Things aren't going TOO well

Adults see the intensity of a child's emotion—but seldom understand. Our natural tendency is to assume a child is small and his feelings are just "miniatures" of our own.

To the contrary, many childhood emotions are more intense than anything we feel... This is the ideal time to begin religious education.

Ford Selection Made By Nixon

But speculation about his presidential ambitions broadened through the praise lavished on Ford by both Democrats and Republicans.

House Speaker Carl Albert said he had told Nixon Wednesday that Ford "was my choice and the easiest to be confirmed."

A DAY FOR REJOICING

THREE GENERATIONS OF Kissingers were on hand for occasion in New York when Henry (left) received the Hope Award for International Understanding. With him are his son, David, and father, Louis.

How The President Made His Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon chose Gerald R. Ford as vice president-designate almost as speedily as presidential candidates pick a running mate.

Nixon made up his mind in less than 48 hours, about twice the length of time available for the selection of vice presidential candidates at a national political convention.

Adding a puzzling footnote to history, Ford related that Nixon phoned him Friday evening but, for reasons not explained, turned him over to staff chief Alexander M. Haig Jr., who conveyed word of the impending nomination.

Whitely said although there is not sufficient space in the present police facility to hold training sessions, there are various special courses at Sanford Airport under Semnole Junior College.

The officers also go out of state and throughout Florida for additional training.

As far as the recommendation that Butler attend a 5-day seminar later this year held by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Whitely said he showed Munroe Butler's calendar marked indicating the seminar.

Republicans React To Nixon's New Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon solved one problem when he picked Gerald R. Ford to be vice president, but created another by opening the way for a fight for Ford's job as House Republican leader.

But Friday afternoon, when his selection as vice president was still conjecture, battle lines were already being drawn in anticipation that a new Republican leader would be needed.

In the GOP hierarchy, Rep. Leslie C. Arends, R-Ill., the Republican whip, is second in command. But Arends is 77, has served under three leaders since becoming whip in 1945 and seems content to remain the number two man.

Rep. Ford Defends Handling Of Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said two years ago he had stayed in the law in his handling of $11 million in 1970 campaign contributions that he failed to report to Congress.

Interviewed by The Associated Press in February 1971, Ford, who was nominated by President Nixon Friday night to be vice president, acknowledged the money had come from a number of special-interest groups, including bankers, stockbrokers, labor unions, food, doctors and an oil man.

A spokesman for Ford said Friday night the matter had not been pursued further by any official investigating unit.

We heartily agree with the statement Paul made to the survey team before it began the report: Let the chips fall where they may.

Floods Hit Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Floods in five Midwest states kept thousands of persons out of their homes today as a search for bodies of possible victims continued.

In southern and southeastern Nebraska, the Republican River was dropping slowly; the Big Blue River was out of its banks along its full length; and the Little Blue was flooding from above Fairbury, Neb., downstream.

At least eight were confirmed dead — one in Kansas and seven in Oklahoma — but 35 persons were listed as missing at Enid, Okla. Enid was hardest hit by the flash floods, and a search was continuing along Boggy Creek for the missing.

Water rose rapidly along the Kansas River and forced 1,000 residents of a trailer court at Kansas City, Kan., to start moving out. The trailer court is not protected by dikes.

The Missouri River was dropping slightly at Rulo, Neb., and was stationary at St. Joseph, Mo., but was rising all the rest of its way across Missouri.

The Carroll County sheriff's office reported the Missouri was overflowing into that county's Sugar Creek lowlands through a levee that broke two weeks ago.

Residents of Smithville, Mo., on the Platte River, were told they probably could begin returning to their homes early Sunday. At Moberly, Mo., the Fishing river dropped and some residents started moving back into their homes on Friday.

IBM Fine Mulled

NEW YORK (AP) — The anti-trust suit International Business Machines filed last month against Telex Corp., returned to business deadlines this past week and the readings this week were at least partly favorable to IBM.

Federal Judge A. Sherman Christensen said he would consider the size of the $352.5 million damage assessment he levied against IBM, conceding there had been "substantial error" in figuring the award.

The suggestion came Friday from James Messer to a conference of 200 state officials, businessmen and conservationists preparing recommendations on Florida's future for submission to the state legislature.

Messer said he wanted to reduce the state's homebased property tax exemption to discourage elderly people from moving to the Sunshine State.

Citrus Prices To Rise

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Citrus production in Florida will be down roughly 10 million boxes next year which means consumers will be paying more, officials say.

Tom Osborne, executive president of the Florida Citrus Mutual, said Friday the U.S. Agriculture Department estimated that 160 million boxes of oranges will be harvested in Florida during the 1973-74 season.

Osborne said this means that growers will be forced to consider raising their prices to meet increased demand.

Osborne said the projected 10 million box decrease in oranges harvested will mean a 19 million gallon drop in the amount of orange concentrate produced. This will force the price of frozen orange juice to rise, Osborne said.

Osborne said the sale of orange concentrate increased 18 per cent over last season.

Frank J. Lott, another official of Florida Citrus Mutual said, "It looks like the industry will find itself in the unique position of finding enough product to meet its demand."

Witness Testifies All Week

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The federal mail fraud trial of Glenn W. Turner and eight others ended its fourth week the same way it began — with the testimony of a disgruntled former employee.

Roy Lynn Garrett, 34, of Dallas, Ore., was on the stand the entire week recounting how he left Turner's cosmetics and motivational enterprises because of what he said were irregularities in company affairs.

Garrett said that irregularities that should have gone into the corporation and the mismanagement caused him to lose money.

Garrett, a distributor for Kosco Interplanetary Inc., said company officials had attempted to settle his claims and offered him re-employment but he turned the offers down because they were on company terms.

The government alleges in the federal complaint that the Turner operations committed fraud by engaging in pyramid sales without having any products to sell.

Garrett was questioned closely Friday by noted Boston attorney F. Lee Bailey, who is also a defendant in the case.

Your Right To Know Guides Newsmen

Newspapermen have been up to a lot lately. They have been digging busily into the Watergate affair and probing police performance in New York City, looking into the financial details of Boys Town out in Nebraska and checking the purity of the municipal water supply down in Miami. And a number of them have been going to jail.

Oh, you know about that? About Watergate and The Washington Post's Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein?

Sure, a notable piece of reportage they did, and the Pulitzer Prize board agreed.

Journalism is proud of them, as it is always proud of hard-working, unafraid reporters and editors who dare to peel the wraps off a difficult story.

But the "big story" is just part of the story of America's newspapers and the people who devote their lives to the public interest these days.

Prizes and honors please newspaper people as much as anyone else. They highlight the journalistic heroism reward extra effort and recognize exceptional performance and professional competence.

But, as we said, they only tell part of the whole story. While Bernstein and Woodward of the Big Washington Post were winning a Pulitzer for reporting, did you notice that the Pulitzer for editorial writing went to the tiny Berkshire Eagle in Pittsfield, Mass., or that the prize for feature photography went to Brian Lanter out in Topeka, Kans.?

The point is that in almost every corner of America dedicated men and women, working on papers ranging in size from the Nashville, Indiana, Brown County Democrat to the powerful Chicago Tribune, labor earnestly for their communities and in a variety of ways.

From the printer who volunteers his time to coach a Little League team to the advertising solicitor who gives one evening a week to advising a Junior Achievement company, from the publisher who rejects the ease of the popular view to back a controversial editorial stand to the reporter who puts his personal freedom on the line to protect his sources, newspaper people participate—personally as well as professionally—in the community life that is the bedrock of America's strength.

And very few of them do it for the occasional prizes; indeed, we're more accustomed to brickbats.

We do it because we believe. We believe in the Constitution and the First Amendment and "freedom of the press." We believe that freedom of the press is not our freedom but your freedom.

And if we lose it none of us will be free for long. But we do it also because we believe that professional commitment alone is not enough. For America's newspapers, large and small, and for America's thousands of newspaper people, ours is a personal commitment of both work and service.

Newspaper Week 1973 is the occasion we use to renew and reemphasize that commitment.

Connallyizing Court
High Court Is The Arbiter

If the Supreme Court is not the "ultimate arbiter" in the United States, who is? A non-partisan government of laws must have a final authority based on law. For a lawyer to dispute the Supreme Court's authority is bad enough. When the lawyer is a potential presidential candidate, his recklessness is particularly dramatized.

Yet John Connally, lawyer and potential presidential candidate for his recently embattled Republican Party, has said apropos of the Nixon tapes:

"We're leading ourselves into believing the Supreme Court is the ultimate arbiter of all disputes, and I don't believe it. I think there are times when the President of the United States would be right in not obeying a decision of the Supreme Court."

Is Mr. Connally staking out a little preserve not only for Mr. Nixon but for himself if he is elected (a circumstance that should grow less and less likely with each statement such as this)? Is he gambling on the speculation that all the recent doubt and turmoil in America will predispose the public to a "strong-man" sort of leader? Such questions to do with the career of Mr. Connally are less urgent than the question of believing the Supreme Court is the ultimate arbiter of all disputes in the country.

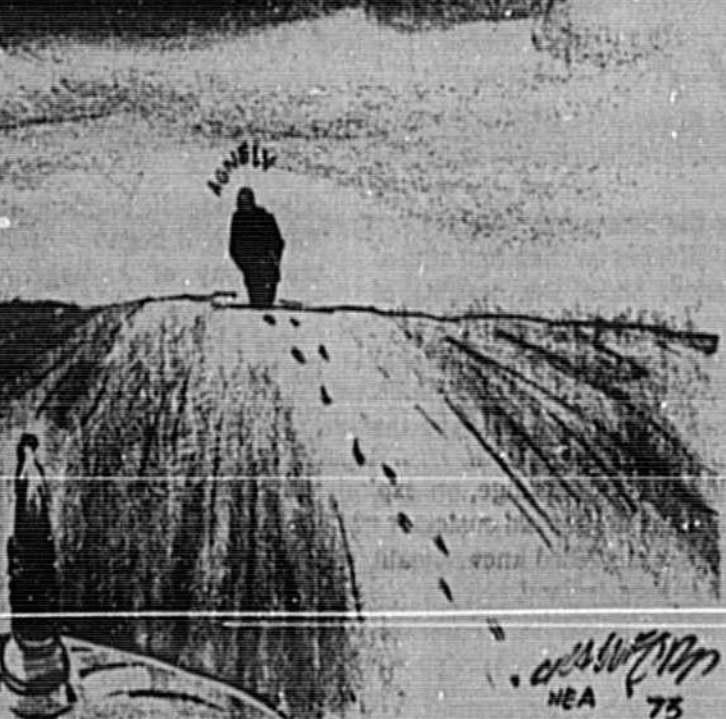

If Mr. Connally is joined by more and more Connallys in placing conditions on respect for the law as inspected by the high court, it will be interesting to see if the Connally line is followed by the other presidential candidates being mentioned. In the aftermath of Watergate they would seem to do better by placing the strongest emphasis on observance of law and justice at all levels.

Faisal Pressure

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — In private messages to President Nixon, Saudi Arabia's King Faisal has warned that he is under tremendous pressure to shut off the oil spigot if the U.S. appears to be siding with Israel in the Middle East conflict.

Sources who have had access to the messages tell us the King's language is careful but the meaning is unmistakable. Faisal tells of pan Arab pressure on him to hold back oil from the U.S., which has asked him to increase production to meet the anticipated shortage here.

Arab tension over the war, he suggests, has intensified the pressure on Saudi Arabia to halt all oil shipments to the West. He implies cautiously that he won't be able to withstand the pressure if the U.S. seems to favor Israel.

Before the Syrian-Egyptian attack upon Israel, alleges one intelligence report, Faisal agreed to provide the money to replace Egypt's military losses. Another intelligence report claims Faisal also promised to relocate Egypt's civil air fleet in Saudi Arabia during the renewed hostilities. At this writing, however, we have been unable to learn whether Egyptian planes have actually been moved to Saudi soil.

Footnote: The bridging equipment that the Egyptians used to cross the Suez canal, apparently, came from the U.S. Union, Intertec Corp., an intelligence report asserted: "The USSR has supplied Egypt with enough bridging equipment to lay up to nine bridges 200 meters long, with a carrying capacity of 60 tons each, as well as two bridges with a carrying capacity of 11 tons each. The USSR also has provided Egypt with 20 sets of minefield breaching equipment to open passages on the Israeli side of the Suez Canal."

Israel Farther Into Syria
Jordan Soldiers Join In Mideast War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jordan announced today it has joined Egypt, Syria and Iraq in the war against Israel. The announcement by a military spokesman in Amman opened a new potential 250-mile front against the Jewish state already battling Syrians and Iraqis in the Golan Heights area and Egyptians in the Sinai Peninsula.

"We have committed part of our elite forces to play their part with the Syrian army on the Syrian front," the Jordanian Information Ministry quoted the military spokesman as saying.

He did not say how many of King Hussein's 75,000-man army would be dispatched into the eight-day-old battle. The Jordanian force is backed by only 25 combat aircraft, but it has many tough Jordanian desert troops and is considered one of the best trained in the Middle East.

Amman announced that as Israeli tanks backed by heavy air power battled up the road to Damascus and as dogfights raged over the Golan Heights, Tel Aviv claimed Iraqi ground forces bolstering the Syrians had almost been eliminated.

Neither Syria nor Iraq responded to the Tel Aviv claim. But Syrian communiques issued in Damascus said anti-aircraft batteries and Syrian jets shot down 18 more Israeli warplanes during a morning of heavy aerial combat.

A Syrian communique added: "Meanwhile, ground battles still are violently raging between our forces and the enemy since dawn along the entire front line."

Damascus gave no indication where the front line lay and made no immediate mention of Jordanian aid. The Israeli state news channel said it received reports that 15 Israeli soldiers were killed in the 1967 cease-fire line beyond the Jordan valley and the Syrians to within 25 miles of Damascus.

A Syrian defeat on the northern front would free the Israelis to concentrate more air and armored firepower on the Sinai Desert, where the Jewish state was forced to abandon its original defense lines to Egyptians storming across the Suez Canal.

This was seen as a possibility that may have persuaded the 38-year-old Hussein to enter the war, which erupted a week ago today.

As a result of the developments in the Syrian front and the ensuing requirements of the situation, the Jordanian command has taken a decision to move a combination of its best military formations to carry out its military duty in the current battle in defense of the dear Arab land. Our forces will fight with all their ability until death to defend our sacred soil.

Earlier, the Israeli state radio said that 13,000 to 15,000 Iraqi soldiers had been sent to the aid of Syria, but it did not say how many of them were fighting on the front.

numbers or say how many Iraqis remained ready to fight inside Syria.

A Syrian communique Friday conceded that the Israeli armored offensive made initial headway but claimed the Israelis were beaten back later "in continual violent battles."

The communique, which claimed Syria had destroyed 78 Israeli tanks.

ISRAELI TANK COLUMN GETS LETTER... During drive into Syria

U.S. Taking Mideast At 'Calm' Pace

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has decided for the moment that a moderate attitude about the Soviet role in the Middle East is the best approach to settling the Arab-Israeli war.

Nonetheless, this conciliatory tone was given a tinge of warning Friday when Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held his first news conference since the war started a week ago today.

The United States, Kissinger said, does not consider that Soviet actions in the Middle East are of new constitute irresponsibility.

Even in areas where Kissinger said the Russians have not been helpful — such as their encouragement of other Arab states to support Egypt and Syria and their arms shipments to Cairo and Damascus — he indicated a guarded tolerance.

As to the arms shipments, Kissinger said, "The Soviet lift, at this moment, is moderate... and it has to be addressed in relation to the possibility of influencing immediate military operations."

U.S. officials said the secretary was indicating his view that the Soviet shipments have not yet threatened the Middle East military balance.

Kissinger also explained that the United States supports Russia's longstanding support of some Arab states as meaning Moscow must give aid to its Middle East allies.

Also, Kissinger said, even those acts disapproved of by the United States must be weighed against "the relative restraint that has been shown in public media in the Soviet Union and in the conduct of their representatives" at the United Nations.

"I think that up to now both sides, the two countries that are most capable of producing a confrontation, that is the United States and the Soviet Union, have attempted to behave within limits that would prevent an escalation" into a major world war, Kissinger said.

Kissinger then indicated that American supplies of arms to Israel will be limited for the moment to ammunition rather than tanks and planes.

In spite of this moderate tone, Kissinger interspersed veiled warnings throughout the 50-minute news conference.

Resignation Promised

PARIS (AP) — The new Greek premier, Spyros Markezinis, said on Friday that he would resign if he failed to organize free elections in his country as soon as possible.

"What I mean by free elections is voting that would take place in the same conditions that prevail, for example, in the German Federal Republic," Markezinis said in an interview published in Le Monde Friday. He said all political parties except the Communists and the Fascists would be allowed to present candidates.

1 Killed In Ireland
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Terrorist bombers struck five times in Northern Ireland Friday, killing one man and wounding 11. Three suitcase explosions briefly snarled the province's railway system, police said.

Authorities blamed the attacks on the extremist Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army. In the village of Watfieldbridge, an explosion wrecked a shop and killed a 23-year-old customer while wounding four others. It was the 603rd known death in four years of feuding in Northern Ireland.

Srang Attacked
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Khmer Rouge insurgents have escalated assaults on Srang, an isolated district town 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, the military command said today. The small town is in Kompong Speu Province, which generally has seen little military action. In South Vietnam, the Viet Cong claimed it has checked the advance of South Vietnamese troops attempting to retake the Le Minh ranger camp in the central highlands. The camp was overrun by the Communists last month.

Kidnapers Hold Two
GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Mexican federal authorities have refused to negotiate with gunmen who abducted two prominent men here on Wednesday. The kidnapers had demanded the release of 51 prisoners and $200,000 ransom for the release of their hostages. Anthony Ducaun Williams, 47, the honorary British consul in Guadalajara, and industrialist Fernando Aranguren Castillo, 36, were kidnaped separately.

USF Suit Ruling Expected
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Leon County Circuit Court Judge W. May Walker was expected to rule before Wednesday on a suit to stop a construction contract for a University of South Florida medical center building.

An attorney for Frank J. Rooney Inc., told Walker at a three and a half hour hearing Friday that construction was scheduled to start.

The Jones-Mahoney Co. contends the Cabinet acted capriciously in rejecting its bid for the work and awarding the contract to the Rooney firm. It filed suit last week in an attempt to halt the contract.

Quoting diplomatic sources in Beirut, the daily said Faisal stubbed the nose of U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia and also had threatened to sever economic ties between the two countries.

The paper said Faisal told President Nixon there was no need for James Abou, Nixon's new envoy to Riyadh, to make his scheduled journey to Saudi Arabia.

Russian Goods Airlifted Inside Syria And Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russian transport planes have delivered at least 1,000 tons of weapons and ammunition to Syria and Egypt since midweek, Pentagon officials say.

However, Israeli air attacks on Syrian and Egyptian airfields appear to have impeded the Russian airlift.

Some Russian transport planes were reported to have turned back from Syria and headed home because Syrian airfields were too badly damaged to land.

At least two Russian AN-12 transport planes were reported damaged on the ground at Aleppo, Syria. Israeli jets were reported to have refrained from threatening or attacking Soviet transports in the air.

The Russians also are flying heavy military cargo into Egypt aboard giant AN-22 transport planes which can carry about 50 tons apiece. War gear unloaded from Soviet planes in Egypt and Syria has included surface-to-air missiles, anti-tank weapons and ammunition, officials said.

It was noted that Egyptian SAM batteries along the Suez canal have been firing missiles at Israeli planes in salvo. This may indicate the Egyptians are confident of receiving plentiful supplies of missiles from Russia.

Some sources reported the Russians had placed air controllers teams at Syrian and Egyptian airports to handle a stream of planes flying in from the Soviet Union.

The Russians also have been resupplying their Arab clients by sea, U.S. intelligence sources said.

More than 50 medium tanks and a number of potent surface-to-air missile batteries were reported to have been landed by a Soviet fighter at Alexandria, Egypt.

The Soviet sealt of war supplies is proving to be risky. Russia claimed one of its freighters was sunk by Israeli missiles in the Syrian port of Tartus.

The Soviet news agency Tass warned of possible "grave consequences for Israel" if it did not say what those consequences might be.

You Gotta Believe Mets Test Miracle Theory

MANLAND (ED) — New York's Cinderella, the Mets of 1973, that is, began testing their latest miracle on the Oakland A's today as the World Series opened with a battle of left-handers—Jon Matlack for the Mets and Ken Holtzman for the A's.

That so-so record was 42-79 but it was good enough to win the National League East title. It is the worst record ever carried into a World Series by any team in baseball history. Manager Yogi Berra shrugged off his club's sorry record, pointing to health problems that plagued the team throughout the season.

How Ecology Laws Can Affect Americans

Editor's Note: This is the first of a continuing series on man and his environment, showing how new government regulations and the ecology movement will affect Americans in the next few years. The first article projects a typical day in the life of a U.S. family in 1976.

It was July 3, 1976, and a Jon Wells slowly averted the last bite of his two-egg omelet. "Mmmmm, delicious," he said to his wife Mary, who was sipping a cup of soybean coffee. "But we really can't afford it." "I know, sweetheart. I had to think twice before getting the eggs — they're up to 60 cents apiece. But I figured you deserved it."

"Of course."

"After all, it's not every husband who gets a mid-year one per cent raise."

"That's what worries me," said Jon. "I just don't know how the boss is going to justify it to the pay control board."

"He must have something figured out."

"I suppose."

Jon went over to the front door and looked outside. "No paper again today."

"I know. The paper strike must still be going on."

"The government should do something about that."

"They will eventually, I suppose. But it's such a complex thing."

"I guess."

Jon started putting on his coat.

"Well, time to get to the office. By the way, the noise control man will be by today to look at our air conditioner."

"I didn't know that," said Mary. "Why?"

"One of our neighbors complained."

"Did he say who?"

"No. But I figure it must be that nosy Mrs. Smithers next door."

"She ought to turn down her hearing aid."

"By the way, dear," Mary added. "Do try to get home early. We have that party tonight at the Sotherby's."

"The Sotherby's?"

"Yes. That early Fourth of July party."

"I don't see what you like about the Sotherby's."

"They're nice people."

"I think you like Norm Sotherby because he's rich, with all his stock in Soybeans Unlimited."

"That's not true at all. You make me sound like a social climber."

"Well, don't act like one then."

"I am not. Why don't you just go to the office before we get into an argument?"

"All right."

Jon went to the bicycle port and unlocked his 10-speed. Riding down the street in the beautiful summer air, he filled his lungs and sighed deeply, quickly forgetting his argument with his wife.

"Beautiful, just beautiful," he thought. "It's great to be alive."

He waved to Norm Sotherby, his next-door neighbor, who was pedaling to catch a bus in the opposite direction. Norm honked back on his little 250 horn.

"He'll have to watch that," thought Jon to himself. "If someone reports him he could get stuck with a hefty fine." Somehow the idea pleased him. The bus had just pulled to a stop when Jon drove up. Jon hooked his bike to the bike trailer in the back, got aboard and paid his dollar fee.

Settling back in his seat, Jon watched the houses pass by as the bus drove along. It was nice that there were only a few cars out today, though with the price of gasoline being what it was, and the rationing, not to mention the price of pollution control equipment, not many people could afford to drive cars these days. Of course, it wasn't very socially accepted either. People just didn't like polluters.

Jon noticed that somebody had left a copy of the Daily Times on the seat in front of his. He should get a subscription to that paper, he thought. Somehow they kept managing to find paper despite the shortage.

Jon saw that an elderly woman in the next seat across from him was eyeing the paper, so he quickly reached forward and grabbed it before she could. Then, feeling guilty, he smiled at her.

"I just want to look at the stock pages," he said, handing the paper to her.

"Thank you," she said grimly.

Jon wasn't sure why he wanted to look at the stock pages. The news had been the same for the last year. "Stocks Hold Steady At 800." Nobody Jon knew was in the stock market anymore, other than Norm Sotherby. If the market wasn't government controlled now, the averages would probably be much worse.

Still, it was nice looking at the stock pages and remembering when he used to own stock. What fun it had been, watching them go up and down! He never had earned much money at it, but it was fun anyway.

There was a good article on the future of the stock market there. Some analyst figured stocks should hold steady at 800 for the next 10 years.

"Dwindling resources," said the article. "have made America a closed-end economy. Without expansion, but simply a maintenance of the status quo, there is no reason to expect sudden surges in the stock market in either direction."

"Putting it in market terms, this looks like the final victory of the random-walk lads, who believe that stocks always meander randomly around a fixed point, and always return to it. Well, stocks have found their fixed point, and it looks like they'll stay there."

"Hogwash," thought Jon. "All the other stocks may be holding fairly steady, but look at Soybeans Unlimited. As long as American industry can find new products, there's a chance the stock market may go up again."

At the downtown bus terminal, Jon unhooked his bike and drove it to the underground bike lot of his building. As he walked in the front entrance he noticed that a gleaming metal box had been attached to the side of the building.

"What's that?" he asked Jim, the guard.

"That's the new noise monitor, Mr. Wells," said Jim. "Oh, that's right," said Jon. "I was supposed to be installed today, wasn't it?"

"Nice-looking instrument," he added, patting its gleaming top.

"Please don't do that," said Jim anxiously. "It's pretty sensitive. I'm supposed to make sure it doesn't get out of wack."

"Oh. Sorry," said Jon.

"Hey, did you hear?" said Mike, Jon's office pal, as he walked in the door.

"What?" said Jon.

"The referendums qualified for the ballot."

"Which ones?"

"The one which would prohibit limiting the size of families, and the one that would prohibit having more than one car."

"What?" said Jon. "What right did the government have in saying they might pass a law limiting families to only two kids? After all, it was probably unnecessary, anyway."

Jon remembered a party he had been to last week. One of the women had confessed she planned to have three kids. She was a new neighbor, really cute — but everybody felt slightly embarrassed. It was so... selfish... having three kids, what with overpopulation and all.

Divorce Laws In Italy May Be Insurmountable

By CLYDE STEINER
Copy News Service

ROME—A divorce law has been on the books in Catholic Italy for three years, but hardly anyone gets divorced. By 1974, it is likely that hardly anyone will be able to get divorced.

The Italian supreme court is due to rule on the long-disputed law when it reconvenes at the end of the year. In 1971 the court declared the law legal by a narrow vote. Since then a new chief justice has been named, and the court has been asked to reconsider if the state can grant divorce to those married by the church. In Italy 98 per cent of marriages are performed in church.

Even if the judges uphold civil dissolution of relations, marriages, ministers forces will take their case to the people in a national referendum scheduled for May, 1974. Only 50,000 signatures were legally required to initiate the referendum. Clerical groups and the Catholic political party collected more than twice that number in a campaign costing well over $2 million.

Despite the ease with which tons of referendum request forms were collected, the actual voting has been repeatedly delayed. The referendum was first set for 1972. Public opinion appears split down the middle on the desirability of divorce, and few politicians want to make a public stand and risk alienating half their constituency.

A Sacred Rota annulment has always been a long and complicated process dragging on for years and costing the participants thousands of dollars in fees to church lawyers. Only 150 to 200 annulments are granted each year in Italy—half the worldwide total.

Since the passage of civil divorce law in Italy, the Vatican has made significant reforms in the Sacred Rota system to open annulments to a large portion of the population. Perhaps most important, the church set a scale of reduced fees for the group of attorneys authorized to practice in church courts. The minimum is $500 and the maximum is $2,000. This compares to rates running up to $30,000 charged by these attorneys only last year.

The number of annulments jumped to 877 as a result of the first reform, and there will be more than 3,000 this year. The legal procedures for civil divorce are also cumbersome and time-consuming. Many judges have been reluctant to sever marriages on application, even if neither partner contested the action and the couple had not lived together for years. (Separation for more than five years is the prime requirement for divorce in Italy.) There was a judicial outcry against a magistrate in the industrial city of Milan who granted divorces without requiring at least a "respectable" six-month delay. Many parish priests have caused similar delays in furnishing original marriage documents necessary for the legal proceedings.

Lawyers' fees for the procedure are about $1,000. This is a rather large sum, compared with average $350 monthly incomes here. For poorer sections of southern Italy, it is astronomical. Not surprisingly, the number of people filing for divorces is about one per 1,000 population. In the first year, there were 35,000 cases, as prominent businessmen, celebrities and politicians sought to legalize their status.

MRS. DAVID MARTIN LACHTARA ... Nee Joyce Ellen Coberly

Joyce E. Coberly Becomes Bride Of David Lachtara

By ANN RILEY
Herald Correspondent

Miss Joyce Ellen Coberly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Coberly, 501 Crystal View North, and David Martin Lachtara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Lachtara, 1922 Marshall Ave., all of Sanford, were united in Holy Matrimony, Saturday, Sept. 28, 1973, at 3 p.m., in All Souls Catholic Church.

Officiating clergyman at the candlelight, double ring ceremony was Father Keith. Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected for her vows a formal gown in candlelight silk organza over a blue cloth, was adorned with a low flower arrangement of shasta daisies, white pompons and roses, carrying out the colonial theme.

The groom's mother wore a pink pearl de sole A-line, long sleeve, empire waistline, formal length gown with matching accessories and a pink corsage of cymbidium orchids.

The bride's mother chose a formal length brown crepe gown with a fitted top of beige lace matching accessories and a beige cymbidium orchid.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Parish Hall. The bride's table overlaid with candlelight lace over a blue cloth, was adorned with a low flower arrangement of shasta daisies, white pompons and roses, carrying out the colonial theme.

The groom's table also overlaid with candlelight lace over blue, was centered with a similar arrangement as the bride's table.

Family heirloom crystal, used in the Grandmother's and Mother's weddings appointed the tables.

The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with blue-tipped roses and doves, in keeping with the musical heritage of the Coberly family, angels carrying lyres graced the top tier.

Mrs. Pat Wesley was in charge of the bride's book. Served with the cake were fruit punch, ribbon sandwiches and assorted mints.

For her going-away outfit, Mrs. Lachtara chose a grey pant suit with a yellow blouse. She wore a corsage of white shasta daisies. The couple left for a wedding trip to Singer Island off Palm Beach and are now residing in Sanford.

Sanford Junior Woman's Club Candidate Eve Crabtree Elected District Director

By DORIS WILLIAMS
SOCIETY EDITOR

At the district tour of Florida Federation of Women's Club in Kissimmee on Oct. 10, Mrs. John (Eve) Crabtree was elected Junior Director of District 7, which encompasses nine clubs in the district.

Junior Woman's Club of Sanford proudly nominated Eve as district leader at the confab when state officials from both the Junior and Senior clubs visited to witness this election.

As immediate past president of Sanford Junior Woman's Club, Eve has walked off with many honors for her efforts, both on the club scene and community services.

A born leader, vivacious Eve portrays the true Southern belle. She is straight from the Heart of Dixie, Montgomery, Ala., and was graduated from Auburn University in 1945 with a B.S. Degree in Elementary Education and a minor in music.

At Auburn, she was tapped for Delta Omicron Music Honorary for her scholastic achievement in the field of music. After graduation, she taught first and second grades for five years in Eau Gallie and Titusville, serving as a team leader for four years.

Eve and her husband John, who is manager of the Industrial Construction Department of an Orlando development company, moved to Sanford in 1970. She immediately became involved in community activities, serving as a volunteer in addition to her club work. Eve has given of her time and talents toward endeavors allied with retarded children and Senior citizens.

With a flair for the fine arts, Eve served on the membership committee for Seminole Mutual Concert Association last year, contributing her share toward cultural growth.

Eve and John have a 3-year-old daughter, Leslie, and they attend the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford. She enjoys gardening and somehow finds time to make and design most of her fashionable attire.

As district director, Eve will be in charge of the operation of the nine Junior Woman's Clubs, keeping in constant contact with them and also the Senior clubs in the district. Among her many other duties, she will install all club officers and speak on the movements of Florida Federation of Women's Clubs and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Not only is Eve well-qualified as district director, but she is also a go-getter and very personable and very attractive.

SMCA Memberships Still Available Concert Season Approaches

The Mac Frampton Trio, America's sensational new concert ensemble, will be presenting their exciting program, "Pops With Class" on Monday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m. at Sanford Civic Center.

Rapidly becoming one of the most sought-after attractions in the concert field today, the trio presents a two-hour program featuring the piano and personality of Mac Frampton.

Although he has been concertizing for several years, Mac first gained national recognition in 1969 when he received the Bronze Medal in the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition. Since that time he has appeared with major orchestras across the country and on network television.

In addition, he is currently completing requirements for a Doctorate of Music at the Cincinnati Conservatory. It was at the famous school that Mac met the other members of the Trio, percussionist Tony Phillipps and bassist Douglas Smith. In Tony and Doug he found those elements he was seeking: youth, enthusiasm and very special talent.

A concert by the Mac Frampton Trio is always an exciting and memorable experience. Possibly the most versatile ensemble in the country today, the Trio presents a program designed to appeal to the widest variety of tastes and ages.

Drawing on their backgrounds in the popular, jazz, classical and semi-classical fields of music, they bring their own unique style to the interpretation of compositions ranging from Chopin to current hits, and moods ranging from comedy to the dramatic.

Adding to the variety of the concert are solo features presented by each member of the Trio.

From the great works of the masters to exciting ragtime, an evening with the Mac Frampton Trio promises to be an evening of music marked by true theatrical quality and classical legitimacy.

This versatile trio will be presented as the first in the 1973-74 concert season under the auspices of Seminole Mutual Concert Association. Five other exceptional programs will also be featured.

Admission to the concerts is through membership in the association only. A few memberships are still available through Mrs. Robert Karns, 322-3461, or Mrs. Walter Gielow, 322-2611.

Nancy's Newsnotes

It does one good to see girls of this caliber. It dispoves that theory we are always hearing that this new generation is not up to our standards.

Rita Hahn called me the other day to tell me that her and her husband Bill recently returned from a vacation around the tip of Florida. While coming up a visit to former Winter Springs residents, Ed and Peter, the celebration was twofold. The PETERS lived for some time on Edgemoor Street and asked to be remembered to their many friends here in the city.

For those of you who have been wondering what our Winter Springs Police Department does I thought you might like to hear this. From Jan. 8 to Oct. 1, this year, our police officers donated, (that means without pay) 433 hours of their own time in providing a citizens' patrol in a matter of record. I would say they are doing more than should be expected of them, wouldn't you? Another fact... Winter Springs has the largest herd of any city in Seminole County. With our police force now up to the grand total of seven officers, including the Police Chief, that is one whole lot of good to have.

It was a rather large gathering with ample, and might add, delicious food, stimulating conversation and enough of the "bubbly" to satisfy everyone.

The guest list read like a "Who's Who" of Seminole County with the City of Winter Springs the most well represented. Attending from our city were Mayor Gramble Brown, Councilman Victor Miller and his wife Bonnie, Councilman Troy Piland and his wife Marilyn, Councilman John Booth with his wife (yours truly), councilwoman Vickie Baker with her husband Gene, Police Chief Donald Deban and his wife Mary, City Clerk Mary Norton and her husband Bill, Ray Bradshaw, the building inspector, and Councilman Cliff Jordan.

Also in attendance, (the ones I personally spoke to) were T. R. (Hat) Hattaway and his lovely wife, Sally, Bud Lyster and his Lucy, Lake Mary's Mayor Don Jackson's wife, Jean, Mayor Lawrence Swafford of Altamonte Springs, Casselberry Councilwoman Edith Duerr, Bob Hattaway, and last, but not least, my distinguished boss, John Spolski. (Did you get that nice compliment, Boss?)

Carol Woolfolk, whom I had never met before, I found to be not only beautiful, but extremely charming. She wore a bright yellow gown and had a personality as bright as the color she wore. She also had the bluish that only comes from being a new and very happy bride.

Judge Woolfolk seems to have it altogether, as the saying goes. Not only is he a personable and intelligent young man, but he has a promising future as both City Judge and law partner. Add to that the asset of having such a lovely companion to face the future with, and you can see how far this young man will go in the years ahead. And it couldn't happen to nicer people.

Saturday seemed to be our day for nice things to happen. Saturday morning we awoke to find our eldest daughter sitting at the dining room table! She had a three-day pass and decided to pay us a surprise visit. With Susan was a friend of hers, another Alrman First Class, Betha Dunler.

If, as they say, children are a reflection of their parents, Majorie and Dean Dunler have much to be proud of in their daughter. I found Betha to be a delightful and well bred young lady. She is a credit to her family, which also includes three other daughters, Judy, Cindy and Christy. Dean Dunler is a farmer and cattleman in Russell, Kansas. He also owns several small oil wells. Majorie Dunler is an antique dealer. Betha had been in college a year when she decided to join the Air Force. She said her main reason was "to see the world". Betha loves her home state and hopes to settle there, but wanted to see the rest of the country first. She is going to do much more. Betha has been assigned to Chi-Frands RAF Base in England, along with Susan, and is now looking forward to seeing some of Europe. Two.

A Single Human Hair Contains Secret Of Health, Fertility, Birth Defects

By JEAN PATTISON
Herald Staff Writer

We are, quite literally, a hair's breadth away from fascinating discoveries about general human health, fertility and birth defects.

A single human hair holds the secret.

A highly skilled analytical chemist and laboratory of complex, precision equipment hold the key.

Dr. Jefferson I. Flowers, whose large new chemical laboratory is located on a quiet wooded lot off Newburyport Road in Altamonte Springs, explains that interest in human hair analysis for monitoring the trace of mineral elements in a horse's diet, said Flowers.

Minerals are found primarily in hay and pasture grasses—hitherto regarded merely as fillers by horse breeders.

Mineral elements are important in determining the general health of a horse, its bone strength, stamina and fertility.

Soil and plant analysis helped veterinarians determine what mineral supplements were needed, and also how to adjust the mineral mix in accordance with fluctuating levels of trace elements throughout the year. In spring for example, pastures are low in phosphorus, but high in calcium; the opposite is true in the fall, said Flowers.

His work with horses was carried a step further when he instituted blood analysis in determining levels of trace elements in the body.

Finally, in a step considered revolutionary at the time, he instituted hair analysis in horses.

Flowers intended going exclusively into consultant work. However, the tail wagged the dog, he says with a grin. The bulk of his work day is related to agriculture, doing soil and leaf analysis for citrus, shade tobacco and vegetable crops.

Basically he runs a commercial chemical analytical laboratory, said Flowers—but he'll do work on just about anything and everything that walks through the door.

As he says it, another grin spreads across his rugged, sun-tanned face. A vigorous body and keen enthusiasm for his work belie his greying hair. Far from being the "Typical scientist" cloistered away from the world and relating only to test tubes and chemical compounds, Flowers is highly articulate, has a fine sense of humor, and is deeply concerned how his work can benefit people. His experience, and the volume of work he has done is great. He says he has probably done more high analysis in his field than anyone else in the world.

Breeders have always judged a horse by the appearance of the coat, and Flowers discovered there is a definite relationship between specific conditions of health in horses and the presence of certain mineral elements in their hair.

This relationship between hair and fertility has now been substantiated in humans.

HAIR AND HEALTH

Although research results have not filtered down to the practicing physicians yet, Flowers says interest in hair analysis as a means of monitoring mineral elements in the human body and their effects on health is a subject rapidly increasing interest.

One reason hair analysis in humans was not adopted long ago is the problem created by washing technique. Some trace elements exist in the hair in ionic form—they change when washed with soap containing potassium or sodium.

A large number of mineral elements are present in living tissue in trace concentrations. Of these, ten are known to be essential to human metabolism. They are iron, iodine, manganese, copper, molybdenum, cobalt, selenium, chromium, tin and zinc.

Other elements are known to have beneficial biological effects, but have not yet been proved essential.

A large number of trace elements in living tissue have no known beneficial biological effect, and some such as arsenic and lead may even be highly toxic.

Much research has been done into the effect of zinc on the human body. Its influence appears particularly significant in infants, pregnant mothers, old persons and alcoholics.

Dr. William H. Strain of Cleveland worked in several Middle European countries on deficiencies in dwarfs. In one case a course of zinc therapy caused a 20-year-old dwarf to grow six inches and his secondary sex characteristics began to develop "spore normally."

A significant report came recently from Seattle, Wash., citing a correlation between alcoholic mothers and children with birth defects.

Flowers said he has never offering his cooperation in the research. Hair analysis will probably show a zinc deficiency in the mothers, he said, which could possibly be corrected by therapy, reducing the chance of their children being deformed.

Carrie Lansing Celebrates Her 101st Birthday

Mrs. Carrie Lansing celebrated her 101st birthday with a party at the Lakewood Nursing Home in Sanford, Oct. 8, starting at 2 p.m. Lansing and residents of the home assembled in the dining area and after they all sang "Happy Birthday" cake and frothy fruit punch was served by members of the nursing staff with Jane Miller in charge.

Mrs. Lansing's daughter, Mrs. Mark Reeks, of Geneva also assisted with the party. She presented her mother a white carnation corsage to complement the navy blue print dress she chose for the special event.

The Lakewood Nursing Home normally has a party once a month for all who have a birthday during that month, but since so few residents ever celebrate 101 birthdays they decided to have an extra one for Mrs. Lansing.

Although confined to a wheel chair, due to a broken hip several months ago, she goes all over the building and according to the residents "Really manipulates her wheel chair." She has only been at Lakewood for six months.

The spry centenarian experienced her first plane ride more than two years ago when she decided to leave her home in New Jersey and come to "Sunny Florida." Mrs. Reeks met her at McCoy Air Force Base and took her home with her for several months. She was a resident of Seminole Lodge before transferring to Lakewood.

There's just so much going on, don't know where to begin! For openers, received an invitation to celebrate the 20th day of the year, which is Saturday Oct. 20.

On this memorable date... whatever it is... BOB DAHEIN is throwing a party at Sanford airport.

According to the invitation, there will be food, strolling music by Jack and Mary's favorite cocktail.

Guess the ones receiving invitations will have to go out of sheer curiosity, if nothing else.

Had a cute note from ELLEN SCOTT telling me all about the new baby, FRANK DUNNAN SCOTT IV, who was born Sept. 26, and weighed in at a healthy six pounds, 11 ounces, in Ft. Lauderdale.

The grandparents, MR. AND MRS. CHARLES COLLIER and MR. AND MRS. F.D. SCOTT SR. are probably beside themselves over the arrival of the new heir.

Then on the same date, all circles of Sanford Garden Club will combine for the first general business-luncheon meeting of the new season.

According to Ellen, the new father, Frank, is doing well in his Junior year at Jackson Memorial Hospital School of Nursing.

Attention Sanford Woman's Club members!

The Forest in Lake Mary will be the setting of the annual "Hello Luncheon," on Oct. 18, at noon under the command of Home Life Department.

Reservations are a "must" for the catered luncheon which will feature Tahitian Salad, topped with almonds and fresh fruit, Asparagus Ham Rolls, Honey Buns, Croissants, and a tray of finger pastries.

Cader and Janie Hart visited with Heka LaRue Alderman in Jacksonville.

It certainly is good to see Mrs. Rila Kinnaird back home after her very long vacation in Ohio. Grandma was gone for almost six months and that's just too long for those of us who love her.

By LIZ MATHIEUX Herald Correspondent

We had a nice long letter from Charles and Hazel Lamb who have finally arrived in Germany and if their letter is any indication, I'd say that they are really having a grand time. Check said that it appears as if the Deutchmeister's Band will get to stay in Germany longer than the much anticipated Octoberfest celebrations.

Guess by now that you are well aware of the fact that I am "flower-sitting" Della's shop and while I was over at work I had an unexpected visit from Jane and Ken Vitale who were on their way to the West Coast.

Sorry to have to tell you that, Mable Tillis is confined to Seminole Memorial Hospital where she recently underwent surgery but, I understand, through out mutual friend, Mary Donaldson, that she is doing fairly well.

The Geneva Garden Club held its first meeting of the fall season at the Geneva Community Hall on Oct. 3rd, at 2 p.m., with Rose Levy, Mary McCord and Von White serving as hostesses.

As the guests and members entered the community building they were greeted by the hostesses and invited to enjoy a social hour and delicious refreshments specially prepared for the occasion. Immediately following they assembled to enjoy a very interesting and informal talk relative to "Home Vegetable Gardens" which was given by the guest speaker, Frank Jass.

The regular business meeting was called to order by the president, Elizabeth Oldham. Twenty members and four guests were present. Mrs. Henry Simpson chairman of conservation, gave a report as did Horticultural chairman, Mrs. John Thomas and Mrs. Glen Parcel.

The members were requested to bring plants for the sale to be conducted at the Nov. meeting.

where the big ones were hiding but he had to don his crisp white jacket and take off to the big city of Atlanta on business.

Anyhow, the boys did enjoy some "Tarzan-type" swimming... you know, swinging out on a rope and falling off when you get too tired to hold on any longer.

Larry Braddy was in attendance as an assistant and if I am any judge, he was a good one too. These boys meet each Monday night at the church educational building at 7:30 p.m. If you are interested in a real good time and learning more about Bible study, why not drop by?

Today is a great day for my Joe and me... it has been 22 years since we promised to love and honor, etcetera.

I almost forgot to tell you that our "almost neighbors" the Gary Clarks are going great.

Oliver had been around, he could have told them their new home by Thanksgiving.

Dear Abby

She called him 'Bob'— husband Joe got upset By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 25-year-old mother of five boys ranging from 7 years old down to 10 months. I am happily married, or at least I WAS until this unexplainable thing happened.

About three months ago, my husband and I were talking, and I said: "That's what you think, Bob." (His name is Joe.) He asked me who "Bob" was, and I honestly couldn't give him an answer. I don't know any Bob, and I don't recall one who meant a thing to me.

I swear to you, Abby, I don't know what made me call my husband "Bob." He keeps bringing it up. I'm sure he thinks there must be a "Bob" in my life. There isn't. How can I convince him and myself that I'm not kidding myself? Joe "Bob" DEAR INNOCENT: Bob is a very common name, and there are lots of Bobs bobbing around on TV and radio and in the newspaper. Don't let it bother you. With five boys under seven, you could have unconsciously been thinking of bibs, books, or babes.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D. Debate Rev. Paul's stimulating question. It's a natural question that merits your discussing it as a Sunday School problem tomorrow. And it would make a good topic for high school or college debate teams!

Case V-542: Rev. Paul presents a very intriguing problem. "Dr. Crane," he began, "one of the families in my parish had a stalwart son, of whom they were justly proud. They had stumped and saved until they paid his way through college. But he was drafted into the Vietnam War."

One didn't want any children, so that couple used methods to avoid pregnancy. And they spent their extra money on pleasurable objects, such as a TV set, fancy auto, membership in a Country Club, etc.

When this soldier boy thus died in Vietnam, to defend all of us and even world freedom, should his aging parents now be forced to take all the financial loss? "In fact, I have even seen newspaper reports that workers in private industry who lost their legs while on the job, were awarded as much as half a million dollars when they went to court."

Remember, too, that millions of American parents did not lose a son or daughter in the war.

Family Lib

Poisonous expectations can destroy family life By Joanne and Lew Koch

Our behavior is shaped by the expectations of others, perhaps more than we realize. Psychologist Robert Rosenblatt calls this phenomenon "the Pygmalion effect." What this means is the classroom, for instance, is that teachers form fixed expectations of students based not on what the students actually do in the classroom but based on how well or poorly the students did in previous tests.

But before we call a special meeting of the PTA, let's look at how the Pygmalion effect operates in our own homes. As parents, how often do we see a child as the child is? If we are honest with ourselves, we can remember how each child's gender, size, rate of development and physical characteristics shaped our expectations of him or her.

Expectations about our partners may be flexible at the outset, but after a few years of marriage, roles may become psychological prisons. Because Lew and I had three children within six years of marriage, Lew came to think of me as child-behavior and nurturer, even though I had as much formal training and almost as much work experience as he. I came to think of myself in the same light, feeling guilty about working even when the children no longer required my undivided attention.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG AP Newsfeatures

Because it is relatively inexpensive (nothing is REALLY expensive these days) and fire-resistant, gypsum board is the most widely used wall material in new houses.

Several thicknesses. Square, beveled and tapered edges are among the available types. Gypsum board is cut by scoring the face side with a sharp knife, pulled along a straight-edge. The knife should be pressed firmly enough so that it cuts through the paper and partly into the core. Place the board on a table or sawhorse so that the scored part is face up and right on the edge. Snap it downward, which breaks the core completely through. Now, using the knife again, cut the paper on the other side and the two pieces will separate. Both edges have to be sanded smooth, using a piece of sandpaper wrapped around a wooden block or any sanding tool with a firm base.

OUR NEW AGE TALKING BY LIGHT

IMAGINE LASERS SMALLER THAN GRAINS OF SALT AND MILES OF GLASS FIBERS EACH THINNER THAN A HUMAN HAIR, AND YOU HAVE THE ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS OF TOMORROW'S AMAZING "TALKING BY LIGHT" TELEPHONE SYSTEM. THE TINY SOLID-STATE LASER, ALREADY IN EXPERIMENTAL USE AT BELL LABS, WILL GENERATE THE NECESSARY COHERENT LIGHT...

...WHILE SPECIAL ULTRA-PURE OPTICAL FIBERS, BUNDLED TOGETHER INTO A 1/4-IN. CABLE, WILL CARRY THE VOICE-FLUCTUATED LIGHT IMPULSES. IT'S ESTIMATED EACH FIBER WOULD TRANSMIT 4000 TO 5000 TELEPHONE CONVERSATIONS AT THE SAME TIME!

DIRECT "WIRELESS" LIGHT SYSTEMS, WITHOUT FIBER CABLES, ARE ALSO PROMISED FOR YOUR FUTURE. PENCIL-THIN LASER BEAMS WILL CONNECT MANY OFFICES, FACTORIES AND CONSTRUCTION AREAS WITHIN LINE-OF-SIGHT.

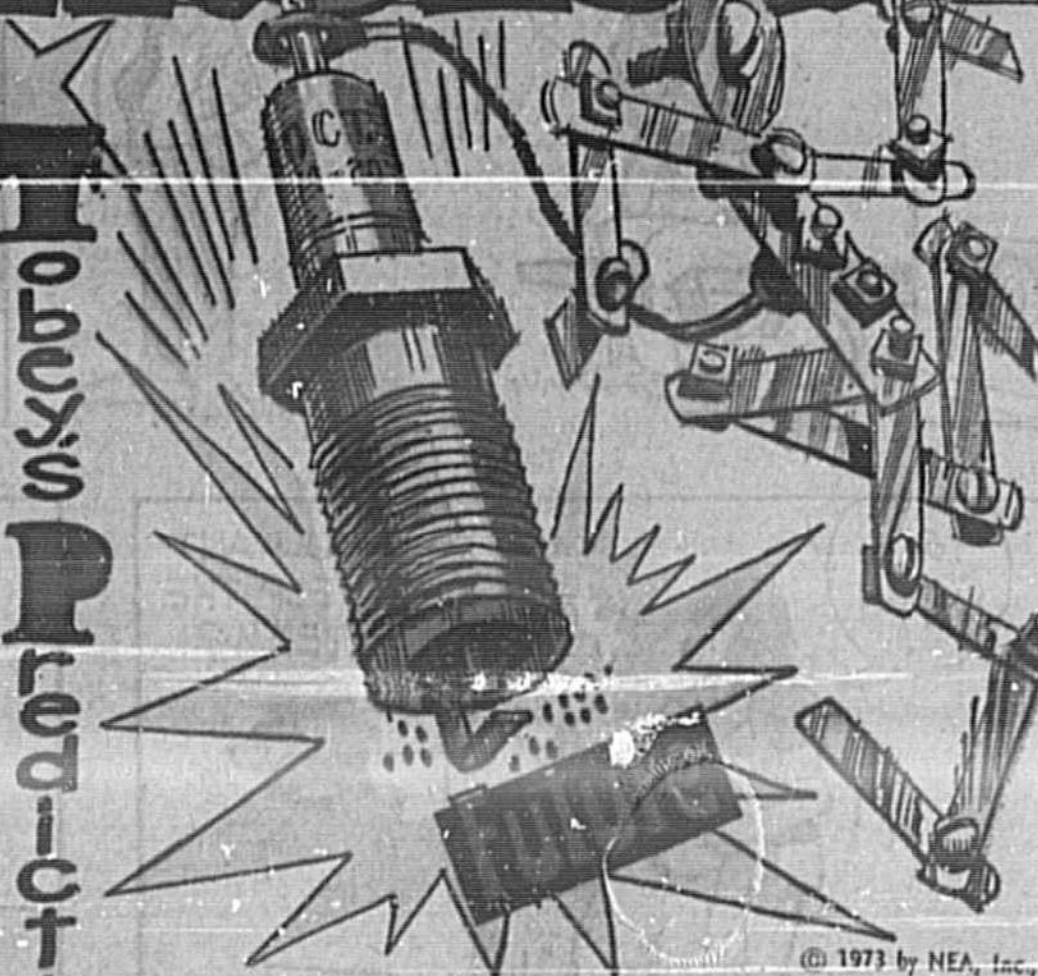

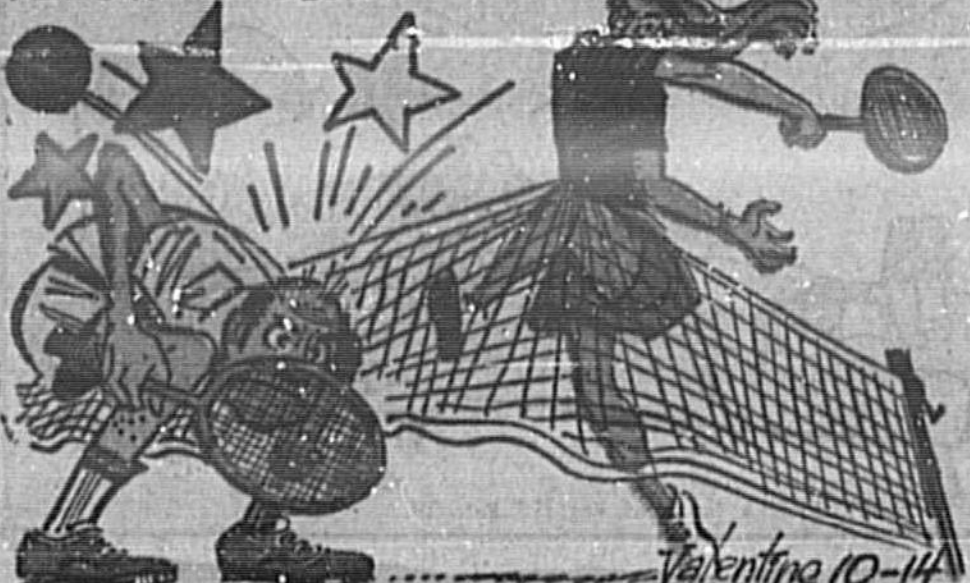

THIS WILL CREATE SHORT-RANGE, TOTALLY-PRIVATE, UNTAPPABLE COMMUNICATION.

LEO-LEO ASSOCIATIONS

SIMILARLY, LEO GETS ALONG PRETTY WELL WITH ITS OWN SIGN. WITH SIMILAR CHARACTERISTICS THERE IS BASIC UNDERSTANDING, PROVIDING THE SPOT-LIGHT CAN BE SHARED. WHILE THERE IS CONFIDENCE, IT MUST NOT GENERATE INTO OVERCONFIDENCE, OR DISAPPOINTMENT CAN BE SEVERE. THERE NEED BE NO SECRETS UNLESS BIRTHDAYS NEAR AUG. 3 ARE INVOLVED.

THERE IS SPARK IN THE WEEK OF OCT. 14-20 WHICH CAN CAUSE THINGS TO HAPPEN UNEXPECTEDLY. THERE IS MORE TENDENCY TO SHOOT FROM THE HIP SO TO SPEAK. DROP HABITS AND TRADITION, TAKE SHORT-CUTS, MAKE SUDDEN DECISIONS AND ACT UPON THEM IMMEDIATELY. A GREATER DEMAND FOR FREEDOM, THERE IS THE DANGER OF SOME OVERCONFIDENCE.

- ARIES (March 21-April 20) Acts of others may surprise you. You can make new friends. Avoid too-great extravagance. Wednesday, Thursday; caution in finances. Don't plunge. Be moderate.
- TAURUS (April 21-May 20) Potent with action for those born April 23-26. For all dates, Sunday through Thursday your best days for positive action. Friday, Saturday more risky.
- GEMINI (May 21-June 21) Many new, interesting ideas are possible. Not a calm week for you. Inclination toward change is great. You don't want to settle down. Motion more comfortable.
- CANCER (June 22-July 22) Heavy responsibility if born about June 25. Much depends on your record. Possible changes in home, family affairs for others. Wednesday, Thursday best days.
- LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strains, possibly with those in authority, if born July 25-29. New contacts important for those born July 25-26. More opportune days coming Friday, Saturday, Be alert.
- VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) More promising if born Aug. 25-28. Week on the upgrade. Everything looks better for the weekend. Possible changes regarding work, labor situations. New plans significant.
- LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You can be superconscious if your birthday is near Tuesday. It is an active week for all Librans. Possible illusions in friendships, romance, Sunday. Rest of week on the up-grade.
- SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Tension if born Oct. 25-28, with strong tendency to worry about things that won't happen unless you cause them to. Scorpios should guard against overexpenditures, haste.
- SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Policies of reserve best all this week. Monday, Tuesday dangerous if you make wrong move, say the wrong things. You'll fare better if you coast and rest.
- CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you're off-guard things could take you by surprise this week. Be flexible in habits. Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday, all good days if you're not loafing.
- AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) More spark for you. Monday, Tuesday, independent, creative. Friday, Saturday, doubtful. Unexpected action by others possible. Best wait and see.
- PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Next weekend doubtful if careless. Until then, much work can be accomplished if you concentrate on one thing at a time. Care for your health. Gain sufficient rest.

A WEED CAN BE ANY PLANT THAT IS GROWING WHERE WE DON'T WANT IT TO GROW. CORN GROWING IN A ROSE GARDEN IS A WEED, AND WE YANK IT UP. BUT CORN GROWING IN A CORNFIELD IS A USEFUL CROP. SOME KINDS OF PLANTS ARE WEEDS NO MATTER WHERE THEY ARE GROWING. POISON IVY, RAGWEED AND COCKLEBURRS, FOR EXAMPLE, ARE ALWAYS WEEDS BECAUSE WE HAVE NO USE FOR THEM. WEEDS ARE NOT WANTED FOR SEVERAL REASONS. SOME ARE POISONOUS TO ANIMALS. WEEDS MAY GROW SO THICK THAT THE PLANTS WE WANT TO HAVE ARE TOO CROWDED TO GROW WELL. OTHER WEEDS SPOIL THE LOOKS OF GARDENS AND LAWNS.

Q: "The Lawrence With A: You listen to your brother, cherub!" was the director.

Q: Who was the man who played Lucky in the series, "Lucky"?
A: A. J....

Q: Lee Natalie Wood did a TV movie with Robert Wagner. In it, she was the only woman who was shot in a boat. What was the name of the boat?
A: John Wayne.

Q: Not the way Natalie Wood's "Lucky" was shot. It was shot in a "Lucky" for ABC's "Movie of the Week," but additional footage was shot so it also can be a "Lucky" for the "Lucky" She gets a hefty slice of the gross and the profits. It's her first picture in four years. And she's not in place to cut in on the profits. Natalie did it.

If, as they say, love makes the world go round, a love affair makes the daily round that much more worldly. Add a touch of class to the couple involved and you come up with an affair worth remembering, worth writing about. And certainly worth filming.

Melvin Frank's "A Touch of Class," now at Sanford, is a love story of two ordinary, decent, likeable people—a young English-American, one English divorcee—who meet quite by chance, and embark upon a love affair. A love affair complete with all its complications, laughter, pleasure, heartbreaks, fun—and love. An affair that could happen—or has happened to you, or to that girl or guy who works in the "A Touch of Class" a Joseph E. Levine and Brut Productions Presentation for Avco Embassy release, is heart-warming, funny, touching, acutely witty, and very real. It also marks the return of light-hearted romantic comedy to the motion picture screen.

George Segal, one of the busiest and most successful young stars in modern motion pictures, stars as Steve Blackburn, a young London-based American who embarks upon a love affair with an attractive English divorcee, played by Glenda Jackson, one of England's most distinguished and highly-acclaimed actresses. The role of "Vicki," a

War Views On Battlefield At Sinai Different From Israel And Egypt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egypt claimed its tanks consolidated new positions in the Sinai Desert today after beating back an Israeli counteroffensive. Israel said the Egyptians again tried to push forward in the desert's northern reaches but were stopped short.

The Egyptians said they advanced farther into the Israeli-occupied Sinai peninsula in a tank battle Sunday that cost the Israelis 150 tanks and 29 warplanes.

But the Israelis said they relinquished no ground in the seven hours of desert fighting and claimed the attacking Egyptians lost more than 200 tanks and 15 planes.

"The pattern of today's fighting has become localized clashes in various sectors," the Egyptian statement said.

On the Syrian front, Damascus reported heavy tank, infantry and artillery battalions raged as the fourth Arab-Israeli war ground into its 10th day.

Syrian shelling was slowing the Israeli advance toward Damascus and the Israeli tanks were reported about 21 miles from the ancient Syrian capital.

Correspondents with the Israeli forces reported that long-range Syrian guns opened up whenever the armored columns tried to advance.

Meany Says Peace Agreement Topples

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—AFL-CIO president George Meany indicated today the tentative peace agreement with the Teamsters for settling the California Farm Worker dispute may be falling apart.

"Something has happened," Meany said. "We reached an agreement then all of a sudden nothing."

In speech to the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department, he said there had been no contact with the Teamsters since the tentative peace pact was announced Sept. 28 in Washington.

Efforts to contact the Teamsters have been unsuccessful, he said.

At that time, Meany and Teamsters President Frank E.
Fitzsimmons disclosed a "agreement in principle" with United Farm Workers President Cesar Chavez that would end the long and sometimes violent jurisdictional fight between the two unions. Details of the agreement were withheld pending a examination of the legal "baggage" by counsel for Meany and Fitzsimmons.

Meany said all that remained was final approval by himself and Fitzsimmons.

"We have not given up hope...whether they go through with the agreement, I don't know," he said.

Meany gave no indication as to the nature of the problem but said a full report would be made during the AFL-CIO Convention which opens here Thursday.

Under the tentative agreement, the Teamsters were to have repudiated contracts signed this year with California grape growers and leave organizing of their hands to Chavez's union. The Teamsters would retain jurisdiction over all other workers, such as in the canneries, warehouses and packing sheds.

He charged the Arab attack on Israel was planned, inspired and supported by the Soviet Union and urged that the United States give Israel whatever military equipment is needed to preserve "this tiny democratic state in the Middle East." He said this "is in our national interest."

The commission, noting
$4,866 has been earmarked from federal revenue sharing funds for fire protection, indicated it will settle the budget disparity at Tuesday's regular meeting.

The board last week passed the ordinance, effective Nov.
12, setting up for the uncor-porated areas an authority for building inspections and plans review that can be enforced by the district fire chiefs, according to Kaiser.

Kaiser called his budget request a "minimum necessary to effectively implement the program," saying he doubted an inspector can be hired at the $7,500 rate set by the county.

The budget includes $15,000 salary for the department head for which Kaiser, former Altamonte Springs fire chief, is the apparent top candidate.

County Receives Fire Plan

A $68,664 preliminary budget request for the newly-created Seminole County Fire Protection Department was presented today to the county commission by Gary Kaiser, chairman for the fire standards committee.

The commission, noting
$4,866 has been earmarked
from federal revenue sharing
funds for fire protection, indicated it will settle the budget disparity at Tuesday's regular meeting.

GEORGE MEANY
...Something happened

"We who live in the District of Columbia know that electronic surveillance is commonplace," wrote Douglas. "It is indiscernibly certain that the conference room of this court has been 'bugged,' and President Johnson during his term in the White House asserted to me that even his phone was tapped."

Douglas offered no substantiation for either claim.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas asserted today that President Lyndon B. Johnson's phone was tapped during his term in the White House.

Douglas also asserted that the Supreme Court's ultra-confidential conference was bugged.

Douglas' assertions came in a dissent to what would normally have been a routine action denying bail to a criminal defendant.

He spent much of the weekend working on the speech, without the help of his speech-writers.

Sources close to the former vice president said the speech would be "largely his own work."

"There won't be any whining and complaining and I don't expect him to be terribly defensive about it," said one associate. "But I think he will state his case firmly."

After leaving the U.S. courthouse in Baltimore Wednesday where he was given a $10,000 fine and three years' probation on the tax charge, Agnew promised he would make the speech.

Seminole County commissioners were scheduled today to work on a proposed electrical ordinance blasted last week by the grand jury as an example of how some public officials show "carelessness toward public property and life."

Commissioners have not formally discussed the grand jury report since it was issued late Tuesday.

Dennis Lee Shindle, 31, a member of the county electrical review board, will be arraigned today on extortion and perjury charges stemming from the grand jury probe.

The "voluntary" suspension of Shindle, 1400 Allison Drive, Altamonte Springs, was requested by the commission after the report detailing what proper and possibly illegal construction and inspection practices in the county.

The charges against Shindle stem from an alleged incident in the building department offices in which he reportedly told an electrical inspector to expect "a couple of accidents" if a job by Shindle was continually rejected by the inspector.

On the proposed electrical ordinance, the grand jury charged it will perpetuate the bad, the grand jury said, because it "gives permission

City Charter Study Panel

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS—A 9-11-member charter study commission will be appointed by the city council at its 4:30 p.m. meeting Tuesday.

Mayor Lawrence Swofford said today the commission will hold public hearings to determine recommendations to be made to the council on a new city charter.

The present charter was adopted in the late 1960s.
Swofford estimated the charter study will take about one year.

Also on the agenda is a report from consulting engineer Bill Palm on costs of hiring an engineering firm to do an analysis of the new sewer interceptor system.

The board will discuss memos from the zoning department, a fire prevention code and will hear from representatives of the Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce on a proposed election rally.

JAVELINA — The Javelina or peccary pig-like with a coarse coat and no tail. Peccaries are found in southern Texas, Arizona and New Mexico, and in most of Mexico. When alarmed, the peccary gives off a strong unpleasant odor. The animal is considered a game animal and the flesh good eating.

Agnew Talks To U.S. Via Television Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew addresses a television audience tonight and sources indicated the farewell speech may be an instruction on avoiding the problems that ruined his political career.
The approximately 15-minute speech is to be televised live at 7:30 p.m. EDT by NBC and CBS.

Agnew resigned Wednesday and pleaded no contest to a federal charge of income tax evasion.
He spent much of the week-end working on the speech, without the help of his speech-writers.
Sources close to the former vice president said the speech would be "largely his own work."
