

Sen. Benton Says He Helped Banish Reds In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Benton (D.-Conn.) testified today there were Communists in the State Department in 1945 and 1946 and that he took a leading part in getting rid of them.

But he declined to give any names, and this led to heated exchanges with his antagonist, Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.), at a pre-trial hearing on McCarthy's two million dollar libel slander suit against the Connecticut senator.

McCarthy repeatedly pressed Benton to tell whether he knew the names of any Communists fired from the State Department in the years right after World War II. Benton was an assistant secretary of state at the time.

"I don't propose to name any names," Benton replied, adding that he wouldn't trust his memory that far back even if he desired to give them.

"On what grounds do you refuse?" McCarthy asked. "On the grounds of my incrimination?" Theodore Klend, Benton's attorney, interjected: "Senator, you're fantastic."

Benton himself said: "No, on the grounds it may incriminate me. I don't propose to indulge in the practices under discussion here this morning."

This was a reference to his contention that McCarthy has hurled unsubstantiated charges in his crusade against Communists in government.

Benton testified he was sure there were Communists in the State Department and other government departments in 1945. He said the bars had been let down during the war.

But he said many were fired in 1945 and 1946 and that he himself was responsible for working out a "reasonable doubt" procedure under which most of the dismissals occurred.

Benton added that in 1947 he suggested to Gen. George C. Marshall, then secretary of state, that the Federal Bureau of Investigation be called in to help on security checks of department employees. This was done, the senator said.

McCarthy and Benton argued constantly at the opening session of the hearing.

McCarthy at one time accused his foe of not telling the truth. He asserted Benton was giving evasive answers and once commented, "If you continue this way, we'll be here for months."

"Don't worry about that, senator," Klend put in. The lawyer, in turn, accused McCarthy of taking up issues that had nothing to do with the case.

Today's hearing was without a referee and with McCarthy asking the questions. Later, he will be quizzed by Benton's counsel.

Owners Of Canine Pets Found To Be Democratic Group

By IAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—How much real democracy is there among dog lovers?

Quite a bit, according to Bartender Bill O'Brien, who forked over $50 to a customer for a puppy that looked like a 4-legged gray mop and has turned out to be a blue ribbon show dog.

I have written about Bill before. He's a big ex-Army sergeant who blew the alarm bugle at Pearl Harbor.

O'Brien is night maestro at Morriarty's Midtown Bar and Grill, an establishment two doors from Toots Shor's that has become a rendezvous for newspapermen, dancers, singers, actors and musicians.

One of his customers was Pat Hanrahan, an NBC electrician who often brought in one or two of the Schnauzer dogs he raises as a sideline.

"I just got dog hungry looking at them," confessed Bill. He finally bought a male pup from Pat for $50 and figured it was a real bargain as Schnauzers, a kind of long-haired German terrier, are growing in popularity in America and easily bring $75 to $125.

The 8-week-old ugly puppy looked like a handful of dirty strings with bright eyes. Bill named him Mike Murphy.

"He grew so fast he was getting bow-legged and down in the hocks, so I began stuffing him with calcium pills," said Bill.

"But he had lots of spirit—he was no deadhead."

Mike Murphy perked up so fast, showed such carriage, that dog-wisdom customers at the bar urged Bill to enter him in a dog show. At first O'Brien held off, thinking that such honors were for the pets of millionaires rather than bartenders.

But he finally decided Mike Murphy ought to have his chance in the world. He paid a professional handler a small sum to give him a week's training. Mike was entered in the Westminster Kennel Club Show in Madison Square Garden last February, which is the World Series of dogdom.

Mike Murphy, only 8 months old and still really a puppy, strutted out to win the first prize for American-bred standard Schnauzers.

Overwhelmed by this victory, Bill entered Mike soon after in another top-flight metropolitan canine show. But Mike, still growing fast, had become underweight for his size. He placed fourth.

That has put Bill in a spot. He figures he let his dog down by entering him too soon in his second show, but he doesn't want to turn Mike over to trainers who

Food Items Priced Below OPS Ceilings

JACKSONVILLE (Special)—Hundreds of food items are selling below OPS ceiling prices in Jacksonville this area, it was revealed today.

W. A. Carlton, A & P Sales Director for the Southern Division, stated that the below-ceiling prices prevailing on wide variety of items, including baby goods, cereals, canned fruits and canned vegetables, bakery products, poultry and other groceries.

"At the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, A & P pledged all its resources in the fight to keep food prices down," Mr. Carlton said. "As a result of our efforts to work harder and do a better job, we have been able to sell many items at less than ceiling prices."

"OPS ceilings represent the highest prices grocers can charge for food. But it has always been A & P's policy to charge the lowest possible prices to consumers based on the cost of food to us."

SHRIMP MEET
JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Shrimp and fish dealers in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama have been invited to attend a meeting here June 23 to form a trade body.

The association, said Frank H. Fant, one of the organizers from Jacksonville, will work for protective legislation, methods for closer co-operation and will study production and marketing problems.

see him as a potential best-of-breed champion.

"I'd like to see him win another blue ribbon," Bill said, "just to make it up to him—to see he gets a square deal."

"But the handlers say they want a month to train him for his next show. Well, Schnauzers are supposed to be one-man dogs, but Mike is friendly to everybody."

"If he is gone a month, he will no longer be my dog. It would be like giving up your own baby."

Bill feeds Mike table scraps, kenneled rations and soft-boiled eggs—cooked exactly three minutes, the way Mike prefers them. Every day Bill walks four flights down from his Bronx apartment to exercise Mike by unleashing him and letting him race the New York Central commuter trains into Manhattan.

"The express trains speed right on by," said Bill. "But Mike gets a big thrill out of catching up to a local train that stops at the station. He runs up and barks at it, and I am sure he feels he has run it clear out of breath all by himself."

O'Brien doesn't want to kick his dog around, but he doesn't want to lose Mike by glamorizing him into a professional canine prize-winner.

"After all, he's my dog," said Bill. "I don't want to turn him into a child star. I'd like to keep him unspotted."

Common Shares Of Biggest Companies Are Widely Owned

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The big fellow in the manufacturing field keeps growing right along. But his make-up has been changing even faster than his size.

The largest manufacturing companies are likely to have more shareholders nowadays than employees—the days of the big individual shareholdings are numbered.

They are likely to pay almost as much in taxes as they do in wages and salaries—and four times as much in taxes as in dividends.

And they have anywhere from $7,000 to $50,000 in assets for each employee.

The 100 largest manufacturing companies—that excludes railroads, communications, banks, insurance companies, retail and service companies—are listed by the National City Bank of New York on the basis of total 1951 assets after deducting reserves for depreciation.

They range from Jersey Standard Oil with almost five billion dollars in assets to Crane Co. with 172 million dollars. They are the top among 100,000 manufacturing corporations and 200,000 manufacturing plants owned by individuals and partnerships in the United States.

These 100 employ 4,200,000 persons and have 5,400,000 shareholders. But it must be remembered that many of the shareholders may be duplications—one man may own stock in several of the 100 corporations. Thirty-one of the 100 have more than 50,000 registered shareholders; and 52 have more shareholders than employees.

The shareholders own a total of 916 million shares, representing an equity in the companies of almost 40 billion dollars.

The average investment per employee is $14,000—ranging from $7,000 in the auto industry to $50,000 in tobacco companies.

The 100 pay 17 1/2 billion in wages, salaries and such labor benefits as pensions, insurance and paid vacations. This averages $4,100 a year per employee.

The bank also looks into the balance sheets of these top 100. Their total assets top 60 billion dollars—25 billion for land, plant and equipment, and 35 billion for cash, securities, inventories and receivables.

Their sales and other receipts last year totaled more than 78 billion dollars. Costs ate up 83.1 per cent of that, leaving less than 5 1/2 billion as net income after taxes, or 6.9 per cent of sales.

This income was divided up almost evenly between dividends and reinvestments in the business. But federal income and excess profits taxes totaled almost seven billion dollars, and other federal, state, local, and foreign taxes added more than four billion dollars for a total of around 11 billion.

The bank philosophizes on what these balance sheets of the big fellows show, as follows:

"The figures show how there is no inherent conflict, but instead a close partnership relation between the interests of employees and shareholders, with some people supplying the brains and labor, and others the tools and capital. Each group is necessary to the other."

"In addition, the reports for 1951 show the rapid ascendancy of a

Potato Prices Reported Up By $2 To $4

Removal Of Price Controls Results In Quick Price Jump; Scarcity Increases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that wholesale prices of white potatoes shot up as much as $2 to $4 per hundred pounds overnight after the removal of price ceilings.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) lifted the controls late Thursday after the Senate had voted to exempt fresh fruits and vegetables from price controls beginning July 1.

Today, OPS officials quoted figures from the Agriculture Department's Marketing News Service showing the overnight advance in prices at Pittsburgh and New York for potatoes from California and the Carolinas. The prices are wholesale for U. S. No. 1, size A, 2-inch potatoes.

The report showed that California long white potatoes were selling in New York Thursday at $6.25 to $6.31 per hundred pounds. Today the quotations ranged from $8.50 to $9.50, an advance of up to $2.25 per hundred.

Other quotations in New York were: Unwashed North Carolina cobbles $4.75 to $5.00 Thursday compared with $7.00 to $8.00 today, a maximum advance of $3.25; washed North Carolina cobbles $4.60 to $5.08 Thursday, compared with $8.00 and $8.25 today, a maximum advance of $3.65; South Carolina cobbles, $5.50 Thursday compared with a range of $7.50 to $8.00 today.

Prices quoted at wholesale in Pittsburgh were: California long whites, $5.98 to $6.07 per hundred pounds Thursday, compared with a range of $7.50 to $10.00 today, a maximum advance of $4.02; North Carolina cobbles, $5.01 Thursday compared with $8.25 to $8.50 today, an advance of $3.24.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Predictions that the potato soon will be back in its usual grocery bins, and at trimmed prices, followed the government's action Thursday in removing price controls on potatoes.

But price officials and produce men alike said that before the potato price goes down, it will probably go up.

Real Progress Is Reported In Steel Dispute

McFarland Says Settlement May Come Before Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government sponsored peace talks in the steel strike reversed today until 1 p.m. as the Federal Reserve board and the steel industry leaders to study bargaining proposals.

The 1-hour delay was announced by Presidential Assistant John H. Steelman, who Thursday night reported "real negotiations" going on.

The delay was requested by Board Chairman Ben Murrill of the John and Lauretta Steel Co., head of the management negotiating team.

Steelman said Philip Murray, head of the 60,000 striking CIO United Steelworkers, readily agreed.

There was some hope of an early settlement of the dispute.

Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona told the Senate Thursday night there might be a settlement by next week. The Senate also then voted Monday all legislation dealing with the strike.

Steelman wasn't specific but said he had talked with McFarland.

"I certainly am not pessimistic," Steelman told newsmen, "but I wouldn't want to overstate my optimism."

Steelman said both sides had been discussing intensively all the complex issues involved. The walk-out started Monday after the Supreme Court voided Mr. Truman's seizure of the steel industry. More than 100,000 mine, rail and other workers have also been idled by the steel shutdown.

The first break in the nationwide strike came late Thursday with an announcement that the Detroit Steel Corp had reached a contract agreement with the Steelworkers, covering 4,500 employees. Details of the agreement, negotiated in Pittsburgh, were not announced but a district union official said they embodied Wage Stabilization Board recommendations.

These called for a "package" wage increase amounting to 20 cents an hour by next January.

In the Washington talks, it was reliably reported the union shop—also recommended by the Wage Board—was the subject of the most bitter dispute. This would require all Steelworkers to join Philip Murray's CIO union after being hired.

Librarian Secures 250 New Books For Juvenile Readers

More than 250 new books for juveniles have been secured by the Sanford Public Library and will be placed in circulation Monday, when vacation begins. Mrs. Helen J. Moughlin, librarian, announced today.

Comprising about every type of book enjoyable by every child of various ages, the volumes are about 50 percent fiction, and the balance non-fiction, principally biography, in which children have shown such an active interest, she stated.

Circulation of juvenile books has increased rapidly during the past year, she pointed out. During the past month it reached the 1,900 figure as compared with 1,100 books circulated in May, 1951.

In fiction, there are several shelves full of interesting books. These comprise stories about animals, sports, careers, historical themes and science fiction.

Among the titles are "Swampy Creek," "Grand Uncle Movers," "Marooned on Mars," "Double Date," and "Lonesome Sorell," a good humor story. Sport fiction includes such titles as "Knock Out," "Double Play," "Shorty at Shortstop." Other books are "Space Cadet," "Wild Trek," "The Mystery Horse," "South Sea Adventures," "Jerry's Treasure Hunt," and many other titles.

The non-fiction group includes the fascinating Real Book series which gives accurate, up-to-date information on astronomy, baseball, magic, Alaska, Texas, kangas, horses, etc. For the younger folks there are the beautifully illustrated Real Big Books about airplanes, trains, planes and other subjects, give actual descriptions and pictures of these themes.

Biographies are written in interesting style. Some of the popular titles include the stories of the lives of Victor Herbert, America's greatest composer of operatic music, Jack London and O'Henry, popular fiction writers; Henry Ford, Bret Harte, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, the Mayors of surgical fame, Gilbert and Sullivan, and other favorites.

In addition many new books of the "how to do it" type are now available, said Mrs. Moughlin, who pointed out that there is a large segment of Sanford's young people who like to make things.

In order to make the selections easy, covers of books will be on display.

Ike Heads For New York With Renewed Hope

General And Senator Russell See Eye To Eye On Civil Rights; Talk Is Optimistic

BY JWA BELL
APULEN, N. Y. (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower's phone into the turbulent pool of politics produced the well defined impression today he is in the country's chief camp of Republicans.

The new Army commander's definition of conservatism and the Senate's definition of liberalism at a two-hour news conference here Thursday, after a four-day visit to New York and New Jersey, were optimistic.

The war particularly fine of the handling the candidate for the Republican presidential nomination gave the speech a real edge.

He said that the Republican Party's own Fair Employment Practices Committee and E. P. S. THE HOURS OF YOUTH

Time once loomed larger in your life than it does now. An hour once seemed "a real long time." That was when you were very young.

Today when you "spend" an hour either profitably or waste-fully you are parting with only a tiny fraction of your life. But, then, you were investing or squandering a large portion of your most important asset.

On this obvious truth rests the vital importance of childhood religious training. Faith and moral character grow most rapidly in the formative early years. And the beliefs and habits acquired in those "big" hours of our childhood are not easily crowded out by the multiplicity of worldly concerns which overflow our later days and years.

Every hour you devote to the religious training of your child, going to Church with him, reading Bible stories to him, sending him to Vacation Church School, helping him to live and work and play by the best code, will strengthen your own character—and mold his!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship, strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Misses, Then Scores In Opening Political Skirmish

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—He didn't seem like the same man. Millions of Americans must have felt that way as they watched the startling contrast in Dwight D. Eisenhower's first two major television appearances as a political figure.

There was high drama between the two events and those who viewed them both will long remember them. One saw a retiring general at his worst. The other saw the like at his best.

Everything conspired against Eisenhower in the delivery of his opening address, read from a prepared text in the rain to a drenched hometown Kansas throng. It was a visual dud, a picnic that failed to come off, a fiasco after long months of planning.

Eisenhower fought hard, but this man who had led millions was now a one-man army on a sudden platform. The bad lighting made him look years older—and tired. The wind whipped thinning hairs on his balding top.

He spoke through squinting at his text through heavy GI glasses. But there were no verbal bombs in his speech. The applause was scattering, sometimes ill-timed.

Eisenhower glanced about uncertainly. He hunched deeper into his raincoat, read grimly faster. The flags at his back hung limp. A local character wandered back and forth behind him, pausing now and then to say "Hi" and clap his hands.

What was wrong? Eisenhower's stubborn face had lost its famous grin. It wore instead the weary dignity of an infantryman on a long march. But there was no dignity in the situation around him. Rain had wrecked his opening battle.

When he ended, an Eisenhower supporter, watching him via video in a Long Island home, turned off his set and said sadly:

"Oh, he's lost it, he's lost it. The weather ruined him."

Eisenhower himself may have some to bed figuring he had hardly cut down the distance between him and the presidency. But any good soldier is an all-weather campaigner.

The next day he made a major counter attack. In well-lighted local theaters, Eisenhower faced hundreds of newsmen and let them slice questions at him by the dozens about his candidacy. He batted the answers back like table tennis balls.

"He looked like Ike, he acted like the old, self-confident Ike. He looked trim and fit in a gray suit that fitted him as well as his uniform."

This was what he liked—thinking fast on his feet. He laughed generally, soon had the newsmen joining in, sometimes giggling his neck at simultaneous answers.

He was completely at ease. He shrugged, tugged at one ear, rocked back and forth on his feet, threw out his hands in forceful emphatic gestures.

"My passion is the public interest," he said at one point. He was never at a loss for words. He used "sky-hooping" to describe rising costs, and Americans were living "on a high plateau of tension."

At the close, asked "How do you like this routine?" he grinned, then said earnestly:

"When I put my hand in any glove, I know only one rule—to work as hard as you possibly can. I don't want to lie to you and say I love all this I do do that I am in it now with heart and soul."

Driving Tests To Be Given For Commercial Drivers Next Week

All commercial vehicle drivers in this area may receive a driver test given by the State Department of Education's mobile driver testing laboratory, James H. Allen, State co-ordinator, in Commerce, Fla., starting Monday at 10 a.m. June 9 and lasting through Saturday.

A specially constructed 'safety-trailer-classroom', one of a few in the nation will be used during the testing period. Allen said the vehicle is equipped with the latest testing devices to check driver reaction, visual ability and his fitness to handle his vehicle under all traffic conditions.

According to a brochure distributed by the Florida Trucking Association, the vehicle makes possible the mobile courses in driver training which are carried on following the testing period.

The class-room on wheels, complete with training gear, instructor, and highway patrolman operator, moves about the state giving on-the-spot class instruction to bus, cab and truck drivers.

According to the State Department of Education the courses include instruction in traffic engineering, driver licensing, state and local traffic laws, rules of evidence, records and reports, accident investigation, road training, operation and maintenance, I.C.C. regulations, fire prevention and fire fighting.

All driver-students will receive the Keytone Visual Safety Tests which includes tests for color discrimination, visual acuity, depth perception, vertical and lateral imbalance, and visual fusion.

Color perception, visual speed and accuracy, foot and hand reaction time, side, distance, and night vision as well as glare resistance and steadiness tests will be given.

Pointing to the need for commercial driver training the State Department of Education says, the program means a reduction of risk, more years of productive work, better coordination of safety efforts, increased prestige for his occupation and greater job satisfaction for the driver.

The employee benefits are listed as: reduction of operating cost, increased efficiency, reduction in personnel turnover, and the development of better public relations.

However, the public receives the greatest benefits from the program, Allen said. The course means better trained drivers which in turn means safer highways, he declared.

Allen said all commercial drivers in this area are invited to participate in the test and in the training period that is to follow.

ALCOHOLISM HOSPITAL
TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A proposed hospital for alcoholics at Avon Park has been turned down by the Advisory Council on Florida Hospital Development.

Dr. Walter C. Payne, Pensacola, council chairman, Thursday released a resolution in which the group said it was "not convinced of the feasibility" of the hospital. A more exhaustive study was recommended before state or federal funds are put into such a project.

MUTUAL'S GOAL
TAMPA (AP)—The man who'll take over as Florida Citrus Mutual's general manager Sept. 1 believes the big co-operative's chief goal next season should be "sell, sell, sell."

Speaking at the Mutual's district meeting Thursday, Bob Phillips said the Florida citrus industry must increase consumption in present markets, open new ones and get its production to the public in new ways.

Garment Industry Hopes For Change In Next Few Weeks

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Another industry that has been having its troubles—the industry that clothes the American woman—will test over the next week or so its belief that the worst is over.

Buyers are arriving here for the fall dress openings. Garment makers have been saying they expect the ordering for fall to be notably heavier this time. They hope they aren't just whistling in the dark.

The garment makers figure their industry may be in the same position as the shoe industry. Shoe makers showed their fall lines a few weeks back, picked up handfuls of orders, and put their factories back into full, or nearly full, production again. Their long, private depression was over.

If the dress buyers follow the example of the shoe buyers, the garment district will be humming in the coming weeks. Early arrivals of buyers top the number of last year, and some 10,000 are expected by next week.

Prices are lower this year, since the dress makers have been getting lower-priced fabrics.

The hopeful garment makers base their optimism on much the same things as brought about the revival of shoe business. Lower prices to tempt consumers, high income levels, reduced inventories at the stores.

The textile textile industry has been having a rocky time of it for months. Apparel wool consumption dropped 25 per cent and cotton consumption fell 15 per cent below year ago levels.

"Hopeful reports come from the textile trade that business may be on the mend," the Northern Trust Co. of Chicago notes in its June business comment. And it adds these words of encouragement for the merchant:

"Vigorous merchandising and more liberal credit terms, together with a settlement of wage controversies, may stimulate retail sales at profitable prices for, after all, consumer desires are insatiable in the aggregate and are but altered, in the short run at least, by high employment and incomes."

The steady increase in the population also adds new customers all the time.

50 Changes Proposed By Presbyterians

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 8.—The 92nd General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., began discussion today on more than 50 proposed changes in church order and administration.

It was the first full-day business session of the assembly, attended by 428 commissioners representing some 725,000 church members in 18 Southern states and the District of Columbia.

The commissioners from 83 presbyteries, or church districts, elected as moderator Thursday night Dr. W. Alexander, minister of the First Presbyterian Church at Shreveport, La. He was named on the second ballot over the Rev. J. J. Murray, Lexington, Va.

Dr. Alexander has served as moderator of two synods—Alabama in 1941 and Louisiana in 1949. He was replaced as chairman of the Standing Committee on World Missions for the 1952 assembly by Dr. James I. McCord, dean of the Austin, Tex., Theological Seminary.

At Thursday night's opening session Dr. Wallace Alston, president of Agnes Scott College in Decatur, Ga., urged free time for religious study in public schools—a subject long the center of public controversy.

Dr. Alston told the assembly: "Through co-operative agreements with the state, means may be devised to provide week-day religious training for boys and girls in our public schools; in private institutions at the secondary level where Christian teaching is integral to the curriculum; on state university campuses where programs must be aggressive and effective; in Christian colleges to maintain a high academic standard."

HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—En garde. We are now going to have a few parry and thrusts with Jean Hertzog, who teaches the movie stars how to slice up villains with sword and sabre.

Jean is a handsome Belgian with a Charles Boyer nose and a few locks of gray in his black hair. He is a dashing fellow with the sword and dashing with words. One of the best swordsmen among the film stars.

His selections: Stewart Granger, Errol Flynn, Cornel Wilde, Basil Rathbone, Robert Taylor, Mel Ferrer and Tony Curtis. Among the movie stars named Jean Simmons and Jane Allison as naturals with fencing technique.

Jean has trained many of these stars and outlined them in fancy dueling scenes that appear in swashbuckling movies. He admitted that movie duels are far from genuine fencing methods.

"In the first place, an actual duel would be too fast for the camera," he explained. "You wouldn't be able to see the blades in action. We slow down the movements and sometimes even speed up the camera so that the action will be recorded."

Also, for dramatic purposes, we have the duels make movie moments that wouldn't be seen in a fencing match. We have to cover a lot of ground and make the duel interesting and entertaining. It is laid out like a dance number."

Jean accomplishes wonders, considering what he is up against. In a couple of months, he has to make expert fencers out of actors, most of whom have no previous experience. The usual period of training is two or three years.

"I was once a very good fencer," he added. "They have a tremendous task. They not only have to look like experts and make all the fencing moves as the second fencer, but they also have to remember their lines and stay in the proper positions while they move around the set."

The fencing master has had only two mishaps during his five years in the studios. Both involved Stewart Granger. The actor nicked Jean during a practice session. Then recently the pair was engaged in a duel for "Prisoner of Zenda."

"We had a clasp where I struck the point at his face and he turned his head quickly," Jean recalled. "We did the shot several times and I was getting nervous. An actor's face, a sharp point. It is no fun. But Granger wanted me to aim right at him and make it realistic."

"During one take, he didn't duck fast enough and the blade struck his cheek. It was lucky that I was an experienced fencer, because I could pull back the blade as soon as I saw I was hitting him. I thought I was in real trouble, but Granger was very nice about it."

A member of the Don Olimpio fencers team from Belgium, Jean came to Hollywood to work as a fencing instructor at USC and the Los Angeles Athletic Club. His abilities came to the attention of the studios, and he has staged fencing scenes for such films as "The Three Musketeers" and "Searoamouche."

CASHIER HELD UP
MIAMI (AP)—Two robbers held up a life insurance company cashier Thursday as he was on his way to the bank and fled with $2,538 in cash and $1,991 in checks.

William A. Black, cashier of the Gulf Life Insurance Co., said the men accosted him less than a block from his office, grabbed a bag containing the money and fled in an automobile.

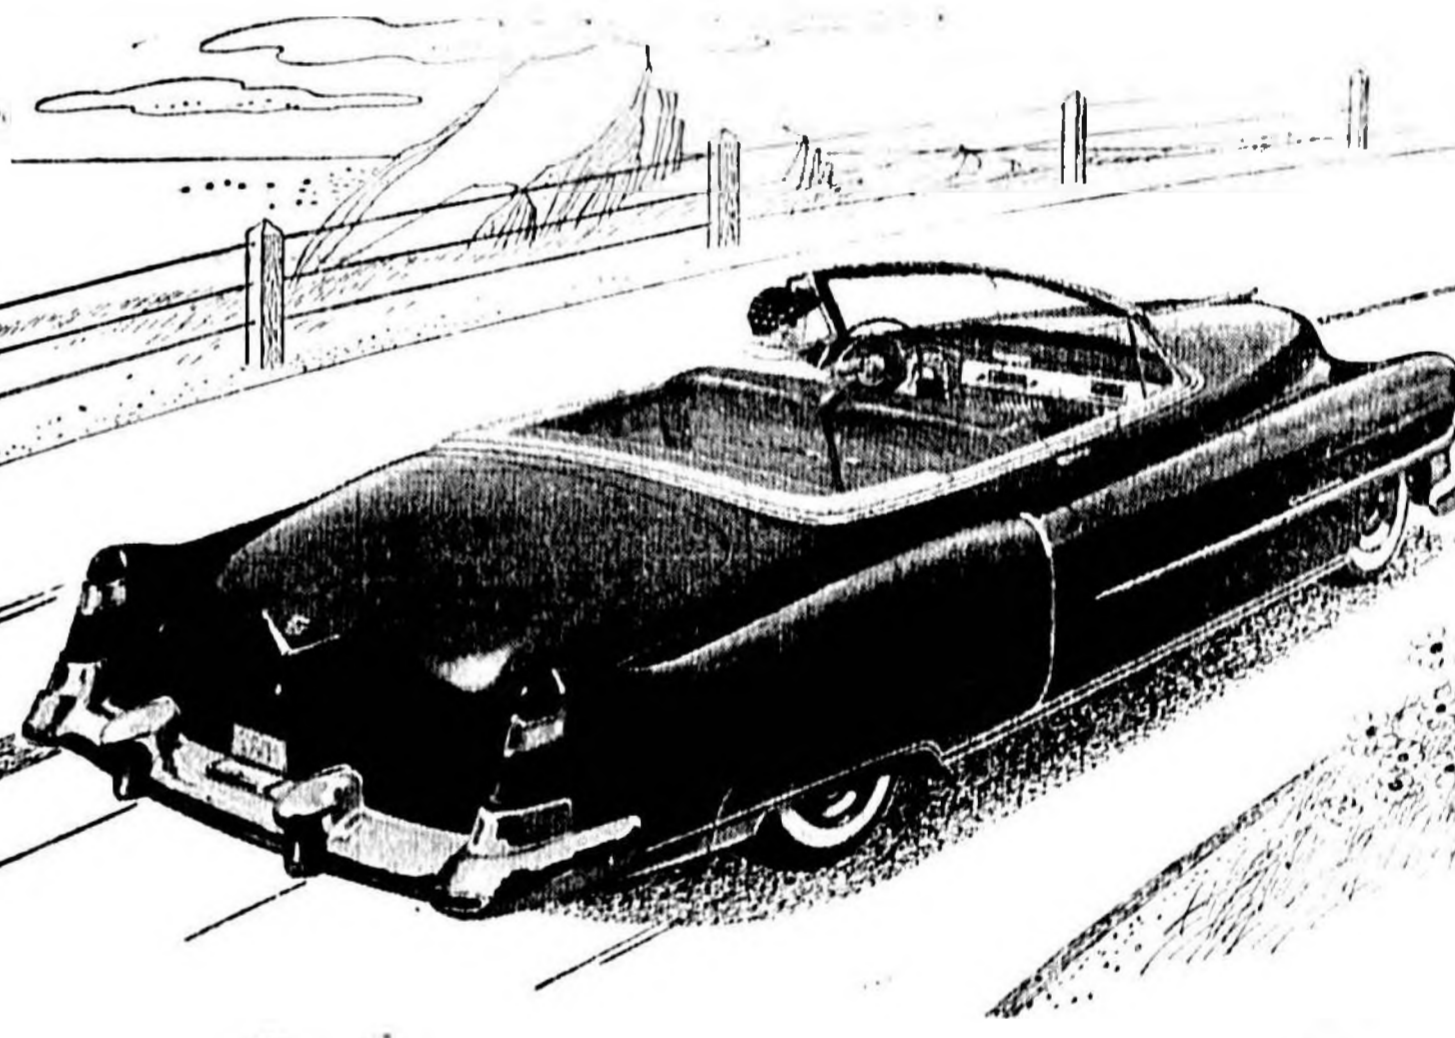

WEARING WHITE CAPS AND GOWNS, the Dionne quintuplets pose with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne, in their home in Callander, Ont. The 10-year-old girls—Marie, Cecile, Annette, Emilie, and Yvonne—had just graduated from Villa Notre Dame, a private convent school. When they reach 21, the girls will come into a fortune of more than one million dollars. However, under the marriage act of Ontario, they can now marry without parental consent.

Somebody's Going to be Surprised!

Well, it's Junetime—and the top is down—and his heart is filled with memories . . . and where do you think he's going?

He's going halfway up the hill, to a spot where a lone strays into the wildwood and he can glimpse the top of a fieldstone chimney above the trees. That's his lane—and he's going home!

It has been a well guarded secret. Just two people have known about it all these months—himself and his Cadillac dealer.

To make doubly sure, he has hinted at everything under the sun as a fitting tribute to this wedding anniversary—except a Cadillac!

Well, it won't be long now. He's getting closer and closer. And now the stone in the driveway crunch under the wheels . . . he gives the familiar three "toots" on the horn . . . and then she sees him, with his cap in his hand, bowing and pointing to the driver's seat.

Surprised? Never so much in all her life. And never more thrilled—for it's the "car of cars" for the "day of days!"

And is he happy!

Maybe it has taken him ten years—or fifteen—or even twenty . . . to make his dream come true.

But during all this time he never wavered in what he wanted. He wanted to make one anniversary mean something special above all the rest . . . by the gift of a Cadillac.

Perhaps, as you read this, you are looking forward to some very special anniversary of your own.

If you are—and you're planning on giving the gift of gifts—then you'd better come in and see us soon.

We've kept many and many a secret, for many and many a man—so you may trust us not to tell!

We'd be delighted to see you . . . at any time you find convenient.

As if to prove he just doesn't care what he does, President Truman is going to spend the weekend with J. Howard McGrath, ousted attorney general, at the latter's Rhode Island home. Oh, well, birds of a feather flock together.

The Miami City Commission has voted to hire a brigadier general for its city manager at a salary of $25,000 a year. Considering the difficulties in which he will find himself involved if he accepts the job, he is probably being underpaid.

From Senator Russell comes a letter to Bill Kirk thanking him and others for the work done in Seminole County toward rolling up the tremendous victory he gained on May 27. "I am receiving support out of many delegations from Eastern and Western states," he adds. "This momentum is increasing every day and I am confident that we shall win a victory at the Democratic National Convention in July and triumph over the Republicans in November."

Friends and supporters of General Eisenhower who expected him to go along with President Truman on Civil Rights will be disappointed with the former's views on this subject, and now that his freedom of speech has been restored by his retirement from the Army we can expect him to lose more and more supporters as he speaks more and more freely on various controversial issues. However, in the South his stock went up considerably when he said that when it comes to Civil Rights he believes in States Rights.

We have a nice letter from Rep. Herlong who says newspaper accounts of the recent House action in trying to obtain certain deductions in Congressmen's income tax returns were erroneous. These deductions are only those to which everyone else is entitled, he explains. However, the people are so touchy on the subject of taxation and so sore about all the taxes which have been levied upon them that they are pretty apt to go off half-cocked almost any time whenever the subject or taxation or deductions is mentioned.

Throughout his life Eddie Rickenschlager has made a habit of being successful. He was a champion driver of racing cars, he became America's outstanding World War I flying ace, and when he came home from the war he became a leading industrialist in the field of aviation. Therefore these words of his have particular significance: "More and more we are moving in the direction of production for a community storehouse upon which all of us are becoming dependent for our own sustenance and for the operation of our various enterprises."

The death of John Dewey at the age of 92 takes from the American scene the man called the father of progressive education. But Dewey was more than an educator. He was a writer and a philosopher whose work won worldwide recognition. His vigorous support of liberal causes and of modern educational methods made him one of the most controversial figures of his time. Dewey never believed in a state which he believed would be a hindrance to the progress of the human race.

Candidate Rayburn

Another presidential candidate is in prospect, though he has not yet declared himself. This is Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House from 1941 to 1947, and from 1949 to the present day, a longer period than that of any previous occupant of the post. His friends in Texas are pushing him for the nomination, arguing that as a Texan, he will have an appeal to the South, and as one largely responsible for getting President Truman's legislation through the House, he will be acceptable to the North. His stand on the contentious civil rights legislation is not stated.

So far the Rayburn supporters' chief hope is that the convention will turn to him in case of a deadlock. This happened in the case of the only other Speaker to become president, James K. Polk in 1844. Polk had been Speaker, but left Congress to become governor of Tennessee. In the 1844 convention a majority was polled by ex-President Martin Van Buren. As he opposed the annexation of Texas, the advocates of this policy got the convention to adopt a two-thirds rule for making nominations. This doomed Van Buren, and after some fruitless balloting, the convention turned to Polk.

In Polk's day the Speakership was only moderately esteemed. Nowadays no Speaker would dream of giving up the post for a governorship. For the last 60 years the position has become one of the most important in Washington. It is natural for a long-time holder like Rayburn to be talked of for higher office.

Workers And Freedom

Should President Truman invoke the Taft-Hartley Act to halt the steel strike it would be best grant a temporary respite in the dispute. Workers would remain on their jobs and negotiations would continue for about 60 days. If no agreement were reached a general vote among the steel workers would be taken to determine whether the strike should be called again.

As an alternative several members of Congress have suggested legislation which would grant the President emergency powers to seize vital industries faced with strikes. This emergency power would be subject to the veto of Congress. Sentiment in Congress on the steel seizure ran so high that it is not likely that he would be given authority to re-seize the mills. Such legislation might find a long and rough path through both houses of Congress and at best would become law too late to aid the present situation.

Invoking the Taft-Hartley Act or using government power to stop the steel strike or any other strike is slightly repugnant to the majority of Americans. Most people would rather see strikes settled by management and labor around a bargaining table. But unless both sides demonstrate real willingness to co-operate in such negotiations some interference from the government may become necessary.

If management or labor both deliberately look to the government to solve their problems, or seek the artificial method of legislation for settlement, they will be letting some of the most important freedoms slip from their hands.

Spare The Rod

Whipping, abolished as a punishment in Great Britain, will be restored if prison officials have their way. They say that the jails are crowded, and would like to substitute flogging for a further stay in prison.

To many this will seem a step backward. Whipping, once common in schools, families and the armed forces, has steadily receded in use, the objections being that it was brutalizing and not the most effective form of punishment. Though there may still be many old-fashioned parents, most reserve spanking for great emergencies, and emphatically do not believe the old adage, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." Delaware's use of the whipping-post for the astonishing number of 24 crimes has not been copied by other states, though in Maryland the lash is authorized and sometimes used for wifebeaters.

It will be strange if the British reverse the definite trend toward the gradual elimination of corporal punishment.

Army Is Concerned Over Steel Loss In Tank Program

By ELTON C. FAY
 AP Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON — The Army is expressing concern over the impact of the steel strike on its tank production program.

During the last two months, a spokesman said today in answer to questions, the "production picture has improved greatly."

But he said, the steel strike "will have an adverse effect on tank production, an effect which will become progressively worse the longer the strike lasts."

Tank building represents one of the military's major needs for steel. To make one of the new T-41 light tanks which weighs 23 tons, together with spare parts, a total of 25,000 pounds of steel (34 2.5 tanks) must be on hand a medium tank of about 48 tons needs 118,000 pounds.

The Army declined to disclose the amount of light, medium and heavy tanks for the current production program.

However, in recent testimony before a congressional committee, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, remarked that if Congress went through with a planned cut in the military budget for the next fiscal year starting July 1 the Army would have to "eliminate over 3,000 medium tanks" from its program. He said that would mean "we could build only 300 tanks for our Army during the entire fiscal year."

Carrying his estimate beyond that point, Collins asserted this in turn would mean that no spare modern tanks could be supplied to any overseas troops, including those in combat in Korea, and that there would be almost an 80 per cent shortage in requirements for newly developed tanks for Army forces in the United States.

Thus, the steel strike confronts the tank program with a third major setback since the Army started its production after the end of the Korean War.

His first difficulty came when the original production schedule for the T-41 tanks was set. It was estimated that it would take 18 months to build the first 3,000 tanks. The program was then accelerated to 12 months, and now it is being pushed back to 18 months.

Poke Is Taken At Warren Appointee By Citrus Group

TAMPA — Leaders of the Florida Citrus Exchange are getting mixed up in politics, Thursday took a verbal poke at Gov. Warren's appointment of C. V. Griffin to the Florida Citrus Commission.

J. B. Prevatt, president of the exchange, said Griffin is "dictating Gov. Warren's citrus policies."

A. V. Baumgartner, who is general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual, commented that "the co-operative movement is getting hemmed in politically."

All this came out at Thursday's annual meeting of the Exchange. C. C. Commander, retired general manager of the Exchange, complained that the Citrus Commission membership is "not even friendly toward co-operatives."

Commander, who speaks his views on citrus with a sharp tongue, said the current state administration is giving no consideration to the Exchange, but he quickly added "a good governor is coming."

Griffin was named to the commission Saturday to succeed Nash Leggett, Tavares. Leggett has said Griffin admitted seeking his (Leggett's) place on the commission. And Leggett said he had sought reappointment.

Gov. Warren and Griffin split last year when the Howey-in-the-Hills citrus man announced he was a special investigator for the governor's office. Warren denied this and a bitter feud developed. However, in recent months the bitterness between the two faded away.

The Exchange is a marketing organization which sells roughly one-fourth of the state's fresh fruit crop.

Decrying "centralized government," Eisenhower called for a searching overhaul of federal operations.

"You can't just go along and produce efficiency in something that didn't need to be done at all," he declared.

Taft, in a Cincinnati radio broadcast (MBS) Thursday night, said he believes his chances have improved since Eisenhower's debut speech Wednesday. The senator did not elaborate.

Eisenhower backers, like Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, were jubilant over the Abilene appearance. Carlson said they caused "national sentiment to shift toward Ike — some delegates who came here as Taft men are now for Eisenhower."

But a Taft rooster, Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska differed: "Instead of calling him General Eisenhower we should call him general Eisenhower."

Eisenhower's view that fair employment practices was a state, not a federal, matter brought approval from two Southern Democrats in Congress, Reps. Frank Smith and William Colmer, both of Mississippi.

But the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People wired Eisenhower: "The failure of 37 of the states to take any affirmative action to assure equality of job opportunity points to the urgency of the need for federal action — we urge you to reconsider."

Fair employment practices — FEPC to outlaw job discrimination against Negroes or other minorities — split the Democrats in 1948. Adoption of an FEPC reform plank cost President Truman 39 Southern electoral votes.

Eisenhower flies today to New York where he has a news conference on tap Saturday. After a week's stay he plans to go to Denver until the July 7 GOP convention picks its presidential nominee.

In South Dakota, meanwhile, an official canvass Saturday will decide whether Eisenhower or Taft won the state's Republican presidential pick its presidential nominee.

The District of Columbia's six GOP delegates, chosen Thursday night, are uncommitted but believed favorable to Taft.

Kefauver and Taft top the Associated Press tabulation of delegate strength. This tally, based on known and conceded alignments, gives:

Republican — Taft 420, Eisenhower 387, California Gov. Earl Warren 76. Nomination requires 601.

Democrat — Kefauver 244, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia 85, Mutual Security Administrator W. Averell Harriman 85. Nomination needs 312.

INDIANAPOLIS — Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said today he is willing to compromise "on a fair basis" contested delegations to the Republican National Convention.

Taft, here to meet with delegates to be chosen for Indiana in meetings tonight and Saturday, said a news conference he would hold to avoid a fight before the Credentials Committee of the Chicago convention if compromises could be reached.

Several contests are in prospect, including those involving Texas and California. Louisiana's 14, Mississippi's five and Georgia's 17 are also in prospect.

Taft was asked specifically about the possibility of a contest with Gov. Warren. He said he would not discuss the matter until he had had a chance to talk with the other delegates.

Potato Deal

Eastern store chain said:

"A lot of speculators are going to get caught with high priced spuds, and when the dumping begins, these abnormal prices will soon become history. Three more weeks should see plenty of potatoes in most stores."

Price Director Ellis Arnall announced the revocation of the government's 8-month-old price ceiling on potatoes. He told a news conference it would be "interesting to watch what happens to potato prices, but refused to make any predictions."

Other officials said potatoes have been almost impossible to buy in retail stores in many areas. They guessed there would be a sharp price increase, probably dropping off late this month and in July, when the 1953 crop hits the market.

Arnall said the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) decided to remove the ceiling over potato prices because the Senate had voted to do so, effective July 1. Although the Senate vote would not become law unless concurred in by the House and approved by the President, Arnall said it would be impossible to administer potato ceilings while Congress threatened it out.

OPS put the ceiling on potato prices on Jan. 3, after a rise dating from September that almost doubled the price. Some growers said the price ceiling forced potatoes into the black market, creating a shortage and leading to higher prices.

Price officials said there would have been a shortage anyway, due to a 1951 crop about 25 per cent under that of previous years. The 1951 crop was the first produced after the government removed price props from potatoes.

An immediate state-wide alert was broadcast for the stolen car, said Capt. Gatchel. Truce Negotiators Refuse To Yield On Human Principles

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR
 MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — Allied truce negotiators said today the U. N. Command never will follow the path of "betrayal, force and bloodshed" by bowing to Red demands for blanket repatriation of some 170,000 Allied-held war prisoners.

The prisoner issue is blocking negotiations at Panmunjom for a Korean armistice.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U. N. delegate, said acceptance of the Communist proposal would "mean an abandonment of the principle of human rights."

"Neither now nor in the future do we intend to be a party to such a transaction," he declared.

North Korean Gen. of Army said Allied refusal to repatriate prisoners who do not want to go home is "devoid of any reason, any precedent and any legal basis."

He said the U. N. would not be "tolerated" by an opposing belligerent who stands on an equal footing with the opposing side.

Nam's long tirade included charges that Allied planes have bombed and killed prisoners in North Korea and that Red prisoners on Koje Island have been slaughtered.

Nam repeatedly charged Allied violation of the Geneva Convention, to which neither Red China nor North Korea subscribe.

His remarks brought a sharp retort from Harrison, who declared:

"You have cloaked your failure to observe international law with respect to prisoners of war by repeatedly asserting that you have observed the 'best spirit' of the Geneva Convention."

"It is in your self-proclaimed 'best spirit' that you have incorporated thousands of captured personnel into your armed forces?"

"Is it in accordance with this same 'best spirit' that you have callously denied access to your POW camps by an international benevolent society?"

"And how can you possibly distort the 'best spirit' of any convention into your vicious refusal to effect a mutual exchange of seriously sick and injured prisoners of war?"

"How can you answer these questions to our satisfaction who may place some credence in your 'best spirit' interpretation of the Geneva Convention?"

Old Pirate Ship, Jose Gaspar, Balks Against Removal

TAMPA — Just like a rebellious old racehorse being dragged away to the boneyard, Tampa's famous old pirate ship is balking stubbornly at being led away to her final beaching site.

The old 3-masted schooner Jose Gaspar is just dead set against being put in the Hillsborough River.

Maybe she has a right to feel that way, for in her day she was a heroine to millions of spectators as she proudly sailed up the river each Gasparilla Day carrying a band of swashbuckling pirates.

Landsmen inched her through the last of seven river bridges with a hand winch as she refused to a tree trunk but only after a series of balks.

In clearing six of the bridges the reluctant old schooner apparently dragged her feet and tugged at the landscape at every change. At one bridge she snagged a lofty overhead power line. At another her foremast caught and snapped off.

Now the final bridge two weeks ago the old ship jammed herself into the crew and was stuck for half a Sunday while hundreds of horns in blocked cars tooted protest and defiance.

The bridge tender swore she was jinxed. While she was being given a final yank through the bridge two motorists in succession smashed through a warning gate. A third car halted and a fourth rammed into it.

Now the old veteran of the Gasparilla carnivals is being eased into a final resting spot where she will be converted into a waterfront restaurant.

The Gasparilla Pirate Krewes sold the vessel when she became unseaworthy. Construction of a new Jose Gaspar is being planned for the annual carnival and invasion next February.

Members of the Glee Club have also appeared at numerous performances, such as Pioneer Night at Lake Mary, at churches, civic clubs and assemblies. The "Triple Trio" was sung at the Inauguration and commencement programs at the high school, and at the State Convention of Chiropodists at Orlando.

"This has been a year of outstanding performance by the Glee Club," said Miss Whittle, "and it took a lot of effort by the members. She predicted that next year will be another banner year for the organization, as the Freshman Glee Club has shown plenty of talent and material."

Marciano Or Matthews Appear As Next Opponents For Jersey Joe

By MURRAY ROSE
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A million dollar shot with either undefeated Rocky Marciano or Harry (Kid) Matthews appeared to be the next move ahead for fabulous Jersey Joe Walcott today as he celebrated his second straight victory over Ezzard Charles.

Walcott, 38-year-old Cinderella man of the ring but he came on with a mild rally in the last round of a tame fight to win by the narrowest of margins in a mammoth Municipal Stadium Thursday night.

Old Jersey, making the first defense of the crown he knocked from Charles' brow last July, thought he won by a wide margin. He was happy about the whole thing, dull though it was.

"This ought to show them that I didn't win the first time by a lucky punch," said Walcott. "I hope this settles the matter."

While the once poverty-stricken Negro accepted congratulations from a mob of well wishers, Manager Felix Bozichich began casting lines to net a golden catch for his amazing old timer.

Yankees Collect Double Indemnity On Johnny Sain

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees are collecting "double indemnity" on Johnny Sain, 32-year-old tobacco-chewing righthander from Arkansas.

Sain was obtained for $50,000 from the Boston Braves last year as pennant insurance. Old Johnny paid off, winning two games for the world champions at opportune moments.

But the veteran curve ball artist didn't figure highly in Yankee plans this year. Many thought that Sain would draw his release before the season started, but big John has fooled them all.

He was pressed into action early when two members of the Big Three, Ed Lopat and Vic Raschi, bogged down because of ailments. He has won five games, the same number he posted for the Braves in 18 decisions prior to his sale to the Yanks.

The old war horse, who broke into the majors with the Braves in 1942 under his current boss, Casey Stengel, pitched and helped the Yanks to a 6-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox Thursday.

Sain's margin of victory would have been greater but he had no one to blame but himself for the close call. The new Yankee ace committed two errors in the second inning that led to three unearned Chicago runs.

The Yanks came right back with three in their half to tie the score and won out in the fifth with three more. Sain, who won a game early in the week with a pinch-hit single, drove across the first two runs.

Hank Bauer tripped home the third. The victory was the Yankees' sixth straight over Chicago and it moved them to within 1 1/2 games of the front-running Cleveland Indians.

Rocket Speedway Will Hold "Miss Orlando" Feature

Stock car pilots will race for a special trophy to be presented by lovely Evelyn Patrick, Miss Orlando of 1952, at Orlando's Rocket Speedway on the Winter Garden road in the near card featuring the "Miss Orlando Handicap" beginning at 8:30 p.m. tonight.

Wild Bill Tindall, Sanford stock ace, is said to have an excellent chance to capture the feature race and the trophy. Tindall walked away with race honors at the track two weeks ago and his car is reported to be in "better shape than ever."

Central Florida Stock Jockies are expected to produce one of the largest fields of race cars yet seen at the Rocket Speedway as additional speed merchants are due to enter the race lists from Daytona Beach.

Only five weeks remain in the current point period and competition is becoming keener each race night as drivers vie for top spots in the run for cash and racing honors.

Stepping up of the pace was evident last Friday night when eight cars were involved in three crack ups in quick succession in the middle of the feature race.

The winner of the tonight's feature race will be presented "The Miss Orlando Trophy" donated by Tracy Plumbing and Pumps, Inc., and Richard Plumbing and Heating.

Track officials urged early arrival at tonight's contests for best seating and parking facilities. Point totals of the top ten drivers are: (1) Sanford 565, (2) Dawson 305, (3) Osteen 300, (4) Riddle and Joslin tied with 285, (5) Jakubec 280, (6) Michael and Tidd tied with 270, (7) Pullen 265, (8) Horton 260, (9) Shuebruk 255, (10) Orr 250.

The game is expected to start at 7:30 p.m. Fans should arrive at the stadium early to get good seats. The game will be a great one to watch.

Playing Managers Are Keeping F.I.L. Clubs In Running

By GENE FLOWDEN
Associated Press Staff Writer
Playing managers are doing their part to keep their teams in the thick of the Florida International League pennant fight.

Max Macon of Miami, Buddy Bates of Lakeland and Mike George of Havana all figured in Tuesday night's scoring when Miami shaded West Palm Beach, 4 to 2 in 13 innings; Miami Beach squeezed out a 1-0 decision over Fort Lauderdale and Tampa whipped St. Petersburg twice, 3-1 and 6-2.

Macon doubled in Miami's run as Gil Torres dovetailed out three hits to win his seventh game against Dick Murphy and Dick Baxter. George Greone gave up six.

Andy Eklund pitched a one-hitter at Fort Lauderdale, also in an hour and 25 minutes. He faced only 28 men and had a no-hitter going to the ninth when opposing Pitcher Rene Solla singled. The run came in the sixth when Jesse Levan doubled, moved along on a ground out and Jack Carro squeezed him in with a bunt.

Tampa made it seven in a row by taking the bargain bill from the Saints. In the first game, St. Petersburg got only five hits off Fred Montecosa, making his first start for the Saints, and Dick Baxter, who relieved in the seventh, Rogelio Martinez spaced six for his eighth win against four defeats.

Prison Strike Broken By State Troopers

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—State troopers broke up a sit-down strike of 300 Negro convicts at Louisiana's State Penitentiary today, firing three gas shells into their camp barracks and seizing 45 ringleaders.

Col. Francis Greverberg, state police superintendent, said troopers radioed him from the prison at Angola, about 70 miles northwest of here, the other convicts involved had surrendered and returned to their farm work.

Prison Superintendent D. D. Bazer radioed for state police help early today when the convicts, in Camp "1," refused to leave their barracks and made several demands for better living facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas have as their guest for a few days Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. F. E. Look of the station in Jacksonville.

Gen. Ridgway

(Continued From Page One) peace we have so lately won at so fearful a cost. "The alternative was slavery. We have aggressive intent toward none."

Ridgway referred to "the illimitable reservoirs of our own strength" and declared: "If these historic evidences of strength should be mistaken by the lords of Communism as indications of weakness, be construed as signs of a declining civilization that places peace before freedom, comfort before sacrifice, self before common good, that error would bring dreadful suffering to us, but it would bring destruction to them and their power."

Let no one underestimate our resolve to live as free men, in our own territories, engaged in our own peaceful pursuits," he continued.

Above all let no one mistake our constant quest for peaceful solutions at the council table as evidence of fear."

The general also arranged to lay wreaths at other historical points along the invasion beaches during the day — at Milestone Zero, start of the "Liberty Highway," route of victory through France in 1918; military cemeteries where lie thousands of soldiers who fell on the beachhead.

DENTAL PRESIDENT

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Dr. Leslie B. Bell, West Palm Beach, was elected president of the East Coast District Dental Society today, succeeding Dr. J. Ernest Edwards, Coral Gables.

Dr. Jack H. Beckwith, Miami, was chosen president elect. Other officers named included: Dr. Albert D. Rosenthal, Miami, first vice president; Dr. William R. Edwards, Fort Lauderdale, second vice president; and Dr. E. Munroe Farber, Delray Beach, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Edwards told the meeting that dentists should keep abreast of dental progress in order to render the best possible service to the public.

Only in doing this, he said, can dentists meet the threat of socialization in the health profession.

Though outwardly at the moment this threat seems dormant, it assure you that it is only a temporary condition and the threat will be presented again and again in the years to come," he said.

PLANE CRASHES

WILMER, Ala. (AP)—A navy trainer plane crashed 10 miles northwest of here today. Whether there were any casualties was not determined immediately.

A Brooklyn Air Force Base plane flying over the scene reported the pilot was standing by the wreckage, apparently unhurt.

Brooklyn dispatched an ambulance to the scene. Wilmer is about 15 miles west of Mobile. The plane was based at Sandy Field, near Pensacola.

Justice Dept.

An employe of the accounting agency's Detroit office, Sprague said Comptroller General Lindsay Warren asked the Justice Department in September, 1934, to try to recover an alleged $25,000 overcharge from the Detroit firm on a government contract.

Sprague said that in April, 1931, he came to Washington on another case with George Peiser, an assistant U. S. attorney.

On April 5, the witness said, Peiser visited Baur at his Washington hotel, and later left a note in Sprague's hotel room saying Baur had telephoned Boyle and McGrath.

Sprague noted the note as saying "They both came to his (Baur's) suite."

He testified also that Peiser told him he was going to discuss Baur's case with McGrath the following morning.

Sprague said he turned the note over to the comptroller general and returned to Detroit.

The witness said a court trial cleared Baur of criminal charges in connection with the alleged overcharging.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Holmes Baldrige notified the General Accounting Office in June, 1931—two months after his Washington trip—that the government would not prosecute a civil suit for recovery of the money.

Sprague said Baldrige told him the reason was that "some of the witnesses are dead."

"Are any of them dead that you know of?" Sprague was asked.

"No, sir," he replied.

"Are any of them even ill?" "Not that I know of."

Sprague said the comptroller general wrote McGrath in August, 1931, urgently recommending a civil recovery action. He said the Justice Department has not replied to the letter.

Russian Envoy

His disclosure that he did not intend to return to his post, contradicted earlier Russian embassy statements that his trip was a vacation and that he planned to come back.

Panyushkin shrugged and said, "I wouldn't like to comment," when asked by reporters what his new assignment would be.

On leaving the State Department building, he told newsmen and television reporters: "I would like to express my really friendly feeling for the American people in connection with my departure."

The ambassador also said he was "very happy" about his departure — "of course."

Panyushkin, who has frequently denounced American foreign policy, declined to say anything generally about Russian-American relations.

Russell Gives His Views On U.S. Issues

Senator Agrees With HST Foreign Policy; Republican Group Meets In Chicago

By JACK BELL
CHICAGO (AP)—Supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower challenged today a move by Sen. Robert A. Taft to name Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Republican national convention keynote speaker.

J. Russell Sprague, New York national committeeman, told this reporter the Eisenhower forces are opposed to selection of MacArthur because he has publicly supported Taft in the pre-convention campaign.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia said today he thinks he is the only candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination who is sure he could beat either Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Sen. Robert A. Taft for the Presidency.

Russell presented his views as a Presidential aspirant in the weekly magazine U. S. News and World Report. He said, in part:

"Fair Employment Practices Commission with compulsory powers would endanger constitutional liberties; Russell favors voluntary EPC.

He agrees with the broad outline of the Truman Administration foreign policy, but would ask U. S. allies to carry more of the expenses of combating Communism.

Russell would balance the budget, unless the international situation worsens, by calendar 1954, at about the present rate of federal spending, 64 or 65 billion dollars a year.

He thinks the Supreme Court rightly ruled against President Truman's claim of inherent constitutional powers to seize the steel industry.

The campaign issues will be how to avoid World War Three; government cleanup; and concern over inflation and the public works program.

He favors setting up labor courts to handle union-management disputes.

Meanwhile G. O. P. convention arrangements committee opened a two-day session in Chicago, with strong support reported for Douglas MacArthur as convention keynote.

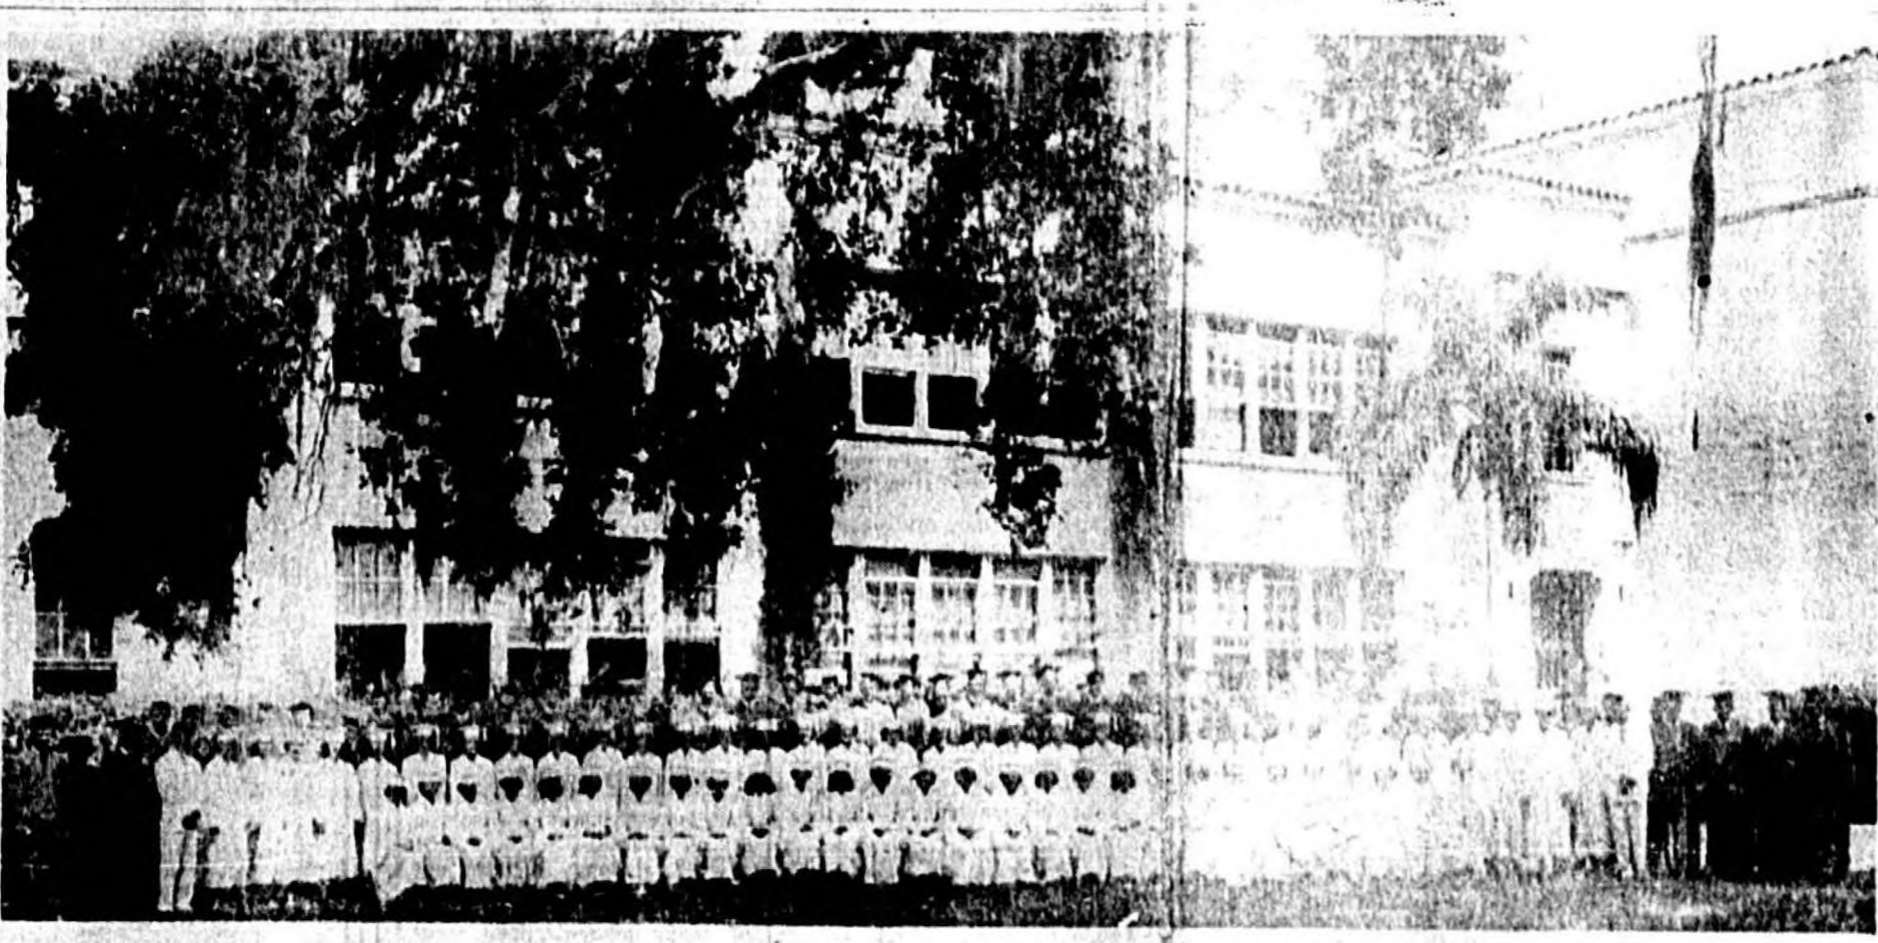

With only four weeks left, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Douglas MacArthur are the leading candidates.

Four teenagers were picked up in a stolen auto late at the night in a drive-in theater last Friday night when the mother of one of the youths reported her car had been stolen.

Arthur Earl Hickey, 61, of Matfield, was arrested last Friday night after a minor hit-and-run accident on South 427 one mile south of Altamonte Springs.

While driving north, Hickey sideswiped a car driven by E. E. Young, 63, of Orlando. Walter Young, 53, of Winter Park, who was following Young, saw the accident and turned around and chased Hickey down before calling the police.

113 Graduate At Sanford Junior High Program

Lake Mary Minister Asks Students To Justify Schooling

The Reverend Lucian Scott, in the principal address at the Sanford Junior High School commencement exercises this morning, urged the graduating class "to prove that the investment which the state and nation has made in your education has not been wasted."

Dr. Scott, minister of the Lake Mary Community Church, made four suggestions to the members of the graduating class concerning their deportment in the "large" life into which they are moving.

He urged first that they be themselves, that they "stand on your own personalities. Don't try to be some other boy or girl. The world admires a person that's an individual."

"Don't try to put things over on other people," he argued as his second point. "Be honest as you go into your school work. If you have advocated the living of a God-centered life, and finally urged that the class recognize, 'the business of life is not to get, but the business of life is to share. The only thing that you save is your own personality.'"

Seminole High School Graduation Exercises Will Be Held Tonight

The importance to America of the youth graduating from its schools was stressed last night by the Rev. J. R. Kauter, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, in a baccalaureate sermon to the 128 graduates of Seminole High School last night.

Three other ministers participated also in the program at the high school auditorium, the Rev. A. G. McInnis of the First Presbyterian Church who pronounced the invocation; the Rev. H. L. Zimmerman of Holy Cross Episcopal Church who read the scriptures; and the Rev. W. P. Peterson, Jr. of the First Baptist Church who gave the benediction.

The High School Band, under direction of Ernest Cowley, played the professional, "Pomp and Circumstance" and the recessional "March from Aida" while the class in caps and gowns, entered and left the auditorium.

The Rev. Kauter based his sermon on the need of a "spiritual anchor" in life to "hold onto" when the storms of life blow. He pointed out that material gain, popularity, and the desire to be successful are not secure enough "anchors for the soul," but urged the graduates to base their charge on "faith as a divinely appointed way of life."

America, he told the graduates, would soon die if it were not for the youth leaving our schools. "America will either be better or worse because of your influence."

Serving as marshalls for the class were Roy Wilkins and Gerald Behrens. Class sponsors are Miss Rebecca Stevens, Mrs. W. B. Fort, Mrs. Boyd Coleman and Stewart Gatchel.

President Truman Sees Early End To Steel Controversy

Supreme Court To Give Ruling On Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today agreed to hear whether segregation of white and Negro children in elementary public schools should be outlawed.

The court is expected to hear two appeals by Negro parents who claim segregation is a "stigmatizing badge of inferiority" which has a bad effect upon their children. They contend segregation there fore violates the constitutional guarantee of equal protection of the law.

The appeal, contending the validity of segregation only in school in Topeka, Kan. and Clarendon County, S. C. However, the outcome of the case will affect public school segregation generally.

The high tribunal will hear arguments on both appeals during the new term which begins Oct. 5 and may hand down a decision late this year or early in 1954.
