Russell Raps Prejudice Vs. Those Over 40

Sen. Smathers Says Kefauver Is Against Southern On The Civil Rights Issue

TALLAHASSEE, May 1.—Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia said today he considers prejudice against workers over 40 more widespread than any bias for racial or religious reasons.

He reiterated at a news conference his opposition to any "compulsory full employment Fair Employment Practices Act" but said he would not object to setting up a board to deal with prejudices in employment.

Russell declared racial and religious prejudice is declining and said members of minority groups should seek opportunities within the framework of the Constitution. "The imperative thing is to preserve the Constitution," he emphasized. "We have a number of Negro millionaires in Atlanta who have accomplished it under the Constitution."

Expressing confidence of nomination and election, the candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination said there "is no doubt in my mind that I am the one Democrat that can win this election." He said it "doesn't matter who the Republican nominee is I can defeat any one of them."

Asked in comment on Sen. Estes Kefauver's proposed debate with Warren's debate challenge, Russell grinned and said "I've never been one to break into any private feud."

Warren, a bitter foe of Kefauver, has invited the Tennessee senator to debate him on his fitness to be President. Russell remarked "None of the real trouble is being worked out in a circus or a hippodrome."

He was asked if he meant to characterize the proposed debate as a "bait and switch" answer only. "You have to draw your own inference from that."

Russell made the statement in a conference with an address on the steps of the State Capitol.

Candidates For President To Show On TV Broadcast

CINCINNATI (AP)—Something new in politics—the appearance of most of the announced Republican and Democratic candidates for President on the same radio-television night—makes its appearance to night.

At 7 p. m. EST they will answer several questions dealing with the problems of the day. They include:

"How would you prevent dishonesty and inefficiency in government?"

"Would you increase or reduce the amount of our economic aid to foreign countries?"

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Robert E. Kerr of Oklahoma and W. Averell Harriman, former diplomat, all Democrats, will express their views.

Sen. Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, and Gov. Earl Warren of California, two of the Republican presidential candidates.

Sanford Station Recommissioned Year Ago Today

Many Improvements In Property Made By Navy During Year

By RALPH GASSMAN
The Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station was recommissioned one year ago today. After a year of concentrated rehabilitation, the station has made many improvements and is rapidly approaching completion.

May 1, 1951, when the station was recommissioned, the Navy had an equipment on the station, not even gross estimates to move an area for the recommissioning ceremony. Today the station is completely manned and equipped for almost any undertaking.

A year ago, the exterior of all buildings were in a deteriorated condition with dull, drab looking siding. Today the buildings have been rehabilitated and the station brightened up with a paint brush and the use of white asbestos shingles.

In looking over the first year of his command here, Capt. J. L. Chittenden humorously recalled the neon "eat" sign that hung at the main gate the recommissioning day and the many other problems that arose. According to the Captain, the changes and improvements in the capabilities of the station have been "outstanding."

He added that these improvements and changes have "only been possible due to the excellent cooperation and whole-hearted support of all military and civilian personnel attached to the station, contractor personnel and the people of Sanford."

The station was first commissioned in November of 1942. After the World War II need was no longer felt for a naval air station in Sanford, the station was formally de-commissioned in March, 1946.

After the outbreak of the Korean war, the Secretary of the Navy found that once again U.S. facilities for training and supporting naval aircraft were inadequate as they had been following Pearl Harbor.

Notice of reactivation of the air station was received in Sanford in January, 1951, and the following day a Sixth Naval District inspecting party looked over the station facilities. In early March the reactivation program began as the

League's Slate Of Candidates Rapped By Negro Minister

A protest against hand picking of candidates subject to the May 6 primary by any self-styled colored voters league without consulting the people to find out who they want, was today made by a Negro minister, the Rev. J. Thomas Owens, 801 Locust Avenue in Sanford, of numerous independent Negro voters of Seminole County.

Name-Calling Is Continuing In Governor's Race

McCarty Says Odham Lied About Summer Dog Raising Bill

By MALCOLM B. ROBINSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
The name-calling in the Florida governor's race today was as bitter as ever, with each candidate attacking the other's record.

McCarty said he was running for reelection because of his 15 years of experience as prosecutor at felony and because he felt that a look at his record would prove he had handled the duties of his office in an efficient and honest manner as possible.

Court Of Appeals Decides By 5 To 4 Not To Enjoin Sawyer In Touchy Steel Issue

WASHINGTON, P. The U. S. Court of Appeals by a 5 to 4 vote refused today to bar the government from raising wages of steel workers while it holds the seized mills.

The vote denying a plea from major steel companies that the court enjoin Secretary of Commerce Sawyer from doing anything about wages and working conditions was the same as that by which the court Wednesday night returned the steel plants to government control.

Only a few minutes before the court decision was announced, Sawyer had said in a statement he did not intend to take any "preemptive" action about wages.

The government manager of the steel mills said the situation was so fluid that "the employees and I myself and the operators too, are at the moment in a revolving door. We are neither coming in nor going out."

Sawyer called in his statement for new negotiations by the industry and the 400 Steelworkers Union looking toward a bargained settlement of the differences.

Action by Congress to give the government some clear legal basis for dealing with situations such as the steel strike has created.

We are now facing up to a situation which has long been impending where a titanic struggle between giant industry and giant labor results in a paralysis in which our whole economic and social life may be at stake.

It is time for the Congress to meet that situation calmly, wisely and promptly.

In the steel town, the mills were closed by night and union pickets were stationed about them.

However, Sawyer said he did not feel the men were now on strike against the government.

He said that the government had no right to take any action against the steel workers.

Truce Possibility

Observers in Korea have been expressing a note of guarded optimism concerning the truce talks there. Some believe that the end of the differences will come with unexpected suddenness. United Nations officials are noncommittal but there have been indications that the Reds might at last be willing to reach agreements. If the end of the talks should result in a truce the Korean problem will still be far from settled.

Why the Reds should permit a successful end to the negotiations after such a long period of delay is not apparent. Perhaps they have concluded that the patience of the United States and its allies is exhausted and that the choice is either a conclusive war or a negotiated peace.

Time has worked on the side of the democracies. Each month that passes sees the free world draw closer to the Communists in the amount of war production. The quality of production in the United States and the allied countries is higher already, and can be continued for a longer period of time. Communists are opportunistic and it may be that they now realize their opportunity has passed for the moment.

They believe, however, that opportunity knocks more than once. If they agree to a truce it will be with the secret reservation that they may strike again if we permit ourselves to grow weak. It is important to remain strong or the Korean conflict will have been in vain.

Mother Of Churchill

Brooklyn, New York, a borough extremely proud of its past and its present, recently paid homage to the mother of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who was born in that borough. Miss Sarah Churchill, daughter of the doughty leader of the British Empire in its moments of greatest danger, unveiled a plaque at the birthplace of her grandmother, Jennie Jerome Churchill.

Like most men who achieve high places Churchill credits his mother with much of his success. She was the daughter of an American family of Huguenot descent and her marriage to Lord Randolph Churchill united one of the great families of the new world to one of the noblest families of the old.

Churchill has always expressed great pride in his American ancestry and has pointed out on several occasions that in the War For Independence his forebears were active on both sides of the controversy. America, too, can be proud of Jennie Jerome and of the great statesman she mothers. As the years pass and the greatness of Winston Churchill is even more clearly assayed, the home in Brooklyn where his mother was born will become an important site for those interested in history.

Party Split

The American Vegetarian Party, which usually nominates candidates for president and vice-president, was attacked recently by another vegetarian group, the American Vegetarian Union. The Union maintains that the Party is misleading the public by the use of the Party title and wishes to make clear that the two organizations are separate. It can be hoped that the quarrel does not result in the formation of another vegetarian party with candidates of its own.

Perhaps before the elections the non-meat eaters can reach some sort of an agreement. Unless they do the chances of electing a vegetarian to the presidency seem slight indeed. They might not get so many votes as Norman Thomas.

Sanford Forum

The Editor of the Herald:

In my letter to the Sanford Forum last week, I made a mistake in copying the quotation from the Commissioner of Education's article "Too Few Teachers Too Few Schools." He said, "The children in roughly 1 in every 5 elementary school classrooms have a teacher who holds only an emergency certificate." "2 in every 8."

While I am correcting my mistake, I'd like to call attention to another one that is being made. The meeting the teachers called last spring when the Legislature failed to pass the "cost of living" bill, was for the purpose of getting a special session of the Legislature, and not to ask for raises from the county. Teachers' claims all over the state were meeting for the same purpose.

When there seemed little hope for a special session of the Legislature, we met again to see if we could get an increase in salaries from the School Board. Of course Mr. Lawton and the School Board had the good sense to wait to see what the state would do first. Our money will go just as far, if the state had given the bill, there would have been more for improvements on buildings, visual aids and other equipment. But when the Governor refused to call the special session, the School Board and Mr. Lawton willingly gave what they could. No one person deserves the credit for our raises. Even the County Commissioners promised us part of the race track money.

Teachers in neighboring counties get the race track funds every year. This accounts in part for their higher teachers' salaries. (In 1949 88 of "Education and the Future of Florida" the Citizens Committee of 1947 reports, "The leading commission funds are allocated... to boards of county commissioners. A minimum of $20,000 annually is guaranteed each county... some of the counties receive all the race track money for schools, some half or less, and some none." In our county the race track money usually got the race track money.)

Differences in the ability to pay has something to do with the difference in our salaries and those of teachers in neighboring counties. Mr. Milnes kept referring to "some of the other counties." What does he mean? There are 10 counties in the state, and in 1948, 88 of them ranked below the state average in income. Duval, Hillsborough, Pinellas, and Palm Beach are the richest. We are richer than some of the counties in the northern and western part of the state, but both Orange and Volusia are richer than we are.

Duval is a farming county and has more income from citrus, forest products and non-production taxes.

IT FOLLOVED HER TO SCHOOL ONE DAY

The American Way Of Life
 By ROLLAND L. DEAN

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following talk on the American Way of Life was made by Rolland L. Dean, editor of the Sanford Herald, at a luncheon given at the Episcopal Parish House Wednesday in honor of Lt. General Joseph C. Hutehinson.

We hear a great deal these days about the American Way of Life. We hear it said that the destiny of the world depends upon the preservation of our political and economic system and our social customs. We are so convinced of the soundness of this theory that we are spending billions of dollars in order to bring to the underprivileged peoples of all the underdeveloped countries of the world the automobiles, radios, washing machines and electric egg beaters which we have come to regard as so highly essential to our civilization. Actually we are shedding blood, and we are preparing to shed more blood, so that the ignorant masses of Asia may enjoy the same freedom of speech which enables Drew Pearson to talk over the radio and General MacArthur to sue him for libel. We are determined to make the world safe for the American Way of Life that everyone shall have the right to vote, and no one need go to the trouble to do so.

The truly American Way of Life is a composite of millions of ways of living, some good and some bad, yet through them all runs the indomitable spirit of the rugged individual. Senator McCarthy defends the American Way of Life when he attacks Secretary Acheson, and President Truman also comes to its defense when he asks for money with which to resist Communist aggression. Surely none of us would contend that the Way of Life in Goldboro is the Way of Life in Mayfield; yet both are American. The lobbyist who is convinced he can buy his way into heaven with a milk coat or a deep freeze or the unemployed man drawing $600 a month from New York City's Welfare Board so that he can take his family on a trip to Europe is as American as the weather-beaten farmer carving a memento for himself and family out of the granite rocks of western North Carolina.

We are a nation of taxpayers and tax dodgers, of honest, faithful, self-offering public officials and grand rascals whose only object in seeking public office is to feather their own nest. We are a nation almost equally divided between investigators and investigated, of 50 billion dollars and five percenters, where the chairman of the un-American Activities Committee goes to jail for fraud and the "Grapes of Wrath" are succeeded by the "Every Normal McGranery". We believe in equal educational opportunities for all and we spend more money on public schools than any other nation in the world, but a recent survey reported by Time magazine reveals that 80 percent of the children in a certain school district cheated at one time or another, 50 percent cheated habitually, 50 percent justified cheating as a necessary means of getting a temporary difficulty and only 10 percent never cheated at all.

America has finally arrived at the hour of decision. Either it will go the way of other nations which have debauched themselves into disintegration, or it will fight its way up out of the muck and mire into which it is sinking and stand before the world in a chastened and enlightened spirit. Recent history has shown too many instances of man's inhumanity to man for us to ignore. The slaughter of six million Jews by Hitler's Legion is a case in point. Whether it was the Germans or the Russians who murdered the Poles in Katyn Forest matters not, but it was a crime against mankind. The Beast of Buchenwald still stalks through the pages of the newspapers and the tales of atrocities in Korea are too fresh in our mind to bear repeating.

As we contemplate the plight of struggling humanity and the low estate to which the world has sunk we are seized with a feeling of frustration lest nothing can be done to prevent the peoples of this earth from destroying themselves and that the simple contributions which each of us can make are so infinitesimally small as to pass unnoticed in the sea of life. Yet the whole of anything is but the sum of its many parts. Thrones will not topple, nor empires fall, into federal service a year before Pearl Harbor.

There followed three long years of rigorous training in which younger men of stronger constitutions but less determination fell by the wayside. In 1944 he was sent to the Pacific where he participated in the campaigns in New Guinea and Morotai. From the beaches of Atigo to the forests of Mindanao he led the men of the famous "Dile Division" bravely and victoriously until the last of the Japanese invaders had been defeated and General Morozumi surrendered. His decorations include the Bronze Star, the Silver Star, the Air Medal and the Legion of Merit. He is a member of the Order of the United States and one of Florida's most distinguished sons. But for all the fame that he has gained and all the honors that he has won, now that the time has come to lay aside his uniform, he returns as unpolished by glory and still a friend to man. Greater honor had no man than this that it can be said by any who know him, "He is my friend."

You cannot all achieve military greatness or even financial success. But if you cannot all have stars on your shoulders, you can have them in your crown. You can lead the good life, the brave and the true. If you cannot ease the sufferings of the Poles, you can be kind and considerate to all you meet. If you cannot install love into the hearts of the Chinese, you can banish hatred from your own. If you cannot show the Russians the advantages of freedom, tolerance, and democracy, you can at least be tolerant and understanding in your own home and teach your children the blessings of the heritage which is theirs.

You can in your own little sphere of influence make your lives sublime, and when they summons comes to join The innumerable caravan, which moves To that mysterious realm, where each shall take His chamber in the silent hall of death. Thou do not, like the quarry-slave at night, Scourged to his dungeon, but, Sustained and soothed By an unfaltering trust, approach Thy grave like one who wraps the drapery of his soul About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

The Resident And The Press
 By H. I. PHILLIPS
 In Times - Union

Despite what has been said about it, Harry Truman is too smart to take over the press, even in his most taking mood. The Democrats may think they can run almost anything, but they know the newspaper business is one that has far too many headaches. If Harry seized even the small-town newspaper tomorrow he would be glad to drop it, especially if he admitted his error and cast an oath never to do it again inside of a week. We can imagine the routine:

First Day—He arrives to find a man with a knife and four recent journalism school students seeking immediate jobs as star reporters are in the corridor. He finds the coat of white paper has gone up again. The picture of an old friend gets in upside down. A proofreader falls to catch the line "Society Leader at Lawn Fete" over a race horse. He gets word of another jump in ink costs. A press breaks down.

Second Day—The weather forecasters in under the butcheries. The editor's robin comes out with the weather "Tomorrow fish and warmer." His secretary tells him four lawyers, claiming libel and a man with a gun are in the corridor demanding to see him at once. Part of the stock market table gets in upside down. Forty readers call him by phone to get an announcement about a picnic clambake or wedding on Page One.

Third Day—An all-out fight for a great cause in the public interest brings him a flood of letters denouncing him as a sissy-eyed visionary and a Marxist tool. He develops a new ulcer. He gets one finds he has lost 15 pounds and letter praising him for his newspaper work and 36 with complaints that he spelled a bride's middle name wrong, printed the temperature incorrectly and ran a classified ad with a semicolon missing. He is notified of another price rise in white paper and ink.

Fourth Day—Nine readers kick because he won't give them free publicity. He discovers the constantly rising costs of publication are making it a trick to break even, but gets a couple of letters denouncing him as a selfish capitalist. Two star reporters report sick. He develops a new ulcer.

Fifth Day—He checks and finds that after getting in debt up to his neck in giving the public a good newspaper and fighting for every needy cause in the book, his bank account is overdrawn, he has high blood pressure and could have made more money as a ball-park peanut vendor. Another press breaks down. The baseball score gets in wrong. An old subscriber cancels his subscription because a notice of a lodge meeting wanted carried satisfactorily. He fires all advisers who told him he should take over a newspaper and enters the nearest hospital for nervous disorders.

Water Ballet Troupe At Sanlando Springs

A stage and water ballet troupe is being formed at Sanlando Springs, according to an announcement today by Jack R. Butts, manager. All teen-agers are eligible for membership in the troupe which will be under the direction of Jane Dickson, who has taught dancing in Washington, D. C., Hawaii, and for the past 5 years in Orlando.

Training in stage and water ballet will be given twice a week, at no extra charge other than the regular admission to the Springs. Shows will be held on Mondays and Fridays at 4:00 p.m. Instructed by Jane Dickson will include fundamental and advanced ballet technique and precision dancing and acrobatics.

All teen-agers applying for membership in the dance troupe are requested to leave their names and addresses in the club house at Sanlando Springs before Monday, May 5.

HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — "This business isn't what it used to be. That was the sad comment of Duke Taylor, one of Hollywood's leading stunt men. He and some colleagues had just finished staging a wild fight for "City Beneath the Sea," in which they tear apart a bar and appear to be mauling each other.

"This sort of thing is okay," he remarked. "But the movies don't put on the major stunts they used to. The studios use stock shots from old pictures. That cuts the stunt men out of their work. I'll be glad if television does make the movies convert to making all pictures in color. Then the studios will have to rethink in color all those stunts they now have in black and white."

Taylor added that stricter regulations concerning horses have also cut down the stunt men's work. He has long been an expert at taking horse falls.

"But we no longer can stage a real fall," he said. "If it did it for years, and I never injured a horse. Then the studios started hiring stunt men at cheaper prices, and they didn't know how to do it. After they had broken the legs of a few horses, the humane officials made them stop. Nowadays when you see a horse fall on the screen, it's an animal that has been trained in fall. That's not like the real thing."

Taylor, a former University of Oklahoma and pro football star, is rated a veteran in the stunt business, having been in it 17 years, and is rarely injured a horse. He has never broken a bone.

"It helps to have been an athlete," he observed. "But I have seen some athletes get hurt because they didn't know how to do stunts. It's mostly a matter of knowing what to do and keeping in shape. I stay in shape because of my hobby of racing bikes. Last Sunday I went for a 65-mile jaunt on my new foreign bike."

"How long can a stunt man last?" "As long as he keeps in shape," Taylor replied.

A newcomer in the stunting ranks is George Robotham, hand some ex-football flash from UCLA. He also does bit parts in pictures, but adds to his income by taking stunt jobs.

"The top stunt men can earn up to $20,000 a year," he explained. "The basic pay is $55 a day, but then you bargain with the studio for payment on individual stunts."

Robotham admitted that staging a stunt is one of the easiest jobs for a stunt man. The sluggings look and sound vicious, but the slinger can be swinging many inches from his victim's chin. The camera angle is what creates the illusion. Also, the stunt men on the receiving end has to react as though he is hit. That's what makes it seem real.

The stunt men have picked up some work from the budding television film industry, but they still talk longingly of the lush days of the past. Two spectacular stunts are generally brought up in their conversations.

One was the running jump Cliff Lyons took on horseback off a 10-foot bluff into a stream of water for "Jesse James." The other was a running dive by Paul Binder, who sailed 70 feet off a cliff into the ocean for "Hurricane." Both of them lived through the stunts and are still active in the business.

So They Tell Me

By POLLY HENRY
Bradenton Herald Society Editor
Want to hear about Social life in Korea? So They Tell Me is proud to present its first guest columnist, Capt. Vaughn McDougald, a home town boy. We think his slant for society reporting is delightfully refreshing and authentic. Read on.

Korea (Special to So They Tell Me)—Major, Walter Turner of the 1st Battalion, 7th Infantry Regiment was the guest of honor recently at a party held at the banker home of Capt. Vaughn McDougald, Headquarters Commandant, from Bradenton.

The walls were decorated with rice straw mats, customarily draped over logs of hewn pine and tastefully streaked with light brown mud. The centerpiece consisted of a quartermule tent stove in a field of gleaming white sand, hand-carried from the Imjin River.

The honoree was dressed in field trousers and jacket, set off by a blue scarf and a steel helmet. The entire ensemble was held together by a pistol belt and Colt automatic. The host's costume was trousers and jacket of herringbone-twill accented by russet boots and an exquisitely lined bayonet case in a rucksack.

The host presented Major Turner with an engraved map of the Sangang area of Korea. This map was especially valuable, showing choice fields. However, rice stalks set in an irregular pattern of majestic hills, and breath-taking scenic vistas.

After the gifts were opened, Capt. McDougald served delicious refreshments of open faced peanut butter sandwiches, along with crackers.

Kim Song Kim, in a game of Capt. McDougald, presided at the coffee service.

filled the French section of Berlin. Police drove them back over the border with their hands and feet tied.

Another band of 50 to 60 Red youths got into the E.S. sector. Police chased them back in all 35 arrests were reported.

The Red youth launched half a million marching down Unter den Linden before communist leaders. Spectators jammed the Lomonosov street from Brandenburg Gate to Marx Engels Square to see the show.

Hundreds of thousands of West Berliners streamed into the Platz der Republik before the burned out Reichstag building to hear West German President, Theodor Heuss, West Berlin Mayor Ernst Reuter and American Federal Minister of Labor Representative Irving Brown.

It is well known that the Red youth had been in the city for some time, but they were not seen until they appeared in the city on May 1st.

Don't forget that you can hear the election returns over WTRH Tuesday night. Returns will be given in connection with the baseball game broadcast and following the game WTRH will remain on the air to bring out statewide and local returns in all of the races for public office.

Blues Vault Into Fourth Place By Defeating Palatka, 5-3

Seminole Win 4th Consecutive Game; Aleno, Steinecke, 2 Others Ejected

By KENT CHETLAIN

Those rollicking Seminole Blues snuffed out a rally threat by Palatka and battled the umpires to register their fourth consecutive victory in defeating the Asaleas 5-3 in Palatka last night. After the smoke had settled in Asalea Bowl, four players had been banished, including both managers, and the Blues wound up with three pitchers playing regular positions and the fans and the official scorer throwing fits.

About everything imaginable happened in the lengthy contest from a smooth start to a playing pitchers duel to a protest and an out-and-out fracas on the field. When the light switch was pulled the Blues had forged into fourth place by virtue of Jacksonville Beach's 5-3 win over the Murray Byrd Orlando Senators.

The Blues winning streak matched the four-game losing streak they encountered just prior to the present victory string. Lloyd Swain started on the mound and went to the ninth inning before being relieved by reliable Murray Byrd. Swain wound up playing centerfield and getting credit for his second triumph of the year against as many losses.

Two new umpires, Shannon and Lombardi, were the objects of the entire ruckus which began in the sixth inning when Palatka manager Bill Steinecke was ordered from the game by Shannon for arguing.

Then in the top of the eighth Joe Parise walked, Aleno sacrificed and Fred Cavallaro lined a drive down the foul line which Shannon called foul. The soft-spoken flycatcher complained and then fled out to left on the next pitch. While trotting back to the dugout, Cavallaro said something to Shannon, who immediately tossed the usually silent Fred out of the game.

Aleno came racing out from the dugout and was ejected after the seventh inning for hitting from left to play third. Dusty Rhodes went to centerfield and was replaced behind the plate by Bernie Carr. George Kenis switched from right to left and hurled Jesus Cortreal into right.

Swain was still on the mound in the bottom of the ninth but after a single by Mills, a walk to Newton and Poston's ground hit to Imbra, who appeared to have touched Poston going into second. Swain was replaced by Murray Byrd. Swain stayed in the game and went to centerfield when Imbra became embroiled in an argument and was banished. Rhodes supplanted Imbra at the key slot.

Imbra was the fourth player to leave the contest. Byrd displayed his coolness under fire with the winning runs on the bases. He forced Hudson to pop out to Parise, who held the runners, fanned pinch hitter Fenow and Sherry Sherba lined out to Parise to end the game.

The Blues scored four tallies in the fifth on singles by Swain and Kenis and a walk to Burns. Parise was safe on an error and Aleno pounded out a two-run double.

Joe Fernandez, Cuban C ball veteran, will hurl for the Seminoles tonight in Cocoa against the Indians.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JOHNNY LAW sheepishly turned over to his mother a note from teacher that read, "Johnny is a bright lad, but frankly, for a boy of ten, he pays far too much attention to the pretty little girls. I'm trying to find a way of curing him." Mrs. Law wrote back to teacher "If you find a way, for the Lord's sake let me in on it. I'm having the same trouble with Mr. Law."

The parents of a ten-year-old at Lakeview Academy received a letter from their boy expressing regret at their inability to attend the first drama of the year put on by students in the new auditorium. "You really missed a treat," he assured them. "We did 'Hamlet.' A lot of parents said they had seen it before, but they laughed just the same."

TV's influence on the bobby-sox brigade can be gauged by the frequency with which this new legend is popping up on the sides of those stripped-down, slogan-infested jalopies: "Dagmar or BUST!" Copyright, 1953, by Bennett Cerf. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

To prepare an egg club sandwich use egg salad, lettuce, tomato slices, and crisp bacon. Put these filling ingredients between three slices of toast, spreading with mayonnaise. Insert tooth picks in the sandwiches to hold the layers together, then cut each one diagonally into four triangles.

above society and members sell down the river for a few dollars today and nothing for tomorrow. How can they make such statements? The businessmen and women's clubs of Seminole County do not approve this action.

"We have great respect for all of the candidates that gave us their platform. They chose to speak to us and gave us the privilege to vote for them, and not for somebody else to use our vote for us and vote the way they wish to. Therefore the Voters League cannot speak for the colored voters of Seminole County."

Navy Station

navy took occupancy of the barracks and mess hall. By late April, all buildings had been turned over to the Navy.

The Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station was the first naval base to be reactivated in Florida. On May 1, 1951, the official re-commissioning ceremony took place and the air station was reactivated as a naval auxiliary air station to be used for the training and conditioning of experienced pilots for a fleet unit of carrier air group which normally uses jet planes.

Capt. D. T. Day read the re-commissioning orders and Rear Admiral A. E. Montgomery, Commander of Fleet Air Wing Jacksonville, officially turned the station over to the command of Capt. J. L. Chittenden as 340 enlisted men, 25 officers and over 200 civilians witnessed the impressive ceremony.

Former Mayor P. A. Dwyer welcomed the Navy to Sanford and the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station was officially in operation. The same day the station was re-commissioned, it became the home base of Fleet Air Service Squadron 821 and Carrier Air Group Three. Many changes have taken place in the past year. Buildings have changed and personnel have changed as men have been transferred in and out. The station is still home base for FASRON 821 and CAG 3. Project "HAIR" and Experimental Squadron Two have now been added to the Sanford air station operating force.

In the year, a movie hall had opened. A Chief Petty Officer's Club and an Officer's Club were formed. An Enlisted Men's Hall opened. A station library was next to open its doors. Many other improvements were added to the station as time passed. Plans for one of the best naval air stations in Florida and the nation were laid. Today those plans are near completion as the station celebrates its first birthday.

Steel Issue

up line's order pending an appeal to the Supreme Court. The steel companies went back to this court today to plead for an amendment of the order so that the government could not boost wages while holding the mills.

The Court of Appeals' action today leaves the government free to work out an agreement with the steelworkers.

The five judges who voted against staying Sawyer's hand against a wage boost were E. A. Barrett Prettiman, Henry W. Edgerton, Charles F. Byrd, David B. Bazelon and George T. Washington.

Chief Judge Harold M. Stephens, Bennett Champ Clark, Wilbur K. Miller and James M. Proctor dissented.

Political Rally

first term, pointing out that Senator Boyle during his own first session was a member of the road committee.

The dog track lobby was again attacked by Mr. Brewer. He stated that it was not his intention to abolish dog tracks, but to see to it that state law makers be prohibited from employment by dog tracks. He urged a central purchasing agency at Tallahassee, pointing out that 41 of the 48 states have such an agency.

In the House of Representatives, Mrs. Ruth Hamilton, resident of Fern Park, drew a big laugh when she declared that her two opponents, M. B. Smith and Mack Cleveland, Jr., were her buddies and were going to vote for her. Declaring that she was tired of hearing about committees, she said that this was one, however, she desired to serve on, the Fish and Game Committee, pointing out that wild game is running out. She urged better salaries for teachers and increased pensions to the newly aged.

Mack Cleveland, Jr., advocated facilitating registration by setting the supervisor of registration to bring the books to all precincts. He also suggested that to eliminate confusion the registration time be made the same as that of nearby counties. Another suggestion was that members of the armed forces be permitted to register without appearing in person before the registrar. He promised, young, aggressive and straight-forward administration.

Mr. Smith countered that no special permission need be given the county registrar to take the registration books to the various precincts, as the registrar, Mrs. Camilla Bruce, already has that authority, provided the books are in her custody at all times. Rep. Smith told of his aid to the school minimum foundation program, and said that the next session he would work toward increase in teachers' salaries, including a retroactive clause.

The candidates for County Clerk, O. P. Herndon, incumbent, and W. H. Stemper, renewed their bout in the 10th round of the most hotly contested of the races. Mr. Herndon, in a jovial mood, stated that the "honorable Mayor" had described him as a sort of monarch of the Court House were fortunate to see the clerk without paying admission. He termed the heckling incident at Longwood as a denial of his civil rights.

Mr. Stemper countered with quick jabs to the effect that his opponent is a shrewd politician with a sweet and sugar routine which allows vicious lies to be spread. He termed the question asked at Longwood to have been provoked by Mr. Herndon's "causative" remarks. He admitted that the Circuit Judge alone has the power to empanel a grand jury, but questioned why the jury had not been called except in cases of murder and rape. He alluded to threatening letters sent to him and charged that a "web of undue influence" had been created by his opponent.

Initial speakers on the program were Elizabeth Faulhaber and Homer Sewell for Justice of the Peace in District 6.

Candidates for sheriff who spoke were C. W. Beck, J. L. Hobby, P. A. Mero, J. Clay Williams and Roy G. Williams.

Both T. M. Lawton, county school superintendent, and Rayburn T. Milwec, his opponent, spoke in favor of school improvements.

Karlyle Housholder renewed his bid for the office of county prosecuting attorney, and George A. Speer, incumbent, told of his experience gained during 11 years. The latter declared that Seminole is one of 11 counties which are securing attorney's office.

Candidates appearing for County Commissioner in District No. 8 were O. E. Fouracre and W. A. Forward.

Fred R. Wilson, speaking in behalf of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, urged a supporting resolution.

This is the same lineup which voted to put the steel mills back into government possession.

Angus Attorney General Philip Periman told the court during arguments that there would be no wage boost before the government files its appeal from Judge Pine's decision with the Supreme Court. The appeal is due to be filed Friday.

half of Senator Russell who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, vigorously assailed President Truman, declaring that the people are being deprived of their liberty and facing a dictatorship when a president declares that he has the right not only to seize the steel industry, but the press and radio as well.

Jim Lee, county democratic executive committee chairman, again president, with Andrew Caraway assisting. Since only part of the crowd could get into the hall, loud speaker facilities were set up outside, and fruit crates provided to sit on.

Bill Lewis, constable, John L. Galloway, county tax collector; Rep. Volie Williams, Jr. and Judge Douglas Stenstrom were among those introduced by Mr. Lee.

a letter he wrote Kefauver in reply to a telegram from the Tennessee asserting the Floridian had made incorrect statements about him.

Smathers has been campaigning with Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) in Florida where the Georgian and Kefauver are competing in the state's presidential primary.

"I will remind you," Smathers continued, "that in 1949 there were about 150 members of Congress who signed a petition urging hearings on world federalism. I signed this petition myself."

"We took the position that a full discussion should be held on this subject but when we closely examined the proposal many of us withdrew our sponsorship of this petition."

"The Florida Legislature had adopted a supporting resolution

Cpl. Walter Eugene Bennett was promoted from private first class to corporal recently and has been transferred from Bowling Green, O. to Scott Air Force Base in Springfield, Ill., for dental technician training. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Bennett of Sanford. Cpl. Bennett who was born and raised in Sanford, has spent the last two years in the Air Force, being stationed at both Wilhitea Fall, Tex., and Bowling Green, O. He is married to Janet Rayburn of Bowling Green.

but when they found out what it was all about the resolutions, along with similar resolutions by a number of other state legislatures, were repealed.

"This halted world federalism but a few of the same advocates came along with world federalism's 'little sister,' the Atlantic Union. Why don't you tell the people, as long as you want to keep the record straight, that you are one of the principle sponsors of the Atlantic Union resolution?"

On FEPC, Smathers said "I feel sure you will wish to explain to the people your vote on March 11, 1949, in the Senate when you voted for a rules change limiting debate, thus taking sides against all of your Southern colleagues."

"In this debate you were not a timid follower but were helping lead the charge."

kind that is passed almost automatically by legislative courtesy upon the word of its sponsor. The governor vetoed it, because he objected to changing the racing laws by local legislation.

Odham was in the stronghold of his worst and oldest political enemy when he told Key Westers Pappy "was up there in Tallahassee to buy protection" for bookmakers.

"Yeah, and he'll be back again," shouted one of Pappy's defenders from the back of the crowd. Pappy is running for a 10th term in the House.

Odham first got state-wide attention when he charged Pappy with offering him a bribe in 1947 to vote against a bill to ban wire transmission of racing results to bookmakers. Pappy was acquitted, and has twice been re-elected to the House since then.

Adams said in his radio speech he has been informed by a person in a position to know that only about 80 cents of each dollar spent for highway construction by the state actually goes into the roads.

The rest, he said, "is wasted or goes into excessive profits to the fat-cat contractors, or into questionable commissions to questionable people who are 'in' politically."

Adams said the road contractors and Road Department employees are out to beat him because they know there won't be any of that if he's governor. He again complained that Road Department workers are tearing down his campaign signs.

McKethan replied that Adams, a former State Supreme Court justice, "should know what the law is" on posting signs along highways.

"His campaign posters along with campaign posters of all other candidates, illegally placed upon the highway rights of way, are being removed just as fast as our maintenance crews can keep up with the law violators," McKethan said.

State law prohibits posting any signs on highway rights of way, and requires State Road Department permits for all signs outside the right of way for a distance of 15 feet.

and attended the University of Florida before entering the Army as a private in the infantry."

Mr. Housholder stated that voters did not have time to go through the voluminous court records to ascertain the record of his opponent.

"Besides, my opponent didn't tell you that when he was elected 12 years ago he had no previous experience as a prosecuting attorney," Mr. Housholder asserted.

He cited his experience in all the state's courts and the fact that he has been serving as the City Judge in claiming his qualification for the prosecuting attorney's post.

"My opponent says that my job is just merely sitting on the bench for an hour or so once a week. This is not true. I have to make investigations of all cases and spend time all during the week trying to mete out justice," he concluded.

Republicans Dispute Meaning Of Massachusetts Election Tuesday

By The Associated Press
The presidential panorama today: Some Republicans disputed the meaning of the Massachusetts vote, some Democrats talked of a "draft" and most nomination seekers got set for a television show.

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The Massachusetts election on Tuesday, which drew from Tuesday's Massachusetts election by supporters of the front-running rivals for Republican nomination—Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower—near-complete returns show Eisenhower got 69 per cent of the Republican vote in the popularity poll, and 27 of the 28 nominating convention delegate posts at stake. Thus, with 604 votes needed to nominate, the Associated Press' compilation of delegate strength—based on concessions, pledges, instructions and statements—shows Taft 274, Eisenhower 270. Taft forces claim more than 300.

In Washington, Massachusetts Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, an Eisenhower partisan, called the primary a "great groundswell." He said the general would get at least 34 of Massachusetts' total 38 delegates.

A Taft man, Sen. Milton Young of North Dakota, brushed this aside. Voting in the West and Midwest, he said, will tell a different and "more favorable" to Taft story.

Taft attributed the outcome to Democrats who voted as "Republicans for one day only." In Taft's view, Eisenhower's comment was "overwhelming—it has begun to look sort of serious."

Democratic leaders, meanwhile, talked of a new movement to draft Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for the nomination. The governor, saying he was running for re-election, bowed out of contention but recently said he would be "flat tored" if the party thought he could be of more service in the White House.

In Washington, a move was underway—backed by some party leaders skilled in convention maneuvering—to take Stevenson at his latest word. This group was described as being opposed to Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, tops so far in delegate strength, and at least indifferent to the other avowed aspirants: Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma and Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman.

In Cincinnati at 7 p. m. EST tonight, most candidates for presidential nomination go before a television camera in a nationwide program sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

About the only exceptions: Russell and Taft, who said they had other commitments. Paul Hoffman was invited to represent Eisenhower in Europe as Allied defense chief until about June 1.

Politics elsewhere:

Missouri—Republicans held four district conventions to choose their more convention delegates. Eisenhower forces claim all six to be picked in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

In Florida, Kefauver has accepted the frequent challenge of Gov. Fuller Warren to meet him in debate. The Tennessee senator and the governor have been swapping words ever since the Senate Crime Committee, headed by Kefauver, tried unsuccessfully to call Warren as a witness.

In Northwest Florida, Russell warmed up his criticism of Kefauver. Their paths crossed in their campaigns for votes in the state's May 6 popularity poll and May 27 delegate election. Russell said Wednesday Kefauver "would take anything however socialist that

Strange Virus X Is Reported To Be 30 Diseases

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor
HOBSON (AP)—The mysterious Virus X is really 30 new diseases. The doctor, not yet acquainted with most of them and so they call these troubles X.

How the wonder-drug antibiotic brought this to pass was described to the Society of American Bacteriologists today, in a symposium on viruses.

When antibiotics, such as penicillin, streptomycin, aureomycin and all the others, "save our lives" or cure serious illness they kill a lot of our most dangerous germ enemies. That leaves our bodies open to attack from a less dangerous but large host of viruses. Because of the antibiotics, the bacteriologists have been discovering them in rapid succession.

We always had them but they were lumped together under vague names like congestion, catarrh, summer flu and a number of bowel troubles. Now that they are out in the open they number at least 30.

The bacteriologists are worried about the antibiotics all of us are getting in our daily food. We get tiny bits from milk, due to giving them for cattle diseases. Also from pork because antibiotics are given to make pigs grow faster. From chicken and eggs for the same reason. Parenthetically the Swiss cheese-makers are tearing their hair because antibiotics in milk interfere with making their holes.

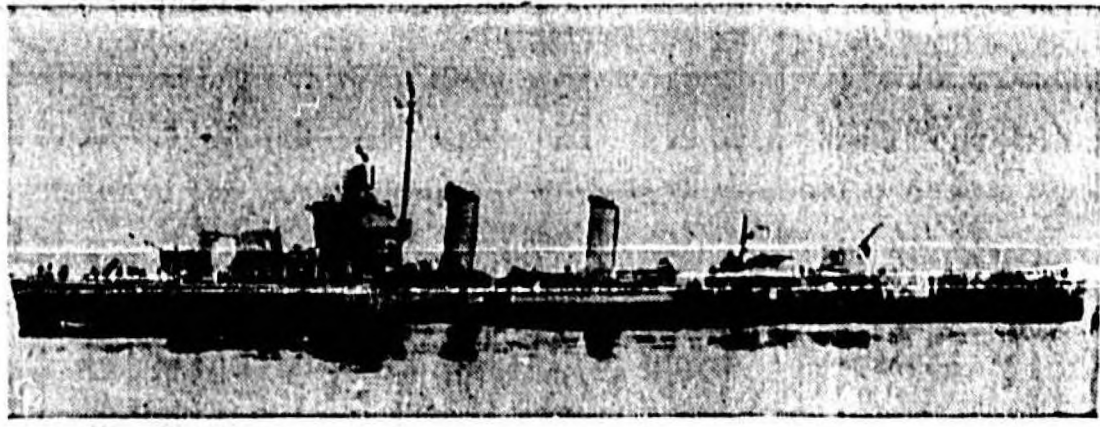

The bacteriologists fear that these tiny quantities will sensitize us so that some cannot take antibiotics when ill. They also reported today that the anti-biotics in milk kill some germs in our bodies which make vitamins for us.

JAVA MONKEY
LOS ANGELES (AP)—George, a Java monkey in a pet shop, has earned a trip back to the jungle from which he came.

He got out of his cage Wednesday at Nature's Haven and staged an uprising, captured in part on last week's prison riots. George freed a horned owl, five guinea pigs, ate $25 worth of tropical fish, kicked over five cages of canaries and two of parrots, scattered flower pots, boxes and pet supplies in all directions.

George was giving a parrot an airplane spin when Owners Ralph Heller and Irvin Freeman got him in tow. Surveying the damage, they said they were thankful the monkey didn't free Cleo, an 11-foot boa constrictor. So is George.

Most time is saved when a pressure cooker is used for foods that need long cooking—dry beans, fowl, smoked tongue, cuts of beef that are not tender.

The Destroyer-Minesweeper "Hobson," a sister ship in the same class as the USS "Knight" shown above, was sunk in the mid-Atlantic after a collision with the Aircraft Carrier "Wasp." Both vessels were part of a task force en route to the Mediterranean and were some 2,000 miles off Norfolk, Va. Fleet Headquarters when the accident happened. The "Hobson's" normal complement was 13 officers and 212 enlisted men. (International)

Deck Officer May Help To Clear Up Disaster Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP)—A deck officer who escaped may help solve the mystery of the minesweeper Hobson's disastrous crash with the carrier Wasp.

A radioed dispatch from the damaged Wasp, steaming slowly for New York with 61 survivors of the Hobson aboard, disclosed that Lt. (J.G.) B. E. Cummings, one of those rescued, was junior officer of the deck at the time of the collision.

The Hobson's skipper, Lt. Cmdr. W. J. Tierney, managed to get clear of the wreckage before it sank Saturday in mid-Atlantic, but he was not found. One hundred and seventy-five of the ship's company went down with her.

Of major importance to the naval court of inquiry, when it convenes at New York next week, will be what orders were given aboard the Hobson in the moments before the collision and what signals were exchanged between the minesweeper and the carrier. From them, the court may learn why the sweeper had a course which brought her under the knife-like prow of the carrier.

Here's the most recent photo of Capt. Burnham McCaffree, skipper of the Aircraft Carrier "Wasp" which figured in a collision with the Destroyer-Minesweeper "Hobson" while both vessels were heading for the Mediterranean. The first 75-feet of the "Wasp's" bow was reported damaged. (International)

DRIVERS STRIKE
ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Drivers and maintenance workers of the Rochester Transit Co. struck today, crippling public transportation in this industrial city of 335,000.

The walkout affected all bus and subway lines in the city and in virtually all outlying communities in Monroe County. The company operates all local buses and a high-speed underground trolley system.

The dispute involved working hours and the extension of pension benefits to include retired employees.

MUSIC CLUBS
WHITE SPRINGS (AP)—The Florida Federation of Music Clubs elected Mrs. Julian Laughlinhouse-Orlando, its new president Wednesday. Mrs. Glenn Morrison, Lakeland, was named vice president. Mrs. J. L. Peatross, St. Petersburg secretary, and Mrs. R. A. Edwards, Gainesville, treasurer. The Sarasota Music Club was presented a cup for the highest club rating.

Tale Of Japanese Surrender Is Told For Uninitiated

By HAL BOVLE
WASHINGTON (AP)—So Japan is free. How will it be from now on between us?

I wasn't one of those who fought their way to Japan, island by island, stepping stones of bitterness. No Japanese sniper ever fired at me. I never stayed awake all night in a Pacific ditch worrying whether a little brown man would creep up and slit my throat. All my memories of Japan are pleasant.

I invaded it in comfort in the late summer of 1945. It was the dry-footed amphibious landing ever made. I was with a bunch of Okinawa-trained marines assigned to take an island in Tokyo Bay.

The Japanese had already waved the white flag, but there were three old gun positions on this island. And somebody decided that the island ought to be secured against the possibility that the Japs might pull a trick and try to sink the U. S. Navy.

So, cussing and praying the shores of Tripoli, the marines loaded into the Higgins boats and roared off toward the island. The first object that came in sight was a bare-footed old Japanese lady prowling the beach with a basket of clams.

She heard the buzzing motor, turned—and there were the U. S. marines rushing across the waves straight toward her, guns loaded. The old lady put her basket of clams on her head and ran for dear life. I will never forget her crazed fear.

"This is Japan!" asked the marine next to me as we waded ashore.

I guess it was quite a letdown for a man who'd fought on Okinawa.

Well, we went into Yokohama and Tokyo, and looked down in awe from the turrets of the battleship Missouri as Gen. Douglas MacArthur signed the surrender terms.

The Japanese were furtive, frightened or overbearingly polite then. They weren't sure what their conquerors might do. But on the third day of our stay in a hotel in Tokyo, the room boys started bringing us presents. Flowers. Just an old Japanese custom, but rather unerving until you understand it.

I went to Japan again in 1950 shortly after the outbreak of the Korean War. The Japanese were as polite as ever, but no longer frightened. They had learned how to deal with our occupation forces—patiently.

There had been considerable bribery—through entertainment—of Americans by highly placed Japanese. There had been considerable needless throwing around of weight by a number of American suddenly rating higher on the list than they ever had at home.

But by and large, it must have been one of the lightest military occupations in history. The Japanese accepted it with such grace and dignity there really wasn't much to make an issue over. They never lost their polite smile.

There have been a lot of friends made between Americans and Japanese over there in the last seven years. Some are solid, and will last a long time, because

THE SANFORD HERALD

It is easier for different human beings to understand each other than differing nations.

But Japan will seem strange now to one who never knew her before the last war. The subtle change of power will be there. The little saint is free, loose to a wide world again, for better or for worse.

All that will be the same will be the smile in Japan that never changes.

I suppose that one of the first things we'll have to do is go back to calling Emperor Hirohito by his proper title. The U. S. occupation troops always cheerfully referred to him as Charley.

Somehow "Charley" had a friendly sound. I hope the echo lasts.

SPY RING
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Russia has called home a top embassy official whom the Yugoslav government charged with directing a spy ring.

The diplomat, Vladimir Karmenov, served as first secretary of the Soviet embassy until his departure Wednesday. The anti-Russian government of Premier Marshal Tito had demanded his recall after his name turned up in the trial two weeks ago of Nikita Khrushchev, sentenced to life imprisonment for spying for the Russians.

SANFORD FIRM
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Sanford Electric Co. was low bidder Wednesday on laying 3,200 feet of underground cable at Sanford Naval Air Station. The firm bid $5,420. Next lowest was $6,335.

Big Outpouring Of U. S. Tourists To Europe Is Seen

Drive Is Under Way To Smooth Out Travel Difficulties

NEW YORK (U. S. A.)—A record number of Americans are expected to travel to foreign lands this summer. And a major effort will be made to smooth out travel difficulties. A drive is under way today to urge Congress to pass legislation to simplify customs rules, and other countries are being urged to cut away the costly and irritating red tape in international trade and travel. Uncle Sam is, incidentally, said to be one of the worst offenders.

First-time international travel will be more numerous than ever—and the most likely to be confused and harassed—Sir William P. Hildred, director general of the International Air Transport Association, says. He predicts that the new low-fare tourist service across the Atlantic which the airlines start Thursday will bring transatlantic passengers this year to 600,000, as against 500,000 last year.

The procedures of customs, health and immigration inspectors will be entirely new and probably "familiar to them," he says. He thinks the 11 airlines on the transatlantic route will find it easier to transport this flood of new travelers than to soothe their tempers during the checks and delays of border crossings. And he pleads for streamlining.

A business group, the United States Council of the International Chamber of Commerce, agrees. It is appealing to government officials, legislators, businessmen, farmers, workers and the general public to pressure governments everywhere to remove unnecessary red tape.

The council has ideas about what should be done. A passport should be all the identification needed, it says. Entry visas should be abolished wherever they are still used.

Police certificates of good conduct are just meaningless papers, the council adds. Nor should governments continue the common practice of insisting on surrender of passports to government officials.

The period of vaccination, inoculation and certificate of health should be standardized. Some governments won't accept a smallpox vaccination as valid after one year, and some will up to three years.

Some of the complexities of foreign travel and trade are being tackled in a customs simplification bill which the U. S. House has passed and sent to the Senate.

Small Exposure To
Germs Is Dangerous

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
BOSTON (U. S. A.)—A small exposure to a small risk of an infectious disease every day for a long time is just as dangerous as getting one big dose of the infection all at one time.

This discovery, which goes contrary to the old belief, was reported by the staff of American Healthways, Inc., today by Dr. L. J. Goldberg and H. M. S. Watkins of the Harvard Biological Laboratory, University of California.

The Public Health Service has long held the belief that very small numbers of germs might not make a difference, but now it is clear that matter how often you get them, such germs could come from something as simple as a handshake. The university doctors tried the experiment on mice. They let the animals breathe each day enough to get a small amount of germs in their lungs. In 30 to 70 percent of the mice repeated this dose daily for 90 days. A few got older pneumonia or strep infections. Other mice were given in a single dose as much pneumonia and strep as the first group in 90 days.

The number of mice getting sick in the massive dose was the same as the number sickening after the 90 days exposure. In both cases 1 percent of the animals died.

Taft Is Leading Gen. Eisenhower By Only 2 Votes

Harriman Leads In Democratic Party With Kefauver 2nd

By The Associated Press
Special Publication by The Associated Press on May 1, 1952. An FBI today showed Sen. Taft leading Gen. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination by only two votes, 208 to 206, with 131 uncommitted or dropped. Taft forces claim more than 300, however.

The change from Tuesday's lineup came from Eisenhower winning 25 of Massachusetts' 35 in Tuesday's primary and picking up one in a Thursday district convention. Taft took only three in the Bay State to give his total that much. Six more delegates there are uncommitted.

The figures in both parties, based on delegates pledged, instructed, favorable or willing to state a first ballot choice and candidate preference.

Republican	Democrat
Taft forces claim 303	Harriman 92
Eisenhower 206	Kefauver 72
Massachusetts 25	Brewster 37

Rural Common Sense

By SPIES JOHNSON

Main practices based on findings of the University of Florida Agricultural Experiment Station are commonly followed in the production of tomatoes and celery today, resulting in insect pests and higher quality produce than would have been obtained if the growers had not been doing so.

Further, readily recognizable leaf-feeding insects, such as the tobacco budworm, are being found to further reduce the quality of the produce. They have better eyesight, and therefore, are able to locate the crop and feed on it. The tobacco budworm is a pest of the tomato and celery crops. It is a common pest of the tomato crop and is found in all sections of the state. It is a pest of the celery crop and is found in all sections of the state. Striving to better the living conditions for the men aboard the Air Station, several working parties composed of personnel from the Station, FABRON and the Carrier Air Group Three are at present busily engaged in setting up new metal lockers. This will provide the men with more space for their personal gear, and also improve the appearance of the barracks. This operation has been going on for the past two weeks, and should be completed in the very near future.

1st. Comdr. Henry Stoffers, the FABRON Communications Officer, is attending the Atomic, Biological, and Chemical Warfare School in Ft. McChesney, Ala. Being the Sanitation and Defense Officer of the Squadron, Mr. Stoffers is getting the latest dope in order to prepare the FABRON in the event of any Atomic emergency.

Yeoman First Class Henry J. Doolittle of the Carrier Air Group Staff is being released to inactive duty early in 1951. Doolittle is at present the leading yeoman in the CAB Staff Office. He plans to leave for his home in Hudson, N. Y., and will be greatly missed by all hands. Farewell and lots of luck to another fine lad, who answered his country's call during this National Emergency.

Five members of the Station Security Dept. were advanced in rate recently. Carson Funderburk was advanced to the rate of MMS, Ignace Iacono to EMS, Robert Jenkins to AFS, Gene E. Meas to ADS, and Thomas Richards to the rate of Quartermaster Third Class. J. M. Byrd, Seaman, will depart for his home in Cherry Hill, Tenn. Friday, May 2. Byrd is taking part of his annual leave, and we are certain that his vacation is a well earned one. The group in the Security Department are at present engaged in training for the National Emergency Ground Defense Force Program.

In the sports department, we find the FABRON Soft Ball Team overwhelming the Orlando Air Force Flyers yesterday by the wide margin of 14 to 2. Cassey Cassey was the big gun for the Sanford sailors, as he smashed a two run homer in the third inning to set the pace. Cassey also had three for four yesterday.

The Camp Lejeune Marines from North Carolina returned to Sanford for revenge over the Sanford Air Station baseballers, and left very well satisfied. The smashing bats of the Marines proved too powerful for the sailors, as the Lejeune bunch racked up 7 runs to the Navy's 1. Lyons went seven innings for the Navy, but was replaced by Raftery, who finished up in fine form.

Richard Saefidi and Tom Burks of the FABRON Supply Department were advanced to the rate of Third Class Petty Officer. Burks was advanced to Aviation Storekeeper Third, and Saefidi went to General Service Storekeeper Third Class. Congratulations are in order for both of these boys.

Chief Vallin of the Station Operations Department wishes to extend a welcome to anyone interested in joining the Deland Flying Club. Now employing the use of two planes, an Ercoupe and an Aerona, the Flying Club is rapidly enlarging. Flying at its cheapest, with expert instruction, the Deland Flying Club is open to everyone. Anyone interested should contact Chief Vallin in the Station Operations Department.

Francis Viniquerra, TY2, has recently joined the Station Operations Department. Louis lives in Melbourne, Fla., and came to this Air Station from the Norfolk Naval Station in Norfolk, Va.

MARCH OF EVENTS

Harriman's Chances Best? | Believe Kefauver Unable
Some Politicos Think So | To Gain Enough Delegates

WASHINGTON—W. Averell Harriman is now considered in some political circles to have the best chance of winning the Democratic presidential nomination despite the recent series of primary victories by Senator Estes Kefauver.

Harriman's assertion that he would be willing to accept the No. 1 spot on the party's ticket brought private comments from many leading Democrats that "that's our man."

With the atmosphere cleared somewhat by President Truman's withdrawal and Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson's exit from the race, the Democrats believe that Harriman would be the best vote-getter they could put up.

Kefauver probably will go into the convention with enough pledged delegates to assure him the vice presidential nomination although he says he is definitely running for the top choice.

However, politicians say it's doubtful that he will be able to round up enough delegates to get the presidential nomination because he's not in favor with either the important southern bloc or party chiefs.

DECONTROL—Now that the government has started to decontrol the civilian economy it is stepping up efforts to determine how to keep industry in readiness for war.

The Defense Production Administration already has begun preliminary work on this important problem and President Truman is expected to set up an industrial commission shortly to keep machine tool production on an even keel.

With the experience of two wars behind them, government officials don't want the nation to be found unprepared again for military emergency.

The next war—fought with new "fantastic weapons"—could be decided in a very short space of time and the government wants to be prepared. That's another reason why DPA says it will try to keep its controlled materials plan in effect as long as possible.

ARMY REVIVAL—Considerable behind-the-scenes work is being done on huge lighter-than-air rigid airships by the Navy. The lighter-than-air work of the Navy was dogged by tragedy before World War II but many officers have continued their struggle to have the force reinstated on a large scale.

The development this time tends toward huge cargo airships to carry freight at about half the cost of regular air transportation. The Navy has computed figures that show it costs 14 cents to move one ton one mile by airship compared with 38 cents a ton-mile for regular airplanes.

On longer trips, these officers claim, the rate would go down to about one-third the heavier-than-air transportation cost.

TURNIP DAY SESSIONS UNLIKELY—Senate leaders aren't taking seriously President Truman's threat to keep them in special "Turnip Day" session until January if Congress doesn't restore funds slashed from the military budget by the House.

They figure that the President's speech was made mostly to pave the way for elimination of the House-adopted amendment which would limit defense spending for the 1953 fiscal year to $46 billion.

Sponsored by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D, Virginia), the amendment was adopted by a vote of 220 to 130 and would curb military expenditures by about $6 billion.

The Senate probably will vote specific cuts rather than any overall ceiling and then eliminate the Smith amendment when the bill goes to conference. This probably will appease Mr. Truman and still allow the legislators to return home with solid economy records behind them.

Delicious fried chicken will be served in many farm homes during the next two months as cockerels are culled from flocks of young birds and put in the frying pan. Even though chicken is served more often than usual, there probably will be a surplus on some farms.

In preparing foods for freezing, give them the same care you would to food you plan to serve fresh. Avoid over-scalding skin when preparing to pick chicken. Use water that is not boiling—130 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit, or just when simmering begins is hot enough. After drawing roasters or baking hens, the wings and legs compactly to body. Wrap in heavy freezer locker paper or cellophane, seal, and cover with stockinette. Fryers and fowls should be cut or unjointed in manner desired when they are to be cooked. Hens may be packaged in cartons with freezer paper inner-liners, heat-sealed, or they may be wrapped in heavy freezer locker paper and tape-sealed.

Split broilers in half and package with a piece of wrapping paper or wax paper separating halves. Wrap as you would wrap pieces or roasters. Proper packaging is as important as proper dressing and drawing.

The drug store or sandwich wrap with a heat-seal is most commonly used and is considered by many to be the best. Immediately after packaging, place in freezer at zero Fahrenheit, or if being transported to locker plant, store in refrigerator, and pack in an insulated box for transporting it.

A large cardboard box lined with six or eight layers of newspaper on all sides, bottom and top, then used, will hold the chill until locker storage is reached.

Clean-Up Is Promised By Sen. Russell

Georgian Speaks At Jaycee Meet In Jax; Kefauver Willing To Debate Warren

By W. LAYTON DUNNING JACKSONVILLE (AP)—A thorough "housecleaning" in government was promised by Sen. Richard B. Russell today if he is elected President.

The 54-year-old Georgian, pausing here in his swing around Florida for support in his race for the Democratic nomination, proclaimed a Junior Chamber of Commerce members at a noon luncheon a cleanup of government corruption.

"Not in my time has the people's confidence in government been so shaken as in the one-time Georgia governor said, adding there must be a return to the belief that "every office is a public trust."

While Russell organized his Northeast Florida campaign, he made a series of speeches, his opponent for the voters' favor in next Tuesday's preferential primary — Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee — returned to this area to resume his Florida stump tour.

The Tennesseean was head of a Senate Crime Investigating Committee which conducted hearings in ten cities of big-time gamblers and racketeers with public officials, and efforts of these elements to work their way into places of government control.

In his speeches here, Russell chided Kefauver for his absence from the Senate to campaign for the presidential nomination and said that was one reason for his (Russell's) late entry in the race. Kefauver is a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee which Russell serves as chairman.

"My opponent has twitted me about never entering a primary except the Florida primary," the Georgian said. "I have been called a definite legislative responsibility in Washington and I have been compelled to stay there and handle them."

Remarking that "my opponent was summoned to the Senate Committee," Russell said he had been caused more work because Kefauver had entered so many primaries in various states. "I have had to do my work and his too," he declared.

As in other Florida speeches, Russell drew laughter in referring to Kefauver's frequent references to Gov. Fuller Warren in his Florida campaign.

He termed it "one of the oldest political tricks — a smokescreen to get the people's minds on something else so they can't sit down and calmly analyze the issue."

All several times, however, Russell said "I shall not indulge in (Continued on Page Two)

Negro Club Denies It Is Supporting Anyone For Office

Members of the Business, Professional and Civic Club, a local Negro organization headed by Enoch Lewis, today denied allegations that the group is endorsing certain candidates for office.

Among the signers are Jerry L. Givens, recording secretary; Herbert Cherry, chairman of the board of directors; Albert Lee Battle, treasurer; M. L. Williams, vice-president; Herbie Johnson, Charles Raywood, Calvin Hagan and Ezekiel R. Dixon, business manager.

In a letter to all candidates today it was stated:

"It has come to our attention that certain persons are alleging that we, as an organization, are endorsing the candidates of certain of our running for office.

"We completely dispel this rumor and are taking this means of informing you that our organization opposes the cause of no individual candidate. We are a comparatively young organization. We are interested in the welfare, education, and prosperity of our people; however, we feel that we can advance those principles for which we stand by limiting our activity in the political field to urging our registered citizens to vote. For whom they vote is their own business. We are confident that whomever you are elected will be fair and impartial in your dealings with all citizens.

"We regret it is necessary to write this letter; however, we want you to know that the Business, Professional and Civic Club is not interested in the election of a state of candidates."

COURT HOUSE

Assistant State Attorney Hubert Briggs today had high praise for the new look of the Seminole County Court House, with its new windows, alterations and interior and exterior paint.

However, it is responsible for those improvements should they be declared "a wonderful job which increased the value of the building which the County can be proud of."

Honoring General J. C. Hutchison for his outstanding achievements during two World Wars, the 200 members of civic organizations, and Senior and Junior Chamber of Commerce and veterans groups, attended a Kiwanis sponsored luncheon Wednesday noon at the Episcopal Parish House. Left to right at the speakers table are: Lieut. Col. Stewart Hatchel, who outlined the General's military record; Judge Douglas Stenstrom; General Hutchison, Mrs. Hutchison, Roland L. Dean, J. Martin Stinecoph, Mrs. Stinecoph, Miss Ellen Hutchison, T. E. Tucker, Mrs. Tucker and Andrew Caraway. At right, General and Mrs. Hutchison, admire the silver platter which was presented to them by Andrew Caraway in behalf of the local organizations attending. Mr. Dean, at right, smiles at the tribute to his two old friends and neighbors in Indian Mound Village.

Jaycee Officers

Tim Crawford, left, outgoing president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, congratulates Judge Douglas O. Stenstrom, center, being elected the new Jaycee president at yesterday's election in the Yacht Club. Left to right, Mr. Crawford, James H. Gut, who was re-elected treasurer for another year, Judge Stenstrom, Carl Pritson, newly selected first vice president, and Clarence Knight, new second vice president.

Senator Pepper Injects Self Into Political Races

Russell Is Described As A "Dixiecrat"; Smathers Is Hit

MIAMI (AP)—Former Sen. Claude Pepper reported today that Sen. Richard B. Russell sought his support in the Florida presidential preference primary.

"I told him I felt he would be supported by a lot of Dixiecrats in Florida and I didn't feel that our state would want to send a Dixiecrat delegation to the National Convention," said Pepper.

"Both Sen. Kefauver and Sen. Russell are fine men. I have served with both, and I feel that either would make a good President. I have encouraged some of my friends to run as Russell delegates, and others are running as delegates for Kefauver.

"We should have the best delegation we can elect to face all the problems we have to face. So far I have taken no part in the race between Kefauver and Russell, but I speak only up to this moment. If I feel that as issues develop I should express my views, I shall do so."

"This is not a petty political fight. I am sorry it has dropped to the level it has. This campaign is to choose a President of the United States, the democratic leader of the world."

Pepper also said it was "the simple truth" that a spokesman for Sen. George Smathers offered (Continued on Page Two)

LESION MEETING

Plans for the observance of Armed Forces Day will be made at the meeting Monday night at 8:00 o'clock at the Sanford Post No. 8, the American Legion. Post officers of the Legion Post Association will be elected. Post Commander J. D. Orsick will preside.

CIVIL AIR PATROL

Senior members and cadets of the Civil Air Patrol are requested to attend a meeting Monday afternoon at 8:00 o'clock at the home of Capt. W. E. Evans on the Orlando Highway.

Luncheon Given In Honor Of General Hutchison

Honoring General J. C. ## Final Rally Of County Political Campaign Will Be Held Tonight

Candidates For Governor Begin Last Big Roundup

Representatives of gubernatorial candidates will be the initial speakers at the final Democratic rally of the May 6 primary campaign tonight at 8:00 o'clock at the Seminole County Court House, Andrew Caraway, secretary-treasurer of the county Democratic committee, announced this morning.

James H. Lee, committee chairman, will again preside. Since an overflow crowd is expected, loud speakers will be placed outside the building for the benefit of those unable to obtain seats in the Court Room.

Following the plans to vote for J. Bradley Odham, Dan McCarty or Alto Adams, candidates L. E. Boyke, A. M. Brewer and A. F. Rossiter will speak for state senator of the 37th District. The campaigning of these candidates has been growing hotter and hotter during the current series of talks, and some fireworks is expected during the current series of talks.

Candidates for the House of Representatives for Seminole County, Group No. 1, will be next on the oratorical lineup. This includes Mack N. Cleveland, Jr., local attorney, Mrs. Ruth M. Hamilton of Fern Park, and M. B. "T Bone" Smith. They have grown so friendly during the campaign that they actually enjoy each other's company.

T. W. Lawson, veteran superintendent of schools, will defend his policy of school administration against R. T. Milwee, principal of Logan School, Longwood.

Seeking to make Seminole County the cleanest in the state from the point of view of law enforcement will be the five candidates for sheriff. C. W. Beck, E. H. Hester, J. A. Moxo, J. Clay Williams and Roy G. Childs, Williams.

The going will then ring on the final round between O. P. Henning, county clerk, and Mayor W. H. Stenner, who is seeking his seat.

A battle of "sharp legal mind" will then follow with George A. Sneed, Jr., defending his record in county prosecuting attorney, and with his contender, Municipal Judge Karlgo Housholder, outlining his own merits for the job.

Four candidates for County Commissioner in District No. 1, will speak: Earl Higginbotham, oil dealer; W. G. Kilbee, a present commissioner; W. B. Miller, farmer and G. C. Priest.

Competing for the County Commissioner will be the following: (Continued on Page Two)

Steel Workers Are Ordered Back To Work

CIO Steelworkers Respond To Request From President As Court Studies Issue

By ROWLAND EVANS JR. WASHINGTON (AP)—The CIO Steelworkers, responding to a request from President Truman, today called off their strike while the big legal battle over government seizure of the mills shifted to the Supreme Court.

Union President Philip Murray announced in Pittsburgh he had ordered his 650,000 men to go back to work "as soon as possible."

The first returning workers were back at their jobs within two hours at plants of the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp. Other steel companies expected to resume operations in the next few days.

Picket lines began disbanding as the Murray "go back to work" order filtered down to the local union level.

In Cleveland, a Republic Steel Corp. spokesman said "We're ready to resume operations in an orderly manner as soon as we hear from the union committees that the men are ready to go to work."

Murray also accepted an invitation from Mr. Truman to confer at the White House Saturday with industry leaders.

There had been no formal acceptance from the industry men but lawyers for the steel companies told reporters here the management representatives undoubtedly would accept.

On the local side, the steel industry went to the Supreme Court with a plea that it (1) uphold the (Continued on Page Two)
