MONK EXPRESSES APPRECIATION OF AID BY GROWERS

Also Raps Those Who Have Hindered The Work Against Pest

Expressing his appreciation of the cooperation which has been given him by local wheat growers in attempting to hinder the work of eradication, Mr. J. W. Monk, in charge of the local office handling the eradication of the Mediterranean fruit fly, today issued a report on the progress which has been made in the control of the pest.

Mr. Monk stated that Seminole County would be the first county in the State to complete the work of eradication and he attributed much of the progress to the aid which has been given the many inspectors by local citizens who are giving the seriousness of the situation. He added that it seems more like a game of who will run faster than who will do the most to help to eradicate the fly than a contest that they must obey the regulations.

According to Mr. Monk, the spraying crews which have been working in Seminole since Saturday morning have completed the rounds of the City and reduced the infestation of the pest to a minimum.

Further, they have been able to reduce the infestation to the task of making the Kellogg peace treaty, which binds the nations of the world together in agreement to outlaw war, a living document and not what the pressmen have been pleased to call "a trick of statesmen on the part of humanity."

The President made these promises in the analytical manner peculiar to him. He told full cognizance of the fact that "today, as never before, in new life-destroying instruments of war and new systems of warfare are being added to those that even so recently spread death and desolation over the whole continent of Europe." He admitted that despite the passing of the World War every government continues to increase and perfect its armaments.

The great hope for the future, President Hoover said, in the anti-war part.

"But," he concluded, "if this agreement is to fulfill its high purpose, we and other nations must accept its consequences; we must clothe faith and idealism with action. That action must meet with the inexplicable tread of wisdom sense and realism to accomplishment."

Ever since the signing of the Kellogg treaty, he pointed out, very important countries have

Police Of Chicago Guard Highways To Halt Three Bandits

Chicago, May 30.—(INS)—The belief that three armed men who staged a wild hold-up in South Bend would attempt to make their way into Chicago, police started the "Highway" warning last night, the south part of the city looking impudent to apprehend them.

Dick M. Johnson, president of the South Bend Bank, was the victim of the hold-up in which the robbers obtained more than $10,000 in cash. Mr. Johnson was taking the money from the Citizen's National Bank to his own when the two drove up in a car and forced him to pull to the side of the curb, three blocks from the business section of the city.

One of the men entered Johnson's car and forced the driver to follow the roadster two miles out of the city. Both wore masks. Turning off on a side road, Mrs. Paul Urban, who was dressing her children to send them to school, had made the room so bright that no gas fumes had escaped to give other residents of the home the alarm.

Mrs. Urban said that her father had been in mind health for more than 5 years, and that his business affairs had not proven prosperous for several years.

International Crook Dies From Operation

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—(INS)—"Chicago Boy," Churchill, 52, died yesterday in the Philadelphia General Hospital following an abdominal operation. "Chicago Boy's" real name was Mrs. Beatrice Desmarae Sharpe. She came to this country from England when she was 16, stealing the money for her passage.

On Monday just prior to undergoing the operation, "Chicago Boy" wished to be married to Robert Covington, alias Charles Nash, another reformed crook known to police throughout the world. The ceremony, however, was halted by hospital authorities who refused the woman to enter the operating room, she had been married twice.

Women 'Wet' Leaders President Of Bank Is Criticized In Capital Kidnapped And Robbed

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(INS)—The prominent women who have organized a national women's committee to work for modification of prohibition came in for some round criticism today by prohibitionists in the Capital. Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, wife of the New York banker, and former member of the Republican national committee is the chief spirit behind the new organization. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, prohibition and public morals characterized the fed-up as "wino drinking so-called women."

Plant Board Places Embargo On Georgia

GAINESVILLE, Fla., May 29—(INS)—The State Plant Board has established an embargo upon the shipment of peaches from Georgia into Florida.

The quarantine order also prohibits the shipment of plums, apricots, peartrees and all other stone fruits in a fresh or unprocessed condition. The ban was established to prevent the spread of the oriental peach moth, the pomace scale and San Jose scale.

SOUTHBEND, Ind., May 29—(INS)—Three bandits kidnapped a bank president and a taxi driver here today, took them to a deserted house two miles east of here, bound them and robbed the bank of $18,000.

The victims were Richard M. Johnson, 40, president of the South Side State Bank, and Captain Tom, a taxi driver in whose machine Johnson was transferring no money to his bank from the Citizens National Bank.

SCOUTS TO USE U. S. COTS

WASHINGTON, May 29—(INS)—Boy Scouts of America, 1,600 of them, will use tents, cots and blankets loaned by the War Department, when they go to England July and August to attend the world jamboree at Blackheath. President Hoover signed the bill which will authorize Secretary of War Good to loan the scouts 1,600 tents, 1,600 cots and 5,000 blankets.

Walter Johnson Fails To Win Acclaim By Failures On Washington Ball Team

By Davis J. Walsh
(I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 30.—It was only five years ago, come October, that the city of Washington, D. C., forgot its staid, old traditions and rising high on its civic steps, fairly gibbered its way up and down Pennsylvania Avenue in honor of Walter Johnson and the Washington ball club, colossus that day in the defeat of the Giants in the final and deciding game of the World Series. Johnson could have named his price that wild night and Washington's demoted populace would have paid it if it had to use the same now. A different Washington team is going nowhere, with amazing success, and a different manager is leading it there. He is different mostly as a manager. Otherwise, he is the old, familiar Johnson, quiet, somewhat diffident and altogether lovable. He, however, no longer is the star pitcher who kept the outfit winning. Now he is the leader who apparently can't stop it from losing.

Walter Johnson today is under fire in some quarters in Washington. There hasn't been anything like an insistent clamor for his official head, for even a baseball mugg will hesitate to invade the temple and tear down the idol he had fashioned through 20 years of almost intimate association. Still, there isn't the slightest doubt that a lot of the boys down there are beginning to suspect Johnson of being a dogged, swell ex-pitcher and the inference is inescapable that, if this club doesn't start winning soon, it won't be too long before it will be doing its losing under someone else. Johnson, in brief, is beginning to discover that the same one knew in the past doesn't settle for 10 cents on the dollar in the present.

Johnson, of course, cannot have received a fair trial in the short weeks he has led the team. Apparently, the players haven't been running wild on him. May be they are but I haven't heard of it. He seemingly has made only two mistakes. First, he got every body in a lather by a lot of training camp victories, thus prompting many to expect too much of an ordinary club; second, he has neglected to win.

The funny thing about this is that, if it wasn't for the Philadelphia Athletics, the club might be in there somewhere today. It has lost 23 games today and nearly half of these have gone to the Athletics, the latter winning 11 in losing only two. There is no particular explanation for this phenomenon, except that Washington is going to have plenty of company in this respect before the pay off in October. However, that fact undoubtedly will do Johnson good in a large way, for nobody bothers inquiring how you lose your games; merely how many.

MITCHELL SAYS U. S. AVIATION IS IN BAD CONDITION

Blames Coolidge For Inadequacy Of U.S. Fighting Aircrafts

NEW YORK, May 30—(INS)— Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, former head of the army air service, in an article appearing yesterday in the current issue of the magazine "Aeronautics," blames former President Calvin Coolidge for what he terms "the deplorable condition of American military aviation."

"The chaining of American aviation to Coolidge is the Navy, Army and Commerce Departments is a calamity and I hope that in the interest, not only of aviation but of the whole future of the United States, the Hoover administration will not continue Coolidge's ruinous policies," General Mitchell declares.

Mitchell characterizes the Morrow board, appointed by President Coolidge in 1925 to oversee the development of military aviation, as a collection of men who determined "that the next war would begin in the air and end in the mud," and then proceeded to "put aviation into the mud."

Referring to the present aviation situation, General Mitchell says:

In spite of the tremendous interest being manifested by the American people in aviation, and in spite of the propaganda which the administration is issuing all over the country, the United States is floundering worse than ever in the stout of aeronautical dependency.

He points out that aircraft costing a few thousand dollars can sink a battleship that costs almost $10,000,000, and that an airplane can fly from Europe to America in 16 hours from a height of 5,000 feet attack a city like New York.

In addition to this he stresses the fact that there are at present less than 40 fighting planes in the American service. These he says, are scattered at Seitzen Field outside Detroit and are inefficient in speed, gun power, in flight and in safety devices to protect their pilots in war.

The bombardment group at Langley Field, Va., he declares, includes more than a dozen medium bombing planes, all of which are small, slow-powered aircraft, inefficient in weight-carrying ability and capable of actions which in no way suited for modern war.

He criticizes the "navy division" of the aircraft which operates from an aircraft carrier.

The actual value of these aircraft operating from vessels in time of war, will be nil, because the ships can be sunk at once with the greatest ease by aircraft acting from land bases," he says.
