Plight Of Vietnamese Told By Sanford Officer

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

No one has to explain to Maj. Rae H. Irland, U. S. Army, one of Sanford's unsung heroes, the definition of neighbor. During the past year, Major Irland, a former Herald news boy and a graduate of Seminole High School, has been practicing the virtue of brotherly love to the thousands of Vietnamese, who the late Dr. Tom Dooley. American missionary physician to use Orient, described as ones "who ain't got it so good." Irland served as an advisory officer not in the military effort in South Vietnam but to the people of that war-torn country on all the aspects of life. "My tour was a rewarding experience," Ireland says, "The people are a little slow at accepting advice, but they need help desperately." "We advise them on every health, hygiene, agriculture,
