

SANFORD WAS DARK AMUSEMENTS ALL CEASE ON LIGHTLESS TUESDAY

SHOWS AND THEATRES AND DANCES WERE CALLED OFF

Sanford observed the orders of the Fuel Administrator Tuesday night and everything was dark at six and stayed dark. The Elks had arranged for a big dance but upon investigating the matter and wiring Director Williams at Jacksonville it was found that no lights could be used and being founded upon patriotic principles with the Stars and Stripes for their emblem the Elks could do no more than back up the administration and consequently the arrangements were knocked out until some other night.

It was tough on those who had expected an evening of enjoyment but hereafter there will be no question about the lights on Tuesday nights for dances private and public, pool rooms, howling alleys and all other amusements. It is said that some of the other places of business did not observe the orders, feeling that the administration would never know the difference but the person who willfully disobeys this order again in the face of all the publicity that it has obtained will feel the strong arm of the government and his place will be closed and stay closed until the war is over. There is no foolishness about the execution of this order, no matter how foolish it may seem to conserve coal by saving wood. It does not remain for the people to make orders but to obey them, especially in war times and Tuesday nights are lightless nights as far as amusements are concerned. All the moving picture shows and theatres in Sanford, closed tight and expect to close every Tuesday night as long as the present orders are in effect and Sanford as well as all the state will be dark on Tuesday nights.

It is a question now with the judges that meet on Tuesday nights as to whether they can light up and this matter will have to be taken to headquarters for settlement.

A Frosty Winter
Gainesville reported 26, which was the lowest temperature in the state this morning. Bartow readings were 28, Ft. Myers 38, Ft. Pierce 38, Eustis 30, Titusville 28 and Tampa 47. Although fair, warm weather is forecasted for this week, January up to date has been a continuation of below normal conditions from November and December. Records show November was 4 degrees below normal, while December was 4.4 and up to date January has been 7.3 below normal. With continuation of cold weather, in all probability this will be the coldest and most unusual winter for the past 30 years, according to Meteorologist W. J. Bennett of the local weather bureau.

Observations of one of the heaviest frosts of the season for Tampa were reported this morning, and it is expected that killing frosts appeared in sections of central Florida. Temperatures have risen over the eastern half of the country except the north Atlantic states and Florida. This cold wave was a result of the high pressure area which moved east and over the Gulf states, but has entirely disappeared this morning.

A STRANGE DOCUMENT

A Cry for Peace Being Circulated in Germany

The following is a translation of a document lately brought out of Germany by a woman who says that it has been widely circulated among the German people:

When will peace come? It will come when Germany is ready for it, and the time is approaching. It will come when Germany has learned the lesson of the war, when it has found, as every other nation has had to learn, that the voice of Europe cannot be defied with impunity. The hour of peace will first strike when Germany will no longer heed makers of war, when militarism and Chauvinism, which kindled the war, are ashamed and despised, when the people say to Emperor William:

"You have followed, you have we obeyed, to you we have sacrificed the dearest of life, the lives of our sons and our husbands and our fathers, the ideals and beliefs of our ancestors and our own better natures. All have we sacrificed to you. Riches and power and the kingdom of this world have you displayed before us, and we accepted your enticements and promises, and what have we in return? For them we have sacrificed our all, and there is nothing in return but hunger and cold and nakedness and disease and death; ruin and destitution have been our harvest. Never in the history of the world has there been offer so great and so willingly granted. Before our heroic deeds the armies of Napoleon shrink away! Die Waffentestungen von Napoleon schrumpfen vor unseren Heldenthaten zusammen; and what have we won by it? Two years ago the world lay at our feet; strangers from every land came to our cities, and in every land were the industries of our merchants the most successful, our products most in demand. Everywhere was the German spirit welcome. And now over the whole world we are despised and hated. On our forehead rests the curse of Cain. Men shun us in the streets and our language is forbidden. You we thank that the achievement of a century of national effort have been lost.

"We will no longer follow you. We demand a representative government. We condemn as insane a system of government which lays all powers in the hands of one single man who may be, like you, driven by ambition and vanity. We wish to take our place among the free nations of the world, and together with them tread the path of civilization and progress. You and your unworthy son send brave men to death in flames in the air, or to be smothered under the waves, while you yourselves avoid even the slightest danger. You strut in full armor! Du trittst in volliger Rüstung: lord, yes, truly war and death for us, but comfort and safety for you! Peace will come when the German people awake from their dreams."

New Food Card

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—With a renewed appeal to American housewives for food conservation, the food administration will issue probably this week a new food card asking for the one meatless day, two porkless days and two wheatless days each week.

Food administration officials said today there would be nothing compulsory for households, although it sought by a bill now pending to make the days of denial mandatory for hotels, restaurants and other public eating places.

ALL BALTIC PROVINCES TO GERMANS

DEMAND MADE UPON RUSSIA WITH MAIL- ED FIST

Russia must give up Courland and all the Baltic provinces or the Germans will resume military operations and occupy Riga within a week, the German delegation at the Brest-Litovsk negotiations informed the Russian representatives at the last session of the conference. An adjournment was taken until Jan. 29th to permit the Russians to consider the German terms.

Reports of the session indicate that the Germans took a definite stand and most frankly outlined demands upon which they are insistent. The secretary of the Ukrainian delegation gave out an account of the meeting. It says the Russians put a question to the delegates of the central powers as to what were their final peace terms.

General Hoffman, one of the German delegates replied by opening a map and pointing out the following line, which they insisted should constitute the future frontier of Russia: From the shores of the Gulf of Finland to the east of the Moon sound islands to Valk, to the west of Minsk, to Brest-Litovsk.

This completely eliminates Courland and all of the Baltic provinces.

The Russians asked the terms of the central powers in regard to the territory south of Brest Litovsk. General Hoffman replied that was a question which they would discuss only with Ukraine. M. Kameneff, member of the Russian delegation asked, "Supposing we do not agree to such conditions. What are you going to do?"

General Hoffman's answer is reported to have been: "Within a week then we would occupy Riga."

The Russians then asked for a recess which was granted reluctantly. The Germans declared it was the last postponement to which they would consent. The request was made by Leon Trotsky, head of the Russian delegation, who said he desired an opportunity to lay the German peace terms before the council of workmen and soldiers' delegates.

The negotiations between the Ukrainians and the central powers are proceeding amicably. The Austrians offered to cede Chalmetchina to the Ukrainian republic but only on condition that the Ukrainians send grain and other food stuffs to the central powers immediately on the conclusion of peace.

INCOME TAX SHOULD BE MADE NOW

REPRESENTATIVE HERE ONE WEEK TO MAKE RETURNS

The government's income tax representative will be here today and will remain until the 31st. He is here to tell you about your income tax and whether you know it or not the safest way is to see him and fill out the blank and do as the government tells you to do. The following is from J. N. Cathcart, collector:

"In many sections the idea prevails that the income tax is a rich man's tax and does not apply to the small business men and farmers, but this is a mistake. It applies to every single person who had a net income of $1,000.00 or more and every married person who had a net income of $2,000.00 or more during the year 1917. You will see therefore that it affects many of your neighbors. If they are liable for the tax and do not make return and pay same when it is due they will be subject to penalties of 50 per cent of the tax, fines ranging from $20 to $1,000.00 and other penalties. By bringing this matter to the attention of the people in your community, you will be doing them a favor, and you will be helping the Government.

The easiest way to determine whether or not a person is subject to the income tax, is to add up all the money or its equivalent, such as notes, etc., which he received from every source during the year from January 1st to December 31st, 1917. Then subtract from this amount the total of his expenses and other authorized deductions. "Expenses" do not include personal living or family expenses; neither do they include the cost of new machinery, new buildings, new silo, new fences or drainage. "Expenses" do not include expenditures for anything in the nature of permanent improvements or betterments, or anything which adds to the value of the farm. They do include, however, what is actually paid for labor except to one's own male children under 21 and female children under 18; for feed, seed, gasoline used for power on the farm, veterinary, taxes, paid anywhere except for special assessments; threshing, twine, grease, oil, salt for stock, hog regulator, and such expenses. After adding together the cost of these things and subtracting same from the total income, the amount left is "net" income. If, as said before, this is $1,000.00 or more in the case of an unmarried person, a return of income must be made between January 1st and March 1st, 1918, to escape penalty.

The purpose of this letter is to appeal to you as a patriotic service to your government, to tell the people in your township when the Government's income tax man will be in your county. He will be there on the dates and at the places stated below. Tell them to call on him while he is there, having their figures made up before they start. He will answer their questions and help them fill out their blanks for making their returns, and he will not charge anything for his services. If they do not see him on the dates mentioned, they will not have another chance and will have to take the matter up by mail with the collector's office at Jacksonville."

Wire Tappers Get Money

Miami, Fla., Jan. 22.—Another victim of the fatal "wire tapping" scheme is Sidney Johnson, said to be from Pennsylvania. Several days ago, while Johnson was seated in the Royal Palm Park, enjoying the Florida sunshine, a stranger came along and soon made his acquaintance, discussing the problems of life. Finally, the stranger introduced the subject of horse racing and finally informed his new found friend that he was in the possession of information that was sure to win a lot of money. Johnson soon became interested and to make a long story short he was induced to go to the Fidelity Bank and Trust Company and with draw $15,000, which he had on deposit. Then he and the

Freight Embargo

Washington, Jan. 23.—An unofficial embargo of all freight except food, fuel and munitions practically was in effect tonight east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, as a result of Director McAdoo's authorized embargo today, on three eastern lines. Although the restrictions applied formally only to the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore & Ohio, east of Pittsburg, and the Philadelphia and Reading, other railroads accepted little freight, particularly destined eastward. The situation probably will continue several days until the congestion is cleared.

surprises, of humor and pathos, of beauty and power, that every chord of the human heart is touched.

Many larger organizations come far short of the entrancing appeal and wholesome delight of the Means-Anderson company.

Edna Michas, entertainer, formerly dean of the College of Oratory of Highland Park University, is more than an ordinary artist. She is a young woman of exceptional intellectual power and wide experience. Her mastery of her art, her charming manner and joyous good nature have won her audience from east and west.

Eva Anderson, violinist, clarinetist, pianist, as a violinist possesses a beautiful tone and reliable technique. She does not try to win her audiences by protechnical feats. For four seasons her splendid musicianship has enabled her to make a lasting impression with her listeners. She puts personality into her playing. She wins first by her personal charm; then with her music she leads her audiences to increased delight. Miss Anderson is unusually versatile and contributes largely to the program with her character songs.

Hilda Brady, dramatic soprano and pianist, with a voice of rare power and refreshing sweetness, has the gift of singing into the hearts as well as the ears of her audience. Though one of the younger singers on the platform, she has stepped into a place of distinction and has the promise of a glorious future.

Just Before the Russian Revolution

By ALAN HINSDALE

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

Before the Russian revolution there was no more luxurious dwelling place for a sovereign than the Winter Palace at what was then called St. Petersburg. What its condition is now I don't know, for I have not seen it since it ceased to be the czar's residence.

Not long before the breaking out of the world's war, I was a tourist in the capital of Russia, and had letters to the American ambassador there and to prominent Russians. Through the embassy I received an invitation to a ball at this same Winter Palace. I will not pause to describe the scene of splendor, but will mention one woman, about twenty-five, who was not only very beautiful, but bore on her countenance the stamp of a marked spirit within. "That woman," I said to a friend, "interests me; I would like to be presented to her."

"I have her acquaintance," he said, and will introduce you with pleasure. This he did, but I did not find much comfort in the brief chat I had with her. She seemed to have matters on her mind that prevented her making herself agreeable to an untitled stranger from America.

There is a story connected with her that I will narrate. It was told me by the man who introduced me to her, Paul Kalusky.

Kalusky came from the same place as she. In their social circle was Stephan Serozha, an intimate friend of Paul, whom Paul described to me as a splendid fellow, endowed with great patriotism. There were two girls between whom he divided his attentions. One was Liza Arkadevna, a modest country girl, the other Sonia Mikhailoff, the girl I met at the Winter Palace. The latter spent much time in the capital and was occasionally seen at imperial functions.

Paul told me that Stephan favored Liza, and that Sonia was trying to win him from her. Stephan admitted that Sonia was secretly in favor of the revolutionists, and was endeavoring to enlist the talented Stephan in the cause of the people. But this was confidential; Sonia was supposed to be loyal to the government.

Beyond the fact that Sonia was Liza's rival, Liza distrusted her. She warned Stephan not only against Sonia's influence, but against giving himself up to association with one of the secret circles of revolutionists which were to be found all over Russia. Liza begged Stephan to consider the horrors of Siberia, and the danger he would run by identifying himself with any move disloyal to the government. "Besides," said Liza, "I am told that no one can tell whom to trust; one's most intimate friend may be his betrayer."

One day it was announced that Stephan and Liza were betrothed. Sonia was present at the betrothal ceremonies. She seemed not in the least to mind having lost Stephan to Liza and wished them both great happiness. In doing so she kissed Liza. Paul who was present told me that when this salute was given, he judged from the way Liza received it that she considered it a Judas kiss. At any rate she seemed turned to ice.

About a week after this Stephan disappeared. It was not feared by his friends that he had been made away with by the government, for he had not—so he had assured Liza—committed any disloyal act; having promised her that he would not do so. Time passed and nothing was heard of the missing man. At last it was reported by one who knew him that he had seen Stephan in shackles on his way to Siberia.

About this time Sonia was placed under arrest by the government, accused of being a member of a revolutionary circle. She had strong friends at court and it was said that they secured her release. At any rate after being held some time her friends expected every day that she would be sent to Siberia she was let out of prison and restored to favor. It was not long after this that I saw her at the Winter Palace. Paul and I were leaving the palace when she passed out to enter her auto to be driven away to her apartments. I went to Paul's home with him and over a glass of wine and a cigar he told me the story. We little thought that we were so near his climax.

The next day Paul called at my hotel and with a look of horror on his face, told me that when Sonia's chauffeur opened the door of her limousine he found her dead with a dagger in her heart.

I too was appalled but not as much as Paul who had known the victim from childhood.

My first thought was that Liza was implicated in the murder. I suggested it to Paul who frowned it down at once.

I did not receive a solution of the mystery till after the deposition of the czar and the release of the Siberian prisoners. Then I heard it from Paul. Sonia was a government spy. For revenge upon Stephan who had turned from her to Liza, she falsely denounced him as a revolutionist. Her arrest was a blind. A circle of revolutionists to which she belonged and whose secrets she was giving the government, learning of her treachery appointed one of its number to dispatch her.

Stephan being freed from Siberia, rejoined his betrothed.

SAVES MONEY FOR THE ARMY

Indiana Mess Sergeant Feeds His Men for Less Than Twenty-five Cents Each a Day.

Now an inexperienced man can feed government troops and save money on the job is being demonstrated at Camp Taylor by Lucas Lincoln of this city, says the Indianapolis News. Lincoln is mess sergeant of the Forty-second company, Eleventh battalion. He was one of the first drafted men to go from here, having volunteered out of his regular order of obligation. He is a son of a furniture manufacturer here, and is married.

In a letter home, Lincoln tells how he is feeding 145 men for less than 25 cents each a day. He says the food is best cooked, and that the men have plenty. A sample menu, inclosed in the letter, shows how Lincoln made a saving of $17.38 on the government's food allowance for the three meals scheduled.

For breakfast the men had hamburger steak, biscuits and syrup, hashed brown potatoes and coffee. The dinner menu was vegetable soup, macaroni and cheese, bread and hot tea, and peach cobbler. For supper the men had boiled ham, mashed potatoes, bread and syrup, tea and stewed prunes.

Name Rater for Him. Theodore Rousseau, secretary to Mayor Mitchell of New York, has had a race horse named for him. William I. Salmon, who recently purchased the French-bred colt by Sardanel from Delbert Reiff, conferred the honor.

MATA-HARI DIED AS SHE HAD LIVED

Dancer Convicted of Spying for Germany, a Stoic to Last Moment.

EYES ARE NOT BANDAGED

Gazes Calmly at Execution Squad Awaiting Order to Fire Fatal Volley—Confesses She Was in the Pay of Germany.

Paris.—In the gray dawn of a Tuesday morning a tall, graceful woman stood erect before the targets on the Vincennes rifle range. Her upbanded eyes gazed calmly at a squad of zouaves from a Moroccan regiment. A signal from their commanding officer and the sharp crack of the zouaves' rifles cut the early morning air. The woman fell backward to the ground, her face upturned to the sky. Mata-Hari, the dancer whose charms had captivated the capitals of Europe, had paid the price of being found out. She died convicted of being a spy in the service of Germany, of having betrayed for money the country that had sheltered her and had applauded her art.

Mata-Hari died as she had lived—mistress of herself and her emotions. When awakened on the fatal morning in her cell at Saint Lazare she knew that the end was at hand. She quickly attired herself in a dark dress trimmed with fur, which she had worn at her trial. Putting on a long coat and a large felt hat, she announced that she was ready. The little procession passed through the dark corridors to the office of the warden. Here Mata-Hari wrote two long letters. She was the least affected by the suspense of any in the party.

Says Last Good-Bye.

Handing the letters to her lawyer she bade the prison officials good-by and, escorted by the prison guards, she entered a military automobile accompanied by the two nuns and Captain Bourchardon. Arriving at the fortress of Vincennes she calmly stepped out of the motor, turning to help one of the nuns to alight. Then the condemned woman was taken to the office of the governor, where the last formalities were quickly gone through, after which Mata-Hari again entered the automobile, which started for the rifle range, this time escorted by a squadron of dragoons.

On the range all preparations for the execution were ready. A detachment of infantrymen in their blue-gray uniforms were drawn up, forming a hollow square—the targets being at the further end. The firing platoon of zouaves was in the center, the men standing at attention. The automobile stopped at the entrance to the square and Mata-Hari stepped out. She gazed unmoved, almost disdainfully, at the setting prepared for her final appearance. In much the same manner as she had regarded the audiences that had applauded the exotic dances with which she had startled Paris. In the background stood a group of officers from the Vincennes garrison, many of whom had been witnesses of the condemned woman's stage triumphs. With her lawyer on one side and one of the nuns on the other she passed unshaken in front of the silent, waiting troops.

Embraces Nun.

Arriving in front of the targets, Mata-Hari bade these two good-by, embracing the nun as she stretched out her hands to a waiting gendarme who held the cord with which they were to be bound. The commander of the platoon raised his sword and the volley rang out, the corpse was taken to a military cemetery and buried in a section set apart for the interring of executed criminals.

Mata-Hari, whose name was Marguerite Gertrude Zelle, gave Paris a new sensation—to talk about—when some fifteen years ago she made her first appearance at the house of a well-known opera singer, where in a mystic dance she divested herself of a number of veils which were the only garments she wore. She was a remarkably handsome woman, tall and dark, with a skin that was almost bronze in color. This gave rise to the statement that she was a Javanese, but she was of Dutch parentage and had married in her youth a Dutch army officer, from whom she was divorced.

At her trial her guilt was so conclusively proved that she finally confessed she had been in the pay of the German secret police for a number of years. She had utilized her wide acquaintance in France to collect information of military value which she transmitted through secret channels to Berlin, receiving in return large sums of money.

Profit on Sheep.

Eau Claire, Wis.—A clear profit of $20 a head from a flock of 275 ewes, with the wool clip averaging eight pounds, and an increase in numbers of 103 per cent is the cheerful outlook reported by a Bayfield county sheep raiser. This flock master expects to market 85 ram lambs averaging from 90 to 95 pounds each this fall. Each of the 275 ewes, carried on the farm will produce an average of more than $30 a head this year, represented by her wool clip and the sale of her lambs for mutton.

That Bill for Flowers

By F. A. MITCHEL

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Grace," said Mr. Larramore, "I'm getting old and it is high time to provide for such condition as you and Dick—"

Mr. Larramore was stilled. "What I wish to say," he continued, "is that I have the same feeling for you as if you were my own daughter."

"Yes, uncle," "I have enough to leave you comfortable when I come to the jumping off place and I have enough to leave Dick comfortable, but if I divide the property between you both, there is not enough to make either comfortable."

"Then, uncle, it is your duty to leave your property to your own son."

"Why can't I leave it to you and him as one person?" "It is impossible."

"Dick would rather I would leave it to you jointly. He—"

"Now, uncle, I know what you mean. I've heard it all from Dick. Dick and I have always been brother and sister and such we'll always be."

This ended the father's attempt to help his son to secure the wife that son wanted. Dick Larramore was engaged in business in another city and seldom visited his home, so his foster sister was not troubled with his attentions. Six months after this attempt of his father to make a match between the two Grace said to her uncle:

"What's the matter with Dick? He has never let so long time go by before without coming home for a visit."

"I think some girl is keeping him." "Grace looked grave."

"I shouldn't be surprised," continued Mr. Larramore, "to hear any day that he is engaged."

"Why do you think so?" "Well, you know Dick's salary is not very large and he occasionally falls back upon me. The other day he sent me a bill for flowers."

"Oh! I see." The subject was not pressed further. A few days later Dick received a letter from his cousin-foster sister chiding him for remaining away from home so long without a visit. His father was very much hurt at his son's neglect of him.

This letter brought Dick home for the next week-end. He had an interview with his father at which the latter denied that he considered his son neglectful of him and commended him for standing by his business. The old man went to bed early and Dick spent the rest of the evening with Grace.

"Who is this person you're sending flowers to?" asked Grace in a cold tone.

"I wouldn't send flowers to a person, I would only send them to an attractive girl."

There was a brief silence between them which was broken by Grace.

"Do you think you have a right to marry when your father is getting old and needs your attention?"

"He isn't getting my attention. You are taking care of him and doing it far better than I could. I supposed you were to remain single as long as he lives."

"How very self-sacrificing you are," sarcastically.

"It's self-sacrificing of you. I've heard you say often that you were going to be an old maid for dad's sake."

"I suppose after dear uncle's death you will bring this woman you're going to marry into the house and I shall have to vacate?"

"I'm not going to marry" this woman. "If I marry I shall marry a lovely girl."

"Supposing—" Grace said with great seriousness, "supposing that I should die before your father, do you suppose he would be able to put up with a strange person who you would bring into the house to take my place?"

"But you're not going to die, and I'm not going to bring a 'strange person' into this house."

"I don't know; I've had queer feelings about my heart lately."

"You don't mean it; who is the cad who's making the trouble with your heart?"

"You know very well that I don't mean it in that sense at all. If I did you would not be the person to refer to my lover as a cad."

"Why not?" "You know very well that I would not do what you are going to do. If I marry, uncle will be perfectly satisfied to have me marry and approve of the gentleman who is to be my husband."

"Oh! he is to be a gentleman, is he?" "He has one fault."

"What's that?" "He is very unfeeling; he doesn't seem to realize what a noble, good father he has."

Dick opened his eyes very wide and looked up at the ceiling; Grace's eyes were glued to the floor. Presently Dick said:

"Which, being interpreted, means that you are willing to sacrifice yourself to dad's desires."

"I will marry no man who does not love me."

"And I will marry no girl who does not love me."

The dialogue here came to an abrupt end, for Dick caught her in his arms and sealed her lips with kisses.

Help to Win the War; Make Idle Acres Pay Plant Castor Beans!

The airplane fleet of the United States, depended on so largely to win the war, will be efficient only if it has plenty of castor oil for lubrication. The castor beans to make the oil must be grown on land which cannot be utilized for the production of food-stuffs.

That's why the United States Government is making contracts for planting a vast acreage of castor beans in Florida, through responsible concerns which undertake to look after the details and conduct negotiations with the farmers, fruit growers and truckers of the state.

One of the largest of these contracts—and the first made—is with D. C. Gillett of Buckeye Nurseries. Under its terms, sub-contracts for the planting of castor beans in any quantity, from one acre up, now are being entered into by Buckeye Nurseries on terms that are very liberal to growers.

Seed and Fertilizer to Be Supplied; Paid For When Beans Are Sold; Free Advice From Expert Growers!

Buckeye Nurseries will contract with you for the raising of castor beans in any quantity under the following terms.

Guaranteeing to buy all that you produce, at $3.00 per bushel, (more than three times as much as bean growers in other states have been paid in the past).

Furnishing you the seed at the actual cost to the United States Government, which has bought them, abroad, plus cost of transportation to your nearest shipping point. (It is estimated the price will be between $4.50 and $5.00 per bushel. Payment for seed need not be made until crop has been harvested and sold).

Supplying you any fertilizer needed, deducting the cost of same from your bean returns—shipping it at the same time as seed. (While it is generally conceded that profitable crops of castor beans may be raised on any fairly good land without fertilizer, greatly increased yields on light soils are practically certain to follow the application of a moderate amount).

Giving you free of charge the advice and help of practical farmers who have successfully grown castor beans in other states. Two gentlemen who formerly were engaged in castor bean culture in Kansas have been employed for this service. Both have lived in Florida for several years, are thoroughly informed as to conditions here and they agree in believing castor beans to be an entirely practical and very profitable crop under the terms of the contract we are making.

Write today for blank contracts and particulars. Don't delay—castor beans must be planted early in March. Full details free.

ONE SOLID WEEK
The Earl Hawk Big Stock Co., one of the Biggest House Theatrical Ventures

In the south today will appear nightly starting next Monday at the Lyric Theatre offering the best dramatic plays procurable with real live vaudeville humzrs between the acts. This big company has just completed an engagement of 30 weeks in the Camp Cities and carries the endorsement of the officials in charge of the camp amusements.

Below is one of the many letters of endorsement carried by the representative of this big theatrical enterprise:

LEE CAMP WAR COUNCIL
Chamber of Commerce Rooms,
PETERSBURG, VA.,
Oct. 11, 1917.

Mr. Earl Hawk, Mgr.,
Earl Hawk Big Stock Co.,
Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.

Dear Sir:
I have learned that you contemplate going south in the near future. I would like you to consider a letter of voucher for your consistently clean attitude in the conducting of your theatrical business.

One of the points that has been raised by the war department commission of training camp activities is the necessity of presenting in the cities near the camps and cantonments, such amusement enterprises as will tend toward the maintenance of a moral standard among the men. It has been very satisfying to know that you have accepted this as a necessity and that you have shown a desire to cooperate in every way.

I would be pleased if this letter would be accepted everywhere as my personal voucher for you in your personal and business capacity as one, who keeps good his word. I wish you luck wherever you go.

Sincerely yours,
John E. Lathrop,
Representing the War Dept. Commission on Training Camp Activities in Community Work.

In addition to the performances, that are offered inside the theatre a real sensational thriller is carried and presented free outside, and the wonderful outside free act is one that is a real sensation. Cabbage and Strong Drink.
Cabbage is believed to be a cure for drunkenness. The Egyptians ate boiled cabbage before their other food if they intended to dispose of a large quantity of wine at dinner. In many of the wine-growing districts of France the vineyard keepers will not plant cabbages near the grapes, believing that if they did so the grapes for winemaking would thereby be much deteriorated.

Must Be Well Fed.
The phrase "The shortest road to a man's heart is through his stomach" is by no means a modern saying. It has been true throughout the history of mankind, and although intended to be a joke, it is in reality no reflection on masculinity. A man with a poorly fed stomach can rarely be found to have a disposition inclined even to kind thoughts, much less to love.

Then One Might Complain.
You better stop yo' growlin' w'en you ain't got nuthin' tall ter growl 'bout. 'Des s'pose dat' you wuz rich, an' had ter pay de income tax; or dat you couldn't sleep w'en night come fer thinkin' dat a yearquake mought swallow de bank, wid all yo' money in it—Br'er Williams in Atlanta Constitution.

When a woman uses Cottolene in her cake in place of butter, she adds economy, without leaving out richness and wholesomeness.
Use your own recipes for cakes, pastry, biscuits, muffins. But remember: Use one-third less of Cottolene than of butter because Cottolene is richer; it contains no water or salt.

2 cups sugar 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
4 eggs 2 squares chocolate melted
1 cup milk 1/2 cup English walnuts broken in pieces
2 1/2 cups flour
3 level teaspoons baking powder
Cream Cottolene, add gradually one cup sugar, stirring constantly. Beat egg yolks thick and light, add gradually remaining cup sugar. Combine mixtures. Add melted chocolate. GOOD WORK OF RED CROSS

Should Not Be Discouraged By Pro-German Slanders

So many stories are rife throughout the country about the work of the Red Cross and the other organizations which are working for the comfort and good of our boys at the battlefronts and in the camps that it is impossible to ferret them all out and learn if any truth is at the bottom of them. Any one who knows these stories should consider it their duty to their country to learn the source of them and to report it to the heads of the Red Cross. If any frauds are committed the National Red Cross Society will deal with the parties without delay.

One of the tales current in this vicinity is that some woman—name not given—recognized a sweater worn by her iceman as one she made for her son and gave the Red Cross to forward to him. She questioned the man, who said he bought it from the Red Cross and found sewed in a pocket she had made in it, the five dollar bill she intended for her son. Now who would think of sending money in such a way? Why did she not send the money and garment direct to her son? The Red Cross has no right to send garments except to headquarters, and wool is only sold to persons who pay for it for army use alone. Every garment sent in—is examined carefully, no pockets would be overlooked. The first sweaters turned into the Sanford Chapter for the army were made by members in the Swedish settlement of Upsala and were forwarded to the Seminole county boys by Mrs. Hill from wool donated and who examined every piece sent in. From Washington all garments are forwarded to the army at the front or to the boys in our camps as it seems to them the need is greatest. All previous knitted garments were made for the navy and sent to the Navy League from the Sanford Chapter.

We each of us have a duty to perform for our country—whether it be our own country by birthright or by adoption.

We may glory in descending from the poor half starved men who suffered cold with—Washington at Valley Forge or the other camps during those bitter cold winters of the Revolutionary days. We know those brave, courageous women who through days of privation and hard labor knit and worked for the comfort of those men. If we are of foreign birth or extraction we or our ancestors came to this land to make a home and be assured of education and future comfort. How many of these families return to their "own" land and are contented to live there the remainder of their lives? Now, if this land becomes our home, why should we not work for it in this time of need? If occasionally some one connected with this great work goes wrong or mismanages it, we should remember we are sharing in giving comfort to some of the boys of the one and one-half millions who are either on the other side or in training here and need the comforts we can provide. The boys will fight to keep our land a country of refuge for the descendants of the Puritan emigrant of old or for the emigrant of all the foreign lands of today. Are we each one doing our part? Communicated.

Now that the days are getting longer it would be a good idea to set the clocks ahead one hour, get up and go to work an hour earlier and quit one hour earlier, thus conserving light and fuel and assisting the government and our business.

Corn and cotton and potatoes are the crops for the people of this county to investigate. Corn and cotton will save the day and make this county the greatest in the state.

In another part of this issue is an article again calling your attention to the income tax that will reach about two thirds of the people of this county.

REMEMBER THESE DAYS
Heatless Mondays, Meatless Tuesdays, Wheatless Wednesdays, Lightless Thursdays, Porkless Saturdays, Tuesdays are also playdays, in a sense, as the circus and all places of amusement are prohibited from using artificial heat or light on this day.

MEN FOR OUR CARGO SHIPS
In helping our country shoulder its war load it is well for each of us to keep steadily in mind the importance of ships and seamen in what we have to do.

Advertisement for ledger transfers, featuring an image of a ledger and text: 'THEY ARE LEDGER TRANSFERS, HERALD PRINTING CO. Phone 148 Sanford, Florida' we may continue to send our allies the war materials that we have and they have not; we may continue to carry on the trade that keeps our factories going and our homes from want.

The world cries "ships, ships and more ships." This does not mean war ships, for there is a good supply of them, built or building—far more than Germany can ever hope to put afloat, and enough to smash her present fleets should they dare to come out of their harbors.

The ships we need are plain cargo ships—the kind that bring us the sugar for our tables, wool to cover our backs, leather with which we are shod, to say nothing of the raw materials without which our munitions factories could not work.

Therefore we should honor the young man who is inclined to serve in the Merchant Marine. He is doing his part in the war where his service will count for as much as if he were going to the firing line.

GROWLING ABOUT TAXES
It is one of the basic American privileges to growl about your taxes. This has been so since time immemorial. The growlers are not confined to the poor.

They enjoy giving the idea that they too economize and are subject to inconveniences and exactions like other people.

The creation of the income tax led to a great outburst of crabbing. It was of course aggravated by the very complicated problems of the new tax law. For a year or two the system of tax returns was so tangled that it was a lawyer's job to make out the blanks.

This year the old income tax payers looked on with a sardonic grin, while several millions of new ones are taken in by a lowering of the exemption, and a great outburst of grouchiness is looked for.

It is quite likely though that there will not be as much fault finding among the people of smaller incomes who are now hit, as there was formerly among the sons of wealth.

OLEOMARGARINE
Years ago when butter was made from cow's milk, and was sold in every grocery for about 25 cents per pound, and thought high at that, when the packers were just beginning to grow big and were looking for a way to dispose of their surplus fats, and experimenting on a substitute for cow butter, the dairymen and butter makers were seized with a great panic.

COUNTY PAYS FREIGHT
The following dispatch from Tallahassee is interesting:

A case in which the people of every county in Florida will be interested in the outcome was filed with the supreme court yesterday. Last year Gov. Catts was appealed to to send the militia to Manatee county to protect the negro, Will Miles, who had committed a heinous crime.

There was considerable dispute as to whether the county or state was liable for the expense. The case went before Judge Robles of Tampa, circuit judge, who decided that Manatee should pay the cost of protecting the prisoner.

Mobs will no doubt be less frequent if they realize that a debt of $5,000 may be saddled upon the county to protect prisoners from mobs of angry citizens, and for that reason the decision of the higher court will have a far reaching effect should it decide the circuit judge was right in ruling that the expense belongs to the county where protection was necessary.

All of which brings Seminole county back to the proposition of the Guards recently armed and equipped. The county paid for this equipment and the men who volunteered for this duty give their time to it, pay for the armory, pay for their shoes and volunteer to keep down trouble even at the risk of being killed. Now the tax payers can congratulate themselves over the thought that the county has their own guards and in case of trouble like that of Manatee, the state will not pay anyhow and thereby hangs the tale of the Seminole county commissioners exhibiting good judgment when they armed and equipped their own guards.

Some day the people will wake up to the wonderful work that the county guards are capable of doing and will give them due credit for the same.

REAPPORTIONMENT
That old question of reapportioning the state will not be downed and will never be settled until it is settled right. The legislator who is elected swears to support and uphold the constitution and yet he forswears his duty every time he goes to Tallahassee and neglects to pass the reapportionment law.

According to a Floridian who keeps himself well informed on political matters a majority of the legislators are in favor of just legislative reapportionment, for which progressive south Floridians have been fighting, without success, for many years.

The Times believes a majority of the legislators do favor the giving of justice to the large counties, most of which are in southern Florida. It knows that the fair minded people of north and west Florida hold the same opinion, as the spirit of justice prevents them from holding any other.

THE CELERY MARKET QUIET
New York white celery tended lower at $3-3.75 per crate, best stock in the rough. Michigan best washed stock sold higher in Chicago at $1.35 to $1.60 per square crate.

Removing Marks.
To remove marks on the table caused by hot dishes spread a thin paste made of salad oil and salt on the spots, leave for an hour, or so, and rub off with a soft cloth.

Administrator's Notice—Petition to Sell

Moreover, investigation has shown it to be pure and wholesome, far better than poor butter, and hardly distinguishable from the real article. Why retain this useless and burdensome tax? Remove it and reduce to some extent the cost of living.—Tampa Times.

HONOR THE COUNTY GUARD
With the progress of the war, each day more fully manifests the necessity for every county in the country having a strong Home Guard.

The DeSoto county Home Guards are making great sacrifices in order that a thoroughly efficient organization may be trained and equipped for the day of need.

We are personally acquainted with all the members of the Arcadia Home Guards and they are among the best citizens of the country. We know many of the members of the DeSoto County Guard who are members of the Wauchula company, the Punta Gorda company and other companies of the county.

The question next arises, have we done all in our power to encourage these men who leave their families and drill under the very strictest discipline in order that we may not be found unprepared in case of dire need.

We should not for one moment count any expense made necessary for the equipment and arming of these men as money wasted. The men should be provided with everything necessary for the highest service, and we congratulate the members of the board of county commissioners for what they have done toward making this organization efficient, and if there is anything yet left undone that would add to this efficiency, and it is at all consistent with good business judgment, we hope the commissioners will see that this is remedied.

trator's hands, for the payment of debts against the said estate, and authorizing the said administrator to take possession of said property so described and sell the same to the best advantage for the payment of said debts, and the petition appearing in form,
Now, therefore you, Ruth Brown, and James K. Walker as guardian of Ruth Brown, and all other persons interested in said estate are commanded to be and appear before the County Judge of Seminole county, Florida, and show cause if any you have why said petition should not be granted and the said administrator directed to make sale of said property on or before 12th day of March, 1918.

Given under my hand and seal of office this the 22nd day of January, 1918.
E. F. HOUSHOLDER,
County Judge.

After accomplishing this much they went on to south Florida. They were at Palm Beach, West Palm Palm Beach and Miami but as they like northern and central Florida best they returned to Sanford on Wednesday and took the boat trip back to Jacksonville, leaving Sanford yesterday afternoon. IN SOCIETY'S DOMAIN HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST IN AND AROUND SANFORD

Red Cross Game Supper Who ever heard of folks standing in line waiting for a seat at a pay supper? Some one said they thought the Red Cross had a moving picture of Fatty Arbuckle or a prize fight by Jess Willard from the crowd in front.

It was an inspiration born in the mind of our big hearted Nick Boyleston, to help raise some badly needed funds. He said, "I will furnish the game and you women do the rest." And the women did. Over two hundred plates served and then many gave it up and went away hungry. Lots didn't get any game, but they didn't care. Hominy and pie was good enough for them, just so the money came in. And the money came in. One hundred thirty dollars and five cents was deposited to the credit of the Red Cross. The supper was a great deal of work for a few, but oh, how they enjoyed it. Thinking always thinking, this will bring money to buy wool to keep either my boy or some other mother's boy warm.

The committee who cooked and served the supper wishes to thank all who so kindly and more than willingly helped, and the generous patronage of the kind friends from Fruitland Park is strong, and our friend vote to Mr. W. N. Boyleston, who furnished the game free, and to our genial "Mike Entz," for cooking the ducks so beautifully.

We may have another supper soon, for many have wanted it duplicated, and if we do you may rest assured the game may be introduced and all can come and be served. Leesbury Comm. real.

STARTLING PREFERENCE

Forrest had just started to school and was shy towards his teacher, so she selected a lesson about a dog and endeavored to get some expression from him. She talked about the dog in the picture, told him she liked a big black curly dog best and then asked him what kind he liked best. She was considerably surprised when he said "One of those nice black Suits of Clothes at the Three-in-One Store for Daddy."
