ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
DEAR DR. LAMB - I recently graduated from college. I'm 25 years old and the last few months I've been bothered by irregularity of my heart, including what the doctors call tachycardia and the beginning pulse, along with persistent muscle spasms and twitches and indigestion. My doctor listened to my heart, performed an electrocardiogram and did a number of blood tests, including a test of my thyroid and potassium and chemical profile. But everything was all right. He has prescribed Librium and Norpace and chills all up and down. I'm still concerned. Should I be?

DEAR READER - Let me tell you something. Anyone who notices an irregularity of his heart, particularly if it disturbs him or occurs with rapid heart action, is concerned. It can be downright uncomfortable whether it's caused by anxiety and stress or whether it's caused by some disease of the heart. Many people do have such findings and do not have any underlying heart disease at all. In many instances we don't know what causes these episodes. It would like you have had a very thorough and competent medical examination which should give you a lot of comfort in knowing that you don't have any serious illness, regardless of how uncomfortable the attacks may be. Bismen really means that every second beat is premature so that you have two beats, a pause, two beats and a pause. All of these fall into the same category of what people call their heart skipping a beat. We also know that cigarette smoking contributes to the problem as do digestive disorders. Individuals who do not have any underlying heart disease and have occasional irregular beats often do better if they improve their level of physical fitness, particularly if they're relatively unfit to begin with. I would suggest stopping all of the caffeine containing drinks, eliminating cigarettes, improve your diet, gradually improve your level of physical fitness and see if that won't help.

What To Do About Iran.. Khomeini Vows He'll Act

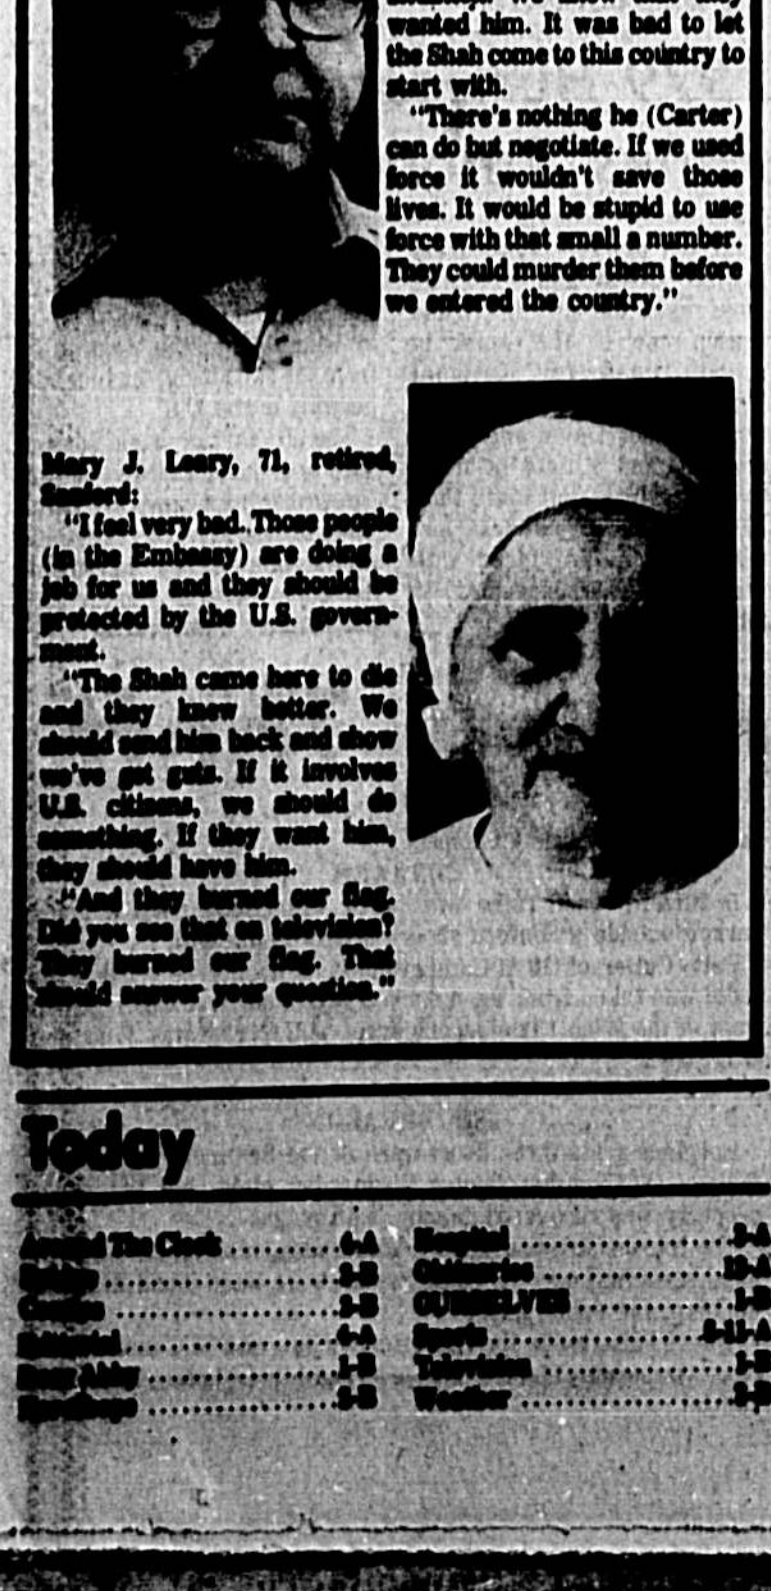

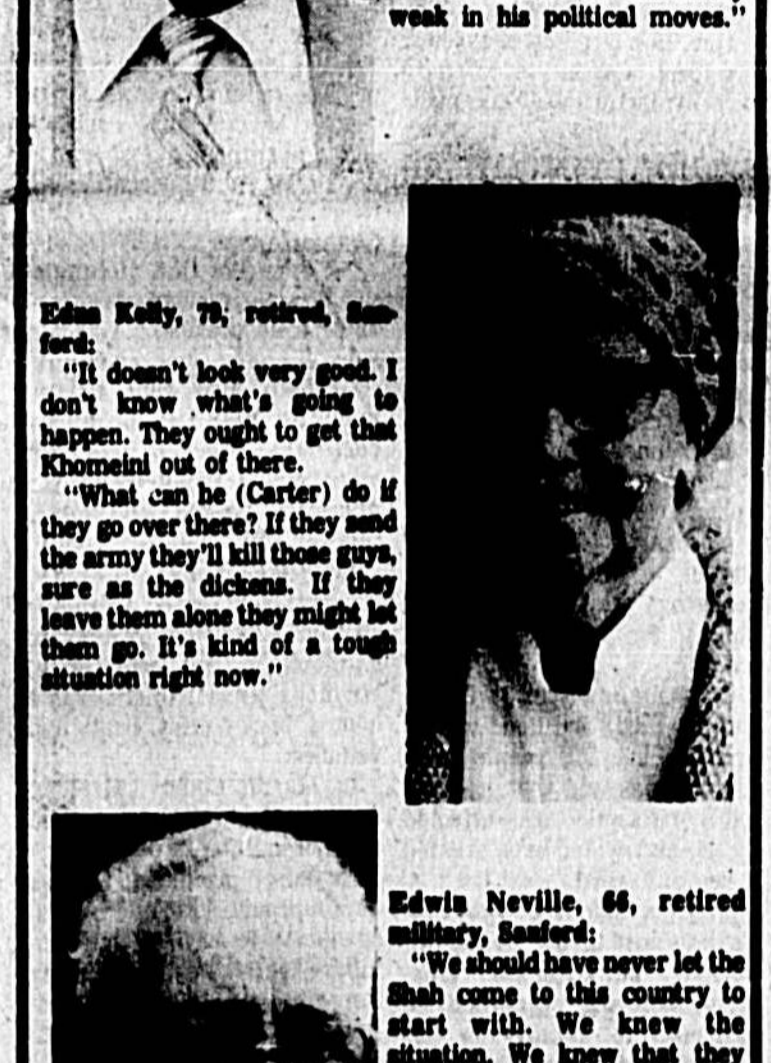

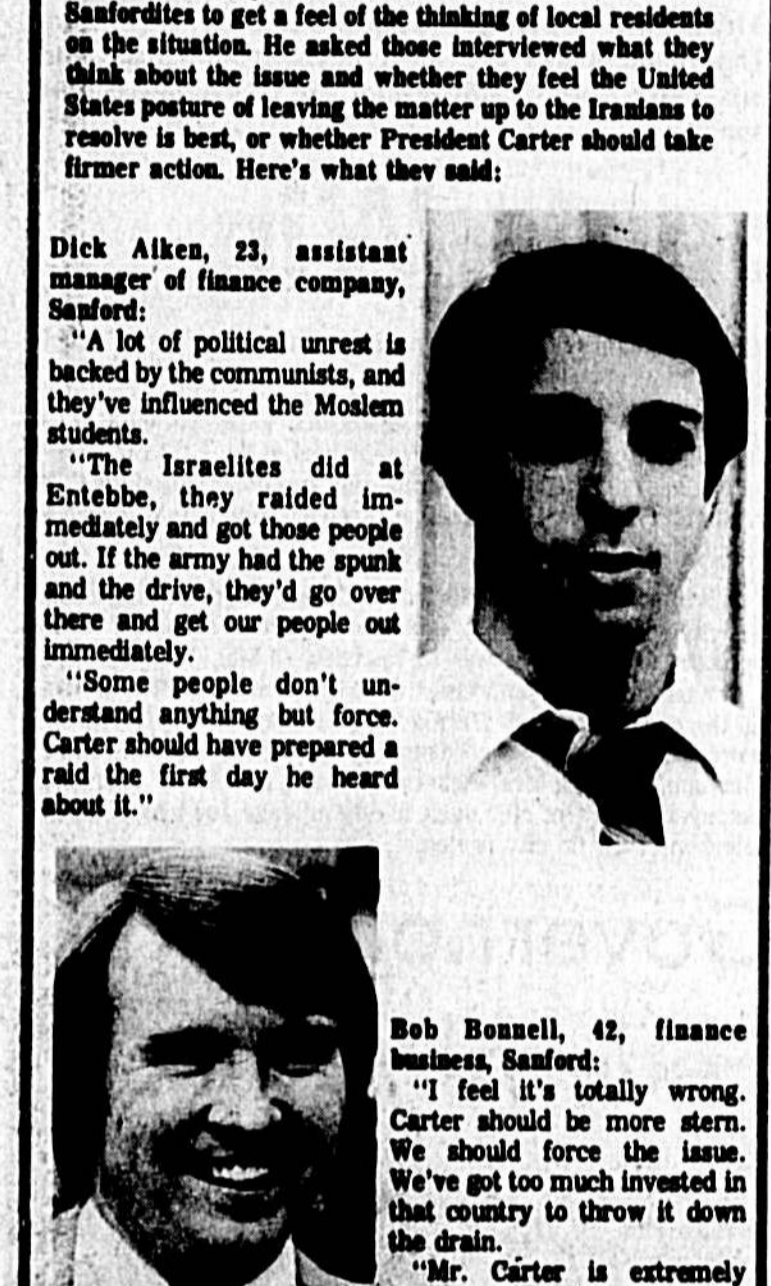

With the Iranian crisis still uncertain today Evening Herald photographer Tom Netzel set out to talk with some Sanforites to get a feel of the thinking of local residents on the situation. He asked those interviewed what they think about the issue and whether they feel the United States posture of leaving the matter up to the Iranians to resolve is best, or whether President Carter should take firmer action. Here's what they said.

Canadian Prime Minister Beats Ouster By 2 Votes

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Joe Clark spoke today with a two-week-old Conservative government. Clark's handling of Canada's economy and energy policies, said he probably will try again to bring down the minority government.

"We won't harass the government on every issue for harassment's sake but if there is an important issue we will take action," the Liberal party leader told reporters after the splitler Social Credit party saved the government with its five votes.

Rosalynn Set For Thailand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring "we can't let people starve," first lady Rosalynn Carter left today for Thailand to lead a four-day relief mission for the victims of the 1976-77 drought in Thailand.

Mrs. Carter said Tuesday her four-day trip with a delegation including U.S. Surgeon General Julius Richmond leads to "focus attention to what amounts to 'one of the most serious of our times.'"

The Cambodian government has refused to allow a truck convoy to enter the country with supplies, but retained Monday and Tuesday at food shipments being made along the Mekong River.

Kosygin May Be Ailing

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin failed to appear on the reviewing stand today for the annual Revolution Day Parade in what Western analysts called a "rare indication" he is ailing.

Kosygin, 75, has not been seen in public for 20 days and his absence from the Soviet Union's biggest holiday celebration renewed speculation the ailing leader is ill.

By tradition, Kosygin, as nominal head of government, should have taken his place to the left of President Leonid Brezhnev, who climbed to the top of Lenin's Tomb in Red Square and signaled the start of the parade.

Irish Prison Guard Shot

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A young prison guard was shot by death today when three other prison officers have been killed by the Provisional Irish Republican Army in recent weeks.

The latest killing came just 96 hours after the IRA threatened to target British troops who are part of the British war machine in Northern Ireland.

Police say a still unidentified 29-year-old off-duty guard from Crumlin Road Prison was standing at a bus stop in civilian clothes when a young man walked up to him, pulled out a gun and shot him four times in the head and chest.

Gold Up, Dollar Slumps

LONDON (UPI) — Gold rose sharply and the dollar dropped across-the-board today on European money markets in frantic trading caused by the erratic political situation in Iran.

The price of gold rose nearly $10 an ounce in Zurich, where the metal opened at $294 an ounce after Tuesday's decline from $290. In London, the metal rose more than $7 to $291.75 from the previous close of $284.

"The unsettled situation in Iran and the possibility of a cutoff of oil to the United States caused gold to rise sharply due to heavy buying," a dealer in Zurich said.

2 Newcomers, 2 Incumbents Win

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Altamonte Springs and Winter Springs voters Tuesday reelected two incumbent officials and elected two political newcomers to office.

The victors in all four cases were by what is considered a landslide — over 60 percent of the vote.

One of them elected, a 37-year-old history teacher at Lakeview Middle School, Jim Thompson, won the District No. 1 seat on the Altamonte Springs City Commission, carrying 1,108 ballots for 74.4 percent of the vote to 286 votes or 20.5 percent by his opponent, Rex Walker.

In Winter Springs, another newcomer, who had only recently begun attending city council meetings to present parking and drainage assessments levied by the city, Maureen H. Boyd became the youngest elected official in Seminole County.

Mrs. Boyd, 28, the mother of three children including a 10-month-old baby, had not been involved in politics at all before. She defeated Andrew C. Montval Jr., a golf professional.

Mrs. Boyd received 812 votes to 312 for her opponent, carrying 62.1 percent of the vote.

Meanwhile, the incumbents in the two cities, Dolores Vickers in Altamonte Springs and Wilfred (Hap) Arnold in Winter Springs, both won reelection handily.

Arnold, completing an appointed one-year split term on the Winter Springs City Council, garnered 881 votes for 82.9 percent of the vote. His opponent Gary D. Bunt took 203 votes or 27 percent.

Mrs. Vickers, completing her first two-year term on the Altamonte Springs City Commission, received 881 votes, 61.3 percent, to her opponent Marian Marrow's 544 or 39.5 percent.

At the same time, Troy Piland won reelection unopposed to the mayor's office in Winter Springs that he has held for many years. There was no problem seen at the polling places in either city, according to city clerks, Mary Norton of Winter Springs and Phyllis Jordahl of Altamonte Springs. The county's new punch card voting system was used.

The turnout in both cities was higher than expected. While Mrs. Jordahl had predicted a 20 percent turnout for the 1,713 registered voters, she admitted that her prediction was more optimistic than realistic. However, the Altamonte turnout including 31 absentee ballots was 23.3 percent — 1,165.

In Winter Springs, Mrs. Norton predicted a 50 percent turnout of the city's 2,071 voters, but said privately she had hoped for 30 percent. Turnout there was 20.5 percent — 468.

The campaigns in both cities were quiet and almost uneventful, all the candidates said. During the final days of the campaign, however, literature was distributed in Altamonte by Mrs. Marrow, charging Mrs. Vickers with being a "fat cat" and using taxpayer money for club dues, in-city meetings and long distance telephone calls on city projects.

"Because there is no certainty that disaster victims will receive monies adequate to provide relief from a situation that is beyond their capabilities," prompt governmental action is necessary to assist those whose individual needs are most acute.

"It is urgent that victims of this disaster receive assistance as soon as possible," Graham said.

Graham also said federal public assistance will be needed once total damage to roads and other public facilities can be assessed after the flood waters recede.

In Osceola County, Graham said early estimates showed $2.68 million in damage to mobile homes, commercial buildings, travel trailers, frame houses, and boats had been assessed after the flood waters receded.

In Martin County, Graham said the early surveys turned up $1.48 million in damage. He also promised to ask appropriate state and federal agencies to review the damage figures and send the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation will lead the investigation.

Graham said the most immediate need is for temporary housing, but indicated that term loans will be needed for residents to rebuild in the severely populated area.

Communist Group To March Despite 5 Killings By Klan

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — A communist group that had five of its members killed in a weekend confrontation with Ku Klux Klan members and American Nazis will be able to hold another march Sunday — although city officials halted issuance of march permits.

Police Chief William E. Swing said he has been informed by members of the Workers Viewpoint Organization, also called the Communist Workers Party (CWP), that they will be carrying the bodies of four of the dead with them and burial services will be held after the march.

Swing said that action turns the march into a funeral procession and "we do not prevent funeral processions." The five people were killed just before an anti-Klan march Saturday in an exchange of gunfire with a group police describe as Klansmen and Nazis. Fourteen people are charged in the deaths.

Ray Set For Isolation?

PETROS, Tenn. (UPI) — James Earl Ray, convicted assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., could be placed in total isolation at his latest attempt to break out of the four-walled Brushy Mountain State Prison, officials said Tuesday.

Ray, serving a 99-year sentence for the 1968 slaying of King at Memphis, faces a hearing on attempted escape charges today before a three-member prison disciplinary board.

"As long as he's here, we figure he will probably try" another break, said prison spokesman Ray Tucker.

Oil Exploration Halted

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Environmentalists won an 11th-hour reprieve from the U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday night in their fight to block the government sale of oil and gas exploration leases on the rich Georges Bank fishing grounds off the New England coast.

But federal officials are confident of ultimate victory. Time ran out on the scheduled sale of drilling rights on 60,000 acres of ocean floor when Chief Justice Warren Burger refused to hasten Supreme Court consideration of the case scheduled for Friday.

Indianapolis Man Kills 3

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — A man enraged at his wife's filing for divorce shot and killed her, her father and a policeman, and wounded four other people, including three other police officers, authorities said.

The alleged gunman, Richard D. Moore, 36, in his 36th year, was wounded by police gunfire, then surrendered, ending a 10-minute siege. He was reported in serious condition.

Police Capt. Tom Foley said the incident began late Monday afternoon at the home of his wife's parents, where she was staying.

Press Freedom In Jeopardy?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Helen K. Copley, chief executive officer of the Copley Press, wants that report of U.S. Supreme Court rulings have placed freedom of the press in jeopardy.

The Evening Tribune, told a Term Hall of California meeting Tuesday the news media itself contributed to public distrust of the press by its "arrogance" in insisting on disseminating information not in the public interest.

The threat to First Amendment guarantees of a free press do not come from an "imperial" presidency or from the Congress, she said, but from the judiciary which is most responsible for the people's right to know.

5 States Nab Car Thieves

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — Separate "sting-type" undercover operations in Tennessee have resulted in five arrests of car thieves who charge against residents of five states, the FBI said Tuesday.

Chattanooga police and the FBI arrested 18 persons from three states Tuesday on auto theft charges and said the remainder of the suspects probably would be picked up today.

Potential Juror: Give Bundy The Chair

LIVE OAK, Fla. (UPI) — Asked if he was willing to give Theodore Bundy the presumption of innocence, Craig Lamb passed, scratched the back of his neck while looking across the courtroom at Bundy and said, "I guess."

Later, the telephone repairman acknowledged that he had felt Bundy was guilty and that he "ought to have the chair." Lamb was one of three prospective jurors questioned Tuesday as Bundy's trial for the kidnap-murder of 18-year-old Kimberly Diane Leach got underway.

Bundy's defense attorneys moved three times that Lamb be excused for cause. Circuit Judge Wallace Jopling denied the first two motions then took the third under advisement.

Jury selection was scheduled to resume at 9 a.m. today. The trial's first day went slowly. Of 142 prospective jurors reporting, the judge excused 43, one by one, for cause. Then the questioning of the west began.

The 32-year-old Bundy, a former Utah law student chewed gum incessantly as he watched the proceedings from a swivel chair at the dead end with them and burial services will be held after the march.

Swing said that action turns the march into a funeral procession and "we do not prevent funeral processions." The five people were killed just before an anti-Klan march Saturday in an exchange of gunfire with a group police describe as Klansmen and Nazis. Fourteen people are charged in the deaths.

Longwood City Commission, meeting in a special session Monday night, interviewed seven applicants for the position of city attorney left vacant with the resignation of City Attorney Ned Allan Jr.

Julian, although he resigned as of Nov. 1, has agreed to stay on until a replacement is found, or until Jan. 1, if necessary. A final decision was not reached Monday night and each commissioner is to narrow his choice to one and present that name at a Nov. 20 meeting.

Interviewed Monday night was John Jones of Jacksonville, who would work for $40,000 a year for 11 years, he said his Casseberry law firm of Carroll, Jones, Rooks and Owen; Barry Alper of Miami, Alper, Wack and Eaton, Altamonte Springs; William Carpenter, Longwood Village; and Gerald Dornas; William H. Morrison of Jones, Morrison and Alper of Jacksonville.

Morrison said there are six attorneys in his law firm, which has an administrative practice. With a background in business, Morrison said he moved to Jacksonville in 1971 and began the practice of law. "I would attempt to get the city personnel to do as much of the clerical work as possible subject to my approval to have the city money," he said.

Alper, who has been practicing law since 1972 was formerly an assistant general counsel with the city of Jacksonville. "I don't like to shoot from the hip," Alper said, "if you like someone to provide you with instant gratification, you need someone else." He said the greatest accomplishment of his career was being a non-resident for objectively. Leibesberger said he had already made his choice and was ready to vote, but Mayor Jones said he would wait 30 days, who could provide a back up for him in case it would be impossible for him to attend a meeting. "I have more years experience than I care to talk about," Morrison said. "We are all familiar with you so that providing a back up is not a serious question."

There are 139 men and one woman under death sentence in Florida which executed its last inmate in 1964 when John Spenslink died in the electric chair.

Under state policy, no death warrant can be signed until the inmate's conviction and sentence have been reviewed by the Clemency Board which has the power, on the recommendation of the governor, to commute the punishment to life in prison.

Graham told a news conference Tuesday he will not act on any of the 10 current cases until all are heard.

He said likes to look at cases in a group for the purpose of consistency of action.

The AMA's Fears Are Unwarranted

The American Medical Association (AMA) reacted with predictable consternation recently to the ruling by the Federal Trade Commission that physicians cannot be prohibited from advertising their fees and services. Experience will, we think, demonstrate that the AMA's fears are unfounded. Two years ago, the American Bar Association (ABA) expressed similar concerns over the U.S. Supreme Court decision permitting lawyers to advertise. ABA officials worried aloud that commercial advertising would benefit unscrupulous lawyers at the expense of their more principled colleagues. The advertising of fees in particular, said the ABA, might lead to a deterioration in the quality of legal services.

Cold-Blooded Tactic

By yielding to the temptation to fight the narcotics traffic with illegal weapons, the Drug Enforcement Administration has lost significant moral ground. The DEA's "turnback" policy was, ostensibly, a legal recourse to a federal statute permitting officers to turn away undesirable foreigners seeking admission at the border. In fact, it was a cold-blooded practice of turning over alien drug smugglers to Mexican federal judicial police agents who secretly tortured them to obtain information on higher-ups in the illicit narcotics traffic in Mexico.

It adds nothing to the moral position of the DEA that the torture, illegal in both countries, took place out of their sight in Mexico. DEA agents exploited it and sought to create informers by the threat of turning apprehended smugglers over to the Mexican police. Neither is the DEA's offense mitigated by the wickedness of the drug traffic they were attempting to stamp out. Lawyers become little better than lawbreakers when they seek crimes in the name of crime detection.

It is not within the legal province of this nation to correct barbarities committed by some Mexican police — practices condemned by the laws of both countries. But the DEA would play a more constructive role by encouraging the improvement of Mexican law enforcement rather than capitalizing upon its inadequacies.

We take some comfort in the assurance by DEA authorities and the U.S. Attorney's office that this long-standing practice has stopped. It was evil and wrong and it should be permanently banned as a law enforcement tactic.

ANGLE-WALTERS Reagan Takes His Aim

WASHINGTON — Before this year is over, two very different candidates are going to make President Carter wish he'd never heard of a word called "malaise." Let alone mentioned it. One of them is Edward M. Kennedy and the other is Ronald Reagan. Kennedy has already taken issue once with Carter's diagnosis that the country is suffering a severe case of malaise, and he will almost certainly do so again. But he won't be alone. Reagan, who is finally about to announce his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, intends to build much of his campaign around a rebuttal of Carter's pessimistic assessment and a prescription of positive action for the future. And while his first intently will be aimed largely at Carter, the GOP front-runner is carefully crafting his pitch to blame the entire Democratic Party (including Kennedy) for creating the mess we're in.

RONALD REAGAN Crime: A Tale Of 2 Countries

In a city of 12 million persons, two policemen recently related a detail before telling him he couldn't sleep on the park bench. Later they argued a checkmate and called out for their gangsters tried to lynch him. If this doesn't sound like the typical details of a Western law enforcement officer, it isn't. But it is fairly typical of the day in the life of two policemen in Tokyo. We often think of the Japanese as picking up at least the outward trappings of contemporary Western culture and imitating them back to us. Not so in at least one area, crime. Japan takes reverse course to the United States' stubbornly high crime rate. In fact, Japan's low crime rate (especially considering the country's population density) seems amazing and should serve as an example for us. Unscrupulous women can walk outdoors without fear at night. Unlocked houses doors are commonplace. Social use of drugs is rare. The anti-theft neighborhood squeegee and parking meter — familiar fixtures in the most large American cities — are just as rare.

Lighter Side Insurance Form 'Malaise'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When President Carter learned last week that American auto insurance rates were rising, he didn't seem to care for sure what was causing it. Well, if you can tell something is wrong but can't quite put your finger on it, a good place to look is on health insurance forms. Many factors contribute to Japan's low crime rate. One is that drugs don't spread from a criminal problem because a stigma is attached to the use of them. Drug costs, which are much lower in Japan than in the United States, is death with hardship in Japan. Another reason for Japan's low crime rate is the very high standard of personal and public morals. For example, if a Japanese company is known and is caught, he and his family face social ostracism and public humiliation. These social penalties are more greatly feared than imprisonment or fines. Japan holds her policemen in high esteem, and this helps account for the low crime rate. Law enforcement in Japan is considered a noble profession, held high in public regard. Police corruption and brutality are uncommon. Professionalism is prized. The policeman's respect for the citizen is mutual. The police are in our society — where citizens for the most part are not given more respect than the plight of the victim, whose crime is treated as a crime against the law. In our society — where citizens for the most part are not given more respect than the plight of the victim, whose crime is treated as a crime against the law.

Construction on Howell Branch Road will likely begin first before primary work was completed by the State Department of Transportation a few years ago when the road was under the jurisdiction, County Administrator Roger Nelander said. Under the $4.4 million bonding plan construction on Howell Branch Road could begin July 1980 instead of in 1982. It would widen a stretch between State Road 436 and the Seminole-Orange County line at U.S. Highway 17-92.

Cleveland, Campbell Square Off Big 'O' Tangles With Big 'D' When Tribe Meets Greyhounds

an opportunity to keep a flickering title hope alive. In conference Lyman is 3-3 and Seminole 4-1.

Last year Seminole squeaked past the 'Hounds 9-3 in a tenuous defensive struggle. Again this year, it is defense which is the Seminole's strong suit. The taller of that suit is a muscle-laden senior named Reginald Campbell.

'Seminole's got the best defense we've seen," an im-

And in the other corner... pressed Lyman mentor Bill Scott said about the Tribe's offense, but Scott felt it is worth sacrificing the room to stay away from Campbell.

Somehow may grab you from behind," Campbell said of his opponent. "But when I get outside the wall and I don't have to cut anyone and can go with my sprint speed, I can make it go."

He says he's not preparing any differently for his confrontation with Audie Cleveland.

"He's probably the best back we'll face," Campbell said respectfully of Cleveland. "But he's just going to get out and stay back. Now if you can't get out, you're in trouble."

"He's our best defensive line player," Coach Jerry Fosdy said flatly about the lightning quick senior. "His hit is so hard he has a tendency to hurt himself."

Despite Campbell's impressive performance on defense, it is not his only skill... He is also chief designer of Seminole's most dangerous weapon... the kick return.

So far this year the super quick senior has returned three kicks for touchdowns and had one — a 75-yarder against Wayne Haven last week.

"I'm going to try and stop him," Campbell said about his opponent. "I've got to be ready for his kick return. He's got a great kick return. He's got a great kick return. He's got a great kick return."

average of October and more against what he calls "Seminole's offensive-minded defense."

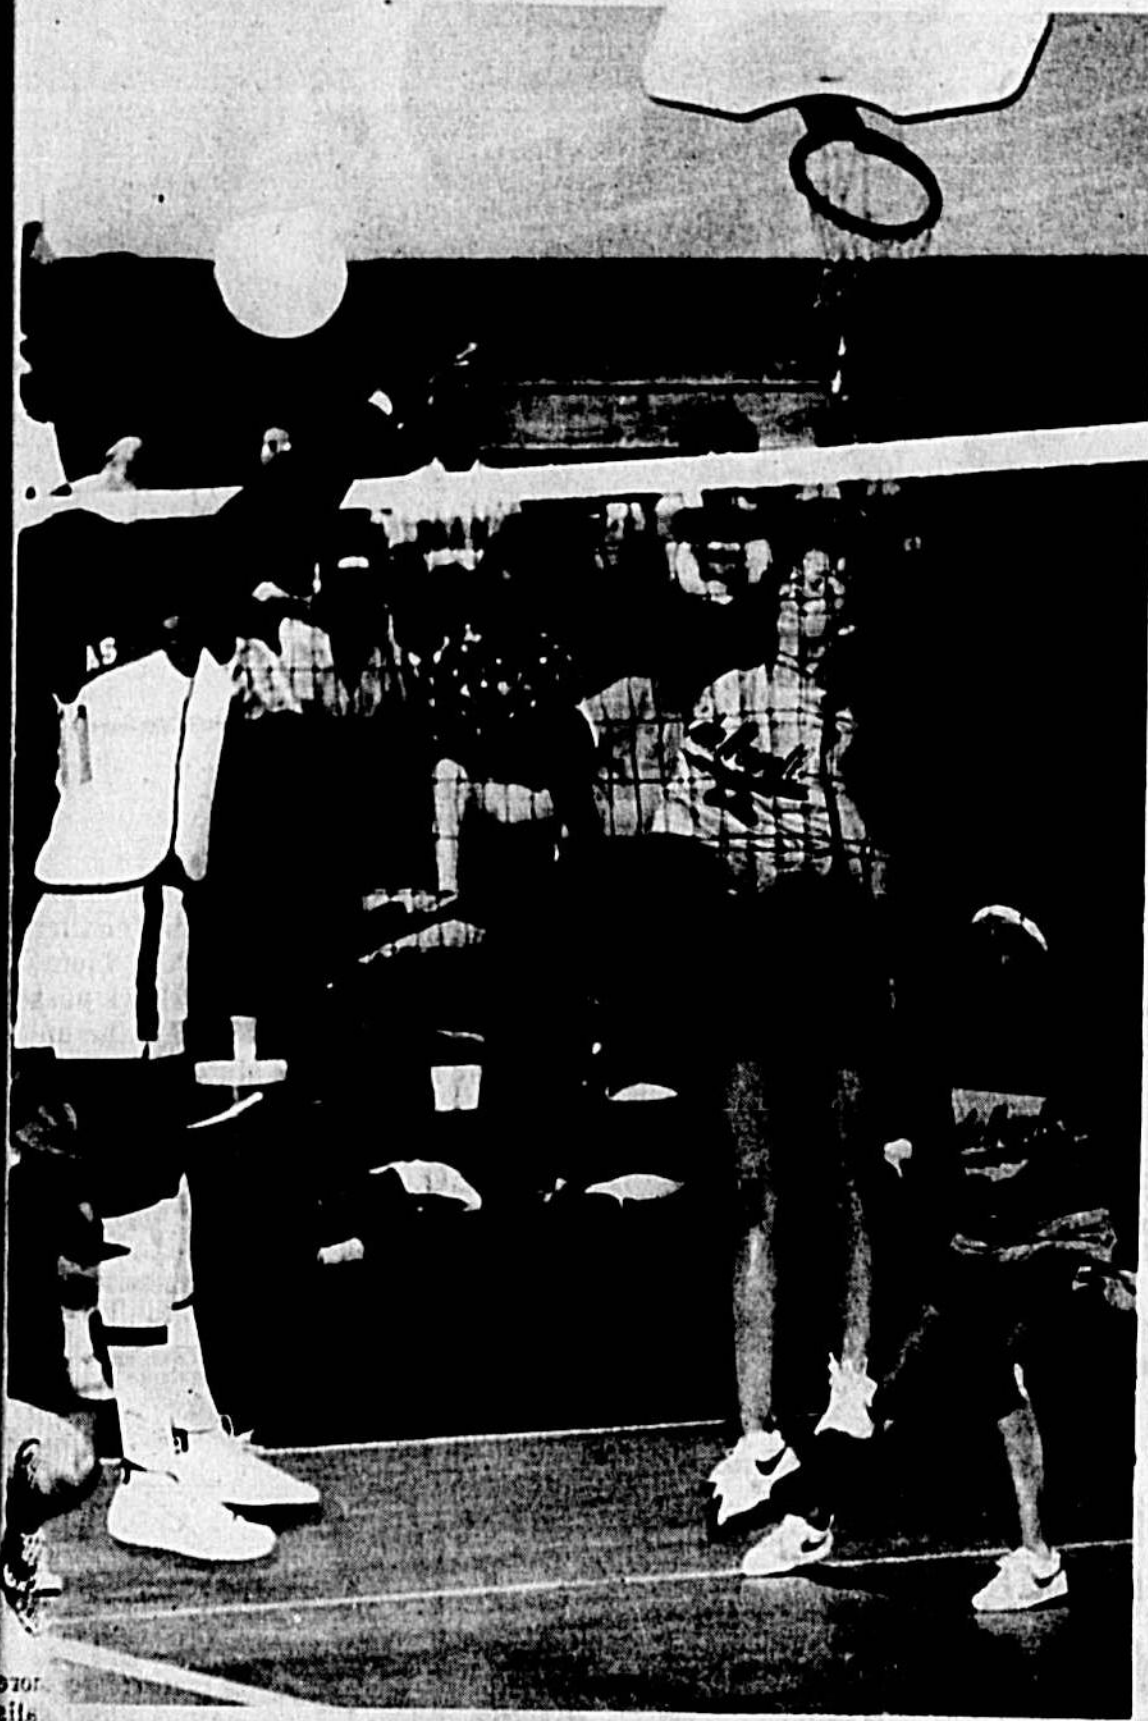

Which brings us to the inevitable question... What happens when Cleveland meets Campbell?

"I'm going to try and stop him," Campbell said about his opponent. "I've got to be ready for his kick return. He's got a great kick return. He's got a great kick return."

Luciano's Crew Rides 24 Game Streak

Lady Silver Hawks Blitz Ft. Pierce 15-5, 15-6

COMING HARD

Lake Howell's Lorrri Marvel fires a clean spike past a Ft. Pierce Central player during the Lady Silver Hawks 15-5 and 15-6 Tuesday victory over the Cobras. Lake Howell's win Tuesday night marked their 24th straight victory and improved their season record to 25-1.

By BENTON WOOD
Herald Sports Correspondent

The Lake Howell Lady Silver Hawks volleyball squad advanced in the state playoffs Tuesday night by defeating Ft. Pierce Central 15-5 and 15-6. "It was a super team effort," declared a jubilant coach Jo Luciano after the game. "Every one of our girls have worked hard all year and that's the reason we've come this far."

Leading the way for Lake Howell throughout the contest were all-conference stars Mary Colon and Lorrri Marvel.

In the first game it was Colon's presence who haunted the Cobras as she consistently slammed errant shots to the opposite side for Lake Howell points.

In the second game it was Lorrri Marvel who bottled up Central's defense with monstrous spikes.

The peppy Cobras jumped out to an early 5-2 lead in the first game before a Silver Hawk time out.

The brief talk by Luciano obviously fired up Lake Howell as they scored 13 unanswered points for the 15-5 win.

In game two Central once again took an early lead, 3-0. But the Lady Hawks answered the challenge as Carrie Yearick served 12 straight points for Lake Howell giving them the lead for good as they went on to win 15-6.

"This one has helped us tremendously," Luciano said. "We have played conference teams over and over again. Ft. Pierce was our first real challenge out of conference. They were a good team although they didn't play the caliber of ball they're capable of playing. This was a big stepping stone for us because now we know we can compete with teams outside of our conference," explained the victorious Lady Hawk coach.

"There's no doubt about the fact we like playing at home — when the competition gets to this level the home court is definitely an advantage," added Luciano.

Lake Howell is now 25-1 on the year and currently riding high on a 24 match win streak.

The Lady Silver Hawks will take their 25-1 record and 24 game win streak on the road Friday when they travel to Ft. Lauderdale to play Plantation High school in a sectional showdown.

Yet Another Sports Related Law Suit

From The Sidelines
By JOE DEWANTZ
Herald Sports Editor

It's a shame that the school board didn't back up one of its principals several weeks ago when it refused to sue any or another on the matter.

School superintendent Laver stated, "I don't want to sign it (the waiver) — I just don't want to sign it for personal reasons."

In effect the school board took the position that the transfer of two players in question filed for a transfer — stating they wanted to go to the high grade woodworking classes. Seminole High doesn't offer the class but Lake Howell does. And Lake Howell has only three members returning as 178 leave that return to your imagination.

Both Daniels and Wynn are seniors and the refusal by the school board to sign the waiver for sports could end their basketball careers on the spot.

According to FFLAA regulations, the principal of the former school must sign a participation waiver on the part of their new school. If not then the players must all quit one year of sports.

After participating in the prep league with Seminole, the

Nation Needs More Language Training: College

This county needs to enlarge its foreign language programs, guests were told at an open house recently at Seminole Community College.

Students, instructors, and business people of the community attended the two-hour session which included a continental breakfast, a showing of slides from other countries, and a display and explanation of the new language lab equipment that SCC students will be using this year.

The most important aspect of the program, which was the idea of Dr. Anita Harrow, Director of Academic Affairs; Ms. Dorothy Morrison, Chairman of the Humanities Division; Ms. Janice Allen, Dr. Ann Bachmann, Dr. Joan B. Sheppard, and Ms. Bernice Waldron SCC instructors; was not just to show off the new lab, but to help make the public aware of the great need for enlarging this country's foreign language programs, and to give an idea of how services offered at Seminole Community College can help.

Commenting on the problems often faced when dealing with foreign tourists, Dr. Bachmann said that only 2 percent of the hotels in the Central Florida area can properly handle foreign visitors. She added that two out of three Latin American families buy their own homes, and that they spend "16 percent above the national for food—so you can see that they have a tremendous economic impact."

"Yet less than 4 percent of Florida college students, she estimated, are studying a second language, and the need for more bilingual employees is made especially evident when one realizes that there are 20,000 to 25,000 Latin Americans in Central Florida right now. Dr. Bachmann repeated a story to the guests told by Dr. Walter Klages at a symposium at Loch Haven Art Center:

"A Venezuelan came into an auto store and in spite of much frustrated trying could not make the clerk understand what he wanted. Dr. Klages was standing nearby and told the clerk that his Spanish wasn't that good, but that he would try to talk with the man in French. Fortunately the Venezuelan spoke French and when Dr. Klages repeated his order to the clerk, it turned out to be for 250 trucks, the largest the firm had that year." Dr. Bach-mann finished the story by asking: "Would you be willing to lose a profit like this because you couldn't communicate with a customer?"

A lighter side of the program was the continental breakfast, at which the guests helped themselves to different kinds of cheeses, fruit, rolls, various jams, and coffee.

The announcement of Moore's promotion was made during a board of directors meeting which Moore has been attending in Germany.

War Fails To Halt Surgeon, Nurse

By JACQUES CLAFIN
NYADIRI MISSION, Zimbabwe Rhodesia (UPI) — It's a strange kind of commuting that Dr. Marvin Piburn and his wife Carolyn do these days, worlds away from the Iowa home they left 26 years ago.

The trip starts at Salisbury airport, at a remote hangar where a light aircraft belonging to the California-based Ministry of Aviation Fellowship is waiting.

The 57-year-old surgeon is wrapped in a thin, quilted jacket and wool mittens to ward off the morning chill. He is leaning to fly and takes the cockpit's seat.

The plane takes off and the pilot, a South African missionary, says a prayer before the plane climbs to 32 minutes away, is Nyadiri.

The black nationalist guerrillas operating in scores in this part of northeastern Zimbabwe Rhodesia know we are coming, which isn't half as worrisome as it had not been warned to expect new faces that day at Nyadiri.

The guerrillas like to keep track of what goes on here. There was the time when Piburn, walking through the mission hospital, turned a corner and found a laynet at his belly. It was attached to a M16 assault rifle locked in the grip of a black guerrilla clad in blue jeans.

"He asked me if I supported the revolution," Piburn recalls.

"I forgot just what I said, but it was something to the effect that we do what we can."

The black students at the mission convinced the group Piburn was no threat to "the revolution" and he came out unscathed.

That was 11 months ago. Since then, there has been a dramatic escalation in the war. The danger the Piburns face has risen correspondingly.

The surgeon from Malvern and the nurse from Des Moines are United Methodist missionaries carrying out the task they've given themselves of making people well in a part of the world where killing of large numbers takes place daily.

The Piburns left Iowa in 1953 and since then have worn a uniform, wades into a pile of correspondence in the back seat.

debetonated. The guerrillas were persuaded by sufficient payment had been extended.

"We're on a tightrope," Piburn says. "This place is functioning only because they're pleased with it."

To retain his link with Nyadiri, Piburn says he has had to battle his superiors in the States — and Bishop Abel Muzorewa, before that United Methodist Churchman became prime minister.

Already, the Piburns have had to make two retreats. They left their home at Nyadiri to take up residence in Mito in August 1977 after black mission staff members were beaten up by guerrillas. Last February they moved from Mito to Salisbury on orders from his superiors in the United States.

Piburn keeps receiving letters from guerrillas. Despite the fact the guerrillas are increasingly anti-church, some letters remain friendly. Some are threatening. Threats also come Piburn's way from auxiliaries and black members of the church.

"They consider that all missionaries side with the guerrillas," he says.

"The tougher it gets, the more you have to abandon your friends," Piburn says.

the return trip to Salisbury, the Piburns get to work immediately.

Work starts with an operation on a man with cancer.

The operation over, Piburn visits the wards and afterwards holds class for young girls training to be medical assistants.

It isn't always this calm at Nyadiri.

In April, soldiers of the guard force unit rolled into the mission, ostensibly for protection, however no one was willing to defy the guerrillas and vote in the "internal" majority-rule settlement elections.

No one voted. But instead of leaving on the day of the election, the soldiers used their martial law powers to take up positions in the boys' dormitory without permission. Piburn pleaded with the soldiers to leave so that the mission could return to normal, but they refused and their presence drew a mortarling from the guerrillas.

The soldiers left eventually, having stolen radios and blankets and caused about $3,000 worth of damage, Piburn says.

The guerrillas sent Piburn a note apologizing for the firing but advising him against future over-night stays at the mission.

No one died in what Piburn calls "The Battle of Nyadiri," but there have been casualties since.

One driver was killed by a mine. The guerrillas approached his family and demanded $500 to pay for the mine.

Inmate Listed As Stable

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — An inmate wounded by guards while trying to escape from Central Correctional Institution Tuesday was in stable condition at Richland Memorial Hospital.

A Department of Corrections spokesman said Bill Milton Turner, 31, was struck in both legs and across the neck by slugs as he scaled a fence at the downtown facility.

Turner was serving 15 years for an armed robbery conviction in Moore County, Fla., and was at CCC under a prison transfer arrangement with Florida authorities.

The guard opened fire, but Turner made it over the first row of fences. He was captured after a guard's a nearby tower also started shooting.

Wife: 'He Buys Groceries Plus Cooking The Meals'

By TOM NITSEL
Herald Staff Writer

Vernon Davis likes to cook. He does not have to do it; nobody makes him do it, but he does it. He likes to get into the kitchen and put ingredients together until he has made something delicious to eat.

His wife, Ruby, is all for the idea. "He buys groceries plus cooking the meals," she said with a smile. "I don't even have a grocery list."

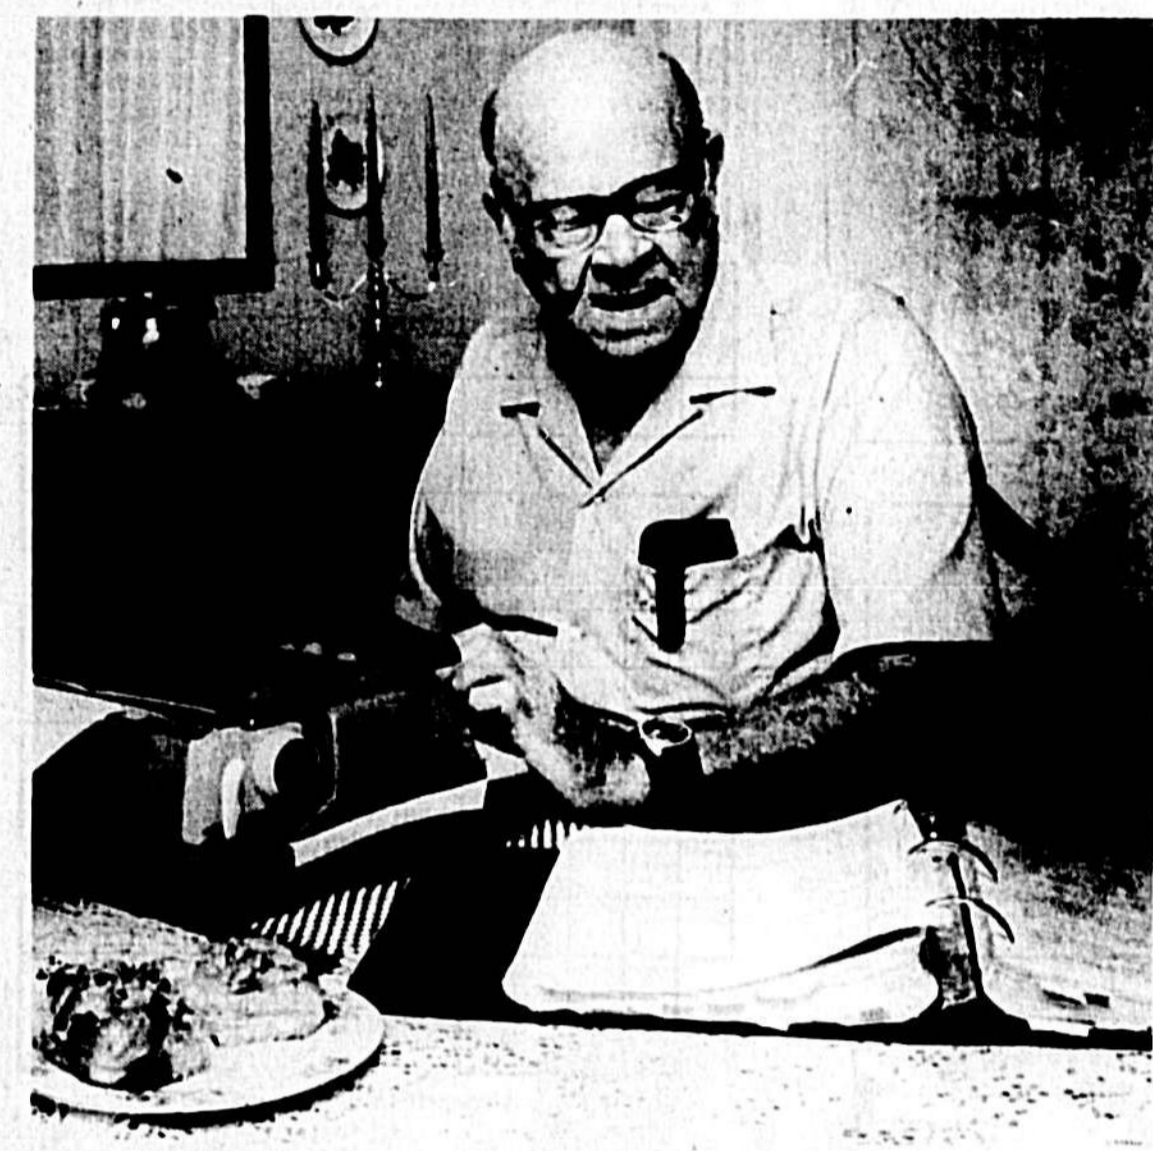

She claims he took over the cooking when she raised their first married man. He got started cooking on his grandfather's ranch in Oklahoma when he was a teen.

Working for a group of hungry ranch hands quickly developed his skill with a frying pan.

"As a ranchman, he spent 12 years in the Navy but he still found time to do some cooking. "In 1928 we were in Key West and four or five of us were living off base," recalled Davis while sitting in the living room of his Sanford home at 2648 S. Sanford Ave. Instead of eating in the mess hall, the government gave them an allowance for meals. "We got 15 dollars a month to buy food," he said. His navy buddies enjoyed his cooking much better than the navy's."

For the last 27 years the Davis family has lived in Sanford. Mrs. Davis retired after 21 years as manager of the school lunchroom program and Davis, from the auto repair business he had in Orlando and at the Sanford Plaza.

Even though Mrs. Davis' cooking skills improved her husband kept her out of the kitchen at home. "I ended up being the only one for 22 years," he said. "I had a good dishwasher — and she ended up being the only one handling the cooking

Baby Strangled; No One Could Apply CPR

DEAR ABBY: Last night I watched a baby die. The child was 11 months old and strangled on a piece of apple. The baby's mother was away and the child was being kept by a girl down the street. By the time the baby-sitter arrived at our house, the child was probably dead. There were 18 people at the house where I was, and only one knew what to do. The rest of us watched helplessly and horror-stricken the hopeless efforts to revive the dying child. The baby's mother, who will never live down the fact that she was not there; the 14-year-old baby-sitter, who will never forget the fact that she could not help; and the 18 of us who will never forget the tragic consequences of that night cannot be helped by the fact that this is such a common occurrence.

The child was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital despite a two-hour effort by the paramedics when they arrived. Abby, if only one person will take the time to learn CPR—cardiopulmonary resuscitation—and what to do in a case like this, then my letter will not be in vain.

But in any case, should there be a next time for me, I will know!

DEBBIE IN COSTA MESA, CALIF.

DEAR DEBBIE: Thank you for writing. Readers, CPR instruction is free. For information concerning time and place of classes, contact your local Red Cross or Heart Association.

DEAR ABBY: I was particularly interested in the letter from the man who loved his parents, but it tore him up to visit their graves, so he never went. His sisters and brothers went often, which made him feel guilty, as he asked you if he should go for "appearances' sake." Thank you for saying, "The poorest reason to do anything is for 'appearances' sake." I agree.

My sister and I fell out over an argument we had about how much to spend on our mother's funeral.

When we were shown a $5,000 coffin (with an inspring mattress!) I burst out laughing, even though I was sad and heart sick at the time.

My sister was all for putting our whole family into debt to give Mama an expensive funeral just so people wouldn't think we were cheap. We had some bitter words about it. We finally settled on a nice coffin for $1,500, which was plenty. I've left instructions with my family to spend the absolute minimum on my funeral. When a poor family goes into debt for a fancy funeral, it's usually because they feel guilty about the way they treated their loved one while he was living, and are trying to make it up to him after he's dead.

Fun For Hearing Impaired

Telephone Planners throughout North Florida will take scores of hearing-impaired children to a Fun-Filled day at Sea World in Orlando.

Mrs. Jane King, Council President in Sanford, said special arrangements have been made to provide the children with a special day of fun and excitement. The children will be accompanied by an interpreter and special guide from Sea World.

"There is more to experience than most at Sea World," said Mrs. King. "The children will feed dolphins, see the wonders of under sea life and feel the splash of water as the waves of the 700-foot roller coaster splash over their heads. The Fun-Filled day will take place on Nov. 11.

Telephone Planners are proud of their accomplishments in the field of community service. During the past year, various community organizations benefited from their services throughout Sanford and surrounding County.

Last year the North Florida Chapter sponsored some 10 blind students to a day at Circus World. A special attention system was given to Circus World which need hardly call for an answer.

The children were able to see the Circus with the help of a narrator describing ring events. The special project was awarded a regional award which covers four states and was National Recognition for Community Service.

Telephone Planners of America are committed to Telephone Company employees, both active and retired. There are approximately 140 members in the Sanford area and some 300,000 in the United States making it the largest community service organization in the country.

the symbolic main course. Thanksgiving menus have changed considerably through the decades.

Even harried moms and novice cooks have an easy time of it compared with colonial dames, who managed without such modern staples as baking powder, granulated sugar, unflavored gelatin, cooking oil, commercial shortening, prepared mustard, tomato ketchup and Worcestershire sauce. Citrus fruits then were a rarity.

Few women rise at 3:30 a.m. to start the Thanksgiving meal as great-grandmother did. Yet, most families yearn for a traditional groaning board even in this era of cooking without fuss.

Modern food preparation can mean a memorable meal without hours spent in the kitchen. For example, Thanksgiving dishes such as Beans au Gratin, Zucchini-Squash Pie or Praline Pumpkin Pie originate in the supermarket freezer. You merely jazz them up with your own special seasonings.

For the busy we have created that allows us to share our table with others, we give thanks this Thanksgiving 1979.

French Cuisine Need Not Be Complicated, Expensive

If you're one of those folks who think French cuisine has to be time-consuming, complicated and expensive, think again. Happily, many regional dishes of France are not only mouth-watering but also economical and made sans fuss.

Hearty Cassoulet and piquant Coq Au Vin give good reason to say "Bon appetit!" Both classics of provincial French cookery are low in cost, but festive enough meals-in-one dish to serve for company. And they fit in perfectly with today's more casual, relaxed style of entertaining. What's more, both recipes taste even better when re-heated, so make them ahead of time, then sit down and relax with your guests.

Cassoulet is a rich stew of pork, sausage and white kidney beans. It's a specialty of the Languedoc region in Southern France, yet as many versions exist as there are vociferous Frenchmen with definite opinions about its cuisine.

In fact, some cassoulet purists are so heated over the matter that they insist it can only be served in an earthenware casserole unglazed on the outside. The detail is called a cassole, hence the name cassoulet. But however it's simmered, this distinctive dish is a filling repast.

Our version serves eight and calls for one pound of pork. Cloves, garlic and pepper sauce capture that country spiciness. Although this recipe is authentic to tradition, it affords room for creativity. Make your cassoulet more tangy by adding extra Tabasco pepper sauce or vary the amount of liquid. Serve in an attractive crock, with crusty bread and crisp green salad.

Burgundy is famous for its Coq Au Vin, which demands the locally produced wine for flavor. What a delicious and truly franglais way to feature economical chicken! This rendition derives its soulful zest from red wine, thyme, onions and Tabasco pepper sauce. Serve with a bottle of Tabasco pepper sauce on the side for those who enjoy extra gusto in their poultry dishes.

CASSOULET
3 sprigs parsley
1 bay leaf
12 whole cloves, divided
1 pound sliced bacon
1 pound pork, cut in 1-inch cubes
2 cups chopped onion (2 large)
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 cups beef broth
1/4 cup tomato puree
1/4 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
1 pound Polish sausage
2 cans (30 ounces each) white kidney beans, drained
1/4 cup dry white wine
1/4 teaspoon pepper sauce

Make a bouquet garni of parsley, bay leaf and 4 whole cloves. In large Dutch oven or oven-proof kettle, brown bacon; remove and set aside. Pour off bacon fat. In same kettle, brown pork; set aside. Sauté onion and garlic until soft. Return pork and bacon to kettle. Add broth, tomato puree, thyme and the bouquet garni; bring to boiling. Uncover. Simmer slowly 1 hour. Meanwhile, cook sausage in boiling water 30 minutes. Remove bouquet garni from kettle. Add beans, wine and Tabasco sauce; mix well. Cut slots in sausage; place a clove in each section. Place the sausage over the bean mixture. Bake 1 hour, uncovered, in a 350 degree F. oven. Serve with additional Tabasco pepper sauce, if desired. Yield: 8 servings.

COQ AU VIN
4 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
1 boiler-ryer chicken (about 3 pounds)
1/4 cup chopped onion (1 medium)

1 clove garlic
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1/4 cup Burgundy wine
1 can (1 1/2 ounces) chicken broth
1 bay leaf
1/4 teaspoon dried leaf thyme, crumbled
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, quartered, or 1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms, drained
1 can (1 pound) onions, well drained
1/4 teaspoon pepper sauce
In Dutch oven or heavy kettle over medium heat, melt 2 tablespoons butter; brown chicken pieces on both sides. Add chopped onion, sauté 2 minutes over low heat, stirring occasionally. Add garlic; cook 1 minute. Add medium flour; stir until well-blended with fat. Add wine, broth, bay leaf, thyme and salt. Bring to boiling, stirring constantly, until flour-fat mixture is dissolved. Return chicken to kettle. Cover. Simmer 15 minutes.

In medium skillet, melt 1 tablespoon butter, sauté mushrooms 3 to 4 minutes or until lightly browned. Add to kettle. Melt remaining 1/4 teaspoon butter in same skillet. Add canned onions and brown lightly. Add to kettle. Simmer 15 minutes or until chicken is tender. Add Tabasco pepper sauce.
Remove chicken, mushrooms and onions to serving platter. Skim fat from sauce. Strain sauce over chicken. Serve with additional Tabasco pepper sauce, if desired. Yield: 4 servings.

Around-The-Clock Dining Ideas

Fish-vegetable chowder is the answer to feeding a flock of relatives who drop in unexpectedly during their vacation travels.

Be prepared by buying specials of frozen vegetables each week so you will have a ready supply of ingredients. As for the fish, use frozen fish fillets — or have the family fishermen contribute their catch of the day.

Serve with a hearty bread and a banana-cream pie or cheesecake for dessert.

FISH-VEGETABLE CHOWDER

- 1 1/2 pounds frozen fish fillets, thawed
- 2 cups tomato juice
- 3 tablespoons olive or vegetable oil
- 1 cup frozen chopped onion
- 1/2 cup frozen chopped green pepper
- 1 (1 pound) can tomatoes (8 ounce) package frozen cut green beans
- 1 (9 ounce) package frozen lima beans
- 1 (8 ounce) bottle clam juice
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds
- Freshly ground black pepper

Put fillets in large saucapot with tomato juice. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer about 15 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork. Remove fish and strain, removing any bones. Drain and reserve broth.

Heat oil in saucapot. Sauté onion and green pepper until tender and lightly browned. Add reserved broth and remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil. Cover and simmer 10 to 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Add fish. Makes about 2 1/2 quarts.

1/4 tsp. almond extract
Powdered sugar
Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Beat egg well. Gradually add 1 cup sugar, beating until fluffy.
Stir in nuts, raisins, coconut, sunflower seeds and flour.
Turn into shallow, greased 2-quart casserole. Bake 30 minutes. Remove from oven and stir well while hot. Let cool thoroughly.

Form into 1-inch balls. Roll in powdered sugar. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 3 dozen cookies.

1 cup (4 oz.) shredded mild natural cheddar cheese
Brown meat; drain. Add onion; cook until tender. Add green chilies and seasonings; mix well.

Combine cornmeal, flour, salt and baking powder. Add water and margarine; beat until smooth. Four cornmeal mixture into a greased 10-inch pie plate. Spoon meat mixture into center of cornmeal mixture and press down gently. Bake at 400 degrees, 25 minutes. Top with cheese; continue baking until cheese is melted.

SWEDISH CASEROLE
1 cup boiling water
1 (6-ounce) package hash brown potatoes with onions
1 pound ground beef

1 egg
1 medium onion, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters
5 swiwick, crumbled
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 cup sour cream
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon aromatic bitters
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dillweed
Parsley

Pour boiling water over potatoes. Let stand 10 minutes.
Combine ground beef, egg, onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon bitters swiwick crumbs. Mix well.

Shape into 30 meatballs about 1 inch in diameter. Brown meatballs in butter in large skillet over moderate heat. Remove meatballs and keep warm.

Remove skillet from heat. Add cheese to skillet. Stir until melted. Add sour cream, milk, 1 teaspoon bitters, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper and dill weed. Blend.
Stir in potatoes. Spoon mixture into 1 1/2-quart casserole. Arrange meatballs on top.

Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 20 minutes or until heated throughout. Serve garnished with parsley. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

Prepare Fish Chowder with frozen vegetables for a fall treat for the family or unexpected guests.
