Sanford to Review Savings, Loan Plan

By BOB LLOYD
City Editor

Sanford zoning and planning commissioners will discuss a site development plan Thursday night for a new Mid-

Florida Federal Savings and Loan Association office at the northwest corner of U.S. 17-92 and Airport Boulevard.

Other site plans on the 8 p.m. meeting agenda include: office building at 217 South Oak Ave.; miniwarehouses, southwest corner of 12th Street and French Avenue; commercial building at southeast corner of U.S. 17-92 and Airport Boulevard.

The shopping center, proposed for a K-Mart store, food and drug stores and other shops, has been revised by developers after they were told last month their preliminary plans didn't meet city requirements on parking and access to city commissioners on open space requirements for new developments, a conditional use.

Also on the Z-P agenda is a discussion of recommendations from the liberal son of a former governor and a Princeton-educated former college government professor when they elect a governor in November.

Democrat Edmund G. Brown depicts an old son and namesake of the man defeated by Ronald Reagan in 1966, and Republican Houston 11.

Flournoy won party nominations in California's primary election Tuesday.

There were more than 14 organizations represented, many of whom reported they were manning a couple of the more than 60 different booths scheduled for this affair.

Guestimates on the anticipated crowd swelled to 50,000 or more, based on the fact that there will not be any of the other service organizations in the south end of the county.

It will be quite refreshing to see the patriotic theme reinstated with all of downtown Sanford covered with bunting, as well as all of the displays and workers at Ft. Mellon Park.

Thought for Today: Two things are bad for the heart—running up stairs and running down stairs—Bernard Baruch, American businessman and statesman 1870-1965.

County Nixes Fire Alarms; OKs Airport Jail

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

A controversial proposal to require home fire alarm systems in all new one and two family homes in the unincorporated areas of Seminole County has been rejected by the Board of County Commissioners.

Instead, the commission, led by former insurance salesman Greg Drummond, opted to encourage insurance companies to reduce fire coverage rates for citizens voluntarily installing home alarm systems.

To be truly effective as both a life and property saver, both systems should be hooked up to local fire departments so instant response can be made without a telephone call—which often comes too late.

Echoing the complaints of Sanford resident Jim Crow, who blasted the board for considering a "dictatorial" ordinance, Drummond called the proposal an "unreasonable suggestion...which would cost taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars in the coming years."

Although Drummond claimed the figures show risk of fire death in Seminole is almost non-existent, according to statistics, Vice Chairman Dick Williams chided him by asking "if the threat is not so high, how come my fire insurance premiums are?"

Drummond questioned figures cited by County Fire Administrator Gary Kaiser claiming many of the 6,000 nighttime fire deaths nationally last year could have been avoided by home alarm systems, since the figures don't show the actual cause of the fires.

The board also discounted Kaiser's point that several states, including Massachusetts, have recently passed a home fire alarm requirement similar to his proposal.

No reply was made to Kaiser's point that the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Veterans Administration have been requiring at least one automatic smoke detector in homes since May 15.

Kaiser was unable to overcome board fears that a single smoke detector with wiring would cost as little as $50 due to several weeks of bad publicity generated by two home alarm sales companies using high pressure scare tactics.

Board To Vote On Lease
Sheriff John Polk's plan to build a minimum security jail at Sanford Airport is now in the hands of the airport authority.

Sanford Airport Authority Commissioners approved their end of the proposed $240,000 project.

Airport manager R.S. "Red" Cleveland told Polk's request to convert old Navy Barracks Building 310 to a three-story jail was considered June 13, as previously agreed.

While Cleveland would not comment on the authority member's present attitude about the project, he said if the county's presentation sticks to earlier proposals a decision will be made next week.

The commission Tuesday authorized Commissioner Sid Vilhen Jr. and jail administrator George Proudfoot, filling in for Polk while the sheriff is on vacation, to negotiate a lease on the structure for up to $42,000 annually.

Polk today said he was confident the authority and the commission will be able to work out a lease agreement, and settle control over security arrangements which are satisfactory to the airport's 80 tenants.

Actual construction on the 200-prisoner structure, which will consist of extensive renovations to the interior of the building, and fencing and other security arrangements outside, could begin by the end of July, he said.

Still up in the air is how the commission will pay for the jail, if approved. Tuesday, the board agreed to study using part of the nearly $400,000 remaining in the court house and jail bond issue passed several years ago.

Two Sanford men were charged today with firebombing the homes and cars of three area policemen last month. Arresting officers say the bombings are believed to have resulted from recent crackdowns on drugs and street gambling.

Bernie Elzer Payne, 20, of 93 Castle Brewer Court, and Nathaniel Lee Williams, 22, of 37 Castle Brewer Court were charged with first degree arson and jailed in lieu of $10,000 bond each.

Williams was arrested March 9, 1974 for gambling and released on $100 bond after spending one night in jail according to police records. He was found guilty of the charge the same month and paid a $50 fine. However, Williams was not arrested by any of the three officers firebombed. He was arrested by a white sheriff's deputy. Payne's arson charge is believed to be his first brush with the law.

The firebombings occurred May 1, when three black officers, two Sanford patrolmen and one sheriff's deputy, were shaken by flames erupting from their cars and homes.

Both of the men arrested are black. Sheriff's detectives said they expected more arrests.

Sanford patrolman Eugene Fogle was the victim of the first bombing according to reports. Fogle said flames shot out of the rear seat of his car shortly after 10 p.m. on May 1, but damage was averted by a quick thinking neighbor with a garden hose. A lone black man was seen running from the scene depicting said.

Funding May Come For Sewer

ALAMONTONE SPRINGS — Dade County's rejection of $12.97 million grant from the U.S. Department of Pollution Control (DPC) in federal money for the city's planned regional sewer system.

Mayor Norman Floyd Tuesday night said DPC has scheduled a 9 a.m., June 24 public hearing on the city's plan for sewer funding.

The city will face a money crunch on the sewer plant expansion to 7.5 million gallons daily capacity. Although the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has approved a $3.4 million grant for the treatment plant, costs have accelerated to the point where the grant will no longer pay 75 percent of construction costs.

In other business, Floyd announced his request for allocation of $48,000 in federal revenue sharing money. He said $17,500 will be used for public safety — $14,100 for a new fire tanker truck, and the balance for a police base station at the water tower, — $2,700 for mosquito fogging equipment, $1,500 for operating expenses and $27,000 for recreation.

The recreation money will go to the construction of a tennis court at the city center park and the San Sebastian park.

Council approved a changeorder for $34,890 to Orange Paving and Construction for drainage and Newburyport, Cherry Street and Hermits Trail.

Council also: Delayed until next week appointments to the board of zoning appeal and advisory committees and the award of a commercial garbage and trash franchise.

$100 Wait
GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A playful game of catch really put Rusty, the Harold Krauses' 7-year-old Chesapeake retriever, in the dog house.
"Here, catch," Krause said to his wife as he tossed her a wadded $100 bill.
But Rusty also was listening and he caught the bill in his mouth when it bounced off Mrs. Krause's knee.
Krause said when he tried coaxing Rusty to give up the money with a piece of bacon, the dog swallowed both. A veterinarian's attempts to have Rusty disgorge the bill failed.
The Krauses said they waited for nature to take its course. And after two days of patient attention, they said the bill was recovered—in usable condition.

Physicist Honored
PARIS (AP) — The $30,000 Cino del Duca prize has been awarded to dissident Soviet physicist Andrei Sakharov. The prize is given to "an author whose work constitutes a message for humanity," jury Chairman Louis Leprince-Ringuet said.
He said the jury tried to telephone Sakharov in Moscow to tell him of the award, but the line was cut "almost immediately."
Lep-Ringuet recalled Sakharov's plea for human rights aid, in reference to his reputation as father of the Soviet H-bomb, noted that Sakharov "helped his country escape from the shadow of American domination, then became concerned by the dangers threatening the world, and analyzes them with great power."

Reagan Speeches
SEATTLE (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan managed two news conferences, a speech to a Seattle group and an attack on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in two days at his last National Governors' Conference. He made clear his opposition to the view of a heavy majority of governors favoring national health insurance, particularly a proposal Kennedy is backing, a strong federal health care bill and broad action in campaign reform and governmental ethics. He also left an obvious impression of a 1976 presidential candidacy, though he said "it is far too early" for talk about his making the race to have much meaning.

Ike About Monty
LONDON (AP) — An upcoming book quotes the late Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as saying Britain's World War II commander, Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, was a man who "just can't tell the truth."
American author Cornelius Ryan said the late president and World War II supreme allied commander in Europe gave him an interview with the promise it wouldn't be used until after his death.

Schlesinger To Norway
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger will fly to Norway on Friday for North Atlantic Treaty Organization meetings.
The Defense Department announced the trip Tuesday, adding Schlesinger would not fly to Brussels for meetings of NATO defense ministers, as previously planned.

Nixon Aboard Yacht
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has spent another evening on the Potomac aboard the presidential yacht Sequoia.
Nixon dined aboard the vessel Tuesday with White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig Jr., Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and a Klingenstein aide, Brig. Gen. Brent Scowcroft. A spokesman said the group discussed the Midwest situation and Nixon's upcoming trip to Moscow.
The President has dined aboard the yacht several times in recent weeks.

Ex-Miss World Critical
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Doctors say former Miss World, Marjy Wallace, is in critical condition, suffering from a potentially lethal dosage of a sleep-inducing drug, Doriden.
The doctors, who asked not to be named, said Miss Wallace was placed on a kidney dialysis machine to flush the drug out of her system. The Indianapolis model is in intensive care.
Miss Wallace, 30, a close friend of the late race driver Peter Revinsky, was described by one doctor as "comatose, and in pretty bad shape."
Asked if he might have intentionally taken an overdose of the drug, he father, Del Wallace, said, "I'd be surprised if she would do anything like that."
Miss Wallace was crowned last November in London, but World pageant organizers revoked her title after publicity about her relationship with British soccer star George Best.

Drug Manufacturer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post reported today that drug manufacturer Elmer H. Bobst in 1971 said a friend "would come up with $100,000" for President Nixon's re-election campaign in return for help with a case before the Federal Trade Commission.
The Post said the offer was made to then Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell in an Oct. 13, 1971, letter from Bobst, a long-time business friend of the President's whom Nixon once called his "honorary father."
Bobst, 52, is major stockholder and honorary board chairman of Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Co., whose proposed merger with Parke, Davis Inc. has been challenged by the FTC.

Mine Plant May Close
SILVER BAY, Minn. (AP) — Mayor Melvin Koepke says a new court ruling in the controversial Reserve Mining Co. case apparently means the firm will have to dispose of taconite tailings from its big plant here on land or close the facility.
A three-judge panel of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis, Mo., granted on Tuesday a 70-day extension of a stay on a lower court order directing Reserve to stop discharging tailings from the lowgrade iron ore into Lake Superior.
The federal government, the city of Duluth and the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan sought to halt the discharge, amounting to 87,000 tons a day.

Panel Probing Link Of Nixon, Milk Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is turning to President Nixon's 1971 decision to raise milk prices to see if it was linked to a $2 million campaign pledge from dairy co-ops.
The investigation, to start today, involves bribery, which the Constitution lists as an impeachable offense.
Moving more swiftly now that it has passed the tangled Watergate scandal, the committee completed on Tuesday the presentation of evidence on the settlement of an anti-trust litigation against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.
It also decided to have its staff question Charles W. Colson but postponed a decision on whether the former White House counsel would be called as a witness before the committee.
Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who overrode strong objections from members who want Colson called now, said he would wait for the staff's report on what Colson says before deciding whether to have him as a witness.
Colson played a major role in the White House's dealings with the dairy industry, outlined in a summary prepared by the Judiciary Committee's staff of the case it will present.
The staff memorandum identifies Colson as the White House contact for the Associated Milk Producers Inc., and says in the spring or summer of 1970 AMPPI promised him $2 million for Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.
On March 12, 1971, former Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin set milk price supports lower than the dairy industry wanted. Industry representatives called on Colson and other administration officials to set Hardin's order aside and fix a higher support level, the memorandum says.

The crucial part of the staff's presentation centers on March 23, 1971, when Nixon, who had previously been informed of the $2 million pledge, met at the White House with industry representatives and thanked them for their support.
Later that afternoon, says the memorandum, Nixon met with key advisers and decided to increase milk price supports. Nixon has said his decision was influenced by heavy pressure from Congress for an increase.
The committee memorandum says no announcement of Nixon's decision was made and that immediately after the meeting Colson got in touch with the late Murray M. Chotiner. He had left the White House a few weeks earlier after serving as an aide to Nixon, and was then representing the dairy industry.
"Later in the night of March 23, AMPPI officials and other dairy representatives engaged in all night meetings... at which they agreed to make political contributions to the President's re-election campaign and to contribute $25,000 by the evening of March 24," the memorandum says.
During the evening of March 24 Chotiner told several dairy men that former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman expected the dairy industry to reaffirm the $2 million commitment in light of the forthcoming increase in milk prices, which they did, the memorandum says.

—Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said Monday's guilty plea by former White House aide Charles W. Colson came after a long and tearful prayer session at Colson's home the previous night.
—Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., disclosed confidential White House documents that he said reveal a scheme to reward friends and punish enemies in the awarding of federal grants.

President Abolishes List Of Subversives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's list of subversive organizations, born of the post-World War II Red scare, has been killed as serving no useful purpose.
President Nixon issued an executive order Tuesday declaring that the list "is hereby abolished and shall not be used for any purpose."
The action prevents government officials from routinely asking job applicants whether they have ever belonged to any of the 300 groups designated subversive.
Though most government agencies gradually have dropped such questions, the Defense Department had continued to use the list in screening job applicants, said Kevin Maroney, head of the Justice Department's internal security section.

Nixon's order does allow government officials to ask job applicants whether they ever belonged to the Communist Party and to inquire in general terms about membership in "any foreign or domestic organization... which unlawfully advocates" violence to overthrow the government or deprive others of their constitutional rights.
Maroney said the new standard heightens the burden of proof for rejecting a job applicant as a potential security risk.
But he noted that the order does little more than formalize standards laid down by the Supreme Court from 1951 on.
Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said Nixon's order allows government personnel security programs to continue with "adequate safeguards for the rights of all individuals."
Saxbe said he recommended doing away with the list created by the Justice Department at President Harry S. Truman's order in 1947. He said Truman was wrong to let the department "to assemble the list without the considerations for due process."
The Supreme Court in 1951 said no organization could be designated subversive without a hearing.

Tape Experts S. Africa, Venezuela Under Fire In Sugar Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — South African racial policies, U.S. trade with oil-producing nations and the rights of migrant workers are at issue as the House takes up an extension of the Sugar Act.
In the past the House could only pass the bill without amendments or kill the program. But as a result of this year's open rule numerous and wide-ranging amendments have been promised.
The bill would extend the program for five years. It would continue import quotas for 32 nations, sharply reduce federal payments to growers, make an adjustment to a price objective formula that could increase sugar prices, and increase federal protection of sugar field workers.

The proposed quotas for South Africa and Venezuela are especially controversial. With the strong backing of civil rights groups, Rep. Parren Mitchell, D-Md., will attempt to remove the 63,000-ton quota for South Africa from the bill.
The Congressional Black Caucus, numerous church, civil rights and foreign policy groups maintain that the United States should not grant a quota to a country with a policy of racial discrimination.

War Hero To Mental Hospital

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A Medal of Honor winner who said he couldn't adjust to being a hero and was growing marijuana as part of his fight for personal freedom has been admitted to a mental institution for observation.
Kenneth Kays, 24, entered the state mental health center at Chester on Tuesday for observation on an emergency hospitalization petition granted by State Atty. Robert Hawkins of Wayne County at the request of Kays' father, John.
Hawkins said the elder Kays asked him for help when he found his son in an incoherent state at his trailer home.
"The grounds were that the boy was yelling and screaming and was irrational," Hawkins said.
Young Kays was arrested twice and convicted once this spring on charges of cultivation and possession of marijuana. Kays openly grew about 100 marijuana plants in a small plot at his father's farm east of this Southern Illinois town of 8,000.
In a recent news interview, he said what he did in Vietnam and what he was doing in Fairfield were parts of his quest for personal freedom to discover himself.
He said marijuana is a tool in discovering the self and he didn't believe the law had the right to take it away from him.

His work for this degree included the design and construction of an electronic instrument to be used in research at Cornell. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Cornell last year.
Pearce has accepted a position as an associate development engineer with the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Oak Ridge, Tenn. He will be working in the development of peaceful uses of atomic energy, in particular he will be involved in research leading to the harnessing of the energy in the hydrogen nucleus in order to provide cheap and abundant energy.
Pearce will assume his duties after a short vacation in Sanford.

AEC Nixes Talk Delay
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission board has refused to postpone hearings on a proposal to float two nuclear power plants off the New Jersey coast.
The Atlantic City Citizens Council on the Environment and county freeholders asked for the postponement until the AEC completes hearings on whether offshore power systems of Jacksonville will be licensed to manufacture the plants.
Dr. Willard Rosenberg of the AEC said holding both hearings about the same time "is analogous to our batting against two pitchers, with one arm tied behind us, in repetitive succession."

Bomber Under Budget Eye
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force B1 bomber is facing the next challenge in the Senate continuing debate on the $21.8-billion military weapons program bill.
Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., called for a Senate vote today on his amendment to slow down B1 development by cutting funding to $200 million from the $499 million the Defense Department requested.
That would defer a production decision on the B1 from the fall of 1974 to 1980.
Meanwhile, the McGovern amendment would require an independent study of less expensive alternatives, such as modified versions of the existing B52 and FB11 bombers.

Downhome Politics Juggled Constantly

EDITOR'S NOTE — Downhome politics and legislative duty are juggled constantly during a busy U.S. senator's average day. Folks back home, says Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., don't always understand. Between phone calls, visitors and answering the mail, Johnston attends to committees and legislating — his "real business."
Johnston puts in a call to Stevenson and starts working his way through the "IN" box on his desk when his secretary comes in with word that a man from the Baton Rouge Chamber of Commerce is outside.
The senator hustles out to where the man is waiting in the office. "Today's a big day for us," he warns, before lapsing into a moment of pleasantries about how members of the Baton Rouge delegation managed to miss his plane.
Johnston returns to his gold-carpeted inner sanctum where a call from Stevenson is waiting. The two spend a few minutes planning a floor exchange that will explain the effect standing controls would have on the health care industry. This cannot be done, officially known as a "colloquy," is necessary to establish the legislative intent of the bill should it become law, Johnston explains.
Hanging up the phone, he turns to a job he says is "worse than anything else in the world" — answering mail. His staff already has drafted the needed replies, "but they just don't quite sound right." So he dictates them again.
Next a phone call from a Louisiana reporter who wants to know what Johnston will be doing on the floor this afternoon.

Johnston, 41, says this is probably the single most important piece of legislation he has handled in his two plus years in the Senate. For that reason, he explains, what is not entirely typical of today's average day is like for him.
But still this day does have the basic ingredients of any other day, requiring him to balance his legislative duties, either in committee or on the floor, with enough down home politicking to keep the folks back in Louisiana happy. "You can spend all your time politicking," Johnston says, "but if you're doing your job right you're either in committee or on the floor."
But today his sponsorship of standby economic controls goes against the grain of most of his constituent Louisiana businessmen who happen to be in town. There is going to be some explaining to do this evening when he attends a Chamber of Commerce cocktail party.
"One of the most difficult things up here is to try to get the story across to home," he says.
This morning, for instance, an influential constituent called to ask why the senator was advocating an immediate and indefinite freeze on all wages and prices. He wasn't. The biggest frustration in being a senator, Johnston says, is "being almost totally misunderstood and seeming almost powerless to do anything about it."
Another frustration is the unwanted but unavoidable interruptions that occur during even the best-planned of days. Each morning when he arrives in his office, Johnston is handed a 5-by-8-inch pink slip and a 3-by-5 green card, both outlining his schedule for the day.
He keeps the pink slip on his desk and carries the green card around with him in his coat pocket.

Editorial Pirates Plunder State Treasury

They'll do it every time. Just as soon as the Legislature gets your attention riveted on a particularly controversial matter they'll slip in a wage increase for themselves or their colleagues.

In this particular case the Florida legislators passed the Florida Legislature's budget and the somewhat halfhearted objections of Gov. Reubin Askew and his cabinet — hefty wage hikes for the governor, cabinet members, judges, state attorneys, public defenders and three members of the Public Service Commission.

What makes the whole exercise somewhat amusing is that the technique never varies, not even from state to state. If you don't have to go before the voters that particular year you lobby for salary increases; if you do have to go before the voters you piously stand on the sidelines and say "Gee, folks, I don't really want the money but the other guys insisted." Significantly, no one ever turns the money back to the treasury.

In this particular case the governor and members of the Cabinet must present themselves — and their records — for public inspection so the lobbying effort was left to members of the judiciary, who do not have to stand for election.

And the legislative — or third branch of government — went along because, according to the rules of the game, the executive and judicial branches will be making speeches all over the state next year about the need to raise salaries of the Legislature "to attract better people."

That was the argument used by the judicial branch lobbyists during the past session — give us more money and government will be able to attract qualified judges. What this tells us about the men wearing the black robes was all too visible in the fertile imaginations of our readers.

In any event the pirates have

National Church Council Misleads Us On Amnesty

By WILLIAM A. RUSHER
The Herald Services

It's close so misstated, and the NCC's interpretation of the vote so tendentious, that deliberate deception on the part of the National Council of Churches is obvious for religion lately. His enthusiasm for left-liberal political causes remains as passionate as ever.

A little over a year ago, the NCC sponsored nationally a one-hour television program entitled "Duty Bound: The Verdict." It was purportedly designed to give Americans a chance to say whether amnesty ought to be extended to draft dodgers and deserters of the Vietnam War period. Viewers were invited to send in their votes, and in due course the NCC happily announced that 67 percent of the 12,000 who voted "favored amnesty."

The project was evidently deemed a huge success, for the NCC ran the same show all over again, and in now tabulating the second-round vote. The idea presumably is that, with the passage of time, still more viewers will "favor amnesty," thus demonstrating a trend.

The trouble, or at any rate one trouble, is that "Duty Bound" is so slanted, the question put to the viewers at

Askew Wary Of Adams

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew's choice for re-election campaign manager indicates that he is not taking lightly the Democratic primary thrust posed by Lt. Gov. Tom Adams.

The governor selected Jim Smith, a Tallahassee lawyer who has been an aide to both Askew and Adams. Smith worked as an Adams aide for two years prior to Askew's selection of Adams as his running mate in 1970.

Smith then joined the joint 1970 campaign team and became an Askew aide. Before leaving government about two years ago, he ran Askew's successful corporate profits tax referendum.

James A. Phorpe, Askew's top aide — and another former Adams aide — said that Smith's campaign experience and Askew's confidence in him were primary factors in his selection.

He said Smith's knowledge of Adams' ways was another important consideration.

"He knows Adams well, too," A. Phorpe said. "He fits the bill in many respects."

Askew's campaign apparently will contain a number of aides who worked first for Adams. Bernie Parrish, who spent about a year on Adams staff, quit the governor's office Friday to join Askew's campaign staff.

A. Phorpe said the governor plans to begin his campaign in earnest in a few weeks.

Slated to leave the governor's office shortly to join the campaign organization are Tom Blaney, a travel and scheduling coordinator; Don Price, press secretary; and Harvey Cotton, a law enforcement aide who will coordinate small county campaign efforts.

The Florida Highway Patrol issued a news release last week predicting that 28 persons would die on Florida roads over the memorial day July 4 weekend ending at midnight May 27.

Routine enough — except that the release was not postmarked until May 28, the day after the holiday.

The rapidly approaching election campaigns have inspired a surge of promises from Florida politicians and a threat of voter retaliation from a Capitol men's room wall-scribbler.

U.S. Senate candidates Secretary of State Richard Stone and Senate President Mallory Horne, D-Tallahassee, last week to point out to voters that they are men of their word.

Still, he believed the Army he had loyally served would realize its mistake and send him back to his family. Instead, he was informed flatly that he was there to stay.

Dr. Peter Cranston of Augusta, Ga., the psychologist who attended the sergeant's wife, told us he warned the Compassionate Review Board that she might attempt suicide if her husband were forced to leave.

The board wouldn't listen and Mrs. Anthony attempted to take an overdose of sleeping pills just as the doctor had feared.

But the sergeant, alone and despondent 400 miles from the family who needed him, suffered an emotional breakdown. As we write this, he is hospitalized at the Army's Reed Hospital in Washington.

Footnote: When we made inquiries at the Compassionate Review Board, we heard a loud voice in the background shout: "Don't answer that!" But later the board explained that Anthony was assigned to Ft. Belvoir because of job openings and the nearness of Walter Reed.

Jack Anderson 'President' Ford: What Kind Of Job?

WASHINGTON — What kind of President would Gerald Ford make? This is a question we are often asked, as the impeachment of President Nixon becomes more likely.

Ford would not be the brightest President to occupy the oval office, but he would be one of the most decent. There is nothing suave or subtle about him. He would bring an openness and a guilelessness to the white House. He could be trusted.

He would not have a keen grasp of the paperwork of the presidency as Richard Nixon has. But probably more important, Ford would have a better feel for the human undercurrents.

There is also an all-American quality about him. He has the common touch of Harry Truman, the easy manner and engaging simplicity of Dwight Eisenhower.

Under Gerald Ford, the oval office would no longer be a storm cellar where the President is constantly engaged in plotting strategy to strike back at innumerable "enemies."

When an aide brought Ford the first news from a UPI ticker that the White House kept an "enemies list," Ford shook his head in disbelief. "If you have so many enemies you have to keep a list," he remarked, "you are in trouble."

He would bring integrity to the White House. He has always refused to accept cash campaign contributions. He has insisted upon checks, which can be properly recorded.

He would be a partisan President, who would attend to his political chores. But he would be able to work in harness with Democratic leaders. As House Republican leader, he had a close working relationship with the Democrats, particularly Speaker John McCormack and Carl Albert.

Incidentally, the Vice President took the time in Boston the other day to place a quiet, kindly phone call to the ancient and lonely McCormack.

Watergate politics have put Ford in a squeeze. He gave President Nixon a pledge of loyalty before accepting the vice presidency. But he also promised party leaders that he would spearhead the campaign for Republican candidates this year. They needed a leader whom Republicans could rally around. For the President has become a millstone around the neck of the GOP. Ford, true to his pledge of loyalty, has tried to defend the President. Yet, at the same time, he has sought to divorce the party from Watergate.

The President, according to our White House sources, has suggested to Ford that he tone down his criticisms of the vice president. He also promised party leaders that he would spearhead the campaign for Republican candidates this year. They needed a leader whom Republicans could rally around. For the President has become a millstone around the neck of the GOP. Ford, true to his pledge of loyalty, has tried to defend the President. Yet, at the same time, he has sought to divorce the party from Watergate.

Herbicide Suit Dismissed
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A federal judge has dismissed a suit filed by a fish camp owner who claimed spraying the herbicide 2,4-D on aquatic plants in the St. Johns River would hurt fishing.

U.S. District Judge Charles R. Scott ruled Tuesday that a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' environmental impact statement on the effects of the spraying showed the herbicide would not be harmful.

Otis Lee filed the suit in 1972. He and other fish camp operators who joined in the suit said the impact statement was inadequate.

Motorist Ordered To Pay
MIAMI (AP) — Instead of going to jail for five years, a Miami postal worker has been ordered to pay $7,500 toward the education of the children of a man he killed in an auto accident.

"I decided to help the victim's two small children, who have been left without a father," Circuit Judge Sidney Weaver said after ruling on Richard Urso's no contest plea to manslaughter charges.

Weaver ordered Urso to pay $1,500 for the next five years of a probation sentence. The money is to go to a fund for Gregory Pough, 2, and his sister, Sabrina, 6.

Raymond Pough, a porter, died of injuries suffered last October when Urso's car ran a red light and struck Pough's auto.

Kennedy Hits Nixon Policy
MIAMI (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy Tuesday told an enthusiastic audience that the Nixon administration "has its foot in its mouth, its hand in your pockets" through incompetent economic policies.

In a speech to the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, the Massachusetts Democrat drew his greatest ovation when he said he had dreamed of "standing in a vast hall here in Miami addressing a great national convention."

Turning to the Nixon administration's economic policies, Kennedy said, "We want economic policies that show more concern for the security of retired workers living in basements than for the security of corporate executives living in the Bahamas."

He said a tax cut to provide relief for low and middle income workers was needed to get the economy moving again and added that he planned a tax-cut proposal when the Senate considered tax reform measures.

Rains Ease Water Shortage
MIAMI (AP) — Scattered rains decreased the need for Miami water in South Florida and raised ground water levels that were at their lowest level in nearly 40 years, scientists say.

United States Geological Survey scientists said Tuesday the rising ground water tables eased the threat of widespread water shortages.

The USGS said 30 percent of the water pumped from South Florida wetlands during the winter drought was used for lawns and gardens.

But the USGS expressed concern about some areas, saying that Lake Okechobee storage dropped 335,000 acre-feet in May and would not reach normal levels in June unless rainfall was at or above normal.

Horne Chairmen Named
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Louis de la Parte and former Sen. Wilbur Boyd will be co-chairmen for the U.S. Senate campaign of state Senate president Mallory Horne, D-Tallahassee.

Boyd, of Palmetto, managed the successful campaign of Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., in 1970. De la Parte, of Tampa, served as president pro tem in the 1974 Senate.

"Both of these men have worked effectively and intensively with most problems of state and local governments," Horne said Tuesday. "I am proud to have them working with me in seeking solutions to our knotty problems of state and local governments."

Lightning Kills Fisherman
LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP) — A lightning bolt that struck a boat on Lake Buffam killed one fisherman and injured two others, police say.

Officers said James Gallely, 55, of Lakeland, a Central Florida city 50 miles east of Tampa, was killed Tuesday. The other men were taken to a local hospital. Police said they escaped serious injury.

Cabinet: Sue To Keep Port Open

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert Shelvin has the okay of the Florida Cabinet to sue the federal government if that's what it takes to keep the Port of Jacksonville open.

The Cabinet — with only five of the seven members present — voted Tuesday to give Shelvin the authority to sue the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to force them to allow dumping of silt dredged from the St. Johns River.

The Cabinet also granted a one-year marina license to a Panama City river showboat owner and put off an Internal Improvement Trust Fund staff request to contract for a survey of the mean high-water mark of Estero Bay.

Shelvin told the Cabinet that he had received word that Jacksonville officials were trying to work out an agreement with the engineers over dumping of spoil at Grassy Point in St. Johns River.

The Corps has blocked any more dumping at Grassy Point of silt dredged up to maintain the river's depth. State and city officials say that unless a feasible dumping-ground is found, silt will make the river too shallow and could possibly cause Jacksonville to lose its status as a major port.

But Shelvin said if the only way to force the federal engineers to reach agreement was to take them to court, he wanted the authority to do so. The Cabinet voted 5-0 to give him that authority.

Before the Cabinet's action, Walter Thomas, president of local 805 of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, said employees of Jacksonville Shipyards Inc., had gathered approximately 7,000 signatures on petitions saying the Corps' decision would adversely affect the community.

The shipyard, with a $30 million annual payroll, is one of the industries officials said would be damaged by the dumping policy.

In other business, the Cabinet voted to allow Paul Jennings of Panama City to dock a 200-foot-by-65-foot side-wheel riverboat near the Hawthay Bridge on St. Andrew's Bay in Bay County.

The Internal Improvement Fund staff had recommended that the marina license be denied.

Sheep Cell Shot Patient's Death Certificate Wrong, Says Doctor

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A millionaire who received sheep cell injections at Dr. Robert A. Peterson's clinic died of gas gangrene and not of a coronary occlusion as Peterson stated on a death certificate, a medical examiner says.

Dr. Charles Petty, chief medical examiner for Dades County, Tex., said he performed an autopsy on the body of Arthur Reed of Dallas six weeks after Reed died of Peterson's New Life Clinic in Fort Myers on Florida's lower Gulf Coast last Jan. 21.

Reed, 39, a Tampa fireman who received a sheep cell injection the same day as Reed, died of gas gangrene Jan. 22 in the Miami Heart Institute.

Medical authorities have said Peterson, an osteopath, has said that he used an extract made from the cells of unborn sheep to retard the aging process in humans.

Patients paid an average of $1,000 for series of seven to 10 injections that he said helped medical ailments ranging from arthritis to sexual impotence.

The Florida Board of Osteopathic Medical Examiners has accused Peterson of blame in both deaths and is holding a hearing in Tampa to determine if his license should be suspended.

Petty said the autopsy revealed that heart disease was a contributing factor in the death of Reed, 55, but death was caused by gas gangrene.

Several days later, sources told the Associated Press that Dantzier himself was being investigated in a possible extortion hoax.

He gave directions for delivering the money and was not heard from until the next day. When he showed up in nearby Fort Lauderdale, he told police there that he eluded his abductors by jumping into the Atlantic Ocean from a small boat and swimming to shore.

Telephone associates at the City National Bank of Hallandale, north of Miami, saying he was being held for $60,000 ransom.

FBI agent Eric Scott refused to confirm Longo's report, saying only that officials were considering grand jury action. But Scott said there were no suspects in a kidnaping and "we're talking about an extortion case. Dantzier is being considered as a suspect."

Banker's Kidnap Report Probe Due

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) — A federal grand jury will soon get evidence in connection with an alleged extortion hoax in the case of a banker who claimed he was kidnaped and held for ransom, police say.

James Longo, Hallandale FBI chief, said Tuesday the FBI had told him that the case of Albert Dantzier, 43, would be presented to a grand jury in Fort Lauderdale this week or next.

"The direction of the evidence points to extortion and the criminal filing of a false report to the police," Longo said.

FBI agent Eric Scott refused to confirm Longo's report, saying only that officials were considering grand jury action. But Scott said there were no suspects in a kidnaping and "we're talking about an extortion case. Dantzier is being considered as a suspect."

On April 19, Dantzier, 43,

State Business Board Delays Penalties For Dirty Restaurants

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The state Board of Business Regulation has refused to adopt a proposed schedule of fines for restaurants despite arguments that present rules give unsanitary restaurants a free ride.

The board voted 4-2 Tuesday to delay any changes until an advisory committee reports on a review of the problem in January although board chairman Richard Pollat of Miami argued that changes were needed now.

"Restaurant owners now have the opportunity to stay dirty and then clean up without any penalty," Pollat said. "We need to put them in a position that they know it will cost them; then they will stay clean."

Angry restaurant owners had appeared before the board to object that the proposed fines would be a way to harass them and would lead to under-the-table bribes of state inspectors.

The state's Division of Hotels and Restaurants had proposed giving its inspectors power to levy fines ranging from $25 to $100 for health and safety violations found in restaurants and motels, hotels and apartments.

The fines would be subject to administrative appeal.

Presently, inspectors can only cite restaurants and lodging places for violations. A second inspection shows that deficiencies were not corrected, a hearing to revoke the license is scheduled.

Pollat said current figures showed that 125,000 restaurant deficiencies were noted by division inspectors during the last 10 months but only 17 restaurants had their licenses suspended.

"Our responsibility is to the millions of people in this state, not just to restaurant owners," Pollat said. "In certain areas of the state there is some doubt in people's minds. We need to show that we are not going to tolerate any gray areas in enforcement."

Pollat said a series of investigative stories by Miami television station WTVJ on unsanitary restaurants had raised questions about the system.

But board member Fred Schultz of Jacksonville said he did not think present enforcement policies needed to be changed.

Arthur MacArthur, president of the Florida Restaurant Association, told the board, "We are against a system of punitive fines" and the proposed method of implementation.

State Commerce Official Fired

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The man who became deputy secretary of commerce during the tenure of Lt. Gov. Tom Adams has been fired, state officials report.

Commerce Secretary Don Spicer said Tuesday that he had asked for and received the resignation of Sam Ashdown, who came to the department with Adams in 1971.

Ashdown said his resignation was requested because the position of departmental deputy secretary was being eliminated.

However, Doug Starr, information director for the department, said that the elimination was being considered but that no final decision had been made.

Ashdown, 32, served as chief administrative officer of the department when Adams used state employees in the agency for his personal use.

Gov. Reubin Askew removed Adams from the position of commerce secretary in February 1973.

Adams was also censured by the House of Representatives. Ashdown, who started working for Adams while Adams was Secretary of State, remained as deputy commerce secretary after Spicer became secretary. His responsibilities were de-emphasized several months ago and his salary cut from $29,000 to $27,000 a year.

Ashdown said his resignation would be effective about July 1. He said he planned to remain in state government.

"There's no personal bitterness between Spicer and my-

Rebozo Sells Key West Title Search Company

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, Key Biscayne banker and close friend of President Nixon, has sold his Key West-based Monroe County Land and Title Co. for an undisclosed amount, according to the buyer.

Robert Dion, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of the Florida Keys, which bought the title search company, said Tuesday that negotiations began last August.

The purchase includes only the records and equipment and not the frame building that houses the title company, Dion said. He said the company has the best records of Monroe County land transactions, next to the county government itself.

Jack A. Saunders, attorney and director of First Federal, will head the new subsidiary under the name First Title Service Co. of the Florida Keys, Inc.

India's Future Gets A Shot In The Arm

By DON OAKLEY
The Herald Services

Few peoples are more self-righteous than the Indians (the India Indians, that is). Few countries are more adept at lecturing the big powers about their amorality while remaining oblivious to their own "Realpolitik" behavior, as in the seizure of Portuguese Goa a few years ago.

Even so, there was a certain element of hypocrisy, even of condescension, in the shock expressed by this country and others in the West at India's announcement that it had joined the not-so-exclusive nuclear club as member No. 6 by exploding its own underground "device."

Why, India was supposed to be poor, always asking for loans and food aid, always on the verge of mass starvation. What business does a poor country like that have spending millions on nuclear bombies? Better to use that money to feed its people.

"This same argument was advanced when we established our steel mills and machine-building plants," Prime Minister Indira Gandhi effectively lashed back at the critics. "They are necessary for development, for it is only through acquisition of high technology that we can overcome poverty and economic backwardness."

To be sure, some of the old self-righteousness showed through Mrs. Gandhi's further statement that India's test was designed to see if the power of the atom could be used for constructive purposes — cracking underground oil reserves, etc. — while the rich countries had used nuclear energy for destruction. One strongly suspects that India's goal was first to explode a bomb and second to find peaceful reasons for doing so.

But when all is said and done, India by the sheer size of its population — what is it now, 500 million, or will someone bid 600 million? — has to be reckoned as a major power, or certainly as an immense country with natural aspirations for power commensurate with its size.

Less convincing, unfortunately, was Mrs. Gandhi's promise that "there is nothing to worry about." India would never use a nuclear bomb in war.

That is not the worry. The worry is that India's nervous neighbor Pakistan, or minipowers like Egypt or Israel or half a dozen other countries said to be capable of producing nuclear material, will find that the bars are now down to nuclear club membership.

Any increase in the number of nuclear powers must inevitably increase the odds that, in response to some crisis, one of them might be tempted to explode one in anger.

Good Guys Get In Licks Now And Then

By FRANK MACOMBER
The Herald Services

If you have decided, after reading and hearing recent news developments, that the world is peopled with more buddies than baddies, there heart. There still are some good folks around, and often they are glad-making.

You've probably heard of Dial-A-Prayer, Dial-A-Joke, etc., but how about Phone-A-Friend?

In Sacramento, Calif., it's bringing lonely people together and making a lot of folks happy, says John Loudon, who conceived the idea.

Five years ago, when Loudon moved to the California capital, he knew the people where he worked and those in his apartment complex, but he was fishing companions, and one man asked for a lady "not afraid to go fishing and crack open a beer," Loudon recalls.

Nothing could be further from the truth. To favor kinder treatment for a youth in the imaginary Glenn Brooks is one thing; to endorse a blanket amnesty for every war resister — whether he simply failed to register or deserted under fire, whether he is now sincerely repentant or despises this country and wants amnesty only to work more efficiently for its destruction — is manifestly something else.

To confuse the two positions as NCC has done, deliberately or otherwise, is a grave disservice to the cause of rational discourse.

"This is an election year," said the message in a rest room adjoining the House chamber. "Think about what you're doing. A rise in tuition will cause much unhappiness among young voters."

But one apparently did. The camera caught Jerry Davies, information officer for Treasurer Tom O'Keefe, in the midst of a rather obvious obscene gesture.

"Sinc' he made an effort not to be on television, we put him on television," said John Hayes of Tampa station WTVT.

Berry's World

Most of the legislators and state employees who took refuge in a nearby hole during a Capitol bomb scare last week had no objections when a Tampa television cameraman filmed them.

But one apparently did. The camera caught Jerry Davies, information officer for Treasurer Tom O'Keefe, in the midst of a rather obvious obscene gesture.

"Sinc' he made an effort not to be on television, we put him on television," said John Hayes of Tampa station WTVT.

Republicans Are Charged By Dems Of Scare Tactics

SEATTLE (AP)—The chairman of the nation's Democratic Party has accused Republicans of scare tactics in warning that Democrats could gain a "veto-proof Congress" in the November elections.

"The term 'veto-proof Congress' is merely a cynical ploy to detract from the most important issues of 1974," Gov. Wendell H. Ford, D-Ohio, said Tuesday as sharp tinsmith broke out at the 66th National Governors' Conference.

The conference ends today with the annual business session at which the governors are expected to adopt a broad resolution urging campaign reform and other measures to deal with Watergate-type abuses, steps already taken by many states.

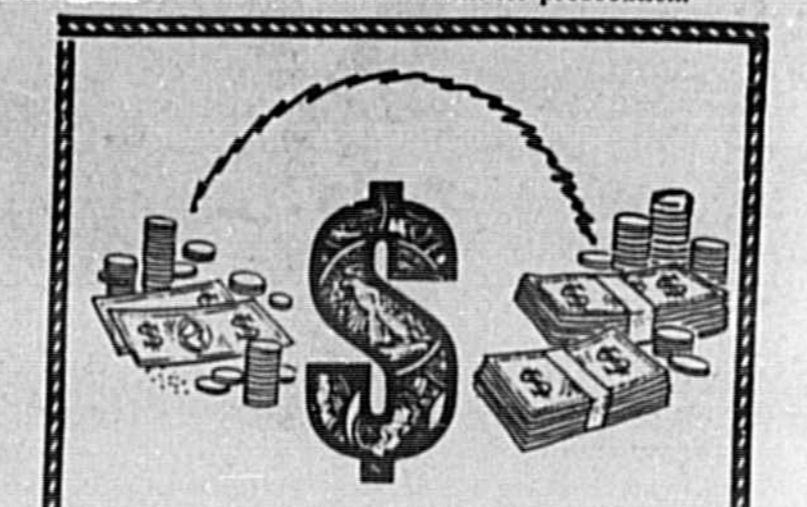

The conference also is expected to elect Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, D-Utah, as next year's chairman, succeeding Gov. Daniel J. Evans, R-Wash.

The partisan verbal battle began when Kenneth R. Cole Jr., President Nixon's top domestic policy aide, said during a panel discussion Tuesday morning that election of a "veto-proof Congress" might doom the revenue-sharing program.

Then Gov. Winfield Dunn, R-Tenn., chairman of the Republican Governors Association, said in an interview he was frightened by the thought of a Congress so heavily Democratic it "would give George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey the opportunity to run our country which they didn't get in the 1968 and 1972 presidential races."

"I take strong exception to a threat of political propaganda which has run through this conference from invited members of the present national administration," Ford told a news conference.

Chairman Robert S. Strauss and GOP Chairman George Bush advised the governors at separate party breakfasts of efforts to work with the General Accounting Office to ease strict enforcement of minor campaign infractions now being referred to the Justice Department for prosecution.

Disabled Vets Tossed Away In Vietnam

EDITOR'S NOTE — South Vietnam's disabled veterans were tossed away after street demonstrations. Yet many are not militant — they accept their plight as destiny and are not involved in vocational rehabilitation. Red tape, lack of funds and training hamper their efforts for self-improvement.

At war, nothing is tossed aside faster than a tank that won't run, a gun that won't shoot or a plane that won't fly — unless it's a soldier who can't fight any more.

Vietnam's rice paddies and hills are rising graveyards for thousands of castoff metal eyesores abandoned in the heat of battle and left to fester in the sun and bleed into the earth.

But in today's crumbling country, that's barely enough to survive. Aside from the strictly financial aspect, their psychological damage and blunted earning potential are beyond computation. And until three years ago, they had practically nothing.

country come home permanently injured. The government gives more money to the badly disabled veteran than to a healthy soldier of the same rank still on active duty. If, as a second lieutenant, he earned $17 monthly, he will receive $8.50 for himself, $1.75 for his wife, $1.75 for each child, a rice allowance, free housing benefits, lifetime medical care for himself and his family, job preference and education benefits for his children. The higher the disability, the better the benefits.

From early 1970 until mid-1971, disabled veterans got out in the streets of almost all of Vietnam's major cities, demanding pensions, social benefits and squatters' rights. The demonstrations frequently erupted in violence. Some and many were jailed before the government bowed to their demands.

"I don't think the psychological effects of a permanent injury are too important to the Vietnamese people," Thach said. "Usually you find amputees only in Europeans or Americans. Here in Vietnam we are more fatalistic. We accept our fates much more easily and the common people handle real disaster a lot better."

Police speculated that the kidnappers were spurred by the day that Monday night in a British jail of IRA member Michael Gaughan, who had been on a hunger strike since March 31 and was to be released today.

per cent of the disabled veterans had jobs. When American dollars departed and the bottom fell out of South Vietnam's economy, the unemployment rate of disabled veterans soared to between 50 and 80 per cent. Today there aren't enough jobs for healthy people, let alone the untrained handicapped.

There are no firm statistics on South Vietnam's unemployment, but government officials estimate the number of jobs at "a few hundred thousand" or "more than half a million."

"I sacrificed for the country and what do I get? I get nothing," he said bitterly. The former private receives about $10 a month from the government for his 75 per cent disability. His daily income from selling magazines is less than $1.

Vietnam has six vocational rehabilitation centers, the largest located just north of Saigon at Thu Duc. It has a capacity of just 150 trainees at a time.

Disengagement Signed

GENEVA (Switzerland) (AP)— Syria and Israel today signed the documents outlining the procedure for disengagement of their forces on the Golan Heights.

The signing by Gen. Harel Shazar of Israel and Gen. Adnan Taraya of Syria cleared the way for their forces to begin pulling back within 24 hours.

SEKOU TOURE (AP)— After a 3½-year hiatus, President Cheung Hek Park's government today resumed the trial of former opposition leader Kim Dae-jung on charges of violating election laws. The charges stem from Kim's campaign in June 1967 for the National Assembly, but the trial was suspended in August 1970 when Kim ran unsuccessfully against Park in 1971, went abroad after his defeat and was kidnapped last August from a Tokyo hotel and returned to Seoul. South Korea's secret police is generally believed to be responsible for that abduction.

Sheriff Wins

COLIMANCA, Ala. (AP)— Shelby County Sheriff, C. P. "Red" Walker won his bid for re-election to that office in Tuesday's Democratic primary runoff — just one day after conspiracy charges he filed against seven men were dismissed.

Walker was running against Shelby County Coroner Billy Thompson, who in the 16-year veteran Sheriff had accused of conspiring to murder a man. Thompson's official returns showed Walker had 5,503 votes to Thompson's 6,337.

Coup Fails In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Two colonels reportedly led a military revolt against President Hugo Banzer Suarez late Tuesday night, but the government claimed today that the attempt had been smashed.

"The revolt has been completely put down," Information Minister Guillermo Bulacina announced.

Banzer, an army general who came to power in a 1971 coup, was on a visit to Sucre, 300 miles southwest of La Paz. He put down a peasant rebellion against food price increases in January. Recently there has been much unrest among university students, and the universities have been closed for more than two weeks.

Beer-Fed Fans Boil Onto Field

CLEVELAND (AP) — "It's the closest I've ever seen anybody come to getting killed in my more than 25 years in baseball," Texas Ranger Manager Billy Martin said.

The Cleveland Indians and the Rangers tried to play baseball Tuesday night, but the fans ran on the field, threw beer bottles, firecrackers, chairs, welded knives and started an uncontrollable melee in the ninth inning.

The Indians forfeited the game to the Rangers. The second game of the three-game series is scheduled for tonight. It was 10-cent beer night at Municipal Stadium. Some 25,134 fans turned out on a warm lakefront night.

Early in the game young fans started running on the field in between innings and were cheered by the crowd. Occasionally a firecracker went off.

The Rangers came off the bench brandishing baseball bats and headed for right field, led by Martin. The Indians came out of the dugout to help their baseball opponents.

"You have to realize that the only thing I had to defend myself with was my fists," Burroughs said. "I was happy to get some help. And I think the Indians for coming out to help me."

There were player-fan skirmishes all over the field.

Chief umpire Nester Chylak, hit on the head with a chair and his own bat, said, "We were so scared out there we had made plans for our escape. It was 500-to-one odds, and we could have gotten killed out there very easily." He added, "I saw weapons out there, and I'm sure the only place you would see something like this happen would be in a zoo."

Chylak said he waited until all the ballplayers were off the field before calling it a forfeit so none of them would be jeopardized. The forfeit gave the Rangers a 9-0 victory, but all the records count.

Paul Warfield said it did not appear serious.

The last forfeited major league game was the final day of the 1971 season in Washington, D.C., when the Senators were to move to Texas.

Martin called Tribe Manager Ken Aspromonte five minutes after he returned to the dressing room to thank Aspromonte for the help the Indians gave the Rangers.

Aspromonte said the entire team was disgusted with the crowd, and he speculated that the club's attitude might suffer because of it.

Cleveland may have lost a ballclub tonight," Aspromonte said.

Hospitals reported seven fans were treated for minor injuries.

No ballplayers were injured in the riot. Indians pitcher Tom Hilgendorf was hit on the head with a chair, but Indian trainer

Who is the dean of Seminole County football coaches? That question, while obviously speculative in nature, can best be answered by asking another couple of questions. Who has the best win-loss record? Who has the most championships? Who commands the most respect both from fellow football coaches and players?

In no manner will I attempt to answer any of those questions. Like most people involved in sports the facts are used only to substantiate a personal bias for or against a particular fact.

Ralph Stumpf former head football coach at Oviedo High School, is my choice for the chair of football in the county. Not because of his record, his championships or his ability to command respect from colleagues and students alike, but for a much more personal reason. I like him. I guess I always have and always will like him.

His varsity careers at both Seminole High School and Oviedo are not the answer to why I pick him as my top choice. It goes further back than that.

I covered Stumpf's worst year as a head junior varsity coach in 1962. His charges lost three of six games that year, which was about the same as the fall of the Celtics, the Yankees or the Packers to Sanford sports fans of those days.

For in the six preceding years Stumpf and assistant John Colbert posted undefeated season records and in two of those years, the team went unscathed. No, we never did check out the records to see if anywhere some other high school junior varsity coach had such a record to tag onto his list of accomplishments. It was a good enough record for Seminole County, where it belonged.

And, if you will also remember, one of the Seminole High School's biggest reasons for its varsity football team's success was the caliber of player produced by Stumpf and Colbert. They were regarded both on the field and in the classroom as something like gods who had come to spend some time with us mortals to pass on their greatness.

A gentleman always, he had a way of making others less likely to act that way perform miracles with manners and decorum.

In order to get the lesson across, they had the team's linemen crawl through their blocks in a crab-block motion until the coaches thought they could not go a touch farther and stand. That promotion happened after three games. But you can bet that team knew how to block.

Oh, sure, he was roundly cursed after practice. He expected that. But you better not let him hear it.

It was kind of interesting the way kids used to speculate all summer how they would fare against the high school's pair of football monsters — Stumpf and Colbert. It was Sanford's only authorized male initiation rite in those days that anyone who thought he could take it could attend.

When he was promoted to head varsity coach at SIS, fortunes changed. I don't know why. Maybe because he just wasn't a varsity coach, and was up against something too sophisticated, or maybe it was something else. I never asked. But he was asking a hero who he failed. I never had the courage to do that.

He later went to Oviedo High School. I returned from the service, happy to find the man I most respected at Seminole High coaching again; and still instilling pride in his people. He was most proud his team acted like gentlemen, then and always, Stumpf considered the future of a high school athlete, not the immediate results.

In class, the lecture I remembered most was about athletics. Not the glory, "you can do anything" talk standard from a man who has a lot to gain by saying my job is important, but a talk about when the playing is over. What will you put into the game? Only what you take away from the game? Only what you put into it, and the first thing is pride, he said.

Seattle To Start More Expansion?

NEW YORK (AP) — Seattle is the newest member of the growing National Football League family and Commissioner Pete Rozelle promises more action, some of it possibly in present NFL cities that also have fledgling World Football League clubs.

Seattle got the 78th NFL franchise, carrying with it the healthy initiation tab of $15 million, from the owners Tuesday, and joins Tampa, added in April. Both teams are scheduled to begin playing in 1976 although that timetable could be moved up one year, according to Rozelle.

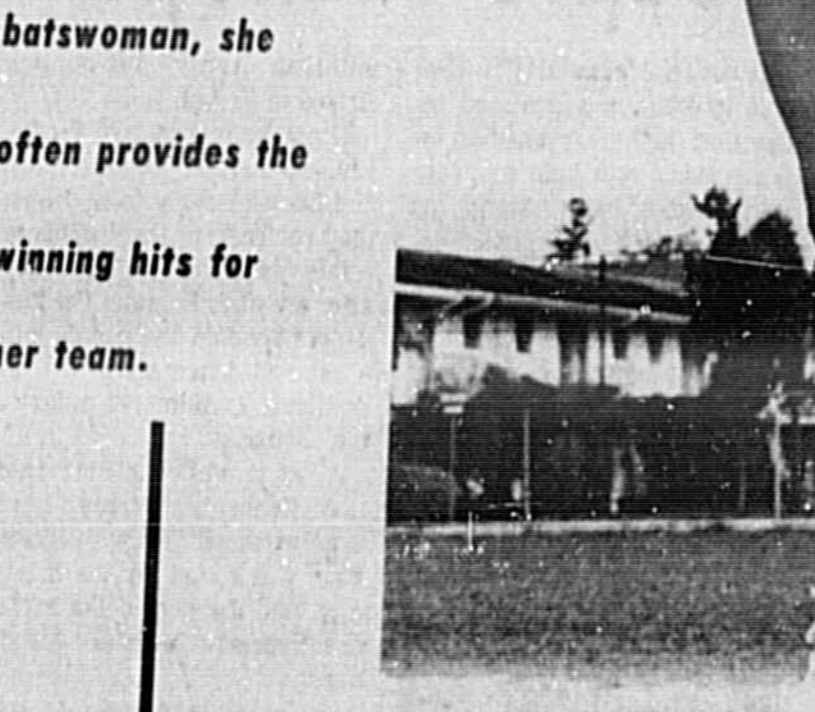

Seattle was selected over Phoenix, Honolulu and Memphis but the losers aren't out of the NFL picture yet. The commissioner said their bids will remain under consideration.

"I wouldn't expect another city to be added this week," said Rozelle, but he added the expansion committee would explore it.

"Future expansion is a totally open deck," he said. "We are not restricting ourselves from going into any city, including current NFL cities. There are no limitations on the cities considered. New York, Chicago and Los Angeles were on our original list as NFL cities to be considered for additional franchises."

Two of those cities have franchises in the NFL and the third, Los Angeles, is home base for

A two-run double by Aurelio Rodriguez climaxed a four-run first inning that carried Detroit to victory in the nightcap.

MURFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Jim Gabrielson seemed surprised when someone suggested he might win the 1974 British Amateur Golf Championship.

The U.S. Walker Cup star from Atlanta, paused for a moment and then modestly said: "Oh, I don't know. I've been playing quite well recently. But I don't know."

Gabrielson was suddenly the big hope of the United States after reaching Wednesday's third round with an explosive surge of five birdies to beat Scotland's Morrison 5 and 6.

Hank Gets The Last Record

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
Hank Aaron has become, once and for all, major league baseball's all-time leading home run hitter.

Aaron slugged the 16th grand slam homer of his career—a National League record—against the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night, leading the Atlanta Braves to a 7-3 triumph.

It was the 71st home run of his career, counting regular season, post-season and All-Star games, breaking a tie with Ruth for the all-time lead.

"Clear, I thought I broke the record last month," said Aaron, smiling. Then he added, "Now they can start interviewing the guy who is chasing me."

The Atlanta superstar said he hoped things would calm down a little now, and he could get back to thinking about baseball.

"My concentration hasn't been good," he said. "I've been thinking about celebrations and speeches and how to talk to the politicians."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds beat the New York Mets 6-3 in 10 innings, the Montreal Expos topped the Houston Astros 5-0, the San Francisco Giants defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3, the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-0 and the San Diego Padres nipped the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

"I hit a slider, up and in," said Aaron of his grand slam off Eddie Watt, which highlighted a six-run seventh inning rally that broke the game open for Atlanta.

The homer gave Aaron the National League career grand slam record with 16, one more than Willie McCovey. However, he's still a good distance behind Lou Gehrig's major league mark of 23.

He has only 29 hits this season but has driven in 29 runs. Reds 6, Mets 3
Cesar Geronimo drilled a tie-breaking two-run triple in the 10th inning, sparking Cincinnati to victory over the Mets.

Expos 5, Astros 0
Ernie McAnally pitched a five-hitter, struck out six and walked just two as Montreal stopped Houston.

Giants 5, Cards 3
Homer by Gary Matthews and Ed Goodson and standout relief pitching by Elias Sosa carried San Francisco past St. Louis. Lou Brock and Reggie Smith homered for the Cards.

U.S. Increases Seminole Revenue Sharing Funds

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County taxpayers have been given a $300,000 "raise" by Uncle Sam, in the form of a 1974-75 Federal Revenue Sharing allocation of $41,000.

How to spend the money, up from last year's $37,314, will be the subject of several work sessions, according to Commissioner Greg Drummond and Asst. Clerk of the Court Ashby Jones.

Jones Tuesday said Drummond should be credited with gaining the increase after leading a fight with federal officials to recognize Seminole Memorial Hospital and the Port Authority as county commission "tax efforts."

The Fed's base allocations on county taxes, Jones explained. Last year, the board budgeted $2,000 from revenue sharing funds for an exclusive ambulance franchise awarded recently for $20,000, plus another $30,000 possibly to be carried forward for the proposed library project, Drummond said.

CABLE TV STALLED

The commission balked at making final arrangements with Seminole Cablevision after it was learned the closed-circuit system was in technical violation of several parts of the new ordinance governing cable TV.

According to Administrative Asst. Betty Simcoe, Cablevision did not submit a $100,000 performance bond and a $250,000 license bond until after the 60-day deadline imposed by the ordinance.

Vice Chairman Dick Williams, filling in for the absent John Kimbrough, ordered staff to study the situation so the board could be criticized by future competitors to Cablevision.

Other areas earmarked for the funds included public safety, the sheriff's department, transportation and the county's recreation program.

during budget sessions this month on a suggestion from the Seminole County Library Advisory Committee the county contract with the Orlando Public Library for a fledgling Seminole project.

The advisory committee Tuesday reported greater economies could be achieved, and more expertise immediately obtained, by contracting with Orlando.

The committee rejected suggestions Seminole set up its own central library headquarters, with branch facilities and administrative staff, saying it would take 10 years to develop a staff equal to Orlando's present level.

Advisory Board chairman Helen Smith said the commission should contact Orlando in hopes of gaining their agreement to step in immediately to run whatever program the commission adopts.

BLOODWORMS OUT

Customers of Central Florida Utilities in Chuluota may see the end of a bloodworm invasion of their water system today.

County utilities chief Bob Parmelee said his inspector, Doug Cowan, personally supervised chlorination of the utility's filter system Tuesday in an effort to nip the blind mosquito larvae in the bud.

No physical harm can come to the 362 connection customers from the larvae, Parmelee said, but the blood red bugs are unpleasant to observe in cupposidly clean water.

Motorist Unhurt In Shooting

A Seminole County man escaped injury late Tuesday night after an unidentified man blasted the right side of his car with a shotgun.

The multiple reports will be sent home at the end of every future school year, Layer said.

Drew Vaughn, 24, of 8833 Lineal Beach Road was less than a block from his home when the shooting occurred, deputies said. Vaughn was not hit by the shot.

The man with the shotgun was not found, but, detectives said they later found a 12-gauge shotgun in near-by Bear Lake.

Nine area residents witnessed the shooting, but, the identity of the suspect remains a secret according to reports.

SEA, School Board Feud

Seminole Education Association (SEA) leaders and County School Board members are mustering forces for an expected showdown at tonight's school board meeting on the issue of collective bargaining.

The board at a $10,000 fee, left the first bargaining session today charged the board is using "stall tactics" in an attempt to postpone talks until 1975 when teachers would already be under contract and thus prolonging "effective" talks until the end of that school year.

Arnold said there will be no need for a meeting if the board continues to follow the policy of Hart School Board Chairman Dave Sims said the same in reverse, "There's no need in having it (bargaining) if the SEA insists on having their negative guidelines."

W. Springs Okays $200,000 Loan Limit

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS—Mayor Troy Piland was instructed by city council to negotiate a loan for up to $200,000 to construct and furnish the interim fire station-city hall complex with Southeast Hall of Mailland.

Architect Robert Koch said low bidder was Lin Construction with $166,700 (includes base bids and four alternates).

Council postponed a decision on which firm will receive the contract until Monday night's meeting.

The building will include 3,300 sq. ft. for city hall offices and 1,300 sq. ft. for the fire station and will be located on Moss Road and Third Street.

Council also approved plans for 341 condominium units to be built in Winter Springs Country Club, Section 3, on 29.2 acres adjacent to the golf course as part of the PUD (Planned Unit Development) plan already approved. Approval was given to making the private road within the project into a complete loop.

Charles True, engineer for Winter Springs Development Co., said the property had been purchased by a Fort Lauderdale condominium builder, who had a similar development under construction there. The firm anticipates selling condominiums to primarily retired and semi-retired persons.

True said the PUD ordinance permits a density of 12 units per acre, but only 8.7 per acre are planned for this project. A natural rough area will be maintained between the golf course and the condominiums.

Questioned as to why promised country club facilities had not been completed yet, True said the delay had been caused by a change in company ownership. Tennis court construction is scheduled in two weeks, swimming pool in July, and the construction will begin on the clubhouse in September.

True said. The firm was not permitted to build the planned marina on Lake Jessup because of state restrictions, he added.

Arkansas CULTIVATED LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas ranks 19th among the states in cultivated area in a total of 9,544,411 acres in crop land.

Student Report Cards Also 'Grade' Schools

For the first time ever Seminole County students are carrying home reports not only on their grades, but also on the state of their school.

Each school principal has the responsibility to submit the reports to parents of the county's 28,214 students and to the State Department of Education, School Supt. William P. Layer said.

State Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington said the reports, are "designed to improve the dissemination of information to the families of Florida's students in an effort to make them more aware of the progress, plans and problems of the children's schools."

Last year's legislature also mandated the formation of local school advisory committees—that are to have input into the reports, Seminole County-wide Advisory Committee Secretary Dede Schaffner said.

(Committee Members Names Pg. 20 in Thursday's Herald) The reports, by law, must include information on school population, assessment of pupil progress, finances, plans for teacher improvement, school goals and ways to achieve them.

Attitudes toward the school by teachers, pupils, parents and administrators, usually derived from questionnaires, and plans for community use of the school are also required in the report.

Layer said most of the reports were sent home in the hands of the students because the cost of mailing is prohibitive. The cost for the reports varied, but, in each case the cost per report was less than 50 cents, Mrs. Schaffner said.

Layer said the reports were funded through the budget of each respective school and the funds utilized were both state and local.

"I am very impressed and pleased with the way the reports turned out. They informed the parents of what is going on in the schools and that was the intent of the legislature," Mrs. Schaffner said.

Layer said the reports are "pretty good," but, added he has not had any response from parents.

Here's A Delicious Cake To Take To Your Picnic

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
What's a picnic without ice cream and cake? For the cake we suggest one that's so flavorful it doesn't need a frosting and this will carry well. This banana molasses cake fills the bill. The bananas needed are one of the most economical of fruits and marry well with the light molasses called for; there's just enough of the latter to accent but not overpower.

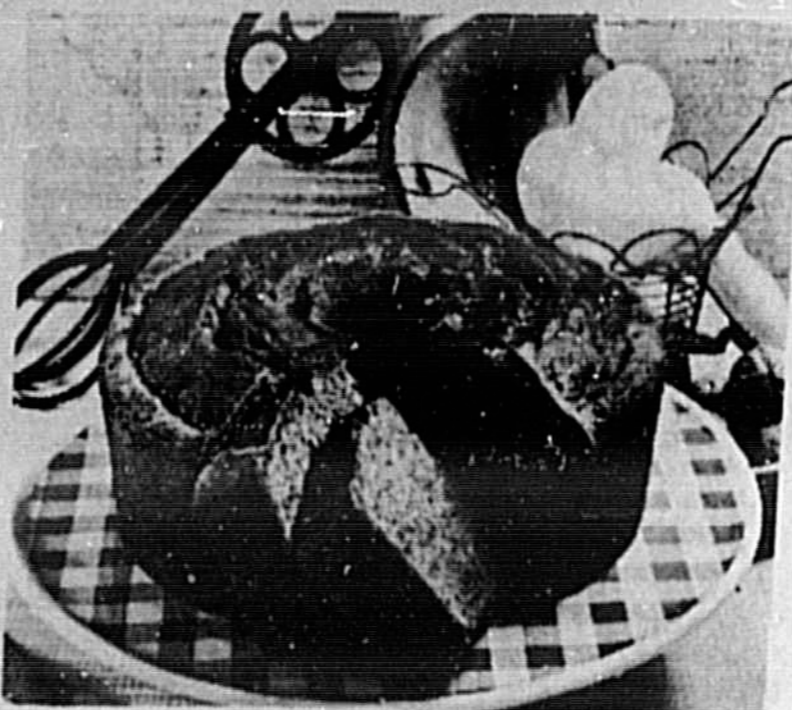

wrote us and said that when a recipe calls for "flour" she's never sure what kind is meant. In our recipes the variety to use is while wheat flour that is designated "all-purpose" or "general purpose" on the package. If unbleached flour, instant flour, bread flour, self-rising all-purpose flour, cake flour, self-rising cake flour or pastry flour is called for, it is so listed. So is whole-wheat, bran, gluten, rye, buckwheat, soy, corn, rice or potato flour.

3 1/2 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3/4 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 and 2/3 cups finely mashed very ripe banana
1 cup finely chopped walnuts or pecans
Onto wax paper, sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and cinnamon.

In a large mixing bowl, cream butter and sugar; add molasses and beat until combined. Thoroughly mix in eggs one at a time. Stir in flour mixture in 4 additions, alternately with banana, just until smooth each time. Fold in nuts. Turn into a well-greased and lightly floured 10-inch angelcake pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—55 to 60 minutes. Place cake in pan on a wire rack for 10 minutes. Loosen edges and around tube; turn out on rack and cool completely. Leave cake bottom side up if you don't want the crack on the top to show.

BANANA MOLASSES CAKE

Mexicans Have More Than Just One Tasty Cuisine

By SUSAN DELIGHT
The Herald Services

When you mention Mexican foods to Diana Kennedy of New York City, the farthest things that come to her mind are tacos and refried beans.

And canned enchilada sauce. The author of "The Cuisines of Mexico" is more likely to be concocting images of her Bola de Queso Relleno (Stuffed Cheese) whose ingredients and methods take up almost three pages of her lovely book, or her own homemade tortillas which can be found in many of her Mexican dishes. Her book title was selected carefully, she says, because Mexico does not have one cuisine but several.

First there are pre-Columbian dishes "that have absolutely no outside influences" and there are the Spanish, French and Italian touches found in foods in various sections of Mexico, she reports.

You'll find Spanish spices, touches of France in Mexico's breads and pastries and, from Italy, the use of some pasta.

"Mexican foods are wonderfully earthy and surprising," says Mrs. Kennedy. "There is almost a clash of flavors and textures." And everything isn't hot and spicy, she emphasizes.

In this country she also objects to the generous use of an "all-purpose enchilada sauce" that is poured over everything and is ghoulishly.

"There are probably 2,000 variations of enchilada sauce and all are terribly exciting and different."

Her book came about, she says, simply because "there was absolutely no real book on Mexican cooking. And all of the quick methods and all of the quick Mexican foods have been dealt with somewhere else."

The author says she deliberately did not strive for simplicity.

She began testing and gathering Mexican dishes during the years she lived with her late husband, Paul Kennedy, who was a New York Times correspondent for Mexico, Central America and the Caribbean. Mr. Kennedy died in 1967 of cancer.

"It was that year that Craig Claiborne, food editor of the New York Times, suggested I start teaching people Mexican cooking," she says.

So, one Sunday afternoon in January, 1969, Diana Kennedy opened the first cooking school of Mexican cuisines in her New York apartment kitchen.

Although she has had to cease the classes because of injury to her feet through jogging, she plans to resume the classes when she can. The book then evolved from the classes.

Below is Diana Kennedy's recipe for Pollo a La Liva (Chicken Cooked with Grapes):

POLLO A LA LIVA
(Chicken Cooked with Grapes)

2 whole chickens, about 3 pounds each
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons peanut or safflower oil

Salt and freshly ground pepper
1/2 large onion, thinly sliced
2 stalks celery, chopped
2 pounds tomatoes, unskinned
1/4 teaspoon thyme
1/4 teaspoon marjoram
1 teaspoon salt, or to taste
Two-thirds cup dry white wine
1 pound seedless Thompson grapes
Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Truss the chickens. In a Dutch oven, heat the butter and oil together and brown the chickens well all over. Season them and set them aside. In the same fat, fry the onion, garlic and celery for about five minutes, without letting them brown.

Chop the tomatoes roughly and add them, with the rest of the ingredients, to the Dutch oven. Place the chickens on their sides in the tomato mixture. Cover the pan and bake for about 20 minutes.

SEA Rejects Board's Hart

By JEAN PATTESON
Herald Staff Writer

Expressing disgust at the "negative" and "unresponsive" stand taken by the Seminole County school board toward a statement delivered by Seminole Education Association (SEA) President Amadeo Nazario, 150 teachers marched out of Wednesday night's school board meeting disgruntled and angry.

(Related Photo Pg 2A)

Nazario's statement accepted by the board without comment or action was an attempt to break the deadlock between the SEA negotiating team and the board's professional negotiator, Jerry Lee Hart of Washington, D.C. In a closed meeting Tuesday Hart, with school administration officials Andy Bracken and Fred Taylor, walked out on the SEA team, saying there would be no negotiations until SEA knelt to his negotiation rules.

"Ten thousand dollars and 20 minutes later they walked out," commented Nazario, referring to the fee being paid to Hart by the school board.

The SEA is demanding that Hart's rules, adopted by the school board as its professional negotiating policy May 22, be made a negotiable issue.

A recent supreme court and legislative action requires school boards to negotiate with teachers, but the law only comes into effect Dec. 31. No statewide guidelines for such negotiations have yet been set.

Another response to an earlier "open question" in this column inquiring why there wasn't a free checking service for senior citizens from the banks in this area.

Earl Black of First Federal Savings and Loan of Seminole called to remind us that all of their present customers are entitled to two free money orders per month.

Additionally, Black says they will immediately put in operation a plan for all senior citizens the privilege of using money orders, free.

Black also said that by law savings and loan associations are not allowed to offer checking accounts.

Area Waste Treatment Costs May Be Doubled

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

An ecological time bomb which will cost Central Florida millions of dollars exploded this week in the form of projected 100 per cent increases in waste water treatment costs to stem lake and river pollution already past the danger level.

Findings in a report released Wednesday by the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council — already sharply challenged by state and federal pollution and environmental agencies — show that Lakes Monroe, Harney and Jessup are being polluted beyond danger levels set by law.

County Planner Roger Neiswander today said if the figures stand up, and no reason exists to suspect they won't, people will have to choose between millions for sewage treatment, or millions for storm water drainage treatment.

Neiswander said that while he personally feels not much more can profitably be spent on sewage treatment, federal and state grant money is directed at combating sewage treatment problems — and ignoring storm and agricultural drainage problems.

As a consequence, Neiswander said, taxpayers may be forced into accepting millions for improving existing sewage treatment plants already at a practical maximum of economic efficiency — rather than lose the grant money and still have the problems.

The report may also mean another blow to the area's already slumping development.

'Pig In Floppy Hat' Delightful For Kids

By JEAN PATTESON
Herald Staff Writer

The Pig in the Floppy Hat Hat goes high, kicking and cartwheeling from cover to cover of Sanford-born artist-illustrator Bill Park's first book for children.

Park, son of semi-retired Sanford Doctor Charles Park Sr., and whose brother Charles Jr. also has a practice in this city, will host an autograph party at Bookmart II, Sanford Plaza, Friday from 3-5 and 7-9 p.m. The hardcover edition of The Pig with the Floppy Hat is particularly suited to library and school use.

Reading the book, kids giggle as the wily pig tricks and array of colorful animal characters (a very fat dog who wears an apron and carries a stack of cherry pies, a cow and feline of garish colors) into believing he's a magician — "have you ever seen a magician who didn't wear a floppy black hat?" he reasons.

A few twirls and heel-toe taps later, the pig, whose gyrations (both physical and manipulative) are uncanny, has his book-lined followers declare him mayor, hero, and finally, king.

Unmasked in the end by the rightful owner of the floppy black magician's hat, the pig decides it's time to split — his former supporters are declaring they knew all the time he was the "piggist of pigs."

Undone, but not undaunted, the pig snatches a tangerine and couple of cupcakes for the road, and does a fast hop, skip and jump for the exit.

An enchanting kiddie fantasy; a humorous yet stinging satire on the political

BILL PARK explains Park with a slow, charming smile.

His style evolved during the courtship of his wife, Eva, who also grew up in Sanford. Park was studying at the School of Visual Arts in New York; Eva was at Sullins in Bristol, Va. His artistic eyes overflowed into his love letters which he illustrated with charming and funny sketches.

In 1968, five years after setting up his commercial Park-Art Studio in Orlando, Park started making trips to New York with his new style satirically illustrated essays.

Park has some interesting assignments lined up for the near future, including a series of American folk legends (Paul Bunyan, Pecos Bill, et al.) to be published in American Information Association with circulation in Russia and Poland.

Flying magazine and Boating magazine have commissioned him to cover a number of air shows and boating events, and even that inimitable women's libber, Billy Jean King.

Park, who lives in Altamonte Springs, has three children, Bryan, 7, Christopher, 5, and Anne-Marie, 3, and an English Bulldog named Larry.

Watch It... there's a "cute" way some magazine salesmen

are convincing sympathetic prospects to buy from them.

These pushers sell you a story that they're competing in a "personality contest," and the higher you rate them (with your signature onto a specially-prepared order form), the better are their chances of winning a $1,000 prize.

By the time they've left your home, you then realize you've signed-up for a couple years of subscriptions to a book you probably never even bought off the news stands.

Thought for Today—Early risers are conceited in the morning and sleepy in the afternoon.

Here's hoping this note will assist those volunteers at the Seminole Memorial Hospital in Sanford.

They desperately need your help.

If you've ever spent any time in the hospital, you can readily appreciate how these folks contribute to the patient's comfort.

They're in need of volunteers. Yes, even men may offer their services. As a matter of fact, it's been recommended if there's a couple who'd like to serve at the same time—especially in the evening hours—they'd be a tremendous help.

If you're interested, call Grace Smith 322-8917 or Betty Marion 322-8919. (We're printing their home phone numbers to eliminate the possibility of your incoming calls of assistance clogging the hospital phone lines.)

SANFORD FISH KILL

HUNDREDS OF decaying fish float atop Sanford's Lake Carola. Fish began dying after city crews started clearing away underwater weeds. Director of Parks and Recreation Jim Jernigan said some of the dead fish are shad and shiners, which normally die after spawning. Lake Carola is site of annual children's fish-a-ton.

Sniper, Officer Killed In Omaha Gun Battle

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A shotgun-wielding ex-convict killed a policeman and wounded eight other officers and two civilians before he emerged from a flaming rooming house and was shot to death early today, police said.

Police Chief Richard Andersen said Elza Carr Jr., 31, had held police at bay with an automatic shotgun for more than four hours before he came out of a flaming, tear gas-filled rooming house on Omaha's North Side.

The chief said Carr was firing the door on the porch. Police returned the fire and Carr was killed, he said.

Andersen said Patrolman Paul Nields, 26, died at a hospital of a head wound suffered at about 12:45 a.m. when he entered the house as police urged the sniper to surrender.

Authorities said Nields, married and the father of two, was among officers who launched tear gas about 2 1/2 hours after Carr had fired from upstairs in the two-story frame structure.

Flames engulfed the house in late stages of the incident, apparently ignited by tear gas canisters. Three persons in the house when the shooting started managed to escape uninjured.

Andersen said pellets from the man's weapon had hit eight other officers, a man who had been visiting Carr and a bystander.

Andersen said Carr had been convicted of burglary and auto theft charges and newspaper files showed he was in the Nebraska Penal Complex in 1972.

According to the police account, Carr had held off police since about 9:30 p.m. after his half brother, Jesse McDonald, 44, was wounded in the house and officers were summoned.

Mrs. Harry Owens, who lives on the first floor of the house, said she had called McDonald 11:30. She said McDonald was shot as he left the apartment. His condition was not reported.
