By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer

With plans to fight the student-drug pusher connection with a battle ery of "teach them to say no." a Sanford area anti-drug abuse group met Tuesday to map strategies against "epidemic" drug abuse.

Members of Sanford C.A.N. (Chemical Awareness Network) met at 8 p.m. in the Sanford Civic Center to hear short lectures and see a film about the prevalence of drug abuse in children. adults, and possible causes for the abuse.

After the film, called "Epidemic: Kids, Drugs and Alcohol" the 51 people attending formed five committees membership, finance, program, research, and juvenile and law enforcement - to generate ideas and programs the group can use to deliver its message of drug education to the parent, teacher, and child.

"We're trying to educate our children to say one word - no. If a child can be taught to say no. then there won't be a drug sale," said Philip Goldstick, president of Sanford C.A.N.

He said the first step in educating a child to say no to drugs is to educate the parent about the problem.

Education and the awareness of a drug problem were the themes of the evening.

Tax Increases Rejected

"I think this is a good beginning. I'm encouraged about the interest of the people who are here. We've got them talking." Goldstick said.

The auditorium meeting was the second major event of the Decemberborn organization which held a drug education cruise aboard the Star of Sanford Jan. 17. The cruise was the group's first volicy in its war against local youth drug and alcohol abuse. During that event, 282 invited community and business leaders were introduced to the group's goals and projects.

While Tuesday's turnout was far less than the 200 seats set up, the audience included core members of Sanford C.A.N., local citizens, and at least one out of town sheriff's employee there to evaluate the program and determine if a similar one can be set up in another county.

One member of the audience, a Sanford man and former Sanford student, talked informally about his past drug addiction and the extent of the problem in area youths.

Mike Greanya, of Sanford, said his involvement with drugs began at the age of 12 in the Seminole County schools and increased as he neared age 18. By the time he was 21, the now 24-year-old had accumulated several drug and driving infractions and was facing up to 25 years in prison for his actions. When he saw two of his friends receive prison sentences, he said, it helped to change his life along with a "Christian experience."

According to Greanya, schools in Seminole County are the easiest places for students to buy drugs.

"If it is as bad as when I was in school. it is horrible," he said.

He estimated that two or three students out of every 10 in the Seminole County School System are heavy users of drugs.

He said that as a student he did see at least one teacher in junior high and one teacher in high school abuse drugs and alcohol. Each time was at a private party. He also said that during his juvenile and court hearings and probationary processes, no one once asked him where he got his drugs, which was at school.

Though he has little contact with the drug users of his high school days. Greanya said he is sure some of those people he used to do drugs with now supply Seminole students with drugs. Greanya, who is involved in youth counseling, is active in S.A.S.A., Students Against Substance Abuse. It is a program in Volusia County Schools, starting in a Deltona junior high school in Feb. 1983, which organizes junior and high school students to speak out against drug abuse.

6% In High School Smoke Pot Daily

NEW YORK (UPI) - One out of every 16 high school seniors smokes mari-Juana daily and about three out of five smokers had their first experience with the drug between the sixth and ninth grades, a survey showed Tuesday.

The survey was taken for the National Institute on Drug Abuse by the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research. The results were printed in the latest edition of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.'s statistical bulletin. The 1982 survey involved 17,700 high school seniors from across the United States.

Results showed marijuana was the most widely used illicit drug with 6.3 percent of the seniors using it daily. Fifty-nine percent of the seniors reported some use during their lifetime, 44 percent said they used it in the previous year and 29 percent reported use in the previous month.

Less than 1 percent reported daily use of an illicit drug other than marijuana.

Reagan's Budget: $180 Billion In The Hole

By Elaine 8. Povich

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan today sent Congress a red-ink budget on which he must campaign for re-election, saying the $926 billion spending plan with its $180 billion deficit and record military increases will "keep the recovery on track."

But the spending plan for fiscal 1985. which begins Oct. 1, seeks no major tax increases or spending cuts and raises military spending, after inflation is figured in. 13 percent to a record $313 billion.

The big, continuing debt - the plan projects deficits of $177 billion in 1986 and $180 billion in 1987 - may be a prime campaign issue for critics of Reagan, who vowed in his 1980 presidential campaign to try to balance the budget by 1984.

The budget, which is $71.8 billion higher than last year's, calls for $5 billion in social welfare spending cuts and about $7.8 billion in minor taxes --

$3.9 billion would be provided by requiring employees to pay Social Security and income taxes on employer-paid health insurance premiums and 84 billion would come from closing tax loopholes.

The military spending Reagan proposed would make it the largest defense budget since World War II, surpassing even the peak of the Korean or Vietnam wars, if measured in constant dollars, a Congressional Budget Office analyst said.

The budget projects total federal spending of $925.5 billion and receipts of $745.1 for a deficit of $180.4 billion even if all of Reagan's spending cuts and tax hikes are enacted.

"Bold, vigorous fiscal policy action to break the momentum of entrenched spending programs, together with re- budgets, and his new one is likely to sponsible and restrained monetary policy, is essential to keep the recovery on track." Reagan said in his message to Congress.

"Limited measures to increase receipts also will be necessary to make our tax system fairer and more efficient. But it is important - more than important. crucial - to get the mix of spending restraint and receipts increases right. There must be substantial reductions in spending and strictly limited increases in receipts."

In his State of the Union address last week. Reagan proposed establishing a bipartisan panel to slash deficits by $100 billion in the next fiscal year.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill has so far resisted Reagan's proposal for a bipartisan panel on deficits, warning it was a "game" that would allow Reagan to "pass the buck."

O'Neill To Back Mondale

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Today is Walter Mondale day on Capitol Hill.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, the country's top Democrat, has decided to break his tradition against endorsements and support Mondale. The former vice president also will jump ahead in the delegate race for the Democratic nomination when House Democrats officially name their convention delegates.

The prized O'Neill endorsement, according to Capitol Hill sources, was to come shortly after the House Democratic Caucus officially names the speaker and 163 other House Democrats as the first delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Those delegates officially are uncommitted. but according to a count by United Press international, 73 have endorsed Mondale, far more than his nearest rival. Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, who has 17 endorsements. Only 45 are listed as truly uncommitted.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) - A judge has denied a convicted rapist's request that he becastrated rather than sent to prison.

Instead, Leon Alexander of Independence, Mo., Tuesday was sentenced to 40 to 45 years in prison for raping and sodomizing two sisters, ages 11 and 13.

In an emotional plea. Alexander said he was innocent but willing to be castrated to keep from going to prison.

Search On For PCB, Dioxin

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - Federal authorities say tests show the amount of the carcinogen PCB released over the city during a weekend warehouse fire was higher than anticipated.

EPA inspectors were collecting samples to determine if dioxin, a toxic byproduct of PCB. was present at the site of the fire Sunday.

The federal safety standard for PCB is 50 parts per million. EPA public affairs officer Hagen Thompson said some of the concentration that burned contained up to 37,000 parts per million.

EPA officials said the area where the fire occurred would be kept cordoned off, but there were no plans to move any more than the residents in 15 homes that were evacuated Sunday.

ORLANDO (UPI) - A suspended Orlando City Council member who accused other officials of using criminals to target him as a black leader has been found guilty of grand theft and acquitted of a charge he was dealing in stolen property

A jury of four men and two women deliberated 3 hours and 50 minutes Tuesday night before rendering the verdicts against Ernest Page, who leaned back in his chair and stared at the trial clerk when the decisions were annonneed.

Page, 41, said he will appeal the guilty verdict.

"I still maintain I was innocent and I

He could be punished with a maximum sentence of one year in jail. Circuit Judge Ted Coleman ordered an investigation of Page's background and scheduled sentencing for March 28.

Page, a real estate agent, had accused city police, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and the Orange-Osecola State Attorney's Office of targeting him and said they used known criminals to set him up. He said the guilty verdict came only because an all-white jury heard his case.

Where's That Yankee Ingenuity?

The nuclear power industry in America is in a ditch, but in Western Europe and Japan, nuclear power is moving right along. Do they know something we don't know?

Massive cost overruns appear to be destroying the economic rationale for building nuclear power plants in the United States, even though their operating costs once they are built are much less than those for plants burning oil and coal.

Older nuclear plants have turned out to be good investments, but as much cannot be said for some of the later projects.

Nuclear power may have taken its unkindest cut recently when a utility in Ohio announced plans to convert a nearly-complete nuclear plant to coal.

The atom was supposed to liberate mankind from obnoxious smokestacks, remember?

The picture abroad is altogether different. The Japanese and Europeans' began to go full bore for nuclear power after the first round of oil shocks in 1973-74, and for the most part they have not wavered in their commitment.

France already is generating 40 percent of its electricity from reactors, compared to 12 percent in the United States.

The French still plan to be drawing 85 percent of their power from nuclear plants by the end of the century.

Britain, West Germany, Switzerland, Pelgium, Sweden, Finland and Japan all are ahead of the United States in conversion to nuclear, and a recent New York Times survey found no hint that any plants under construction in those countries will be abandoned.

Why this divergence in the way our comparable Industrial societies are treating the nuclear option? There is more than one answer.

Nuclear plants are coming on line in Europe and Japan at far less cost. Their builders have not had to apologize for as many goof-ups as their U.S. counterparts.

The regulatory process in those countries is not being exploited to delay projects for the sake of delay. Government leaders have not been as influenced by anti-nuclear groups in adopting and pursuing energy policies with a strong nuclear commitment.

Vietnam veterans have gotten a bum rap. Called upon to fight for their country in a cruel, costly unpopular war, exposed to Agent Orange, they returned home to find themselves ignored and mistreated as a reward for their sacrifice.

They have often had bad press, which resulted in a negative image being foisted on the Vietnam veterans as a group because of the acts of some individuals.

A recent example occurred close to home and was pointed out in an editorial by James T. Wilson, editor of "Incoming and Outgoing." the newsletter of the Vietnam Veterans of Central Florida.

"In the past week," he stated, "two unjustified headlines labeling the Vietnam Veterans negatively led the national news. A young man murdered a court bailiff and critically wounded two others in the Orange County Courthouse. UPI (United Press International) and several local media (not the Evening Herald) almost immediately labeled the man a Vietnam vet because he had been seen wearing fatigues. This man had NOT served in Victnam and in fact never made it through Air Force basic training.

a los break a financia a familia de

In Southeast Florida, a 24-year-old man barricaded himself for several hours and before the incident was over, a police officer was seriously wounded by the man. Again, the man was labeled a Vietnam vet even though he had been 9 years old at the end of the Vietnam conflict. The truth is that the police officer wounded was the Vietnam veteran, but nothing was said about that fact."

Wilson said the problem of faulty news reporting and bias against Vietnam veterans is hardly new. "It is a deep wound reopened each time such headlines appear. The important thing is how we as Vietnam veterans, family and friends of Vietnam veterans and enlightened non-Vietnam veterans in the public react. I believe we must avoid responding with anger, bitterness or emotional appeals for sympathy. We must use such occasions to take positive action. Without question, the truth must be assertively presented and publicized. Emphasis must be placed on the vast majority of Vietnam veterans who are good and productive citizens. They are plicemen, firemen, truck drivers, ssalesmen, doctors, attorneys, business owners, executives, astronauts, judges and much more. During their service in Vietnam, they were doing their best to uphold and defend America. Today they are doing their best to build a better community, nation and free way of life."

The Boy Scouts of Seminole District will kick off Boy Scout Week and the 75th anniversary of Boy Scouting with a countywide fundraiser this Saturday. ## FARMING WORLD Were Farmers Slighted?

By Sonja Hillgren UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Some of America's farmers felt slighted that President Reagan failed to address agricultural issues in his State of the Union address last week.

But Deputy Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng said broad economic issues in the speech, such as reducing the nation's budget deficit, are important to agriculture. He added, "I can tell you it's a good speech, and agriculture's pleased with it."

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., was one of the most powerful voices to note Reagan's oversight of farming and agribusiness, the nation's largest industry making up 20 percent of the gross national product,

On NBC's "Today" show the morning after the Wednesday address, Dole said, "I wish he (Reagan) had spent a little time on agriculture, but you can't squeeze everything into the State of the Union message."

In Bloomfield, Iowa, Judy Doerscher, a farm wife and member of the Drought '83 Committee, a group which sought government help to alleviate severe problems stemming from last summer's drought, disapproved of the omission.

"Have we become a national disgrace because we are in trouble?" she asked. "Surely the administration doesn't

JULIAN BOND On The Smith Legacy

William French Smith leaves behind him a Justice Department that has perverted, twisted, abused, discarded and ignored the precious fabric of law

MANCHESTER. N.H. (NEA) - The first act of Campaign '84 is being staged in two places that are 1,000 miles apart. yet striking in their similarities. New Hampshire and lowa are both small and predominantly rural, with white majorities - and at this time of year, both are buried in snow and marked by bone-numbing cold.

This year, because of the change in Democratic Party rules, the first two events of the 1984 primary calendar will occur only eight days apart, with the lowa caucus scheduled for Feb. 20 and the New Hampshire primary slated for Feb. 28. As a result, most of the major candidates - those who can afford a two-front effort - are running full-out in both states simultaneously.

The number of convention delegates won isn't of major importance in these first two contests. Together, New Hampshire and Iowa have only 80 delegates - compared to Texas, for example, which has 200. What's critical in these first two tests is how well each candidate measures up to what is expected of him by the party prolessionals and the press. It's a battle against expectations.

In the past two decades, numerous politicians have been viewed as having lost in New Hampshire and Iowa, although they actually won those contests. In 1968. Lyndon Johnson "lost" by not winning big enough in New Hampshire; so did Edmund Muskie in 1972. The reverse also has been true: In 1972, George McGovern "won" in Iowa by not losing to Muskle as badly as was expected. This was also the way in which the press viewed Jimmy Carter in 1976, when he actually came in second in lowa to a slate of uncommitted delegates.

something we don't know. In their procedures for planning, designing and building nuclear plants they know that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line.

That old truth has escaped the industry and its regulators in the United States, where it takes twice as long and twice as much money, if not more, to build a plant identical to one in Europe.

The Europeans and Japanese know that power reactors are safe if they are built, operated and maintained by the book.

Some U.S. companies have been disgracefully slipshod in their attention to detail in using a technology where details are crucial.

The Europeans and Japanese know, finally, that they could wake up tomorrow to discover that the off and gas they import from abroad is no longer available because of an international crisis.

They know that sooner or later the cost of oll again will rise, reinforcing the economic advantages of nuclear power.

They are familiar with the environmental problems arising from too great a dependence on burning coal. In the United States, we are less dependent on energy imports but our vulnerability td uncertainties in the price and supply of oil differs only in degree from that which confronts the Europeans.

The bedevilment of nuclear power in America night be acceptable if it reflected a flaw in technology.

But the steady progress of nuclear development elsewhere suggests that the problems are of our own making.

What became of that famous American know-How?

BERRY'S WORLD

helieve if you ignore a problem long enough, it will go away."

Peter Croghan, a farmer and executive board member of the lowa Farm Unity Coalition, was very upset.

"I thought he'd touch more on agriculture, but by his past three years. I wasn't looking for anything different than what he's had ... which is nothing." Croghan said. "With our Midwest farm economy, about the only thing he proved is that he could still smile."

Croghan added Reagan could not have said much to please farmers, anyway, because, "if he was going to do anything, he would have done it already. Anything he says now, farmers will take with a grain of salt."

Like the Iowa Farm Unity Coalition. the American Agriculture Movement favors a strong government role in setting farm prices. So the AAM, which drove tractors to Washington in 1979 to demand higher government price supports, also criticized Reagan's oversight.

Tommy Willis, a Brownsville, Tenn., cotton farmer and AAM president, said it was fronic that such a large industry was ignored by Reagan.

"However, being a farmer. I expected no less having learned first hand from experience that the farming situation is going to be continually ignored by this administration." he said.

Willis said lack of mention of agriculture was galling because many farmers supported Reagan's 1980 candidacy.

"The farm problem has now drifted off the farm and into the pocketbooks of businessmen up and down Main Street USA." he said. "Ignoring the farm problem is not going to set well with the producers."

the past, and demonstrated an ignorance of the law which would be cause for disbarment in a private practitioner. When the wrongdoer is the attorney general of the United States, the result is an invitation to anarchy.

For more than 25 years, the Department of Justice was held responsible for safeguarding the laws which protect our civil rights. During this period, with the exception of John Mitchell's tenure as Richard Nixon's attorney general, the department generally adhered to its responsibilities.

But since Ronald Reagan became president and appointed his private lawyer attorney general, a radical change in enforcement has occurred.

In Smith's three years in office, the Justice department has become the violator of civil rights instead of their protector, the assailant of justice instead of its guardian, and the handmaiden of the White House instead of the independent enforcer of law.

Under Smith, Justice has: repudiated the Supreme Court's definitive interpretation of the Constitution and announced that it would refuse to enforce the laws of the land; abruptly switched sides in cases pending before the high court; launched strident and sweeping attacks on the rights of women and minorities: allowed its actions to be shaped by political considerations; become the center for anti-civil rights activities in the federal government; and reached into other agencies to stop or slow policies it has deemed 'overly protective'' of civil rights.

The overriding desire in all these actions is to limit the rights of minorities, women, the handicapped. and others. The sum of the Smith legacy is to position the Reagan administration squarely in opposition to retreated from the bipartisan policies of against segregated schools 30 years ago. its most memorable phrase was that "separate but equal has no place." But under Smith, the Justice Department tried to breathe new life into this ancient excuse for racial exclusion.

> Smith's lawyers argued that even though state and local officials may have created a segregated school system, they had no obligation to undo it. Where the officials chose to do so voluntarily, Justice agrued against them. Where the officials were reluctant to desegregate schools, the department encouraged their recalcitrance.

These positions run contrary to 30 years of litigation and more than 2,000 separate lawsuits.

In voting rights. Smith's department has attempted to weaken essential protection by distorting the facts of the law and abandoned precious rights when the opinions of highly placed Republicans intruded.

In employment discrimination and fair housing, the Smith record is the same.

For William French Smith, individual rights exist only when they are popularly agreed to. Under his tenure, the Constitution has become a document of infinite elasticity, to be tailored and stretched to fit the fashions of the moment.

Edward Bates. attorney general to another Republican president, Abraham Lincoln, once described his mission thusly: "The office I hold is not properly political, but strictly legal; and it is my duty above all other ministers of state to uphold the law and resist all encroachments, from whatever quarter of mere will and power."

If that is an ideal, it is a motivating factor far different from that which has moved the U.S. Department of Justice for the last three years.

The polling done in both states is very clear: Walter Mondale holds a very sizable 2-1 lead over John Glenn, while the rest of the field trails badly, splitting about 30 percent of the vote almost evenly among themselves.

How will the initial results be judged? Mondale is the biggest potential victim of expectations. He must do as well as is expected or his support will be viewed as "soft" - often the kiss of death to the early leader. The second-rated Glenn must do well enough for his candidacy to remain viable: He must remain within striking distance should the leader stumble later. Those remaining must hope that either contest will let them emerge from the pack, becoming the one alternative to the "big two."

The expectation is that Mondale will pull more than 40 percent of the vote. Most polls give him between 40 and 50 percent of the Democratic vote in both states. If he wins more than 40 percent in both, he will have lived up to his billing. An absolute majority in either state would be something of a landslide and would all but bury the rest of the field.

For Glenn, it's critical that he finish second in both contests. All of his efforts have portrayed the campaign as a Glenn vs. Mondale contest; should he finish third, the result would be devastating. For a second-place finish, anything from 20 and 25 percent would enable his campaign to remain viable.

JACK ANDERSON Syrians Protect Rich Drug Trade

WASHINGTON - The Syrians aren't clinging so stubbornly to Lebanon's Bekaa Valley just to protect their flank against Israeli attack. They're also protecting a multi-billion-dollar drug traffic involving top-ranking Syrian military and civilian officials.

High-quality hashish and heroin are smuggled out of the valley through Syria to various Western capitals. The smugglers are given safe passage by the Syrian military - in exchange for lucrative payoffs.

From intelligence sources. my associate Indy Badhwar has obtained a confidential report that details the whole sordid story. Here are the highlights:

A pivotal role in the dope traffic is played by the feared Syrian secret service, Al-Istikhbaratt As-Souriat. It was the SS, as it is called, that brought in Turkish experts to grow oplum poppies in the valley. The secret service uses the money from drugs to bankroll terrorist attacks and to recruit and control spics - as well as to line its own pockets.

- Like Chicago gangsters in the 1920s, Syrian generals have carved out their own exclusive territories to keep things on a businesslike basis. One dust-up did occur between two rival generals, Mohammed Ghanem and Ghazi Kenaan. Terms of a "peace treaty" gave Kenaan the take from smugglers in the Lebanese city of Shatura, while Ghanem exacts tribute at the Syrian border post of Al-Massna.

- The northern Lebanon truck routes are controlled by Syrian security chief Rifaat Assad. President Hafez Assad's younger brother. His minions share income from the northern drug roads with Ali Eld, an Alawite Moslem agent in the port of Tripoli. The drug convoys. under Syrian army protection. travel the bleak, sandy roads from Baalbek, Lebanon, into Syria through the remote village of Sarghaya.

- Syrian military helicopters have been used to ship tons of hashish from the town of Nihaa in the Bekaa Valley to Syria, where it goes to Europe. Drugs bound for Alexandria, Egypt, are shipped from the Syrian-controlled Lebanese port of Anfa aboard the ship "Hassan." under the watchful eye of Syrian agent Mustafa Al Farass. Last summer. Egyptian officials setzed 3.200 kilograms of Bekaa Valley dope.

-. The list of officers enriching themselves from the drug trade is a veritable Who's Who of the Syrian army. The intelligence report lists names.

- Also fingered in the intelligence report were Syria's defense minister. Mustafa Talas, and Army chief Hikmat Al-Shahaby. They were reported to be dealing with Syria's top drug dealers. Ahmad Mustafa Al-Lakkiss and Hussein Abdel Ghani Tieiss.

- One top drug dealer, Jamil Abdel Karim Hamich, from the Bekaa Valley village of Taraya, receives full Syrian military protection. "When his car passes through a Syrian checkpoint, the Syrian soldiers do not dare stop it or question him." the report states. "Hamich also has close ties to defense minister Talas."

- Drug arrests involving the Syrian-controlled traffic have been made over the last two years in Egypt. Spain and Greece. Canadian and French Interpol agents have nabbed drug smugglers in Lebanon in an effort to stem the flow of dope to their countries.

ment reports a record 1.21 million divorces in 1981, which might be the last year in a string of increases in divorce numbers that began in 1963.

In a report on final 1981 divorce statistics, the National Center for Health Statistics said the divorce rate was 5.3 for every 1,000 American in the total population, equal to the record set in 1979.

In 1980, divorces numbered 1.19 million - 5.2 per 1,000 people.

Preliminary figures are not yet available for 1983.

Most of 1981's divorces occurred in couples married for two years, the agency said. The median length of marriage for couples being divorced was seven years, up from 6.8 years in 1980. the agency said.

About half the divorcing spouses were between the ages of 25 and 34, with report said. About 32 percent of wives and 42 percent of husbands were 35 or older.

The report estimated 1.18 million children were involved in divorce in 1981, up 6.000 from the previous year.

California recorded more divorces than any other state - 133,578, or 11 percent of the national total, the report said. Texas was second, with 101,856. Vermont was last, with 2.263.

'Robin Hood' Wants To Pay Society Back

PITTSBURGH (UPI) - Gary Tharp wants to pay his debt to society and he's asked the Justice Department to send him a bill for the 26 months he spent in prison for a "Robin Hood" robbery.

"Put simply and without melodrama, I have a responsibility here that it is my duty as an American to take care of." Tharp. 35, wrote in a letter to Attorney General William French Smith.

He told Smith to bill him for the taxpayers' cost of his imprisonment, including "court costs and any other miscellaneous expenses.

Tharp, who robbed a bank messenger in an attempt to get funds for a program for disadvantaged youths, wants his reimbursement to set a precedent for other offenders.

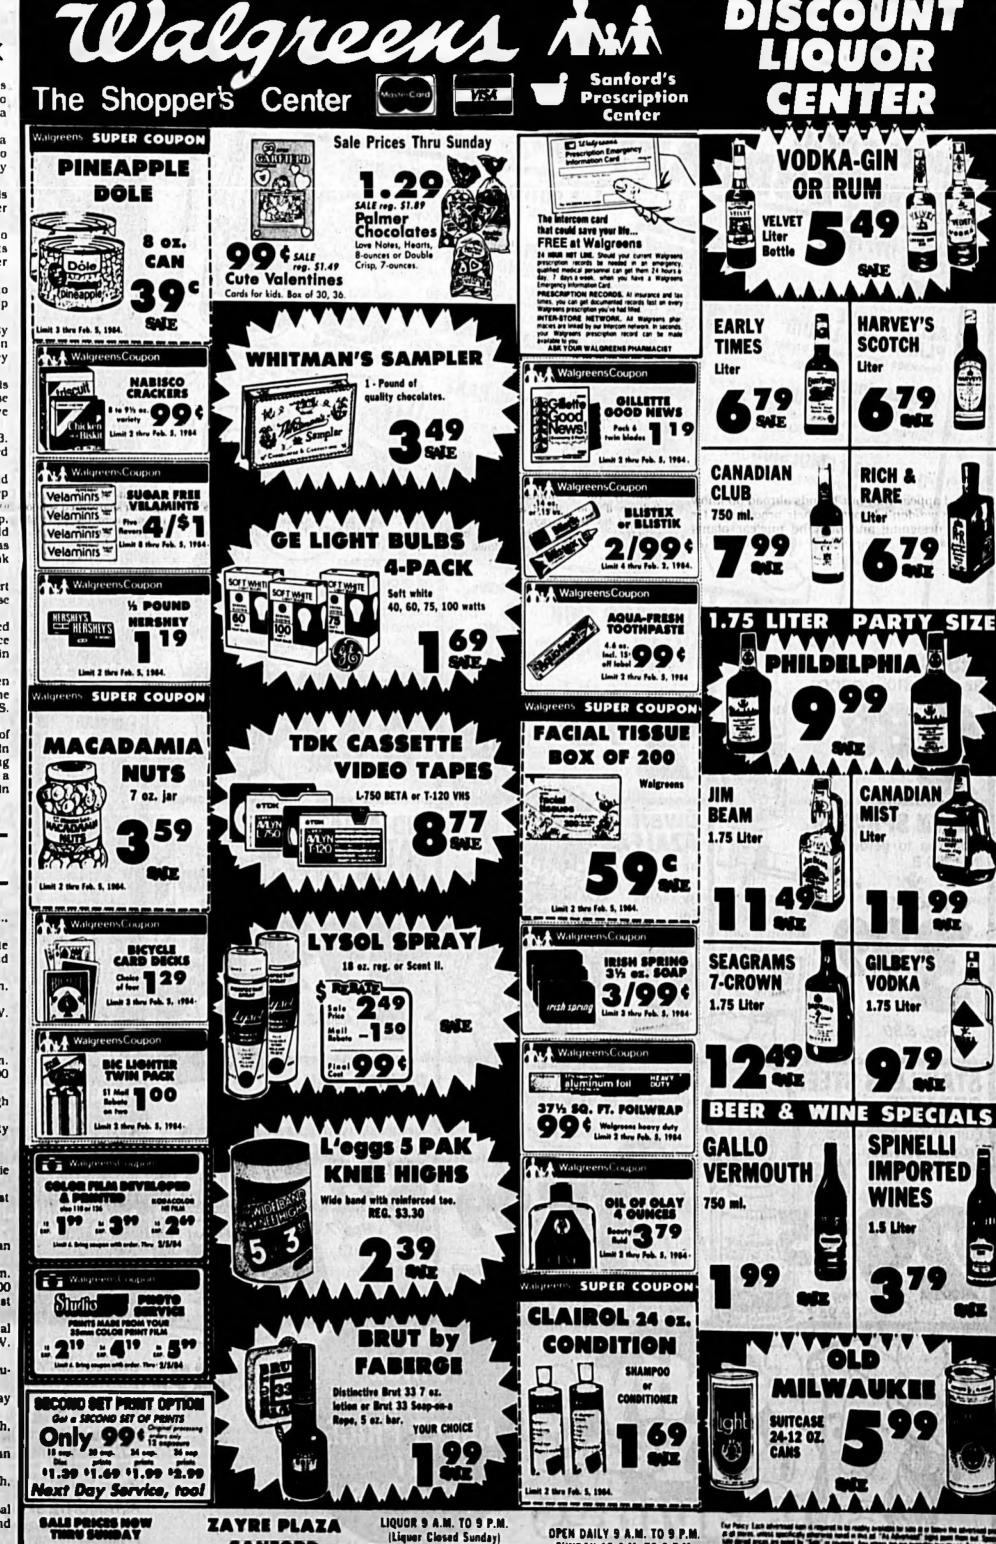

He plans to take a draft of his own 31-page proposal to Washington, calling for a mandate that all inmates help pay for their incarcerations.

'It's giving (taxpayers) back something that's already theirs," Tharp said. "Every dollar that built every prison in this country came out of somebody's pocket. They went out and worked for that money.

"When a person is convicted of a crime, an injustice is done not only to the victim but is prolonged because society has to pay for it. Why should taxpayers ... have to continually put out this money?"

Tharp said he committed the robbery Nov. 19, 1973. to try to save a program he started for disadvantaged youths.

Tharp, who was a high school teacher at the time, said

SUNDAY 10 A.M. TO 6 P.M.

had spent $5,000 of his own money trying to keep the program going. .... animum "I became obsessed with the program." said Tharp, who is now a chef at an exclusive restaurant. "I could see a great future for it. So, I made the decision - it was very spontaneous - that I would go down to the bank and rob a messenger.

"It was very immature. But I didn't think I'd hurt anyone, the money was insured so no one would lose anything.

Tharp's holdup netted him a sackful of canceled checks from the messenger, a five-year prison sentence that ended in an early parole and the nickname "Robin Hood" from his fellow inmates.

"He is not, repeat not, a hardened criminal, even though the crime he committed might so indicate." the federal judge who sentenced him wrote to the U.S. Parole Board. Tharp completed his parole in 1979.

"I am only now beginning to realize the benefits of hard work and stubborn determination." Tharp said in his letter to the attorney general. "I am slowly defying the odds against me and I am striving toward being a positive, effective force in my community and society in general.

Cleaning Man On A Wet Tin Roof

James Dawson, 20, does a one man cleaning job on the Vaughn greenhouses on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Casselberry. Dawson says he prefers it that way, working alone as he spray cleans the greenhouses. Just one side of a roof takes two days to complete, he says, the whole job a few months. And during all that tim. he has to guard against the possibility of slipping off as he walks across the wet tin roofs.

Business Productivity Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Labor Department says American business made the biggest gain in productivity since the economic recovery of 1976, going up adjusted for inflation, went up 2.3 percent. 3.1 percent in 1983.

The department's measure of output per hour covered 77.3 million workers, not including those on the farm.

Factory productivity alone showed the best improvement in two decades.

But the improvements in productivity slowed down at the end of 1983, the department said Monday, with the non-farm business sector showing its smallest gain of the year in the fourth quarter at 1 percent.

The 1983 overall increase was a big turnaround from 1982's 0.1 percent decline but still may not be the kind of fundamental shift necessary to resume the steady increases once typical of the United States, analysts said.

When business produces more goods and services without the same increases in labor costs, the result is an increase in national wealth. Productivity improvements help keep prices from going up as fast within the United States and also help keep American goods competitive on world markets.

But the musclebound U.S. dollar spoiled whatever advantage was won internationally in productivity last year, making American goods and services far less competitive when compared to those paid for in virtually any other currency.

The United States has retained its lead in productivity over every other country, although until recently Japan and West Germany seemed to be catching up fast.

The nation's factories, employing 19 million people. increased their productivity by 6.6 percent in 1983 to show their biggest improvement since 1963's 7.2 percent.

Unit labor costs in manufacturing actually went down 0.9 percent, the first year that has happened since 1965. Not only are industries benefiting from "givebacks." by which union workers often agree to limit wage increases, but factories are increasing output with fewer workers.

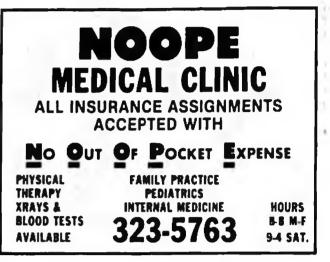

Factory output rose 7.9 percent, the number of hours worked increased only 1.2 percent and the pay per hour, Factory productivity was up 1.2 percent in 1982.

The broadest productivity category, for the business sector including farms. Improved 2.6 percent in 1983. This also was the largest improvement since 1976. Farm productivity generally changes independently of the business cycle.

"We've had a good cyclical rebound," Robert Ortner, chief economist of the Commerce Department, said,

"The real tests for productivity lie in the years ahead." Ortner said. "There, the critical factor is capital spending, and that is beginning to turn up stronger than is normal coming out of recessions."

Only if workers are given more modern equipment and training on a massive scale can American business improve on the efficiencies being introduced elsewhere in the world, analysts generally agree. But 1983 was an unprecedented third year of decline for capital spending.

Michael Jackson May Sue Over Hair Burning Incident

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Superstar singer Michael Jackson may sue the special effects crew responsible for an explosive device that set his hair ablaze while filming a TV commercial, his attorneys said.

"We are thoroughly examining all of the facts that contributed to this traumatic injury, including the possibility of negligence and possible lack of due. regard for Michael's safety," said a statement issued by Jackson's law firm.

The attorneys said a decision whether to file suit will be made after a review of five tapes and film footage of the accident, which occurred Friday evening during a filming sequence involving pyrotechnics.

Jackson was dancing down a stairway to the tune of his hit Billie Jean when a special effects device apparently misfired

Jackson was hospitalized overnight and went home Saturday to recuperate from the palm-sized wound. The statement by Jackson's law firm said he was feeling better - in part because of the "love and support" of his fans and friends.

"Michael is feeling better. He is under the care of his doctor, who advises us that Michael's recovery is proceeding well," the statement said.

The attorneys said Jackson hopes to be well enough to attend a party in his honor in New York Feb. 7. The party is to mark his entry into the Guinness Book of Records with his Thriller album - the most successful album in recording history.

'Failed' Experiment Clue To Early Life

WASHINGTON (UPI) - What started as an undergraduate science experiment in Indiana ended with the discovery of a "new" kind of bacteria that use sunlight the way plants do and may provide clues about how carly life developed.

The classroom experiment failed, but the bacteria turned out to represent a new category of photosynthetic organisms that may contain ancient genetic blueprints showing how living cells began using sunlight to make sugars from air and water.

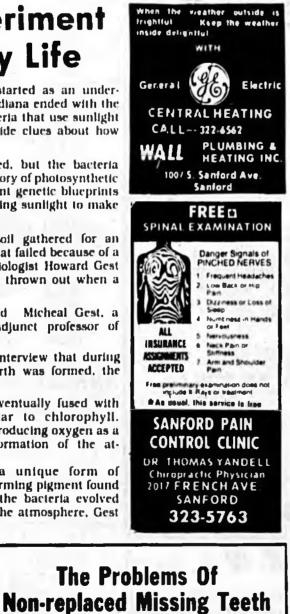

The bacteria were found in soil gathered for an undergraduate class experiment that failed because of a preparation error, Indiana microbiologist Howard Gest said. The flasks were about to be thrown out when a small greenish patch was noticed.

"It was some serendipity," said Micheal Gest, a professor of microbiology and adjunct professor of history and philosophy of science.

Gest explained in a telephone interview that during the first 2 billion years after Earth was formed, the atmosphere contained no oxygen.

According to theory, bacteria eventually fused with light-capturing pigments similar to chlorophyll. Photosynthetic organisms began producing oxygen as a byproduct, aiding in the transformation of the atmosphere.

The new bacteria contain a unique form of chlorophyll, the green light-transforming pigment found in plants today, which suggests the bacteria evolved long before there was oxygen in the atmosphere, Gest said.

Facial collapse is one of the aging elements and occurs when the teeth are lost and not replaced.

In the dental arch, teeth depend on other teeth for stability and mutual support. The muscles of the face also depend upon the teeth for stability and support.

When teeth are missing, they must be replaced if the patient wishes to maintain the health of the dental arch and normal facial contours.

Replacing lost teeth involves the use of a fixed bridge or partial denture - depending on the circumstances.

Incidentally, behavioral studies on persons who have lost a part of their body - combat casualties, accident victims, amputation or similar operations - have revealed that they feel a profound sense of loss, of being incomplete. These individuals may be repaired physically - but, psychologically, many of them never heat.

We now realize that persons who have lost their teeth share this painful syndrome. But the real tragedy is this, that loss of teeth is almost always preventable. Indeed, there is a devastating impact of being without teeth - the extent to which the loss of teeth can cripple the victim physically, physiologically - and most important, emotionally.

Take good care of your natural teeth. Let's avoid "old age" facial collapse.

SCC Goes For 17th Win Tonight

Sector S

Seminole Community College's Raiders go for their 17th victory tonight as they host Ocala's Central Florida Community College at 7:30 at the SCC Health Center.

The Raiders stand at 16-9 overall and 5-2 in the Mid-Florida Conference while Central Florida comes in with a 13-11 record ove, all Tonight's game does not count in the conference standings since Central Floridais ineligible in the race because it gave out too many scholarships this year.

Even though the game doesn't mean anything in the conference, the Raiders would like to avenge a two-point loss to Central Florida earlier in the season.

"Lexpect it to be a fast-moving game," SCC coach Bill Payne said. "They (Central Florida) like to run with the ball and play a lof of different defenses. They shoot well from the outside, but are not as strong inside.

Central Florida is led by high-scoring Craig Overton out of Cleveland. He is joined in the starting lineup by former Vanguard High performer Benny Gabbard and Bruce Perry at guard, Chris Welten at center and Jeff Foreman at forward

The Raiders trail Florida Juntor College by one game in the conference standings. They are one-half game ahead of Daytona Beach. The conference season begins its second half and Payne is hoping for Santa Fe to knock off Florida Junior tonight. Lake City also plays Daytona Beach tonight in another important conference game. The Raiders travel to Daytona Beach Saturday.

SCC is coming from two strong showings with victories over Santa Fe (Saturday) and Lake City (Wednesday). The trio of Jimmy Payton, Linny Grace and Mike Tolbert continues to perform well for the Raiders while 6-6 Luis Phelps and 6-5 Delvin Everett have returned to last year's level in the past two games.

The bench, though, has probably been the difference in the two big ones. Bernard Merthie and Artis Johnson, pecifically, have come off the pine to rebound and score at crucial times.

Johnson, a 6-3 freshman from Greenville, S.C., seems to relish his role as the super sub. "The way I look at it is if I don't start there must be people better than me on the team," he said after Saturday's win. "I don't worry about it. I just go out and play."

Despite battling players four and five inches taller. Johnson has held his own - and sometimes dominated on the boards. "I use my weight, just try to find an open space and then hope it bounces my way." he said.

The Lake Brantley High School dance team will perform during halftime.

'Noles Annihilate Lake Howell, 86-43

By Lou Stefano Herald Sports Writer

It was not a night to remember for the Lake Howell Silver Hawk basketball teams. They started off the evening by dropping the junior varsity game to Seminole, but that's nothing to fret about.

But they ended up the evening getting annihilated by the Seminole varsity, 86-43. It was a game for Seminole where everybody in orange and black scored except for Seminole coach Chris-Marlette.

The Lake Howell cheerleaders were even out cheered by the Seminolecheerleaders. But the Lake Howell fans did buy more Pepsi at halftime. Probably to wash down the 29-10 halftime score.

The name of the game for the Seminoles was defense as they held the Silver Hawks, 2-16, to just four firstquarter points and only six more in the second quarter. They did it by switching defenses and putting their top defensive player, James Rouse, on Lake Howell all-everything guard Efrem Brooks. holding the 5-8 junior to just two first-half points. He finished with 12.

points and Lake Howell popped for 33. The Seminole guards, Steve Gray and ' Bruce Franklin, helped key the offense as they penetrated into the paint and dumped, the ball off to Mitchell or Gilchrist.

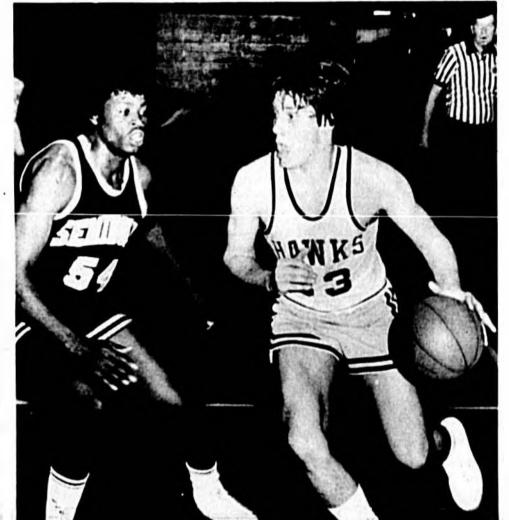

"When the guards came in and started pressuring it changed the pace of the game," said Marlette. "They did a real good job handling the ball on the fast break. All the guards also did a good job penetrating."

Lake Howell's Crockett Bollannan and Brooks got hot in the second half as they scored 12 and 10 points respectively. But the Seminole defense put the clamps on the rest of the Hawk offense and the game was never in doubt.

According to Marlette, this was a game that Seminole needed.

"Everybody contributed tonight," Marlette said. "We've been playing good ball lately."

A lot of other coaches in the conference would like to struggle with a record like

Auburn Whips Ole Miss, 60-50

United Press International

Auburn is not a team that rests on its laurels. The No. 17 Tigers entered the UPI Top-20 basketball ratings Tuesday morning and defeated visiting Mississippi 60-50 that night.

"Auburn has a phenomenal basketball team." said visiting coach Lee Hunt of Mississippi.

Charles Barkley scored 22 points and Chuck Person added 19 to lead Auburn, 13-5 overall and 7.2 in the conference. Eric Laird scored 20 points and Joe Ayers added 10 for Ole Miss. 5-13 overall and 0-9 in the SEC.

"I was really proud of the effort our kids gave," said Hunt. "We were 0-8 in the league coming inand coming off a 30-point loss at Florida. I thought tonight they just played their hearts out."

In other Top 20 games, No. 9 Maryland edged Virginia 67-66 and No. 13 Oklahoma routed Kansas 103-84.

At Charlottesville, Va., Mark Fothergill hit his only field goal of the game with 14 seconds left to lift Maryland. The Terrapins are 14-3 overall and 4-1 in Atlantic Coast Conference play. Jeff Adkins led Maryland with 15 points. Tom Sheehey had a career-high 27 points for Virginia, 12-5 and 2-5.

At Norman, Okla., Wayman Tisdale scored 28 points and Tim McAlister added 27 to lead Oklahoma into first place in the Big Eight Conference. The victory lifted the Sooners to 17-3 overall and 4-1 in conference play. Carl Henry paced the Jayliawks, 12-7 and 4-2.

At Newton, Mass., Jay Murphy scored a

In other college games, Guy Minnifield scored 19 points to rally Morehead State to a home-court added 12.

Prep Basketball

We did a lot of different things defensively," said Marlette,"1 thought that was the key. When you hold a team to 10 points (in the first half) and only 30 with three minutes left in the game. you've played good defense."

The Seminoles started off slowly as it took them 5:13 to get their first lead at 4-2. From there it was down hill for the Hawks as the 'Noles outscored them 25-8 the rest of the half.

Rouse did the job on Brooks as Brooks didn't touch the basketball for the first time until only 3:28 was left in the first quarter. Brooks scored his only two points of the first half, when there was less than one minute left in the second quarter.

Jimmy Gilchrist paced Seminole in the first half with eight points. The Hawks to their credit, held 'Noles forward Willie Mitchell to just six points in the half.

Dupree Will Play (USFL?) Football In '84

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UPI) - Marcus Dupree, who has now left two colleges in less than four months, finally "has his head on his shoulders" and hopes to play football in 1984 - apparently with the U.S. Football League, a friend says.

Dupree, who transferred from Oklahoma in October, now has dropped out of Southern Mississippi because he is upset over an NCAA ruling that he is incligible to play next fall. Coach Jim Carmody said Tuesday.

Earlier, the 235-pound sophomore tailback left the Sooners saying he couldn't please Coach Barry Switzer and that he wanted to be closer to his Philadelphia, Miss., home.

"He's made up his mind exactly what he wants to do," said Ken Fafrley, a friend of Dupree's who was involved heavily in his October transfer to Southern Mississippi.

'Marcus is not confused." added Fairley, a Hattlesburg bookstore owner. "Marcus has his head on his shoulders. He wants to play football in 1984."

pro, he apparently is not considered a NFL possibility. In a brief statement, the NFL said Tuesday it would not deal with Dupree before 1987, the year after his Oklahoma class graduates.

But the USFL, which broke with a long-standing tradition by signing Heisman Trophy winner Herschel Walker of Georgia last winter after his junior season, expressed an interest in signing Dupree if it is convinced. he wants to play professional football and if there are no legal complications.

However, USFL Commissioner Chet Simmons, making a stop in St. Louis during a tour of non-USFL cities, said it is too early to say for sure if that league will attempt to sign Dupree, who has two more years of college eligibility remaining.

Football

"We went ahead and signed Walker because we knew if he ever challenged the law, we would have lost." said Simmons. "Our problem with that case was more with the coaches than anyone. We went through a lot of turmoil to prove the situation was separate from anything anybody had ever been faced with before.

"Dupree could fall under much the same circumstances, but we'll just have to wait and

"The eligibility rule is our (the professionals) rule," Simmons said. "The NCAA doesn't have a rule that says a kid can't sign until his eligibility expires."

Whatever Dupree does, Simmons said he hopes guidelines are set up soon for players wantinig to turn pro.

"We're not talking about every kid." Simmons said. "but we need to have some kind of middle ground that establishes some circumstances where a kid can be allowed to go pro early."

Fairley said Dupree had not been in contact with anyone from the USFL.

"Marcus has had difficulty coping with the fact he cannot play college football until 1985 and has talked of the possibility of playing professional football," Carmody said. "He is not sure of his plans at this time, but it is obvious he will not be playing football at USM."

ST. LOUIS (UPI) - U.S. Football League ; Commissioner Chet Simmons says the league will take a "wait and see" attitude on whether it will attempt to sign running back Marcus Dupree.

"We're going to have to wait and see," Simmons said Tuesday while making a stop in St. Louis during a tour of non-USFL cities. 'We don't know what he wants to do.'

Dupree, a former star at Oklahoma. dropped out of the University of Southern Mississippi Tuesday and there is speculation he may want to turn pro. Dupree has two more years of college eligibility remaining.

Simmons said the league might be interested in signing Dupree if it is convinced Dupree. wants to play professional football and if there are no legal complications.

The USFL last year signed Heisman Trophy-winning running back Herschel-Walker before his collegiate eligibility had expired, but Simmons said that signing had to be treated as an isolated situation.

"The eligibility rule is our (the professionals) rule," Simmons said. "The NCAA doesn't have a rule that says a kid can't sign until his eligibility expires.

"We went ahead and signed Walker because we knew if he ever challenged the law, we would have lost. Our problem with that case was more with the coaches than auvone."

Lack Of Role Model Creates Bad Behavior For Junior Tennis Player

I was watching a Junior Tournament a little while back. This was a statesanctioned tournament for boys and girls 14 and under. The competition was good and each match was hard fought.

It was an important event for ranking purposes. A lot of pressure was on these young people. Pressure from their parents. their private coaches, and from their peers. Not to mention th awesome pressure they put on themselvs. Some of the very top young players in the Florida were at this . coming from players and parents alike. tournament.

It should have been really great tennis, a spectator's delight. It wasn't - I left after he played that way. The more I think about only about 30 minutes of watching. I really that day, the more I am trying to sort out could not stand there and watch the racket - the reasons why all this is happening. And throwing, see the rampant cheating and don't try to deceive yourself. It is going on in listen to all the bad language that was almost every Junior Tournament procircuit to pattern their actions after.

I simply don't believe that tennis has to be played that way. I know tennis should not throughout the U.S.

Part of the reason is, of course, the pressure put on some of these youngsters to win. To win at all cost. To get that ever higher ranking, perhaps to get good enough to make the big bucks out there on the protour. Pressure to make Mom and Dad happy.etc.

Pressure and pressure situations make us all do strange things, and it seems on the tennis courts we see many Jekyll-and-Hyde situations. Still, I think there is a more important factor involved in the conduct of today's young players.

I think it is the lack of proper role models. The young players today simply do not have enough solid-acting citizens playing on the Unfortunately America's two top male players are both bad actors on the court (Their actions off the court leaves a lot to be desired, too) John McEnroe is, of course, the best player in the world. I have always admired his competitive spirit, his great tennis ability and his willingness to always play Davis Cup. I have not enjoyed the way he acts during his matches. He rants, raves. shoots balls, and birds, uses horrible language, insults linemen. TV camermen. tans, ballboys, and on and on. This is the number one men's player in the world. This is the role model for our up and coming players.

Jimmy Conners is not a lot better, and several of the other top players also leave a lot to be desired. Some do not do a lot of real obvious things but for the young and tennis-wise junior players, the bad acting such as not trying or "tanking" a match is casy to pick up on.

DAYTONA BEACH --- Fred Tombros has Seabreeze to a 63-61 victory over the Rams only coached three varsity games while Willie Richardson has been in the hospital.but he's already had enough thrills and incoming gray hairs - for a veteran.

In his first tilt against Lake Howell, his Lake Mary Rams pulled out an exciting down the wire finish. Then, against Spruce Creek, the Rams played tough the whole way before falling short in the fourth quarter.

Neither game, however, will be etched in his mind like Tuesday night's encounter against the Scabreeze Sand Crabs.

For good reason. Sand Crab Terry Johnson threw in a desperation, 50-foot shot with just one second remaining to lift defense and some offensive lirewerks by Fred Miller, Billy Dunn and Darryl Mertlate to claw back into contention.

The setback dropped the Rams to 9.9 for the year and 6-7 in the conference. They travel to Milwe Middle School to play Lyman Friday. Scabreeze upped its record to 17-5 and 9-4.

Both teams traded buckets throughout the fourth quarter. Finally, Johnson had a chance to put the game out of reach, but he missed the front end of a one-plus-one with 12 seconds to go.

The rebound bounced long and Miller grabbed it and headed for the other end. The 6-2 guard went coast-to-coast, head faked his defender up on the baseline and hit the tying basket with just seven seconds left Seabreeze immediately called a timeout. The Sand Crabs then inbounded the ball. but Johnson got caught behind the time line. He pulled a tricky reverse pivot to clude the trap, then tossed his miracle shot. It split the net with just one second to play.

Bulldogs, Graduate Ref Tough To Top In DeLand

What is it about playing in DeLand's gymnasium that scares the heck out of Seminole County coaches?

Is it the rowdy fans? Sometimes. Is it some kind of jinx? I'm not superstitious. Is it DeLand's superior talent? Don't make me laugh.

A good number of times it can be contributed to one person, in my opinion, that ever popular official by the name of Bobby Wyche. Every coach who doesn't know about the infamous Mr. Wyche should prepare for the worst

Wyche is a graduate of DeLand High and currently works for the DeLand Recreation Department and knows all of DeLand's players by first names and probably their birthdays, too. What he is doing ever officiating a game involving DeLand players is beyond

But, that doesn't make him biased now does it?

Take into expample last week's girls basketball game between host DeLand's Lady Bulldogs and Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks. In their first meeting of the season, Lake Howell came away with an easy 11-point victory. In the game at DeLand, in which Wyche was an official, the Lady Bulldogs came away with a 76-55 victory. That's a difference of 32 points from the first game. I don't think DeLand got that good and, at the same time. Lake Howell got that bad.

In the second encounter, Lake Howell, despite playing a zone defense most of the game, was whistled for 34 fouls, 29 in the first three quarters, compared to just 15 for DeLand, seven in the first three quarters. Three Lake Howell starters, leading scorer Tammy Johnson, leading rebounder Janene Brown, and guard Kathy Barma, fouled out in the third quarter. Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey was whistled for two technicals, one when he walked out on the floor to look after an injured player. Codrey was so infurlated that he left the gym. Can you blame him? "We got lobbed," Codrey said about the DeLand-Lake Howell match which was a key game in conference standings since a loss would have left the Bulldogs two games behind Seminole with just a few to play. DeLand coach Clifford Cox said the game was well officiated, and that Lake Howell could just as easily have been called for 10 more fouls. Cox doesn't just know Wyche as an official, he knows him as Bobby, a friend, on and off the court.

Bucs Sweep Pair From Greyhounds By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer Early in the second quarter of Tuesday night's game between Lyman's Greyhounds and Daytona Beach Mainland, the fourth-ranked (4A) Buccaneers had already built a 19-point lead, 34-15. At that point, a Lyman fan asked Mainland coach Dick Toth if he would put in his second string. "That is the second string." Toth replied.

Mainland's second string, which played most of the game, looked as good as most teams' first string Tuesday as the Bucs rolled to a 102-50 debacle of the Greyhounds in Five Star Conference basketball action at Milwee Middle School

The Bucs improved to 19-2 overall and 11-2 in the conference while Lyman fell to 2.15 overall and 2.11 in the conference

"It was good to get those guys (second string) some playing time." Toth said. "They will be important to us down the stretch and they really played well tonight."

Second-stringer Jon Hall led the way for Mainland with a game-high 16 points. He was joined in double figures by George McCloud and Wayne Manning with 14 points each and David Hinson with 12. Traven Flowers added nine for the Bucs.

Lyman didn't have a player in double figures, but Greg Pilot, T.J. Scaletta, Ralph Philpott, and sophomore Brett Marshall, who made his first varsity appearance, had eight points apiece.

Mainland came right out and took control in the early going, scoring the first cight points of the game." Lyman pulled as close as four points midway through the quarter, but the Bucs went on another surge to take a commanding 25-11 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds let a big first half lead slip away and Mainland's Lady Bucs fought back for a 64-60 victory in Tuesday night's first game at Milwee Middle School.

The Lady Greyhounds led by as much as 14 points in the first half, but Lyman didn't have the killer instinct Tuesday

Lyman rode the hot shooting of Pam Jackson and Kim Goroum to a 18-9 lead after one quarter, and the Lady Greyhounds extended the lead to 14. 26-12. midway through the second. Mainland fought back to withing seven though. 32-25, by halftime.

Mainland cut Lyman's lead to five. 34-29, early in the third quarter but Goroum swished in a jumper to put the Greyhounds back up by seven, 36-29. The scrappy Lady Bucs then recled off eight straight points to take a 37-36 lead. Mainland's first lead of the game.

Both teams traded baskets early in the fourth quarter until Mainland's Sonja Green scored three straight points to break a 52-52 tie and give the Lady Bucs the lead for good. 55-52. Green went on to score four more points to build Mainland's lead to five, 59-54, with 4:30 remaining.

Lyman pulled to within two, 60-58, on

As with most coaches playing at DeLand for the first or second time. Codrey didn't know he was in for an ambush.

Another Wyche incident happened a few years ago. and I'm just relaying back what was told to me by someone who witnessed it. Wyche was one of the officials at the DeLand-Lake Brantley game at Lake Brantley High. When some of the Lake Brantley fans got on Wyche for what they thought were bad calls. Wyche threw a fit and challenged about four fans to "step outside."

When Lake Brantley went out to DeLand. Wyche was again one of the officials and Brantley coach Willie Richardson refused to go out on the court. Wyche then challenged Richardson to "step outside."

Playing at DeLand this season has been hard for not just Seminole County teams, but other Volusia County teams. Daytona Beach Mainland's boys, ranked fourth in the state, have lost just two games this season. One to highly regarded Seminole and one to DeLand. DeLand has at best a mediocre team this season and it beat Mainland by 21 points.

But the Bucs couldn't blame that one on Wyche because he didn't work that game. "No, he doesn't work any of our games," said Mainland Prinicpal Jack Surrette. "He is scratched by all of our coaches."

Wyche isn't too popular a fellow at Seminole High School either. Football coach Jerry Posey said he is scratched (coaches are allowed to delete eight officials) from doing any Seminole football games.

Posey recalled his first game against DeLand in 1975. The Seminoles jumped to a 13-0 lead, but all of a sudden the flags starting dropping like paratroopers. DeLand eventually railied for an 18-13 win. The final drive was aided by two penalties against trainer James "Doc" Terwilliger and assistant coach Jay Stokes. Both were penalized for incidental remarks made from the sideline. according to Poscy.

The big play, however, involved Wyche, Tribe safety Tim Raines and DeLand fullback Sanford Cutts. Cutts broke into the clear, but Raines had an angle on him for the TD-saving tackle. Poscy then said Raines was clipped, but there was no call.

"The trailing official (Wyche) said that Tim tripped." said Poscy. "But when we went over the films, it looked like a clip.

"I was pretty green, it was my first year, but I still had trouble believing Wyche would be assigned to do a game at DeLand where he went to high school and works. I scratched him right after that."

Posey said most officials take it upon themselves to make a change when they are assigned to do a school where there might to a conflict of interests.

Thursday night. Seminole High's girls team. the top team in the conference, goes into DeLand to try and wrap up the conference title. Seminole hammered DeLand the last time the two teams met, but that was as Seminole High. You can bet that Seminole will have something to say if Wyche shows up in stripes.

Posey, though, has already checked. Wyche has not been assigned to the game. But he did give Seminole coach Ron Merthie to say that Wyche is "unacceptable" if he happens to mysteriously show up.

Repeated efforts to reach Wyche were unsuccessful. But Wyche probably wouldn't be able to comment anyway since most officials associations have a gag rule about talking to the press.

With 6.5 Darrin Reichle sweeping the defensive boards and 6-6 Mike Schwab picking up second shots at the offensive end, Oviedo's Lions snapped a four-game winning streak Tuesday night with a 50-43 victory over the St. Cloud Buildogs in Orange Belt Conference basketball at Oviedo High School.

Oviedo's win improved it to 8-11 overall and 4-3 in the OBC. The Lions take on Leesburg Friday in another conference clash before hosting Lake Brantley in a county matchup on Saturday.

bargained for from Lake Brantley Tuesday night. The conference-leading Hawks needed a flurry of free throws and ' a couple of breakaways in the final minutes of the fourth quarter to hold off the flesty Patriots, 63-57, in Five Star Conference basketball at Lake Brantley High School.

"We had a chance to do it," said Patriot coach Bob Peterson about the upset effort. "But the breakaways and the ally-opp (passes) beat us in the end."

Russia Is Just Nuts Over Smith's Deed

George Smith is "a hockey nut." All he ever meant to do was set right what he felt was a terrible wrong. Even if it was against Russia.

He did it. All by himself at first. thereby accomplishing more than all those SALT 2 talks put together, and ending up one of the biggest heroes in the Soviet Union.

Smith owns and operates his own trucking business in Winnipeg. Canada. where he was born. He was crazy about hockey as a kid when his idol was little Bill Mosienko, the Chicago Black Hawks' Hall of Famer who once scored three goals in 21 seconds against the Rangers at Madison Square Garden and now runs a bowling alley in Winnipeg.

Whenever the Winnipeg Jets are at home, Smith is right there watching them and rooting for them. Otherwise, like Tuesday night, when the NHL's All-Star game was being played in Meadowlands Arena in New Jersey. you'll find him watching the action on TV. At 49. Smith loves the sport more than ever.

Let's go back a bit to September of 1981. The Russian National team beats Team Canada for the Canada Cup In Montreal, and Smith, viewing the final game on the tube in Winnipeg. sees Canada's Prime Minister, Pierre Trudeau, and Alan Eagleson, hockey promoter and head of the NHL Players' Association, present the Cup to the Soviets' team captain.

Bright and early the next morning. Smith woke up and put on the news. He was shocked to hear Eagleson had called the police and kept the Soviets from taking the Cup out of the Montreal Forum the night before. Eagleson felt that once the Russians got the cup to the USSR, they'd never bring it back to Canada.

"I was mad," Smith told me from Winnipeg Tuesday, "Here we are living In a country where we talk about what's right and also the rights of others. I was upset that the Russians were not allowed to take the Cup home. They had beaten us fair and square. What right did someone like Eagleson have to keep the Cup from them?'

Smith was irked over something else Eagleson had done as promoter of the series.

"He came to Winnipeg and called us a bunch of cheapskates," said Smith. "Winnipeg is a workingman's town. Eagleson wanted us to shell out $30 to watch the Finns play the Swedes at 3 o'clock on a weekday. You had to buy tickets to bad games like that to see a good one like, say, Czechoslovakia against Canada."

Eighteen of them called in and 17 agreed with Smith. The other one said the Russians didn't deserve the Cup anyway.

Soon, a campaign got underway to obtain a replica of the Canada Cup and send it over to the Russians. People sent in their dollars until the total reached $3.000.

After Smith and his friends produced a new Cup, they called the Russian embassy in Ottawa. They spoke to Vladimir Mechulay, the No. 2 man there. and told him to come and get the Cup.

He did at a special ceremony in Winnipeg on Oct. 3, 1981. The Queen's representative in Manitoba presented the Cup to the Soviet representative on behalf of all the people in Canada and Mechulav expressed his gratitude.

Then he sent the Cup to Russia. The Soviets were so moved by what Smith did, they invited him to the izvestia hockey tournament, one of the biggest ones they have, which is sponsored by one of their newspapers.

"I couldn't have been treated better." Smith said. "I felt like some celebrity. The Russian newspapers don't carry too many pictures but they had mine in them more than a half dozen times."

The Russians really liked Smith. They invited him back in 1982 and he brought the first Old Timer's Hockey Club from Winnipeg and they played a couple of exhibition games against a similar team of Soviet Old-Timers.

This past year, the Soviet Old Timers came to Winnipeg and played three more games against the Winnipeg Old Timers. Each team won one game and the third one ended in a tic, so it was a standoff.

On one of his trips to Russia, Smith presented a cap to the late Leonid Brezhnev and the Soviet leader wore it. It was the right color - red.

In gratitude for what he did for them. Smith was presented with a 3-1/2 foot samovar by the Russians and it stands on one of the file cabinets in his office.

You bet they know Wayne Gretzky in Russia." Smith said, laughing, "But if you're ever there, ask them if they know George Smith. I walk down the street in Moscow and ask a cop directions. You know what he does? He looks at me and says George Smith. Then he salutes

Metro Connection Lifts Wales Past Campbell

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) - There are three NHL teams in the New York metropolitan area, four if you count Hartford. Conn., and that connection was vital to the Wales Conference's 7-6 victory over the Campbell in the 36th All-Star Game Tuesday night.

A five-goal first-period outburst was started by hometown hero Joe Cirella of the New Jersey Devils, and before the game was over all four of the local skaters had scored. Don-Maloney of the New York Rangers, who tied an All-Star record with four points, was unanimously voted the Most Valuable Player.

"My stats aren't that good. I don't score a lot of goals," said the hard-working Maloney. "It's nice to be picked for the other things that I do."

Maloney said his selection, combined with the Rangers' push past the Islanders into first place in the Patrick Division this week, made him feel like he had just won a lottery. But one of the Islanders, Denis Potvin, also had a productive game - scoring the Wales' second - Larouche and Maloney, and Rick Valve of the goal and assisting on another.

And Islanders coach Al Arbour, who directed the Wales to the triumph, regaled in the local heroes.

"The game showcased the ever-increasing offensive talent of our young stars." Arbour said. "There were a couple of good hits, but nobody was taking a run at auyone. They're not supposed to."

Maloney became the first of three players in the game to tie the All-Star record of three assists, then scored the game-winning goal at 7:24 of the third period to put the Wales ahead 7.3.

Two of Maloney's assists came on goals by Rangers teammate Pierre Larouche, a substitute for the injured Islanders center Bryan Trottier. Mark Johnson of the Hartford Whalers, who completed the line with. Campbell also had three assists.

Maloney's four points enabled him to tie Ted Lindsay, Gordle Howe, Pete Mahovolich and Wayne Gretzky for the All-Star game point record.

As for the Devils, Cirella added an assist later and goaltender Glenn Resch played well in the second half of the game, surrendering only three goals to keep the Campbells from tying it.

One of those goals was by Gretzky, the Edmonton Oilers' center, who somehow managed to score despite a sore shoulder that was causing him obvious pain throughout. Gretzky, who had four goals in last year's All-Star Game, said his shoulder would be X-rayed today in Edmonton.

"It hurts." Gretzky said. "It was bad. All professional athletes have to put up with nagging injuries, and this one is no different."

Rebels Warn Against Lebanese Army Offensive

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - The Lebanese government appealed for new efforts today to end the bloodshed in Beirut, but Moslem rebels claimed the army was planning to attack their strongholds near the capital.

Druze leader Walid Jumblatt's Progressive Socialist Party said Tuesday there could be no more negotiations with President Amin Gemayel's government if the army begins a major sweep against Lebanese Moslems, a Druze spokesman said.

Moslem militiamen will "retaliate decisively" if the army tries to invade Beirut's southern suburbs, home of the Shiite Moslem militia, or the Shouf mountains, a Druze stronghold southeast of Beirut, the spokesman said from Druze offices in the village of Aley.

U.S. Will Accept Outcome

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) - Secretary of State George Shultz arrived today from El Salvador, where he had promised that nation the United States would remain neutral in its presidential elections in March.

"We believe in the democratic process, in fair and open elections." Shultz said at a news conference at the presidential residence. "We believe under those circumstances you accept the verdict, whatever it may be, of the people who do the voting."

"We're not neutral about the (electoral) process," Shultz said. "We want it to go strongly, openly, fairly. We are neutral about the outcome."

Prisoner Swap Planned

Democrats Push For Marines Pullout

WASHINGTON (UPI) - House Democratic leaders, in a move to increase pressure on President Reagan for a two-hour meeting Tuesday evening in withdrawal of U.S. Marines from Lebanon, is backing a resolution calling for the troops' "prompt and orderly" withdrawal.

The resolution, drafted for a meeting of the House Democratic caucus today, sets no deadline, but House Speaker Thomas O'Neill said Tuesday the language means withdrawal should be "immediate or right away."

The non-binding resolution says the president should, within 30 days of passage, explain to Congress how the withdrawal is being accomplished or why it is not being done. O'Neill said.

The measure was hammered out in a O'Neill's office. O'Neill said afterward the effort should not be seen as a U.S. move to "cut and run." noting other proposals set specific deadlines for the U.S. withdrawal.

'We think that would be wrong." O'Neill said. "It could possibly endanger the lives of the Marines over there. That is the one thing we do not want to do. What we want to do is bring those boys home as quickly and as safely as we possibly can. And we think we're doing it in the best way."

The meeting followed renewed fighting

Monday in Beirut where the U.S. forces tougher" during the meeting than the suffered their 259th casualty since the Marines were sent into Lebanon as part of a multinational force in September 1982

and the second second

O'Neill indicated Reagan may not be able to count on the Republicancontrolled Senate to block the move to reduce the 18-month authorization Congress voted last fall.

"There's a crack in the Republican side in the Senate, and I anticipate that when this vote comes to the floor. I'd have to say yes that I'd expect bipartisan support." O'Neill said.

A source in the Democratic leadership said the resolution was made "muchproposal they began with.

"This is a way to hold the president's feet to the fire, without trying to be making tactical ground decisions," the source said. "This is a clear way to set policy and at the same time avoid getting into the intricacles of ground troop management."

The resolution was worked out by O'Neill's ad hoe monitoring group that includes himself. Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman Dante Faseell; Rep. Lee. Hamilton, D-Ind., chairman of the Middle East subcommittee: assistant Democratic leader Bill Alexander, D Ark.; and Rep. John Murtha, D-Pa., among others.

Authorities say the arrests could mean $1 million for the city if all those charged with traffic violations pay just the minimum fine.

The well-publicized amnesty program began in

Only 2,000 people took advantage of the program. Authorities now are searching for more than 27,000 people charged on 28,000 traffic offenses, 9,000 misdemeanors and 1.500 felony charges. Authorities said some people are wanted on as many as 17 warrants.

Many of the arrests were made after the suspects' names were run through computers, which provided information from other local government agencies. The results were collected on printouts listing places of work and home addresses.

Police Lt. Jerry Barker said some of the warrants date December and lasted 50 days. The program gave back to 1979, Police will concentrate first on those in today's fast-paced world, many people find themselves so busy with various activities that the very thought of a house full of dinner guests arriving can be an unnerving ordeal.

Cook Of The Week Food, Music A Relaxing Combination By Karen Warner

Herald Correspondent

But not to Lillian Megonegal.

She is one of those rare people who has learned how to balance her busy life outside the home with her life in the home. Cooking to her is a relaxing experience. "I started experimenting with food preparation after I was married, and found that I not only enjoyed it, but it was fun and relaxing." she said.

In the Megonegal home, it's quite usual to find the aroma of good cooking filling the air, blended together with the sounds of classical music. "I like to play classical music when I cook. I will usually turn the stereo on 'loud,' and play something like Pavarotti. It relaxes me," she said.

Lillian said that she likes to find a good recipe, then experiment with it. "I like to try new and different things when I cook. I'll add a little of this, change things a bit. It makes it more interesting."

She said that one of her greatest motivations to cook is her husband, Russell, a Lake Mary city commissioner. "Russell has a tremendous sweet tooth. He especially loves things with chocolate in them, like the recipe for Mocha Chocolate Chip Cookles."

Lillian was a corporate executive secretary for 21 years in Philadelphia before moving to Florida. Although she no longer works at a job outside the home, she fills her time by keeping busy with her hobbies homemaking and community involvement.

She is currently active in the Lake Mary Woman's Club where she is chairman of the club's Public Affairs Department. She is also an active member of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, Lake Mary Community Improvement Association, United States Coast Guard Auxiliary, the Lake Mary Historic Preservation Commission and Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

Aside from being a great cook and a community volunteer, she is a gifted craftsman. Her handmade wreath took third place honors last year in the craft division of the Florida Federation of Women's Club's annual convention. She enjoys sewing, knitting, handcrafts and crocheting.

Lillian Megonegal mixes cooking with classical music for a perfect culinary blend.

1. Sprinkle the chops with salt and pepper and dredge them lightly with flour.

2. Heat three tablespoons of butter in a large skillet and brown the chops well on all sides. Sprinkle with the shallots and mushrooms and cover. Cook five minutes: turn the chops.

3. Sprinkle with cognac and ignite it. When the flame dies, stir the mustard and cream into the skillet and around the chops. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes or until chops are tender and thoroughly cooked. 4. Remove the chops to a heated platter. Add the remaining butter to the skillet and swirl it around in the sauce. Add more cognac if desired and pour the sauce over the meat.

NOTE: You may substitute any brandy for the cognac. You may substitute scallions or just mundane old onions for shallots. Serves 6.

Dear

Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband died when my son was 3, so 1 went to work as an aide in a hospital to support myself and my son. It wasn't easy, but it was worth the effort because he was just graduated from college.

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, Feb. 1, 1984-18

My problem: About five months before my son was to graduate, I looked in the mirror and thought, "You look like an old lady. If you go to your son's graduation looking 20 years older than the other mothers, your son will be ashamed of you." So through the generosity of a plastic surgeon I met at the hospital, I had a face-lift. It cost me only $1,500, and it was worth it to make my son proud of me.

He was very pleased when he saw me, but the women work with were cold and unfriendly. (One said, "Even $1,500 is a lot of money to a woman in your circumstances.") Abby, many of these women spend $20 and $30 at the beauty shop every week.

Please tell me I didn't do anything so terrible. Or do you feel the way they do?

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: You deserve to be happy. But unless you do things to please yourself, you never will

You had a face-lift for the wrong reason - to please your son. (He may have been just as proud of you the way you were.) And now you're "unhappy" because the women at work "think" you did something wrong. You, my friend, are the most important person in the world. Be good to yourself, and don't worry about what others may think.

DEAR ABBY: A group of us girls were gathered at our weekly card club when a question was asked by one of the members:

"Is it possible for a husband to come home, undress and that into bed with his body reeking of someone else's perfume, then deny that he was with another woman?" The majority said it is not possible, so we decided to

> THE THURSDAY GROUP

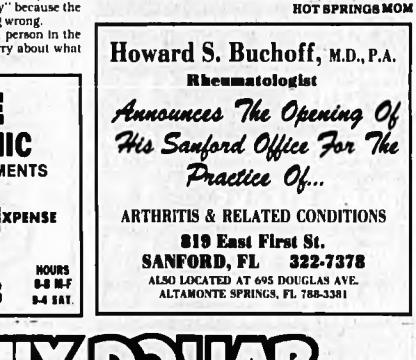

DEAR GROUP: It's possible for a husband to deny it. but in view of such overwhelming circumstantial evidence, it would be impossible to believe him.

DEAR ABBY: When you advised the young girl who wanted to get married to go to college first because one day she might have to support herself and a child. Well, after five years of marriage and a darling little son, that's exactly what happened. Her husband suddenly decided that the responsibilities of marriage were not for him.

The responsibility, of course, became our daughter's. so she and her son are now living with us, and she's gone back to college to become a registered nurse.

It's difficult for all of us, but we are glad we can give her the assistance she needs to become self-supporting. How much easier it would have been if she had finished her training and then married and had a family.

Abby, if all the young girls out there who should have taken that advice, but didn't, were laid end to end, they would reach from UCLA to the University of Maine.

Soup Base Of Satisfying Supper Dish

Discovering tasty. nourishing dishes which ple can be prepared quickly is way to meet this is by using quality ready-toserve soups as a base and adding some touches of your own to create a satisfying meal.

Meatball Soup can be mercovered for 5 minutes. made from start to serve in under a half-hour. Ground beef plus seasonings are shaped into small balls and quickly browned, then simmered in a hearty ready-to-serve tomato soup which you've spiced with chili and garlie powders. (The soup already contains chunks of garden vegetables and macaroni in a rich tomato base.) Serve the Meatball Soup with warm tortillas or over steamed rice.

Another satisfying supper begins with a can of ready-to-serve green split pea soup - a hearty, "homemade" soup textured with split peas and celery. We've created a Curried Chicken-Pea Soup by sauteeing onion with curry powder, then adding the soup and some diced apple and chicken chunks. Crusty bread for dunking and glasses of cold beer or white wine would pair nicely. These recipes wre devel-

The Incredible Egg Teams Well With Microwave

There's hardly any food we've heard about. We're more convenient or easy to sure you'll create even fix than the incredible more. edible egg. and nothing cooks faster than the microwave.

However, there are also always use a wooden pick cream few foods as sensitive to or tip of a knife to break heat as eggs. They require the membrane of the egg tender loving care and, in the microwave oven, some special handling techniques.

There are two main problems in microwave egg cookery. Because the yolk of an egg contains fat and the white doesn't, the yolk cooks faster. Also, an egg may explode as it cooks because internal pressure hullds up very quickly during the rapid heating. Using half or onc-third power usually solves both these problems. Covering the egg with a cover, lid, plastic wrap or waxed paper as it cooks also encourages more even cooking.

There are three exceptions to the reduced power rule: omelets, scrambled eggs and poached eggs. They cook well at Full power or High. For almost all other egg dishes the energy produced on Full power is simply too much and we recommend a reduced power setting.

The following recipes use those power settings most common to all ovens. Full power or High and either 50% power (Medium) or 30% power (Medium-Low). More than 90% of all ovens in the U.S. have one or all of these settings. The 50% power or medium to 30% power or Medium-Low range is often labeled Defrost. ·Check your oven's instruction booklet to see what setting provides what power.

The following recipes were tested in ovens from six different manufacturers ranging in power from 625 to 675 watts. Because all microwave ovens differ in their cooking patterns you may find that your oven requires more, or pc. you may wish to note the exact times and techniques you find best for your oven. When in doubt about timing or turning. ALWAYS consult the directions for your own microwave oven, because those instructions are designed for your specific brand and model. Remember that many factors may affect cooking time. The waitage output of ovens varies from brand to brand and from model to model of the same brand. It can also vary, with the time of day or from season to season because of demands on the local electrical supply. We suggest you set your timer for the shortest cooking time given in the recipe. Check for doneness then and add cooking time in 15 to 30 second bursts as necessary. Undercooking is easily solved, but overcooking is irreparable! The temperature of the food to be cooked can also influence cooking time. The following recipes were tested and timed with ingredients at temperatures ordinarily used in the home - eggs. milk and other refrigerated foods directly from the refrigerator, other foods at room temperature. All recipes were tested with Large rggs.

As you look over the following recipes, you'll note a favorite egg recipe is not included - the souffle. We recommend conventional cooking for this airy dish because the finished product from a microwave may be less than satisfactory. We also recommend preparing puffy omelets only if you use a browning dish.

As you cook eggs in your microwave oven, you're sure to come up with nifty tricks and ideas that are perfect for your family. your favorite recipes and your oven. ## Anti-Crime Bill Vote Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A proposal to penalize officials like former President Richard Nixon and U.S. Information Agency chief Charles Wick for secretly taping telephone calls delayed a Senate vote on a major anti-crime bill.

The proposal would outlaw taping of phone conversations by federal employees except in criminal investigations or intelligence-gathering. Debate on the measure. offered as an amendment to the crime bill, postponed a final vote on the entire package Tuesday.

The taping amendment was introduced by several Democratic senators including Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio and Democratic leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia.

"We thought this kind of activity was behind us," said Bumpers, mentioning the tapes that became Nixon's downfall in the Watergate scandal. "Wasn't once cnough?"

He said, "Wick is not the issue," because the USIA head apologized for his taping and said he will stop. Wick, who initially denied he recorded calls, said he did not realize such taping was against the law in a number of states.

A vote was put off until today on the amendment, which sponsors would like to attach to anti-crime legislation narrowing the insanity defense and abolishing parole for federal crimes.

The crime bill would require defendants who plead insanity as a defense to prove with "clear and convincing evidence" they did not know what they were doing when the crime was committed. The burden now is on the prosecution to prove the defendant same beyond a reasonable doubt.

The proposal grew out of the furor that arose when John Hinckley Jr. was acquitted by reason of insanity in June 1982 on charges of trying to assassinate President Reagan. He now is in a federal mental hospital in Washington.

Broad support was obtained for the overall crime bill by omitting four controversial issues. The death penalty, habcas corpus, the federal tort claims act and the exclusionary rule were left out under an agreement allowing each to be handled separately later.

House passage of the entire package is uncertain because of opposition to its sentencing and bail provisions. But approval of parts of the anti-crime bill is expected, because pressure to pass such popular legislation intensifies in an election year.

Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md., tried without success to change the bill with amendments that included a proposal to make the standardized sentencing guidelines of a new commission less binding on judges. The commission would replace the federal parole system. All Mathias' amendments were voted down.

The bill also would require a fail term for anyone convicted of using a firearm during a violent crime that falls under federal jurisdiction. It would impose a mandatory five-year term for using any handgun loaded with armor-piercing bullets - often called "cop killer" bullets because they can penetrate bullet-proof vests.

Reporters' Jailing Appealed

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) - The Tampa Tribune and the Brooksvillebased Daily Sun-Journal have appealed a circuit court order jailing two reporters. for refusing to reveal confidential news. sources.

The reporters were found guilty of contempt of court Nov. 10 by Hernando Circuit Judge L.R. Huffstetler Jr. when they refused to divulge the source of information in stories they wrote about a complaint filed with the Florida Ethics. Commission against two county commissioners.

Florida law makes it a misdemeanor to reveal an ethics commission case before the investigation into the allegation has been completed and the results made public.

Hulfstetler ordered Jim Tunstall, a reporter for The Tribune, and William Aubrey, a reporter for the Dally Sun-Journal, jailed for six months after finding them in contempt.

He told the reporters they could be released from jail whenever they revealed the source of their information.

The reporters were released after about 90 minutes in Jail when attorneys filed notice of appeal.

They argued the state failed to prove a compelling need for the information sought from the reporters, that prosecutors failed to show in court they had exhausted all other sources from which the information could have been obtained, and that the information is not relevant to the investigation.

...Reagan's Budget

swollen budget deficits that congressional leaders and prominent economics have warned will force interest rates to rise and abort the economic recovery.

Martin Feldstein, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, had recommended that the president include tax increases of about $50 billion a year over the next three years to reduce the deficits.

The deficit in fiscal 1983 was a record $195.4 billion. Before Reagan took office, the deficit's previous high mark had been $66 billion in 1976.

As in previous Reagan budgets, nondefense spending associated with national security, such as foreign aid. nuclear research and the space program. are increased and slight cuts are made in education, legal services, jobs programs. mass transit and economic development grants to states and cities.

The budget includes $150 million to begin designing a permanent, manned space station that Reagan hopes to get into orbit by the early 1990s, and provides $2.5 billion over four years in economic aid to Central America based on the Kissinger Commission's recommendations.

The budget proposes $305 billion for the military in spending authority, the right to enter into long-term contracts. and spend money over several years. That is an increase of $46.8 billion over this year - or a 13 percent real increase. In addition. Reagan is seeking another

$7.8 billion for development and production of nuclear weapons - raising the national defense total to $313 billion. Last year's nuclear military budget was $6.7 billion.

On taxes. Reagan again proposed providing tuition tax credits to parents who send their children to private schools and to tax employees whose employer-paid health insurance premiums are in excess of $70 a month for single plans and $175 a month for family plans. Neither proposal made it through Congress last year.

To help close the "gender gap," Reagan for the first time proposed creation of a tax-deductible "spousal independent retirement account" that would put housewives on a par with working women in the amount they can deposit yearly toward their retirement.

The cost of living increase for federal employees would be delayed from June until January and federal retirees would be asked to contribute more to their pension fund.

Here are some other budget highlights: Defense

The record $313 billion budget includes money for new helicopters and M-1 tanks for the army, the MX missile and the B-1B manned bomber. The program also calls for developing the stealth bomber, modernizing warning and strategic defense systems and developing and procuring command, control and communication systems. It also carmarks $1.77 billion for the "potentially feasible" creation of a defensive shield to protect the United States from a nuclear attack.

Social Services

Reagan's budget calls for a $2.1 billion cut in Medicare and other social insurance benefit programs. A $1.1 billion cut in Medicaid for the poor is envisioned for next year. Elderly patients on Medicare would have to pay more of their own medical bills.

Education

The budget outlines $1.8 billion in education cuts, the bulk of which, $1.1 billion, would come in aid to higher education. Foreign Ald

Reagan sought $15.2 billion in new congressional authority for foreign aid -$9.3 billion or 60 percent of it economic. the rest military. Total aid outlays in fiscal 1985 would be only $12.9 billion. because some of the money would not be spent immediately.

Illegal Food Sales Probed

By United Press International The U.S. Embassy in El Salvador is investigating reports that American wheat, oil and other food intended for free distribution to refugees under a program run by the army is being sold illegally at Salvadoran markets, officials said.

"We are looking into it," a U.S. Embassy spokesman said Tuesday.

Officials of the U.S. Agency for International Development said the food was supposedly to be distributed for free to refugees in San Vicente, 28 miles east of San-Salvador, under a government program run by the army.

But journalists visiting the area reported vendors in San Vicente's market were selling Americandonated food such as wheat and cooking oil.

Reporters said they saw 50-pound bags of bulgar, a type of wheat, clearly marked "Furnished by the people of the United States, not to be sold or exchanged," on sale Sunday in the San Vicente market.

Other sources said refugees in San Vicente complain they have not received any U.S. food donations since October.

The National Commission for Restoration of Areas, (CONARA), a Salvadoran army-run relief agency, is in charge of distributing the AID food to refugees.

The food distribution plan, based on pacification programs used by the U.S. military in Vietnam, was designed to help resettle abandoned villages and farms with progovernment peasants in rebeldominated areas.

The program was created by U.S. military and civilian advisers and began with much fanfare last July but Western observers say it has produced only mixed results at best.

Observers, who asked to remain anonymous, complained that guerrillas continue to operate freely inthe region and are teaching Marxist principles in schools reconstructed with U.S. government funds.

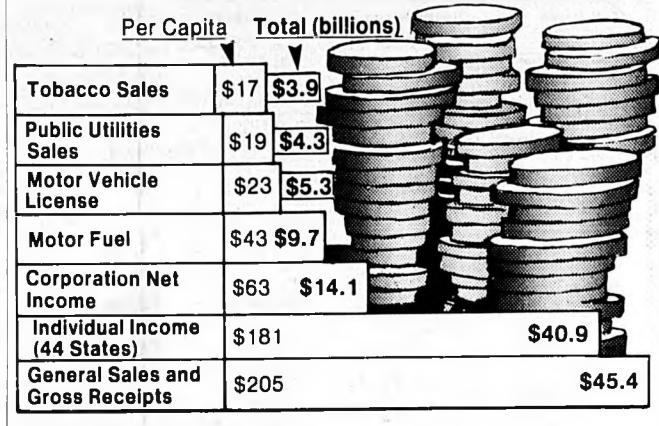

Secretary of State George Shultz is holding high-level talks with leaders in El Salvador, focusing on human rights and the possibilities of increasing U.S. aid.

In San Jose, Costa Rica, a govcrnment official said Nicaraguan rebels will not find a haven in Costa Rica, which refuses to sacrifice its neutrality in face of the guerillas.

The Costa Rica Security Council was strongly critical Tuesday of the rebels in response to 400 unarmed Nicaraguans entering the country last Saturday.

In Managua, a Nicaraguan leader blasted President Reagan Monday as the "major cause of destabilization" in Central America and said his decision to run for a second term will only mean more turmoil in the region.

"We cannot expect any change in his aggressive policy toward Nicaragua." said Rafael Solis, secretary of the leftist government's The charges come at a time when appointed Council of State Monday.

The grants also have raised questions about the financing of the various units of the far-flung PUSH network, which Jackson first formed in Chicago in the carly 1970s as "People United to Save Humanity.

Twenty-three percent of the respondents said they maintained at least an A-minus average in high school, down for the third straight year. The number of students with C averages increased.

Astin said the trend indicates that "grade inflation" evident during most of the 1970s is being reversed.

He noted, however, that grades of 1983 freshmen were still far higher than those of 1969 freshmen, when C students outnumbered A students by a better than 2-1 margin.

Souffle Elegant For Any Occasion

What dish represents the ultimate in elegance? Many people would answer. "A souffie!" Now, what elegant dish is also easy to make and economical to serve? Believe it or not, "a souffe" could be the answer to this ducstion, too.

This Lemony Asparagus Souffle recipe uses a new streamlined preparation method. The only part you need to be careful about is beating the egg whites just until they won't slip in a tilted bowl. The rest of the recipe is a simple matter of making a basic cheese sauce. adding a refreshing whisper of lemon and luscious green asparagus and gently folding them all into the whites.

Though your guests may think they're dining on a cloud, this souffle supplies a substantial amount of good nutrition. And, since eggs are the main protein source, it's an economical dish, too. For brunch, a ladies' lunch or an intimate candlelit dinner, break out the eggs for an casy, economical, elegant souffle.

New Twist To Stir-Frying

Meals requiring a minimum of preparation time help control calorie intake. Nibbling while waiting for meals to cook often contributes unwanted calories. A delicious stir-fry dinner takes less than 20 minutes to prepare. Be sure that all ingredients are aliced and chopped before you start cooking.

The success of this highly versatile entree relies on the selection of fresh, crisp ingredients. For contrasting color and texture, select different vegetables and compatible seasonings for an endless, nutritious medley of vegetables and beef.

Microwave Magic

Oriental Food Fun And Easy

Oriental food is fun, easy to prepare, and not too expensive. The vegetables and the basics are easily found in most grocery or speciality stores. Special equipment, such as a wok, is not needed when using the microwave oven. A simple Oriental meal can become a festive affair by adding chopsticks, warm, moist towels and fortune cookles. Try some of these recipes and when the occasion calls for it, you will be prepared to have a complete Oriental dinner party.

EGG DROP SOUP

1. Bring to boil in batter bowl 8 cups of water.

2. Add 8 chicken bouillon cubes or 8 teaspoons of instant. Stir until dissolved.

a circular pattern. This will cook the egg. 6. Add chopped green onion and 1 tablespoon of soy sauce. Serve hot.

This stock may be used for wonton soup also. Omit the beaten egg.

Chicken, pork, or beef may be used for this entree. All of these recipes accompanied by rice and/or fried noodles provide the basis for a quick. nutritious change of taste for your family.
