New Road Across St. Johns

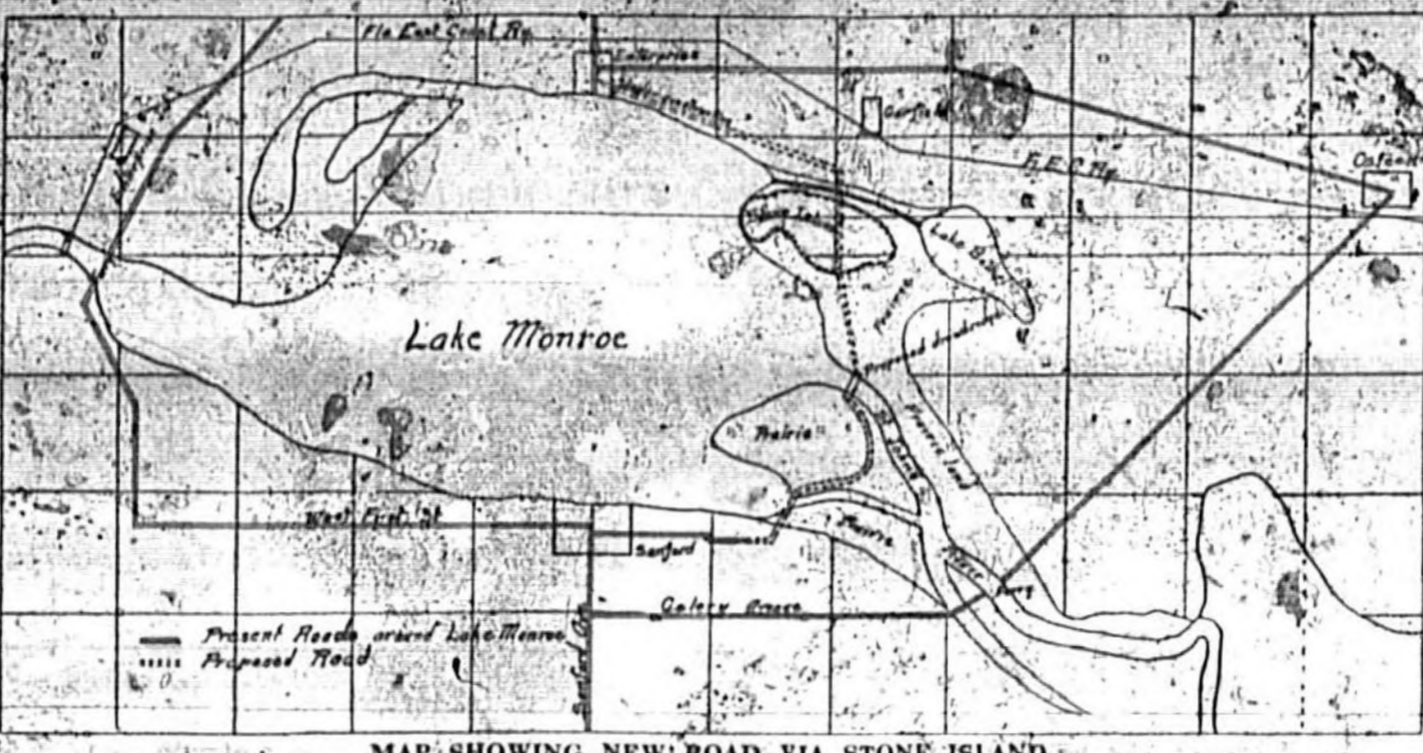

That Will Make Sanford A Tourist Town And Pay For Itself In Three Ways

(CONTRIBUTED)

It has often occurred to the writer during the past few years, when an attempt was made to secure a tourist hotel for Sanford, that we should bet think ourselves of the necessity of supplying the necessary amusements. A town is a tourist town in exact proportion to the entertainment it affords. There are a few cases, such as Jacksonville and Sanford, which have a great advantage over other towns in being natural gateways which the tourist must pass through, many of whom would gladly stop with us if we would only put forth more effort to entertain them. It rests entirely with us whether we will keep them one day, one week or three months. It should not be so much a question of how many stop in Sanford, but how long they stay in Sanford. We are again very fortunate in being able to in-homes and supporting tourist hotels, which of course means enhancement of property values. Imagine Sanford today. If we had "wood and won" five or ten thousand live tourists fifteen years ago. Hotels would have sprung up like magic; our lake shores would now be veritable parks, while the tourist would have joined hands with us in making our public improvements and putting our car and ferry lines and other enterprises on a paying basis. Nor is it my mission to criticize what has been done in Sanford, but rather to point out a way by which Sanford can begin to reap returns from her enormous investments. It is a widely known fact that a "Coney Island" in the rough, with luxuriant hammock timber, art-decan way-and affording, as it does, all the necessary amusements it should be to the state of Florida what Augusta, Ga. is to the south—"A place where they love to linger." It is only too well known that the facilities for crossing the St. Johns at this point are unsatisfactory, to say the least. The eastern route to Enterprise through Osteen—some sixteen miles around—avoids Sanford by nearly a mile, while the road to the west of the lake misses Enterprise entirely, and both routes are anything but scenic, traversing as they do some of the most unattractive land in the county, keeping well out of view of the lake, passing through hilly country where road material is scarce and washage enormous; crossing railroads, and if these roads are to be maintained it will necessitate sooner or terest the home seeker in a way not excelled by any other locality, and as tourists frequently turn out to be home seekers it doubly behooves us to exert ourselves to attract the tourist. Be it far from me to say a disparaging word about our friends who are now in the habit of stopping with us, for they have meant a great deal to the life of Sanford, but it must be admitted they are not the class with unlimited means, demanding incessant amusement at any cost, building palatial exceptional protection from cold west and north-west winds and the only natural golf links in this state, lays in Lake Monroe, just three miles northeast of Sanford, and four and one-half miles by land around the eastern shore. It would seem almost providential that this island was placed so convenient to both Sanford and Enterprise and in the most direct route of thousands of tourists who pass through to and from the interior and west coast every winter. It is a most convenient halfway station later a drawbridge at both ends of the lake. The proposition which I wish to present is to construct a road to follow the eastern shore of the lake and cross the river just above where it empties into the lake, and bisect the island referred to; thence along the north shore through Enterprise to DeLand, which according to best information obtainable can be constructed (including drawbridge) for about the cost of the two bridges above mentioned. It will at the same time achieve all the purposes of the other two routes. If this be true, the question of expense has no bearing on the matter—it is simply a question of the best route, and I believe, after due consideration there will not be a shadow of a doubt in any man's mind on this score. Furthermore, the road will pay for itself in three different ways in addition to serving all the purposes of the other roads. First it will pay for itself in upkeep, having less than one-third the mileage, only one drawbridge to run and to maintain; no hills to wash gullies; no railroads to cross; convenient road material and a great saving of time by the use of the drawbridge. It will also pay for itself by opening up some three thousand acres of the highest type of Florida lands on the north and on the east of the lake and in the vicinity of Garfield on the F. E. C. Ry. This land is ideal for winter homes and truck and fruit farms, and would be a valuable feeder to both Sanford and Enterprise.

The third and best way in which the road will pay for itself is in acquainting the public, as well as ourselves with the beauties of Lake Monroe through a seven mile drive along its most picturesque shores and bringing them through a park where sparkling pools of sulphur water will afford ideal bathing, or where golf, fishing, boating, duck, quail or deer hunting, and even alligator hunting in Lake Bethel may be indulged in. Such a proposition would mean a great impetus to the town of Enterprise, which is more important to Sanford than generally realized. Several hundred people living in Enterprise and shopping in Sanford would stimulate the city business, making possible a less fare and better service between the two towns, the same boat to touch at the island, with say a five or ten cent fare to both Sanford and Enterprise. This would enable our home people to take advantage of the park all year round, and with cottages to let they would be able to take their families for a few weeks' outing during the warm months and attend to business in Sanford by ferry, hundreds of whom will otherwise be denied such a privilege. It is true Sanford has reached a point in road building where any additional expense will be a burden, yet in that very fact lies the greatest argument for the construction of this road at the very earliest date; for by so doing we will bring thousands of autoists through Sanford and along our beautiful lake shore, who at present must be content in passing in view of our "back yard." Many would thus be attracted to Sanford and would be more than willing to help us use our beautiful streets, and incidentally HELP PAY FOR THEM. I would like to see the subject discussed at length through the columns of The Herald, as the practicability of such a plan has long appealed to me, and it will "bear acquaintance." It is certain that if such a plan is ever carried out we must begin now, if not actual construction, to secure the right of way, and withhold any expenditure and permanent improvements on the present route. The following statement is worth the consideration of every citizen of Sanford. If a bridge is ever built on Coler Avenue ferry the possibility of a lake shore drive for Sanford is gone forever. C. C.

BLIND SENATOR DENIES CHARGE THAT HE ASSAULTED LADY

GORE OF OKLAHOMA WAS THE VICTIM OF A PUT UP JOB

TELLS HIS STORY

AND HOW THE PLOTTERS TRIED TO ENTICE HIM INTO THE NET

Oklahoma City, Feb. 17.—United States Senator T. P. Gore today denied on the witness stand the allegations of Mrs. Minnie Bond, who is suing him for $50,000 damages as the result of an alleged attack upon her in a Washington hotel. Gore charges that the plot was trumped up by political enemies. He said he met Mrs. Bond at a hotel at her request to discuss the appointment of her husband to a federal position. He said he supposed they were in a parlor at the hotel after which she took him into another room. Took her hand, he declared, and fell on a bed. "What does this mean?" the senator said. Just then, he continued, a friend of his entered. "Did you at any time touch Mrs. Bond?" he was asked. "I did not," he replied.

Senator Fletcher of Florida today appeared before the joint congressional committee on rural credits and spoke in favor of the pending measure. He said that long term credit based on mortgages is a vital feature of the scheme. He said he did not believe government aid would be needed by the distressed farmers banks.

The speech of John J. Kennedy, state treasurer of Buffalo, yesterday, on the eve of his examination by the John D. Graft investigators, went "hot air" in quantity into his office. This was announced here today by officials in charge of the inquiry. An audit of Kennedy's books a week ago showed everything in excellent shape.

Chicago, Feb. 16. Negroes going back to Africa with Chief Sams of the tribe of Akim, to the land of the butter bush and cheese tree on the west coast of Africa, a contingent of negroes from Oklahoma, set the tongues of many negroes in Chicago to talking of the possibilities for them on the gold coast of Africa. Incidentally, the glances of Chief Sams upon traditions regarding the yellowish skirt and an overcoat in harmony. The overcoat was "sweated" in long, perpendicular wrinkles. A brown fedora hat, set at a twist on his head, and a pair of rubbers were other features of his "heavenly" garb. "We are going back to the land of plenty," he said. "I am taking these good men and women back to the land where they came from, on the gold coast of Africa. It is a rich country. I got word from black men in the United States," he said. "They wanted to return. I took their word to chiefs of other tribes. We of the tribe of Akim and there are many thousands of the tribe, decided to buy a boat and bring them over. The boat is waiting in New York for us now. I expect to take 1,200 back with me this trip and come back in six weeks for 1,200 more. The negroes are more of a problem than the white folks think in this country. They all ought to be back in Africa." Chief Sams, modestly denied that in his native land he carried a spear and wore a women's vine suit with a high English vest. He came in with his followers from Maunse, Okla. From there he has been spreading his gospel, which, boiled down means the shipment of all negroes back to Africa. Incidentally, the trading company of which he is president offers "the only ship owned by blacks" to carry them to the land of promise at so much a head.

Senator Bacon of Georgia who succumbed to an attack of illness in Garden hospital Saturday, was said to have died a comparatively poor man. His principal possession it was said heretofore, consisted of his old home at Macon and his carefully selected library. Friends of the senator's thirty-three years of public life are now discussing in senate and house chambers today. One of Mr. Bacon's characteristics was his fondness for children. His apartments were near the National Zoological park and nearly every morning he might be seen strolling through the grounds accompanied by a bevy of children. Among the tributes sent to the late senator's apartment today were garlands of flowers from his little friends. One of Senator Bacon's last acts was to send a note of thanks to Secretary and Mrs. Bryan for a potted lily sent him while at the hospital. Messages of condolence continued to pour in upon the family today. Among these were telegrams from Senator Tillman of Atlanta and Herbert Clay, son of the late Senator Clay of Georgia.

Washington, Feb. 15.—All parts of the country except the Pacific slope will be fast in Jack Frost's grasp until after Tuesday, according to the weather bureau. Higher temperatures will come the middle of the week.

On the Pacific slope, said the weekly bulletin tonight, "temperatures will average above the normal. East of the Rocky mountains the weather will be fair during the next several days, except that local snows are probably Monday and Tuesday over the Great Lakes, the upper Ohio valley and the North Atlantic states.

The next storm of importance will appear on the North Pacific coast Tuesday and will cross the great central valley by Thursday or Friday, and the east-central states near the end of the week; the disturbance will be preceded by a general change to warmer east of the Rocky mountains and it will be attended by snow in northern and probably rains in the southern states. There are no indications that this disturbance will be followed by a cold wave.

Big Charities Meeting Mrs. H. E. Gorro has returned from Gainesville, where she represented the Sanford Woman's Club at the State Charities and Correction meeting. Many people noted for their attention to this line of work were present. The opening address was given by Hon. Park M. Trammell, governor of Florida. The purpose of the conference is to get together all those in Florida who are interested in the welfare of humanity, and to discuss ways and means of properly providing and caring for the downtrodden, afflicted, delinquent, defective, dependent and criminal classes. The opening address was delivered by Hon. Park M. Trammell, governor of Florida; other noted speakers are Prof. Graham Taylor, of Chicago, a leading social worker; Alexander Johnson, in charge of the world's most noted school for feeble minded children; Francis McLean, secretary of the National Association for Organized Charities; and Joseph H. Logan, a well known practical social worker.

FROM THE NATION'S CAPITAL

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON BY THE SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE HERALD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—(Special.)—Following a new well established custom, due in large measure to the activities of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, the annual river and harbor bill, which has been completed with the exception of a few minor details, will be reported to the house early next week by Chairman Sparkman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee.

The bill will carry about $43,000,000—$5,000,000 less than last year's Hill White bill was larger than was originally contemplated by the committee, the insistent demands of communities urging appropriations for meritorious projects, backed by evidence of the commercial growth of the country, could not be successfully resisted by the members of the committee and they yielded to the appeals of localities to a large degree.

Among other things the bill provides for the immediate purchase of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, a narrow strip of water some fourteen miles long connecting the Delaware river and Chesapeake Bay. The canal is to be widened and deepened and made into a sea level canal sufficiently large to accommodate barges, ocean-going tug-boats, even torpedo boats. It is another link in the chain of inland waterways from Boston to Florida.

The Mississippi river will receive $7,000,000 to be spent in levee and re-vent work on the upper Rock Island, Illinois. The Greater New York Harbor project is another big proposition which is to cost when completed $13,400,000, of which $500,000 is appropriated for the purpose of providing a 38-foot channel up the East river and the removal of the obstructions in the Hell Gate and Coenties reef sections. Provision is made for rendering the Hudson river navigable for ocean-going vessels and through state and federal aid, for bringing into the commerce of the Great Lakes to the doors of New York without trans-shipment.

Adopted before the end of the session it is intended to save time, promote accuracy and blotish the abomination of long and tedious roll calls that have to be repeated. The flash will show the name of the voter responsive to his touch of a button at his seat, showing his "yes," his "nay," or his "present" as the case may be. It promises to be most realistic as a baseball score board.

Senator L. Wilson and former United States Forrester Pinchot have been engaged by the Pennsylvania Chautauquus for a series of joint debates during April. They will have the same crowd attracting feature that accompanied Secretary of State Bryan, when he spoke for the Pennsylvania Chautauquus last year. In other words, the Alpine Swiss Yodlers will grade on each occasion of the Wilson-Pinchot debate.

Senator Eugene Hamilton Lewis of Illinois has returned from London, where he went to represent Congress at a conference on the question of promoting safety in steamship travel. Referring to comments on his speech, Mr. Lewis expresses the opinion that, in the long run, it is only long ago that he was young and struggling for attention.

THE BIG FAIR AT ORLANDO. The Fourth Annual Sub-Tropical Mid-Winter Fair will be held in Orlando, Florida, February 17 to 21.

SORGHUM FOR HOG PASTURE

BY J. M. SCOTT

It should not be expected that the sorghum pasture will supply all of the feed necessary to keep hogs in a good growing condition. There are, if any green pastures that will do this. To get the best results from green pasture crops they should be supplemented with a grain crop of some kind.

By having two fields of sorghum, and planting one field two to four weeks earlier than the other, continuous pasturing may be secured from early spring until frost kills the sorghum in the fall.

To be able to give the crop some cultivation, plant in rows three feet apart and from two to four inches apart in the drill. The planting may be done with the ordinary one horse corn drill. It will be necessary to use a drill with eight or ten holes. The holes should be about three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. Care should be taken not to cover the seed more than an inch deep.

Some prefer to sow the seed broadcast and cover it with a harrow. This method cannot be used, but it will require considerably more seed per acre than when planted in rows, and the yield per acre will be less.

There are a number of varieties of sorghum that will do well under Florida conditions, and perhaps there is not such choice as to which to select or summer asture. Any one of the following three varieties may be used: Go senek, Orange or Sunflower.

Sorghum is a grass feeder, requires a large quantity of plant food, and is not particular as to the source. When the crop is to be used only as a green pasture perhaps the most important fertilizer is ammonia. This can be supplied in the form of dried bone or sulphate of ammonia. The following formula ought to give satisfactory results:

Ammonia 4 per cent
Avalla le phosphoric acid 4 per cent
Potash 4 per cent

This should be applied at the rate of 100 or 500 pounds per acre a week or ten days before planting the seed. At the time of the first cultivation, or when the young plants are about two inches high, it will be found most profitable to make an application of nitrate of soda at the rate of about 100 pounds per acre. Sorghum is a slow growing plant at first and a little nitrate of soda will hasten the growth materially.

Pasturing the Crop. Sorghum can be pastured at almost any stage of growth after it has reached a height of twelve or fifteen inches. It will, however, contain more real feeding value for stock after it has headed out and when the seed is in the dough stage. At this stage, however, it is too hard and woody for young hogs.

Sorghum is a grass feeder, requires a large quantity of plant food, and is not particular as to the source. When the crop is to be used only as a green pasture perhaps the most important fertilizer is ammonia. This can be supplied in the form of dried bone or sulphate of ammonia. The following formula ought to give satisfactory results:

Ammonia 4 per cent
Avalla le phosphoric acid 4 per cent
Potash 4 per cent

Sanford invites the world to come and inspect the city and the country surrounding Sanford. The visitors to the Midwinter Fair at Orlando this week are especially requested to make Sanford as a side trip for we have the goods and want to show you.

Stonewall Jackson Triplett, editor of the Kissimmee Gazette is a candidate for the legislature from Osceola county and he will be elected because the people down there have great faith in Triplett and know that he will do all that he promises to do. There is no better man in the county for the position and here is hoping that Trip gets there with both feet.

Senator McCreary of Alachua county and the dean of the senate is a candidate for re-election, meaning that he will be the senator from his district again, although he has opposition. Senator McCreary has had opposition before and rather likes to have a little fun as he goes along. Knowing full well that he will be returned and when the smoke of battle clears away he is always elected.

Recollection is approaching and the candidates are getting busy and more people are speaking to each other these days than ever before. There is nothing like a campaign to bring people together and nothing like a campaign to tear them apart, so as in former times we will take the bad with the good.

One more week of hunting and then we can wait another year while the ducks and quails and other feathered birds fatten for the next season. There has been but little hunting this season as compared to other seasons and very few ducks have been on the Florida waters, probably on account of the dry season making it impossible for them to feed in the marshes.

Nineteen years ago Sunday Florida was hit by the big freeze. It looked for awhile like the state was ruined, but the calamity was a blessing in disguise. A hundred blades of hay making grass were growing now where one grew then and agriculture everywhere has progressed in about the same proportion. And we have plenty of orange, too. Ocala Star.

Oviedo will have a paper soon as E. A. Gilbert has an outfit ordered and expects to start or rather revive the Oviedo Advance about the first of March. This will be interesting, for at the present time the Sanford Herald occupies the field and it has been rather lonesome. We will welcome the Advance and if Mr. Gilbert makes it as interesting as Editor Douglas formerly did the people of Oviedo can be assured of the proper amount of advertising.

When the farmers of this state realize the immense amount of labor that Senator Fletcher has devoted to his rural credits bill, a bill that aims to place banking facilities within the reach of every farmer of the country, it will be hard to persuade them that any new man could within any reasonable time secure so great a benefit for them. The rural credits bill, which will soon become a law, will be an unanswerable argument for the return of Duncan U. Fletcher to the United States Senate. Miami Metropolis.

The people of Sanford Heights have a righteous kick about the public utilities. They have neither ice, gas or water and while they can get along without the last two they certainly need ice delivery. Sometimes private par-the deliver ice on the Heights but usually the people living out there are forced to go to the factory or go without and the present ice factory is too busy to deliver ice on the Heights and the other suburbs of Sanford then it is high time we had another ice factory in Sanford that would have time to deliver ice to every part of the city limits.

There are enough editors in DeSoto county to have an organization, and they frequently get together, have a dinner, and an auto ride, and then talk shop. It's a good thing, but few counties in Florida have so many editors who are such good fellows.—Orlando Sentinel.

There Will be Some Voting This is going to be a lively year politically in Florida. There are to be chosen a United States senator, congressmen from each of the four districts, members of the next legislature, commissioner of agriculture, two supreme court judges, two railroad commissioners and in Seminole county there will be a circuit clerk of the court, superintendent of public instruction, county treasurer, tax collector, tax assessor, sheriff, county judge, five commissioners, county school board, supervisor of registration, justice of the peace, member of the executive committee, etc. And the spring training camp has opened and there will be much noise and confusion for several months.

The article by Sam G. Blythe in last week's Saturday Evening Post, about why he quit the habit of drinking intoxicating liquors, is well worth reading by any man any man who drinks or any man who does not. Mr. Blythe does not drink from the viewpoint of a "temperance crank," a "personal liberty enthusiast," nor even as a moralist. He tells in a very natural and matter of fact manner how he got to drinking a social glass with the boys, how the habit grew on him, how he could see where it was going to end if he did not cut it out, and how he just naturally quit. There is a rugged honesty and originality about all of Mr. Blythe's writings that makes them attractive and this one is fully up to his standard.—Orlando Sentinel.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP Now the youth is feeling and squirming under the avaricious grip of the express companies. Under the pretense of lowering their rates on vegetables and fruits the rates have been raised, and done at a time when the shipper is helpless and must take any rate he can get or sustain a loss. These blood-sucking companies have a subtle way of figuring. We do not doubt but that the express companies have lost through the operations of the parcel post system. But where a mere company loses a little profit a million people are benefitted. And shall a million farmers or growers be made to suffer because of a shrinkage in the dividends of a mere company deal in public utilities? Not justly so. They bring on themselves the hue and cry of a justly indignant public demanding government ownership of such a public utility and safeguard the interests of the dependable thousands and the putting of this necessity beyond the avaricious greed of a few stock manipulators. In Burlington we saw the light of a gas lamp, and that he will be able to absorb into the parcel post system the vital part of the express business and merge this entire transportation system and thus giving new life to many industries and taking a direct step towards the lowering of the high cost of food commodities.—Hastings News.

THE ST. JOHNS HIGHWAY The following news item from St. Augustine will be interesting: With delegations from Daytona, New Smyrna and other cities on the East Coast present the Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday night for purpose of taking action that will result in reconsideration of the route recommended by the United States engineers for the government inland waterway, a canal down the peninsula of Florida. As has been before published the engineers have recommended that the inland route after it reaches Florida, or rather Jacksonville, follow the St. Johns river to a point opposite Titusville, and that a canal be cut between these points. This route would leave the stretch of East Coast from Jacksonville to Titusville out altogether.

The rather bad for the East Coast, but the real live cities on the St. Johns river purpose to see that the government engineers make the river route official and it will not be difficult to convince the government that spending money acquiring the little ditch on the East Coast that will have to be dredged every fortnight is throwing it away when the big St. Johns river is already the high way of trade and travel and is the only feasible means of an inland waterway that will take the vessels of heavy draft. The St. Johns river is already government water and will certainly be used as the inland waterway through Florida, all the efforts of the people on the East Coast to the contrary notwithstanding. The St. Johns river is the route for all practical purposes and the canal from Salt Lake will soon be cut by the government, thus putting at rest all doubts about where the inland waterways will be in Florida.

JACKSONVILLE NEWS FAILURE The experience of Clarence B. and Albert Hanson in trying to establish a newspaper at Jacksonville shows that it is an easy matter to start a daily, but quite another to keep it going on shoe string capital. The Hansons launched the Jacksonville News Dec. 15 and on Jan. 27 it ceased publication, and a sheriff took possession of the furniture and carried it off.

The city already had two excellent newspapers, the Morning Florida Times-Union, founded in 1878, and the Evening Metropolis in 1887. Both are Democratic in politics, and are conducted on up to date lines. They are also enterprising and have the confidence of the people they serve. Jacksonville, according to the late census, has a population of 67,000. It is a commercial and not a manufacturing city. Its population is larger in winter than in summer, owing to the presence of hundreds of people who seek relief from the rigors of a northern winter. The city is large enough to support one afternoon and one morning newspaper in good shape. We understand that the Florida Times-Union and the Metropolis enjoy a comfortable degree of prosperity.

Into this community came the Hanson brothers, who had had considerable newspaper experience in Mobile, Pensacola, Birmingham and Montgomery. They were supposed to know the south, its business opportunities and its resources. They decided to enter the Jacksonville field with a newspaper—the News. They put in an up to date plant, engaged a staff of capable men and started in. At the end of a month and a half the paper gave up the ghost. What is the explanation? At least three things contributed to the disaster: First, the mistaken supposition that a small city, already well served by two newspapers and giving them good support, will welcome a third and give it the financial encouragement that it needs to become a permanent institution.

Second, insufficient capital. It hardly seems possible that such experienced newspaper men as the Hansons would fall into the inexcusable error of supposing that they could establish any kind of a daily paper and make it self supporting in forty-two days on a cash capital of less than ten thousand dollars. In a progressive city without newspapers or with only one or two apertic, spineless dailies, such a thing might be possible, but not in a city like Jacksonville already amply provided. To start a news paper in such a place a capital of at least $150,000 or $200,000 should be available. Third, lack of advertising support from the business men of the city. It is far to assume that the largest and most successful firms at present advertise in the morning and the evening papers already established and that the smaller concerns advertised in one of them.

From whom, then, did the Hansons as publishers of the News expect to derive their revenue? From the merchants who were advertising in the Times-Union and the Metropolis, or from those who felt they could afford to advertise in only one of them? Or did they suppose they could develop enough new advertisers to make the paper profitable in a field that had been cultivated to the limit by the two existing papers?

To succeed in the newspaper business a number of things are absolutely necessary. First, the opportunity; second, a sufficient amount of capital to run the paper for at least a year without a substantial volume of advertising and circulation; third, the ability to publish the kind of a paper the people want; and fourth, the hearty support of local merchants and general advertisers. The lack of any one of these elements is sufficient to wreck any newspaper enterprise.—Editor and Publisher.

GOOD BOOST FOR SANFORD

Michigan Man Says We Have All That Could Be Desired

Dear Editor: As my subscription to The Herald will soon expire you will find enclosed $2.00 for another year's subscription. The paper is coming at present in my son, Robert's name. It seems that we cannot get along without the Herald. We always look forward with eager anticipation to the coming of each issue, and I assure you there is little of its contents escapes our notice. We have spent a part of two winters in Florida—1908 and again in 1911, and of all that we saw there we liked Sanford the best. I was very much interested in the trucking operations. Being a farmer myself it was very natural that I should be interested in those things. I spent many days looking over the celery and lettuce farms, which looked so good to me that I will never be content here in the north again.

With the long and cold dreary winters, and sudden and extreme changes of temperature, we are subject to many ailments that you know nothing about in Florida. Another thing I was very much interested in was the good school priv-

APPRECIATION Of service is the greatest inspiration you can extend a servant of the public, and your banker is certainly one of the foremost of the community, and as such usually appreciates most keenly the loyal spirit of the bank's customers and friends. THE PEOPLES BANK is pardonably proud of the wholesome support it is continually extended by the people of Sanford, its customers and friends and in token of its appreciation, has overlooked nothing in giving to Sanford the best there is of BANKING SERVICE and ACCOMODATION. We are everyday adding strength to our condition, and this is mere a slight expression of our cordial good wishes for the prosperity of all our friends and patrons who have made our wonderful success possible. TO ALL NEWCOMERS we especially extend an invitation to call and inspect our equipment, which it is said, is second to none in Central Florida.

I do not believe there is another town of its size in the country anywhere that will equal your school system. Now we have three children, aged 11, 9 and 7 years respectively, so you see why we have an interest in the schools. In fact there is nothing about Sanford that my wife and I are not intensely enthusiastic about; and expect in the near future to become permanent residents of Sanford and share all those glorious privileges with you. I feel sorry for Wilson of Kansas City that he is unable to get that galosh of "Florida Ribbon Cane Syrup," of Mr. McCuller, but I think the best way for him to get his share will be to move to Sanford, as we intend to do. The interest in Florida is getting greater every year in this part of the north, and I sincerely believe that the time is not far distant when Florida will be the most densely populated state in the Union. If you could only get The Herald in more homes in the north, the speedy settlement and development of all that fertile land would be assured. I am boasting Sanford (at long range) for all that lies within my power. And before this year is past, I expect to increase the population of Sanford by five persons. Now I will close, wishing you and Sanford your share of all the good things this world affords. Yours truly, C. B. JENNINGS, Moronei, Mich.

Wife's Ashes as an Ornament. An ingenious method of disposing of the ashes of a cremated body has to be recorded. After a woman had been cremated the husband took the ashes to a chemist for the purpose of extracting the iron, which he is now wearing in his ring, as she would wear a diamond.

Beauty. Beauty is as summer fruits, which are easier to corrupt and cannot last. And, for the most part, it makes a dis-solute youth and an age a little out of countenance. But yet certainly again, if it light well, it maketh virtues shine and vices blush.—Bacon.

Evening Things Up. "Takes us some time to train a girl," remarked the head of the large department store. "And then you lose a lot of girls through marriage." "Yes; but things even up. A lot of girls get tired of their husbands and come back to us."

Social Living. Union, organization, complex inter-service are the essential processes of a growing society; in them, the ever-increasing discharge of power along widening lines of action is the joy and health of social life.—Gillman.

The Boy and the Man. The boy who solves his problem by getting some one else to give him the answer is likely when he grows up to feel sure that he could win great success if he only had some other man's chance.

Heaviest Tax. Idleness and pride tax with a heavier hand than kings and parliaments. If we can get rid of the former we may easily bear the latter.—Benjamin Franklin, Letter on the Stamp Act, 1765.

Not Like the National Game. Geraldine—"Did you ever play kissing games?" Gerald—"Yes, and I remember them as games that didn't have to be called on account of darkness."

FLORIDA CELERY IN DEMAND

Chase & Co. Report Improved Call From the Smaller Markets. Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 14.—Chase & Co. report the demand for Florida celery on the increase and that more of the smaller vegetable are purchasing the vegetable. The celery is clean and attractive and shipping is not necessary at Jacksonville. As the celery can be sold in the original package, it is more popular in the small markets. Weather justified cool in Florida Sunday, and if it continues cool during the week, celery will not be taken as fast as last week, which will mean that the shipments will not be any heavier this week than last. Prices continue according to Chase & Co. very reasonable and prices are running mostly free. Boston.

Chase & Co. report an active demand for produce of the best quality, and describe the celery liberal shipments have been going forward of medium and higher quality and large sizes on which there is a wide range of prices. They are in a position to deliver any quantity of quality at lower prices than usual, and to deliver good quality. The orange movement is being held back by the demand for the market, strengthening rapidly. Produce News.

POTATO ISN'T A GOOD THING

National Body is Doing a Great Deal For the Industry. New York, Feb. 14.—The National Potato Association of America which was organized at an informal dinner at the Park Hotel this city, Feb. 11, 1912, which meets in New York this week, promises much for the potato industry. W. A. Martin, the Houston, Mo., banker, who was elected president, is organizing the potato industry. Further improvements of the potato and what is an active leader at the Washington hearing, is president V. H. Grubb, the potato expert of Carbonate, Colo. Vice president, William Stuart, of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, secretary and treasurer.

The Association was organized for the primary object of promoting the potato industry in its various phases. The constitution and bylaws which have been drawn up and which have been widely circulated among potato growers are broad. Everything has been along constructive lines and much good has been accomplished. President Martin has taken an active interest and has been cordially supported by the members. The Ithaca meeting will give an impetus to the Association which will be felt during the coming season. The organizers of the Association were: E. J. Grubb of Carbonate, Lord O'Leary of Denver, G. P. Siga, and E. L. Leitch of Peopple, near Houston, Mo.; W. A. Orton and William Stuart of the Department of Agriculture, Washington. Produce News.

Debt Collection.

No doubt the world does owe all of us a debt, but the question of collection is one which does not seem to be in a fair way to be settled. It is a lamentable fact that there will never again be such brilliant traders and financiers as those of the past.

FOR CONGRESS

Make your vote count for the best man for the office.

Real Friend.

There is one friend who will never fail you, while you have hands to move and a brain to plan. In your darkest hours she will be your sweet refuge, and in times of prosperity she will guard you from the pride which goeth before a fall. She will bring you long nights of restful sleep at the end of your busy days and when other friends grow careless or disdainful, she will absorb you more and more. Her name is Work, and nothing the highest nor the lowest can be happy for long without her.

Her Infinite Variety.

As we sit down and ponder over the summer courtship we find the hand that wielded the canoe paddle now yields the broom. The supper on river banks grows in a small dining room. The gazing at the sky in summer time is now looking to see if the wash can safely be put out. The hand in the wash tub is the hand that trailed over the canoe side. The soft voice in quiet lanes is now—Don't you think it's a cruel world?—Kirkwood Courier.

Disputed Deed.

A curious case is reported from Astoria, Ore. It is brought by an antiquary to obtain possession of the door of the city of Astoria, which he had bought. Possession was refused on a plea of contract with another party, but this contract was discovered. At this stage it was discovered that an old agreement existed prohibiting the designation of any part of the property. This agreement is now being contested, and it is anticipated that the sale to the antiquary will be confirmed.

Didn't Know Stone's Value.

While rummaging through an old chest Mrs. J. S. Wenzel of Ravenswood, W. Va., found across an old stone that had been given her by a relative 27 years ago and which she thought had no value. She showed it to a guest at her home and he took it to a jeweler, who declared it an uncut diamond worth $1,200.

Signs Missing.

"Why do you want your money back?" asked the man at the box office. "You're operating under false pretenses here. This isn't a real vaudeville show. I noticed that three of the performers sang songs in which there was no mention of love in connection with the stars above."

Tombstone as a Barometer.

Epton, near Peterborough, one of the smallest parishes in England, numbering only fourteen houses, possesses a mysterious tombstone of black marble, which emits a damp ooze in patches when it is about to rain. It is regarded in the village as an infallible barometer.

Happiness.

Those who have the most of happiness think the least about it. But in thinking about and in doing their duty happiness comes—because the heart and mind are occupied with earnest thought that touches at a thousand points the beautiful and sublime realities of the universe.—Thackeray.

No Alternative.

When the old man said, "I have no alternative," the young man said, "I know I can't do anything for you, but I'll try to do what I can." "I don't know what else to say!"—London Opinion.

Cakes for Men in the Moon.

The first cake of yours you have ever had is the one in the moon, and it is the best you have ever had. It is the best you have ever had. It is the best you have ever had.

She Says.

"You never thank a man for giving you a best in a great car." "Not any more," replied Miss Cayenne. "I used to until I noticed that almost invariably he was going to get out at the next corner anyhow."

Just Before the Fight.

"So you are on your way to propose to Miss Bickel?" "Yes, but! What no luck?" "Oh, I wish you luck, all right; but I won't do you a bit of good; I feel sure she is going to accept you."—Houston Post.

Use Lime.

If a small box of unslaked lime is kept in the pantry it will absorb all impurities. The air will be kept dry and sweet. Change the lime every two or three weeks.

Indecision.

The tragedy of life is indecision. They bary suicides at the crossroads for that in where larks all tragedy—the indecision of which way to choose.—E. Temple Trafton.

An Expert.

"Does your wife do much fancy work?" "Yes, when I'm late in getting home evenings she fancies all sorts of things."

Now We Know.

Son—"Why do people say 'Dame Gossip'?" Father—"Because they are too polite to leave off the 'a.'"—Le Crabbie.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH. "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

The American Builder makes a forecast of 1914 building business that is glowing to say the least. Although 1913 was a satisfactory year in the field, the current year is to be much better, according to confidential reports from representative contractors and builders in every part of the United States and Canada, especially covered by that publication.

Every good citizen must hope that such will be the report when the year is completed. The way to have confidence in business is to keep up courage all along the line and be resolved to make the best of laws and of general denials. We start with the fact that the crops last year were on the whole significant. There was no failure in any direction and in some directions the output broke records.

Every one knows that the value of farm products amounted to seven or eight billions. Since a good food supply is the basis of business prosperity generally, there is no reason in the nature of things why the coming year should not be even more prosperous than the last one.

Every business man helps who looks forward with confidence and contributes an element of cheer to the situation which is not half as bad as some affect to think and which, according to the reports from all the great manufacturing centers is steadily improving by day. Especially is this true of Sanford where the building fever seems to be prevalent even through the winter months. There are more houses being built and others contemplated than ever before and the year of 1914 will be a most prosperous one here. And one thing that will be taken into consideration is the confidence of the people both residents and winter visitors that Sanford is an ideal place to build a home and the future looks even brighter.

With the building of the brick roads the suburbs will blossom out like magic and many a man will feel like living outside where he can have all the conveniences of the city and the comforts of the country.

The five cent piece is the day laborer of our coinage. It is the hardest working and most successful bit of money in use in these United States.

The twenty dollar gold piece is very popular and is rapidly sought after in the best of society; the five dollar bill has millions of friends, and the half dollar can be found nesting in the pocket of nearly every free born citizen. But none of these work like the five cent piece.

The humble nickel runs the street cars of the nation, provides it with cigar and soda water, buys most of its magazines, operates its slot machines and has made the moving picture more powerful than the political orator. The nickel has built 100 acre breweries and $200,000,000 subway systems. Where the $2 bill has given up in despair the humble nickel has stepped in and operated vast theaters. The quarter ran the magazine for many years and made a mess of it. But when the nickel went into the game it put the magazine on every newsstand and filled the American home so full of newspapers that father had to clear it out with a pitch fork on Monday morning.

Place a dollar bill in the pocket and within ten minutes it has leaped nimbly into the till of the nearest cigar store, soda fountain or moving picture emporium.

Many of our nearest and freshest millionaires are men who found their and quarters doing work which was unfitted for them and put nickels on the job in their places.

And many of our future millionaires will be men who discovered jobs not being run into the ground by the larger and fatter coins and who will put in clatters for tills and begin the accumulation of nickels as a life work. The nickel has not broken into the automobile business, and may never do so. But when every voter contributes a nickel to his party the troubles of the campaign committee will disappear and the large contributors, who have been running our political parties in the past, will be told to go to.

We pay the scientists and experts, but a few of us use them as we might. There is no "wasp," a bug, a blight, a fungus, a disease, or a problem of the soil or its cultivation which is not studied by these men of ours, about which they are not anxious to tell us.

A man who studies a single question, like corn-rot, form of fruit trees, etc., knows more about it than any man who has other work to do. It would seem the part of wisdom for us who hire them to ask them to help us understand our troubles.

The state experiment station is always willing to help any farmer whether it be unusually fine disposition, and when he came to Sunday morning, threw a bunch of glory at the cubs' plant.

A New England contemporary is an admitted admirer of his name. "Why does the south continue to celebrate Lee's birthday?" Well, for one reason he was one of the best soldiers of his or any other age and which ought to be the pride of everybody, north and south. He was a fine Christian gentleman, an example such as have few equal in that's another reason. "When will New England crawl out of its shell, any day?"

Well, the race is on, and the candidates are coming out for office in the county as thick as peas. Now, let me see—did you promise to see that the country people would be considered in the race for office and do we intend to stick to that promise?

It seems very unbecomingly to me for the townspeople to make such a mad scramble for the different offices and never consider the people in the country. In the county, Sanford is a big place and has the young power and simply because we have the voting power in the very remote parts we should curb our lust for office this time and look about us and determine how many of our country friends would like to sit at the public table.

I am reserving my opinion of the candidates until I hear from my friends in the country, for they certainly are entitled to have a voice in the matter. Of course few people in the country care for the offices that would entail expense and a residence in town but they should be consulted in the matter and the work of a few politicians going in for everything without consulting any one is not to get a severe rebuke at the polls. The day of the peasant politician is waning and the manhood of the great United States will assert itself in no unmeasured terms from this time on.

My interest is certainly for the betterment of the race. Being old fashionably married, however, I take no part in the new theories. Trial marriage, shock us; eugenics concern us no more than a rabbit and new methods and manner of living seem foolish, though of course, they are not. Asked offhand what is most needed to increase matrimonial happiness I would reply: "A course of education during the engagement period." Nor would we permit the nuptials for both the man and woman to get up and be agreeable on Sunday morning. If they can get through Sunday without altercations they're ready for the Nuptial League. Whatever casualness lurks within works out on Sunday morning. We could readily cite the case of a man of big affairs and

When the Heart is Sore. I will walk abroad; old griefs shall be forgotten today; for the air is cool and still, and the hills are high and stretch away to heaven; and with the dew I can wash the fever from my forehead; and then I shall be happy no longer—Thomas de Quincey.

Not Customary. "Etchem, has been given the illustration of the latest Winston Wheeler story." "Geo, that's fine!" "But he isn't at all sure he'll take the job." "Why not?" "He says it will oblige him to read the story."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Learned in the Law. Tramp (while the young magistrate hopefully turns over the pages of his law book)—"Please allow me to assist you, page 317, the third section from the bottom—Ellegende Illegit."

Handling Paper Patterns. "Every woman who cuts out from paper patterns knows of the bother in picking it due to the cloth. Take a hot iron and smooth the tissue paper pattern over the cloth and it will remain flat without pins."

Thickly Growing Bananas. It is said that Jamaica holds the world's leadership in the production and exportation of bananas, yet only about three per cent of the total acreage of the island produces this important crop.

Probably in Both. "Yes, smoking is an expensive habit. When you give his friends cigars all the year round his loss is no little one." "Do you mean in cigars or in friends?"—Ull.

Gothic Priory Desecrated. The Gothic priory of Rocbefoucauld, France, dating from the year 1000, has been acquired by a butcher, who will use it as a pig-breeding establishment.

Much the Simpler Task. It is much easier for a woman to get a man when she wants him than it is for her to get a point on a lead pencil.

Unexplainable. Men who complain that women are not natural seldom lose their hearts to those who are.

Not Even Skin Deep. Silly women complain that they are not understood. Woo would be theirs if they were.

But He Wouldn't Get Up. There was not even standing room in the crowded electric car, but one more passenger. A young woman, wedged her way along just inside the doorway. Each time the car took a sudden lurch forward she fell helplessly back, and three times she landed in the arms of a large, comfortable man. The third time it happened he said quietly: "Hain't you better stay seated?"—Exchange.

Title of Pope. It is uncertain when the pope was first used. The earliest instance we can cite is that of Heraclius, Emperor of Alexandria, in 629. It is still the ordinary title of parish priests in the eastern Greek church. In the west, it continued for several centuries to be applied to bishops generally, but it was restricted to the Roman pontiff by Gregory VII in a synod, held at Rome in 1073.

Many as One. The value of one person's mind or one person's work is steadily diminishing. It is the associated mind, the many hearts beating as one that move the world; and this is so well understood by women that they are rapidly learning what can be accomplished in economic, social and intellectual life by the power of an educated public opinion.

Satisfaction in Life. I would have nobody to control me; I would be absolute; and what but it? Now, no that is absolute, but do what he likes; he that can do what he likes can take his pleasure; he that can take his pleasure can be content; and he that can be content has no more to desire. So the matter's over; and come what will come, I am satisfied.—Cervantes.

Today. Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole we may not understand; but this we know—it is a part of action, not of thinking; of love, not of sympathy; for us to express love in terms of human helpfulness.—David Starr Jordan.

Birds Voracious Feeders. As instances of the amount of food some birds consume, the Rev. C. F. Phillips, vicar of Ipswich, a well-known Cumberland naturalist, the other day found in the crop of a wood-pigeon he shot 140 beech nuts, while another wood-pigeon had devoured more than fifty-chopped turnip leaves that he could hold in the palm of his hand.

Choice of Books. A common book will often give you much amusement, but it is only a noble book which will give you dear friends.—Ruskin.

SEMINOLE COUNTY EXHIBITS FINEST AT BIG EXPOSITION

NEW COUNTY IS THE TALK OF THE FAIR

EVERYTHING IN PROFUSION

SEMINOLE COUNTY HAS EVERY FRUIT AND VEGETABLE GROWN IN FLORIDA

One more day of the great Sub-Tropical Midwinter Fair and it will be history that in history will be known as the greatest exhibition of fruits, vegetables, live stock, products of the pantry and fancy work, etc., that has ever been given north or south as a county fair.

With only a week's preparation Col. A. St. Francis, the veteran manager of Florida's displays put Seminole county in the front ranks and the work he accomplished in a few days is worthy of highest commendation.

The main exposition building at first sight seemed to be all Seminole county, for across the front of the building was an immense banner bearing the words, SEMINOLE COUNTY EXHIBIT.

Sanford has done itself proud in its exhibit, which upholds the placard over Seminole exhibit as the best county exhibit. The things are very attractively arranged, the wine displayed especially, for the bottles are in front of a large mirror which duplicates every one of them, and around the stand are purple and white sweet peas, the bottom of the stand being filled in solid with that splendid kind of hot pepper, one can get in Sanford, the display of celery which is growing so luxuriantly here, and it looks like the country gentleman in charge of the exhibit, answering questions as to how it is grown and whitened, and especially how it is sold, you find saying yesterday that he wanted to beat the Florida growers by producing wholesale even if it were to cost him $100,000.

Over in the other department Seminole poultry and Seminole hogs and cattle were also in the ascendency and carried off many prizes, a full list of which will be given in another issue. But Seminole county was the banner county. Don't forget it.

A Grand Musical-Festive. The musical people of Sanford, will unite in a Grand Musical-Festive, which they expect to put on about the middle of March. Every one knows that when our fine home-talent utilizes something that would do almost any city proud may be expected. All citizens of Sanford take a just pride in the musical ability of our city and not only are greatly pleased when an event by our home folk is in anticipation can be depended upon to accord their heartiest moral support as well as their presence and patronage, and all else that goes to make these enjoyable affairs the biggest kind of a success.

Sunday School Attendance. Sunday school attendance last Sunday was: Baptist 167, Congregational 96, Methodist 182, Lutheran 120.

Mrs. Crigall Returns Thanks. Mrs. Thos. Crigall desires to thank the friends who so kindly ministered to her in her recent bereavement, and also remembered her with such beautiful floral tributes. They were such gracious acts as not to be soon forgotten.

That Income Tax

To ascertain positively whether or not a report is necessary when the income does not amount to $3,000.00 for single or $4,000.00 for married persons, per annum, Tax Collector Jenkins wrote the Collector of Internal Revenue at Jacksonville and received the following reply:

Treasurer Department, Internal Revenue Service, Office of Collector, District of Florida, Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 17, 1914.

Hon. John D. Jenkins, Tax Collector, Seminole county, Sanford, Fla. Dear Sir:—Replying to your inquiry of the 15th inst., you are advised that under the provisions of the Federal Income tax law all persons, whether married or single, whose net income for the period March 1st, (the date that law became effective) to Dec. 31, 1913, amounted to $3,000.00 or more are required to make report to the government.

The collection of tax is a matter of no state or political subdivision thereof is exempt, and need not be considered in making return of income.

Respectfully, H. H. LEWIS, Collector.

Congregational Church. Hon. Claude Weaver of Oklahoma says: "I go to church because I believe the philosophy of Jesus, which has redeemed the world from sinners and blessed mankind with Christian civilization, and in my opinion, it is a thing worth while to die for."
