Deputy Welcomes Returning GI Hero

Is this fair? A young man arrives home after serving his country for two years overseas in the Armed Forces. He goes to his favorite beach swimming hole ("the bridge to nowhere" on the Wekiva River). He jumps off the bridge and swims as he had done dozens of times before.

After finishing the swim, dripping wet, he climbs into his car as Sheriff's Deputy W. E. Robbins appears on the scene and points to a sign on the bridge prohibiting diving (the sign was bent backwards and upside down).

He immediately arrests the youth and books him in Sanford, giving him a choice of posting a $100 bond, $15 of which must be paid immediately, or spending a day in jail, awaiting trial. Since the young man did not have the $15 he was forced to choose the latter.

At the trial, he was charged a $35 fine which he had to pay or spend eight days in jail.

Wouldn't it have been more reasonable and much more just to have informed the young veteran of the sign and issued a warning instead of leaving a bad impression of law and justice and ruining the youth's homecoming?

And they wonder why the youth do not have respect for the law enforcement.

Governor Here Tonight

By FRED VAN PELT
Governor Kirk is slated to dine in the late afternoon at Sanford Airport and will join a small group of local supporters in a houseboat cruise on Lake Monroe.

Party supporters who have paid $50 or more for their gala event tickets will be guests at a reception for Governor Kirk at 6:30 p.m. at the House of Steak. It is understood there has been a ticket sell-out for the gala, with the goal of $15,000 for the party war chest having been surpassed.

Mayor Carl Langford, of Orlando, also will be a guest at the VIP reception. Guests at the reception will be transported by limousine to Sanford Civic Center for a dinner.

The dinner at 8 p.m., also will be attended by party followers who paid $15 for tickets. There will be rocktails (at cost) for these guests.

The master of ceremonies, Mayor Langford, a Democrat, is expected to exchange quips with Governor Kirk, a Republican, before the Chief Executive launches into his address.

Earl (Duke) Crittenden, executive of Florida in 96 years.

Also at the speakers' table will be Mrs. Paula Hawkins, Maitland, Florida state national committeewoman; S. C. Sams, Beth Johnson, John Duckler and Kenneth Plante, of Orlando, chairman of the Florida State Republican executive committee, will discuss briefly plans for an all-out campaign to elect all Republicans to the State House of Representatives and to other state offices.

The woman was treated for cuts and bruises at Seminole Memorial Hospital and released. (Staff Photo)

On Seminole Blvd. Vacation County Facing The Public

By MARION BETHEA
Tomorrow is D-day at the meeting of Seminole county commissioners... not a re-incarnation of the Nevada invasion but possibly the invasion of the rights of the people in the issue of vacating and abandoning a portion of Seminole Boulevard.

The matter was deadlocked at last week's meeting with a 2-2 vote. With the absence of commissioner Robert Parker at the meeting, he now becomes the major dome in the possible resolution of the matter.

Parker, when contacted for a statement by The Sanford Herald this morning, felt that "the entire issue has been blown up all out of proportion" (presumably by the press). However, Parker continued that he has been deluged with telephone calls from constituents who do not favor the vacating and abandoning. Parker stated that he had not received a single call in favor of the petition.

Commissioners Dan Pelham and Edward Yarborough voted in favor of vacating and abandoning. Pelham voting in the affirmative after receiving a statement from County Engineer William Bush that an extensive muck bed exists in the area which would, in his opinion, make future road building impractical. Yarborough gave no reason for his vote.

Greg Drummond voted against the motion with the contention that the county would be surrendering "valuable assets." Drummond feels that construction of a road may be feasible in the future. Chairman John Alexander agreed with Drummond.

Attorney for the petitioners, William Hutchison, maintains that the only right being surrendered is the right to build a road which he feels is negotiable.

Thus are all the protagonists in the continuing drama, all of whom have voted their convictions... once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide... and tomorrow is Parker's turn.

Other business to be considered at the meeting by commissioners are a discussion on dumping violations and a railroad ordinance. County attorney Harold Johnson was requested to prepare the ordinance.

Zoo To Be Aired

Sanford City Commission meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday night has been postponed 24 hours so commissioners can attend the Lincoln Birthday dinner with Gov. Claude Kirk. Mayor Lee Moore said the regular session would be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

At that time representatives of SISTER, civic improvement group, are expected to attend the meeting regarding announced intention of city to change present municipal zoo operations to include native state animals only.

Commission at a work session a week ago indicated the preference for a Florida animals-only zoo to be kept at present city location.

SISTERs have opposed the zoo de-emphasis and, in turn, have sought to have the animal attraction enlarged and moved to another area somewhere within the city limits.

Commission asked City Manager W. E. Knowles to come up with plans and information on animals and amount of space required for the zoo before acting on a Florida animals-only zoo.

Other city agenda items include a presentation of Dr. Jess Dietz regarding the proposed second stage of city's sewage treatment plant.

John Krider, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce manager, is expected to be named to fill the last remaining opening on the Sanford Industrial Commission. Krider's name was recommended by the chamber executives.

A consideration of pre-filed legislation as outlined by the Florida Municipal League is also docketed for discussion by the commission.

Consideration of an occupational license schedule is also expected to be brought to the city board for discussion.

First readings of five new city ordinances regarding airport zoning regulations; rezoning from light industrial to commercial property in area north of Fulton Street between French and Mangrove Avenues; allow new car lots in commercial zones; set up a classification and fee for bank occupations licenses and annex five city lots at Sanford Avenue and 26th Street.

VW Dealer Hit By Burglars

By BILL SCOTT
Tape decks, tools and equipment and cash with a total expected to run into the thousands of dollars were removed last night from Baker's Volkswagen, 3219 S. Orlando Drive.

Seminole County investigators Tony Calangino, Clarence Smith and George Abay were probing the break-in that occurred sometime after 11:15 p.m. last night according to Deputy Calangino.

The investigator said William Baker, firm official, was working until after 11 p.m. and reported everything was alright when he left.

Entry was made through a northeast window, the deputy said. At least 20 tape decks, mechanics tools and other valuable equipment were taken. Calangino said.

The company safe was left standing open, but according to the deputy, $98 was removed from a cash drawer.

Two shot guns and a rifle with a total of $360 value were stolen from the Chulota home of Carol Jacobs, county records show.

The home was entered and guns taken sometime Saturday, according to the report.

In the meantime Sanford police have arrested a 16-year-old youth for at least two break-ins at Ted Williams Hardware Company, 25th Street and Magnolia Avenue.

Detectives Tom Deppen and Ralph Russell said the boy had been turned over the juvenile authorities after money and several hardware items, including $2.89 cash had been recovered.

Deppen said the youth had been sleeping in a dirt hole with a covering since his home was ordered to leave home by his mother.

Sanford police are investigating two incidents of rape which allegedly occurred during the weekend.

A 12-year-old girl told her mother she was raped by a man who took her to the store in his car.

Deppen said no arrest had yet been made pending the issuance of a warrant and a medical examination report.

A 15-year-old woman told police she was raped by a "young" male late Saturday night. The incident allegedly occurred in the vicinity of Elm and French Avenues.

The woman said the attack took place on the edge of the road. Deppen said an investigation into the report is continuing.

To Cover Oil Slick Damages Shipping Firm Posts Bond

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A $2.5 million letter of guarantee opened the legal gates of Tampa Bay Sunday and the Greek tanker that spilled 20,000 gallons of oil into the bay sailed toward a Texas drydock.

"We got a letter of guarantee underwritten by one of the largest marine underwriters in the world in the value of $2.5 million," said Gerald Mager, Gov. Claude Kirk's legal aide.

Atty. Gen. Earl Fritchell had filed a $2 million federal court suit against the ship's owners because of the spillage that killed birds and fish and blackened the shores around Tampa Bay.

"Apparently, with the letter of guarantee, they were satisfied," Mager said. "They were more than satisfied. The suit was for $2 million and the letter of guarantee was for $2.5 million."

D. R. Villareal, the Tampa lawyer representing the ship's owners, said "The release of the vessel from the arrest in that litigation was done in quite the usual way by obtaining the consent of the complaining party to the vessel's being released by a bond, to take the place of the vessel."

The ship's release was not announced prior to its departure. "It is not unusual for the court agreeing to departure of the Delian Apollo for Beaumont, Tex., to enter drydock."

The Coast Guard also had a hold on the ship, but Cmdr. Anthony Fugaro said the Coast Guard was satisfied the ship presented no further pollution threat and permitted it to depart.

Private School Aid Is Dim

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Legislature is unlikely to spend $11.2 million to help parents send children to church schools and besides it would be unconstitutional, two legislators say.

Sen. Yvie Pope, D-St. Augustine, hopes to prefile a bill next week to grant partial tuition payments to parents whose children attend parochial schools.

To provide $100 grants for all of Florida's 112,000 children who attend 392 private schools, the Florida Legislature would have to come up with $11.2 million.

"The new money available to education is going to be scarce in the coming session," says Rep. Ken Smith, D-Perry, chairman of the House Public School Education Committee.

"When you toss this request into the pot, I think the chances of the Legislature coming up with $11 million in new money are relatively small," he says.

But Rep. Ralph Turlington, D-Gainesville, chairs the House Appropriations Committee and he has a different view on helping parents school their children in non-public institutions.

"This probably would not be unconstitutional for some private schools, but where you're aiding a sectarian school it's clearly unconstitutional," Turlington says.

Turlington said the Florida Constitution prohibits the state from spending public funds to aid religious organizations.

"What I would suggest is a constitutional amendment and let the people vote on it," Turlington says.

Pope says he had anticipated the question of legality and hopes to avoid it by limiting the grant proposal to secular courses. He said at least one state with a tuition grant law has survived court challenge of the measure.

"In Pennsylvania they were allowed five-sixths of the scholarship, the theory being one-sixth of the time was spent in religion classes," he says.

Florida's private school enrollment has increased in recent months as parents pulled their children from public schools being desegregated.

Roman Catholic and Lutheran church-operated schools have forbidden enrollment of children trying to avoid integrated public classes, but other private schools have accepted them.

Privately operated schools have sprung up in Lee, Dade, Palm Beach and Broward counties as a result of court orders implemented, and parents in Gadsden County plan a school that may pick up 10 percent of the county's white children.

7 Candidates Seek Governorship

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Next fall's general election will be the first time in modern Florida history, match two gubernatorial candidates who won nomination only after active "censored" primaries.

Gov. Claude Kirk, seeking reelection, has serious challenges from two other Republicans for the GOP nomination. The general election opponent will come from among four Democrats seeking their party's endorsement.

Kirk is generally rated as the favorite because of his status as an incumbent, but trouble with his own party could trim his chance of returning to the capitol.

Jack Eckerd, 56, a Clearwater drug store millionaire, has the money to campaign effectively and public backing of strong Republicans such as Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla.

Another Kirk opponent is State Sen. L. A. "Slim" Bufalino, 40-year-old legislator from Palm Beach who supported Kirk until Ray Osborne was selected as lieutenant-governor — a post Bufalino reportedly had sought. He has a strong following in Palm Beach and Broward counties, a traditional stronghold for Republicans.

Among the Democrats, Atty. Gen. Earl Fritchell, 46, and State Sen. Senate President John Mathews, 46, of Jacksonville are likely to be the front-runners.

Dade County's metropolitan government holds the darkhorse spot and State Sen. Rubin Askew, 41, of Pensacola is fourth.

Mathews ran fourth in a six-way contest for the Democratic nomination four years ago, but has been building since that time. On the other hand, Fritchell ran strong against LeRoy Collins in a bitterly fought bid for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate in 1968, losing in the second primary by 3,000 votes out of some 820,000 cast.

Hill, 52, poses a threat because of the tremendous electorate in Dade County. Askew, 41, the youngest of the seven candidates, is in his first statewide race and likely will hold the "title man" role as a candidate.

Agnew And Chief Justice Criticize News Media

ATLANTA (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger criticized the news media in separate weekend appearances.

Agnew denounced the "drivel" of the liberal press and Burger was angered by a "disrespectful" television camera crew.

Agnew spoke at a $100-a-plate dinner Saturday night that raised $100,000 for the Georgia GOP. He said he does not intend to heed the call of the liberal news media... to lower "my voice."

Law-abiding Americans, Agnew said, "need a strong voice to penetrate the cacophony of pedantic drivel emanating from the best-published clowns of our society and from their fans in the Fourth Estate."

Burger's argument with the CBS President Frank Stanton to speech Saturday night to the American Bar Association (ABA) Convention.

Burger said Sunday he called CBS President Frank Stanton to complain about the conduct of the crew.

Governor Kirk's Gala Welcome Important

Editorial Comment

We are happy to have the opportunity to welcome the Governor of Florida to Sanford again!

In June it was the great good fortune of this city and county to have the vigorous, outspoken and vital Claude R. Kirk, Jr., here at the invitation of a group of business, industrial and professional leaders.

At that time it was establishing what it is hoped will become an annual "Governor's Appreciation Day" in Sanford-Seminole.

We are sure that it has been an eye-opener for both the governor and an opportunity to see the great potentials which await exploitation in the county and for the citizens who see the Kirk personality in action.

Today's visit is, however, something else again. It is a political event under the auspices of the Republican executive committee of Seminole County, where the GOP has grown in numbers and exhibited an impatient spirit to dominate.

February, 1970 is not, of course, June, 1968. Now the political fires are ready to break into open flames. Governor Kirk it should be noted is showing how much political "savvy" he has picked up during his first term.

Establishment of strong GOP organizations at the county level is essential. Such moves must have fiscal muscle. And this is what the "Kirk Gala" today is all about. The $50 cocktail party, $15 dinner and the $500 sail on Lake Monroe in company with the governor are the fees which will fill the coffers.

One item in the well-prepared program does, however, present a puzzle. This is the selection by the Republican executive committee of Democrat Mayor Carl Langford of Orlando as "Master of Ceremonies" at the dinner where Republican Governor Kirk will be the guest of honor.

Does it not seem strange that these fine political Republican leaders could not find an outstanding personality in all of Seminole County who could have accepted the honor and not have the obvious contradictions which this choice inevitably spotlights?

We are not at all unaware of the Langford long friendship with Governor Kirk nor the report, which the mayor has denied, that a change in party by the Orlandoan could result in a Kirk-Langford ticket in November.

We plead guilty to the charge that our long years of observing the political scene at many levels may make us a little too sensitive to political by-players, but this is a situation which could have more meanings than the one which is obviously intended.

Another aspect of the visit here of the Governor of Florida and the Mayor of Orlando is one which every citizen in Seminole County should applaud.

This is the opportunity of the head of the state government — not as a Republican — and the head of our large and expansive-minded neighbor city — not as a Democrat — to have a chance to learn what there is in Sanford-Seminole which needs support, and not competition, for the good of Central Florida.

Overshadowing both the political nature of today's events and the opportunity to better the understanding of leaders in the matter of our local affairs, is one history-making and precedent-making fact:

The Governor of the State of Florida has now visited this city and county twice within his first term of office.

This is not only noteworthy to those who are boosters of our region, but is a recognition of the growing importance which now must be given to the growing and expanding Sanford-Seminole by well-informed and well-motivated leaders.

Five Dollars Off

In many cities, fixing traffic tickets is as common as coughs caused by automotive exhausts. According to our records, however, Cleveland, Ohio, has become the first city to make fixed tickets official municipal policy.

It's not who you know or who your brother-in-law is. What determines whether your ticket can be fixed is your seat belt. If one is fastened around your waist, then you are entitled to a five dollar reduction in your traffic fine. The goal of this policy is to encourage motorists to wear seat belts and thus reduce their chances of serious injury. Traffic Judge Lloyd O. Brown, who instituted the new rule, explains it this way: "If a person takes time to wear a seat belt, it shows that he intends to drive safely. He should therefore be given consideration."

It will be interesting to see just how many of the drivers given traffic tickets in Cleveland will be wearing seat belts. If the plan makes more people safety conscious, then it would be worth trying elsewhere. — Macon (Ga.) News

The Pollution of a Promise

All Crossings

"For the record," said British Information Services, "1969 saw Britons walking across the polar ice-cap, running across the North American continent and sailing single-handed around the world nonstop."

Also for the record, 1969 saw a handful of Americans sail across the ocean of space to the moon, and the long, slow trek of American combat troops in Vietnam head back across the Pacific to America.

Now, if urban transportation officials can come up with a better way to get across town, maybe we'll be getting somewhere. — Atlanta (Ga.) Journal

Demos Watch Repubs Squirm

BY STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration succeeded admirably in mystifying the Senate with its wild verbal gyrations on school desegregation.

Mr. Richard Nixon, and support the administration position on this question. May I ask the question simply: Do we support the Scott amendment by a vote of 60-40?

Scott said Yes. Tower insisted "that the administration does not approve of the amendment as presently constituted."

As has happened more than once, the administration put its Senate partners in a bind, and as a by-product, exposed some barely-buried animosities among the brethren.

It was the last (perhaps its better to count it as the next) last pronouncement from up on high that kindled the fireworks.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, no slavish devotee of Nixon policies, huffed into the Senate chamber bringing with him a premeditated war of compromise proposal carrying an inspected and approved brand from the administration.

He offered it as a substitute to a Southern-sponsored amendment designed to expand school desegregation efforts to all 50 states rather than limiting them to below the Mason-Dixon line.

"This amendment, I am authorized to say, has the approval of the secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Mr. Finch," Scott announced.

"Therefore, I think quite justly, as well, that he feels it is the position of a just and fair administration."

Under normal circumstances, this would have sufficed. The party's Senate leader letting his troops know how the commander-in-chief felt.

But relations between the Nixon administration and Senate Republicans have not been overly normal so it was not surprising that not everyone took Scott on faith.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., promptly declared that the Southern-sponsored amendment represented "the belief and position" of the president, and Sen. John C. Tower, R-Tex., added that "the administration has not put its stamp of approval on the amendment as presently constituted."

Scott candidly conceded he got the letter to prove he was telling the truth.

And later, in the Senate chamber, Tower rose to say "I want to understand if you were questioning the Senator's (Scott) word."

That would have seemed to smooth over all difficulties and once more made the Republicans one big happy family.

Never happen. The administration-backed proposal was defeated by two votes, 48-48, and 22 Republicans out of 40 haltingly voted against it, including, of course, Tower.

Pollution Pest In Russia

BY DON GRAFF

The Soviet Union may be making some progress in its many-year plan to catch up with the United States, but not always, it seems, in desired areas.

Moscow has recently reported two problems with a familiar ring to American ears.

Pollution, for one. In their obsessive drive toward industrialization of the past few decades, the Soviets have been not only flustering imitating but also some of the appalling consequences of the earlier American experience.

Industrial waste pouring into the Volga is decimating the river's fish life—including the sturgeons that for centuries have yielded the prized Russian black caviar, now become a rare item in Soviet markets.

Other waterways are similarly strewn, so much so that

In man's unending search for knowledge it is not uncommon that he falls victim to the very secrets he has unlocked.

It is accepted as a melancholy but necessary part of progress.

It also is a melancholy fact that as one man seeks to prolong life, another using the same tools seeks a means to destroy it.

In Geneva, delegates to the expanded 25-nation disarmament conference have just covered for their ninth year of talks, high on their agenda is a proposed ban on germ warfare, a step already taken voluntarily by the United States.

Unpredictability Is Charming

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Life is a guessing game, and no one can say for sure what will happen next.

This aura of unpredictability gives the future a certain charm which, however, is sometimes accompanied with apprehension or downright fear.

Man now and then gets tired of the guessing game. That's one of the reasons he turns to the consolations of his past. He likes his yesterdays because he doesn't have to guess about them. He feels he knows them because he has weathered them—their pleasures and their perils—fairly intact. He feels reasonably sure they won't change very much.

You have been through quite a few yesterdays yourself if you can look back and remember

Oregon represents on a small scale the magnitude of the problem facing the nation in reversing the pollution of its air, water and landscape.

It is not the magnitude of the junk; it is the magnitude of our indifference.

In the interim before the biennial state legislature meets in 1971, a committee is studying proposals to ban no-return bottles in the state and to require a five-cent deposit on every beverage can and bottle sold in the U.S.

But a similar measure in the 1969 Oregon Legislature was defeated by the combined lobbies of bottle and can manufacturers and bottling companies, who would have the state rely solely on education and persuasion.

A slogan of the National Soft Drink Association is, "Hands alone can't litter." In 1969, Oregonians emptied 210 million bottles and 112 million cans of beer, 38 million bottles of liquor, 12 million bottles of wine and unknown millions of soft drink cans and

TV Networks Shaping New Programs

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Notes to watch television by:

The headliner: Ed Sullivan's March 1 CBS-TV hour will be a tribute to the music of the Beatles, with the performers including Duke Ellington, Peggy Lee, Dionne Warwick, Steve Lawrence, Eydie Gorme—and the Beatles... five of the six highest-rated prime-time specials of the season, between September and January, have been Bob Hope shows... Roger ("The Saint") Moore and Tony Curtis will star in a WTV ABC-TV series, "The Friendly Persuaders," as a couple of rich fellows who try to bring justice to those who have escaped it.

The Shows: ABC-TV's "Marcus Welby, M.D." was the top ranked program in the national DISCHARGES ratings for the week ending Feb. 8... CBS-TV's "Hawaii Five-O" stayed hot, finishing 10th... and NBC-TV's weekly March 2... The March 4

"Broken's World" came in respectably 21st, and at this point is expected to be back next season... NBC-TV's "Name of the Game" has been renewed for another season... But the same network's cancellations figure to include "I Dream of Jeannie," "My World and Welcome To It," "Then Came Bronson" and "Daniel Boone," as well as the already axed Debbie Reynolds show... "Dragnet" is also reported a probable cancellation.

Sports: Joe Frazier's knock-out victory over Jimmy Ellis for the world heavyweight title this week will be seen Saturday on ABC-TV's "Wide World of Sports"... ABC-TV has also signed a new three-year contract to continue its broadcasts of National Basketball Association games.

Preview: NBC-TV's "Today" series will originate from the Miami Beach area from the 10th... and NBC-TV's weekly March 2... The March 4

Old, Oversized Currency On Display

Oversized currency that circulated in the United States from the Civil War to beginning of the Great Depression is the subject of a special exhibit at Seminole Junior College. The exhibit, on loan from the Chase Manhattan Bank, includes the six types of currency issued in the United States from 1862 to 1929, when large-size bills were replaced with the present, small-size notes on display are "greenbacks," legal tender notes authorized in 1863. Among the legal tender issues on display is a $1 note with the portrait of Salmon P. Chase, Lincoln's Secretary of the Treasury, and a $5 note, Series 1863, with a picture of George Washington. The $1 note was the first of the series and the $5 note was the first of the series to be issued to date are silver certificates, a type of currency first authorized in 1876. Among the unusual silver certificates in the display are the $1 Series 1886, honoring Martha Washington, the only actual woman ever portrayed on an American currency, and $1 Series 1896, the so-called Educational Note. Considered one of the most artistic $1 notes, it features a portrait of the background of the national capital, a woman, history, teaching youth.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 43-year-old man who has dated many women, but I never married. I've been accused of being too "particular." Perhaps I was, but now the time has come when I would really like to settle down and marry.

Being a normal man, I spent years of dreaming about my "ideal wife"—one who would possess all the qualities men want in a wife: beauty, intelligence, charm, character, etc.

I recently met an old schoolmate. She is now a young widow. We seem very much "in tune" with each other, and she has all the qualifications I want in a wife, but one—beauty! And heaven forgive me, but in this department she falls—miserably!

I keep telling myself that beauty is only skin deep, that people grow old and lose their looks, that charm and character endure forever.

I know I don't admire and respect this woman, and even care for her deeply, but could I really "love" her? I tell myself that she can't help what she was born with—and it is childish of me to place so much importance on something so superficial as "looks." But would a marriage which offers everything else eventually overcome this little dream of having a beautiful wife? What is wrong with me?

"DREAMER!"

Oswald: "That's as easy one. Some time before his play to the first or the second trick, he can plan the entire campaign."

Jim: "Here is a good example of the advantage of early thinking. The contract is six spades. Dummy's ace of heart wins the first trick and he is up to South to decide between a diamond or club discard."

Dr. Crane Writes:

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE M-549: Kathryn Hotel produces an interesting little brochure for the National Women's Bowling Writers.

It is cleverly entitled "Know for News."

"Dr. Crane," she asked, "we'd like to reproduce a section from your newspaper booklet, 'How to Write Saleable Copy.'"

"We are a non-profit organization and try to encourage more women to furnish good publicity stories to their local newspapers' Sport Page."

Kathryn and her large group of women bowlers deserve a double salute.

For bowling is an excellent form of athletic recreation. And all cultured people ought to know the essential psychology of writing interesting copy.

"Content" is most important but "format" is also vital to good writing.

Under "Content" come some of the basic factors in what is called "Human Interest."

"The main secret of the letter is contained in these three words: 'Me-Sure-Now.'"

Combine that formula with the standard newspaper doctrine that "News" is not the hum-drum or ordinary facts of life, but does not make ironing any easier, but a pretty checked plaid or striped material does something to break the monotony of ironing and really looks nice when the ironing board cover has a white! I save the skirts of all our women dresses for sale. They have already been washed enough to know whether or not they will fade and how long an iron they will take. This does not make ironing any easier, but a pretty checked plaid or striped material does something to break the monotony of ironing and really looks nice when the ironing board cover has a white!

"If a dog bites a man," runs the journalistic motto, "it's news; if a man bites a dog, that's a story!"

"Tut, if a stream of waves beat their husbands' bowlers, that would likely be newsworthy."

"If a husband agreed to wash the dishes for a week, that's a big bowled over 150, that might also merit a local story."

Numerous similar "human interest" slants can be woven into brief articles that will

TUESDAY, FEB. 24, 1970
GENERAL TENDENCIES:
Until evening excellent aspects are in effect. Use your finest judgment to get along better with others. Let them know you want to be allied with them in the future. Do what you can to further joint activities. The evening, however, requires care and tact to avoid a difficult argument.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)
Ideal day to meet with associates to work out that new plan that can prove very profitable for all concerned. Socialability is good later in the day. Accept some invitation that is very worthwhile.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20)
The sure to do your work as precisely as you can since a backer is watching you and much benefit can come from this. Show the new ideas to your workers. Be happy tonight with loved one.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)
You are highly inspired now to gain your aims and can do so more readily by listening to the ideas and advice of others. Have fun later with your partner. Make new contacts also that are worthwhile.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)
Making better arrangements for the future. Follow your hunches about gaining more advancement, fame. Be clever with your talents you have.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21)
Talk over with parents how to revitalize your organization that will give an added impetus to your work.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)
To say those gadgets that are your work better and easier as well, and can save you much money in due course of time. Then get right to work. Stop wasting so much valuable time.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)
Some personal pleasures are easily yours now, so stop procrastinating and go after them. Take it easy tonight though. Your judgment is fine and can make an excellent impression on a biwig.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)
Your work heavily centered at whatever will give you a more secure foundation in your career, but control your temper in the evening. Avoid arguing with anyone. There is a chance to get an expert to back you.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)
Show others that you are appreciative of good loyal friends and help today. Return favors. You meet with success in business world during the day, but be on your guard in the evening. Home is your best bet then.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Business experts come forth with fine ideas for your advancement. As you begin to listen to what they have to say, Angle a bit to gain the favor of some prominent person. Be cheerful with others.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Decide what it is you want in personal life and then get advice from one whose experience has been different to yours. Work together toward aims. A letter from afar can bring just what you need to advance.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Prepare yourself for some activity that is important to you. Make the purchases that are necessary and handle all the behind-the-scenes matters, details. Confide in mate what it is you are doing.

"The Stars Impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you.

We're The Women:

There is constant pressure on those in the professions to keep up with advances in their particular fields. Little has been done to alert parents to be ready for changes in their field. Every dedicated parent knows about new vaccines for offspring and also keeps abreast of clothing fashions which the little girls night courses in modern math so they can help the kids with homework.

Most parents do not realize their main purpose in life is answering questions. Or that, as their children grow older, their questions become unanswerable. If a parent has more than two children, it is almost impossible to keep up with their varying interests and inevitably one falls back on tried-and-true dogmatism as, "Well, I'd give you an answer but I think the rest is burning." Or "I've got strong opinions on that, Chuck but it's up to you to find your own answers in this old world."

I can't exactly pinpoint the moment our first child stopped asking, "How does electricity run through the little wire to the refrigerator, daddy?" A parent cannot be expected to be fully informed on every subject. Parents in-the-know say there is no need to appear dimly witted. Apparently the best recourse is to have some stock questions to use in reply to questions you can't answer. The following list may be useful.

1) You want to know about missile talks? What I want to know is, where did you put my World Almanac?

2) Do I think 1969 brought a sense of culmination to pop music? What do you think about the Shell recording of orchestra excerpts from the Ring?

club has already raised $500 for the United Fund?"

Some fathers bristle and remark, "When I was your age I considered more important in the management of lands in the National Forest System—mostly up or sustained yield? What I want to ask is, where did you put my World Almanac?"

3) You want to know about the Soviet Union—for economic reasons—needs a disarmament agreement far more than the United States?"

Unfortunately, a mother's usual reaction to this kind of question is, "Pass the peas, please," or "Did I tell you our

Highlights

MONDAY, FEB. 23, 1970
7:30-8:30 P.M. CBS. GUNSMOKE (Color) The Marshall's debut. Newly O'Hair, figures prominently in this hour. He's out to convince blacksmith Ben Sommers (Cliff Omond) that the miss Melissa Murphy who answered his ad for a marriage partner is too pretty to be true. O'Hair's right; the girl's a con artist. But blacksmith Ben answers again proves that love is blind.

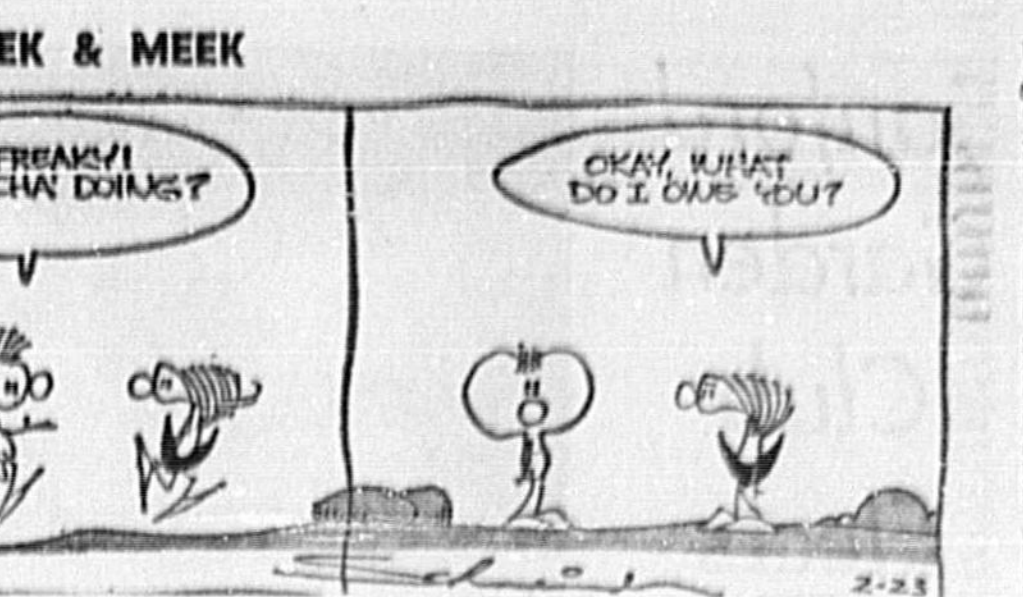

8:30-9:30 P.M. ABC. 17 TANKS A THIEF (Sing & Gun) Murder (Color) All five of the 5th Dimension join in the espionage dimension as a d Joseph Cotton, Tom. The catalyst of the case is a singer-guitarist, will played by group member Marilyn McCoo. After her death has been reported, the girl confesses to the murder. Her father asked her demise to shake the Russian secret police. The foreign agents had blackmailed her into adding three chords to a number she recorded. The chords, Mundy learns, add to a death knell for Rugaro's present. During the mayhem the 5th Dimension sing two new songs, one of which, "One Less Bell to Answer," was composed by Burt Bacharach. ## Nixon Planning To Entertain French President Pompidou

By JOHN VINOCUR
Associated Press Writer

Pompidou and his dashing blonde wife, Claude, took off in a light aircraft.

Heavy security precautions, the threat of unruly pickets, and prospects for a sizeable congressional boycott when Pompidou addresses a joint session in Washington Wednesday made for a gloomy mood among the president's aides.

After arriving at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington this afternoon, Pompidou and his wife are to spend tonight at Camp David, the U.S. presidential retreat, before talks begin Tuesday with President Nixon, when he has never met.

The two presidents are expected to talk further down the path of Franco-American reconciliation on which Nixon set out a year ago. U.S. officials have expressed confidence that the White House sessions will be amicable because Nixon will avoid sensitive subjects.

Nixon does not intend to bring up France's relations with the Atlantic Alliance. Although President Charles de Gaulle withdrew French forces from NATO's military structure in 1966, U.S. officials have noted with satisfaction some informal cooperation between French and U.S. naval forces in the Mediterranean since the 1968 invasion of Czechoslovakia, but they do not expect cooperation to go much beyond the present level.

Pompidou will get an extensive briefing on the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks between the United States and the Soviet Union. He and Nixon also are expected to discuss Vietnam, the future of the Common Market, East-West relations with emphasis on West German efforts to normalize relations with the Communist bloc, and narcotics smuggling to the United States via France.

B52s Skip Vietnam For Laos

By BILL SCOTT
Seminole County District School Board at Friday afternoon meeting decided to act on a request from county's salary committee chairman regarding a proposal that board pass a motion to accept indices of schools non-instructional personnel at this time.

William P. Layer, Milwau Junior High School principal, asked the board, during a work session devoted to discussing pay raises for county teachers, to consider the request at Tuesday night's board meeting to be held at South Seminole Junior High School.

In refusing Layer's request, the board said it preferred to consider an estimate of next term's revenue and expense can be obtained.

Board also wanted more information on what the proposed pay increases for teachers and administrative personnel would be based before acting on the preliminary request from Layer.

Frank Gore, school principal, asked the board to postpone the incident occurred when Kenneth Williams, 25, was working on equipment and somehow the machine became operational.

Sanford Sailor Crushed Under Own Automobile

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, chairman of the Senate hunger committee, is attempting to bolster southern-sponsored school lunch legislation he says is grossly inadequate to feed millions of poor and hungry U.S. children.

The South Dakota Democrat has offered five amendments, expected to come to a vote today, aimed at broadening the base of the program and increasing funds to run it.

McGovern is opposed by the bill's sponsor, Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., and a majority of members of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

At least one committee Republican, objecting to the proposed quotas as undue government control of drug companies, is offering an alternative bill almost identical to the McGovern proposal.

They said half or more of the pills likely to go illegal, says. Although amphetamines are sold as stay-away pills, weight control aids and antidepressants, the American Medical Association lists only two unindicated medical uses for them: treatment for narcolepsy, a rare sleeping sickness, and for hyperkinetic behavior in children. The crime committee Democrats' bill would authorize the attorney general to establish quotas for manufacture of the pills similar to the present authority for establishing narcotics manufacturing quotas.

Ex-Sheriff Hobby Trial Opens

By MARION BETHA
Two jurors, Charles Overton and Robert Marsh, were tentatively seated at press time Tuesday afternoon as the selection of the other 12 jurors in connection with the trial of John Luther Hobby, who was indicted on eight counts of accepting bribes in connection with the "Cobra" shipwreck on Sunday.

A 101st Airborne Division guerrilla ground fire Sunday 12 miles northwest of Drog, Hawaii and two miles south of the Demilitarized Zone. The two crewmen were rescued unharmed.

Hobby testified at a preliminary hearing on August 1968 that the money which was found in a private office safe in the Seminole County jail was part of his salary and did not come from the Kennel Club. The money, which was found by an investigator, was included in a Kennel Club envelope. Hobby contended that the envelope had contained passes from the club to be used at Sandalwood Springs and that he later used it in which to keep his personal funds.

The grand jury indictment alleged that Hobby solicited and accepted $12,000 for himself and another person during the years 1961 to 1967 for a promise of a position as a kennel club member. The trial is presided over by Judge Tom Waddell Jr. Robert Egan, state attorney, is being assisted by Theodore Spohn. Hobby is represented by Mack Cleveland Jr. and co-counsel Albert Pitts. Egan was assigned to the case by Gov. Claude Kirk Jr.

Judge Waddell advised prospective jurors that each of the eight counts will be tried separately and, as the situation now stands, the jury will not be sequestered.

Hobby, who was the object of much controversy during his tenure as Seminole County sheriff, sat immobile as the jury was interrogated, closely observing each juror and listening intently to their answers.

The court room was vacant except for the venire men in contrast to the packed court room in trial proceedings of Mabel Frances Thompson.

Child Injured

A front-to-rear traffic accident at 11 a. m. today sent a baby to Seminole Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries received when a car driven by Clarence Riddout Jr., the baby's father, struck a stopped truck operated by Wes Giles.

Eddie Hughes, Sanford policeman, charged Riddout with failure to have vehicle under control. The baby, name not disclosed, was removed to the hospital.

A three-month-old baby girl was listed in "serious" condition at Florida Sanitarium Thursday night after a Sanford collision involving two cars.

The mishap at French Avenue and Ninth Street intersection caused Tilly Diane Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Vaughn of Maple Avenue, Sanford, to receive head injuries after the 1967 car collided with a truck driven by Alex Winn, 78, Sanford.

Senators Jockey Program School Lunch Hike Sought

McGovern said this would unduly favor the south, a region which he said has more established lunch programs than most other areas of the country. As it stands now, the bill would allocate funds based by the number of children fed by a state during the last two years.

McGovern also would change the Talmadge bill to allocate money to states based on the number of poor children.

He would require states to file an annual school lunch plan and a monthly report on the number of children being served.

Solons Drive On Pep Pills

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill imposing maximum quotas on the manufacture of pep pills has been proposed by four Democratic members of the House Select Committee on Crime.

One of the main purposes of the legislation, down up for in production today, is to curb the flow of pep pills to high school students and others who use them illegally.

At least one committee Republican, objecting to the proposed quotas as undue government control of drug companies, is offering an alternative bill almost identical to the McGovern proposal.

6th Graders' Concert Set

Excellent classic music, stirring, titling tunes and compositions for the young people of the day will be on the program of the Florida Symphony Orchestra when they entertain the sixth grade students of Seminole County at the Sanford Civic Center on the morning of February 26.

The outline also includes audience participation with the young songbirds singing American, the Beethoven and Bicycle Built for Two. Undoubtedly this will be the first time that these vocalists will have been accompanied by a 50 piece orchestra. And the whole enjoyable affair will not cost the young members of the symphony audience one penny — and that is a unique experience in itself for the usual cost of a ticket for a concert is about $5.

In this case the bill for the orchestra is being paid by Chase and Company, Citizens Bank of Orlando, Florida State Bank, South Seminole Bank, Florida Power and Light Company, United States Bank, Sanford Atlantic National Bank and First Federal of Seminole County.

The cost of the auditorium and the heating of the people on the roundtrip, school to concert, is part of the instruction in music in the school course. It is approved by the School Board members and implemented by the diligence of Super-

Raiders Stunned Twice!!

By TOM ALEXANDER Herald Sports Editor
Stunned 1-1-1 There was no other expression in the vocabulary of Seminole Junior College fans after the Raiders most disastrous weekend in history.

The scene Friday evening was Ft. Pierce. The Indian River started off hot from the very first and took a 17 point halftime advantage. Seminole was unable to overcome the sizeable margin, but did outscore Indian River in the waning minutes of the second half 37-54. It was SJ's second loss in a row which left Seminole and the Vikings tied for second following being upset Wednesday by St. Johns JC slot in Division.

On Saturday the scene shifted to West Palm Beach and there the Raiders found another hardship and another loss as they fell to the Pacers, 89-87 in an upset that possibly spelled Seminole's fate in capital letters.

The win by the West Palm team left Seminole with a 2-15 overall record and now the Raiders must best St. Johns in a playoff game to decide whether they will be Division II's second representative in the State championships.

DADE CITY—The Seminole Junior College Raiders opened their 1970 baseball season in style Saturday as they traveled to the home of Ft. Leo Yarge to meet the Freshman team. They took the big season-opener 3-1, but then fell 2-1 in the second game of the twin-bill.

In the opener, Ft. Leo went ahead with a first-inning homer by Dave Marinoni. It was 1-0 until the top of the fifth inning, when Mike Ferrell unleashed a mighty blow over the right field fence. In the top of the last inning the Raiders captured the win. Ron Harry led off with an infield hit. Darrell Hallinger sacrificed Tom Arrington, running for Harry, to second base. Jimmy Moses, pinch-hitting for the pitcher, Chip Gierke, bounced the ball back to the pitcher, who threw it into the air, running for Harry, to second base. Girls Molestation Probed; Hunt Man

By BILL SCOTT The abduction at gunpoint and rape-molestation of two Longwood girls, ages 12 and nine, is receiving the full attention of the Seminole County sheriff's office today. Chief Deputy Duane Harrell said county investigators are probing reports that a middle-aged man, driving an old model car, forced two girls into his car as they walked along a Longwood street Monday on their way to school. Harrell said the man, wearing a gray-black shirt, drove in an area of the Mayfair Country Club on Country Club Road and forced the girls at gunpoint to lay down on the car seat while he proceeded to molest the younger girl. Harrell said the 12-year-old was later taken by her parents to an Orlando doctor for a physical examination to determine whether rape had been committed. The chief deputy said the older girl reported the man at one point either raped or attempted to rape her. After the incident, the abductor drove the girls to an area near Lake Mary School where he released them. Other than the reported old model red car with green seats, no other information concerning the incident is available. Longwood authorities are expected to take precautions immediately to patrol roads leading to schools which are used by walking children. Mayor Ken Brown announced, after conferring with Longwood Police Chief R. E. Sweat, that an unmarked patrol car would be used to protect children going to and from school.

The ticket and billing said "Lindon Day Cocktails and Dinner with the Governor" ... cocktails at 6:30 p.m. — dinner at 8:00 p.m. "When it got to be 8:45 p.m. and we still hadn't been served, I said I have known that it was going to be "one of those nights." ... There must have been almost a full house of Republicans, and some courteous Democrats in the audience. ... I WAS NEVER SO EMBARRASSED after listening to Claudia deliver his canned speech. ... If you'll read today's letters to the editor, in answering a critic of ours, I am the first to admit that your letters should be offered, and if possible, corrective action taken when necessary. ... But, by the same token, if somebody's doing a credible job — I sincerely believe The Sanford Herald did an outstanding effort in promoting this event! Then it's logical to assume that just by chance, someone would give you a pat-on-the-back. ... Politician Kirk chose to poke us in the schnoz instead! Oh, not The Sanford Herald by name but using a broad brush available more information concerning the arrest of a returning service man for swimming in the Wekiva River near the "bridge to nowhere." ... Harrell said the 21-year-old ex-GI was arrested by Deputy W. E. Robbins while in the company of another 17-year-old youth and a 15-year-old girl. Harrell said the girl was absent from school and the young boy had been in county jail several times and at the time of the incident was under indictment for car theft. While not implying the older youth had been involved in any nefarious activity, the lawman pointed out that both youths could have been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor since the girl should have been in school at the time. Harrell pointed out that a sign prohibiting diving in the area was posted for all to see and that under the circumstances, the deputy was within his rights in charging the ex-GI and his companion. The lawman indicated that, in fact, the deputy could have made other charges which would have been far more serious. The story of the former service man's arrest was used in Monday's Sanford Herald.

Vs. Pro-Politicians, Newspapers Kirk Opens All-Out Warfare

By FRED VAN PELT Open war was launched against "professional politicians" and "big city" newspapers by Gov. Claude Kirk Jr. last night at the Seminole County Republican executive committee's fund-raising Lincoln Day dinner. About 375, including a sprinkling of Democrats, paid $50 or $15 per plate for the dinner, while 100 "Council of 100" members paid $100 each and a dozen joined the "family circle" at $500. Declaring that "the professional politicians have used every trick in the book to wear us down. And for three years, most of the big city newspapers have gleefully printed every piece of tripe the professional politicians have given them."

Hobby Trial Opens

By CHARNER LEONE Trial of ex-Sheriff J. L. Hobby got underway this morning before a jury in the Circuit Court of Judge Tom Waddell. Hobby is being prosecuted for unauthorized compensation. That is, he is alleged to have been paid for performing services for compensation, when those services were part of his duty as sheriff. The charge is set on bribery as has been generally misinterpreted. Hobby is alleged to have set up a guard and security service for the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club and to have accepted payment for this service during his term as sheriff. He was sheriff of Seminole for 10 years, 1957-67. Three checks for $1,600 (written in the years of 1962, 63 and '64, each made out to W. R. Brown, a deputy, and cashed by Hobby) have been accepted as evidence. These checks are alleged to be the payment to Hobby for the guard services, which included transporting the nightly gate receipts to the bank. These receipts amounted up to $150,000 a night, testified John (Jack) Ledoux, manager and partner of the SOKC. Ledoux, his youthful appearance belied by his gray and balding hair, said that he did not detect any corrupt intent on his or Hobby's part. The checks, one each year, were signed, and cashed within hours of their presentation to Hobby, according to the testimony. Brown, who was on vacation at the time of the cashing, testified that he had authorized Hobby and Wade Singleton, another deputy, to use his signature in his absence. He said that he did not receive any money from the checks and that he did not even know of the checks until recently.

COURAGEOUS KIRK IS THE NAME OF THE HORSE WHICH WAS PRESENT to the Governor last night at the Lincoln Day Dinner in Sanford. It is assumed that the beast which the Chief Executive will use in his charge against the news media, the object of his prepared verbal attack. (Related photos on Pg. 3A)

Kirk directed his attack primarily against Floyd Christian, state education commissioner, and Earl Faircloth, attorney general, and the St. Petersburg Times and Tampa Tribune. He was equally emphatic that he exempted the Orlando Sentinel from his attacks. "Historically," said the Chief Executive, "the professional politicians have downgraded the people as nothing more than a mass of unknowing humanity to be tolerated on election day." He continued: "In the last few months, you and I have been witnessing a revolution. It is our revolution, and it is a quiet one. It is the revolution of the silent majority, in which you and I are active participants. "Because the professional politicians for so long ignored the people, and because for so long the newspapers catered to the whims of those who rant and rave and roll around on the grass, the great majority of Americans — and Floridians — who normally remain silent until they have had enough, are telling the big city newspapers and the professional politicians: 'We've had it with you.' "And the politicians and the newspaper people are wandering around in a daze, wondering what strange fate cast them together as bedfellows." Kirk dwelt a bit on newspaper makeup and charged that the photos and placement he and his family had been placed in a "bad light." The Governor also blasted television news: "Television newscasters have managed to develop their own weapons and their own credibility gap. "Again, in my mind, this is a tragedy that need never have happened. But it is the tragedy of a media system that thinks its duty is to interpret and to fashion and mold opinions, rather than to report. The tragedy is that the great bulk of those who do the interpreting — and the criticizing — are ultra-liberal while the vast majority of Americans are not."

County Ponders Dogs And Dumps

By MARION BETHEA Dogs and dumps occupied the attention of Seminole County Commissioners this morning. Mayor Ken Brown, of Longwood, apprised the board of the fact that the municipalities of North Orlando, Longwood, Altamonte Springs and Casselberry have no facilities in which to place animals since the Humane Society Animal Shelter has closed. Brown requested use of the county shelter. Chairman John Alexander stated that he had been in contact with Mayor Clifford Jordan, of North Orlando, in May of last year regarding the matter. Alexander continued that it would be necessary for the municipalities to advise the county what type of animal program they wish to enforce, whether rabies control program or leash law and how many animals the county would have to accommodate. The matter of county liability would also have to be considered and disposal of the animals, according to Alexander. Brown advised that he would furnish the information with the next two weeks. Violations of dumping in unauthorized places within the county are rampant, according to Commissioner Greg Drummond. He especially cited Douglas Avenue. Drummond stated the three property owners in this area hired a Pay-loader to clean up the debris at their expense and are willing to sign warrants in relation to violators who are seen dumping. Alexander said the county is understaffed and under-budgeted to pursue the issue at length and that the problem is to find culprits and also to advise them that it is a misdemeanor and costly in both time and fines in court. Alexander continued that it is impossible to staff every street corner in the county with a leash law and that rigid enforcement and prosecution is needed. Sheriff John Polk advised that the county has no authority where autos are dumped on private property, with the authority only extending to county rights-of-way. Polk continued that the deputies are doing a good job in apprehending violators and maintain a litterbug file. Constable Fred Galloway mentioned that junkers are piling up in Midway, many of the county right-of-way. Constable Robert Jane charged that many private refuse firms are dumping on Sunday to avoid payment of landfill fees. Road Supt. J. C. Lavender denied this accusation, stating that guards had the license numbers of all the vehicles entering the landfill. Jane also advocated strict enforcement of violators dumping junk and refuse and asked that the silent majority report such incidents to officials.

Hero's Arrest Explained

Seminole County Chief Deputy Duane Harrell today made available more information concerning the arrest of a returning service man for swimming in the Wekiva River near the "bridge to nowhere." Harrell said the 21-year-old ex-GI was arrested by Deputy W. E. Robbins while in the company of another 17-year-old youth and a 15-year-old girl. Harrell said the girl was absent from school and the young boy had been in county jail several times and at the time of the incident was under indictment for car theft. While not implying the older youth had been involved in any nefarious activity, the lawman pointed out that both youths could have been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor since the girl should have been in school at the time. Harrell pointed out that a sign prohibiting diving in the area was posted for all to see and that under the circumstances, the deputy was within his rights in charging the ex-GI and his companion. The lawman indicated that, in fact, the deputy could have made other charges which would have been far more serious. The story of the former service man's arrest was used in Monday's Sanford Herald.
