

Stewart Asks:

What Manner Of Censorship Will We Get?

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

GEORGE CREEK favors a wartime censorship of cables, but as a newspaperman, he opposes a censorship of the press. He has been named as a member of the committee on Public Information (the so-called Compub) while the United States was in the last World war, and I myself represented the press as its defender in Buenos Aires. Consequently, I know pretty well what George's policy was.

It is true that his effort was to get pro-Yankee stuff into print that in the direction of suppression. South American editors quickly recognized that he wasn't trying to muzzle them. Hence they not only didn't resent his activities, they outright approved his services, asked for it and published it ad lib. The Compub was afloat.

I don't particularly quarrel with cable censorship, either. It's a nuisance, which can be carried to ridiculous extremes as it was during the 1914-18 period. I had to experience with that, too, for I was a Yankee correspondent in London, and off and on, on the West coast, before we entered the war. I was in the line of fire. It always made me want to have a dumb-headed censor which is perfectly harmless. I don't think I'd shed. Still, I can't say that a certain amount of discretion, relative to international communication, may be necessary in such an emergency.

Cable Censorship
George also supports a radio censorship. I begin to get a bit sensitive on that subject. The suggestion hints at an abridgment of the right of free speech. My feeling is that a citizen's entitled to speak of his mouth about as he pleases, and it's a privilege that certainly is qualified if he's told he can't do it if he happens to be standing in front of a mike. Of course, it's arguable that we have left much use in putting a censor on cables if the same information can be transmitted just as well by wireless. It wasn't much of a problem during the last war. The Allies severed Germany's cable connections at the 1912 stage of the game and the wireless was a dependable source.

to signify materially. For a few months after that routine started before I was dispatched to Europe and then South America, I was a foreign news editor in New York. I got rooms of wireless copy from German sources (their cables being cut) and it was seldom that I could sort out an intelligible sentence. Now it's entirely different. On the whole, I agree with George Creek. Censor the cables if we must. I'm not a radio broadcaster, so I'm concerned as to those broadcasters' fate only in an academic way. But as a newspaperman, I'd be prepared to holler my head off at press restrictions—except as to libel and a little stuff like that.

However, there's an evident tendency toward a regular censorship of the press itself. The superficial chat in advocacy of organization of another Compub, like George Creek's—just informative, or even propagandistic, if you care to call it so. But the undercurrent in Washington is to another chat that authority believes ought to be kept corked up.

Lowell Mellett, himself a newspaperman and an old personal friend of mine, is the chief most frequently suggested to handle the job. He denies that a real censorship is what's aimed at, and I presume from what I know of him (and that's a lot), that he's sincere. But there are others.

Knox's View
Navy Secretary Frank Knox is a newspaper man also—publisher of the Chicago Daily News when he left on leave of absence, as he is now, in charge of our sea forces. Frank's scheme is what he refers to as a "voluntary censorship." That is, our newspapers are to censor themselves. But who's to be the final judge of the competency with which they do it? It seems as if the task would require an official administrator. And what will he be? A chief censor or what?

Publisher Arthur Hays Sulzberger of the New York Times is a newspaperman likewise. "I believe," he says, "that we can have military censorship and still preserve a large measure of our freedom."

A large measure of it—huh! But not all. And there's a distinction between what Frank Knox said and what Art Sulzberger said. Frank proposed a VOLUNTARY censorship—the newspapers to impose it on themselves. Art mentioned a MILITARY censorship—with an army or navy officer sitting alongside the editor, telling him what he can and can't print. I've been an editor myself. I wouldn't have liked that.

Americans Urged To Buy Winter Coal Now

WASHINGTON, June 11—(AP)—Anticipating "very grave danger of a shortage" of coal next winter, the government urged householders, throughout the country, last night to buy winter coal now.

At the same time, Secretary Ickes removed the qualification "probably" from forecast of an oil shortage and said definitely that easterners "will have to get along with less gasoline for their cars and probably less oil to heat their homes." No indication was given, however, as to when restrictions would be imposed.

Both coal and oil shortages are threatened not by lack of supplies but by the demands of the defense program in making transportation facilities. The coal shortage may be avoided, officials said, if the campaign for summer buying succeeds.

War Hits Civilians Hard, Blanding Says

DAYTONA BEACH, June 11—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Albert H. Blanding told Florida sheriffs Tuesday that in modern warfare civilians often suffer more than soldiers in the field and that defense preparations should be made accordingly.

Report States Germans Sank U. S. Vessel

Eleven Survivors Of Robin Moor Reach Brazil And Relate Story To Consul

Full Report Is Set For Monday

Sub Commander Said Aware Of Identity Of Torpedoed Ship

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP)—The State Department announced today that a preliminary report from the American consul in Pernambuco, Brazil, stated that the United States ship Robin Moor was undoubtedly sunk by a German submarine.

The report added that the submarine commander was fully aware that the Robin Moor was an American vessel.

Summer aides, acting secretary of State, making announcement at a press conference. The report of the consul was based on interviews with 11 survivors of the ship which was sunk on May 31 in the South Atlantic. Thirty-five persons are still missing.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said a full report is expected Monday and a study of it will be necessary before a course of action if any is set.

President Roosevelt and State Department officials last night avoided survivors' versions of the sinking of the American steamer Robin Moor in the South Atlantic before sharing any United States course in the incident.

Eleven survivors were due to arrive at Pernambuco, Brazil, at the Brazilian steamer Araripe today.

The stories of the survivors will be transmitted to the president as soon as received. The department said it would not say any action is warranted.

Mrs. Roosevelt, through White House Secretary Early, Tuesday called on the nation to withhold judgment on the tragedy until the facts have been ascertained. The 11 persons aboard the Oscar are the only known survivors out of the 46 officers, passengers and crewmen who were aboard the Robin Moor when she left New York May 6 for Capetown, South Africa.

They were picked up by the Oscar after being adrift in an open lifeboat for 19 days. Capt. Leslie Pereira, master of the Oscar, radioed that the Robin Moor was torpedoed on May 31.

Similarly, the U. S. Maritime Commission said the Oscar's operators had advised the Sea Shipping company owners of the Robin Moor, that the ship was sent to the bottom by a torpedo on May 31.

NYA Advisory Board Suggests Local Projects

Recommending several projects to the area chief, L. W. Burton, the NYA advisory committee met Tuesday afternoon at the local office of the chief of Chairman C. W. Ishill.

First among the recommendations was the establishment of a board of boys and girls in this city, Miss Ishill, secretary said this morning. The matter had been put before Mr. Burton previously and he replied to the committee by letter in his absence, that there were no funds available at the time for such a project.

Acting on the suggestion of T. W. Lawton and the county school board the committee recommended that NYA labor be used to erect a one-room school building at Ft. Reed for negroes, Miss Dodge reported. Another project for the benefit of the negroes was recommended by Alex Johnson, the construction of an agriculture building at Crooms academy.

This would come under the head of a defense project, Mr. Johnson said.

Way Cleared To Construct New Hospital

Housholder Explains Legislation Which Alters Status Of Proposed Building

Seminole County is now in the best position it has been to build a hospital if the people want it, Ernest F. Housholder, state senator and county attorney, said today.

Machinery was set up at the recent session of the legislature to enable Seminole County to build a hospital with its own funds, if the project which is now before the WPA is rejected.

The Board of County Commissioners, at its meeting Tuesday, authorized O. P. Herndon, clerk, to file with the WPA immediately whether they will approve an allocation of funds for the proposed hospital here.

If the WPA does not approve the project to aid the County to build the hospital, the County may remain with plans for a hospital, Senator Housholder explained.

Under the first plan, a referendum will be held, probably in August, to approve an act passed by the legislature which would allow the County to issue up to $150,000 additional hospital bonds. A referendum must be held on this act because it is not advertised in advance, Senator Housholder stated. Only freeholders can vote in this election, and a majority of those voting will be required to approve the act.

If the freeholders approve the measure allowing the County Commission to call a bond election, the election would be authorized and only freeholders would be allowed to vote in it. Fifty-one percent of all freeholders in the county would have to vote in this election to make it legal, and a majority of those voting would have to register in favor of the bonds to authorize their issuance.

If the act permitting the County to call a bond election is approved in the referendum, the

In response to an appeal for shelves last week from Mrs. C. R. Dawson who has charge of the Red Cross sewing room at the Woman's Club, it was announced today that William and Elmer Toll of the United Lumber Company had been selected to supply all materials for the shelves, and that F. Mrs. Dawson pointed out that although various organizations sponsor the sewing days, anyone is welcome on any day. She asked the workers to bring their own thimbles and scissors, since there are not enough of these to go around.

Hundred Persons View Exhibition Of Fancy Shots

Track shots, some of them so difficult as to be unbelievable, were demonstrated yesterday by Ken Beagle, representing the Remington Arms Company of Bridgeport, Conn., at the weekly shoot of the Seminole Gun Club on the lake front range.

About 100 persons attended the exhibition, and marveled at seeing a calibres shattered into "rod-like" by a high powered rifle, and potatoes thrown into the air and blown to pieces by well-placed shots.

Introduced by Byrd Goodie, recently elected president of the Gun Club, Mr. Beagle was assisted by his wife and accompanied by H. S. Walker, club representative for the Remington Arms Company.

With a bucket placed over his head, and with the aid of a mirror which he held in one hand, Mr. Beagle shot a clay pigeon which his wife held in her hand 25 feet away. He made this shot with a .38 caliber pistol.

Pointing out the effectiveness of modern high powered ammunition, Mr. Beagle stated that a 22 caliber bullet would carry for a distance of over a mile. He took a high powered rifle, aimed it at a gallon oil

Chase Re-named Dual Officer In Shippers League

Randall Chase of Chase and Company, Sanford, was unanimously re-elected vice president and treasurer of the Growers and Shippers League of Florida at its 10th annual meeting in Orlando last night.

It is Keene, head of the R. D. Keene Company of Winter Garden was re-elected president and 28 directors were also named at the meeting.

Highlight of the meeting was the annual address of President Keene, who told the 500 or more members present, that due to the war situation they could expect that traffic and transportation problems in Florida's citrus and vegetable industries would become greatly increased.

President Keene summarized the situation by pointing out that the use of the present extensive merchant tonnage in the trans-Atlantic service will impose a great burden on the railroad and that "we may thus anticipate a severe shortage in transportation facilities next year, and consequently an attempt by the railroads to increase freight rates on account of the increased demand for freight service."

Reviewing the history of the league since 1923 and its efforts to decrease freight rates, President Keene stated that the

Conflict Approaches Damascus, Capital Of Vichy Colony; Germany Attacked

England Raided By Nazi Planes

Leaflets Scattered Saying Britain Is Facing Starvation

A violent battle between British tanks and French warplanes was reported raging today on the outskirts of Damascus, capital of Syria, with Vichy-French troops still holding the Allies at bay east of Kessouh, 10 miles away.

German planes aided the French in yesterday's action but there was indication they were engaged in fighting today. The French acknowledged severe losses against numerically superior forces.

In the Western air war German night raiders pounded the British Isles in the heaviest attacks in weeks and scattered leaflets over the English countryside declaring that England faces starvation this year or the beginning of next.

British planes attacked the Ruhr industrial centers of Duisburg and Duesseldorf and roared down the French coast to strike at German gun emplacements.

Britain and her Allies have adopted a resolution affirming their determination to struggle against German or Italian aggression until victory is won and pleading mutual assistance to each other. The action was taken in the first formal convocation of the representatives of Britain and the governments most of them in exile, with which she is allied.

Heavily reinforced De Gaulle's charged behind British tanks and armored cars yesterday and drove almost to the outskirts of Damascus, Syrian capital, after only four days of Middle East warfare, it was reported last night.

The 150 French were reportedly stopped just 12 miles south of Syria's largest city by the most bitter fighting on the Free French front since they were driven around the French defenses, but again their attacks were said to have failed.

War Still Can Be Won, Davis States In Talk

NEW YORK, June 12 (Special)—"Lindbergh is wrong when he says it is too late to win this war," said Elmer Davis, CBS news analyst in a talk May 29 on what he saw and heard during a recent visit to England. "This war can be won, but it won't be easy," Mr. Davis declared. "It probably cannot be won unless the American people want to win it badly enough to work at it—harder than we are working now, which is to say that unless we produce more war material than we are producing now and see that far more of what we produce gets to England, the war may be lost." According to the news commentator, "negotiated peace looks much less attractive to the British than it does to some citizens who live 5,000 miles from the Nazis." "The English remember what happened to the Czechs after the negotiated peace at Munich, and when they see the Vichy government slipping down into the slime, they recall that Marshal Petain, at least, seemed to think that the armistice of last June was a sort of negotiated peace," Mr. Davis said. "Defeatism or appeasement sentiment in England, he asserted, is 'confined to very limited circles." "The British are better prepared to meet the dangers that confront them 'with every month that passes," the news analyst pointed out. Concerning the invasion which has been expected, Mr. Davis had this to say: "Nobody knows of course whether the Germans will try an invasion or not, but it is prevalent belief among men in authority and the general public, too, that they will try it that most likely they will try it toward the end of this summer and it can be beaten off." Predicting that in next winter the people of Britain are "likely to find the strain worse than it was last winter," Mr. Davis said the English are going to need two things to help them stand that strain: "Energy and eat, and a plausible hope of victory." "Both of these things, as well as the increased supply of war materials which the British will also need, depend on the success in the battle in the Atlantic, which is not going quite so favorably as Senator Vandenberg would have us believe," the speaker said. Mr. Davis opined that the English "more and more every day realize that their hope of victory depends on us."

Seminoles Take Second Win From Saints 10 To 5

Triples By McRaney And Hardman Account For Winning Runs In Contest

Leesburg Slated For Game Tonight

Booth Gets Two Hits And Three Runs In Two Times At Bat

Extra base hits in the right places netted Sanford a 10-5 win over the league-leading Saints last night for the fourth victory in the last five starts of two of them over St. Augustine.

Climbing closer to the nearest rival, Ocala, the Seminoles will take on the Anglers tonight at the local ball park and the new pitcher Harrison Teitz, newly acquired from Ocala, will probably get the opening assignment on the mound.

After taking an early lead away from St. Augustine and tying the game in the third inning, three to three, the locals went to work on Pitcher Wall and reached him for 13 hits, including four triples and one double. From the third inning on the boys put the game on ice by piling up two in the fourth, one in the fifth, three in the sixth and one each in the sixth and seventh. After the Saints had made their two runs in the second frame they scored one run in the sixth, eighth and last but never threatened to take the ball game.

Pete McRaney shared the hero role with Bamy Hardman as each of them drove in three runs. McRaney poled out two triples for his hits of the game while Hardman hit a triple and single for four times at bat. Both of the two run makers were left on base and never crossed the plate.

Jim Booth did the unusual by hitting a pair of singles in two times up to score three runs, getting on base three times through walks handed out by Wall. He got on base every time he faced the pitcher.

Ernie LaValley, greased lightning runner, got one hit in the ball game but could credit that to his legs as he scampered to first base for a safety on a bunt to the pitcher. Getting on base through two walks he stole three bases during the contest and one of them was a trip to home plate as he and Joe Justice worked a double steal off first and third.

The fourth inning set the game in the win column for the Seminoles when Girk hit a double, went to third on Gillespie's single and both players looped home on Hardman's triple. After that Sanford scored runs in ever inning through McRaney's two triples, Hardman's single, and flyball thrown on Gillespie's drive to left field.

Castling around for a team strong enough to whip the St. Augustine Saints who, he thinks will be leading the league as of the morning of July 4, Strothard turns up as the first State League scribe publicly to announce his selections.

Picking All-Stars Is Not Too Easy, Says Scribe

DAYTONA BEACH, June 12.—(Special)—While there's a stand-out or two, the task of selecting a Florida State League All-Star team for 1941 is anything but easy in the opinion of John Strothard, sports editor of the Daytona Beach News-Journal.

1940 team utility man, Strothard opines that you can't overlook Freddie Leonhardt of Ocala as the first baseman, Leesburg's Mike Conroy at second, Leesburg's Bill Good at short, and Daytona's Ed Juszyk at third.

Strothard didn't select two right-handers and two left-handers as fans will be called upon to do when they mark their printed ballot.

Instead he claimed that you'll have to pick your four hurlers from the following list:

Floyd Thieroff and Earl Gray of Daytona, Joe Cleary and Fred Swindell of Orlando, Lefty Harper and Orville Kirchner of DeLand, Will Eckenroth and Johnny Rowland of Ocala, Danny Elson and Cecil McCann of Gainesville.

Strothard admits difficulty in selections at second base where fans have a fat field to pick from, including Larry Womack of Orlando, Bill Costa of Daytona, Russ Babon of DeLand, and Danny Sells of St. Augustine.

DeLand's Johnny Danyo was selected for the utility role because of his all-around ability and because he was hitting in the upper .300's at last writing.

The beach scribe failed to pick a manager and ball-boy.

Strothard preceded his selections by stating "The customers have always been a bit obtuse about accepting this corner's recommendations for All-Star performers, which is probably right, since this writer gets a chance to be an expert all year long and the fans have only that one opportunity per annum."

The first 400 people buying tickets to parks around the league Sunday and Monday June 22 and 23 will be handed ballots.

German Authorities Not Ready To Discuss Sinking Of Ship

Official Depreciates Robin Moor Incident As One Among Many Ship Sinkings

American Protest Is Being Prepared

Nazis Declare They Will Not Be "Buf- faloed" by U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(A.P.)—Summer Welles, under secretary of state, today announced that in the sinking of the Robin Moor was beyond dispute and indirectly accused Germany of violating the international treaty on submarine warfare. He said he would withhold a considered statement until full depictions of the 11 survivors was received.

RECIFE, Brazil, June 12 (A.P.)—A survivor of the sinking of the United States freighter Robin Moor asserted today that armed German seamen occupied the 4,999-ton ship and ordered her radio to prevent her from flashing S. O. S. before the torpedo from the German submarine sent her to the bottom.

The narrator, who remained anonymous, said there was no trace of panic as the passengers and crew took to lifeboats.

"The first seven days we had no sight of the other boats. I was in the lifeboat for 10 days. I never forgot those awful days and nights."

The narrator is one of the seamen who spent 18 days in the lifeboat and was picked up by the Brazilian rescue ship Coria. There is no trace of the other boats.

German authorities today declared bluntly they would not be "buffaloed" by the United States' reaction to the sinking of the S. S. Robin Moor—America's first torpedo victim of war—first as Washington prepared a vigorous protest based on evidence the ship was deliberately sunk by a Nazi submarine.

A German spokesman said many ships bound for England had already been sunk and Germany was in no hurry about participating in a discussion of the Robin Moor incident.

A dramatic account of how a German submarine gave the 46 passengers and crew of the American merchant ship Robin Moor a lesson in the sea before it was torpedoed and then left them to their fate in open lifeboats was issued by the State Department today.

The department released without comment a second and more comprehensive report from Walter L. Latham, American consul at Pernambuco, Brazil, on the sinking of his liner with the 11 survivors listed there.

Latham had reported earlier that the 4,999-ton cargo ship was "deliberately sunk by a German submarine" and that the commander of the submarine was fully aware that the vessel was American. His report laid the basis for a formal diplomatic protest, or possibly such strong action as a blockade of Germany.

Under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Daniel, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, a month-long drive and program in which several hundred children are expected to take part is being planned and carried on from 15 to 12 years of age were tried today to start at the Legion Hut at 10:30 A. M. July 16, to begin training for the event.

Every child has one or more friends. Mrs. Daniel said that the purpose is to have them be friendly to everyone they meet. The program is being carried on in the Legion Hut at 10:30 A. M. July 16, to begin training for the event.

Work On Road 44 To Start Within Six Months, Householder States

Work on the unpaved part of State Road 44, which runs from Sanford to Titusville on the East Coast, will begin sometime in the next six months, and it is hoped to complete the project within the year, Senator Householder said today.

After the adjournment of the recent session of the Legislature, Senator Householder remained in Tallahassee to confer with Thomas A. Johnson, chairman of the State Road Department, and J. H. Dowling, chief engineer.

"We went into the matter of the completion of the unpaved part of Road 44 and I reminded the two men that we had passed legislation to take effect July 1 which will bring more money into the Road Department for constructing needed roads," Senator Householder said.

"Mr. Dowling said that Nixon Butt, member of the highway group from this district, had said that the Road Department was strongly in favor of completing Road 44 and that the matter had been discussed thoroughly between them," the Senator stated.

The chief engineer told the Senator that construction of the road would begin in six months, and that "he hoped it might begin early enough to be finished before the end of the year."

Senator Householder added that Mr. Dowling assured him "this is no idle promise, and you can go home and answer to your people that the road work will begin during the year."

A survey of Road 44 from the Titusville bridge into Sanford has been progressing rapidly, Senator Householder stated, and maps and plans are now being prepared so that in a short time the Road Department will be able to furnish data that will show the right of way in Sanford County.

British Aid Group Gets Urgent Appeal

An urgent appeal has just been received by Mrs. Ira D. Martin, chairman of the Benning County branch of the Bundles for Britain Club, for emergency bags for men and women refugees, she said today.

Soap, wash rags, razors, combs, shaving cream, pads, pencils and scissors are needed, Mrs. Martin said as well as alighans for the Royal Air Force. Plans and instructions can be obtained at the headquarters for Bundles for Britain, 611 East Second Street.

The British carton of refugee clothing and over 1,000 pieces of knitted goods have been sent in since June 1940 when the Benning County chapter was organized, Mrs. Martin declared. Many cash donations and $50 for hospital funds have also been sent to England.

"No one is really happy unless he is really contributing in some way to insure the democratic way of life we enjoy here in the United States," the chairman asserted.

Half-year Car Tags Will Be Sold Monday

Proof Required Show- ing Car Not Driven Prior To June 16

License plates for the last half of 1941 will go on sale at the office of Jno. D. Jinkins, county tax collector, on Monday, it was announced today. Minimum price for any tag is $5.25 except for light trailers weighing 500 pounds or less, the flat rate on which is $2.75, Mr. Jinkins said.

To secure a half year tag for a new motor vehicle, the bill of sale from the dealer must show that the vehicle was purchased June 16, 1941, or subsequently, the tax collector pointed out. "or proof by affidavit must be made that the car has not been driven on the roads of Florida prior to June 16."

On used vehicles proof by affidavit must be made that the vehicle has not been driven since the expiration of the last tag issued for it, Mr. Jinkins stated.

Maintenance tags, the issuance of which was authorized under Chapter 20210, Acts of the 1941 Legislature, will also be available beginning Monday. Issuance of these tags was provided when a measure vetoed by Governor Cone in 1939 was passed over the veto by the recent session of the Legislature.

Mr. Jinkins offered section 7 of the laws as an explanation of the maintenance tags.

"After the first day of June, A. D. 1941, it shall be unlawful to operate upon the highways of this state a truck, the gross weight of which shall exceed 15,000 pounds, or a tractor," he said.

Two Famous British Ships Go To Bottom

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, June 13.—(A.P.)—The Yaretis river gunboat Ladybird, which played a role in the Pansy incident of 1937 and the monitor Terror, famous since World War days, have been destroyed by German dive-bombers off the African coast, the British announced yesterday.

The Ladybird went down in a blazing finish May 12 in Tobruk harbor, her stern and middle form apart by two huge bombs, fire pouring from her boiler room and her crew threatened by a possible magazine explosion.

The wounded gunners kept begging for orders and pumped metal from their six-inchers and pompons until the last gun went under the waves.

Higgins Outlines Plans For Inland Tourist Routes

"Strip" Map Will Be Distributed At Travel Agencies

Edward Higgins, who was elected Wednesday to head the St. Johns River Trail Association for the ensuing year, today outlined plans to increase the scope of the organization and to develop tourist traffic over State Road 17 for the benefit of inland towns, including Sanford.

Cities now associated with the organization are Orlando, Sanford, DeLand, Pomona, Crescent City, Pearson, Palatka, Green Cove Springs and Jacksonville.

"It is hoped to get the cooperation of the present members of the St. Johns River Trail Association and their consent to extend the route from the Florida line over State Road 17 to Kissimmee, over State Road 192 to Holopaw and over the recently opened Road 29 and 26 into Miami," Mr. Higgins explained.

"In this way we will develop the inland route from the state line to Miami, which is a short per distance to the lower East Coast," the president added.

A strip map, showing the shorter route to Miami and the scenic attractions of this road, is expected to be prepared soon by the association. This map will be placed at strategic points beyond the state border as well as within the limits of Florida in order to draw tourists down the center of the state.

In addition, copies of the map also would be furnished to tourist agencies in Miami, so that travelers could be advised of the shorter route home. Some persons may wish to take one route down to the East Coast and another road back North, Mr. Higgins said.

The St. Johns River Trail Association has a good strong roads committee, the president pointed out, whose duty it is to advocate the improvement of roads along the river trail.

"This committee's duties," Mr. Higgins explained, "is to contact the State Road Department and the counties traversed by this route to improve the roads." The association recently sponsored a brief which was presented to the federal bureau of roads in Washington asking for the consideration as a national defense highway of State Road 8 from Jacksonville through Sanford to the intersection with Road 22 at Orlando.

At the meeting in DeLand it was suggested that this brief be revised and data furnished showing the commercial business handled over the route.

Further plans for the coming year of the association will be laid at a meeting in the near future, to be called by Mr. Higgins.

Negotiations For Bloodless Capitu- lation Of City Delays English

Russian-German Actions Watched

Nazi Demand For Use Of Ukrainian Gran- aries Is Reported

On the Middle East war front, fierce Circassian cavalry, trained by the French but now fighting on the side of the British—Free French Allies, were reported to have fought their way into the suburbs of Damascus in the six-day-old invasion of Syria today.

Negotiations for the bloodless capitulation of Damascus were delaying the Allies' entry into the city, now virtually encircled, said British news reports from Cairo.

In the air war, the British said they attacked many targets in Germany's teeming industrial Ruhr Valley.

Meanwhile, relations between Germany and Russia received official attention in London. Some reports said the Nazis were demanding use of Russia's vast Ukrainian granaries and the passage of German troops through Russia into the Middle East.

Negotiations for the surrender of Damascus to spare the ancient city of Biblical fame from siege were reported underway early today as British and Free French forces moved into position for a final assault on the strongly defended capital.

Along the Lebanese coast British forces that "brushed aside resistance" were said unofficially to have advanced considerably beyond Sidon in their drive on Beirut, and British quarters predicted an occupation of the Lebanese capital and French naval base at any time.

Trustworthy Arab quarters said they believed that some kind of informal negotiations for the surrender of Damascus were being held, although there was no confirmation from British military officials here.

Cities Athina, Greece, and French high commissioner and commander in Syria, is understood to have marshalled strong forces outside the walls and towers of Damascus, and the south it was believed Arab pressure might force a peaceful surrender.

To the Arabs Damascus, reputed to be the oldest city in the world still inhabited, is one of the four Mohammedan terrestrial paradises.

Dents's strong defense of Damascus in the Khasou sector 10 miles south of the city, was reported to be in the nature of a "grudge" because of British General Wilson's apparent decision to give the Free French the honor of taking the city.

A heavy British aerial bombardment of Beirut, it was said in informed quarters, indicates that British armored forces driving up the Lebanese coast are moving swiftly upon the city.
