By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, April 21, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY April 21, 1981
Examine carefully investment proposals brought to you this coming year by persons who are lucky and successful. Some of their good fortune could rub off on you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
There are opportunities around you today for material gains from a source which you seldom tap. It produced for you before, so try it again now. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
You're a very good negotiator today. If there is an agreement which you would like to rework more to your benefit, bring it up for discussion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You're very productive today and capable of dealing with several important tasks simultaneously. Much can be accomplished if you heed to industrial impulses.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You have good leadership qualities and exceptional organizational abilities today. If you see a situation floundering, step in and straighten it out.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Situations which could add to your income or resources should be given top priority today. You're lucky in these areas. Play to win.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Don't be afraid to think big today. Even if you fail, which isn't likely, you'll come out way ahead. Have faith in your ideas and act accordingly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Situations where you are unselfishly trying to set things up to be helpful to others will do as much good for you as you hoped to do for them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Involvements today that include friends of long standing are likely to offer your best prospects for success. Team up with old allies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Important things could happen for you today, but they are apt to come more from persons working on your behalf than through your own efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
You're a keen observer today, but what's more important is that you'll find ways to use that which you perceive. Study the methods of persons you admire.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Your possibilities for success are excellent today because you'll have enormous resolve to draw upon once you're properly motivated.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Lady Luck tends to favor you today in changing unproductive situations into something rewarding. Put your skills to work for a pleasant surprise.

Is It A Migraine? See Your Doctor

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am an overweight 27-year-old woman. For the past several years I have been having very painful headaches. Sometimes I take up to five aspirins but they don't help any. To get the pain stopped I have to push on the sides of my head. Sometimes I get double vision, too. It lasts only a couple of minutes. The double vision never comes when I have the headaches. Also I see silver spots in front of my eyes. They sometimes last up to an hour or so. What can be causing these problems? Could it be nerves?

Stressful events do bring on migraine headaches. In addition to modifying your life style to avoid headaches, there are a number of medicines that often control them.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A year ago I had a nose bleed. It poured out. I stopped it. A month later I had my finger in my nose and it started. I couldn't stop it and went to emergency. They put cocaine up my nose and packed it. It coagulates fast. Then three weeks ago I had one again. I put pressure on my nose and it stopped. It pours down my throat. The doctor in the emergency room said it was a pumper. Can an artery break open? If it were an artery, could I control the bleeding with pressure? I don't have high blood pressure. If this happens again should I have it cauterized?

DEAR READER — Since you were able to stop it with pressure on your nose that suggests the bleeding point is in the tip of the nose. There is a nest of small vessels there including small arteries. Pressure will often stop bleeding there.

I would like for you to go see an ear, nose and throat (ENT) specialist. Sometimes an artery in the back of the nose can crack open and cause bleeding. Nose bleeds can be more serious than most people believe, particularly in adults. The ones in the tip of the nose are often controlled by cauterizing the area but if a larger artery in the back of the nose is involved, it is sometimes necessary to tie it off.

Alan: "I see from the bidding that you got away with murder. You made five spades doubled, while your opponents were cold for six clubs."

Oswald: "Most of the credit for the good result should go to my partner. His bid of just one spade at his first turn was a stroke of genius and led poor East to assume that I was defending desperately when, as a matter of fact, I felt that we were surely going to do well in spades. Anyway, West tried to fix us. East, who had doubled four spades, should really have passed five spades around to his partner. If he had, West might well have bid six clubs and forced me to take a loss at six."

3 Prison Escapees Caught

STARKE, Fla. (UPI) — Three men, including one convicted murderer, who escaped from the Florida State Prison Monday were recaptured today. Guards, deputies and dogs continued the search for two other fugitives.

The five inmates cut through the fence and raced into the woods as tower guards fired at them.

Still at large were Dennis Pickle, 30, serving 30 years on robbery and assault with intent to commit a felony in Volusia and Orange counties, and Raymond Depres, 32, sentenced to five years in 1971 for breaking and entering in Duval County and serving extended terms for three escapes — two from Union Correctional Institution and one other from Florida State Prison.

Recaptured at 12:20 a.m. in a wooded area about four miles west of the prison was Ralph Magna, 28, serving a life plus five-year term for first degree murder and breaking and entering in Broward County. An officer spotted him on a road and, after he ducked back into the woods, he was flushed out.

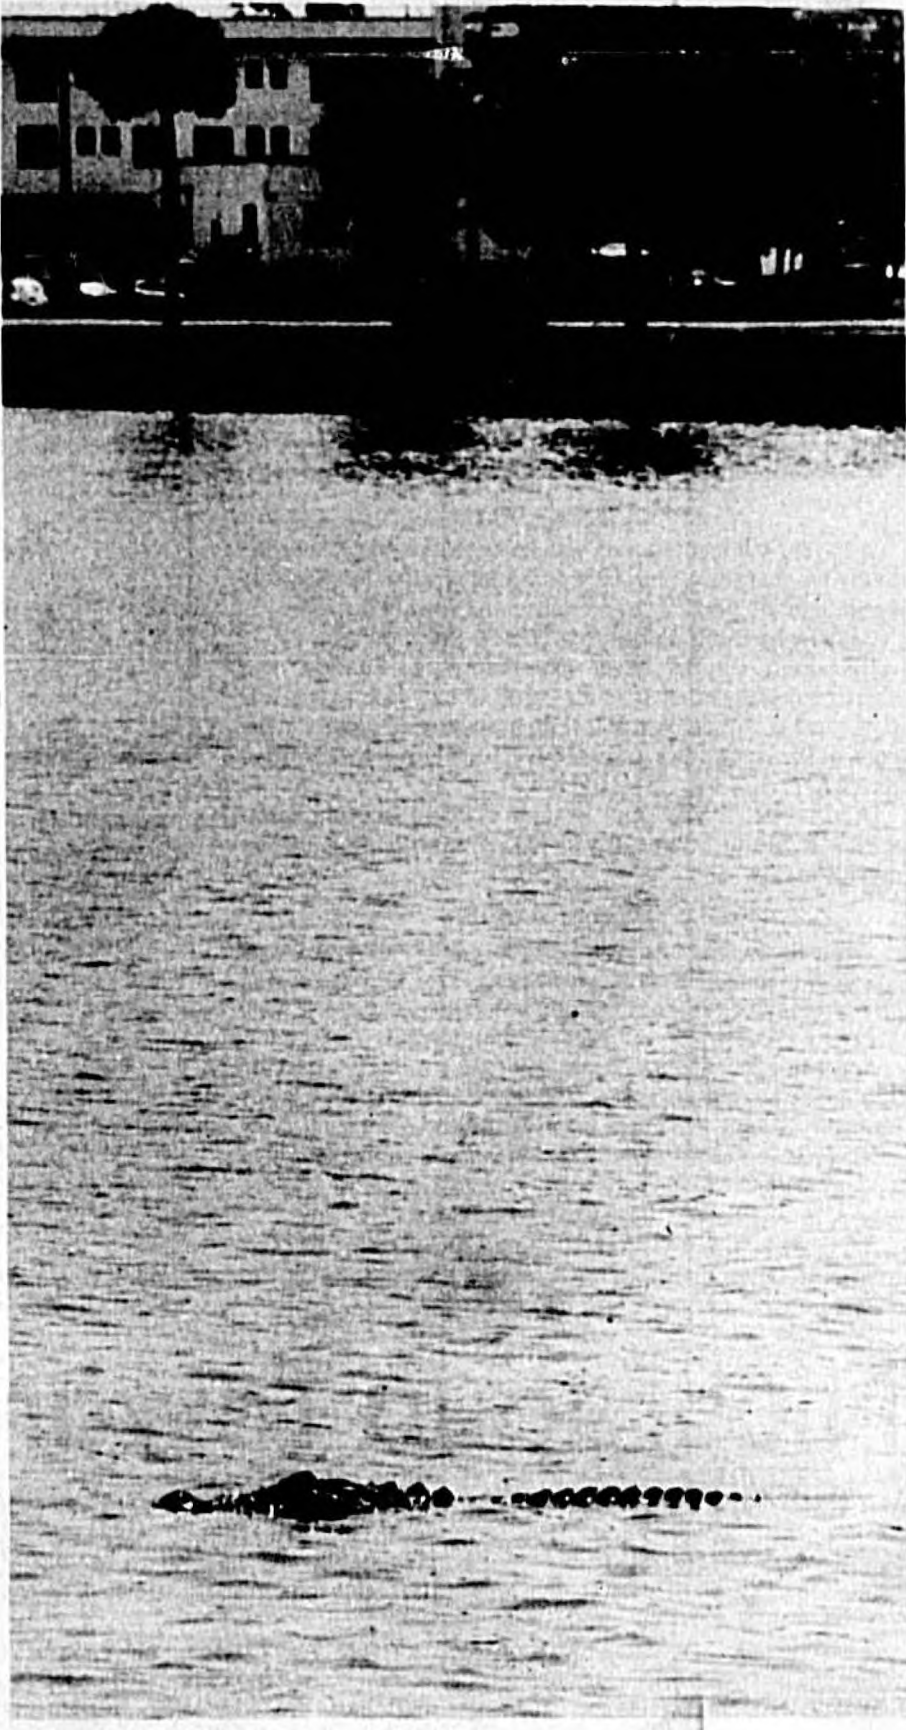

Shortly before 6 a.m. today search dogs found Manuel Talavera, 36, and Louis Ayendez, 34, in a swamp in the same general area. Talavera is serving 120 years for robbery and false arrest in Broward and Ayendez is serving 10 years for robbery in Hillsborough.

About 100 guards and Bradford County deputies, with dogs and 40 vehicles, were searching for the inmates, all clad in white kitchen-workers garb, prisons spokesman Vernon Bradford said.

Bradford said the five, all kitchen workers, somehow reached the prison grounds and snipped through the fence with some kind of wire-cutters Monday night.

"They cut through the fence at the one place where we don't have razor ribbon, which is like coiled concertina wire," Bradford said. "Tower guards saw them and fired. We don't know if we hit any of them. They didn't stop."

As the guards fired, the men disappeared into woods about 200 yards from the fence, he said.

Program To Start May 1

County Approves Prisoner Work

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

By a unanimous vote, the Seminole County Commission this morning attempted in one fell swoop to solve two nagging problems: 1) overcrowding at the county jail, and 2) the local manpower shortage resulting from cutbacks in a federal jobs program. Their solution: putting prisoners to work.

The first group of inmates is scheduled to be cleaning, painting, repairing, and mowing county property by May 1.

The new work-release program will focus initially on the increasing number of persons serving jail sentences on bad situation, it won't solve it," Polk said. "We'll still have too many prisoners. We'll still need the jail expanded."

Although "things will vary from week to week depending on what kind of work we need done," commissioner Sandra Glenn said most of the work-release prisoners probably will be used in the county's parks and recreation department which has been hit hard by cuts in the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program.

"What the prisoners will be doing also depends on what type skills they have," Mrs. Glenn said. "If we have a welder or a heavy equipment operator in jail and we need that type of work done, we could make use of them."

'What the prisoners will be doing also depends on what type of skills they have.'

weekends. The county's new 226-bed facility is filled to overflowing during the week, but Friday through Sunday, when anywhere from 30 to 50 convicts show up at the jail to do their time, the problem grows even worse, forcing many inmates to sleep on mattresses on the floor.

As a result, Seminole County Sheriff John Polk has asked the commission to enlarge the jail, less than a year after the $4.9 million facility opened its doors. He wants a 100-bed dormitory-style addition that would house persons serving weekend sentences, trustees, and other minimum security inmates. Price tag for the project has not been determined.

The work-release program will "ease a

Persons who will be excluded from work-release will be inmates convicted of violent crimes or crimes against property. Preference will be given to persons involved in misdemeanors such as drunk driving or other traffic offenses, possession of small amounts of controlled substances, simple battery, forgery, or passing worthless checks.

Saunders said a "careful look" will be taken at those charged with selling or dealing in illicit drugs.

Stuck-Up Burglar Takes Vow

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Police say Glenn Clark tried to break into a clothing store but got caught in a chimney for six days.

"I'll never steal again," vowed Clark, 24. "Now I know there's a God."

Clark at first told authorities he climbed onto the roof of Reiss' Men and Boys Shop April 13 to commit suicide, and wound up in the store's chimney. But police said Clark was one of two men who tried to break into the store that night. They caught one suspect. Another was last seen running across rooftops.

A woman walking her dog past the store Easter Sunday heard muffled calls for help and notified police. Clark was found on his knees, stuck inside the chimney.

He was taken to the Mercer Medical Center, where he was given a meal — his first in nearly a week — and treated for cuts and bruises.

He was arrested, charged with burglary and ordered held on $7,500 bail.

You May Lose Only Half Home's Value

Can't Pay Your Property Taxes?

By TOM HILLSTROM

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — A homeowner losing title to his property for non-payment of taxes would get at least half of the house's assessed value under a bill approved today by the House.

The measure was passed 82-11 and sent to the Senate.

The bill (HB 607) by the House Finance and Tax Committee would require speculators to bid at least the back taxes, interest, certain fees and one-half of the value listed for the property on tax rolls before a tax deed sale.

House members defeated an amendment Monday that would have left existing law largely as it is with the minimum bid requirement applying only to homes with unpaid tax bills of less than $100.

Finance and Tax Chairman Steve

Pajcic, D-Jacksonville, said the bill is intended as a "clean up" of the Kenon Law which was passed in December 1979 but opponents contended the measure would expand the law in a way that could hamper counties in cracking down on tax delinquents.

The 1979 law was prompted by the case of Hattie Mae and Fedo Kenon, an elderly couple who lost their modest Quincy home to a speculator because they owed $3.05 in property taxes.

A court later returned title to the Kenons in the interest of justice and the Kenon Law was intended to prevent homeowners from losing their property in such fashion in the future.

The Finance and Tax Committee, however, said the law contains a loophole because its key protection applies only to tax debts of less than $100. This provision requires a minimum bid of the back taxes, interest, certain fees and one-half a home's assessed value before its title can be taken from the owner.

Reps. Barry Kutun, D-Miami Beach, Tom Gallagher, R-Coconut Grove, and Ron Richmond, R-Holiday, offered the amendment to limit the minimum bid requirement to tax bills of less than $100. House members killed the amendment 70-39.

Both sides cited statistics showing that of 4,011 tax deeds sold in fiscal year 1978-79, only three were for homes used as fulltime residences.

Pajcic said this proved the bill would have little effect on counties but the three amendment sponsors contended the measure would open the door to lawsuits extending the minimum bid requirements to other tax deeds involving commercial, agriculture and investment properties.

"There is an equal protection argument," said Kutun, adding: "I haven't heard a hue and cry in this state that we need this."

Casselberry Says 'No' Again To Builder Planning Condo

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY
Herald Staff Writer

Casselberry City Councilmen rejected in a work session Monday the final compromise building plans submitted by the Bonaire Company for its 44-acre tract in the Lake Howell area.

In a letter addressed to City Attorney Kenneth W. McIntosh, attorneys representing Bonaire, Inc. asked commissioners to consider revised building plans which reduce the density and height of the original buildings to comply with planning and zoning requirements.

Casselberry citizens in a previous public hearing had denounced Bonaire's plans to construct residential units adjacent to Lake Howell, contending the complex would add to already congested city traffic.

Bonaire attorney Gene H. Godbold, who has filed suit against Casselberry on the company's behalf, asked council members to consider the project again since revisions now call for 6-story buildings with 675 units. Following the lead of Councilman Frank Schutte, council members told Godbold they could not consider approval of the revised plans because zoning requirements specify a maximum of 12 units per acre.

Litigation against the city was filed several weeks ago by Bonaire principles who are appealing to the courts for approval of their construction plans.

According to Godbold, the case has been complicated by the nature of the legal action. City ordinances are involved he told council members.

Godbold appealed to city officials after the plan rejection to draw up plans themselves which they deem acceptable and let the company construct them.

On another matter, McIntosh received permission from the Council to fight a suit recently filed against the city by Mason, Inc.

Claiming that the city owes them $12,686.30 for "earth work," the Orlando company has filed suit in the Seminole County Circuit Courts to force payment.

In a series of change orders which were contracted with the city, Mason was hired to remove a layer of muck in the Lake Triplett Drive area and replace it with new earth.

This process, called "import fill," is designed to upgrade the soil's quality.

According to Ray Mason, owner of Mason, Inc., the import fill orders which were originally agreed upon did not sufficiently cover the area which had been designated for muck removal. But the company proceeded until the entire project had been completed, thereby incurring the additional cost.

City Engineer Ken Ehlers, who contracted several hundred thousand dollars in earth work with Mason in several change orders for the Lake Howell project, said the $12,686.30 had not been paid because it represented work which exceeded provisions of the contract.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Catholic Youths Rampage In Londonderry For 6th Day

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Hundreds of Catholic youths stormed through Belfast and Londonderry to support dying IRA hunger striker Bobby Sands, torching cars and hurling gasoline bombs at security forces in street battles that left one British soldier engulfed in flames.

Sands, 27, who received last rites Saturday, began the 52nd day of his hunger strike today fully "resigned to die" to gain political status for IRA prisoners, according to one of the three Irish politicians who visited the hunger striker in the infamous Maze Prison.

The three Republic of Ireland Parliament members said they "urgently" wanted to discuss Sands' plight with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, currently on a trip to Saudi Arabia.

A London spokesman for Mrs. Thatcher said she was willing to talk but she would not break off her foreign trip and would not return until Saturday. Sands' family said he could be dead by then.

In the Catholic neighborhoods of Belfast and Londonderry, hundreds of youths went on a rampage to rally support for Sands and protest the deaths of two youths who were struck by an army Land Rover on Easter.

The rioters clambered over the walls of a Post Office parking lot and set several vehicles on fire. Troops carrying rifles and fire extinguishers blocked intersections and scurried from fire to fire, firing plastic bullets to disperse the mobs.

Israel Strikes Palestinians

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian peacekeeping troops traded artillery fire with Phalangist militiamen in the streets of Beirut today and Israeli planes and gunners pounded Palestinian guerrillas in southern Lebanon.

Phalangist radio likened the fighting in Beirut to the "opening of the gates of hell" and police sources said the battles had killed at least 5 people.

In the south, police sources reported 21 dead and about 70 wounded in attacks by Israeli artillery and planes against Palestinian guerrilla strongholds in Tyre and Nabatieh, eight miles and five miles north of the border respectively.

New Black Rioting In London

LONDON (UPI) — Hundreds of black youths rampaged through three London fairgrounds, looting stores, hurling cobblestones and stomping police in Britain's second race riot this month. Twenty police and 27 bystanders were injured, authorities said.

"The police were kicked and battered. They were kicked like sacks along the road," said pub manager Francis Joyce who witnessed the attacks.

A police spokesman said 47 people were injured — 20 police and 27 passers-by struck by cobblestones and rocks the black youths hurled. Police arrested 70 youths.

The trouble began at closing time in North London's Finsbury Park, 8 miles from Brixton, the district that exploded in four nights of race rioting a week ago, police said.

'Mein Kampf' To Be Banned

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — The West German government, acting 36 years after Adolf Hitler's death, announced today it is drawing up legislation to ban his book "Mein Kampf."

Justice Minister Juergen Schmude said that because of a loophole in laws banning Nazi activity it still is legal to publish and sell the book in which Hitler outlined his theories of the German master race fit to dominate Europe.

Schmude told the Metalworkers Union newspaper Metal that new legislation cracking down on neo-Nazis now is being drawn up and should be ready for submission to parliament soon.

He said the new law will ban not only the publication of new Nazi propaganda, but old Nazi propaganda circulated in guise of historical works as well.

Nuclear Leak Exposed 56

TOKYO (UPI) — A radioactive leak, hushed up for 40 days by the operators of a chronically defective nuclear power station, exposed 56 workers to high radiation doses in the worst nuclear plant accident in Japan's history, the company revealed today.

The Japanese government, which lifted the lid on the cover-up Monday ordered a complete review of the accident-plagued Tsuruga plant — Japan's second oldest atomic plant, and 21 other nuclear complexes across the country to prevent similar incidents.

"This should never happen again," Rokusuke Tanaka, the Cabinet minister in charge of nuclear facilities, told parliament in a report on the worst nuclear accident in the history of Japan, which relies on nuclear plants for 16 percent of its electricity.

Altamonte Brothers Jailed In Knife-point Robbery Case

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

Two Altamonte Springs brothers were in the Seminole County Jail today accused of robbing a man at knife-point outside a local bar.

Thomas Stephen and John David Green, 21 and 28 respectively, both of 107 Satsuma Dr., were charged with armed robbery in connection with today's 2:20 a.m. theft of $500 from a patron of the Circus Lounge, U.S. Highway 17-92 in Fern Park.

According to sheriff's deputies, Thomas Green allegedly pulled Donald Coppetta's arm out the driver's window of his van and bent it back while John Green held a knife to Coppetta's throat and took his wallet containing about $500 in cash.

Coppetta gave deputies a description of the getaway car and the Green brothers were captured near Lee Road and Interstate 4 a short time later.

They were being held this morning under $10,500 bond each.

EX-LOVERS SPAT

A 28-year-old Sanford man was being held in the county jail today on charges of burglary and assault after he allegedly broke into his ex-girlfriend's house and beat her up.

Jailed was Rufus Bradley of 1415 W. 12th St.

Rhonda A. Taylor, 20, of 1807 Pear Ave., Sanford, told sheriff's deputies that Bradley came to her door about 8:30 p.m. Sunday. She refused to let him in so he went around to the back of the house, took a screen from a window and crawled through.

Once inside, Taylor said, Bradley punched, bit and scratched her. Bradley fled, but was picked up within minutes by deputies.

BIG WHEEL BANDITS

Seminole County sheriff's officers were continuing their investigation today into the weekend theft of $15,000 worth of tires from the Fruehauf Trucking Co., State Road 441, Forest City.

According to a sheriff's report, thieves cut through a chain link fence to gain access to nine trailers parked next to the company's main building. Once inside the compound, they stole 42 tires and wheels and fled in what is believed to be a four-wheel drive vehicle.

ROBBERY TRIAL UNDERWAY

Trial began in Seminole Circuit Court this morning for a 23-year-old Sanford man accused of robbing a couple at gunpoint outside a local grocery store last December.

Sylvester Davis of 58 Redding Gardens is charged with robbery and conspiracy to commit robbery in connection with the Dec. 31 theft of a $75 paycheck from James and Nella Jones in the parking lot of Pantry Pride, 2944 Orlando Drive, Sanford.

Davis is accused of participating in the hold-up with a second unknown bandit who held a shotgun on the couple while Davis allegedly took James Jones' wallet.

Testimony was scheduled to continue this afternoon. In other court action, 23-year-old Diane N. Shumway, 210 Cypress Way, Casselberry, was placed on two years probation and had her drivers license suspended for three months after pleading no contest Dec. 8 to a charge of vehicular manslaughter.

Shumway was accused of driving while intoxicated and running into Larry D. Boley, 27, Orlando, who was driving a Yamaha motorcycle on U.S. Highway 17-92 when the fatal crash occurred.

CASH, BUT NO STAMPS

Sanford police were searching for clues this morning to the theft of a bank bag containing $3,993 from a floor safe at the Discount Food Store, 1201 Airport Blvd., Saturday.

Store officials said the bag was locked in the safe about 8 a.m., but when the safe was checked about 2 p.m., the money was gone.

Police said the safe showed no signs of forced entry.

SUCCESSFUL PATROL

Sanford patrolman David Semones was on routine patrol about 3 a.m. Sunday when he spotted a figure moving around the Fina service station at the corner of 13th Street and Park Avenue. As he pulled in to investigate, Semones said he heard the tinkling of glass and saw a man standing outside a broken window with a six-pack of beer.

Rufus G. Wesson, 32, of 706 W. 11th St., Sanford, was arrested and jailed on a charge of burglary. Bond was set at $5,250.

Cut In U.S. Aid Could Push Nicaragua Toward Soviets

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Reagan administration's recent cutoff of all U.S. economic assistance to Nicaragua could push the nation's leftist Sandinista leaders into the arms of the Soviet bloc.

Charging Sandinistas helped arm the rebels fighting the U.S.-backed junta in nearby El Salvador, Washington on April 1 cut off $15 million of a $75 million loan and financing for a $9.6 million grain sale to Nicaragua.

President Reagan's move — likened by some critics to the U.S. policy that helped drive Cuba toward the Soviet Union 20 years ago — may push the already leftist Sandinistas in the same direction.

The ruling Sandinista National Liberation Front denounced the aid cutoff as "economic aggression." Even moderate leader Alfonso Robelo of the opposition Nicaraguan Democratic Movement called the Reagan move a "mistake."

The aid cutoff came at a crucial period shortly after the Sandinistas had called for a dialogue with domestic opponents.

Some observers said the dialogue apparently signaled a turn away from radicalism by the Sandinistas, who have run the Central American nation of 2.5 million since ousting president Anastasio Somoza in July 1979.

The nine-man Sandinista National Directorate announced last month that talks had begun with political parties, labor unions, religious and business leaders and journalists "to learn their points of view about the national situation."

Results of the dialogue so far have been mixed, with the some business and opposition political groups reluctant to participate. But the Sandinista overture toward their opponents is no less significant, these analysts said.

Less than two years after the Sandinistas won a war that claimed some 40,000 lives, the government faces a deepening economic crisis, strained relations with the United States and a turning point between moderation and radicalism.

The economy — looted by Somoza, hit by $2 billion in losses during the war, and badly managed by inexperienced Sandinistas — is near collapse.

Inflation this year may reach 40 percent, the Nicaraguan currency is plummeting and the nation's balance of payments showed a $169 million deficit in 1980.

Private businessmen, who control 60 percent of the nation's production, for the most part are withholding investments because of fears the Sandinistas are leading the nation toward a Cuban-style Marxist government.

The Sandinistas have taken stern measures against opponents and the alleged result has been a loss of the popular support that propelled them to power nearly two years ago.

Sandinista leaders as well as U.S. officials have voiced hopes for a mixed economy and pluralistic government in Nicaragua, but mounting tension between the two nations may push those aspirations beyond reach.

The Sandinistas charge Reagan, who branded their victory over a decades-long dictatorship a "Marxist takeover," has encouraged their opponents in Miami and nearby Honduras to prepare a military invasion of Nicaragua.

Longwood Gives Tentative OK To Annexation

Longwood City Commission tentatively approved annexation Monday night of three parcels of land which will form the site of a proposed Albertsons store on the corner of State Road 434 and Highway 17-92. Final reading and public hearing were set for June 8.

The vote was 4-0 in favor of the annexation (Commissioner J.R. Grant was absent).

Property being annexed includes: 3.1 acres (Sanlando Mobile Home Park) owned by Lamar Beauchamp, 8.331 acres on 17-92 and East Street owned by John M. Rife Jr. and Thomas W. Miller III; and .887 acres (Floral Motel on Highway 17-92 owned by Walter and Susan Judge.

"I've never seen Albertsons come in and do anything detrimental to a city," Mayor John Hepp told a concerned resident of the area, explaining, "There will be a buffer between the residential area and the shopping center as well as more green area than we asked for."

The site plan for Albertsons is scheduled to be presented to the Longwood Land Planning Agency Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The commission reversed a previous decision Monday night and voted to erect a city street sign for Eden's Gate Drive, a private driveway off Slade Drive.

The commission voted to put up the sign at the request of Jim Payne of 148 Eden's Gate Drive to facilitate by emergency vehicles location of homes on the private drive.

The city will put a directional arrow with the word "Private" under the street name in an effort to discourage unwanted traffic.

Payne told of a recent break-in at the home of his daughter in which the fleeing burglar fired two shots at his son who had gone to investigate.

Payne said although the police were patrolling across the lake it took them 30 minutes to locate the house and then only after they were met at a convenience store and led in.

He said the policeman had made five laps around the cul de sac, but couldn't find the house because there was no street sign on the drive leading to the residences. Payne submitted letters from the fire chief and police chief recommending the sign be placed there.

Leonard Peltzman of 128 Slade Drive, Longwood, objected, however, saying people would think the dead end private drive is a public street and the increased traffic would endanger his three-year-old son.

Nights In El Salvador

Martial Law Provides Cover For Mayhem

SAN VINCENTE, El Salvador (NEA)—As 12-year-old Domingo Martinez remembers it, through bitter tears, his family was just getting ready to retire for the night. He was in bed with his three brothers and a sister, and his father and mother were closing the windows of their modest home.

Suddenly there was a knock on the door. "Who is it?" the father asked.

"Building inspector," the visitors said. The father turned to warn his family, but it was too late. Six men broke down the door, and one of them knocked the father to the floor.

The men, wearing flak vests and waving machetes, herded the family outside, took them to the edge of the community, and killed everyone except Domingo.

The boy says the slaughter was gruesome. The men hacked the father to pieces, and cut the mother in two. Then, while the children screamed for mercy, the intruders chopped them to death one by one. Domingo says blood flew on the wind and the ground was littered with gore and body sections.

He survived by pretending to be dead. He laid still in the dirt as the men got into a couple of automobiles and drove off into the night. Even so, he nearly died; today he has ugly wounds on his head, his neck, his arms, his back—and those who know say he has other scars that do not show.

The other scars, the psychological ones, are perhaps the worst, and Domingo Martinez is just one of many in El Salvador today who suffer them. Most of the nation's five million people never see the formal war here, but virtually everyone is involved with the cruel terrorism accompanying it.

Some of the terrorism is carried out in the name of the revolution. Leftist guerrillas regularly march into the obscure villages, and drag their enemies off to their deaths. The guerrillas sometimes strangle the victims, then mutilate them, and feed the remains to the animals in the jungles.

But the greater part of the slaughter is said to be the work of right-wing assassins, the "death squad" merchants who believe annihilation is the solution to civil unrest. Some 16,000 people have been murdered here in 16 months, and the death squads may have been responsible for two-thirds of them.

The figures are rough, to say the least, because few people are counting very closely. The police seldom investigate the assassinations, and the government will not prosecute when they do; the only people who look into the killings are those associated with human rights or legal aid societies.

The leading authority among the latter is the Socorro Juridico del Arzobispado, an organization sponsored by the Roman Catholic Church. It claims that the death squads are financed by wealthy land-owners opposing the rebellion, and, further, are aided and abetted by governmental security forces.

Daisy Rivera do Cortez agrees. She says men dressed in military uniforms and wearing red berets recently broke into her home to take her 15-year-old son. When she reported the incident to an army commander, she was told to "go to church, light a candle, and thank God you were not taken also."

Socorro Juridico says the government participation has become even more blatant since martial law was declared in the nation in January. Since no one else is allowed out of doors after 9 p.m., the death squads have been given free rein; most murders since January have occurred after dark.

Legal aid workers say the law and the night are perfect covers for mayhem. Because many people will not even look out of their windows during the curfew. One man shot near here recently was left crying in the street for seven hours; no one would come outside to help him until the dawn.

The man left crying was 64 years old, a fruit vendor. No one knows why he was shot. The death squads reportedly concentrate on political activists, and professionals, but everyone is vulnerable. Right-wing killers are commonly employed to settle family feuds, grudges or romantic disputes.

In any event, the murders are most foul. And torture is a frequent part of it. Assassins of both extremes have severed heads for effect, and left bodies hoisted on community walls. Some women are gang raped before dying; children just out of swaddling clothes have been used as pistol targets.

Domingo Martinez says he remembers the men who broke into his house were laughing. And they kicked his brothers and sister around like soccer balls. He also remembers the machete blades in the moonlight, hacking endlessly, and the shock of crawling over his slippery father to get help.

Martinez is now in one of the nation's refugee camps, with thousands of other people suffering nightmares, and he wonders why anyone would want to hurt him. The answer is that he was born to parents who were chosen to become examples of the times; that is reason enough in Salvador today.

The refugee camps in El Salvador are filled with children whose parents have been slain and parents who have lost their children.

NATION IN BRIEF

Atlanta Police Identify Body Pulled From River

ATLANTA (UPI) — Police said today there was "a great possibility" a 23-year-old black man with a long arrest record, whose decomposed body was found Monday in the Chattahoochee River, is the 25th victim of Atlanta's child killers.

The body, the second found in a suburban river in two days, was identified by fingerprints as Michael Cameron McIntosh of southwest Atlanta, where most of the young victims lived.

Assistant Fulton County Police Chief Louis Graham said McIntosh — a 5-foot-5, 100-pound youth last seen alive by his family three weeks ago — had an arrest record stretching from 1976 to 1980 that included armed robbery, being drunk, theft by taking, criminal trespass, and one drug charge, possession of marijuana.

Brady 'Satisfactory'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The gravity of his wounds has fully registered on White House press secretary James Brady and there is now some personal anger over his fate, a top hospital physician says.

Brady broke out in a body rash during the weekend and his temperature rose, but by Monday the thermometer reading was only slightly above normal and his condition was described as "satisfactory," doctors said.

A statement released Monday by the White House said tests ruled out infection as the cause of the fever.

Navy To Pay Damage Claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy will pay damage claims for the collision in which a nuclear submarine sank a Japanese freighter, but a Navy investigation will determine the American crew's responsibility in the accident.

Navy Secretary John Lehman Jr., in a two-paragraph announcement Monday, said U.S. liability for the collision was accepted to avoid lengthy court battles and to permit the prompt start of negotiation on a settlement "with all involved parties."

The Navy said it expects to pay about $4.2 million in damages.

Agnew Trial Under Way

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Former Vice President Spiro Agnew won't be in court to face a civil suit against him, but trial proceedings may shed new light on a kickback scandal that prompted his resignation in 1973.

The suit, filed by three Montgomery County taxpayers, seeks to have Agnew repay $200,000 in kickbacks he allegedly received when he was governor of Maryland. The trial, to begin today, caps five years of delays.

Feds To Use Collectors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The public owes the federal government $139 billion, and the government is going to use private collection agencies to get some of it back.

Under new rules, the Justice Department said Monday federal agencies can hire private collection agencies to work on uncollectable debts.

Spring In His Step

Color In Reagan's Cheeks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, who has not been seen in public for nine days, has "always been a pretty good judge of himself" and is setting his own work and rest pace during his recuperation, a White House aide says.

Acting press secretary Larry Speakes described as "totally untrue" reports the president's recovery from a bullet that pierced his lung will take much longer than originally anticipated.

Reagan has remained in the family quarters since returning to the White House and there have been reports he tires easily and has some discomfort at times in breathing.

"He's doing extremely well," said Speakes, who reported Reagan has regained five of the 10 pounds he lost during his hospital stay.

"The color has come back to his cheeks

and there is a spring in his step," Speakes said.

"I think he has always been a pretty good judge of himself," said an aide.

Speakes said there was a "security factor" in Reagan's failure to make an appearance from the balcony of the White House, as expected, at the Monday Easter egg roll on the South Lawn.

He explained the possible appearance had been publicized and with thousands of people on the White House grounds, it was decided he should not come out.

There also were indications Nancy Reagan was keeping a watchful eye on her husband and does not want him pushed before he is up to par.

Visitors who have seen Reagan recently depict him as "presidential" and bouncing back. At the same time, Vice President George Bush indicated last week Reagan's convalescence may go on for some time.

Reagan was shot by a would-be assassin March 30 as he was emerging from a Washington hotel.

Aides cite an intensification of his official activities as proof of his steady improvement.

Today, Reagan planned to brief a group of friendly governors on his economic recovery program, including Democratic Gov. Fob James of Alabama and Republican Govs. William Clements of Texas, Robert Orr of Indiana, Pierre du Pont of Delaware, James Rhodes of Ohio and David Treen of Louisiana.

"I don't think any of them are wavering," Speakes said, referring to the governors' support of the Reagan plan. The meeting was set for the Treaty Room on the family floor.

'They're Imitations'

Bush Raps Demos' Budget Plans

DALLAS (UPI) — Alternatives to President Reagan's budget plans by key Democrats are a poor substitute for the White House proposals, charged Vice President George Bush.

Speaking to students and business leaders, Bush termed the alternative measures proposed by Democratic legislators "poor imitations" of Reagan's plan.

"These substitute programs to reduce spending and taxes may sound like the real thing but the truth is they are only imitations and poor ones at that," Bush said.

In a strong attack on what he termed attempts by Democrats to "water down" Reagan's budget proposals, Bush warned that such attempts would only slow the country's economic recovery.

Bush's appearance was his second in Texas since the inauguration and the first since Reagan was shot. Bush was in Fort Worth, Texas, when Reagan was wounded and Air Force Two rushed the vice president back to Washington.

"One of the messages I bring here today is that we can't afford to accept these substitutes that would water down or otherwise weaken the cure needed for our country's economic recovery," Bush told a large gathering at Southern Methodist University.

"President Reagan's program ... must not be diluted if it's to bring about the economic recovery the American people need and want, and indeed, that they mandated last November."

Talking to reporters, Bush said the administration never expected "a smooth sailing" of its budget proposals in Congress but reiterated that despite strong opposition, the administration was in "no mood to compromise."

In answer to a question after his speech, Bush said developing relations with Mexico was one of the administration's "most important" foreign policy goals. Bush had been asked about U.S. military involvement in El Salvador and said the main thrust of U.S. policy in that Central American country was "to check the unimpeded flow of weapons from Socialist countries."

He said whatever "modest support" the ruling military junta in El Salvador was receiving from the U.S. was aimed at helping El Salvador withstand pressure from Cuban President Fidel Castro and Nicaraguan Sandinista elements from whom he said the guerrilla forces were receiving arms.

However, Bush said, any American help to El Salvador would take into account the sentiments of Mexico which the U.S. viewed as "one of the most important and foremost (of countries) in our foreign policy objectives."

Bush said Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo and President Reagan "get along very well and are good friends" and that the U.S. would only attempt to "transcend and not separate" Mexico's feelings when considering any kind of help to the junta in El Salvador.

On the issue of Mexican aliens, Bush said he supported Texas Gov. Bill Clements' suggestion to get some kind of certification or authentication for aliens and said the new immigration policy under review by the U.S. Attorney General's office would support this suggestion.

Police Fish Fry

The Sanford Police Benevolent Association will hold its annual fish fry Friday at the PBA building, U.S. Highway 17-92, on Lake Monroe.

The all-you-can-eat affair will begin at 5 p.m. and run until 9 p.m., complete with bluegrass band and plenty of fish, grits, cole slaw and lush puppies.

Tickets will be $3 for adults, $1.50 for children. For more ticket information, contact the Sanford Police Department.

Country Folks Say It With Much More Style

LUFKIN, Texas (UPI) — In Houston it may be "a big thunderstorm" but in an East Texas town like Carthage that rain would be remembered as "hub-deep to a ferris wheel."

There may be brave people in Dallas, but you'd have to go somewhere like Gladewater to find someone who would "fight a rattlesnake and give it two bites to start."

The truth of the matter is that if there is something to say, country folks, those in East Texas, for example, will say it with more style and more color and in more ways than the urbanites.

Bob Bowman, a public relations executive with St. Regis Paper Co., offers proof in his book "If I Tell You a Hen Dips Snuff ...". The title comes from an old saying one uses to boast of his integrity — "If I tell you a hen dips snuff, you can look under her wing," meaning there will be a tin of snuff under that wing, as unlikely as it might seem.

Consider the old physics law that states that for every action, there is a reaction. The East Texas translation is: "There was never a persimmon 'cept there was a possum to eat it."

Bowman's book offers the country metaphors, similes, understatement and overstatements — followed by translations — commonly used in East Texas to brighten conversations.

"You find some of these expressions frequently used today but I think more and more you'll see them fade into oblivion," says Bowman, who says East Texas is his native tongue. "The culture is becoming more sophisticated, urbanized. People don't talk like that in Dallas."

The most popular subject in Bowman's book is ugliness, offering 12 ways to describe the unattractive, including "ugly enough to sour milk," "ugly as a wart on a pickle" and "so ugly she has to sneak up on a mirror."

Marriage is another favorite topic — "She'll marry at the drop of a hat and throw it herself" — and the book offers a bit of cracker barrel logic: "Every man is born free and equal. If he gets married, that's his fault."

"A lot of these expressions are used in East Texas and some are universally used," Bowman said. "I found out there were a lot of expressions common in East Texas but in West Texas you'd find them changed by a word or two."

Some of Bowman's highlights:

— "A fool and his money are soon parted and a fool and your money are probably running for re-election."

— "Bad breath is better than none at all," (despite fault, it's good to be alive);

— "Let's get past the hoe before the dogs start barking," (let's get this business resolved before someone starts complaining);

— "You can load gold on a mule but he's still a mule," (you can't change man's basic nature);

— "Having as much fun as a tomcat in a fish store," (enjoyable);

— "There ain't no disgrace in being poor but it sure is downright inconvenient," (it would be nice to have a little more money).

Last Ditch Effort

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Two of the five dusky seaside sparrows known to be in existence have been moved to the Santa Fe Community College Teaching Zoo, and the other three will join them as soon as they are acclimatized.

The transfer to the zoo, which was chosen by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for its medical and maintenance care facilities, is part of a last-ditch effort to prolong the species.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Catholic Youths Rampage In Londonderry For 6th Day

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Hundreds of Catholic youths stormed through Belfast and Londonderry to support dying IRA hunger striker Bobby Sands, torching cars and hurling gasoline bombs at security forces in street battles that left one British soldier engulfed in flames.

Sands, 27, who received last rites Saturday, began the 52nd day of his hunger strike today fully "resigned to die" to gain political status for IRA prisoners, according to one of the three Irish politicians who visited the hunger striker in the infamous Maze Prison.

The three Republic of Ireland Parliament members said they "urgently" wanted to discuss Sands' plight with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, currently on a trip to Saudi Arabia.

A London spokesman for Mrs. Thatcher said she was willing to talk but she would not break off her foreign trip and would not return until Saturday. Sands' family said he could be dead by then.

In the Catholic neighborhoods of Belfast and Londonderry, hundreds of youths went on a rampage to rally support for Sands and protest the deaths of two youths who were struck by an army Land Rover on Easter.

The rioters clambered over the walls of a Post Office parking lot and set several vehicles on fire. Troops carrying rifles and fire extinguishers blocked intersections and scurried from fire to fire, firing plastic bullets to disperse the mobs.

Israel Strikes Palestinians

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian peacekeeping troops traded artillery fire with Phalangist militiamen in the streets of Beirut today and Israeli planes and gunners pounded Palestinian guerrillas in southern Lebanon.

Phalangist radio likened the fighting in Beirut to the "opening of the gates of hell" and police sources said the battles had killed at least 5 people.

In the south, police sources reported 21 dead and about 70 wounded in attacks by Israeli artillery and planes against Palestinian guerrilla strongholds in Tyre and Nabatieh, eight miles and five miles north of the border respectively.

New Black Rioting In London

LONDON (UPI) — Hundreds of black youths rampaged through three London fairgrounds, looting stores, hurling cobblestones and stomping police in Britain's second race riot this month. Twenty police and 27 bystanders were injured, authorities said.

"The police were kicked and battered. They were kicked like sacks along the road," said pub manager Francis Joyce who witnessed the attacks.

A police spokesman said 47 people were injured — 20 police and 27 passers-by struck by cobblestones and rocks the black youths hurled. Police arrested 70 youths.

The trouble began at closing time in North London's Finsbury Park, 8 miles from Brixton, the district that exploded in four nights of race rioting a week ago, police said.

'Mein Kampf' To Be Banned

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — The West German government, acting 38 years after Adolf Hitler's death, announced today it is drawing up legislation to ban his book "Mein Kampf."

Justice Minister Juergen Schmude said that because of a loophole in laws banning Nazi activity it still is legal to publish and sell the book in which Hitler outlined his theories of the German master race fit to dominate Europe.

Schmude told the Metalworkers Union newspaper Metal that new legislation cracking down on neo-Nazis now is being drawn up and should be ready for submission to parliament soon.

He said the new law will ban not only the publication of new Nazi propaganda, but old Nazi propaganda circulated in guise of historical works as well.

Nuclear Leak Exposed 56

TOKYO (UPI) — A radioactive leak, hushed up for 40 days by the operators of a chronically defective nuclear power station, exposed 56 workers to high radiation doses in the worst nuclear plant accident in Japan's history, the company revealed today.

The Japanese government, which lifted the lid on the cover-up Monday ordered a complete review of the accident-plagued Tsuruga plant — Japan's second oldest atomic plant, and 21 other nuclear complexes across the country to prevent similar incidents.

"This should never happen again," Rokusuke Tanaka, the Cabinet minister in charge of nuclear facilities, told parliament in a report on the worst nuclear accident in the history of Japan, which relies on nuclear plants for 16 percent of its electricity.

Altamonte Brothers Jailed In Knife-point Robbery Case

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

Two Altamonte Springs brothers were in the Seminole County Jail today accused of robbing a man at knife-point outside a local bar.

Thomas Stephen and John David Green, 21 and 26 respectively, both of 107 Satsuma Dr., were charged with armed robbery in connection with today's 2:20 a.m. theft of $500 from a patron of the Circus Lounge, U.S. Highway 17-92 in Fern Park.

According to sheriff's deputies, Thomas Green allegedly pulled Donald Coppetta's arm out the driver's window of his van and bent it back while John Green held a knife to Coppetta's throat and took his wallet containing about $500 in cash.

Coppetta gave deputies a description of the getaway car and the Green brothers were captured near Lee Road and Interstate 4 a short time later.

They were being held this morning under $10,500 bond each.

EX-LOVERS SPAT

A 28-year-old Sanford man was being held in the county jail today on charges of burglary and assault after he allegedly broke into his ex-girlfriend's house and beat her up.

Jailed was Rufus Bradley of 1415 W. 12th St.

Rhonda A. Taylor, 20, of 1807 Pear Ave., Sanford, told sheriff's deputies that Bradley came to her door about 8:30 p.m. Sunday. She refused to let him in so he went around to the back of the house, took a screen from a window and crawled through.

Once inside, Taylor said, Bradley punched, bit and scratched her. Bradley fled, but was picked up within minutes by deputies.

BIG WHEEL BANDITS

Seminole County sheriff's officers were continuing their investigation today into the weekend theft of $15,000 worth of tires from the Fruehauf Trucking Co., State Road 441, Forest City.

According to a sheriff's report, thieves cut through a chain link fence to gain access to nine trailers parked next to the company's main building. Once inside the compound, they stole 42 tires and wheels and fled in what is believed to be a four-wheel drive vehicle.

ROBBERY TRIAL UNDERWAY

Trial began in Seminole Circuit Court this morning for a 23-year-old Sanford man accused of robbing a couple at gunpoint outside a local grocery store last December.

Sylvester Davis of 58 Redding Gardens is charged with robbery and conspiracy to commit robbery in connection with the Dec. 31 theft of a $75 paycheck from James and Nella Jones in the parking lot of Pantry Pride, 2944 Orlando Drive, Sanford.

Davis is accused of participating in the hold-up with a second unknown bandit who held a shotgun on the couple while Davis allegedly took James Jones' wallet.

Testimony was scheduled to continue this afternoon.

In other court action, 23-year-old Diane N. Shumway, 210 Cypress Way, Casselberry, was placed on two years probation and had her drivers license suspended for three months after pleading no contest Dec. 8 to a charge of vehicular manslaughter.

Shumway was accused of driving while intoxicated and running into Larry D. Boley, 27, Orlando, who was driving a Yamaha motorcycle on U.S. Highway 17-92 when the fatal crash occurred.

CASH, BUT NO STAMPS

Sanford police were searching for clues this morning to the theft of a bank bag containing $3,993 from a floor safe at the Discount Food Store, 1201 Airport Blvd., Saturday.

Store officials said the bag was locked in the safe about 8 a.m., but when the safe was checked about 2 p.m., the money was gone.

Police said the safe showed no signs of forced entry.

SUCCESSFUL PATROL

Sanford patrolman David Semones was on routine patrol about 3 a.m. Sunday when he spotted a figure moving around the Fina service station at the corner of 13th Street and Park Avenue. As he pulled in to investigate, Semones said he heard the tinkling of glass and saw a man standing outside a broken window with a six-pack of beer.

Rufus G. Wesson, 32, of 706 W. 11th St., Sanford, was arrested and jailed on a charge of burglary. Bond was set at $5,250.

Cut In U.S. Aid Could Push Nicaragua Toward Soviets

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Reagan administration's recent cutoff of all U.S. economic assistance to Nicaragua could push the nation's leftist Sandinista leaders into the arms of the Soviet bloc.

Charging Sandinistas helped arm the rebels fighting the U.S.-backed junta in nearby El Salvador, Washington on April 1 cut off $15 million of a $75 million loan and financing for a $9.6 million grain sale to Nicaragua.

President Reagan's move — likened by some critics to the U.S. policy that helped drive Cuba toward the Soviet Union 20 years ago — may push the already leftist Sandinistas in the same direction.

The ruling Sandinista National Liberation Front denounced the aid cutoff as "economic aggression." Even moderate leader Alfonso Robelo of the opposition Nicaraguan Democratic Movement called the Reagan move a "mistake."

The aid cutoff came at a crucial period shortly after the Sandinistas had called for a dialogue with domestic opponents.

Some observers said the dialogue apparently signaled a turn away from radicalism by the Sandinistas, who have run the Central American nation of 2.5 million since ousting president Anastasio Somoza in July 1979.

The nine-man Sandinista National Directorate announced last month that talks had begun with political parties, labor unions, religious and business leaders and journalists "to learn their points of view about the national situation."

Results of the dialogue so far have been mixed, with the some business and opposition political groups reluctant to participate. But the Sandinista overture toward their opponents is no less significant, these analysts said.

Less than two years after the Sandinistas won a war that claimed some 40,000 lives, the government faces a deepening economic crisis, strained relations with the United States and a turning point between moderation and radicalism.

The economy — looted by Somoza, hit by $2 billion in losses during the war, and badly managed by inexperienced Sandinistas — is near collapse.

Inflation this year may reach 40 percent, the Nicaraguan currency is plummeting and the nation's balance of payments showed a $169 million deficit in 1980.

Private businessmen, who control 60 percent of the nation's production, for the most part are withholding investments because of fears the Sandinistas are leading the nation toward a Cuban-style Marxist government.

The Sandinistas have taken stern measures against opponents and the alleged result has been a loss of the popular support that propelled them to power nearly two years ago.

Sandinista leaders as well as U.S. officials have voiced hopes for a mixed economy and pluralistic government in Nicaragua, but mounting tension between the two nations may push those aspirations beyond reach.

The Sandinistas charge Reagan, who branded their victory over a decades-long dictatorship a "Marxist takeover," has encouraged their opponents in Miami and nearby Honduras to prepare a military invasion of Nicaragua.

Longwood Gives Tentative OK To Annexation

Longwood City Commission tentatively approved annexation Monday night of three parcels of land which will form the site of a proposed Albertsons store on the corner of State Road 434 and Highway 17-92. Final reading and public hearing were set for June 8.

The vote was 4-0 in favor of the annexation (Commissioner J.R. Grant was absent).

Property being annexed includes: 3.1 acres (Sanlando Mobile Home Park) owned by Lamar Beauchamp, 8.331 acres on 17-92 and East Street owned by John M. Rife Jr. and Thomas W. Miller III; and .887 acres (Floral Motel on Highway 17-92 owned by Walter and Susan Judge.

"I've never seen Albertsons come in and do anything detrimental to a city," Mayor John Hepp told a concerned resident of the area, explaining, "There will be a buffer between the residential area and the shopping center as well as more green area than we asked for."

The site plan for Albertsons is scheduled to be presented to the Longwood Land Planning Agency Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The commission reversed a previous decision Monday night and voted to erect a city street sign for Eden's Gate Drive, a private driveway off Slade Drive.

The commission voted to put up the sign at the request of Jim Payne of 148 Eden's Gate Drive to facilitate by emergency vehicles location of homes on the private drive.

The city will put a directional arrow with the word "Private" under the street name in an effort to discourage unwanted traffic.

Payne told of a recent break-in at the home of his daughter in which the fleeing burglar fired two shots at his son who had gone to investigate.

Payne said although the police were patrolling across the lake it took them 30 minutes to locate the house and then only after they were met at a convenience store and led in.

He said the policeman had made five laps around the cul de sac, but couldn't find the house because there was no street sign on the drive leading to the residence. Payne submitted letters from the fire chief and police chief recommending the sign be placed there.

Leonard Peltzman of 198 Slade Drive, Longwood, objected, however, saying people would think the dead end private drive is a public street and the increased traffic would endanger his three-year-old son.

Nights In El Salvador

Martial Law Provides Cover For Mayhem

SAN VICENTE, El Salvador (NEA)—As 12-year-old Domingo Martinez remembers it, through bitter tears, his family was just getting ready to retire for the night. He was in bed with his three brothers and a sister, and his father and mother were closing the windows of their modest home.

Suddenly there was a knock on the door. "Who is it?" the father asked.

"Building inspector," the visitors said. The father turned to warn his family, but it was too late. Six men broke down the door, and one of them knocked the father to the floor.

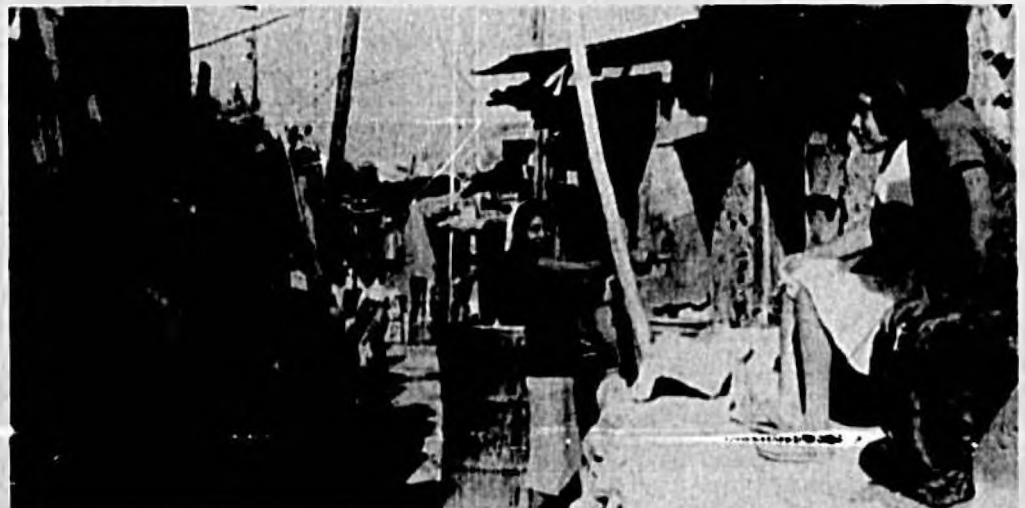

The men, wearing flak vests and waving machetes, herded the family outside, took them to the edge of the community, and killed everyone except Domingo.

The boy says the slaughter was gruesome. The men hacked the father to pieces, and cut the mother in two. Then, while the children screamed for mercy, the intruders chopped them to death one by one. Domingo says blood flew on the wind and the ground was littered with gore and body sections.

He survived by pretending to be dead. He laid still in the dirt as the men got into a couple of automobiles and drove off into the night. Even so, he nearly died; today he has ugly wounds on his head, his neck, his arms, his back—and those who know say he has other scars that do not show.

The other scars, the psychological ones, are perhaps the worst, and Domingo Martinez is just one of many in El Salvador today who suffer them. Most of the nation's five million people never see the formal war here, but virtually everyone is involved with the cruel terrorism accompanying it.

The refugee camps in El Salvador are filled with children whose parents have been slain and parents who have lost their children.

Some of the terrorism is carried out in the name of the revolution. Leftist guerrillas regularly march into the obscure villages, and drag their enemies off to their deaths. The guerrillas sometimes strangle the victims, then mutilate them, and feed the remains to the animals in the jungles.

But the greater part of the slaughter is said to be the work of right-wing assassins, the "death squad" merchants who believe annihilation is the solution to civil unrest. Some 18,000 people have been murdered here in 16 months, and the death squads may have been responsible for two-thirds of them.

The figures are rough, to say the least, because few people are counting very closely. The police seldom investigate the assassinations, and the government will not prosecute when they do; the only people who look into the killings are those associated with human rights or legal aid societies.

The leading authority among the latter is the Socorro Juridico del Arzobispado, an organization sponsored by the Roman Catholic Church. It claims that the death squads are financed by wealthy land-owners opposing the rebellion, and, further, are aided and abetted by governmental security forces.

Daisy Rivera do Cortez agrees. She says men dressed in military uniforms and wearing red berets recently broke into her home to take her 15-year-old son. When she reported the incident to an army commander, she was told to "go to church, light a candle, and thank God you were not taken also."

Socorro Juridico says the government participation has become even more blatant since martial law was declared in the nation in January. Since no one else is allowed out of doors after 9 p.m., the death squads have been given free rein; most murders since January have occurred after dark.

Legal aid workers say the law and the night are perfect covers for mayhem. Because many people will not even look out of their windows during the curfew. One man shot near here recently was left crying in the street for seven hours; no one would come outside to help him until the dawn.

The man left crying was 64 years old, a fruit vendor. No one knows why he was shot. The death squads reportedly concentrate on political activists, and professionals, but everyone is vulnerable. Right-wing killers are commonly employed to settle family feuds, grudges or romantic disputes.

In any event, the murders are most foul. And torture is a frequent part of it. Assassins of both extremes have severed heads for effect, and left bodies hoisted on community walls. Some women are gang raped before dying; children just out of swaddling clothes have been used as pistol targets.

Domingo Martinez says he remembers the men who broke into his house were laughing. And they kicked his brothers and sister around like soccer balls. He also remembers the machete blades in the moonlight, hacking endlessly, and the shock of crawling over his slippery father to get help.

Martinez is now in one of the nation's refugee camps, with thousands of other people suffering nightmares, and he wonders why anyone would want to hurt him. The answer is that he was born to parents who were chosen to become examples of the times; that is reason enough in Salvador today.

NATION IN BRIEF

Atlanta Police Identify Body Pulled From River

ATLANTA (UPI) — Police said today there was "a great possibility" a 23-year-old black man with a long arrest record, whose decomposed body was found Monday in the Chattahoochee River, is the 25th victim of Atlanta's child killers.

The body, the second found in a suburban river in two days, was identified by fingerprints as Michael Cameron McIntosh of southwest Atlanta, where most of the young victims lived.

Assistant Fulton County Police Chief Louis Graham said McIntosh — a 5-foot-5, 100-pound youth last seen alive by his family three weeks ago — had an arrest record stretching from 1976 to 1980 that included armed robbery, being drunk, theft by taking, criminal trespass, and one drug charge, possession of marijuana.

Brady 'Satisfactory'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The gravity of his wounds has fully registered on White House press secretary James Brady and there is now some personal anger over his fate, a top hospital physician says.

Brady broke out in a body rash during the weekend and his temperature rose, but by Monday the thermometer reading was only slightly above normal and his condition was described as "satisfactory," doctors said.

A statement released Monday by the White House said tests ruled out infection as the cause of the fever.

Navy To Pay Damage Claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy will pay damage claims for the collision in which a nuclear submarine sank a Japanese freighter, but a Navy investigation will determine the American crew's responsibility in the accident.

Navy Secretary John Lehman Jr., in a two-paragraph announcement Monday, said U.S. liability for the collision was accepted to avoid lengthy court battles and to permit the prompt start of negotiation on a settlement "with all involved parties."

The Navy said it expects to pay about $4.2 million in damages.

Agnew Trial Under Way

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Former Vice President Spiro Agnew won't be in court to face a civil suit against him, but trial proceedings may shed new light on a kickback scandal that prompted his resignation in 1973.

The suit, filed by three Montgomery County taxpayers, seeks to have Agnew repay $200,000 in kickbacks he allegedly received when he was governor of Maryland. The trial, to begin today, caps five years of delays.

Feds To Use Collectors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The public owes the federal government $139 billion, and the government is going to use private collection agencies to get some of it back.

Under new rules, the Justice Department said Monday federal agencies can hire private collection agencies to work on uncollectable debts.

Spring In His Step

Color In Reagan's Cheeks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, who has not been seen in public for nine days, has "always been a pretty good judge of himself" and is setting his own work and rest pace during his recuperation, a White House aide says.

Acting press secretary Larry Speakes described as "totally untrue" reports the president's recovery from a bullet that pierced his lung will take much longer than originally anticipated.

Reagan has remained in the family quarters since returning to the White House and there have been reports he tires easily and has some discomfort at times in breathing.

"He's doing extremely well," said Speakes, who reported Reagan has regained five of the 10 pounds he lost during his hospital stay.

"The color has come back to his cheeks

and there is a spring in his step," Speakes said.

"I think he has always been a pretty good judge of himself," said an aide.

Speakes said there was a "security factor" in Reagan's failure to make an appearance from the balcony of the White House, as expected, at the Monday Easter egg roll on the South Lawn.

He explained the possible appearance had been publicized and with thousands of people on the White House grounds, it was decided he should not come out.

There also were indications Nancy Reagan was keeping a watchful eye on her husband and does not want him pushed before he is up to par.

Visitors who have seen Reagan recently depict him as "presidential" and bouncing back. At the same time, Vice President George Bush indicated last week Reagan's convalescence may go on for some time.

Reagan was shot by a would-be assassin March 30 as he was emerging from a Washington hotel.

Aides cite an intensification of his official activities as proof of his steady improvement.

Today, Reagan planned to brief a group of friendly governors on his economic recovery program, including Democratic Gov. Fob James of Alabama and Republican Govs. William Clements of Texas, Robert Orr of Indiana, Pierre du Pont of Delaware, James Rhodes of Ohio and David Treen of Louisiana.

"I don't think any of them are wavering," Speakes said, referring to the governors' support of the Reagan plan. The meeting was set for the Treaty Room on the family floor.

'They're Imitations'

Bush Raps Demos' Budget Plans

DALLAS (UPI) — Alternatives to President Reagan's budget plans by key Democrats are a poor substitute for the White House proposals, charged Vice President George Bush.

Speaking to students and business leaders, Bush termed the alternative measures proposed by Democratic legislators "poor imitations" of Reagan's plan.

"These substitute programs to reduce spending and taxes may sound like the real thing but the truth is they are only imitations and poor ones at that," Bush said.

In a strong attack on what he termed attempts by Democrats to "water down" Reagan's budget proposals, Bush warned that such attempts would only slow the country's economic recovery.

Bush's appearance was his second in Texas since the inauguration and the first since Reagan was shot. Bush was in Fort Worth, Texas, when Reagan was wounded and Air Force Two rushed the vice president back to Washington.

"One of the messages I bring here today is that we can't afford to accept these substitutes that would water down or otherwise weaken the cure needed for our country's economic recovery," Bush told a large gathering at Southern Methodist University.

"President Reagan's program ... must not be diluted if it's to bring about the economic recovery the American people need and want, and indeed, that they mandated last November."

Talking to reporters, Bush said the administration never expected "a smooth sailing" of its budget proposals in Congress but reiterated that despite strong opposition, the administration was in "no mood to compromise."

In answer to a question after his speech, Bush said developing relations with Mexico was one of the administration's "most important" foreign policy goals. Bush had been asked about U.S. military involvement in El Salvador and said the main thrust of U.S. policy in that Central American country was "to check the unimpeded flow of weapons from Socialist countries."

He said whatever "modest support" the ruling military junta in El Salvador was receiving from the U.S. was aimed at helping El Salvador withstand pressure from Cuban President Fidel Castro and Nicaraguan Sandinista elements from whom he said the guerrilla forces were receiving arms.

However, Bush said, any American help to El Salvador would take into account the sentiments of Mexico which the U.S. viewed as "one of the most important and foremost (of countries) in our foreign policy objectives."

Bush said Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo and President Reagan "get along very well and are good friends" and that the U.S. would only attempt to "transcend and not separate" Mexico's feelings when considering any kind of help to the junta in El Salvador.

On the issue of Mexican aliens, Bush said he supported Texas Gov. Bill Clements' suggestion to get some kind of certification or authentication for aliens and said the new immigration policy under review by the U.S. Attorney General's office would support this suggestion.

Country Folks Say It With Much More Style

LUFKIN, Texas (UPI) — In Houston it may be "a big thunderstorm" but in an East Texas town like Carthage that rain would be remembered as "hub-deep to a ferris wheel."

There may be brave people in Dallas, but you'd have to go somewhere like Gladewater to find someone who would "fight a rattlesnake and give it two bites to start."

The truth of the matter is that if there is something to say, country folks, those in East Texas, for example, will say it with more style and more color and in more ways than the urbanites.

Bob Bowman, a public relations executive with St. Regis Paper Co., offers proof in his book "If I Tell You a Hen Dips Snuff ...". The title comes from an old saying one uses to boast of his integrity — "If I tell you a hen dips snuff, you can look under her wing," meaning there will be a tin of snuff under that wing, as unlikely as it might seem.

Consider the old physics law that states that for every action, there is a reaction. The East Texas translation is: "There was never a persimmon 'cept there was a possum to eat it."

Bowman's book offers the country metaphors, similes, understatement and overstatements — followed by translations — commonly used in East Texas to brighten conversations.

"You find some of these expressions frequently used today but I think more and more you'll see them fade into oblivion," says Bowman, who says East Texan is his native tongue. "The culture is becoming more sophisticated, urbanized. People don't talk like that in Dallas."

The most popular subject in Bowman's book is ugliness, offering 12 ways to describe the unattractive, including "ugly enough to sour milk," "ugly as a wart on a pickle" and "so ugly she has to sneak up on a mirror."

Marriage is another favorite topic — "She'll marry at the drop of a hat and throw it herself" — and the book offers a bit of cracker barrel logic: "Every man is born free and equal. If he gets married, that's his fault."

"A lot of these expressions are used in East Texas and some are universally used," Bowman said. "I found out there were a lot of expressions common in East Texas but in West Texas you'd find them changed by a word or two."

Some of Bowman's highlights:

- "A fool and his money are soon parted and a fool and your money are probably running for re-election."
- "Bad breath is better than none at all," (despite fault, it's good to be alive);
- "Let's get past the hoe before the dogs start barking," (let's get this business resolved before someone starts complaining);
- "You can load gold on a mule but he's still a mule," (you can't change man's basic nature);
- "Having as much fun as a tomcat in a fish store," (enjoyable);
- "There ain't no disgrace in being poor but it sure is downright inconvenient," (it would be nice to have a little more money).

Last Ditch Effort

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Two of the five dusky seaside sparrows known to be in existence have been moved to the Santa Fe Community College Teaching Zoo, and the other three will join them as soon as they are acclimatized.

The transfer to the zoo, which was chosen by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for its medical and maintenance care facilities, is part of a last-ditch effort to prolong the species.

Remember, JFK's Tax Cut Worked

President Reagan seems to be batting about 500 in his effort to win congressional approval of the administration's tax and spending cuts.

The spending cuts, already approved by the GOP-controlled Senate, are on second base and considered certain to make it to home plate in recognizable form.

But the president's tax-cut formula — a 10 percent reduction in personal income tax rates for each of the next three years plus a healthy liberalization of depreciation schedules for business — is in trouble and may ultimately be stranded on first base.

While a 500 average would be the stuff of superstardom in the major leagues and impressive enough for a rookie president in his first chances at bat, it won't be good enough to revive the nation's stagnant economy.

Mr. Reagan must have both spending cuts to curb inflation and substantial tax reductions to spur the economy. If he gets the first without the second, the nation would suffer a taste of what Britain is now enduring: austerity in government spending unrelieved by a resurgence of economic activity.

The 1.7 million Britons out of work — the highest number in that country since the 1930s — could tell Congress all it needs to know about the consequences of failing to reduce excessive taxation and thereby stimulate investment in the economy.

In part, the opposition Mr. Reagan's tax cuts are encountering in the House Budget and Ways and Means committees is motivated by thinly disguised partisanship. Having failed to mount effective opposition to the president's spending cuts, House Democrats see the tax-cut package as their last chance to keep the Reagan team from batting around in its very first inning.

Then too, the Tip O'Neill-Jim Jones-Dan Rostenkowski leadership faction in the House is undeniably influenced by those critics of supply-side economics who argue that substantial tax cuts will only increase the deficit and fuel more inflation.

While it's nice to see the Democrats suddenly obsessed with shrinking the deficit and reining in inflation, their fears take too little cognizance of that earlier demonstration of supply-side tax cutting: the tax-rate reductions proposed by John F. Kennedy and passed by a Democratic Congress.

That tax cut increased government revenues by stimulating the economy to greater productivity, and without triggering any significant increase in inflation.

Unless House Democrats can somehow rewrite history, their case against the Reagan tax cuts will remain suspect at best.

In recent days, Rep. Rostenkowski, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, has been promoting various alternatives to the three-year tax cut proposed by President Reagan.

The current favorite among liberal House Democrats is a modest, one-year cut in tax rates. This alternative scraps Mr. Reagan's across-the-board rate reductions in favor of cuts tailored to benefit primarily middle-income taxpayers. Accordingly it would reduce the stimulative effects of paring taxes for those in upper-income categories who are more likely to be able to channel their additional income into investments.

But the most telling argument against the Rostenkowski alternative is its piecemeal timidity at a time when resuscitating the economy calls for a bold and sweeping remedy.

The president and his economic advisers are prepared presumably to discuss some fine tuning of their tax-cut formula. What they should not be prepared to fritter away in negotiations is the altogether correct conviction that nothing less than substantial, multi-year reductions on the scale of those originally proposed will do.

Put another way, this is no time for the Reagan team to send its heavy hitters to the plate with orders to bunt.

When it's time to get into the swing of things, it's tough to beat the Mayfair Country Club.

The Seminole Boosters Club will hold its annual fund raiser at Mayfair Saturday April 25. The 1 p.m. "Shotgun Start" will be followed by a hamburger buffet. The cost of donation is $25.

"The money is definitely needed," said Booster President Whitey Eckstein. "We didn't do as well as we thought we would in football receipts."

Other goings on at Mayfair coming up in May include the Club Championship for the men. Seminole Baseball Coach Bobby Lundquist will be back to defend his title which he won last year.

In the men's monthly best ball, two-man tournament, the best low gross (no handicap) was turned in by the twosome of Steve Grooven and Ira Abramson. They shot a combined 72.

The low-net full handicap winners were as follows:

1st Place
Stan Potter, Ed Mioducki, 58.
2nd Place
Harold Brooks, K.D. Brooks, 59.
3rd Place
Bob Janocko, Al Shearer, 59.
Last place low-net honors go to Whitey Eckstein and Al Antar with a score of 68.
Stan Price was named the Mayfair Men's Association "Golfer of the Month" for his hole-in-one on the par three, 144-yard hole.
Stan used an eight iron to record his ace.
The Mayfair Women's Golf Association holds its final round in the club Championship Wednesday.

This Sunday, April 26, Art Grindle will auction off approximately $20,000 worth of new items and valuable services donated by the business community for the benefit of the Seminole Youth Sports Association. Items to be auctioned range from a $3 punch bowl to a fully installed Rain Bird Automatic Lawn Sprinkling System valued at $2,000.

The auction will be held at 3 p.m. at the Altamonte Springs Civic Center on Highland Avenue. The public is invited to attend and bid. There is no admission or registration fee. Charges to Master Charge or Visa will be accepted.

Proceeds from Sunday's auction will be used to support youth sports programs for elementary and middle school boys and girls. Annually, several thousand children participate in programs provided by S.Y.S.A., including Pop Warner football, basketball, soccer, cheerleading, and baton twirling.

Disputed Inflation Forecasts

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Inflation may be the single most important factor in deciding the success or failure of President Reagan's economic program. And inflation — or, rather, inflation forecasting — is at the heart of an increasingly bitter debate over the administration's plan to restore the nation to economic health.

Shortly after the White House sent its package of taxing and spending cuts to Capitol Hill, the Congressional Budget Office issued its own assessment of the Reagan plan. It was not complimentary.

The CBO analysts contended that Reagan had badly underestimated expenditures. They said that he was off by at least $15 billion and perhaps as much as $40 billion in his spending estimate for fiscal 1982, his first full fiscal year in office.

An outraged Reagan then made a special trip to Capitol Hill during which he called the CBO figures "phony." Conservative Republicans rallied to the president's cause; Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, called the CBO report "the voice of big spenders trying to undermine the credibility of the Reagan administration."

But the CBO, which has proven itself among the most accurate and conservative of economic forecasters, is sticking by its figures. And the figures that differ the most from Reagan's concern future inflation rates.

The idea behind the president's economic program is to "cut through the inflation mentality" and thus to bring down the rate of inflation. Confident Reagan planners say that the inflation rate will gradually but steadily decline from 10 percent in 1981 to 5.5 percent in 1985.

The CBO forecasters see things much more pessimistically. They predict that the inflation rate will remain at 10.4 percent through 1982 and rise slightly in 1983 before beginning a slight decline in 1984. By 1985, they say, the rate will be 9.4 percent — almost twice as much as the administration's forecast.

This is far more than an academic argument between two groups of economists. Federal budgets and other economic plans are based on anticipated levels of spending and income. The differences in spending at inflation rates of 5.5 percent and 9.4 percent are staggering.

Take the Defense Department, for example. The most recent of the department's semi-annual acquisition reports shows that the cost of 47 weapons systems has risen by $47.6 billion since September solely because of inflation. The price of one F-16 aircraft has gone up $4 million, and the price of one M-1 tank has gone up $2 million.

The administration has vowed to strengthen the military at a cost of about $1.3 trillion over the next six years. This figure is based on its forecast of steadily falling inflation. Should the administration be wrong and the CBO be right, military spending may have to be increased by as much as 15 percent — which represents quite a lot of money when one is talking about $1.3 trillion.

Agent's Episode: Touch Of Sleaze

WASHINGTON — A Russian diplomat believed to be a KGB agent got himself mixed up in some tawdry capitalist decadence recently while drunkenly trolling for homosexual adventure a few blocks from the White House at 5 in the morning.

Within hours, the gay secret agent, Yuri Igorevich Osipov, was shipped back to Moscow, where he may still be trying to convince KGB interrogators that his fantastic version of the affair is true. A far likelier account was obtained by my associate Les Whitten from an eyewitness to the undiplomatic episode and from a secret police report.

Osipov's "cover" at the Soviet Embassy was a job in the cultural exchange office. But it wasn't culture he was looking to exchange in the predawn hours of Feb. 24, when he ventured into Malcolm X Park after a marathon drinking bout that had begun the previous evening at an embassy reception about a dozen blocks away.

Drunk and disheveled, Osipov was a most unintelligent intelligence agent even to venture into the park. It is a known hangout not only for homosexuals, but for muggers, and was the scene of a recent murder. U.S. counterespies have concluded that Osipov was probably seeking a homosexual tryst.

But there was no "probably" about it, according to Sammie Smith, a husky 19-year-old black man who was crossing the park on the way home from a visit with his girlfriend.

Smith said the Russian was ardently importuning a known homosexual when two men started jostling him, obviously as a prelude to rolling the inebriated stranger. Smith said he talked the two out of their intended robbery and volunteered to help Osipov find some documents he had lost in the scuffle. Then he and Osipov drove off in the Russian's car.

The amorous spook "tried to grab my privates," Smith recounted. The overture was indignantly repulsed; both Smith and his friends attest that he is strictly a ladies' man.

The frustrated Russian parked outside a drugstore and tried to strangle Smith — who showed my associate bruises on his throat to prove it. Smith's testimony was also supported by a bystander, Reginald Ten Eyck, 24, who strolled over to see what was happening. "The white man was choking the brother," Ten Eyck told police.

Osipov drove off at Ten Eyck's approach, and was next spotted by a metropolitan police patrol traveling "at a high rate of speed." The cop pulled the car over at 5:20 a.m. Beyond declaring that he was a diplomat and that he had been robbed, Osipov refused any information until an embassy official, summoned by police, arrived on the scene.

The Soviet official, Vladimir Vikulov, a political officer, spoke rapidly with Osipov and then gave Detective James Pawlik this weird story: Without explaining what he had been doing in Malcolm X Park, Osipov claimed that "two black men...tried to make (me) perform oral sex on them." When he refused, Osipov said, he was robbed of diplomatic papers, his watch and some cash. He also claimed that Smith was involved in the robbery, but did not explain how Smith, on

Tables Turned On Press Corps

WASHINGTON (NEA)—This city's journalists, quite content with their traditional role of reporting on others' trials and tribulations, now find themselves in the uncomfortable position of having their work scrutinized by outsiders.

Recent weeks have seen the publication of no fewer than three major books examining, analyzing and criticizing the techniques, impact, strengths and weaknesses of the nation's largest and most influential press corps.

Two of those volumes offer fascinating clinical studies of journalism as currently practiced in this capital. They are "Portraying the President: The White House and the News Media," by Michael Baruch Grossman and Martha Joynt Kumar, and by Stephen Hess.

The third book is by far the most compelling, however, because its authors' critique of the news media (they emphasize coverage of the federal government and national politics but also discuss foreign and local reporting) is advanced in explicit and provocative arguments.

"Media Power Politics," by David L. Paletz and Robert M. Entman, identifies five areas in which news-gathering organizations exert great influence over public opinion: "They stabilize prevailing opinions, set priorities, elevate events and issues, sometimes change opinions and ultimately limit options."

But have the news media been willing to accept responsibility consonant with the vast power that has accrued to them? Paletz and Entman, both members of the faculty at Duke University, answer that question with a resounding "no."

They offer compelling evidence to support their position that "the media tend to limit the ability of mass citizens to comprehend and respond intelligently to the political events, issues and power holders that compose the news — to wield power successfully."

In campaigns for public office, for example, the news media invariably subordinate reporting on issues to coverage of political strategy, poll results that presumably tell who is winning the "horse race" and controversy — sometimes legitimate and sometimes artificially stimulated.

"The Washington world perceived by many reporters is one of ambition and elections in which policy is often at best an expedient," the authors add. "The reasons for disagreement over the substance of (congressional) legislation are rarely laid to conflicting versions of the public interest."

Like others who have examined the news media's relationship with major institutions in our society, the authors conclude that journalists (and their work) are regularly manipulated by those wealthy or powerful enough to develop and implement elaborate public relations strategies.

Cruise Ship Strikes

Disrupt 2,300 Vacationers

MIAMI (UPI) — About 150 striking Honduran crewmembers lined the rails of two cruise ships, and U.S. Immigration officials who have ordered them ashore watched into the early morning as a standoff that has cost 2,300 vacationers their Caribbean travels continued.

Immigration officials have told the crewmembers of the Carnival and the Mardi Gras that the strike has made them illegal aliens — and ordered them bused to Miami International Airport to catch planes home.

The crew members, who stopped work Saturday in protest of the firing by Carnival Cruise Lines of two countrymen, refused Monday night to come ashore.

The two ships, which were scheduled to set sail on week-long cruises to the Caribbean Sunday, remain docked at the Port of Miami. Hundreds of disgruntled passengers among the 2,300 who booked the cruises stormed ashore.

Grand Jury Enters Probe

MIAMI (UPI) — A grand jury will begin today looking into the case of Robert Lisenby, a self-styled commando instructor arrested in Miami's Little Havana district with a homemade bomb and a silenced machine gun, Assistant Dade county State Attorney Jeff Swartz says.

Lisenby is in jail on $250,000 bond. Circuit Judge Murray Goldman refused Monday to reduce the bond and set Lisenby's arraignment for Thursday on charges of possessing explosives and a machine gun. Lisenby, 30, of Troy, N.C., was arrested April 14 after Miami investigators got a tip from the FBI that he was in town.

Oil Spill Exaggerated

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The Coast Guard said today reports of a giant oil spill off Florida's lower keys were exaggerated and there was no danger of oil washing ashore in damaging amounts.

"It doesn't exist," said Coast Guard Chief Paul Scotti of the slick. "Our overflight this morning reported there is no oil in any concentration along the Keys. There is a small slick offshore at Key West, but it is very thin. There are a couple of smaller sheens outside of that."

Power Discounts Ended?

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Public Service Commission members are determined that their drive to force energy conservation will include an end of the discounts traditionally given industries and other big users of electricity.

Commissioners decided Monday to hold the major utilities to an earlier decision outlawing so-called "declining block rates."

What Caused Power Plant Shutdown?

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI) — Two of the state's biggest power companies are trying to figure out what went wrong when a power plant was disconnected from the statewide grid of shared electricity — and the lights went out for more than 700,000 Floridians.

"What happened, we don't know," said John Francis, a spokesman for Miami-based Florida Power & Light. "We know the effects but we don't know the cause. We don't want it to happen again."

Engineers for FP&L and Tampa Electric Co. spent the night examining equipment at two power plants that shut down when TECO cut off electricity through huge transmission lines connecting its Big Bend power plant with FP&L's Manatee plant near Bradenton Monday.

And TECO engineers were continuing to examine the 400-megawatt, coal-fired Big Bend No. 2 unit to see if it had been damaged in the shutdown or the overload that followed, as electricity raced from around the state into the Tampa Bay area. The unit was expected to remain silent today.

TECO shut off power along the transmission line — one of the utility's 14 "interconnects" with Florida's other electric companies in the "grid" system over which they buy and sell electricity — so about 700 feet of power line can be moved.

The massive power line has to be moved to get put of the way of the Interstate 75 bypass, under construction on the eastern shore of Tampa Bay, TECO spokesman Greg Truax said.

Although the shutdown was supposed to be routine, spokesmen for the utilities said, something went wrong.

Two 750-megawatt generators at the FP&L plant shut down and one 400-megawatt unit at TECO's Big Bend quit. Power rushing through the grid's lines from around the state to fill the gap overloaded lines around the Tampa Bay area — and caused massive blackouts for up to an hour around the state, utilities spokesmen said.

The two units at FP&L's Manatee Plant were back in operation by 1 p.m. and were apparently undamaged, company spokesmen said.

More than a fifth of the 3.3 million customers of FP&L, TECO and St. Petersburg-based Florida Power Corp. lost power beginning at 9:18 a.m., but virtually all of their lights flickered back on within an hour.

In addition, about 44,000 customers of the Jacksonville Electric Authority were blacked out from three to 15 minutes. There were no reports of power failures in the Florida Panhandle.

The Florida Highway Patrol in Miami and Tampa Police both said the blackout shut down traffic lights and snarled traffic in several areas.

When the power came back, lights in some intersections were stuck and technicians worked through the morning to get them back into operation.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper H.B. Smith said problems with traffic lights caused at least four minor traffic accidents in the Miami area, but no serious injuries were reported.

Orange County Sheriff's spokesman Joyce Drazen said, "The power outage left us with only two radio channels active but we flipped on backup generator systems and were in pretty good shape."

All three firms began pumping in reserve power from other plants almost immediately.

French Politics

Send In The Clown... For President?

PARIS (NEA) — Fortyish, pudgy and definitely non-macho, French comedian Michel Coluche has raised a political storm here since he announced his candidacy for the 1981 presidential election.

What originally started as a nightclub joke is causing some concern to authorities who find they must provide all the usual campaign services — including police protection — to the comic, who, in December, was in fourth place in the polls, just one point behind Georges Marchais, the Communist candidate.

Nightclub comic Michel Coluche has broken up the monotony of the French presidential campaign by running for office.

Michel Coluche (real name Colucci) is a stand-up comic, the son of an Italian bricklayer, who trades in the coarse venacular of the Lenny Bruce tradition. At his nightly one-man show in the Gymnase Music Hall, an old and shabby Parisian theater, the public applauds outrageously obscene language. His patter is rich with four-letter words — which, in French, vary from three to six letters — to punctuate skits that touch on every aspect of French life. Politics, the bourgeoisie, the consumer society, ecologist, feminists, the Establishment and lawyers are all grist for his scatological mill.

"Politicians," he says, blinking through rimless glasses during one of his milder pronouncements, "are like Camembert cheeses. They stink too much to eat, so they remain in the garbage can and go on stinking."

Coluche has managed to insult nearly everyone with his act and reported remarks. His supporters, members of the French population who feel alienated from traditional political choices, shrug off his remarks, even as they are aimed at themselves.

At a press conference last October, Coluche indicated that he had a strange idea of his possible supporters, listing them as skinflints, drug addicts, alcoholics and lesbians. He has also proclaimed, "I am the king, I am the president. I am the candidate of the Abstentionists." This has made Coluche's candidacy a great joke among people-watchers, but is disconcerting to those Frenchmen who take politics seriously. Conservatives were infuriated when Coluche acquired a tricolor scarf, which all French mayors wear on official business. One night Coluche disappeared back-stage and returned a few minutes later wearing black tails and the scarf around his middle over his trademark costume of striped blue and white overalls. He was greeted with cheers of "Coluche for president."

Coluche straddles a position between a political joke and a political threat, which has made him chic as well as popular. His show is sold out for weeks on end; a Rolls-Royce now stands in front of the house he has bought near the Cite Universitaire.

According to the French constitution, at least 15 days before the first voting day (elections are always held over two separate Sundays, this year in late April) the government publishes the list of candidates, giving the names of all candidates who have submitted their candidature and who have obtained the signature of no fewer than 500 citizens holding office such as deputies, councillors and mayors. The law further requires that the identity of these 500 supporters be made public.

Coluche may find it difficult to obtain the required 500 signatures, as many people surmise that responsible citizens will be reluctant to be identified with the French clown running for president. The government is said to have made it clear that a mayor's signature for Coluche would be regarded as so comical that officials in charge of dispensing funds for roads or schools would be paralyzed with laughter the next time that mayor came around for some.

Coluche, the clown, can also talk seriously. He points out the present government's mismanagement, the broken promises, outdated speeches, factories' closing and unemployment. His abuse of politicians, which does not spare the current president, might well be his best campaign weapon. "I can only point out politely to the politicians who consider me a joke that I did not start it all," he says.

The lasting significance of Coluche's candidacy is debatable. Coluche does not claim to have any real program, though he talks of making the constitution more democratic. He has no intention, he says, of even campaigning, except insofar as his nightly show is a campaign.

"My purpose is to stir up the mess and let the smell rise," he says, using, however, a stronger word. He is out to shake up the political system, which, he says, is indifferent to the views or interests of most French citizens.

Of course he's not out to actually become president. In the event he should win the first of the two rounds of the election, he would promptly quit.

More Miles, Better Sex Researchers Tell Runners

BOSTON (UPI) — Joggers make better sex partners, researchers say. A Stanford University study, published Sunday, took 81 nonactive, middle-aged male university employees and assigned them to exercise and nonexercise groups for a year.

More men were assigned to exercise groups because it was mistakenly assumed some would drop out.

The study, reported in the Boston Globe, showed the 48 exercisers made significant improvements in their personal lives, including stress level, general mental health and appearance, and marital satisfaction.

"The more miles the exercisers ran, the more satisfied their partners became with their sexual relations," said Stanford psychologist Lewis E. Graham

2nd. He also noted in the study, presented at an American heart Association research conference in Washington, D.C., that most lost weight and became more physically fit.

Although questionnaires indicated the partners of runners became increasingly satisfied in their personal relationships, the exercisers themselves became less satisfied. Meanwhile, the inactive group reported themselves more satisfied.

Graham speculated that as the middle-aged runners changed and became more comfortable with themselves, they became less comfortable with their spouses.

The study was the first to rigorously classify participants into Type A and Type B behavioral types. Based on a hypothesis first proposed 10 years ago, a Type A person is one who is hostile in dealing with others, and a more likely heart attack victim. A Type B person tends to be more relaxed and less compulsive.

The study reported the more dedicated runners — those who ran between 8.6 and 21 miles weekly — showed a significant increase in a blood cholesterol associated with a lower risk of heart disease. Nearly a third of those who were Type A at the beginning of the study shifted to Type B, which Graham called "astounding."

"We conclude that those participants who can average about a mile of running per day or more show changes in plasma lipoproteins that are associated with lessened risk of developing coronary heart disease."

Florida Off The Hook On College Segregation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Education Department said Monday Florida had strengthened its plan for ending the vestiges of segregation in state colleges and the threat of a lawsuit to cut off federal aid had been removed.

The announcement by Education Secretary Terrel Bell takes Florida from the brink of confrontation with the federal government and is the first action on the subject by the Reagan administration.

The agreement, which will be monitored by the department's Office of Civil Rights, calls for specific actions by Florida to strengthen Florida A&M University, the state's only traditionally black college.

Just before leaving office the Carter administration told Florida in harsh language that it had not carried out a 1978 plan to guarantee an end to "vestiges of segregation" in its public colleges.

The government's complaint is that the state has not done enough to eliminate the situation that existed before segregation was outlawed in which some colleges are predominantly white, while others are almost exclusively black.

More than a half-dozen other southern and border states have been told by the Education Department to submit acceptable plans or face court suits.

Had the agreement not been reached, the government would have gone to court in a case similar to the one it is pursuing against North Carolina over the same issue. If the government wins the case against North Carolina, the state could lose millions of dollars in federal education aid.

"The agreement reached with Florida symbolizes a spirit of cooperation and good faith between state and federal officials," Bell said in announcing the agreement. "It underscores our ability to work together through negotiation to achieve goals we share with the states."

"In this case Florida has worked out the additional steps it will take to provide equal educational opportunities for all its citizens," Bell said.

Bell said Florida Commissioner of Education Ralph Turlington and State University Chancellor Barbara Newell had been instrumental in the state's agreeing to the additional steps needed to get federal approval.

Notice to Telephone Customers

WE ARE PROPOSING CHANGES IN THE RATES FOR INTERSTATE SERVICES.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, consistent with action by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), has filed a new schedule of rates which increases charges for all Long Distance calls made out-of-state within the Continental U.S., and for all calls between the U.S. and Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands, and for certain calls between the U.S. Mainland and Hawaii and Alaska.

The new schedule provides for a uniform increase of 16 percent for most interstate services in accordance with the FCC decision authorizing a 12.75 percent rate of return. AT&T has requested permission to implement the new schedule five days after the effective date of the FCC's decision. This increase is needed because of higher costs resulting from inflation and is only the second general rate increase in the last five years.

Rates for the following Interstate Services will be increased by the same percentage:

- All Interstate Long Distance Calls — Within the Continental U.S. — Between the U.S. and Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands
- Most Private Line Services
- Facilities for Other Common Carriers
- Interstate Wide Area Telecommunications Service (WATS) — Within the Continental U.S. — Between the U.S. and Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands
- All VHF Maritime, Coastal Harbor, High Speed Train, and Air-Ground Services.

In certain cases rates for Long Distance Service and WATS between the U.S. Mainland and Hawaii and Alaska will also be increased.

THE FOLLOWING EXAMPLES ILLUSTRATE THE NEW RATES APPLICABLE FOR LONG DISTANCE INTERSTATE CALLS.

Interstate Dial-Direct One-Minute Rates				Interstate Operator-Assisted Three-Minute Rates
Examples	Full Rate Weekday	35% Discount Evening	60% Discount Night & Weekend	Examples	Station-to-Station At All Times	Person-to-Person At All Times

Additional minutes are always less in all rate periods. Rates quoted do not include tax.

"Weekday" rates apply from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. "Evening" rates apply from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday through Friday. "Night & Weekend" rates apply from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. every night, all Saturday, and all Sunday, except 5 to 11 p.m. on Sunday. Dial-direct rates apply on all interstate calls completed from a residence or business phone without operator assistance.

Dixon Starves Poppa Jay's On 3 Bones, Federal First

Craig Dixon tamed Poppa Jay's on three hits Monday and led First Federal to an 11-6 victory and sole possession of first place in the Sanford Little National League.

First Federal, with a 5-0 record, is the only unbeaten little major league team in Sanford.

In other games Monday, the Railroaders pounded Cardinal Industries 22-5 and Sunniland Corporation blasted Sanford D.A.V. 17-7.

Three games are on tap today in the Sanford Little American League. In 5 p.m. games, first place Atlantic Bank plays Krayola Kollege at Fort Mellon Park and Flagship Bank battles Jack Prosser Ford at Bay Avenue Field.

Seminole Petroleum tangles with Triple I.I.I. Trucking at 7 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park.

First Federal scored first, pushing three runs home in the top of the first. Ricky Criso led off the inning with a walk and Andy Griffin walked with one out.

Dixon drove them home with a double and later scored on a wild pitch. Poppa Jay's got the three runs back in the second, scoring three runs on two hits, doubles by Edward Gordon and Jeff Blake.

First Federal sent nine batters to the plate in the top of the fourth and scored six runs on two hits, singles by Tim McMullan and Mike Rumbler. First Federal added two more runs in the top of the fifth with McMullan again contributing a hit.

McMullan, who went two for two Monday, is leading the league with a .733 batting average.

Poppa Jay's picked up three runs in the bottom of the fifth, but it was too little, too late.

The Railroaders used a 10-hit attack to beat Cardinal Industries in four innings.

Mike Boyd pitched a one-hitter for the win.

Theron Tepabock and J.D. Paul each slapped a double and single for the Railroaders and Arthur Bradford rapped two singles.

Wayne Willis had the only hit for the losers, a home run.

Sunniland Corporation took an early 11-

1 lead and was in front 17-7 when D.A.V. threw in the towel.

Rod Medlock smashed a pair of home runs and a single for Sunniland, while Todd Revels blasted two doubles.

Ira Hall Jr. had two hits for D.A.V.

Ashcraft Single Tips Kiwanis; Elks Upsets Moose

Brian Ashcraft singled home the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning Monday as Knights of Columbus nipped Kiwanis 9-8 to take a commanding two-game lead in the Sanford Junior League.

Moose was upset 11-10 by Elks in Monday's other game, creating a three-way tie for second place. Knights of Columbus is 5-0, while Kiwanis, Moose and Elks are all 3-2.

Kiwanis jumped in front 2-0 in the top of the first inning Monday, but Knights of Columbus scored single runs in the first and second innings, both times without a hit, and tied the score.

Using singles by Mike Wright, Alvin Jones and Horace Knight, Kiwanis pushed three runs across the plate in the top of the third, but Knights of Columbus roared right back with six runs in its half of the third.

A two-run single by William Carr and an RBI single by Fredrick Miller were the only hits in the third for the Knights.

Kiwanis picked up one run in the fourth and then tied the game with two runs in the fifth. The only hit of the two innings was a fifth inning single by Dexter Franklin.

Rod Alexander opened the sixth for Knights of Columbus with a walk and stole second, but he was caught stealing third. Jo Jo McCloud then walked and stole second and third before Ashcraft drilled a single to score him.

Fredrick Miller was the winning pitcher, picking up the decision in relief. His record is now 3-0, best in the league.

Elks led through the first three innings, but then fell behind 10-7.

Elks scored two runs in the bottom of the fifth and held Moose scoreless in the sixth. Donald Grayson doubled with one out in the bottom of the sixth and scored when winning pitcher Steve Dennis was safe on an error. Dennis scored the winning run on a passed ball.

Grayson had two of the Elks' four hits, including a three-run homer in the first inning that cleared the 310-foot Chase Park Fence.

Sub .500 Kings Host Rockets; Celtics, 76ers Open At Garden

By United Press International
The Atlantic Division champion Boston Celtics and the Philadelphia 76ers, who shared the best regular-season record in the NBA at 62-20, open their best-of-seven East final in Boston Garden tonight in a rematch of last year's clash for the conference title.

The West, however, has never been wilder, with a pair of sub-.500 teams—Houston and Kansas City—opening up tonight in the Kings' Kemper Arena. The Rockets and the Kings each finished the regular season with a 40-42 record as they became the first clubs to reach a conference final with a below .500 mark since the 1967 St. Louis Hawks.

Last year, the 76ers eliminated the Celtics in five games, winning twice at Boston Garden before falling to Los Angeles in the championship series, but the fatigue factor certainly favors the Celtics this season.

Boston, which won the Atlantic title by virtue of a better record against division opponents, received a bye in the mini-series this year, then swept the Chicago Bulls in four straight, winning Game 4 on April 12. The 76ers defeated Indiana in two straight games in the mini-series, then won a grueling seven-game series Sunday over Milwaukee.

Philadelphia will play three games in four days (Game 2 is scheduled for Wednesday) and Coach Billy Cunningham would have appreciated a few days off as a reward after his team's emotional 99-98 triumph over the Bucks in Game 7.

"It's got to be an advantage for Boston," Cunningham said. "No team can play its best in that situation."

The Celtics grumbled about the scheduling of back-to-back games, arguing the two consecutive contests robs them of their hard-earned home court advantage.

However, Celtics' All-Star forward Larry Bird—in his second NBA season—isn't too concerned about the back-to-back games opening up the series.

"It don't matter to me if it's five in a row," he said. "You've still got to win."

Philadelphia's Julius Erving doesn't sound particularly confident.

"Boston will be determined because of what happened last year," said Erving, who scored a team-high 28 points Sunday.

"They're a different team. They're better than they were, which means we have a lot of things against us."

Although the Western Conference finals takes a back seat in glamor to the Philadelphia-Boston clash, the Kings and the Rockets have played splendid playoff basketball.

Kansas City beat Portland in three games in their miniseries, then ousted Pacific Division champ Phoenix in seven. The Kings won both of their games against the Trail Blazers in Portland and two of their four against the Suns in Phoenix, including Game 7 Sunday.

The banquet was held at Mayfair. Cheerleader Of The Year was Kim Harvey.

Illinois' Virgin Comes In Second

Japan's Seko Ruins Rodgers Marathon Dream

BOSTON (UPI)—There was the acceptance of defeat for Bill Rodgers well before the finish with the unfamiliar rear view of others battling it out for the title he wanted so desperately.

By the time he passed his running-goods store in Cleveland Circle, 4 miles from the finish line, Rodgers knew his bid for an unprecedented fourth straight Boston Marathon victory was over.

Less than a minute earlier, Toshihiko Seko had moved into the lead in, ironically, the same spot. The Japanese clerk then simply outran runner-up Craig Virgin to win Monday in an American record time of 2:09:26, a mere second better than Rodgers' 1979 time.

And with the defeat ended any hope Rodgers might have of becoming the only man to win four straight Boston Marathons. The race that catapulted him to international stardom also dealt him an historical double-whammy. His record, and his string, are gone.

"I could see Seko and Virgin battling it out and I thought they were going to pull away," said Rodgers, 33, who finished in 2:10:34. "I thought then it would be interesting to see who (Seko or Virgin) would win."

The 24-year-old Seko remained back in the pack for the first two-thirds of the race while unheralded rabbit Gary Fanelli of Oreland, Pa., set a blistering early pace in the favorable, cool, running conditions.

Greg Meyer, who used to work at Rodgers' store, held the lead briefly before Seko and Virgin, the American record-holder at 10,000 meters, took over on the Newton hills.

Seko quickly lost Virgin, who eventually finished 60 seconds off the pace, and had nothing but police motorcycles for company the final mile. He has not lost a marathon since that cool, drizzly

April day two years ago when Rodgers set his then-American record.

"I'm sorry I broke the record," Seko apologized to Rodgers through an interpreter in the post-race news conference. "I didn't really have any plan. I just went at my own pace. I knew where he (Rodgers) was and I was just following the crowd."

As convincing as Seko's record-setting victory was, it almost paled in comparison to the mark established by New Zealand's Allison Roe, who won the women's division. The 24-year-old secretary, who has been running marathons only one year, smashed the Boston record by nearly eight seconds in winning in 2:26:45.

Only the incomparable Gret Waltz of Norway has run a women's marathon any faster—a 2:25:42 time last October in New York.

Patti Catalano, the prohibitive pre-race favorite, finished Boston second for the third straight year, this time in 2:27:51—nearly two minutes better than her previous best. Joan Benoit of Exeter, N.H., was third while defending champion Jacqueline Gareau of Montreal was fifth.

"I never had the lead at all—not until the end," Roe said. "What I had planned was to try and go with the leaders 'til about 18 to 20 miles... but Patti got away from me at the halfway mark. I sort of pulled her (Catalano) in at about 2 miles to go."

Seko and Roe were joined in the spotlight by the ageless Johnny Kelley, who was running in his 50th Boston Marathon. Kelley, 73, who won in 1935 and 1945, finished in just a shade over four hours while thousands waited for him at the finish line.

"This was positively the greatest reception in the Boston Marathon that I've ever received," Kelley said. "I came out of it very well under the circumstances—no blisters, no heartaches. I saw a lot of familiar faces."

Seko also had his followers along the

Louis Buried Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Although most of them never saw him box, Washington area fans turned out by the hundreds to pay tribute to former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis.

Louis, 66, who died April 12 of a massive heart attack, will be buried this afternoon in Arlington National Cemetery following a 1 p.m. memorial service at the Fort Meyer Chapel in suburban Virginia. Special arrangements were made by President Reagan so Louis could be buried at Arlington.

26-mile, 385-yard route. Hundreds of signs and flags greeted him at almost every checkpoint as he became the first Japanese runner to win Boston since 1963.

He becomes the 31st person to be buried at Arlington without meeting the usual eligibility requirements. The last previous waiver was for Air Force Airman Michael P. Hammer, killed by guerrillas in El Salvador in January while not on active duty.

Louis fought exhibition matches during World War II while serving in the Army.

"Joe Louis wore the uniform of the United States during World War II and was paid $45 a month," said acting White House press secretary Larry Speakes.

International Year Of Disabled Persons

Very Special Arts Festival Set

In a two-day arts festival to help celebrate the International Year of Disabled Persons, Central Florida children and adults with handicapping conditions will exhibit their very special talents and skills.

"The 'Very Special Arts Festival' will take place Friday, May 1 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. and Saturday, May 2, from 12 noon until 7 p.m. at Valencia Community College, West Campus, Physical Education Center, 1800 South Kirkman Road, Orlando.

The festival is sponsored by the Council of Arts & Sciences for Central Florida, Valencia Community College, and Creadle Arts, funded by the Fine Arts Council of Florida with support from the National Endowment for the Arts through a grant from the National Committee of Arts for the Handicapped, an educational affiliate of the John F. Kennedy Center of the Performing Arts.

The Festival chairman is Betty Howe.

The Very Special Arts Festival (VSAF) is free and open to the public. There will be an art exhibit and continuous performances throughout the two days. Students from Rosenwald School, for instance, will enact their special interpretation of "The Wizard of Oz" through dance. Students from Lake Sybelia Elementary School, where the entire school has learned some sign language, will present a signed puppet show of "101 Dalmatians."

The festival will also include art demonstrations and ongoing creative activities for hands-on experience in a wide range of art forms. In addition, films about disabled persons and some of their accomplishments will be shown at the Festival.

Of special interest to the nondisabled festival-goer will be an Awareness Area. Run by Blanche Dormady of the Fleury Foundation, this section of the Festival allows the nonhandicapped person to experience what it would be like to have a particular disability. For instance, the sighted will be able to experience the sensation of being blind.

An important feature of the VSAF is In-Service Training, designed to provide information and demonstrations for teachers of the handicapped. Creative activities learned in these workshops can then be taken back to the classroom as another tool for special education. Subjects include art, ceramics, dance, creative dramatics, music, and mime.

In order for local youngsters to participate in the upcoming Walt Disney World "Magic in Me" Festival, they must have participated in this festival.

For information about the festival, contact Erin Miner at the Council of Arts and Sciences, 843-2877 (THE-ARTS).

Garden Circle

Hibiscus

Hibiscus Circle of Sanford Garden Club held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Nita Moreland with Mrs. John Fox as co-hostess. Thirteen members enjoyed a dessert in the Easter motif. Invocation was given by Miss Sarah Tatum.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Moreland, president, who is just back from a delightful stay in Porto Rico with her daughter.

Report on the Flower Show was very good and all who participated seemed enthusiastic with the results.

There will be a District Meeting in Clermont on May 20 and the State Convention will be in Miami at the Carlton Hotel in July.

World Gardening chairman reported 48 pairs of glasses were given to the Lion's Club in March and they were most appreciative.

Sunshine chairman, Dottie Edwards, remains under the weather, but is better. The cast has been taken off and it is hoped before long that she will be as good as ever.

Horticulture chairman Jessie Brisson gave a talk on lilies, very appropriate for the time of the year.

"This month we will talk about lilies of the field, she said. "You remember the verse about the lilies of the field, consider how they grow, they toil not, they spin not, and yet I say unto you that Solomon in all of his glory was not arrayed as one of these. Many flowers in Israel have been called lilies."

The next meeting will be May 8 at the garden center. There will be installation of officers. This is covered dish luncheon at 11 a.m.—NELLIE LIVINGSTON

Correction

A spokesman for Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole informed The Herald that segments from the guild's original ballet, "Americana," would be aired on Monday, April 20, at 3 and 11 p.m. by Channel 24 Television's Postscripts. The Herald has learned that the information is incorrect. The correct schedule for the TV airing will be announced when it is established. The Herald regrets the error.

Girlfriend Upset At Housekeeping Setup

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 35-year-old divorcee in love with a 39-year-old professional man I'll call Ben. Ben is divorced and has custody of his two sons, 7 and 10. Ben and I started seeing each other last November. In January he lost his housekeeper, so he asked me to move in with him. He said I would stay in the maid's room and we'd tell the boys that I was the housekeeper so as not to upset them.

I do all the housekeeping and cooking and look after the boys. They're good kids, but they are a handful. Ben and I have to sneak around to see each other. I saw more of Ben when I had my own place.

"Mr. G." (as I must call him in front of the boys) frequently goes out in the evening and stays until morning. Women call him here and I have to take their messages. I am hurt and jealous. Also, I don't like being treated like a servant.

I love Ben but I don't know how much longer I can stay in the job. I used to make between $350 and $400 a week as a cocktail waitress. This housekeeper's job pays $200 a month. What do you think of this setup? And what should I do?

UNHAPPY HOUSEKEEPER

DEAR UNHAPPY: I think this setup is wonderful — for Ben. Resign your job as housekeeper and tell Ben you were much happier being a waitress and his girlfriend.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: While visiting my 25-year-old daughter in her college town, I extended an invitation for dinner to include her semi-serious waitress, who is by no means poor. He selected an expensive Japanese restaurant. The food was excellent and the evening pleasant.

When the bill came, I put my money on the little tray. When the change was returned to me, I left what I considered to be a fair tip.

As we were leaving, the gentleman took a couple of dollars out of his wallet and put them on the tray! I felt humiliated, but said nothing. Am I wrong to feel that I was made to look cheap?

SACRAMENTO MON

DEAR MOM: I doubt that the gentleman's intention was to humiliate you or make you look "cheap." He may have acted clumsily, but since he's obviously generous, "semi-serious" about your daughter and "by no means poor," as a favor to your daughter, don't make waves.

DEAR ABBY: I was married three years ago, but for some reason or another I have managed to send out only a fraction of the thank-you notes I owe for my wedding presents. I feel just awful about this and it's been a heavy burden on my mind. Should I just forget about them, or start writing them even though they are terribly late? If I should write them, how can I possibly explain my lateness?

DEAR ASHAMED: Of course you should write those thank-you notes! A late thanks is better than none.

Don't try to "explain" your lateness, but do apologize for it. A simple, "Please forgive my inexcusably tardy acknowledgment of your wedding gift," etc.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (35 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

For Wednesday, April 22, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY April 22, 1981 The very same areas which denied you gains previously are the ones which could prove beneficial this coming year. Don't give up on that for which you've worked hard and long. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Normally you're not too receptive to changing or altering conditions, but today you are able to adapt yourself to the unexpected. Find out more of what lies ahead of you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The type of companions you choose to pal around with today will have a great influence on your attitude. Select optimistic buddies. CANCER (June 23-July 22) You won't be content today to fritter your time away on unproductive pursuits. Busy yourself with that which will give you a real sense of accomplishment. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Try to devote some time today to games or sports in which you enjoy participating. A break from mundane routines will do you a world of good. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is a good day to entertain at your place persons to whom you feel socially indebted. Get on the phone and generate an impromptu get-together. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You can best satisfy your restless urges today by dropping in on friends you've neglected a bit. Their welcome mat will be out. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your financial prospects are extremely encouraging at this time, especially regarding ideas you've had in the back of your head to make or save money. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Exercise your initiative today, rather than waiting on others. Your chances for success are excellent in areas where you assume personal control. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) To get others to help you today, you must first make your desires known. Don't be secretive. Put your cards on the table. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't be afraid to experiment with new ideas, methods or techniques today. The more progressive you are, the greater your chances for success. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't duck challenging situations today. You're a far stronger competitor than you're likely to give yourself credit for. Visualize yourself in the winner's circle. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Seek activities today which challenge you, both physically and mentally. Avoid things which are too routine or keep you tied down.

Eat Less Fat And Lose Fat

DEAR DR. LAMB — My 17-year-old daughter is 5 feet 2 and weighs 136 pounds. She is very solidly built. She is the only member of the family who is overweight. I have been trying to help her diet (without nagging) for the last six months. I took her to a doctor and she has no health problems. I was very disappointed in his advice. All he told her was to cut down on carbohydrates. Would you please send me your Health Letter, Weight Losing Diet? Will she lose weight on it if she follows it faithfully? She will exercise for a short time and then give it up. I think if she would get more exercise this would help. She has too much weight on her stomach and legs. DEAR READER — There seems to be a national kick on cutting down on carbohydrates. It is often a misguided effort. The most calories in most American diets are from fat — not carbohydrates. A gram of fat contains nine calories while a gram of carbohydrate only contains four. Beyond that, the biggest factor affecting the calories in food is the water and fiber content. Many carbohydrate foods are low calorie foods because they contain lots of water and bulk. Most vegetables are in this category and certainly most salads — unless you add a fat-containing salad dressing. Your doctor should have advised your daughter to eliminate the fat in her food wherever possible. You can help in this by preparing foods without significant amounts of fat. Of course, sweets and concentrated starches should be avoided. Why? Because they contain very little water or bulk and that causes them to be high calorie foods. Your daughter will lose weight if she follows the diet in The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. She should not try to lose too fast and should be content with about a pound a week. I am a great supporter of exercise but unless a person is able to do a great deal of exercise, losing weight that way is a slow process. A sensible goal is to plan to increase the level of exercise enough to use an additional 250 calories a day while decreasing the diet calories about 250 calories a day. On such a sane program a person can lose about a pound a week. Walking, swimming, jogging, tennis and sports one enjoys are the best ways to increase. DEAR DR. LAMB — Can a woman's body suffer from the cessation of the injection of sperm following the death of her husband, especially when that injection has been frequent? If so, is there medication that can assist in providing the nourishment that possible came from the sperm? DEAR READER — No. A woman derives no nourishment benefits from sperm cells. There have been some research studies that have suggested that semen contains some chemicals that protect against infection or improve body defenses. If you should have an infection, of course, it can be treated. The nourishment that is lost is emotional nourishment and that can be quite important to a person's emotional health.

WIN AT BRIDGE

by Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

When JTB is played it is kept simple and the general practice is to use four suit transfers with the two-spade response showing clubs and the three-club response showing diamonds. Here we see computer expert and life master Ron Blau and industrialist Milton Petrie using the transfer bid to get to a cinch diamond slam with South the declarer. North's three-club response was the diamond transfer and South's three-diamond rebid automatic. North's three-spade call suggested slam possibilities and South's four-club bid accepted the idea of a slam. North's jump to five diamonds showed good diamonds and in spite of having the minimum 16 high-card points, Blau sitting South went on to six. He liked his four good trumps and nice control cards. Ron won the spade in his hand, drew trumps and lost the club finesse. Later, he discarded one of dummy's hearts on his long club and wrapped up his 12 tricks. Note that a heart lead would beat a diamond slam played by North and that the way the cards lie, six trump would fall one trick short. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

FLETCHER'S LANDING

by Douglas Coffin

White House: Soviet Threat Justifies Saudi Plane Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan decided over Israeli protests to sell five sophisticated radar planes to Saudi Arabia because of the "serious deterioration" of Middle East security caused largely by the Soviet Union.

That reasoning was at the heart of the administration's explanation of the sale announced Tuesday. Reagan is well aware of the opposition, but does not agree the deal poses a threat to Israel, his spokesman said.

The sale is necessary because of "the serious deterioration of security conditions in the Middle East and the Persian Gulf region and the growing threat to our friends there from the Soviets and other pressures," acting White House press secretary Larry Speakes said.

Opposition was quick in developing. "It's a serious mistake which will enflame the Middle East, rather than stabilize it, and I will do all that I can to defeat it," said Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass.

Chairman Rudy Boschwitz, R-Minn., of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on the Middle East called the sale "a mistake" and predicted it faces "certain defeat" in the Senate.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., a longtime supporter of Israel, said the planes "do not meet legitimate Saudi defensive needs. They are offensive weapons that can easily be used to threaten the security of Israel, our closest ally in the Middle East."

But Sen. Charlie Percy, R-III., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said the administration "consulted closely" with the Senate on the question and added his panel will "try to develop a consensus in support of an arms package for Saudi Arabia which will help secure Western defense interests in the Persian Gulf."

The administration did not say when the proposal would be sent to Capitol Hill. Opponents would need majorities in both houses to kill the deal.

Officials indicated one reason for delaying the official notification is the administration does not want to distract attention from its much-ballyhooed economic program. There also is work to be done to muster the required support for the arms package.

Along with five advanced warning radar aircraft known as AWACS, the deal includes conformal fuel tanks, AIM-9L air-to-air missiles and air refueling capability for 62 F-15 jet fighters ticketed for Saudi Arabia next year.

The sale of the enhanced F-15 equipment for defensive uses was announced March 6.

The AWACS — the world's most expensive aircraft at a nearly $127 million each — would not be in Saudi hands until 1985 "at the earliest," Speakes said.

The thrust of Israeli opposition to the AWACS deal centers on the aircraft's ability to chart military traffic in the air space over Israel. This theoretically would negate a pre-emptive strike by the Israelis if they feel threatened by their Arab neighbors.

That contention is disputed by the administration.

Chemists To Probe 'Toxic' Waste Site

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A five-month effort by Sanford city officials to get proof that the waste chemicals stored at a two-acre field in the city are a hazard to area residents and the environment is finally paying off. Ten chemists under contract with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and officials of the State Department of Environmental Regulation will be at the site off Airport Boulevard and Jewett Lane, beginning at 5 a.m., Thursday to take samples from the 3,270 drums of waste chemicals for analysis.

While the labels on many of the drums indicate the waste chemicals contain carcinogens and are flammable, chemical analysis is necessary to prove the city and DER's court case against City Chemicals Co. Inc., operator of the site.

DER and the city have been trying to convince the circuit court at Sanford that the chemical company should set a schedule for the immediate removal of the waste.

Len Kozlov, DER district enforcement officer, said today the chemists out of Atlanta are bringing with them three vans of equipment for the taking of samples. The EPA will turn over to DER the samples for testing in the DER Tallahassee laboratories.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said the city will comply with a request from the federal and state agencies by providing two police officers, firefighters and a fire truck at the site while the samples are being taken.

Mayor Moore said the city file on the storage site collected since city officials discovered the operation in early November is at least two inches thick with memos, reports on telephone calls to state and federal officials, and copies of letters demanding assistance to have the drums removed.

Kozlov said the samples are to be taken in the early morning hours when the drums are cool to lessen the hazards.

He said the chemists who will take the samples will be dressed in protective gear. "Because of the hazardous nature of the chemicals, DER is neither equipped nor trained to take the samples itself," Kozlov said.

"All we know about the chemicals at this point is what is on the labels on the drums," he said.

Kozlov said this sampling effort is the first undertaken by the EPA under a law designed to control the storage of chemical wastes, which went into effect in November. "EPA is trail-blazing in Sanford," Kozlov said.

Observing the work will be Dr. Robert Patton, DER's head chemist," Kozlov said.

City Engineer Mack LaZenby, after a citizen had complained, discovered the stored chemical waste on property leased to the Orlando-based chemical company on Nov. 12.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles inspected the site, called in DER and EPA and began a series of pleas for help and filed complaints that neither the state nor the federal agencies were assisting the city to get the chemicals removed. A state fire marshal after an inspection in late November declared the area to be a fire hazard.

The city and DER received a temporary court order against City Chemical requiring the firm to fence in the site and to segregate flammable chemicals. The order also required removal of leaking drums from the site.

But the court case has been in limbo since that time until arrangements could be made for the chemical analysis.

County Offers To Raid 'Bugged' Courtroom

'A Judge Shouldn't Be Doing That Kind Of Thing'

He didn't mean to be nasty, but dadgumit, Seminole County Judge Alan Dickey was really bugged.

If the county commission was going to force he and the other two county judges to continue to use that "dump" — Courtroom D in the courthouse annex on E. First Street — all right. But for crying out loud, do something about the bugs!

Things had gotten to the point that the crawly little critters were disrupting court and turning judges into exterminators.

In making a plea Tuesday before commissioners to either renovate

Courtroom D or find the county judges other court space, Dickey told this story:

On Monday, "I had to kill a bug crawling across the bench. It was a 'sarsome-looking creature. I don't know what kind it was." It obviously wasn't a cockroach. "Those things are so big they carry off my law books." Monday's bench bug was bookless.

Anyway, "this bug is crawling across my bench and a guy is standing there in front of me pleading guilty to speeding, staring at this bug." Dickey paused to mimic the defendant, giving his best impression of bug-eyed incredulity. "Everybody in the courtroom was looking at this bug.

"So, I had to tear off a piece of paper and . . ." his arm came down in a swooping motion . . . "WHAP!" smashing the insect all over center stage.

"Now, a judge shouldn't be doing that kind of thing in a courtroom," Dickey said. Well, maybe it wasn't so bad after all. "At least it woke everybody up."

Commissioners said they would study Dickey's request, and promised to have the courtroom sprayed for vermin.

In the meantime, commissioner Sandra Glenn, tongue-tied in chief, offered to equip D with a can of Raid.

Dickey didn't laugh. And while he didn't say it, one suspected he would like to have told Mrs. Glenn to "bug off." — BRITT SMITH

JUDGE ALAN DICKEY

2 Women Jailed In Plot To Murder Psychic

By BRIT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

At first, he dismissed them as mere coincidences: the mysterious ailment, the drinks that made him ill, his wife's seemingly innocent queries about the condition of his heart.

But then, things turned nasty and 63-year-old psychic William J. Herman of Cassadaga became convinced his wife was trying to kill him. She did little to hide the fact. Herman said she threatened him with a butcher knife, and attempted to get him to buy more life insurance.

The apparent plot ended unsuccessfully Tuesday morning when Peggy J. Herman, 36, of 200 S. Marion St., was arrested and charged with solicitation to commit first degree murder. A second woman, Mercedes E.

Guerra, 30, of 875 Derbyshire Road, Daytona Beach, was charged with being an accessory to the same charge.

Mrs. Herman, a licensed medium, was being held this morning at the Volusia County Jail under $25,000 bond; Mrs. Guerra, $10,000 bond.

During the arrests, investigators confiscated a box of oatmeal suspected of being laced with narcotics or poison. The oatmeal was sent to the regional crime lab in Sanford for analysis. The alleged scheme to kill Herman was foiled when an informant tipped police. Volusia County sheriff's deputies along with narcotics officers, posing as murderers-for-hire, taped conversations with Mrs. Herman in which she said she wanted to have her husband knocked off in order to collect insurance money.

Agent Dave Hudson said Mrs. Herman at one point directed the undercover men to make her spouse's death look like a drug- or robbery-related homicide.

Herman, a former professional wrestler, said he suspected his wife of trying "to do me in" for the past two years, but could do nothing about it because he had no proof. He considered divorce, but felt suspicion wasn't sufficient cause.

Herman said his doubts grew stronger after his wife and Mrs. Guerra became friends. There were the drinks which caused him to get sick, then the insurance man showed up on his doorstep claiming Mrs. Herman wanted him insured for a year.

Several times, he recalled, his wife threatened him with a butcher knife, but he refused to press charges.

Last June, Herman said he was hospitalized with an unknown malady which doctors tried unsuccessfully for two weeks to diagnose. He still doesn't know what made him ill.

He apparently suspected his wife because shortly after being released from the hospital, he wrote her out of his will.

On Monday, Herman said, he passed out while walking down the sidewalk in Apopka. That night, his wife asked him about his heart.

Herman met his wife in 1973 and married her a year later, but not with a great deal of enthusiasm.

"I told her I didn't want to get married," he said. "I told her I was too old. She said she would look after me until I died.

"I didn't know she was going to help me along."

Catholics Riot In Londonderry; IRA Hunger Striker Nears Death

RELFEST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Catholic youths in Londonderry hurled acid bombs at British troops in violent protests against Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's "arrogant" refusal to intercede to save dying IRA hunger striker Bobby Sands.

The Provisional IRA proclaimed a day of mourning today for the funerals in Londonderry of two youths run down by a British army vehicle during rioting over Sands' fast.

The Rev. Jimmy Doherty told mourners a "particular examination" was needed into the deaths of Jim Brown, 18, and James English, 19, killed during riots Sunday.

"Justice must not only be done, but must be seen to be done especially when people whose occupation it is to uphold the law seem to want only to destroy the law," Doherty said. "The circumstances surrounding the death of Jim Brown include confusion, bitterness and misunderstanding."

"Crime is crime is crime," Mrs. Thatcher said during an official visit in Riyadh Saudi Arabia, on Tuesday in rejecting political status for Irish Republican Army prisoners — Sands' key demand for ending his 53-day hunger strike.

"There can be no question of political status for someone who is serving a sentence for crime," Mrs. Thatcher said. "I hope anyone on hunger strike for his own sake will think fit to come off hunger strike. But that is a matter for him."

About 500 angry rioters rampaged through the streets of Londonderry after Mrs. Thatcher refused to meet with three Republic of Ireland politicians seeking to save Sands, who was reported near death in Maze Prison.

At least three police were struck by acid bombs — milk bottles filled with sulfuric acid — but none were seriously injured in the street battles Tuesday.

Catholic youths from Londonderry's Backside district burned two post office vans and hurled stones, acid bombs, and Molotov cocktails at police and British soldiers. No arrests were reported.

In Dublin, the National H-Block Committee that supports Sands attacked Mrs. Thatcher's "arrogant dismissal" and urged Irish Prime Minister Charles Haugherty to sever diplomatic relations with Britain if it refused to discuss the hunger strike.

The clash of wills between Mrs. Thatcher and Sands raised the threat of fresh violence in Northern Ireland.

Sands, 27, elected to the British Parliament April 9 while serving a 14-year-sentence for weapons offenses, told visiting members of his family he would not quit his fast. He was reported nearly blind and going deaf.

"It is not my habit or custom to meet members of parliament from a foreign country to talk about a citizen of the United Kingdom (residing in the United Kingdom)," Mrs. Thatcher said at a news conference in Riyadh.

An H-Block Committee spokesman in Belfast said Sands told his family he would not end the fast unless the government met the status demands made by him and three fellow convicts who joined the hunger strike.

Sands, considered the commander of IRA inmates at the Maze, also wants prisoners to be allowed to wear their own clothes and not do prison work.

Jailed For Lewd Behavior

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The president of an anti-sex education organization was in the Hillsborough County Jail without bond today, charged with sexual battery of a 17-year-old boy and lewd and lascivious behavior involving an 8-year-old girl.

Police revealed Tuesday that Jack Gregorio, 46, had been arrested Monday evening when he returned home from work.

Spokesman Johnny Barker said the alleged offenses occurred between September and April. No other information was provided in an attempt to protect the identity of the children.

Sanford's Tim Raines enjoyed the best day of his young Major League career Tuesday with four steals and four hits as Montreal flogged Philadelphia 10-3. See Page 9A for details.

Rubbed The Wrong Way In More Ways Than One

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Marine Maj. Wayne E. Rollings put his backside on the line for the United States — rubbing it raw in the process of breaking the Soviet situp record.

Rollings, 40, said Tuesday when he read about a Russian record of 26,500 situps it made him so mad he did 40,000 situps in 16 hours — a new world record.

Rollings, a wiry, 5-9, 160-pounder, said: "The worst part about it was my backside. It was rubbed raw."
