

ALLIES HOLD THE GERMANS HINDENBURG MAY BE DEAD PHYSICALLY OR OTHERWISE

Germans Have Not Gained In Two Weeks

London, Eng., May 13.—All German prisoners captured in France say that Field Marshal von Hindenburg is dead, letters from British officers on the western front report, according to the Daily Express. At the same time the name of General von Mackensen is brought into prominence as that of a great man who is to bring the Germans victory.

The Express assumed that the Hindenburg story is circulated to explain the failure of the great offensive.

Belief in the allies' ability to stem the German tide grows among the allied commands, as the enemy postpones his expected drive from day to day. The French have decided not to incorporate the American army in the French forces at this time and not to use it until it is complete and self sustaining.

Washington has no official confirmation of this report received through Ottawa in the summary of a report issued by the British war cabinet, but gratification is felt that the American army will be able to meet the foe as an entirety when the German menace against Amiens, Paris and the channel ports become so serious and Foch assumed supreme command, all available American troops were offered to the generalissimo. A large number were rushed to the important battle line and a sector west of Montdidier is now held by American soldiers.

German military leaders have used up most of their reserves since their attacks began March 21, and the French armies with the reserve French forces are deemed fully able to deal with further enemy onrushes. The allied strategy is aided by the fact that the Germans must attack or admit defeat.

It is now two weeks since the disastrous repulse north of Mont Kemmel, and in that time the Germans have gained hardly a foot of ground either in Flanders or in Picardy. The French and British, however, have taken some small and locally important positions in attacks. The latest is north of Kemmel village, in the capture of Hill No. 44 and an adjoining farm. It is felt the Germans cannot delay their attacks in strength much longer and that important sectors southwest of Ypres and between Arras and the Somme will soon resound again to the clash of mighty battles. Meanwhile, the opposing cannon are firing thousands of shells into and behind the opposing positions.

On the Italian front, the fighting is becoming sharper with the Italians on the offensive. After the successful operation on Monte Corno, south of Asiago, the Italians have wiped out an enemy advance post near Gel de Orso, on the Brenta and the Piave. Austrian patrol parties were wiped out near Lake Garda and on the line west of Brenta.

Announcement that the emperor had gone to the Italian front for a sight of the new offensive against the Italian positions, which did not develop, has not improved conditions in the dual monarchy, and the possibility of a separate Austrian state is reported.

The St. Cloud Tribune said in a recent issue that the stockholders in the St. Cloud Canning Factory should get together and make plans to open the plant during the summer and preserve much of the surplus crops that will be produced in this section this year. One member of that company has suggested that cold storage could be secured for sauer kraut and that the kraut could be made at the canning factory and kept until sold in this manner. This is a good suggestion and there are many other things that the factory could handle if action is taken to reopen the plant.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre of Lakeland were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. J. N. Tolar for a few days this week.

HASTINGS DISCOURAGED

Potato Growers Shipping on Poor Markets

St. Augustine, May 12.—The potato growers of St. Johns and other counties of the state are much discouraged over the market for their crop, the selling price at present not being sufficient for the growers to realize actual cost of producing the product.

This condition is deplorable in view of the high cost of everything else and the anticipated shortage of food crops generally, as potatoes are reputed to be among the most nutritious of all foods and if used in abundance would furnish a cheap food for the families and help to conserve the fast disappearing supply of wheat flour and other necessities.

The potato growers of this section have this season produced the finest crop in history. The yield is unusually heavy and the quality the best that has ever been seen in Florida. In spite of these facts the growers are unable to get $2.50 a barrel for their No. 1's and can find no market at all for the No. 2's.

Under these discouraging conditions many of the growers have ceased digging the spuds and declare that unless the market price improves materially and at once it will pay them better to plow the crop under and prepare for some other plantings.

It has been wisely suggested that the state food administrator start a campaign at once in Florida and induce the merchants to handle Florida new potatoes exclusively, instead of so many of the old potatoes which are shipped in from the north. The consumers would surely prefer the new stock which can be had so cheap and they would serve a double end, secure the best stock at cheap prices and at the same time help to consume the over supply of home product and thus aid the grower in disposing of the crop.

Food Administrator McLin of Duval county has started such a wide move and it should be made statewide.

The Evening Record of St. Augustine has started a good move in this city with the slogan, "Buy a sack of Potatoes," and shows where the consumer can purchase a sack of potatoes of ten pecks direct from the grower for about $1.50 to $1.75 a sack. This would furnish potatoes for the individual tables at less than 20 cents a peck, the cheapest ever heard of for new potatoes in Florida and yet the crop is going begging.

It is hoped and predicted that the alarmingly low market will not continue long, but this is problematical. Immediate relief is absolutely necessary if the Florida grower is to dig and ship his crop at any profit whatever, otherwise much of the yield will be plowed under and thus eliminated entirely from consumption.

The growers from the Hastings district have been appealing to the federal authorities during the past week to ascertain if some movement cannot be started to bring about some measure of relief and get the potatoes to consumers without loss to the growers, but up to date no remedy has been suggested. It therefore becomes apparent that relief, if any, is to come from state and county determination to consume as much of the home product within Florida as possible.

It is estimated that it has cost the growers $3 a barrel to produce potatoes this season on account of the high price of everything including labor, so that any price lower than that is a dead loss to the farmer. Add to this the fact that there is no market at all for the No. 2's and the loss becomes even greater.

The crop in Florida is now fully matured and in most fields the potatoes are deteriorating and must be harvested at once if they are to be saved. Millions of dollars will be lost to the farmers as it is and thousands of barrels of fine potatoes will go to waste if the demand and price do not improve materially in the next few days.—Times-Union.

ASSURANCE TO GROWER ON CROPS

Food Administrator and Railroad Administrator Give It

Washington, D. C., May 13.—Truck producers in Florida—all growers of perishable products are assured by the Federal Food administration and by the office of the director general of railroad that there is to be every possible assistance given to the growers of perishable food products in Florida to market their produce.

This assurance from the federal authorities is contained in letters received by members of the Florida delegation in congress. The letters received by Sen. Duncan U. Fletcher are typical of those received by the other members. The letter from the food administration gives assurance to the Florida growers as follows:

"Misapprehension has arisen in several quarters that the food administration has recommended curtailment of perishable production and is about to eliminate the growing of these products. We are at a loss to understand what has given rise to such impression.

"The food administration, of course, does not have jurisdiction over production but on the contrary this subject is lodged with the department of agriculture. The attitude of the food administration toward perishables has been sympathetic from the beginning. It has steadily advocated the use of perishables as substitutes for the more concentrated exportable staples and no group or type of perishables has been discriminated against in favor of any other group or type. All have their place in nutrition and their greater use has been favored.

"So far as transportation is concerned the food administration has not only opposed any restriction of transportation of perishables but has urged the utmost service in all directions. The food administration is fully impressed with the importance of the prompt movement of this character of freight and has done and will continue to do all that it can to cooperate with the railroad administration in the movement of perishables and other food commodities.

"In war times ideal transportation conditions can hardly be expected and undoubtedly there will be times when difficulties will arise. The subject of perishable transportation has received and is receiving earnest attention by the railroad and food administrations.

"Taken as a whole, conditions have recently shown improvement, and it is hoped that a still greater improvement will result."

The letter from the railroad administration is as follows:

My Dear Senator: Acknowledging and responding to your letter of April 19, addressed to the director general, with which was enclosed an inquiry received by you from the Honorable Donald Bain, Iona, Fla., as to the prospect for the transportation of peppers, eggplant and tomatoes from the Florida territory next winter:

This administration does not at the present time contemplate any restrictions on the movement of the products referred to by Mr. Bain, and unless some extreme war exigency arises which it is not now possible to foresee, it is anticipated that the service for this perishable traffic from Florida will adequately meet the requirements, particularly in view of the special consideration that has been accorded this situation which has previously been reported to you.

The letter from Mr. Bain received with yours is returned herewith and I beg to advise you that there is no reason from a transportation standpoint to discourage the production of foodstuffs in the Florida territory, although the food administration may have some ideas as to the particular varieties of vegetables that should be produced.

Yours very truly,
Oscar A. Price,
Private Secretary.

RED CROSS MUST HAVE ALL AMOUNT

Entertainments Cannot Give Certain Percent

In order to clear up an uncertainty among our folks of Seminole county in reference to Red Cross benefits and entertainments and to outline to them just what we are permitted to do along the lines of entertainments for the Seminole County Chapter, I wish to say that the "name of the Red Cross" cannot be used in connection with any entertainment or benefit without the express permission of the Chapter representatives, in each community and then only when the entire receipts of such entertainment or benefit goes to the Red Cross.

In other words, we are not permitted to give an entertainment where a portion goes to two or more organizations or societies, one of which is the Red Cross and use the name of the Red Cross in announcing such advertising such entertainments. This is done to protect the Red Cross from individual or company gain under the guise of loyalty.

However, please bear in mind that the Red Cross appreciated donations from all sources and anytime that any of us wish to give an entertainment, card party or anything of the sort totally for the Red Cross the chapter officials will do all in their power to assist, it is required, however, that such persons secure a date for such affair from any of the following authorized Red Cross representatives:

- Sanford—Mrs. R. J. Holly
- Oviedo—Mrs. B. G. Smith
- Geneva—Mrs. Endor Curlett
- Chuluota—Mrs. C. D. Brumley
- Bongwood—Mrs. G. W. Hardyway
- Altamonte—Mrs. W. B. Ballard
- East Sanford—Mrs. H. G. Dieterich

It is merely the duties of these ladies to see that dates of Red Cross entertainments do not conflict in their respective sections, the idea being to assist each benefit as it comes and allow nothing to detract from such efforts.

Where partial receipts are to be donated to the Red Cross, the Red Cross name or advertising cannot be used because the organization has no jurisdiction over such entertainments, but deeply appreciates donations from such undertakings. I am going to ask all our members and others to keep this matter impressed on their minds because we are required to strictly enforce this rule as outlined.

Respectfully,
D. C. Marlowe, Chairman
Seminole County Chapter
Red Cross.

Remembered the Editor

The editor of The Herald wishes to thank J. D. Hood for a crate of fine Irish potatoes and Harry B. Lewis for a dozen ears of fine sweet corn. These gentlemen are not only good growers but they are good givers and believe that newspaper men are entitled to the best that the country can afford. As long as our good friends the growers keep in touch with us we can face old High Cost of Living and put him out of business.

Presbyterian Church

Sunday was a fine day with the Presbyterian congregation. Eight people united with the church and there were good congregations at the services. This church is growing very rapidly, being the most rapidly growing Presbyterian church in this section.

The pastor left yesterday for Durant, Okla., where he went to attend the General Assembly as a commissioner from St. Johns Presbytery. The prayer meetings will be conducted by Mr. D. I. Thrasher for the next two weeks and there will be preaching services at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. each Sunday. Dr. Brownlee expects to return in about two weeks.

Mrs. G. P. Bryan of Hawthorne was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bryan for a few days this week.

AMERICAN TROOPS WILL NOT BE HELD IN RESERVE SAYS BAKER

TALKED TOO MUCH, German Citizen Abused Government and Gets In Jail

Jacob Nutting, a German who has lived in the southeast part of this section for several years engaged in farming on various places made remarks derogatory to the government one day last week and federal agents yesterday went to his home and brought him to the sheriff's office. He was told to take out his alien enemy papers at once and as the papers were not here he was remanded to jail by Sheriff Brady.

When his papers are finally fixed up he will probably be released upon the promise to attend strictly to his own business and keep his mouth shut. Nutting stated that if he made any such remarks he did not mean anything by it but those who heard him say that he said enough to make any loyal American have him interned until the war is over.

It is not safe for any German or any German sympathizer to make any remarks about the government and such remarks will not be passed over in this section any longer.

If there are any Germans here who think they can do this and get by with it they have something coming to them and the time is coming when the law will not always protect them from the loyal Americans who believe that America is for Americans and if there are any Germans here who think Germany is a better country than America they should take the first boat back to Germany for this country is no place for them. A word to the wise is sufficient.

RED CROSS MASS MEETING SECOND WAR FUND

Friday Night, May 17th at 8 p. m.
City Park

Dr. R. Thor Weaver, a speaker of national prominence will speak to the citizens of Sanford on the great subject of the work of the American Red Cross. This meeting is preparatory to the great Red Cross drive beginning May 20th. This speaker will cover a subject that will be of interest to every citizen in Sanford, and we are singularly blessed in having such a man come to us. As an American patriot you are urged to lay aside everything else and attend this meeting Friday night and help begin the battle at home while our boys are waging the war abroad. Come out, the Red Cross wants you, the boy abroad expects you to help him. Don't fail in this sacred obligation to him.

"Mother's Day at the Temple"

Mother's Day was most fittingly observed at the Baptist Temple Sunday.

At the Sunday school one noticed on all sides beautiful baskets of white carnations, roses and oleanders. Practically all the school attendants wore white bouquets.

At the morning service Mr. Massey delivered a splendid discourse.

At the evening hour a bevy of beautiful girls, armed with white flowers met each person in the hall and planned on a bouquet of delicate white so that each worshiper at the Temple that evening wore a white flower in honor of his or her mother. At this hour Mr. Massey delivered what might be termed a masterpiece sermon. This sermon was one that was especially appropriate at the time and was interspersed at the proper intervals with the commandment to "Honor thy Mother." Surely the message, delivered as it was will be a source of much satisfaction to those that heard it.

The Temple choir rendered several fitting selections throughout the two services and Lieutenant Lewis favored the audience at the morning hour with a violin selection.

Chapter Meeting, A. R. C.
The regular monthly business meeting of Seminole county chapter will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Woman's Club. A full attendance is desired as a matter of importance will come before the chapter for decision.

Canadian Report Seems To Be Contradictory

Washington, D. C., May 13.—Secretary Baker today added his formal denial to that of Lord Reading regarding statements as to the disposition of American forces in France. He said the facts were directly opposed to the statements and that American troops were being used actively in battle and "in such ways as meet with the approval of General Foch and General Pershing."

The secretary dictated the following statement:

"The statement made in the morning papers purporting to come from Ottawa seems to say that American forces in France will not be used actively for the present, but will be conserved, until they constitute a larger and independent American army.

"The facts are exactly otherwise. The American forces in France are being used actively in battle and the trenches and while all of the plans of the war department look to the development of a distinctive American army as such, yet the various elements of it now in France are being used freely in the general cause and in such ways as are deemed most effective in accordance with Gen. Pershing's action in placing all of our forces at the command of the British and French officers and the supreme commander.

Baker said he had no information as to the source of the Ottawa dispatch.

Lord Reading, British ambassador, discussing the report via Ottawa that the American forces would not be used immediately said the information was directly opposite to that he had received from the British cabinet and he was in the dark as to its meaning.

The ambassador's statement added to the puzzle in which American officers found themselves today on reading the announcement from Ottawa. Confidential information reaching here recently indicated that such a plan as outlined from Ottawa was under discussion.

The ambassador authorized the following statement:

"The statement attributed to the British war cabinet to the effect that the allies are so confident that, having been given the choice of a small immediate American army for defense, or waiting until they are reinforced by a complete, powerful, self supporting American army, they have chosen the latter, is diametrically opposed to all information received by me from the British war cabinet and to all the requests which I have been asked by them to make to the United States administration.

"I am quite in the dark as to the origin of the statement. At present all I can say is that I am convinced that the document has not been issued with the knowledge of the prime minister or the British war cabinet."

The United States Shipping Board has announced that Jacksonville has been selected as one of the concentration points for the construction of ships. In the absence of exact details it can only be stated in a general way that a large land area will be used by the government in its requirements for this purpose, and that there is to be brisk demand for available sites accessible by both rail and water.

Leon county farmers have organized themselves into an agricultural society. The society starts out with a large membership. Meetings will be held on the third Saturday in each month and such other times as may be for the interest of the society. The State Agricultural Society and the Agricultural Department at Washington have been asked to provide speakers for these meetings.

The Woodmen Circle have changed their time of meeting from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock every second and fourth Wednesdays. All members please bear this in mind and be on time.

WATCH FOR THE BUD-WORM

Arsenicals Dusted on Corn Will Control the Pest.

The corn ear-worm, Heliothis obsoleta is one of the most destructive insects in the south. It is known by several different names. In the spring and summer it feeds in the buds of corn, attacking the plant when it is about knee-high. Here it is known as the false bud-worm. Later in the season, when the corn is in silk, the moth lays its eggs on the silk and the young worm feed there for a few days and then enters the ear to feed on the kernels. This generation is called the corn ear-worm.

The next generation commonly attack cotton, boring into the bolls, and is known as the cotton boll-worm. Later generations will attack fall beans, peas, and a variety of crops. The insect is also our most serious enemy of tomatoes. It bores into the fruit and is called the tomato fruit worm.

When feeding as the bud-worm in corn the insect is well concealed, but makes its presence known by the excrement which soils the leaves. If not killed the worm will destroy the productivity of the stalk although the stalk may live. Late planted corn suffers more than that planted early because the insects are more numerous. In fact, the ravages of the caterpillars form the chief difficulty in raising late planted corn.

This pest is rather easily controlled in corn where it works as the bud-worm, says J. R. Watson of the University of Florida experiment station. Make a mixture of equal parts of powdered zinc arsenite or lead arsenate and air slaked lime, or twice as much of the lime as the arsenical may be used. Dust this down into each hill, preferably in the morning when there is dew on the plants so that the poison will run down into the buds. This dusting can be done quickly by means of a porous muslin bag which can be jarred over the plants.

The next generation feeding inside the ears is much more difficult to control. But the young caterpillars, feeding upon the silk, may be poisoned before they enter the ear. When the silks begin to appear, blow the poison through the corn by means of a dusting machine. Repeat every four to seven days until the silks are well developed. There is nothing to be gained by continuing the dustings after the silks have become dry, as the worms have by that time entered the ears and no eggs will be laid on the dry silks.

On a crop as cheap as field corn usually is, it is doubtful if the dusting of silks would be preferable, but at the present prices for corn it would doubtless pay. On more valuable corn, such as sweet corn or seed corn, it will pay well. The best results will come from dusting the buds, especially on late corn. If this is done carefully it will go far toward reducing the numbers of the next generation which enter the ears.

NEW CABBAGE STILL LOWER

Prices of new cabbage show a very weak range in the producing sections at $1.25-1.75 per 100 lb. crate for South Carolina, pointed type and $1.00-1.40 for drumheads, closing near the low points f. o. b. usual terms. In northern consuming markets, heavy supplies caused sharp declines for pointed and flat type. New York ruled very weak, closing the period at $1.50-2.25 per 100 lb. crate. This range was about that of the other leading markets. Demand became slow especially for drumhead. Old cabbage is practically gone. Only 3 cars, all Michigan started this week. A few sales were recorded, ranging $25.00-35.00 per ton. Movement of new cabbage was heavy with 1092 cars. South Carolina shipped 494 compared with 344 last week and with only 10 reported for the corresponding week last year.

TRY COMMUNITY PLAN

When farmers in a county or community all raise the same breed of hogs and cattle, they can exchange sires whenever necessary, eliminating the expense of buying a new sire every two or three years. This alone would mean a big saving. If the sires are well cared for, they should continue in service until they are eight or ten years old. An old sire of known value as a breeder is of much more value than a young, untried one. This may be contrary to the opinion of some who are just beginners in the livestock business, says the University of Florida experiment station, but the experienced stockman knows the value of tried sires.

It is evident that low grade animals cannot be raised profitably on high priced feeds. Some farmers do not have a sufficiently large number of animals to pay them to buy a purebred sire. The community plan of ownership would solve the problem for stock raisers who wish to breed up their herds but who find individual ownership of an expensive animal impracticable.

Favors Early Parenthood.
Early parenthood is productive of warriors, but not of good brain workers, for, says Doctor Redfield, "when we look over those intellectually superior men who have done so much for the world's advancement we find them to have been predominantly the sons of elderly parents and only rarely the sons of men less than twenty-five."

War Work
What art thou doing, Sister of mine?
What is thy work for this country of thine?
Knitting and sewing,
Freely bestowing
Largess and laughter
Though grief come after?
See that thou give them all of thine heart,
Thankful and glad to be doing thy part,
Sister of mine!

What art thou doing, brother of mine,
Since thou art spared from the firing line?
Tolling and saving,
Poverty braving,
Gallantly living,
Ceaselessly giving?
Though never bullet be aimed at thy heart,
Still thou art acting a soldierly part,
Brother of mine!

What art thou doing, free land of mine?
What is thy task for these children of thine?
Keeping them pure,
Strong to endure,
Teaching them right,
Yielding them might,
Holding them close to the pulse of thine heart,

Bearing them, nursing them—blest be thy part!
Free land of mine!

† This is a good song for the Boy Scouts:
Old Kaiser Bill one summer day
Was feeling kind of breezy,
Says he I guess I'll lick the world,
I think it will be easy.
(Chorus)

† Wallop him with peas and beans,
Paste him with potatoes,
Hammer him with cabbages
And soak him with tomatoes!
And then this chesty Kaiser Bill
Conceived another notion,
He built a thousand submarines
And thought he owned the ocean.
(Chorus)

† Wallop him with peas and beans,
Paste him with potatoes,
Hammer him with cabbages,
And soak him with tomatoes!
"No ships with food," said Kaiser Bill,
"May come across the water;
My submarines will send them down
To Davy Jones' locker!"
(Chorus)

"Friend Bill," said Uncle Samuel,
"That's going pretty strong, sir,
And if you try a stunt like that,
You'll surely get in wrong, sir!"
(Chorus)

Then Uncle Sammy filled a ship,
With flour and beans and lumber,
A submarine let drive at her
And blew her all to thunder.
(Chorus)

"All right," said Sam, "if you want war,
By gum, you'll get your fill, sir!
I'll call two million fighting sons
And make you take your pill, sir!"
(Chorus)

And now his boys are coming in
From Maine and Minnesota,
From Florida and Idaho
From Texas and Dakota.
(Chorus)

They're practicing with aeroplanes,
With guns they're getting handy:
They'll teach the Kaiser not to fool
With Yankee Doodle Dandy!
(Chorus)

And we will take our crack at Bill
By getting out and sowing,
By pulling weeds and catching bugs
By harrowing and hoeing.
(Chorus)

Wallop him with peas and beans,
Paste him with potatoes,
Hammer him with cabbages,
And soak him with potatoes!
—The Cave Scout.

† I want to compliment Bandmaster Gallagher for the splendid band that he has built up here in Sanford. Not only has he a fine band but a grand orchestra as well. This orchestra played for the Elks dance two weeks ago and those who were there state that it was the best music ever heard in Sanford. There is nothing like a good band and we need it now more than ever.

† Exercise is a good thing for all classes of poultry; but in this day of peril, it is surprising how many porches there are who never scratch in the garden or emit the symbolic service cackle in the Red Cross rooms.

† The time has passed when Germans or German sympathizers can talk about our government or give any German ideas about this government. The war is on and a German who opens his head and gets out with a whole skin is lucky. He may be protected by the officers and all true Americans will shield an enemy alien from harm but this same German should always remember that people will stand for just so much of this kind of stuff and then officers and law abiding citizens will be powerless to help them. While all of us want the law enforced and know that mobbing a German would not help the American cause it would be well for all Germans to remember that they must keep still.

† Red Cross drive next week and every American is expected to do his full duty. Not only Americans but even foreigners are expected to help the Red Cross, for the Red Cross is helping the wounded of all nations and all nations are supposed to help the Red Cross.

Farmers and Fruit Growers

Items of Interest for the Man Behind the Plow

Must Plant Forage Crops
The fact that railroad transportation is tightening up, and that bulky shipments of certain commodities are being refused is a fact that should not go unnoticed by the livestock raiser, says A. P. Spencer of the University of Florida extension division. It is known that shipments of hay and coarse roughage are being frowned upon. To play safe, the stockman must grow his own forage or be sure that other farmers in his neighborhood are growing a surplus on which he can draw as needed.

This is good policy at any time; but the exigencies of war are making it a necessary plicy. Homegrown forage is cheaper, the transportation problem is minimized.

And it is not too late to grow forage this year. Several suitable crops can yet be seeded—sorghum, cowpeas and peanuts. Beggarweed, crabgrass and crowfoot make good hay and the growth of these crops should be encouraged in fields set aside for the purpose.

Sorghum can be planted up to August. It grows readily on average land, produces eight or more tons of green forage or silage, or two or more tons of cured forage per acre. It will take the place of hay for work stock or dairy cows.

Cowpeas may be sown broadcast in three foot rows. For making hay, plant them about June 20 so the crop may be harvested after the rainy season. Iron or Brabham varieties are resistant to root-knot.

And don't pull fodder. More feed will be saved with less labor if the whole stalk is cut instead of pulling the leaves. Blade fodder is low grade forage, requires too much labor and if pulled when it contains the greatest amount of nourishment, the yield of grain is reduced.

Peanut-vine hay should be cut as soon as the nuts are mature. If left longer the leaves will shed. Its feeding value is greater than hay usually purchased; it is rich in protein and may be partly substituted for concentrates. The nuts may be sold as a cash crop.

Beggarweed hay is about equal to wheat bran or alfalfa in feeding value if cut when in bloom and properly cured. If allowed to ripen the leaves and seed, the most nutritious part are lost and the hay is poor feed.

Crabgrass and crowfoot grasses are as nutritious as purchased hay if cut when in bloom and promptly cured. If stubble lands for the hay crop are made smooth with a harrow, more hay of better quality can be cut.

Cool Food Without Ice
All housewives appreciate the value of a cool place in which to keep food. Where ice cannot be had they might try an iceless refrigerator, which will answer the purpose to a limited extent, and much food can be saved. The University of Florida extension division tells how to make one:

The iceless refrigerator consists of a wooden frame, covered with canton flannel or some similar material. It is desirable that the frame be screened, although this is not absolutely necessary. Wicks made of the same material as the covering rest in a pan of water on top of the refrigerator, allowing the water to seep down the sides. When evaporation takes place the heat is taken from the inside, with a consequent lowering of the temperature. On dry, hot days a temperature of 50 degrees can be obtained in this refrigerator.

Make a screened case 3 1/2 feet high with the other dimensions 12 by 15 inches. If a solid top is used, simply place the water pan on top of this. Otherwise fit the pan closely into the opening of the top frame and support it by 1-inch cleats fastened to the inside of the frame. Place two movable shelves in the frame, 12 to 15 inches apart. Use a biscuit pan 12 inches square on the top to hold the water, and when the refrigerator is to be used indoors have the whole thing standing in a large pan to catch any drip. The pans and case may be painted white,

Birds' Nest Soup.
The birds' nests from which the famed Chinese soup is made are built by a species of swallow that abounds on the coasts of Java, Ceylon and Borneo, and consists of a gelatinous substance obtained from marine plants. The nests are boiled either in chicken broth or in milk of almonds, and the result very much resembles vermicelli soup, except that it is far more costly.

About the Pup and Rooster.
We have received the following letters in reply to the article in last Friday's Herald entitled "Precious Idol Pup and Rooster!":

To the Editor:
I think that it was very mean of your paper to print that about the dog barking at night. Of course it didn't refer to my doggie, but it might have. The reason it couldn't is because I never let Fido go out in the night air. Besides, when baby cries I hold Fido so that he won't disturb the baby. Sometimes baby cries at night and then I put him in the cradle, and hold dear little Fido so baby can go to sleep. That "bow-ow-ow" dog could not have been my Fido.

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible, with Liberty and Justice to all."

In some towns they are threatening to print the names, not only of those who subscribed for Liberty Bonds, but also those who are able and have not done so. We see no objection to this course. Nor to exposing the four-flushers who made a grand stand play of pledging amounts to the Red Cross which they have not paid. Both are patriotic obligations which ought to take precedence over any expenditures not absolutely necessary.—St. Augustine Record.

"Sears Starts to Florida to Open Third Campaign," says the lead to a Washington dispatch in The Florida Metropolis. Just why Joe should be compelled to come home and defend his name at a period when congress is in session, and the country is at war, cannot be fathomed, unless it is because of greed for office on the part of somebody. The more conservative view is that none of the Florida delegation should be forced to campaign for re-election—let the men who know conditions as they were when the war started remain in congress until the war is won. Then, if somebody wants their seat, will be time enough to open such a campaign.—Plant City Courier.

JUST BEACHAM

The editor of The Herald has been a friend of Braxton Beacham for many years. Long ago we recognized in him one of the big hearted and big brained men of the state and gave him credit for it when others were knocking him in his own home town. We have never lost faith in him and still believe that he is one of our biggest and best citizens. He is working day and night for the government in the very difficult position of State Food Administrator and working in that position has brought him more or less into the limelight. Several state papers either with good or evil intent have been nominating him for governor lately. To all of them we say, stop it. You are not only ruining his chances for future advancement but you are hampering his chances to make good as the food administrator. We know Braxton Beacham well enough to know without consulting him that he is not a candidate for any office and has not ever thought about it. All of us like to see our names mentioned at different times for the big offices. We all like to see our names in print but there is not a real man in this great crisis today that wants his name mentioned as a possible candidate for any office while he is busy serving his government and we know that these remarks about his future possibilities are obnoxious to Braxton Beacham who is giving his time and attention to the government to the exclusion of his own business. Call them off, Mr. Beacham. You are not a candidate for any office and should not be sailing under false colors. You are just Beacham, Food Administrator.

GET BUSY, BOB!

The Sanford Herald is apparently unconcerned over the odious publicity given Orange county in a recent pamphlet mailed from Geneva. The publicity in itself is quite obnoxious and misleading. Editor Holly of the Herald is a very busy person these days and has announced that owing to his multitudinous labors, etc., etc., etc., he cannot accept a political office and begs his friends not to hand him something on a silver platter as he will be too busy to grab it. This is a commendable spirit and now that Our Robert has taken Time by the forelock and is holding Papa Time back with one arm and big political jobs with the other he may find time to take his pen in hand and condemn something that is issued in a spirit not typical of good old Seminole county folks who like us in everything except bare ball. Next week we are looking for our brother Ink Artist to carry a story with big headlines, thusly:

WE ARE PEEVED AT PUBLICITY COMING FROM SEMINOLE COUNTY

Poisonous Pamphlet Calculated to Increase Orlando's Death Rate Must Be Subdued If I Have to Do It —Orlando Sentinel.

We would like to help you out brother, but until we find that copy of "Vital Statistics" that you are harping about we can do nothing. What in the summer breezes is that "Vital Statistics" that gives more births for Sanford and less deaths than Orlando and all of it published by an Orlando citizen? If we knew what it was and where it was we could assist you in the "Health Notes." Of course in the matter of births Glenn and Essington would have to camouflage. Our advice at the present time would be for the Sentinel force to use a few bottles of Tanlac and try and live longer and thus exemplify the health of Orlando to some extent. Regarding the births — well, some people believe in children and some believe in poodle dogs and the folk who are looking for a place to live can take their choice.

But seriously, Bro. Glenn, Seminole county does not stand for any adverse criticism of Orange county and Orlando or any other part of the state. We have not seen the booklet you speak of but if it is as raw as you state and if it makes odious comparisons of the health of our respective cities it is all wrong to publish it. Sanford and Seminole county is in for boosting the whole state and in boosting the state we are boosting ourselves. The editor of The Herald has never been found saying anything but the best for Orlando and we never will. And the Seminole County Board of Trade will investigate this book at their next meeting and make a report on it. Meantime Seminole is standing with Orange on everything that will help us to make a better state and we will even play you a game of base ball on the Fourth and not use the movable fence.

Proclamation

Whereas, greater respect and love should be shown the flag of our country, and,

Whereas, various cities of the United States of America have adopted the beautiful custom of showing respect and reverence to our flag at a certain specified hour on each and every day, and

Whereas, I have recommended the passage and the adoption of an ordinance setting aside a certain period of time each day during which respect shall be shown to the flag by each and every citizen of the city of Sanford, Florida, and

Whereas, the city council will not be in session until the third Monday of the present month, and said ordinance cannot be sooner than that date be adopted, and Therefore, I, J. D. Davison, mayor of the city of Sanford, under and by the virtue and authority in me vested, do issue this my proclamation naming and designating the hour of six o'clock p. m. of each and every day, beginning May 15th, 1918, as the time during which reverence and respect shall be shown the flag. Arrangement has been made by me for the blowing of the whistle at the railroad shops and the fire whistle at said hour, and all persons each day at six o'clock p. m. when the whistles above referred to are blown are requested for a period of one minute, wherever they may be in the city limits to stand still and silent, and all automobiles, trucks and vehicles of all kinds and character whatsoever are requested at said time to remain still and motionless, and all male persons are further requested to remove their hats and keep same removed during said period of one minute.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the official seal of the city of Sanford, Florida, on this the 13th day of May, 1918.

J. D. Davison, Mayor.
Attest
Jas. C. Roberts, (seal) City Clerk.

The Catholic Church Organizes for War Work

At a meeting held Sunday, April 22nd of the Catholic laymen of Sanford, a committee was formed to carry on the purposes for which the Parochial War Council is formed. Rev. Father O'Riordan is president; F. W. Mahoney, vice president; G. L. Britt, treasurer; G. Pezold, secretary and T. L. O'Connor, recording secretary.

On Friday, May 3rd, the Catholic ladies formed a committee with Rev. J. O'Riordan as president; Mrs. T. L. O'Connor vice president; Mrs. W. Niven, treasurer and Mrs. E. Roumillat recording secretary.

These committees receive instructions from the National Catholic War Council at Washington and the Diocesan War Council at St. Augustine, relative to Liberty Loans, Red Cross and Knights of Columbus activities.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR

NEW RULES of the Food Administration

Federal Food Administrator Braxton Beacham has issued notice to all dealers handling corn products and wheat flour substitutes that margins of profit as suggested by the United States Food Administration must be observed. This means that the price of corn meal grits, hominy, barley flour, oatmeal, oat flakes and similar products, rice, etc., must not be made extortionate because of the national necessity for consuming these foods in greater proportion in an endeavor to save wheat flour.

Complaints have been registered with Administrator Beacham that in many places these products are being sold higher than wheat flour, and a survey of conditions shows that none of the products named should be that high in price. Mr. Beacham has given implicit instructions to all county food administrators to immediately ascertain the wholesale price of these products, and every case where wholesalers are charging more than the margins allowed them they will be called to account.

Likewise the retailer will be held to strict account for over charges, or charges above the per centage allowed him.

No excuse will be taken for violations of the margin rulings, no matter whether it be the case of the dealer having bought on a high market, or whether he is overstocked. The Food Administration has pointed out where dealers have paid more than the present price, then run risk of loss through spoilage in endeavoring to hold stocks at old level, and the first loss through reducing prices is the smallest loss.

The whole thing in a nutshell means that prices must come down to a proper level, and the consumer should, in making purchases be sure that he is not paying a price above what is just. All complaints as to overcharging should be registered with the county food administrators or to Food Administrator Beacham at Orlando, Fla.

Evangelistic Services Next Week
A series of evangelistic services will begin at the Baptist Temple next Sunday, May 19th. Rev. Dr. Thot, an evangelist of much reputation comes to the Baptist folk to conduct this series of meetings.

It is earnestly hoped that this meeting will be a source of much benefit to the city as a whole as well as to the immediate church where it is to be held.

Patriotic Move Should Be Observed in Sanford
Publisher Herald:

Many Sanford and Seminole county citizens read with approval your article in issue of Tuesday last, headed "One Minute Halt." And now, emphasizing the same impressive manifest of patriotism, we well know you will be glad to give space to outline of communication just received by our aggressive, progressive and zeal inspiring patriot, Frank P. Forster. The communication referred to includes newspaper clippings setting forth and highly commending a one minute daily program proposed by Miss Darla Doggett, a cultured, college bred, plished and public spirited young lady, resident of the metropolis of our own state. Miss Doggett is niece of our Mr. Forster and daughter of Maj. John L. Doggett of Jacksonville, a gentleman of prominence, well known elsewhere as well as in Florida.

It is probably generally understood at least by readers of the Times-Journal, published in above city that "The ordinance suggested by Miss Darla Doggett was fathered by the Liberty League, the State and fuel administrations, a number of women's organizations and bill was introduced in Jacksonville common council. The bill was not passed as drawn; several amendments were added; no one can be taken to the police station for a violation of this ordinance, but can be summoned to appear before the municipal judge to be reprimanded. At least three witnesses will be necessary to convict." The Governor on April 26th issued a proclamation endorsing the daily observance proposed by "one of Florida's daughters," and urging its adoption by all the municipalities and in every section of the state.

Briefly, the patriotic observance includes one minute's absolute suspension of activities at 6 p. m. every day; uncovered head and reverential attitude; where a bugle sound is available or blowing of whistles, as reminder, same are advocated; street cars, manufacturing, legislative bodies, church services, all kinds of merchandising or occupation whatsoever, also railway trains if possible to induce acquiescence in the universal plan, suspend operation for precisely sixty seconds, during which moment silent petition, silent patriotic pledge, and silent renewal of flag and country allegiance shall be the sole thought and purpose of everyone.

Major Doggett in writing to Mr. Mr. Forster says: "If you agree with this movement for greater patriotism as suggested by my daughter Carita will result in great good to our country will you not see your mayor, get a mass meeting of your citizens if need be and inaugurate in your community what will shortly be a beautiful and beneficial custom throughout the whole country? Experience has shown that to enlist the ever responding helpfulness of the ladies of a community will prove highly beneficial."

We have no doubt of the cordial co-operation of Mayor Davison, of Sanford common council, of our county commissioners, of the ladies and citizens universally, as well as of The Herald, in inaugurating throughout Seminole county this beautiful reverent service, patriotic ceremony, Jehovah invoking bulwark and efficacious ally in this, our terrific, to the death struggle for worldwide democracy, liberty and justice to all.

Publicity Pulls Progress

"PRODUCING NOT PROMOTING BOARD OF TRADE RESULTS (By the Secretary)

The Tampa Board of Trade will oppose the withdrawal of differential water rates as advocated by Regional Director Markham in his circular No. 121, April 16th. Tampa is correct and wise in this matter and should not only have the moral but financial support of every similar organization in the state. The Sanford Board of Trade has already filed its protest and intends pouncing the matter until such time as it is shown that such action is really a governmental necessity. As the matter stands, the withdrawal of these rates has a tinge of other motives—one that was all but attempted before. Bringing water rates to an all rail basis will serve only to further congest rail lines and in so doing will deplete water traffic because of its lower transportation. This ruling will also serve to lessen many contemplated improvements in Florida's waterways which if done would be one of the greatest mistakes that we of the state could make. Florida's tariff salvation now is due to its competitive water rates and the move on foot will almost make a prohibitive shipping. As usual, the faithful few who compose our commercial organizations will again bear the brunt of the expense and those who never help will be the recipients of the blessings. This move will affect the merchant principally; the farmer and fruit grower will not be seriously troubled, still the farmers of this section who compose 80 per cent of this organization's membership and who paid themselves the total cost of opposing the late 15 per cent rate advance will again rally and pay over again while a number of our larger merchants who are not members will permit them to do this and will gracefully receive the benefits. This move is certainly one in which the merchants generally will be indexed as progressive or non-progressive and each organization contributing in this fight should watch well a "who is who."

The handsome yacht Willens-owned in Chicago is tied up at Sanford for the summer. This is the first time Sanford has been favored along such lines but expects many repetitions in coming seasons. Her owner expects to buy property here and build a winter home which means others among his friends will follow suit.

Unfortunately, the Sanford committee going to attend the meeting of the Longwood Board of Trade auxiliary got the dates mixed and went down Monday night, the 6th instead of Tuesday, the 7th. This error is chargeable directly to the Sanford secretary who gave the committee the wrong date, consequently Messrs. Thrasher, Haynes, Dieblson and Taylor made their trip Monday night for nothing. For this error the secretary humbly apologizes.

The regular monthly meeting of the Sanford Board of Trade will be held in the Court House, Sanford, Tuesday night, April 14th at 8 p. m. Everybody is invited to come and bring a friend.

The officers and members of the Geneva auxiliary, Board of Trade are making good use of their organization and they are realizing benefits that heretofore have passed without notice. Their efforts in reference to the Titusville-Genava road will be successful as has almost been practically assured at the committee meeting held in DeLand today. The road merely takes co-operativeness to secure almost anything you want.

Come out to the regular Board of Trade meeting Tuesday night, the 14th, at the Court House and lay your troubles and progressive ideas before the meeting. Your ideas are good and you will find the Board of Trade anxious to promote them and secure results.

What do you think about a general clean up week for the city? It will be interesting to hear this matter brought up next Tuesday night. One day of conscientious effort would improve the city's appearance 50 per cent.

Messrs. J. J. Dickinson, E. H. Kilbee, M. E. Dooley and D. C. Marlowe represented the Board of Trade before the Velusia county commissioners in DeLand yesterday in the interest of the Titusville-Genava road. Favorable action is looked for because of this effort.

CHULUOTA WAS THERE

Liberty Loan Rally Demonstrated Patriotism of Live People

During the Liberty Loan Rally of last week the big meeting at Chuluota was one of the events of the drive and Chairman Lake was so well pleased with the cordial reception accorded the committee and the great response that mention must be made even at this date when the drive is over, but the good time lingers in the memory.

Chuluota was there with the goods as always and the speakers were Messrs. Lake, Housholder, Kilbee and Maines. The people responded nobly to the call and $1250 was raised in a short time, thus adding materially to Seminole County's quota.

The flags for the drive have arrived and will be given to Genava and Oviedo and Sanford.

These for Sanford and the county at large will be displayed on the guide posts, in the middle of First street for a few days and will afterwards be displayed in the court house where they will serve as mementoes of the patriotism of this county in the days to come after the war is over.

Chairman Lake will make the presentation of the flags a memorable occasion and announcement of the date will be made later.

Woman's Missionary Conference

About the Pup and Rooster

Herald Editor:
Sir: I live in Sanford. I own roosters. I've lived here thirty years and owned roosters. My father owned roosters. They've crowded when they blame please I don't sleep very well and I like to hear them crow. It sounds kind of home like, like when I was on the farm in Georgey. But I don't like these new bifalutin notions about roosters. That's all nonsense about fertilized and unfertilized eggs. I don't raise pigs to hatch, and my father didn't, but he kept roosters and so do I, and so I'm gulin to in spite of all the blame new-fashion ideas. My uncle was the man who kept the calf on the lawn till the fall blame thing was chawn if folks'd move in and make a city. Rooster music is just as good as bird music, and a blame sight better than the music machines you wind up and put rubber plates on.

Now I want to see that it's time this new idea business was put out of business. A lot of fool folks say Sanford ought to be as enterprising as Orlando. Sanford was good enough for my father, and its good enough for me. If folks don't like Sanford let 'em move out. Some is moving out. There's that talk about republican form of government. Aint we got a government? Has it got to be moved out? These high falutin notions has got in my wife's head. I gave her a new calico dress two years ago and she's wanting another. It takes my extra money to buy tobacco for me. After reading that Herald she says, "Pa, can't we sell some roosters and buy me and Jinnie some clothes?" And I split tobacco and says, "Well, I reckon not. Them roosters stays while I stay, and no blame new ideas need get in your head about clothes. Let Jinrie stay out of school and work." So, Mr. Editor, you let roosters be, and some day I'll come around with some cash and settle up for my subscription; my Hubbard's have been cancelled for.

Dear Mr. Hoily:
I just received a copy of "The Sanford Herald," the first news from Sanford since I was called to duty on January 1th. It certainly is a pleasure to look the Herald over once more. I noticed you have me listed in the army. I enlisted in the navy instead. I am now taking a course in wireless telegraphy. Will complete my course in thirteen weeks and then "shove off" for "somewhere." I would like to take out a six month's subscription to the Herald, so I can keep up with what's going on in Sanford. Kindly mail me a statement for the entire subscription.
Please remember me to all the folks at home.
Sincerely,
J. Henry Lee.

New Optometrist

Which means that Sanford now has a man who will examine your eyes and fit glasses to them. The man is O. S. Vaughan and last week at Lakeland Mr. Vaughan stood his examination before the state board and passed and is now ready to look after your wants in this line. Mr. Vaughan recently moved to this city and located in the jewelry store of Mr. Schaal on First street. He is also a graduate of Illinois Ophthalmological School of Chicago and comes to Sanford highly recommended to the public. Read his card in this issue and consult Mr. Vaughan before going out of town for glasses.

New Laundry Agency

In The Herald appears the advertisement of the Dixie Laundry of Leesburg with an agency in this city in charge of C. A. Whidden in the rear of the Sanford Shoe & Clothing Co. The Dixie Laundry has a state wide reputation for thoroughness of work and guarantees to do your laundry in the best of shape and manner. The boy will call for your laundry and deliver same if you will call No. 104.
