

Tell Her It's MURDER

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

REGINA went straight up to Andrus in the interview room, where he stood beside a table, her hands out. "Jim," her eyes filled. "Susan told me everything, from the beginning. She's so much braver than I am, has so much more resolution, faith. I can't tell you how it made me feel. . . . You've suffered! It's horrible. . . . I thought all the time, I was sure. . . . I never had any doubt. And she was very beautiful in a black suit with a tiny red hat on her black hair. She put up her face. Andrus was deeply moved. He kissed her forehead, made her sit down on one of the straight chairs, pulled up the other.

"Never mind it, Regina, as long as you know," he said down close to her, took her hands in his. "Look, don't feel too badly, Regina. I didn't know myself for a long while—at least I wasn't sure." They talked very briefly of that distant night. It wasn't a subject to dwell on. Then Regina said, "But this—the incredible, this ridiculous charge against you—it will soon be over and you'll be free. That woman—what was her name?"

"Fena," Andrus said, and he glanced for both of them at the sign. "Fena Fenn. Now that she isn't going to die, that she's conscious and can talk, you'll soon be out of all this. She'll know who tried to kill her, and then she'll have to let you go."

It was the first word Andrus had had of Mrs. Fena's possible recovery. "How do you know? Are you sure?" Regina said. "Mrs. Fenn had told her. At the end of another 10 minutes, as soon as Regina was gone, he informed the guard, about to return him to his cell and settle to the evening paper, that he wanted to see either Sgt. Dupasse or the district attorney, at once."

Mrs. Fenn not only continued to lead her own, she even improved a little. She was naturally strong. But she was still on the danger list and Dr. Metzger laid down conditions. She was in a large double room on the third floor that would be made to accommodate three beds. At present it held only two. Screens were to be placed at the side of the bed cutting off a section of the room. The police officials would have to remain behind the screen while Metzger himself asked the few necessary questions. If all went well, the prisoner would then appear at the foot of the bed in a strong light, after which the room would immediately be cleared. The whole thing couldn't be allowed to take more than five minutes at the most.

The little convalesced arrived at the hospital at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Fenn was lying high on piled pillows. Her head was completely swathed in bandaging. Her arms lay on top of the spread, along her sides. Hands and face were grayish. Her eyes were open but for all the life she showed they might just as well have been closed. Dr. Hoffman was already there. He came into view, facing Todhunter, and began to talk in a low, carefully modulated voice. "You're feeling a little better tonight, Mrs. Fenn?"

The eyes didn't move. She gave the slightest of nods.

"You know what happened to you, Mrs. Fenn. We spoke of you here this evening. You were down in the cellar of your house drawing wine from a barrel into a pitcher when someone struck you from behind. Don't be frightened or upset. Nothing can happen to you here. You're perfectly safe. We're going to show you a man and ask you if it's the man who attacked you. Raise your hand if it is, or nod your head. If it isn't, don't do anything. Do you understand?"

Another nod. There was a faint expression now on the gray mask surrounded by whiteness. It seemed to Todhunter that the woman was trying to say something. Her lips stirred. She mistook them with the top of her tongue. But she closed them again.

The doctor said, "All right, Mr. Andrus," and Andrus walked out from behind the screen and over to the foot of the bed. The light that had been rigged up was switched on, bathing him in brilliance. The rest of the room was dim.

"Is this the man who attacked you, Mrs. Fenn?"

Not a sound except the far off murmur of the city below; Mrs. Fenn gazed straight in front of her at Andrus. It was a long look. Blank at first, intelligence began to dawn in it. She gave a convulsive start, her lips parted again and her eyes opened wide. This time she spoke, in a hoarse husky whisper. But her words were clearly audible.

"That's him. . . . That's the man."

The effort exhausted her. Her head fell back, her eyes closed, and two tears squeezed themselves out from under the lids and ran down her cheeks.

Todhunter went to work. He alone had correctly read the expressions on the stricken woman's face when the doctor first spoke. Before dawn he had the story out of her.

Mrs. Fenn had recognized Andrus all right but not as the man who struck her down in the cellar. She recognized him as the man, the drunk, Midnight Mike had brought with him to the house on Glover st., on the night Roger Felham was killed. The only trouble was that she couldn't be certain about time, and in her condition it was useless to press her. She knew it was late when Midnight Mike arrived with the drunk. She had expected Mike earlier, she had a port round in the oven and it was almost spoiled. Mike might have brought his swaying cargo in at maybe a little after 11, but then again it might have been much later. First she thought one thing and then another.

Todhunter would have liked a clear cut verdict. The earliest Roger Felham could have been killed was at 12:30. Obviously Andrus couldn't have been at the wheel of his car in the Felham grounds at half past 12 if he was down in Yonkers with Midnight Mike, either in or approaching Mrs. Fenn's house. For the moment Todhunter was forced to rest on his laurels.

Mrs. Fenn was a woman who thought before she spoke, a woman who had to be clear in her own mind before she gave tongue. She was very clear about one thing. She hadn't seen the man who struck her down when she was drawing wine in the cellar. "I started to look around, to turn, I thought I heard a sound, and then—nothing." She couldn't even remember the blow or blows. The next thing she knew she woke up in bed in the hospital with a terrible pain in her head.

Before he went to sleep at 8:30 a. m. Todhunter called the inspector. He told McKee what had happened and that Horton admitted that the case against Andrus was full of holes. "I think they're going to turn him loose." Silence from the other end of the wire. Then McKee said softly, "I was afraid of this."

"Afraid, Inspector?"

"Afraid," the Scotsman repeated, his tone grim. "Now we're back where we were in the beginning. Now it starts all over again."

Later that morning, Thursday, Susan Dwight woke up smiling. She felt happy, light hearted. The smile was for Barry. The charge room in a police station was an odd place in which to receive a proposal. Barry had asked her to marry him a couple of times before, but never in such surroundings or with such earnestness as while they sat there in two golden oak chairs near the sign desk with a fat policeman writing behind it. She had wanted to laugh, not at Barry but at his solemnity, his nose very long, his chin very firm, his warm brown eyes very grave, with no fun in them.

She had answered gently, "No, no use, Barry, dear. I wish I could say yes, but I can't." She patted his hand affectionately. He had drawn it away affectionately. "Are you in love with someone else?"

She most emphatically wasn't in love with anyone. She had said so, shortly. But his question made her angry. He had no right to ask it. She had never given him any encouragement along these lines. They were distant cousins and close friends, the way you were with people you had been brought up with; know inside out, but that was all. Later that afternoon the question came up again, in another and more outrageous form. Then Susan went into a white fury. (To Be Continued.)

Wife Tells Police To Snatch Hubby Away From Cards

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sgt. Vincent Serio of the Baltimore vice squad got a call from a woman who told him her husband was spending all his money in poker games and she was starving at a restaurant.

Where was he? asked the sergeant.

She gave him an address, and he dispatched two patrolmen to the spot. They broke up a card game, hauled six men to jail.

But the phone rang again. "You didn't get him," said the same voice. She explained she had learned that her husband had fled from the game before the police got there. She gave Serio a new address.

Off went the vice squad again. They broke up two games, took in nine players.

But the phone rang again. Same woman, same complaint, new address.

The next call brought in 13 more sporting gentlemen. It made a grand total of 25 players arrested in five card games.

The woman never did give the police her name, but Serio figures she got her husband in the last haul. She didn't call back.

People With Yen Are Given Advice

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Out here in the canyon country, the people with time to play and a yen to touch vodka-on-the-rocks glasses with celebrities, have one piece of advice for visiting firemen: "Don't bother with the television crowd, they're dull. They never do anything but work all the time. Stick with the movie people. They work hard when they're working, but it's usually a long time between pictures when they can have fun."

"Ha," snuffed Miss Dinah Shore scornfully when she heard these words. "I wouldn't change places with anyone in the world. Look, I can get to work at 10 in the morning, rehearse during the day, do my show and go home to my family and forget the whole thing, I've time for my family, time to be home, time for my friends. Most of all, I have plenty of time for the children."

Although plenty of TV people do work long hard days: every day and go home to worry over lines at night, Dinah does a pleasant 15-minute live television show two nights a week—Tuesdays and Thursdays—on NBC.

Mostly she sings songs—and she loves to sing—and wears pretty clothes which she enjoys wearing. She doesn't have dialogue to learn—"I just say whatever seems right and best at the time"—and she doesn't have to play any role except Dinah Shore, singer and wholesome American girl, both of which are familiar. Occasionally she does get a little fed up with being so nice all the time, she confesses.

Dinah has been happily married for years to one man, George Montgomery, who does extremely well in a quiet sort of way making motion pictures which are—also in a quiet sort of way—very good box office. George also runs a furniture plant on the side and his pieces are very much in demand. They've been having a delightful time building and furnishing their new home in Beverly Hills. They are happy together, and mutually devoted to their two children, Missy, 7, and Jodie, 1, their adopted son.

Rookie outfielder Bill Virdon of the Cardinals was a high school track star. He participated in the 100 and 200 yard dashes, pole vault, shot put and relay.

Baroda Maharanee Asks Paris Court For Separation

PARIS (AP)—The cigar-smoking Maharanee of Baroda has asked a Paris court to grant her a legal separation from her princely Indian husband, the former Gaekwar of Baroda. No grounds for the action were cited.

The petition was filed yesterday by Princess Sita Devi, 36.

The Maharanee, who is well known also in New York and London society, maintains an apartment in Paris with her 10-year-old son. She asked for a "separation de corps"—legal recognition and sanction that she is living apart from her husband.

The ex-Gaekwar, 46, recently has been staying at Cannes, on the French Riviera. Although he still uses his title, he was stripped of it along with his princely privileges and $350,000 annual pension in 1931 by the government of India after he tried to start a rebellion of princes.

U. S. 17-92 Progress Plan Stears Ahead

The campaign to improve Seminole County's main arterial highway, U. S. 17-92, is steaming ahead, but no increase in tax millage will result from the latest move on the county level.

County Commission chairman John Meisch made this clear yesterday after the Commission voted Tuesday to ask the State Legislature for a special bill permitting the county to borrow $220,000 for right-of-way purchases.

The amount, plus the $327,000
in uncommitted secondary funds, would make up the total the county could put into right-of-way this year.

The Commission acted after R.
M. Hartfield, state director of revenue projects, informed the county by letter that it could safely borrow $220,000 and repay it in four years from the gas tax surplus due Seminole County.

At the same time that it passed the necessary resolution asking for the special bill, the Commission declined to make a firm commitment on secondary funds. Bralley Odham, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's long-range roads planning committee, asked the board a declaration of intention.

"I think this resolution shows where we stand," Odham was told by Commissioner Otis Fouraker.

It may possibly take about two months to put the special bill through the legislature. A similar period will be required to get up abstracts on all property along the highway from the Orange County line.

Miss Esther Rive, manager of Title Abstract and Guaranty Co., gave the estimate of time needed to obtain the abstracts. Right-of-way cannot be secured until the county gets the abstracts.

Meisch recently proposed that

Softball Game Set By Jaycees Tonight In Lakefront Park

A softball game between the active and associate members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be played at 7:30 p. m. today at the Ft. Mellon Park softball diamond, located behind the old bus station.

Carl Overstreet, chairman of the Jaycees' softball committee, will head the active members,
and Gordon Sweeney will manage the associate members. Approximately 25 members will participate.

Among those taking part will be William Stemper, John Alexander, Tommy Peterson Jr., Tommy Stringer, Tony Russi, and possibly "Buddy" Lake, who is well-known in Central Florida athletic circles.

The idea behind the softball committee is to build a team capable of opposing Jaycees in surrounding towns. Overstreet said he was planning to make arrangements for such games.

The game tonight was discus-ed at today's weekly Jaycee luncheon at the Yacht Club, and many members expressed satisfaction with the program.

"I think it would be a great thing to create fellowship with Jaycees from other communities," Overstreet commented.

The game is only secondary,
and we are not going to concentrate so much on winning as in building up this understanding," Overstreet said he had a few
"dark horses" in his pitching staff and warned the associates that "we're ready for them."

Women In Ministry Endorsed By Group Of Presbyterians

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A proposal that women be admitted to the Presbyterian ministry was endorsed today by the national head of the church.

Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd, president of the General Assembly and moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., also called for churchwide practice of nonsegregation.

His views were contained in a message prepared for delivery at Sanford's opening session of the 16th general assembly.

The session was Dr. Lloyd's last official function as moderator. His successor will be elected later today to serve during the weeklong meeting and through the coming year.

44-Day Jail Term
Ends For Woman

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Alma Ferguson, 42, who was kept in jail for 44 days, was released today with her husband to pay a $250 fine and a 30-day probation.

Circuit Judge John E. Pavlik ordered Mrs. Ferguson released from Cook County Jail after her attorney testified that the wife did not know that the alienation suit was in progress last year.

"The suit was brought" by Mrs.
Thomas M. Frickard, 42, who charged that Mrs. Ferguson mistakenly stole the affections of her husband Roy Ferguson, a distributor for a bread company.

Ruling Scheduled By Control Board

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Board of Control is scheduled to make a final ruling today in the contin-gent and long drawn out case of former Florida State University faculty member Robert L.
Leathers.

The board will receive recommendations prepared by the attorney general's office on the basis of two pages of testimony at a hearing last month.

Leathers contends he was forced out of Tallahassee on grounds of immorality. He claims the university board tried to get rid of him because of his activity on a committee of the American Assn. of University Professors studying the school's past.

Cancer, Heart Disease Leading Death List

State Board of Health Releases
Statistics For January-March

Heart disease and cancer caused the most deaths in Seminole County during the period from January through March the State Board of Health announced in its monthly vital statistics report.

The report said 23 died of heart disease and 13 of cancer. Causes of other deaths were cerebral vascular disease, 11; other circulatory diseases, six; influenza and pneumonia, five; nephritis and ne-phrosis, two; diabetes, two; and tuberculosis and syphilis, one each.

No deaths from motor vehicle accidents were recorded, but other accidents claimed five lives.

A total of 88 deaths, including 46 white and 42 colored, were listed during the period. Fifteen infant deaths, two white and 13
colored, were reported.

The Board of Health report listed 218 births for the period. Of this number, 110 were white and 108 colored.

Eighty-one marriages and 22 divorces and annulments were also recorded.

Portugal has refused to discuss India's demand that it withdraw from its settlements on the Indian subcontinent.

Thirteen of the Indian participating in yesterday's march were released, but the rest were reported held by Portuguese authorities.

Reports said the marchers either gave Indian border police the slip or ignored them in entering Goa.

Jury Clears Mayock Of Evading Taxes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Walter Mayock, former general counsel of the Democratic National Committee, has been cleared by a federal grand jury in connection with a complaint alleging evasion of income taxes.

U.S. Atty. Laughlin E. Waters said the complaint, issued last April 4, would be dismissed.

Mayock, a Washington and Los Angeles attorney, signed a waiver of immunity and appeared voluntarily before the grand jury to deny that he evaded $25,718 in taxes due on income of himself and his wife for 1948.

MORE CATS INVOLVED
DETROIT (AP)—Michigan Human Society's report for 1954 shows it had more cases involving cats than any other animal. Dogs were next. Clifton Johnson, executive director, said one reason dogs don't get in so many jams is cats is that they can't climb trees.

Eisenhower Vetoes Postal Pay Raise

Air Of Uncertainty Hangs Over Program

A cloud of uncertainty hung over the anti-polio inoculation program in Seminole County today as Dr. Terry Bird, County Health Officer, said he had no idea when second shots of vaccine would be given.

"It looks like we may run out of school before we get another supply of vaccine," Dr.
Bird declared, referring to the swiftly-approaching end of the school term.

If school ends before more vaccine is received, children may be given their second shots at the County Health Unit or School Superintendent R. T. Milwee
may be asked to transport children to their respective schools on certain days for the vaccinations.
Dr. Bird said.

Another possibility, he said, is that shots may be given at the offices of doctors who helped administer the first shots.

The first shots were given April 22 at Southside School. Dr. Bird said the second inoculations should have been given a week ago.

Just how long the vaccine is effective is not known, the Health officer pointed out. Dr. Jonas Salk, the discoverer at one time estimated the period at from two to four weeks, but since has announced that it should be effective for a longer period. The second shot is more or less a "booster."

Dr. Bird pointed out that the Health Unit is extremely busy at this time and should the vaccine be received next week, the job of administering it would be a particularly tough one in view of the burden of work.

Meanwhile, the government announced today there will not be any further releases of vaccine

Orlando's Skies Scene Of Wedding For Miami Couple

ORLANDO (AP)—A Miami Beach couple married in a blimp over Orlando yesterday explained "We wanted to do something different."

Art Townsend, 32, and Virginia
Bruno, 22, a waitress formerly of Huntington, L. I., said at first they planned to be married in a swimming pool of a swank hotel.

"But everybody does that in Miami, and we wanted our marriage to be something special from the beginning," said Townsend, a sand blaster.

"The other night we saw the lights of that Goodyear blimp while we were driving over the MacArthur Causeway back home and we agreed that was it."

Afterward, the couple left by car for their honeymoon.

Senate Is Sent Message

Ike Says Burden
Would Be Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—
President Eisenhower today vetoes a bill to boost the pay of 500,000 postal workers by an average of 8.6 per cent.

The President told the Senate in a veto message he regretted his action and earnestly hoped and recommended that "the Congress will quickly consider and enact postal pay legislation that will be in the public interest and fair to all the half million employees who man the postal service."

He said the vetoed measure would impose "a heavier burden upon the taxpayer than is necessary."

Eisenhower listed these three reasons for his veto:

"First, the bill creates new discriminations or inequities which would affect many thousands of postal employees.

"Second, the bill creates grave administrative problems such as the establishment of thousands of individual pay rates. It forces awkward and unfair administrative practices in a government department whose operations affect every person, every enterprise, every community in the country.

"Third, the bill imposes a heavier burden upon the taxpayer than is necessary to establish salary rates throughout the department which will compare favorably with rates for similar work elsewhere in government and in private industry."

The President has indicated an average 7.6 per cent raise is about as far as he is willing to go.

CAMPAIGN CALLED OFF

CHADRON, Neb. (AP)—City Manager Kenneth Kyle has called off a weeklong campaign against jaywalking. He said businessmen complained that customers complained when asked to stick to the intersection. So, said Kyle, "not a thing will be done in Chadron about jaywalking."

Irishman Woos Pretty Maiden; But Is Married, Has 2 Children

BILLEBDON, England (AP)—The 62-year-old Irish farmer who ran away with the pretty sister of England's hereditary royal chamberlain turned out today to be married and a father of two children.

"I have wronged the girl terribly," said James Webb, who dipped away 10 weeks ago with Susan O'Connell, 23-year-old daughter of one of Britain's oldest families. The two told friends they planned to wed.

"I have deceived her and her family into thinking I was free to marry her," Webb told newsmen,
"but I am not."

Mrs. Mary Webb, 64, an Ashford, England, riding instructor, presented a wedding certificate yesterday showing she had married Dr. Edmund W. M. 1917. He said her husband had left her and their two sons more than a year
ago.

Police said they had "no further interest in the matter at this stage."

Webb, who looks younger than

CHAPTER NINETEEN

The first part of the day was quiet, but Susan's brighter mood didn't last. The shadows were all there. Since Regina had come downstairs the night before, after the scene in the bedroom when she had heard the truth about Jim Andrus, she had been different. It was as though she had gone behind a transparent wall where nothing would really get at her. Outwardly she was more cheerful. It was only on the surface. She spoke confidently of Jim Andrus, was sure he would be cleared. Yet she was as determined as ever on the flight to Major, which Frederick already had reservations.

At 4, she gave it up and went for a walk. The wind was high, the sky lowering. What did Regina propose to do about Jim Andrus? She wondered. They had lost enough time. Loving him as Regina did, surely now they would marry at once. Perhaps Jim Andrus would follow her to Major, perhaps they had arranged that last night.

"Where... Where are you off in such a hurry?"

It was Dave Hedgate, coming down the steps of a house near the woods. Dave looked tired. They talked for a couple of minutes. Susan said, "You're working too hard," and Dave replied, "Needs must when the devil drives."

"That's a nice way to refer to your patients," she retorted, but Dave didn't smile. He knew that Regina was going to Major, and approved of it. "Amy says it's all settled. It will do her good to have you here. I was talking to her for a little while ago. Andrus is out of jail. Well, I've got to go. He turned away abruptly, got into his car and drove off."

Susan had suspected it for a long while, she was almost sure then that Dave loved Regina. Perhaps if he had asked Regina when they were both younger, before she met Fred—but Dave wasn't in a position to marry then, nor had marriage seemed to occur to him. This was completely wrapped up in his research work. It was before old Doctor Joe was stricken and Dave had to come home and take up his father's practice that Regina married.

Jim Andrus out of jail. It was no surprise. He shouldn't have been arrested in the first place, she switched her mind away from him, determinedly. She had done what she could for Regina's sake. It was finished now that he was free. She needn't bother about him any longer.

The wind was knife edged. It cut through her coat. She walked on, looking back over her shoulder up in front of Edith and Frederick's, started to cut down under the trees, black against lead-colored clouds, and changed her mind. The little detective from New York, Mr. Todhunter, was crossing the terrace above. Susan followed him into the house, going in by way of the music room door.

Todhunter and Edith were in the long living-room beyond the glass doors. One of the doors was half open. Neither of them saw her. Todhunter was showing Edith a piece of paper. He said mildly and apologetically, "I'm afraid—there isn't any doubt, Mrs. Peckham... The finger prints, you know... Yes, I'll tell you what graph Mr. Andrus from the album in your sister-in-law's house last Sunday and sent it to the Yonkers Messenger, didn't you?"

Edith stood glaring at him, her face an angry pink, her eyes protruding. "I—she hesitated on the point of denial, thought better of it. She walked away a few feet and turned around to face her tormentor. "And if I did, what of it?" she demanded defiantly. "Was I to sit idly by and see the man who killed my nephew go scot free? It would be ruinous for Regina to marry him, out of pity, because she feels sorry for him. It would be a tragedy. She'd regret it the rest of her life. I was only thinking of her. I know Andrus is out of jail, Regina told me a little while ago—and I know what Susan Dwight did. It's my private opinion that Susan—"

Susan walked into the room. She paused close to Edith, looking her in the eye. "Go on, Edith, my pet, don't let me interrupt. What is your private opinion of me?"

Edith was in a red rage. It had complete possession of her. "You!" she exclaimed in a choked voice. "You—helping that man get away from the police, hiding him in the barn... Yes, I'll tell you what my opinion is gladly. You're in love with that man, crazy for him. You—"

She broke off abruptly. The front door had opened and Regina and Jim Andrus had come in. They stood on the living-room threshold, side by side. Had they heard what Edith said? Her straight glance was inscrutable. No expression. Susan caught her own shaking tummy in a tight rein, waved a hand. "Hi, Regina. Hello, Mr. Andrus, good to see you. Edith and I were having a little argument."

She turned back to the other woman. "Would it interest you to know why I would interest you to know that Barry and I are engaged?"

A held moment. A movie still. The still dissolved into action, of the most ordinary kind. Edith looked, looking furious, hostile, and then frightened, because of the photograph. Regina didn't know about the photograph yet.

"Susan, I'm so glad." She crossed to Susan, put an arm around her and kissed her. "I love Barry, and it's time you settled down." She turned to Andrus. "Isn't it, Jim?"

Andrus smiled. "Can I add my congratulations?" "I'm sorry if—," her heart wasn't in it. She was too frightened. She glanced around.

But the sword suspended over her head didn't fall. The detective had strolled off and was examining a picture on the wall at the far end of the room, his back turned.

Regina couldn't stay. She had only come in for a moment to get another pile of the gift stockings she had been making; she had finished the ones she had—and would Edith and Frederick come to dinner that night? About 7? What had she really come for of course was to show Edith and Frederick in her own quiet way that Andrus was to be accepted without caviling or question. Edith was forced to swallow the noxious dose. She played with her bracelets. She didn't know about dinner; it depended on what Frederick had on.

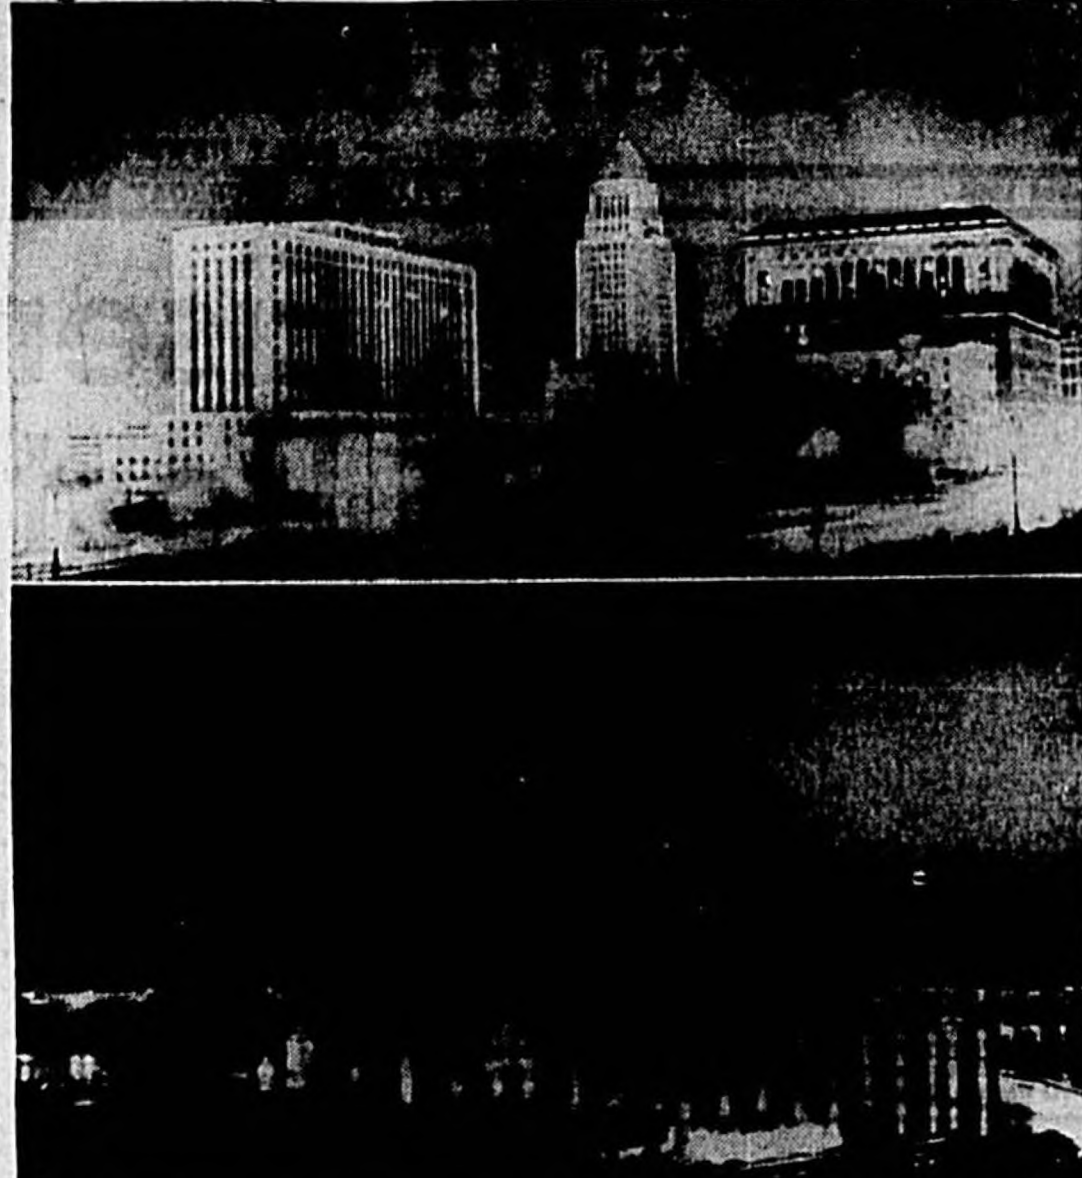

Less than a minute later, Susan, Regina and Andrus were outside the house and going down the hill. Susan walked gloomily behind the other two. She had got herself into a bad box with that spurt of the moment assertion that she was engaged to Barry. She had no intention whatever of marrying him and it would be a mean trick to let him think she had. Or would it? Barry's ego was strong and healthy and it would take a lot really to hurt him. He thought he was in love with her now, just as five years ago he thought he was in love with Dell Howard and a couple of years before that with Regina. Compromise, let the Hill and her friends and relatives think she was engaged, and keep Barry away for the time being. She didn't need to worry for a couple of days anyhow. Barry had said he wouldn't be up that night, and he was going out to the Rankins on Long Island for the week-end.

She was mistaken. When she got into the house Barry was there, and the cat was already out of the bag. Regina had both his hands. "Barry, we're so pleased..."

Barry was ridiculously happy. "Susan!" He advanced on her, smiling radiantly, like a small boy. He took her in his arms.

Andrus wouldn't stay for dinner, although Susan gathered that he had intended to earlier. He left almost abruptly, saying he'd try to get over later if he could and started across for the Wolf Hill Inn, where he had taken the same room he had occupied a year and a half ago.

For Independent Trend Is Moving Film Productions

HOLLYWOOD—The trend in the movie industry continues away from big studios and toward more independent production.

Exhibitors have been wailing about not having enough new pictures to keep their theaters booked. The big studios have drastically cut production because run-of-the-mill pictures no longer pay off. Only the special attractions make money.

It's up to the independents to fill in the gap, and they are thriving as never before. United Artists, which finances and releases films

Wife Found Guilty For Refusing Line To Report Blaze

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y.—A hot-tempered housewife has been found guilty of refusing to yield a country telephone party line when a volunteer fireman tried to report a fire.

Mrs. Mary L. Kayes, 49, of Rhinebeck, N.Y., could get a maximum year in jail, a $500 fine or both under a new state statute covering use of party line telephones in an emergency.

Mrs. Kayes, mother of four, sobbed when the verdict was announced in Dutchess County Court Tuesday night.

"Let me alone, don't bother me," she shouted at newsmen.

Judge John R. Schwartz set May 24 for sentencing and continued Mrs. Kayes in $500 bail.

According to testimony in the two-day trial, Mrs. Kayes said, "Let the xxx thing burn and get off the line," when fire dispatcher Donald Townsend asked her to give up the line to report a brush fire last Jan. 21. Townsend and Mrs. Kayes share the line with five other users.

Townsend testified he had to drive nearly a mile to another telephone to make the call.

A fire official told the court the fire got out of control because of the delay and destroyed a nearby barn.

Mrs. Kayes claimed she didn't believe there really was a fire, because "you hear the darndest things on a party line."

Woman Likes Music Played By Organist At Distant Church

CHICAGO—A 35-year-old woman told Circuit Judge Carlisle Harrington Tuesday that she traveled 20 miles to attend church because Metzler's organ music "sends me."

"I am not interested in Mr. Metzler," Miss Harriet Davis said. "I'm interested in his music. It sends me. There's something about it different from the music in any other church."

Metzler, 50, is organist in a church in suburban Glenco. He formerly was organist at a North-west Side church but he said he left that job to escape the attentions of Miss Davis and her mother Belle, 55.

Last February after Metzler saw them at the Glenco church, he obtained an injunction against them. At that time he said the two women had maneuvered their car to block off his car as he was leaving the church.

They were in court Tuesday to have the injunction set aside. Judge Harrington refused and said: "If you attend this Glenco church, I will interpret it as an attempt to annoy Mr. Metzler, and I will hold you in contempt of court."

U. S. 17-92

Federal aid be forgotten and that 17-92 be turned into a five-lane instead of the four-lane highway, but this idea was killed at Tuesday's Commission meeting.

Fifth District Road Board member William Dial stopped the no-federal-aid plan by pointing out: "I don't think the State Road Board would go along with any plan that will not meet the requirements of the Federal Bureau of Roads."

Dial, who expressed the personal opinion that the highway should be built to meet the requirements of the future, pledged $500,000 in construction funds to start the project this year. He said the rest of the road could be finished next budget year.

Widening will begin at the Orange County line and proceed north to the Big Tree Road.

Meisch's no-federal-aid proposal was made at a recent meeting of the Chamber committee headed by Odham. Acceptance of federal aid, he said at the meeting, would mean that the highway would have to be constructed according to federal specifications and much money would have to be spent on expensive right-of-way.

He made a motion at the meeting that the Chamber committee set up a record of recommending the State Road Board consider the possibility of five-laning 17-92 within the limits of a 125-foot right-of-way. He added the provision that Seminole County and the State Road Board bear construction costs on the same ratio as the state and federal governments normally engage in on federally-approved projects.

Federal specifications require about 80 feet of grade on either side of the actual road surface, it was pointed out. By doing the job without federal aid, the grade could be cut down to about 30 feet on either side, the Chamber committee was told.

The Chamber committee voted to do away with a 40-foot park section in the center of the highway in favor of a five-lane road and less right-of-way.

With the killing of Meisch's proposal, however, right-of-way, when and if obtained, will be on the basis of a 200-foot width in compliance with requirements of the Federal Bureau of Roads.

for several days. A public relations spokesman for the Public Health Service said the delay was ordered for "another look-see at this whole very confusing picture."

Rechecks were ordered when some children who had been inoculated came down with polio. The number of such confirmed cases now stands at 77 out of more than five million inoculated. Five of these have been fatal.

At Socoma, Calif., a group of researchers announced a new type of antipolio material made of live viruses and administered through milkshakes rather than by injection. They said it brings immunity more quickly than the Salk product, but only against two of the three types of polio. Salk vaccine made of killed viruses, is effective against all three.

Regarding the delay in releasing vaccine for the second shot, Dr. Bird said it is possible that men heading the national program may decide that fall is a better time to administer the vaccine.

Humphrey Believes Reds Could Set Trap With Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today the Russians may be setting a trap in Southeast Asia by spectacular moves to ease tensions in Europe.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview that he fears the administration may have a "tendency to let down" in Asia because of its concentration on European affairs.

"I think the Russians may be moving to ease tensions in Europe and at the same time restraining the Chinese communists from violence in the Far East area in order to infiltrate the governments in Southeast Asia and cut them off from the free world country by country," he said.

He called for a re-examination of American policies in Asia.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Heads are rolling in Saudi Arabia. The heads belong to pictures in newspaper advertisements.

The Saudi government has banned publication of pictures in the country's one daily and handful of weekly newspapers. Editors manage to conform by leaving off the heads of any human being shown in ads. Even an American tire ad, showing a man with a body made of tires, was decapitated.

The ban is based on the traditional Moslem prohibition of images of any kind. The prohibition has been relaxed in most Moslem countries, but there has been a resurgence of puritanism in Saudi Arabia recently.

Parties Not Far Apart

A majority of Republican senators joined the Democratic senate majority in passing President Eisenhower's bill extending the Reciprocal Trade Relations Act. This means that the party traditionally favoring a high tariff has come out in favor of a measure which has already lowered customs duties considerably and is expected to keep on doing so. Unless there is a radical reversal, the cause of the protectionists is definitely lost.

Much the same thing happened in 1914, when the Federal Reserve Act was passed. Under the leadership of William J. Bryan the Democrats had come to be regarded as the party of unsound finance. When the Democratic congress voted for the Reserve Act, generally approved by financial experts, it registered its repudiation of its past stand. Henceforth parties might differ on the details of banking and currency acts, but agreement had been established on fundamentals.

Our parties work up a good deal of heat in denouncing each other's records. The present agreement on reciprocity shows, as did the 1914 agreement on currency, that basically the two parties are not so far apart.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Let the wicked forsake his way and the uprighteous man his thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him... he will abundantly pardon.—Is. 55:7.—The great heart of the infinite is filled with love to us, let us cause him no sorrow, and disappointment.

Professionals Have Explanations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market sprang a slow leak three weeks ago.

Watching stock prices go soft, the public took to the sidelines. The professionals, however, had a wide variety of ready explanations and some are looking eagerly for signs of recovery and revival of public interest.

The stock market lost its zip at a time when most of the news continued to be bullish. Good earnings reports, increased dividends, new records in steel production, gains in industrial output generally, and a flood of optimistic predictions of even better times ahead—all of these seemed suddenly to lose their glamor.

But it was the very same kind of news that earlier in the year was the unfailing excuse for bidding stock prices higher. Why didn't the same good news work in the last three weeks? Brokers point out that stock traders don't buy because of what business has done, but because of what they think it's likely to do. Six months ago the bulls decided that first-quarter earnings were going to be good. The first of this year they guessed that second-quarter earnings should be good also. They anticipated the stock gains, mergers and increased dividends, and the general prosperity.

So stock prices were bid up high—so high in some cases that yields had much of their attraction and bonds didn't look so dull.

Those who bought six months ago are now in position to sell and take their profits subject only to long-term capital gain tax rates.

Selling on margin has also been made less attractive. In two stages the Federal Reserve Board has raised margins to 70 per cent.

Brokers' analysts here are either gloomy for the market, or volume buyers note, just about the time the market turned soft. Business

Corrupting Splash

There has frequently been considerable uproar directed to the corrupting and immoral influence of this or that book, this or that film. But very little in the way of a murmur has been registered against the extraordinarily appealing villain that is emerging in practically every entertainment medium. He dresses well, drives a new car, speaks well, and in general is a pretty successful business man type.

He knows his profession of crime and when the game is up he doesn't dissolve into a tearful pool of expensive haberdashery. This smooth heel is invariably furnished with a half-baked psychological explanation of why he is the crazy mixed up success he is. Half the time he is caught by a tired, rather shabby detective or reporter in a crumpled suit who gives the impression that virtue always rides around in an out-dated car and wears a stringy tie.

When he is shown as more to be pitied than blamed a grave disservice is done to the sound criminal and social psychology which honestly, intelligently and persistently seeks to lessen and eliminate crime.

The thing to watch is that the highly polished heel looks very good as long as he lasts long enough to live it up in a way that baggy-eyed detective and foot-sore reporter never can in a virtue-filled lifetime.

Crimes may not pay, but it certainly supports a flashy expense account. A look at crime statistics would suggest that it is not so much flash pots as it is splash and splash that is currently most corrupting.

Deer Army

The Army has never been able quite to top the attraction of the Navy's best slogan: "Join the Navy and See the World". But recently an area presenting unlimited possibilities has opened.

At Fort Sill, Oklahoma, 2,500 deer—twice as many as last year—are roaming the 77,000-acre military reservation. The deer are a positive nuisance gliding about in the middle of maneuvers and causing all sorts of non-military havoc.

Hunting is encouraged, but the 233 deer bagged last season haven't helped to give the authorities even a hoof-hold in the situation. Desperation has driven them to shipping the excess deer to other military posts.

It would be no surprise if a recruitment campaign were soon to out-feature the Navy's travel boasts with a bid to the wide outside.

New Headquarters Design Is Shown

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Council of Churches' design for its new headquarters here is a 15-million-dollar, 17-story edifice, sufficient to accommodate at least 3,000 staff workers and housing a number of facilities.

Construction plans were announced Tuesday by Edmund F. Wagner, president of the church center's Board of Trustees.

The council's offices are now in rented space in eight buildings in downtown Manhattan.

The new headquarters is planned for a block-long site on Riverside Drive, between 119th and 120th streets, overlooking the Hudson River and near Columbia University.

HAPPY IS THE NATION WHOSE ANNALS ARE SWIFT

JAMES MARLOW

One Point Stands Out Clearly

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American government doesn't know what the Russians are up to. That point stands out clearly in Secretary of State Dulles' talk to the nation.

Lately the Communists have been mild and to a degree cooperative. They let Austria have independence. They have agreed to talks among the Big Four powers—the United States, Britain, France, Russia—at the highest level. Why?

Dulles doesn't know. He frankly expressed puzzlement by their motives in his broadcast last night from President Eisenhower's office. Although Eisenhower said a "new dawn" may be coming, he and Dulles cautioned against expecting too much of the talks.

Dulles and Eisenhower, both of whom had been frigid for years

Some Painful Symptoms Of An Infectious Disease

By NERMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.

INFECTIOUS mononucleosis is distressing to almost everyone who has it. Painful swollen lymph glands, particularly in the neck, is the main symptom in most cases. Moving your neck is going to hurt.

In addition to enlarging the lymph glands, it causes an increase in the number of white cells in your blood. The spleen in the upper part of your abdomen is usually enlarged, too. You probably will have a slightly sore throat and swallowing will be painful. Your mouth also is likely to be inflamed.

You may have a fever ranging as high as 104 or 105 degrees. In adults, this fever comes before glandular enlargement and it may last for several weeks. In children, however, the fever usually accompanies the enlarged glands and often subsides after only a few days.

Other symptoms are weakness, exhaustion, and pain in the legs. You may feel mentally depressed, nervous, have giddy spells and sweat profusely. Jaundice may develop in some instances. In a few cases, a skin rash breaks out.

Seldom Fatal
Seldom is this disease fatal. It does, however, cause an occasional death. Consult your physician promptly if you suspect you have infectious mononucleosis.

Usually, infectious mononucleosis can be treated satisfactorily with an extract made from the adrenal glands. Ordinarily, this will relieve the symptoms.

General care of your mouth and throat are essential. I think you'll find warm saline solutions particularly helpful as a mouthwash. Mix one quarter teaspoonful of salt to about half a glass of warm water. If you have stomatitis (inflamed mouth) your doctor might advise that you use potassium permanganate as a mouth wash twice a day.

You've got to remain in bed until your doctor deems you can get up. Some victims are ill enough to go to a hospital. As with any other acute infection, your diet must be light.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. L. P. A.: I have been ill for two years with a heart condition and have lost my desire for food. What can I take to restore my appetite?

ANSWER: Poor appetite comes from many causes. A thorough examination should be made to determine the cause of the trouble. Then proper treatment may be employed.

Every Adult Should Baby Watch

NEW YORK (AP)—Every adult in the world ought to spend at least an hour a day baby watching.

Can't think of a better way to learn human nature. Seeing a child struggle so desperately to become a grownup, you begin dimly to understand why grown-ups so often act like desperate children.

There is no industry, pastime, or hobby—call it what you will—that kinder the spirit more than baby watching. But nothing else gives you quite such a frightening insight into the passage of time.

"Why, it seems only yesterday that—" This is the phrase you find yourself using most often in baby watching. You leave a baby for a day or two, and when you come back it seems to have sprung up with the speed of a flower racing the turning sun.

So it has been with Tracy Ann, a small stranger who came into our lives as a month-old mite in a bundle nearly two years ago.

Why, it seems only yesterday that I held her to my shoulder to a top-level meeting with the Russians. Will now both meet with them. Neither man has shown much enthusiasm for the idea. Britain and France persuaded Dulles to persuade Eisenhower to take part.

Dulles last night was very cautious about the meeting, perhaps because he doesn't know what the Russians have up their sleeve.

Since the Russians have been guessing, Eisenhower and Dulles will have to do their homework if they don't want to come out second best. Homework doesn't mean just remembering to stand pat on every single difference which has existed between Russia and the West for years.

This whole Russian performance may be phony. There's a chance it isn't, that they really want peace and are willing to pay a price for it in the form of concessions they never would make before.

If they do back up a bit, the United States will have to be prepared to do the same if, by doing so, American safety and world peace are benefited. American rigidity might continue a cold war until it became hot.

But Dulles knows any American concessions by him or Eisenhower may bring down the wrath of some Republicans. Both men have vivid memories of Republican outcries for the past 10 years over concessions made by President Roosevelt at Yalta.

Yet, if the Russians yield but the United States yields nothing, this country endangers its alliances.

Almost as if giving assurance beforehand that Eisenhower would get mixed up in no deals with the Russians—and therefore warding off criticism ahead of time—Dulles last night said:

Eisenhower and the other heads of government can't solve all the big problems in the three or four days they'll meet; I think that will be a meeting which can be held safely without bringing in great risks and which may open up a new opportunity.

Dulles privately is reported to believe it will take many months, perhaps years, to work out agreements with the Soviet Union on great world issues.

LARGE BUDGET OK'D
NEW YORK (AP)—The largest budget in New York City history—$1,782,335,000—has been approved by the City Council.

So soft and frail and helpless she felt then, so utterly dependent, that I was afraid she'd bend and break.

What happens to a baby? Where do they vanish so swiftly? Right while you're watching, right before your eyes, the baby fades and disappears. Suddenly you no longer are watching a baby but a small sturdy human being running on its own legs, pushing your helping hands away impatiently, and trying to seize the whole wide world in its two little hands.

When did it happen? You can't quite remember. All you know is that the baby you loved is gone. A child you love has taken its place.

There is a big difference between a baby and a child. Take reading, for example. As a baby, Tracy Ann loved nothing better than to digest newspaper editorials. She did this literally, by tearing out the editorial, stuffing it until it mouth, and summing it until it had been thoroughly absorbed. Finally had to take newspapers away from her altogether. Afraid she might ruin her eyes.

Now, as a child, she is on a Mother Goose jag. We read these jingles together practically every morning. But I may have to halt this, too. It seems to make her melancholy. Her favorite picture shows Little Boy Blue, fast asleep under the haystack. He is barefooted, and this distresses Tracy no end.

"No shoes," she says sadly, shaking her head. Never mind the sheep in the meadow, the cows in the corn. Isn't that sleepy little boy ever going to get a pair of bright new shoes?

My wife, Frances, and I believe Tracy must be a genius because, although her second birthday is still a month away, she can count up to five and tall the primary colors.

That is, she can do these things when she isn't in her dotage or trying to tease me. A child's dotage comes just before its nap or bedtime, when its wits wander like those of some very old people. At such moments Tracy insists four comes after two and there is no such number as three at all.

But a child loves nothing better than pulling a grownup's leg. Thus it is that on some days, although she knows the grass is green and the sky is blue, Tracy will stoutly argue both are red. In fact, when she is in her scarlet mood, she even upholds the theory her feet are red.

"Tracy, do you want to grow up to be a real fat girl or a real pretty girl?" I ask her.

"Real fat!" she answers, looking up with a leer that only childhood knows.

She has such a tremendous thirst for knowledge—she seems to be trying to learn everything under the sun each moment—it sometimes appalls me.

Watching Tracy as a baby was tremendous fun. So is it now to watch her spritlike child's mind unfold. But I have an uneasy feeling now that she is studying me

Smokestack Stops Threat Of Suicide

AUBURN, Maine (AP)—A locomotive's belching smokestack thwarted a threatened suicide dive from an Androscoggin River bridge's superstructure but Fred Cloutier, 51, broke several bones anyway in a jump from a ladder he was descending.

Police Chief Alton E. Savage said today he would seek mental examination for the husky Lewiston mill-hand, hospitalized with fractures.

Cloutier scampered for two hours Tuesday atop the Canadian National Railway's bridge, drumming on girders with his fists and beating off rescuers with wild punches.

The attack drew cries of "Jump, you coward, jump," from spectators. A police boat cruised under the bridge to pick up Cloutier should he try the 70-foot dive.

Local Rose Circle Invests President, Mrs. W. Morrison

The Rose Circle of the Sanford Garden Club held its last meeting of this year Friday at the home of Mrs. E. B. Crumley in the form of a covered dish luncheon. Mrs. E. B. Beck and Mrs. Charles Wilke acted as co-hostesses.

The session opened with a beautiful prayer for gardeners. During the course of the meeting Mrs. Crumley, program chairman, outlined the programs for the new year. Mrs. W. A. Morrison gave a delightful and enthusiastic report on the convention held recently in Jacksonville. She presented the chairman with a certificate given to the Rose Circle at the convention for a 100 per cent donation to the national building fund.

A beautiful English brass bowl was presented to the outgoing chairman, Mrs. Wilke, by the circle in appreciation of the hard work put forth by her during her chairmanship of the last two years. She in turn handed the gavel to Mrs. Morrison who closed the meeting. It was announced that the Sanford Garden Club was awarded the Rose Rosette for the flower show of 1934.

Those present were Mrs. Charles Cole, Mrs. G. W. Bailey, Mrs. L. M. Tyne, Mrs. Claude Harmond, Mrs. Edward Lane, Mrs. W. A. Morrison, Mrs. A. W. Epps, Sr., Mrs. W. E. Seminole Hi

By MARGARET MOORE

The cheerleaders were chosen last week. Instead of the student body voting on them it was decided that it would be better if they were chosen by the faculty and Student Council.

Those receiving the honor were Elizabeth Woodruff, Patti Witte, Betty Ann Munson, Janice Kinlaw, Janet Wynne, Nancy Cushing, Dotty Mette, Jackie Filby, and Peggy Lundquist. Congratulations girls!

The students running for class officers, and also those running for student council will give their speeches Thursday. The election will be held Friday. May the best ones win.

The seniors are getting their "last will and testament" together (for the school paper). Marianne Roston will probably leave her wavy hair to Joe Davis. As if he needs it.

A fish fry will be held Thursday for the baseball boys out at Camp Seminole. Robert Carter and Homer Alexander are going a couple of hours early to catch some frogs and crabs. This is just in case some of the boys don't like fish.

The band has elected new officers for the next year. They are as follows: captain and president, Joe Fisher; 1st Lt. Head Girl officer, treasurer and vice president, Faye Ashley; 1st Lt. and head operations, Larry Burney; 2nd Lt. and drum major, Robert Armstrong; 1st Lt. and sergeant, Green Duggan; 2nd Lt. and publicity chairman, Sus Hayes; 2nd Lt. and 1st Sgt., 2nd assistant operations, Larry Payton; 1st Sgt. and assistant librarian, Joyce Milam; Sgt. drill masters, Bill Hexamer, George Anderson, J. D. Stone, and Leila Smith. The outstanding Freshman, although not in the chain of command, holds the rank of Corporal. He is Dickie Rountree.

The band is marching in the Armed Forces Day parade. Several cars are being entered from various clubs in school.

The Pep Club will be up town Saturday to assist the American Legion in the poppy sale.

Miss Edna Chittenden's library staff had its annual outing at her home. Hamburgers, cold drinks, watermelons and potato chips were enjoyed by all. It was held on May 18.

The spring concert was presented Tuesday night of this week by the BHS Glee club. It was directed by Miss Ollie Reese Whittle. The accompanists were Nancy Cash, Janice Luxen, Joan Wilke and Tommy Wyatt. Some of the soloists were Gene Nichols, singing "Boothillerd Man," Barbara O'Barr, "Serenade," from the "The Student Prince," and Allen Maffett singing "The Last Words of David" and the "Erie Canal."

Stage settings included apple blossoms and special lighting. Larry Bates, Helen Alexander, and Janice Kinlaw danced to "Apple Blossom Time." It was done well and much enjoyed by the audience. Also outstanding features were the boys' Double Quartet who made everyone laugh on "Dry Bones" and the triple trio in "Deep Purple" with a very effective stage setting in the background.

The members of the Junior class, who take literature from Dr. Root, are bringing their themes to a close. They are due tomorrow and six references are required.

Well, school's almost out for the summer. You would think that everyone is loafing up at High School. But so, almost all have at least one test to make up or some back homework to hand in. Yes, school is really busting now-a-days, and probably will until the very last day.

So long till next time...

When it opened, there were lines around the block. The 20-year record of the Sutton Theater was broken." United Artists quickly changed its idea of giving the film at the art circuit and booked it for big theaters.

The crowning triumph came in Cannes last week when "Marty," filmed in 14 days at a cost of $200,000, walked off with top honors against pictures costing millions.

"I guess that was about the nicest thing that ever happened to me," said Ernie when he heard the news.

Nice things have a habit of happening to Ernie, a pleasant, easy-going fellow despite the dastardly villain he has played in the movie.

Train Trip Taken By Kindergarten To Winter Park

The children of Mrs. O. K. Goff's Stepping Stones Kindergarten went on a train trip to Winter Park Tuesday as a field trip.

A father took pictures and a tour of the station was made. Three mothers rode on the train as chaperones. Ten of the children had never ridden on a train before.

"Some wanted to go and see the engineer," said Mrs. Goff, "and nearly all were thirsty for a drink of water."

"Many thought the speed a little slow for a steamliner," she went on. "We all had a wonderful time."

After arriving in Winter Park and meeting four more mothers the group went to the drug store and then back to the park to play. The mothers then took them home.

Ruman Has 150 Ancient Autos Under His Care

HOLLYWOOD — If you think you have troubles getting your jalopy started in the morning, consider Jim Ruman's chore. He has 150 ancient autos in his care, ranging back to an 1896 horseless carriage.

Jim is the transportation head at 20th Century-Fox. That means he must supply movies with cars, both antiquated and brand new.

The new cars are a cinch. Like several other studios, 20th has a lease with a major auto firm, which provides new cars for virtually nothing. The car company figures that having its product seen in big pictures is well worth the expense.

Old cars are easy for 20th too because the studio owns one of the biggest collections of antique autos in the world.

Says Jim: "It all started about 12 years ago when I took over the department. I like antiques and I thought we ought to start a collection of old autos."

"It turned out to be a good idea from the start. When I was in the Midwest, a woman in Ohio called me and said she had a 1902 Columbia which she had owned for 40 years. It still had the original top and paint on it. I bought it and had it shipped to Hollywood."

"When I got back, I picked up the script of Captain Eddie," the Eddie Flickerback story. One scene had him working on a car in a horseless carriage factory around the turn of the century. The Columbia, which was built by the Columbus Buggy Co. and Harvey Firestone Sr., fitted perfectly."

The cars are listed in a file according to vintage, with a cross-reference of picture and details. Usually the correct auto can be found in the studio's long shed that houses the oldtimers. A file is kept of nearby cars that can be rented from private owners.

Bud Anheuser of the transportation department displayed some of the antiques.

"Maintenance is our principal problem," said Bud. "We used to dust the cars off once a week and fill the tires with air. But when we came to use them in a picture we still had to overhaul them completely. So now we just let 'em gather dust."

Mrs. Jack Owens gave the devotional using as her scripture reading the 142 Psalm.

Gainesville's Pizzaro Hits Two Homers As G-Men Score 13-8 Win Over Sanford

Nat Sharper Hits Homer For Sanford

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
GAINESVILLE—German Pizzaro hit two home runs for Gainesville last night as the G-Men defeated the Sanford Cardinals, 13-8, in a Florida State League game.

Pizzaro's first homer, in the opening inning, was a grand slammer. His second came with the bases empty in the sixth.

Sanford also produced a home run hitter, Nat Sharper, who sent one over the fence with one on in the sixth.

One to nothing games are a rarity in any Class D league. Usually the fans are treated to slug-fests.

Last night the Florida State League had both.

The 14 victory went to fourth-place Cocoa winning its third straight, 5-0, Petersburg was the victim.

Craig Hoyal set the Saints down on two hits as 373 hometown fans looked on. He wasn't touched until the seventh inning, when the Iowa lally came off Don Graham. Bill Calkins walked, moved to second on a wild pitch and scored on Jim Miller's single.

The proceedings were different at Daytona Beach, which had a crowd of 1,181, and Gainesville where attendance was 381.

Daytona Beach banged 18 hits off four Orlando pitchers to win 18-11.

Gene Bennett slammed a triple, two doubles and a single leading the Daytona Beach attack on Orlando. John Ivory Smith got credit for his eighth victory although he received help from manager Johnny Vander Meer.

West Palm Beach beat Lakeland 5-1 in a game that would have been tight except for five errors by the losers. Glibby Gates and Bill Boyette combined to hold Lakeland to four hits. A crowd of 473 was on hand.

HIT-HAPPY AGAIN - - - - By Alan Mauer

HARVEY KUENN, DETROIT SHORTSTOP OFF TO A FLYING START TOWARD HIS THIRD 200-HIT SEASON.

HARVEY'S THE FIRST PLAYER IN THE HISTORY OF THE DETROIT TIGERS TO GET OVER 200 HITS IN EACH OF HIS FIRST TWO SEASONS—HIS 200 LED TO A LEAGUE IN 1933 AND TIED FOR FIRST WITH 201 IN 1934.

St. Louis Cards Edge Brooks, 3-2, To Sweep Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When the St. Louis Cardinals are winning, you'll never find a pair of twinkling eyes to match Eddie Stanky's eyes. And the little guy's peepers are flashing blue flames right now.

The Cardinals have won five straight and six of their last seven. But more important, their 3-2 success last night swept a series from Brooklyn—something the Cards have managed just four other times since Stanky took over as manager in 1932.

Brooklyn is dragging a three-game losing streak as it heads home from a dismal Western trip on which it lost five of nine. But the Dodgers still hold a 7½-game lead in the National League.

Chicago is second with the Cardinals third. The Cubs moved up by taking a doubleheader from the falling Philadelphia Phils 3-2 and 7-1. Milwaukee stumbled from the runner-up spot by losing to New York's Giants 4-2. Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 3-1.

That left the standings jammed behind the Brooks. The Cards are nine percentage points behind the Cubs and three points up on the Giants. And the New Yorkers are just two points ahead of the Braves.

In the American, Cleveland leads by 1½ after smearing Boston 19-0. New York swept its series from Chicago's White Sox 11-4, while Detroit beat Baltimore 6-3 in 10 innings and Washington defeated Kansas City 7-2.

Not only have the Cardinals apparently found themselves, but Stanky's finally getting the pitching he's missed for so long. His guys have allowed just three runs in their last five games and he dumped Brooklyn with only one call to the bullpen.

The hall for help brought in Barney Schultz last night and the 6-3 right-hander got the final two outs with little tying run on second to protect Harvey Haddix's second victory. With two of their runs unearned, the Cards jammed all their scoring into the first two innings.

From there on, lower Johnny Feders and Clem Labine permitted only one other base runner while holding the Cards to four hits for the game.

Rookie Rudy Minarcin won his first major league start for the Redlegs behind Tex Klussek's two-run homer and Wally Post's bases-loaded double.

Marion argued for a double play but got nowhere.

Mickey Meath then hit a grand slam homer to put the Yankees beyond reach.

Press box observers were unanimous in the opinion that Fox not only had held the ball, but was in the act of tagging Bauer when the husky outfielder came barreling into him.

"Maybe he calls it aggressive baseball," Fox said angrily, "but I call it dirty playing. If he wants to play football instead of baseball I'll get some football pads the next time and we'll go at it."

Naval Base Team Slated To Play Eustis Tonight

EUSTIS — Tavares and Umattilla, currently tied for the Lake Orange League lead, will attempt to remain that way tonight as all eight league teams see action.

Tavares will play at Leesburg while Umattilla entertains DeLand. In other games, Sanford NAAS will play at Eustis and Mt. Dora will be at Winter Garden.

Kansas City Fans Shocked At Ways Of Baseball Clubs

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball fans of Kansas City, who led sheltered lives until recently, have been shocked to learn of the depths to which big league clubs will stoop to win games.

One of their number writes that if what he reads is true, "these methods seem outside the bounds of decency."

What aroused him was an article by Ernie Mehl, who as sports editor of the Kansas City Star had much to do with the transfer of the Athletics to that city.

Mehl recently interviewed at some length the veteran and highly skilled groundskeeper of the Cleveland Indians, Emil Bossard. With pride in his handiwork, he told in detail of the devilish tricks he employs to handicap visiting clubs.

"It's all part of the business," he assured Mehl. "We do a lot of things here in Cleveland calculated to help our club and make it a little tougher for the visitors. We work over the field every day according to who is pitching, what sort of speed the other team has and what kind of hitters they are."

For example, Bossard explained, when sinkerballer Bob Lemon is due to pitch for the Indians, making it certain the opposing club will hit many balls on the ground, he leaves the infield nice and soft so that the Tribe defenders will have more time to reach grounders. When a set of speed boys comes to town, Emil has an antidote for them too.

"Take the White Sox," he said. "They have a lot of luck running bases until they get here. I fix the dirt around first base so it's very loose. A player can't get a start for second base. You don't see those guys stealing many bases here. We stop that."

"So they complain, I didn't do anything intentionally, and how are they going to prove that I did? So I make a few mistakes and it helps the Indians win some games. So what's wrong with that?"

Jockey Willie Shoemaker was the first to win 90 races in 1853.

Among the highlights of the first quarter-season of play have been Sanford's top-sided victories over Cocoa and Orlando. Although the statistics are not available, it is believed that the Cards' 24-3 victory over Cocoa is tops for the loop. Close behind it is the 18-3 walloping handed Orlando.

When the season opened this year, league president John Krider, league president John Krider said: "We are looking for a much closer and more interesting race between clubs due to the change in our veteran and rookie limits."

"If a quarter of a season is any indication of how close the race will continue to be throughout the season, Mr. Krider will get his wish. So far, there are only 10½ games separating first-place Orlando and last-place St. Petersburg.

The Cardinals got off to a bad start by losing five of their first six ball games but then won three in a row and have continued to

Lineup Announced For Golf Classic

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Bill Campbell, captain of America's Walker Cup golf team, took a last look at his players in practice today before announcing his lineup for the opening foursome matches against Great Britain tomorrow.

Harvey Ward, of San Francisco, and crooner Don Chetry, of Wichita Falls, Tex., are expected to form one team with Joe Conrad, of San Antonio, Tex., and Dale Morey, of Indianapolis, pairing in the other match.

Campbell has kept these players together in five days of practice. The other four—Bruce Cydd, Portland, Ore.; Jim Jackson, St. Louis; Billy Joe Patton, Morgantown, N.C.; and Dick Yost, Portland, Ore. changed partners yesterday.

"There are so many sournois choices," Campbell said. "Certain psychological factors have to be taken into account in such play. We are making experiments to find our best teams."

The Walker Cup competition consists of four foursomes, in which partners play alternate strokes with one ball on the first day and eight singles the second. The draw can be an important factor.

Each team captain presents his lineup without having seen those of the other six and there's considerable mental maneuvering in the attempt to get each player into a place where he'll be most effective.

Indications are Britain will line up this way: Ronnie White and Joe Carr, Gerald Micklem and John Morgan, David Blair and Robin Calver and Ian Caldwell and Stuart Millward.

In the first eight games of the season, Detroit Lion halfback Bob Hornschoemper completed three punts in six attempts. All three completions were touchbacks.

All three top contenders won last night. Atlanta's first place Crusaders dented Mobile 5-2. Second place New Orleans dented Birmingham's fourth place Braves 5-4. Chattanooga remained in third by thumping fifth place Memphis 6-2. And Nashville whipped last place Little Rock 3-2.

Indiana University has qualified for the NCAA basketball title twice, in 1950 and 1953, and has won the championship both times.

Low Attendance Reported At Some Southern Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Front office grumblings and street corner rumors about franchise movements are nothing new to the Southern Assn. and seldom amount to a hill of beans. But sometimes, somewhere, someone is going to tire of footing the bill for games played in large, nearly empty parks.

Take last night. The turnout at New Orleans was 1,544 and at Memphis 1,300, passable for mid-week Class AAA contests in those cities.

But they stayed away in droves at Little Rock and Mobile. Paid attendance at Little Rock was 267 and Mobile drew only 221.

Pay off the hot boy, stadium attendance, players and club officials along with stadium rental from receipts of 263 fans and you won't have a heck of a lot left.

The sitting peasant race has kept attendance up in the cities where there are contenders, but there may be some truth in pronouncements that the contenders aren't planning to foot the bill forever for the also-rans.

All three top contenders won last night. Atlanta's first place Crusaders dented Mobile 5-2. Second place New Orleans dented Birmingham's fourth place Braves 5-4. Chattanooga remained in third by thumping fifth place Memphis 6-2. And Nashville whipped last place Little Rock 3-2.

Doris Hart Plans To Retire From Competitive Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Doris Hart, U.S. Women's champion and 1934 Wimbledon Wimbledon, intends to retire from competitive tennis at the end of the current season.

Hart, ranked No. 1 in the United States and Louis Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., tested her career by England to secure the Wimbledon title.

The final round of women's tennis at Wimbledon was held at the Royal Tennis Club, which is the only tennis club in the world to have a grass court.

Outstanding Young Man To Be Revealed Tonight At Jaycee Installation

Seminole County's outstanding young man of the year will be announced and new officers installed at tonight's Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting at the Elks Club. The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock.

Taking over as president of the Jaycees will be A. B. Peterson Jr. He replaces Herbert Roller, who has held the office for a year.

State Jaycee president Byrd Marshall of Miami will install the officers. Another distinguished guest will be Welborn Daniels of Clermont, vice president of District 4.

Just who the outstanding young man will be is a closely-guarded secret which will not be revealed until tonight. U. S. Marine pilot Jack Bolt, now located in Washington, was the previous recipient of the award.

Two good government awards will also be presented by Forrest Breckenridge to local men.

Other officers who will be installed include M. L. Raborn Jr. first vice president; Tommy Stringer, second vice president; David Thrasher, treasurer; and Clarence McKee, secretary.

Scheduled to be installed as directors are Jack Barracough, Melvin Duke, Ed Hunt, William C. Hutchison Jr. and George Andrew Spear. Out-going president Roller automatically becomes a director.

Approximately 100 Jaycees, their wives and friends are expected to attend.

Technical problems will be worked out at a secret meeting today.

The agreement between the company and Local 450, CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, was announced by Commissioner Sidney S. Sheiner of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

No announcement of the terms was made.

Sheiner said that in any event production could not start before Monday.

The strike began April 19 in a contract dispute at Sperry's mill-long plant at Lake Success and two smaller plants. Most of the plant's output, including electronic devices, was for the armed forces.

Four Armed Men Rob Alabama Bank Of Large Amount

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Four armed men robbed the First National Bank of Jacksonville of between $35,000 and $50,000 today, after kidnaping a bank official from his home.

The bandits surprised Jessie M. Wood, assistant vice president and cashier, at his home and forced him to accompany two men to the bank while the other two guarded his wife and two children.

At the bank they waited inside, meeting employees as they arrived for work, tying them up and putting them in a back room.

When a time lock opened the bank vault they scooped up between $45,000 and $50,000 and carried it off in a repossessed bank car. Dan W. Gray, bank vice president, made the estimate of the amount stolen. He said the loss was covered by insurance.

Other items on the agenda include the presentation of awards to the three top winners of the VFW marble tournament which was recently held in the schools throughout Seminole County.

These activities are to be followed by a covered dish supper.

All members are urged to attend this session and "get acquainted" with their fellow Post members and their wives, and are reminded to take a covered dish.

Chamber Handles Housing Rentals

Forrest Breckenridge, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, stated this morning that the Chamber is handling rental listings, and not sale of property.

He urged that everyone having housing for rent, contact the Chamber as soon as possible. The coming of six additional squadrons at the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station will greatly increase demand for living quarters.

Cancer Drive Head Sends Out Appeal

Irving Pryor, chairman of the Seminole County Cancer fund drive has announced that the campaign is nearing its quota, but is still falling short. He urged that those who have failed to mail their checks do so in order that a complete report may be turned in to the State.

"These funds are necessary so that cancer research education and services may continue in this County," Pryor declared.

Red Cross Chapter To Meet

The Seminole County Chapter, American Red Cross, will hold an open meeting at 8 p.m. Monday.

The purpose of this session is to introduce Miss Edith Olson, Field Representative of Nursing Services for Florida, who will give a general survey of various Red Cross Courses of Instruction in different fields of Nursing.

This will cover "Home Care of the Sick, Mother and Baby Care, and Nurses Aides."

The Board of the Seminole County Chapter is particularly interested in organizing these courses, and securing the names of those eligible to take the initial course to qualify as instructors, namely—active and inactive registered nurses, home economics teachers and majors, science teachers and majors and physical education teachers and majors.

All those interested in taking the courses are invited to attend. City and County civic clubs, women's organizations, P.T.A., etc., are urged to be represented and the Chapter would be particularly appreciative of all active and inactive registered nurses, home economics teachers and majors, science teachers and majors and physical education teachers and majors lending their support to the program—also the Future Nurses Club of Seminole High School.

Miss Olson will be happy to answer questions and inquiries and those planning to attend should come prepared to take notes.

Japanese Doctor Claims New Drug Helps Paralysis

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese doctor claims extremely successful results with a treatment for paralysis.

The doctor, Hiroo Sato, of Kitami, Hokkaido, told Kyodo news agency he had used a new drug on nine patients. He said an 11-year-old boy and a 4-year-old girl, crippled by polio, were able to walk in less than a month of treatment.

Dr. Sato said he used adrenocortical hormones, strengthened with special vitamins derived from B2. He found the drug, in tablet form, helped improve the blood circulation in the paralyzed part of the body. He said it is too early to say if his treatment is permanently effective.

Librarians Find Many Things Inside Books

You often read of a librarian finding in the pages of a book a $5 or $10 bill which has been used as a book mark and absent-mindedly forgotten.

No money-carrying books have yet shown up at the Sanford Public Library, but "we've found everything else in them except a strip of bacon," according to Mrs. Sarah King, the librarian.

Some of the curious things borrowers use as book marks, she revealed, are paper match covers, baby pins, letters, Christmas cards, and bills of all kinds. (Doctor, that's the reason you haven't been paid.)

A copy of "A Man Called Peter" was returned with nothing inside but with plenty outside. It apparently had been the victim of an overturned bottle of perfume.

Of interest to statisticians might be the fact that many people drink while reading. Or perhaps that should be, drink after reading. Book after book bearing a glass-ring on its cover heads back to the library shelves. That is the most common injury done to books, Mrs. King explained.

She pointed out, however, that the general run of people are careful with books.

Although the library finds no money in books with which to fatten its budget, an average of $50 is collected each month in fines and a similar amount is received from rental books.

The champion in the field of overdue books was a volume of poems. The borrower kept it three months overdue.

Presently on the library shelves are 11,000 books. An average of 120 are checked out each day.

Mrs. King said she has been a librarian since she was 19 years old. She has been a librarian since she was 19 years old.

A LIBRARIAN'S LIFE is made up of books and more books. Mrs. Sarah King discovers as she starts to thin down a huge stack in the course of her work at the Sanford Public Library. (Staff Photo)

Tip-Off Of Sanford Navy Team Leads To Capture Of McKenzie

Following a tip-off by the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station baseball team, Lake County Sheriff Willis McCall last night shot and wounded a Negro who held two Mt. Dora policemen at gunpoint for a half-hour.

McCall called on Thomas McKenzie, about 45, Columbia, S. C., to surrender three times, Police Capt. Herman Cox reported.

When McKenzie refused, McCall shot him in the left leg, Cox said.

Cox said McKenzie threatened him and Patrolman J. C. Leiford with a 38-caliber Smith and Wesson special after the policemen answered a call from residents of the Fifth Ave.-Highland St. area. A gunshot had been reported.

Mt. Dora police earlier had been alerted by the SNAAS baseball team who reported a Negro fitting McKenzie's description had waved a pistol at them on State Highway 46 between Sanford and Mt. Dora. The pistol incident came after McKenzie wouldn't let the team's bus pass on the highway and both stopped, Cox said. The team went safely on its way, however, and reported to police.

McCall said the Mt. Dora officers called the police station by car radio to have him assist them when they arrived on the scene and found McKenzie brandishing the pistol.

He assumed command of Composite Squadron Nine in September, 1954.

Among Cdr. Lemos' decorations are the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Navy Commendation Ribbon with Combat Clasp and the Medal with gold star. He and Mrs. Lemos with their five children make their home at 2000 Oak Ave.

The five-section parade will form at 10 a. m. at E. First St. and Ft. Mellon Park, traveling west on First St. to Oak Ave., south to Second St., east on Second St. to Sanford Ave. and south on Sanford Ave. to First St.

The long-awaited Armed Forces Day "open house" celebration at the Sanford Auxiliary Air Station will get underway at 10 a. m. and continue through 3 p. m.

This event, which attracted thousands of Central Floridians last year, is the sixth annual observance of this day.

Again, as last year, Power for Peace will be the theme of the day on which the general public has the opportunity to see firsthand the "open house" celebration at the Sanford Auxiliary Air Station.

The NAAS main gate will swing open to all traffic at 10 a. m. Visitors will proceed along McCrackin Ave. to Third St., turn right, and continue to a designated parking area just off Von Weller Ave. Guides will be present to assist those unfamiliar with the Station.

First on the list of events will be a simulated air-sea rescue by a Navy helicopter. Here, all guests will be able to see actual rescue procedures, including the hoisting of a survivor into the helicopter.

Immediately following this performance, a precision fire fighting crew will demonstrate how the pilot of a burning plane is rescued after a crash landing. Both rescue demonstrations are scheduled to take place at 11:30 a. m. and again at 2 p. m.

Another highlight of the "open house" will be the landing and mooring of a Navy patrol type aircraft The 260 foot airship from Glynnco, Ga., will land at 1 p. m. after circling the field for approximately a half hour. A 40-man ground-handling crew will swing into action to complete the operation.

Open for inspection will be eight of the Navy's carrier combat aircraft Jet and conventional type planes included the display are: Gruman "Cougar"; McDonnell "Banshee"; Lockheed "Neptune"; Douglas "Skyraider"; Consolidated "Privateer"; Plesco "Retriever"; North American "Bavard" and the Beechcraft "Expediter."

A static ordnance and photographic exhibition will be located near the aircraft display area. Continuous combat movies will also be shown.

As an added feature, the Grand Control Approach Unit, a fire fighting crash truck and a field ambulance will be on display. The Ground Control Approach Unit is a device by which pilots are guided to safe landings during overcast weather.

All visitors planning to attend the "open house" at the NAAS are requested not to bring cameras or firearms aboard the Station. A fish fry is on the agenda from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m. with Campbell Lassing Post of the American Legion as host. The Legionnaires are co-sponsors of the day with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Legion Auxiliary Leads Poppy Day Set For Tomorrow

Tomorrow will be Poppy Day in Sanford and throughout the nation. The day will see millions of Americans wearing little red poppies in memory of those who have given their lives in the nation's defense. As they put on their poppies, they will contribute to the welfare of disabled war veterans and needy children of veterans.

Plans for the observance here have been completed under the direction of Mrs. C. E. Hunter, president of the American Legion. Under her leadership, the Legion auxiliary workers have been organized to distribute poppies throughout the City. Women of the Auxiliary will be aided by women and girls of other groups.

The poppies are made of crepe paper in replica of the wild poppies of France and Flanders which bloomed "between the crosses, row on row" of the World War I battle cemeteries.

The custom of wearing them in honor of the war dead began at the close of World War I, when the picture of the little wild poppies growing in the bare earth around the battle graves was fresh in the minds of the returning veterans.
