

GAME AND FRESH WATER FISH BILL HAS BECOME LAW

Lake Monroe Among Bodies In Which Seines and Nets Are Allowed Under Provisions of the New Measure

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 4.—Governor Martin has affixed his signature and given his approval to the act passed several days ago by the House and Senate providing for creation of the Department of Game and Fresh Water Fish. Under terms of the act the position of state game and fresh water fish. Under terms of the act the position of state game commissioner, carrying a salary of $4,500, is created.

The state game commissioner shall visit each county in the state at least once a year, and oftener if it shall appear to be necessary, and shall have authority to employ deputies and other assistants whose commissions shall run through the state of Florida for the purpose of enforcing provisions of the act which include:

That no person shall pursue, capture or kill, game or fur bearing animals within the limits of the state, without being licensed so to do as provided in the act, nor shall any person take or attempt to take any fresh water fish within the limits of the state, except residents of the state, without being licensed.

The license fee to be charged non-residents for the privilege of taking fresh water fish in each county shall be $2.00, but upon payment of $5.00 a license will be issued good for the state at large. All fish in the rivers, lakes, creeks, and other fresh waters within the jurisdiction of the state are declared in provision of the act to be the property of the state, and may be taken and used by the citizens of Florida and persons not citizens subject to the restrictions and reservations imposed by the act or otherwise.

No seines, gill nets, stop nets or other kind of nets shall be fished in any of the fresh water lakes, rivers or other fresh waterways of the state, except Lake Oklawaha, Lake Crescent, George, Monroe, Hartney, Jessup, Heblonca, and Orange, and the Suwannee river, as far north as the forks of the river forming East and West

Passes. The term fresh water shall include all lakes, rivers and creeks in Florida, up to the mouth of such rivers and creeks, where they empty into salt water, except the St. Johns river including Doctors Lake. No seine of greater length than 1,000 yards shall be fished in the fresh waters in the state.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to have in his or their possession, fish or cause to be fished, any seine, gill net or any other kind of fish net, in fresh waters of the state for the purpose of catching fresh water fish of a less size than two inches bar, measured from knot to knot, or a stretched mesh of four inches, except the fanning circle and bag of such seines and traps may be one and one-half inches bar or three inches stretch mesh; provided, however, that nets of a less size may be fished for herring on established herring hauls which are designated by the State Game Commission. Possession of any fish net of a less size mesh than prescribed in the act shall be prima facie evidence that the seine or net is being used contrary to law, and shall be used in the act. It is further provided that no person or corporation shall catch or have in possession, buy or sell or unnecessarily destroy any of the following fresh water fish of less length than set forth as follows: Catfish, rough, ten inches from end of nose to fork of tail; speckled perch, 8 inches; Black Bass, 11 inches.

No person shall at any time place in any bass or bream bed any set or baited hook for catching them while heading, and no set hook shall be placed in any river or creek for the purpose of hooking sturgeon; but nothing in the law prohibits catching of catfish by trot line or hook and line at any time, nor the shipment thereof. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to obstruct or partly obstruct any river, creek lake or other fresh waterway by screen or rack, wire or otherwise, to prevent passage of fish protected by the act. Killing of fish by explosives is prohibited. A license tax of $50 a year will be required of wholesale dealers, and retailers $5. Non-resident or alien wholesale dealers will be required to pay $500 a year.

There are Three Reasons for property values and all three are--- LOCATION

S O SAID ONE of the Nation's greatest real estate operators, and he was absolutely right. Location creates values—makes profits—and is the basic cause of both. Conservative people estimate that Greater Miami will have a population of 250,000 people in three years, 500,000 in five years, and 1,000,000 in ten years. You must realize, as a thinking investor, that Miami Shores, with its matchless location on the line of travel, with as much Bay frontage as the City of Miami, will absorb at least 50,000 or 60,000 of this potential population. You will recall that when Miami had a population of 50,000 people, Flagler Street property sold for $6,000 a front foot. Today you can buy business property in Miami Shores at from $75 up per front foot.

You have here the real reason for the heavy purchase of Miami Shores business and residential properties by the leading business and professional men and women of Miami, including prominent real estate operators.

REALIZES DREAM AFTER 35 YEARS

GREY-HAIRED MAN WEDS WOMAN HE LOST WHEN YOUNG

CHAONIA, Mo., June 5— This is a story of a dream that came true.

Usually you know, dreams either come true at once or fade and die.

But this one kept on beckoning for 35 years before its misty shapes became solid and real.

This story is about a man who loved a woman.

He loved her when they were young and straight and comely—when life, like the year, was in springtime.

And 35 years later when they were old and gray haired and bent he still loved her. And this time she accepted him.

Dr. Newton Holliday is 71. He has just married Mrs. Frances Siegel, 10 years his junior.

A generation and more ago she lived in Keokuk, Ia. There Dr. Holliday paid his court—and there his brother, Dr. M. J. Holliday, paid court also.

The brothers were partners in their medical practice, but they found themselves rivals for the young woman's hand.

Dr. M. J. Holliday is four years older than his brother. And he was the one who found favor in the girl's eyes.

They were married, and Dr. Newton Holliday set about it to forget.

And then the years brought many changes.

The rejected suitor met other women and fell in love again. He

Off With Old Love and On With the New too was married.

His wife died, and in the course of time he married again. This marriage too, was ended by death.

So it looked as if the romance of his younger days was to remain only a hazy, indistinct memory.

But the elder brother—the man who had triumphed in the race for the girl's hand—found the year's bringing strange happenings, also.

Fourteen years after the marriage he and his wife found they were married.

They were married the other day.

Survive the old romance was dead

now. During the next two decades she took four husbands.

Death or divorce interrupted all her marital ventures, however, and this year, when she and Dr. Newton Holliday drifted together again both were single once more.

What was left of the old romance?

The girl who had strolled under the elms in the little Iowa town was gone.

In her place was a gray-haired woman who seemed to be waiting only for old age to take full possession.

An the man who had courted and lost her—he too, was gone, and in his place there was an elderly graybeard whose step was not the light, springy tread that had sounded on the board walks before her house 35 years before.

But maybe they still saw with the eyes of youth.

Perhaps the years rolled back for them an April that had been dead for three decades.

At all events—

They were married the other day.

And the man who gave the bride away was her former husband, the brother of the groom, Dr. M. J. Holliday.

I couldn't keep her, so I'm glad to see my brother get her," he said. "She'll make him a good wife."

So the romance that was 35 years in the bud finally came to full flower.

14 Held in Bomb Plot To Kill Spanish King

PERPIGHAM, France, June 5.—Fourteen persons have been arrested in Barcelona in connection with bomb plots against King Alfonso, according to travelers arriving over the frontier, who say news of the plots is being suppressed in Spanish newspapers.

Those arrested were young students and functionaries, members of the extremist Catalan groups denied any connection with the plots. The ban was intended to throw on the royal train between Barcelona and Madrid and is said to have been a large one weighing 175 pounds.

Hate to be a joy killer, but we doubt if a fly ever got out while the screen door was open.

Exclusively Reo

Hand-in-hand with the many mechanical features that are "exclusively Reo" go Reo's institutional performance and sound business policies.

To Reo owners these stable qualities pay dividends in the way of low initial costs for cars of Reo quality, low depreciation rates and high resale values.

Reo owners know that buying Reo is "good business."

Florida Reo Company

Big Investment Required

At the close of the year 1924, the Southern Bell Telephone Company had a total investment in service of $58,932,000, not including $33,778 of construction work in progress.

Of this large investment, a substantial portion is located in the State of Florida.

Replacements and additional plant to meet the growing needs of the telephone users of Florida was installed last year at a cost of approximately $1,314,844.

The new plant is necessarily bought at today's prices, which for equipment, material and other major parts of the telephone system, are 65 per cent higher than the pre-war prices. Wages and taxes alone are from 100 to 350 per cent higher.

An even greater investment must be made in Florida this year, with the result that the investment per telephone station is rapidly rising without a proportionate increase in the revenue per telephone station.

The enormous sums of money needed each year cannot be secured unless the Telephone Company's credit is good, and the company's credit is judged by the earnings on the investment in service.

Telephone users are familiar with the increased extent and value of telephone service in Florida, and the company is encouraged to believe that they will co-operate in making possible the enormous extensions needed in the early future.

The figures are preliminary and subject to correction, it is noted. Comparative figures for 1920 are not given for this county as it is a new one, organized in 1921.

The number of farms on January 1, 1925, was 166, of which 154 were operated by white farmers, 12 by colored farmers, 101 by owners, and 65 by tenants. Value of farm and buildings was $229,150, of land alone $808,500, and of buildings $119,650.

Average of all land in farms was 242.

Crop land in 1924 amounted to 668 acres; harvested 2,401, crop failure 1,242 and fallow or idle 823. In 1924 was 12,030; plowable 19,916; woodland 1,845, and other 139. Woodland not pastured 1,288; all other land 48.

LEE FARM LANDS ARE VALUED AT TWELVE MILLION

Recent Report by Government Shows Large Increase During 5 Years; Total Number of Cultivated Farms is 661

TALLAHASSEE, June 5.—Land and buildings devoted to farm purposes in Lee county were valued at $12,442,100 on January 1, 1925, it is shown by a statement of the federal department of commerce, giving results of the 1925 farm census. The figures are preliminary and subject to correction. Comparative figures for 1920 were not given for the county because of changes in the county boundaries since that time. Land alone was valued at $11,292,242, and the buildings at $1,149,858.

The total number of farms was 661; those operated by white farmers 650; by colored farmers 11; by owners 602; by managers 6, and by tenants 59.

...to look after her nationals. The foreign representatives in Peking, excepting the soviet ambassador, who has expressed sympathy for those killed in the rioting, have replied to China's note protesting against the shooting of last Saturday.

The reply says that the demonstrators were responsible as they blocked the London police station, and simultaneously the Chinese police office lodged a second protest with the ministers regarding the shooting of demonstrators on June 1.

Those with knowledge of China are greater fear for foreigners in inland cities than for those in ports where warships are stationed or quickly can reach any international place. The lack of influence of the central Peking government in the provinces where the local authorities are supreme is another cause for uneasiness.

No news has come from Trainan, where a similar strike situation existed last week but as Japan has sent destroyers there it is believed sailors from these vessels have been able to protect the Japanese galleys and their staffs.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I SHALL NOT WANT:—The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever. Psalm xxiii: 1, 6.

A FAMILIAR STORY

We tied our barques, in the misty past, Together, and sailed away On the tide of youth that was flowing fast To the Island of Happy Day.

And we tarried there till the sea god lured Us over the sea to him, And we sailed through shoals till our barques were moored In the Sea of the Social Swim.

We tossed and fretted, and ne'er content, Again our sails were set, And we skimmed along through the fog, and went Aground in the Straits of Debt.

On the shore of the Land Regret we stand As the stately ships go by, But no one answers the beckoning hand, And vain is our helpless cry.

In the light of the sun that is setting fast, On the wreck of our social sin, As a dream we see, through the misty past, The land of the Might-Have-Been.

—Tom Masson.

Florida Has No Heat Victims

The north is experiencing a terrific heat wave while we, here in Florida, are enjoying delightful days and cool nights. Associated Press dispatches are telling of the fatalities from the excessive heat in various parts of the country. This morning's papers tell of twelve deaths in Ohio and eleven in New York while the total for the last few days has been seventy-five. And all of this is happening in the supposedly cool north where the people and the newspapers delight in telling about how hot it gets in Florida in the summer months.

Here, we go about our regular work without thinking it is in summer time. We get so busy in building cities, developing lands, and buying and selling real estate that we forget it is the month of June. And at night we pull up the covers on our beds and sleep comfortably while the cool and delightful breezes blow in our windows.

Florida doesn't have people die from the heat. Such a thing is unheard of in this state. Prostration never occurs. And the Associated Press never finds it necessary to give to the world such news as is now coming from northern points.

When the people in the north, who are now suffering from the hot weather awaken to the fact that Florida residents enjoy cool summers, we may expect still a greater rush of homeseekers and the making of this state a great summer resort section as well as the world's greatest winter playground.

And we'll venture to say that there are a good many persons who left Florida to spend the summer in the north who are wishing they were back here, where the breezes always blow and where life is really worth living the entire year.

A Good Law, IF—

Through an amendment to the state law governing the granting of licenses to dentists, it is provided that license to practice dentistry in Florida may be revoked if bad behavior on the part of the dentist can be proven.

The Herald does not begin to know just what is meant by bad behavior on the part of a dentist in the interpretation of this law. Possibly it applies only to the behavior or that goes with efficient dental work. Perhaps, for instance, if a dentist made a habit of pulling the wrong tooth, or of leaving bits of instruments and things in his patient's jawbones, he might be called guilty of misbehavior.

One Florida dentist, of whom we have personal knowledge, drilled a hole in a fellow's good strong tooth, discovered that he had gone into the wrong molar, filled the cavity he had made with a bum filling; and charged his patient for the work he had done on the tooth he had practically ruined.

The new law might handle a case like that, or it might apply to the case of the dentist who drinks strong liquor and goes at his work in his patients' mouths with hands so trembling his instruments clink and rattle. Or the law might apply to the low-down scoundrel who cannot be trusted to take care of the dental work of decent women. Florida has had dentists of that last-mentioned type. Perhaps this new law will provide a way to run them out of the state.

And if such a law is good for dentists, it should be doubly good for the protection of the people against the quack doctor, and the shyster lawyer. Against the corrupt man who holds a doctor's license, particularly, is an ENFORCED law of that kind gravely needed in Florida.

Under the guise of ethics or "professional courtesy" doctors who know horrible things about the characters and the scoundrels' licenses revoked. Competent, decent physicians knowing that another physician is unsafe and unclean still will make no efforts to protect the public against the criminal work of the fellow.

Along with the adoption of laws giving examining boards the right to revoke the licenses of mis-behaving dentists and doctors, should be a measure requiring Medical Associations to make public every case of mal-practice that comes to their knowledge.

The dope-taking doctor, the boosting doctor, the immoral doctor—surely the voluntary assistance of every ethical physician should be available for the expulsion of such creatures from the medical and the dental profession.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

BY IRVIN S. COBB

A brawny negro prize-fighter made application at an athletic club which was putting on a series of bouts, for an opportunity to meet some suitable opponent. He announced that he was a dark cloud, a whirlwind, a tempest, a tornado, a hurricane and a sircoc.

His language impressed the matchmaker and for the preliminary go he was entered against a dependable colored scrapper. The stranger made a deplorable showing. For two rounds his opponent hammered him all over the ring. Early in the third round the beaten darky decided he had enough. He took an easy poke on the jaw and flattened out on the canvas to be counted out.

The referee was half through with his tally when disgust moved him to interpolate a speech: "Say, nigger," he growled out of the corner of his mouth, "you ain't hurt. Get up from there! Ain't you going to fight any more?"

Without stirring from his comfortable recumbent position the whirlwind made answer: "Oh, yassah, I'm gwine fight some mo'—but not tonight."

A NATION'S LOSS

OWENSBORO, KY., MESSENGER

The death of former Vice-President Marshall came as a distinct shock to the people of the United States. He had so lately been an active participant in the world's activities, and he seemed to have such a vital message to the people of his native land that his sudden taking off is one of those mysteries that mortals cannot solve. Only a few months ago he visited Kentucky, and his words were cheered by thousands. Only a week before his death he was on the lecture platform teaching civic righteousness and the brotherhood of man.

Thomas Riley Marshall was a product of the Middle West. He was not pyrotechnic, and no one can point to anything in his life that stood out as distinctive, except that he was honest, courageous and a man of sincere convictions. Moreover, he was not ambitious. The honors that came his way were given him without any conscious effort on his part. He was elected governor of Indiana as a Democrat, overturning a theretofore heavy Republican majority. He so faithfully performed his official duties that he won the admiration of all without regard to political affiliations. He was nominated for vice president on the ticket with Woodrow Wilson on both occasions, and he performed the duties incumbent on that office with dignity and impartiality. He might have been nominated for president in 1920 if he had shown any desire for the honor.

His bubbling humor, which made him such a delightful companion, was partly an asset, but more of a liability. He never sold for his true worth because he was a funny man. The casual observer only saw the humorous side, and never looked beyond into his knowledge of the serious side of things.

In that particular he had once a counterpart in Kentucky, J. Proctor Knott, congressman and governor, was a profound scholar, a linguist of considerable versatility, a teacher of law the like of whom Kentucky has rarely produced, but he had an unfeeling fund or humor that people most generally recognized to the discredit of his other qualities. In Governor Knott's later life he frequently made an assertion that he would give half he possessed if he had never made his "Duluth" speech. Yet the Duluth speech in congress was one of the most masterly pieces of satire ever found in the English language. It made the then young congressman famous overnight. Yet during his long and eventful life he was most generally known as the congressman who made the Duluth speech.

Such a handicap bound Thomas Marshall. Yet those who knew him best can testify that he was a patriot, a scholar, an omnivorous reader of good books, a profound thinker on the deeper problems of life, and a man of pronounced convictions on the theory of government. His death is a distinct loss to the country.

Rain Falls, Corn Drops. A Very Old Graptole. High Taxes? Small Wonder. The Hair of the Dog. By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

IT HAS BEEN raining in the corn belt and that has cheered the farmers. The corn suffered for lack of rain.

Yesterday the price of corn fell more than 5 cents a bushel. December corn dropping from 93 1-2 to 93 cents. The weather does something to cheer up the farmer, and then the grain speculators to cheer him DOWN again. Don't envy farmers.

A CHARMING young woman told by a learned friend that on another planet the year is fifty year long, exclaimed, "Really, William, how old must they be?"

You ask, "How old must this EARTH be?" when you read of Dr. Reed's graptolite of the clematographic pleozoic fossils in a great Virginia cave. Dr. Reed says his graptolite lived and raised a family on this earth 50,000,000 years ago.

That almost makes you shiver, and yet it is comforting. It makes you believe scientists who tell you this earth will last with human beings on it, at least ten or three hundred million years longer. We ought to accomplish something in that time.

IF YOU wonder why taxes are so heavy read Louis Seibold on the shoveling out of billions during the war.

Three thousand five hundred millions dollars were poured out in the most wasteful, incompetent, inefficient building of "auxiliary non-combatant vessels." While money was poured into the gutter, nobody could say a word about the graft and political pillaging national debt, for that would have been UNPATRIOTIC.

"How dare you," a patriot grafter would ask. "How dare you talk of base money, when the life of our dear country is at stake."

Then he would steal a few more millions. It was expensive, but it ought to be useful when the next war attack of patriotic fever comes along.

When that happens the gentleman with one hand in Uncle Sam's pocket, and the other waving a little American flag, may possibly be asked to explain the hand in the pocket, flag or no flag.

GREAT BRITAIN, seeking a cure for socialism, will set up a "food commission." The job of this commission will be to establish a "permanent check on food prices and supplies."

Wise Britons know that the best way "to cure socialism" is to do on a capitalistic basis what socialists promise to do on another basis.

IN THE days of the Kaiser the Germans showed their wisdom by establishing old age pensions and doing other things that socialism had been promising. That was cutting the ground from under the socialistic brethren, and that is what Britain proposes to do.

THE WORLD begins to discuss birth control as a subject that respectable people "may discuss without shame." Even clergymen discuss it. One British bishop, Barnes, of Birmingham, advocates birth control because "human WELFARE is menaced by human FECUNDITY."

Instantly the humble Vicar of Brighton, Canon Hicks, says he owes it to himself, his congregation and human decency to contradict Bishop Barnes.

ALL GOOD publicity and that's what birth control advocates want. The amusing thing is that many think the question should be settled by them. Each man decides how many shops he will run, how many bricks he will lay, how many ems of type he will set, how many factories he will build, etc.

But ninety-nine men out of a hundred are agreed that a WOMAN HAS NO RIGHT to decide how many children she shall create, nurse and raise.

BRITAIN'S NATIONAL council of public morals, headed by the Bishop of Winchester, urges "a five children standard for British families."

That would please the ghost of Theodore Roosevelt but he would say, "Make it ten."

British mothers might organize a National Council of Family Comfort and say to the Council of Public Morals, "All right, five children if you say so. But be kind enough to see that we mothers have a decent income and a respectable dwelling to help us raise the five children. Lacking that, YOU may have the children and raise them."

TROTZKY IS back in Moscow but in a humble job, with the army taken from him. Opening the new Russian Institute, planned by Lenin, he predicts a new human society. "Politics will die away, with higher industrial technique, and human beings will be divided in groups of technical parties. Competition will vanish, scientific and technical rivalry will take its place, etc."

These interesting suggestions might lead to the organization of human society along the lines of insect society, in beehives and ant-hills.

HORTHY, AS Regent of Hungary, is said to have ordered the murders of a few editors. Perhaps he did, perhaps he didn't. If he did, it was a somewhat ruthless indication of intelligence, in a dictator.

If you want to rule without having the people answer back, you don't want editors around. Killing a few of them in such a case is as wise as the action of a burglar who cuts the telephone line. Information cannot reach the police.

AN OLD DOG'S TRICKS

MIAMI TRIBUNE

Harry K. Thaw, apparently is running true to form again. Committed to a New York insane asylum after a spectacular and costly fight, by some obscure means winning his freedom, permitted the luxury of a private sanitarium in Pennsylvania, discharged from that institution eventually as "cured," or rather "harmless." Thaw promised to be good and adhere strictly to the simple and virtuous life. He kept his word for a while, but that — to judge from current news-stories and other reports drifting in "by grapevine telegraph" — was too good to last.

Lately he has been back in New York, and such of his old haunts as have managed to survive the lightning effects of prohibition are purring under the caress of his prodigality. He seems to have experienced no difficulty in getting his champagne as of yore—and according to reports it is having much the same effect. One evening recently, in a spirit of vinous benevolence, he is said to have spent nearly $2,000 in one cafe, buying "corsages for all the pretty women," inviting all the "good fellows" present to share his food and drink, and pouring out lavish "tips" to musicians, waiters and other attendants.

No harm may come from this directly, despite the indignant protests of the professional moralists. Thaw is Thaw; he is not Mr. Bryan nor the Rev. John Roach Straton; and apparently must live as Thaw to the end, squandering the money made by an able and thrifty father in such excesses as these just reported. The real evil is in the example he sets.

To many, for some odd reason perhaps known only to psychologists and police precinct captains, Thaw has always been something of a hero. He is such even now, and in this day as in every other, there is prevalent a certain type of weak-minded young men that admires "a liberal spender."

FAILURE TO VOTE

MIAMI HERALD

What is the reason Americans do not exercise the right of franchise? Why do one-half the duly qualified voters fail to go to the polls when that is the way they have of improving or changing their government? Why are they content to let a minority rule?

Simon Michelet, a Washington attorney who is president of the National Get-Out-The-Vote Club, has been investigating the records of other countries and he finds that nearly all nations have a better record than the United States. Great Britain gets out 76 to 82 per cent of the vote when a new House of Commons is to be chosen. The new Irish Free State, where many refuse to vote because of internal dissensions and dissatisfaction with the creation of the new government, polled 60 per cent at the recent election and Germany polled 75 per cent at the first Reichstag election while 82 per cent of the voters at the recent election when Hindenburg was chosen president.

Women in Australia, Queensland and New Zealand send as large a percentage to the polls as the men do, in some localities as high as 90 per cent casting their ballots. In the United States, where women fought long and hard for the ballot, the vote of women is usually 10 to 20 per cent lighter than that of the men.

The percentage of Americans who vote is gradually decreasing. A quarter of a century ago 80 per cent of the qualified voters went to the polls. Why has the number dropped to 50 per cent?

New York, often regarded as a sink of iniquity, at least was once keenly alert to the value of the ballot. Under Boss Tweed 108 per cent of the qualified voters cast their ballots. This record can hardly be called a model but it is a mark that other municipalities should shoot at. Perhaps by aiming that high 80 per cent of the voters can be induced to exercise their right of franchise.

Measure Sponsored by State Library Body Is Passed in Both Houses

Information from Tallahassee states that the bill sponsored by the Florida Library Association passed the senate this week by a large majority. As it also passed the house by a wide margin, Mrs. Anne Van Ness Brown, president of the Association, who has had the bill in charge, feels very much gratified at the results.
The bill provides for a biennial appropriation of $12,000 to be used for the establishment of a state library and a library commission. It provides for a board of three members, to be appointed by the governor who shall engage a librarian trained in modern library methods, who will give expert assistance in organizing and conducting the library.
Provision is made to place in the library copies of all annual, biennial and special reports of the various departments, boards and institutions, together with the findings of all investigating committees, bulletins and legislative journals, and to co-operate with other state library commissions for the purpose of securing the more economical administration of the work to be done.
Upon request advice will be given to all school, state institutions and public libraries, as to establishing and administering them, and courses in library instruction may be held in various parts of the state. Books may be acquired by gifts, or purchase, and furniture and equipment bought for the state library, which shall be located at the capital.
As the appropriation is very small, the work can only be carried on in a limited way, and several of the legislators feel a larger amount should have been asked for. This will, however, form the nucleus for a state library, and provide for its establishment in an efficient way and gives the library work in the state the recognition it deserves.
In the arguments presented for the bill, it was stated that this is one of the methods which will help in advertising Florida, and was considered one of the most progressive measures to be considered, as libraries are an important factor in attracting residents of the better class.
The American Library Association, located at Chicago, and practically all the state libraries and commissions in the Union have been interested in the progress of this bill, which will now place Florida on the library map, as well as give its citizens better library service and establish an institution which has been needed for a long time.

Mrs. Annie D. Bishop Honored at Luncheon Given By Mrs. DeCottes

Thursday at her handsome home on Park Avenue, Mrs. George A. DeCottes entertained with a beautiful luncheon honoring Mrs. Annie D. Bishop of Los Angeles, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Bishop.

A beautiful lace luncheon cloth was used and the table was centered by a tall silver basket of petunias, zinnias and lantana in varying shades of lavender. The handle was tied with a bow of mellowed old lace and lavender tulle.
Place cards were tiny colonial figures carrying black lace fans. At each place was placed a quaint lavender lace fan which was given as a favor. The nut cups were lavender tulips. Two lavender papers burned in silver holders and two stemmed silver compotes held mints in lavender.
At 1 o'clock a most delicious luncheon was served. Covers were laid for Mrs. DeCottes, Mrs. Annie D. Bishop, Mrs. Anna M. DeForrest, Mrs. Mattie Pace, Mrs. George D. Bishop, Mrs. Henry Wight, Mrs. George Rice and Mrs. A. T. Rossiter.

Daily Fashion Hint

JUST SIMPLE AND CHIC
Lovely because of its straight lines, and chic because of its simplicity, this frock in pastel blue flannel is a great favorite with women who know the mode. The design lends itself to development in flannel, kasha, crepe de Chine, satin, or the finely corded silks. The front of the dress is tucked on the shoulders, then slashed and closed at the side. In linen this would make an ideal Summer sports frock. Medium size requires 3 3/4 yards 36-inch material.

Miss Rebecca Stevens Hostess at Delightful Dance Thursday Night

Miss Rebecca Stevens was the lovely young hostess at a dance Thursday evening at her home on Park Avenue.
The color scheme of orange and green was delightfully carried out in the decorations for which zinnias, marigolds and daisies were used combined with fern. Double Check

HON. ED. WALTHAL, Sec. Seminole Hudson-Exeter Co., Sanford, Fla.
Dear Ed:

Every time a legislature meets in any state someone who slipped in while the door keeper was yawning tries to start something.

Just as I was getting my suit made up for money to Florida, some legislator goes and introduces a bill to the effect that both the husband and the wife must sign the checks to draw the family money out of the bank.

It's been my experience that it is hard enough to hold out any of the money in the pay envelope as it is, if this double check is put on the money in the bank, where it is a sure hand to get the money for gasoline, whiskey, smoke, poker and the other necessities of life.

The way I have this thing figured out is this: a legislator introduced that bill without the proper notice beforehand. He had the news of it all right in his mind but he didn't give it sufficient time to incubate.

If he had taken his time as a start and then worked it out to its desirable conclusion, Florida would have been given the biggest bang it has had since we started to collect no inheritance taxes from the dead.

It is all right for the husband and wife to sign the checks jointly. That's a good start, but in the final analysis it is not so very interesting and that has such wonderful possibilities.

What the legislator ought to have done is to have his bill provide that when the checks are signed by husband and wife together, then in that event, no affidavit, some bank would cash the same, for he might have gone a step further and provided that such checks, when endorsed by the husband, should, and in that event, as it were, become legal tender and good for the amount of the face of the check, as aforesaid.

The legal phrasing in which this passage is couched would make it easy to get through any legislature because all the legislators would think that any act, so perfectly worded from a legal standpoint, would be all right.

You see, Ed, the important thing about any act is not the what it provides, but the way in which its language is framed.

Of course, the right should be reserved for either husband or wife, to buy an Essex Cough may be, because no restrictions should be placed upon such a sound sensible investment.

Yours,
Ed.
