stop at 250 West County Home Road during business hours and learn more about this valuable asset to life in Seminole County.

"Through the Seminole County Cooperative Extension Service," Tyson said, "The University of Florida extends its knowledge to the counties."

You probably never know that there were blimps at the Sanford Naval Air Station! Well, this one was there on May 15, 1954, during open house on Armed Forces Day. Navy and/or airplane buffs will be able to recognize the other airplanes. This photograph is one of 12 old Sanford scenes contained in the 2001 Sanford Historical Society calendar. They are on sale at the Sanford Museum, Knights Shoe Store and from society members. This photo was made available by Frank Mione, airship captain.

Carvers celebrate 76th wedding anniversary

Ethel and John Carver have carved their own brand of love story which they have tenderly nourished for 76 years. And the couple have spent their entire married life in Sanford. Ethel said she can't remember when they weren't together. Just as today's popular song suggests, Ethel says you have to "stand by your man."

where he remained until his retirement in 1971. For those counting, John cut hair in Sanford for 47 years and is a celebrated legend in the community. Ethel was employed at Sanford Naval Air Station before joining the City of Sanford's Water Department in the old city hall on Fulton Street where she was a department head.

Doris Dietrich

Although they still live independently, time has altered John's once stalwart stature and Ethel moves slowly about with the aid of a walker. She is legally blind and spends much of her time these days listening to television. She misses the beautiful needlework her nimble fingers once created.

Ethel misses the bustling good old days in downtown Sanford with its department stores, men's shops, women's shops, drug stores, banks, hardware stores and grocery stores. "We had a good town," Ethel said. "It was a big, thriving place." The Carvers, each 94, are members of the First United Methodist Church in Sanford. They are the parents of three deceased children and have three grandchildren.

John and Ethel Carver

The 11th and last child of her parents, Ethel has 76 years of marriage memories tucked away. She recalls that John came to Sanford before they were married on Sept. 24, 1924, in Willacoochee, Ga. At the time there was no First Street in Sanford and a stable stood where the present chamber of commerce is located. The few streets in town were brick. John did locate work and traveled back to Georgia to marry the girl of his dreams and the couple have lived happily ever after in Sanford. On June 1, 1924, John went to work for the J.K. Smith Barber Shop located in the rear of Roumillat-Anderson's Drug Store. Here he spent 20 years clipping the hair of Sanford's esteemed citizens. Later, he bought the shop and relocated to 108 S. Park Ave.

On their 76th anniversary, the couple's niece and nephew, Libby and Eddie Mossman of Altamonte Springs, brought in lunch for the family to enjoy. Ethel said the key to a happy marriage is, "Get up and be thankful you are all right. Think of all the good things to be thankful for." Ethel said she would marry John all over again? "Oh, yes," she said. "I found what I wanted. I can't remember when we weren't together. We are thankful we can do for ourselves."

Woman's club presents 'Holiday Fashion Memories'

Expect a lot of glitz and glamour when the Woman's Club of Sanford presents its annual fashion gala for education, "Holiday Fashion Memories," at the clubhouse, at 11:30 a.m., Oct. 25. The annual event will boost the club's scholarship fund for deserving women to return to the classroom.

Fashions will be from Burdines and will spotlight sports, business casual and holiday styles and accessories. Maria Mastropiero, fashion coordinator for Burdines, will serve as mistress of ceremonies while Donna Smith provides background music.

Escorting the models are: Sanford Chief of Police Brian Tooley and Seminole County Sheriff Don Ealinger. Ferns from Dutch Mill Nursery will be sold during the event and Tropical Paradise Florist will also assist with decorating. Buck's will cater the luncheon.

Overall chairman is Phyllis Hodge, head of the club's education department, assisted by DeLores Lash and Viola Frank as co-chairman. Others on the committee are: Anne VanDerworp, Betty Colbert, Mindy Tooley, Vivian Buck and Janice Springfield.

Models include: Karen Hittell, Lisa Finnerty, Collette Colegrove, Lisa Gadsen, Theresa Fraasa, Thelma Smith, Jone Porter, Dr. Charaline Luna, Emy Sokol, Pat Foster and Julia Wallace.

Reservations are necessary and must be made no later than Oct. 20.

Bridal couple honored

Lisa Clontz is one excited bride-to-be with wedding bells all primed to ring next week. She and her mom and dad, Jean and Dr. Frank Clontz, were recent guests of the bridegroom's family, in Basking Ridge, N.J. Bridegroom Steve Gelmine is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gelmine.

Lisa flew up to New Jersey ahead of her parents and their arrival two days later was supposed to be a surprise to her but someone let the cat out of the bag. Steve's family entertained at a big Sunday brunch when the two families got to meet each other before attending the wedding. "It was a very, very nice party," Jean said. Steve was entertained earlier at the traditional bachelor party.

While visiting the area, Jean and Frank did New York City for shopping and sightseeing and report a fantastic time.

New York beckons Sanfordites

Speaking of the Big Apple, other Sanfordites have had reason to visit the metropolis. Miriam Doktor and Valeie Weld flew up Sept. 20 to catch Natalie Weld's opening of Pokemon Live at Radio City Music Hall and returned the same day. "Pokemon" was choreographed by Sanford's own Luis Perez Jr., and of course, the show was just wonderful.

Miriam and Valerie returned to New York last week with their husbands, Ken Doktor and George Weld, to see the show again and take in other sights. Natalie, Sanford's Miss America hopeful, will tour with Pokemon Live for 36 weeks. The report is she just loves New York.

Bless the Animals

Two Seminole churches recently celebrated the Feast of St. Francis of Assisi — a time when animals big and small are blessed. At left, the Rev. Beverly L. Barge of St. Peter's Episcopal Church blesses Callie, while her owner Renata Alvarez watches.

All Souls School also participated in the Feast of St. Francis of Assisi. Pictured above, Joe the Iguana gets a blessing from the Rev. Steven McNicholas, while Danny Seda of Sanford watches. At right, Sheila Orioles holds Molly, a pot belly pig. Molly was also blessed by Father McNicholas. Saint Francis of Assisi is the patron saint of animals. According to history, he was born Francis Bernardone in 1182 in Assisi, Italy. Although born into a family of riches, Francis turned to a life of spirituality and poverty. He was known for his compassion and patience toward animals, as well as for his fellow man. Two years after his death in 1226, Francis was canonized a saint by the Catholic Church.
