Inexpressible Peace

More important than what a man thinks of you is whether you think at all.

Why not a municipally owned utility racket to raise money for parking, or other?

One reason Relief expenditures are higher while Congress was session was because the people are being fed more baloney.

Of course, it is none of your business but wouldn't you like to know how Charles Lindbergh felt his first time he saw the man who snatched his son.

Don't forget to stop your car when passing school buses either when loading or unloading school children. You may get into trouble if you don't.

The new board at the head of the NRA is composed of two business men, two professors, and one labor man, which ought to make just about impossible for them to agree on anything.

The Lake City Reporter comments on Brisbane's advocacy on the Homestead Exemption Amendment for Florida by saying that he has been in disfavor on so many subjects it is still thought he is better posted on things likely to happen a million years hence.

Now they report a "tremendous explosion" in the S. S. Morro Castle. Next they may find she struck in iceberg.—Tampa Tribune. The investigators struck an iceberg when they started interrogating Captain Warmk.

We see that someone has been using a chisel on the Titusville Star-Advocate, too. Said it recently: "In attempting to get publicity in a newspaper which should be closed for advertising, some people forget that type-setting, electricity, and presses run into real money."

We should not be too envious of those who inherit great wealth. Little Gloria Vanderbilt is heiress to $4,000,000 and should be very happy, but at present she is involved in litigation, as her mother, grandmother, and aunt all try to gain possession of her. Her grandmother testifies that the child's mother neglected her, taught her only to make cocktails, and generally abused her. One good mother is worth many times $4,000,000 to any child.

Florida should know that Percy Rockefeller, who spent several hundred thousand dollars in Florida oil experiments there, believing that there is plenty of oil underneath the state, told the writer he thought the oil pools came across under the Gulf of Mexico. But they come, he thought, slanting downward and by the time they reach Florida they might be too deep for practical exploitation.—Arthur Brisbane. Isn't it just like people to dig right through the gold in Florida's surface soil in order to find oil which may lie underneath?

The Miami News reports that some efforts are being made in that section to bring out an independent candidate for the Senate and perhaps for Congress on a socialist platform very much resembling that on which Upton Sinclair lost with so much success in California. Their program is said to be based on the slogan of "End Poverty in Florida," and one of their aims is to guarantee every family in Florida an income of $1,000 a year. We fear, however, the plan will not get very far, as the Miami News E.P.W. does not seem to be very popular.

The President Recommends

President Roosevelt's address to the nation last night impressed us as one of the most constructive and significant which he has yet delivered. In it he proposed a number of necessary remedies for dangerous sore spots which have developed in hastily devised New Deal legislation.

Probably the greatest deterrent to recovery during the past summer has been the large number of strikes which have spread from coast to coast. Whatever the cause, there can be no denying that this labor unrest has had a depressing effect upon public morale and to some extent has undermined the confidence which had been so largely restored a year ago. Furthermore, the direct cost of these strikes has been a tremendous burden for the public to bear at this particular time.

President Roosevelt proposes an armistice. He intends to call before him the leaders, both of Labor and of Industry, and to secure from all of them promises that for some months in the future the armaments of industrial warfare will be laid aside. He will exact from both sides of these controversies pledges that all disputes between Capital and Labor will not be submitted to arbitration, but will also be settled by arbitration. This industrial truce is bound to provide a tremendous stimulus to business.

As for the NRA, the President, while recommending the retention of certain admittedly good features of the act, proposes the abolition of those parts which have stood in the way of re-employment and have delayed prosperity. He intimates that price-fixing, which in reality has been price-raising, must go. He seems to recognize now that higher prices are bound to produce less buying, which in turn means less employment. He proposes also to do away with the limitations on production, which have also interfered with re-employment. He would also release from code restrictions the small employers in the small communities where enforcement has already shown itself to be an impossible problem.

The President re-dedicated himself and his Administration to the task of eliminating unemployment. The Public Works program will be continued until private industry and private initiative have removed the necessity of Relief rolls. "I stand or fall," the President said, "by my refusal to accept as a necessary condition of our future a permanent army of unemployed." "I do not want to think that it is the destiny of any American to remain permanently on Relief rolls," he continued.

We regret President Roosevelt did not indicate his monetary policies as fully and as frankly as he did the coming changes in NRA. The greatest threat, to credit expansion, and, hence, to re-employment, in the view of many persons generally sympathetic to the New Deal, is the recent uncertainty with regard to the extent to which inflation is likely to be carried. With many influential politicians openly advocating the printing press method of distributing money, it is small wonder that banks, business houses, and all financial institutions are reluctant to expand credit. Nobody wants to lend money when it might be repaid in a few months with wall paper worth ten cents on the dollar.

We do not believe the President would permit any such situation to arise, but there are many who believe he will not be able to prevent it. The very fact that some important factors in our national economy think there may be inflation and further depreciation of our currency produces almost as bad an effect as if this were actually going to happen. We think it would have been a big boost to Recovery if the President had said positively and finally that there would be no more tinkering with our monetary unit.

However, the President has said that the chief interest of the New Deal is the elimination of unemployment and that is what we all so earnestly desire. The changes which he outlined last night undoubtedly will accomplish much toward this purpose.

For A Free Press

Speaking of Jim Carson's successful defense of the Miami Daily News in a case which was carried to the Supreme Court of the State of Florida, the Melbourne Times recalls that Mr. Carson is always to be found on the side of free speech and a free press, and concludes its compliment of Mr. Carson by suggesting him as a possible candidate for the governorship of Florida in 1936.

"Another victory for free speech and a free press in Florida," the Times declares, "was won Tuesday by James M. Carson, Miami attorney, who defended the manager of the Miami Daily News, charged with violating election laws by publishing a report of a political speech in which charges were made against a candidate within eighteen days of an election."

"This is not the first time Jim Carson has gone to jail to protect a free press. We remember very well the way he fought for The Sanford Herald a few years ago. Newspapermen can depend upon it that as long as his voice can be heard, the rights of free speech and a free press in this state will be upheld. That is the type of leadership Florida needs."

"While there is so much talk going around about potential candidates for governor in 1936, the name of James M. Carson might well be put down as one of those whose chances for winning the nomination look especially bright. He lives in South Florida but would be mighty strong out in West Florida where they know their politics. And this is certain, if Jim Carson becomes governor, he will be governor."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

War News—The Germans are Giving Ground Both in the East and the West. General Von Kluck's Army is said to be in a most Desperate Condition. . . .

LONDON—The Russians are 18 miles from Cracow in pursuit of Dankel's Army. There is terrific fighting at Rye but the battle is still undecided. The position of General Von Kluck's army is desperate.

Our regular equinoctial storm that has been brewing for some time arrived on schedule on Tuesday, or rather early Wednesday morning. For some time it seemed that the bottom had fallen out and all the water in the world was coming down, but the rain did not last long which probably saved the farmers in this section much loss from water.

Mr. R. H. Multhead has built two more tenant houses on his property making seven altogether and 10 houses are being built in Midway, the colored settlement. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Ellsworth, Jr. are remodeling their house into a school.

Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Federal Emergency Relief officials plan to do a little "cracking down" of their own on policies and procedure during the coming winter months.

Some of the states are not putting up as much cash as FEERA thinks they should.

When federal aid for the destitute first was suggested predictions were made freely this would happen. The situation has become increasingly more difficult.

The last figures made public by Relief Administrator Hopkins revealed that the federal government is carrying about two-thirds of the whole burden. From January, 1933, through June, 1934, the cost of unemployment relief to the taxpayers was $1,340,000,000.

Of this amount Uncle Sam provided 62.8 percent, the states 16 percent and the smaller political subdivisions 21.2 percent.

Hopkins is determined to do something about it. "I am convinced," he says, "that many states are not putting up all the money they should. We are going to insist that they do. This goes for cities and counties as well."

Just what the dynamic Relief administrator can do about it is not entirely clear. He can withhold federal funds until a state, county or city puts up its proportionate share and that is evidently what he has in mind.

It is not expected here, however, that the Administration will announce its Relief program for the coming winter until January when President Roosevelt transmits his annual message to Congress and his budget message.

The United States conference of mayors has submitted to the White House a long-term Relief program for the jobless in cities. It is based on the theory that the country faces a permanent unemployment crisis regardless of business improvement.

That part of the Relief program involving the setting up of projects where the unemployed can make goods which they need, is still being expanded.

The mattress making program, however, has been curtailed. Instead of the 2,000,000 originally planned only half that number will be manufactured. Surplus materials already on hand will be used for other projects.

10 Securities Turned Down By Control Board

until a final decision is made after the hearing, trading in this security will be prohibited on any of the 24 registered exchanges.

Twelve exchanges have been granted a 60 day exemption from registration pending further studies.

One, the New York Mining Exchange of New Jersey, has been exempted until the conclusion of a hearing begun Saturday on its qualifications. The hearing will be resumed Thursday.

The commission has decided to put the 1934 Stock Exchange Control Act into effect gradually in order that the business world may accommodate its course of dealing to the requirements of law with a minimum of friction and inconvenience.

Accordingly it has postponed until midnight, Oct. 14, the effective date of the 25 to 45 percent marginal requirements fixed by the Federal Reserve Board, the prohibition against trading in any security whether registered or not, except those to which the commission has refused registration, and the restrictions on borrowing by brokers and dealers.

Among the provisions which will become operative today are those penalizing manipulation of security prices through pools and other similar methods, restricting the activities of specialists, penalizing short selling by officers or directors of the issuing company or any owners or more than 10 percent of any security, and granting purchasers relying on statements filed with the commission civil remedies against those responsible for any disinformation contained therein.

NRA LOSES FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—NRA yesterday lost its first attempt to keep a company charged with code violations from going over its head to the federal trade commission. The commission denied the Blue Eagle agency's motion for dismissal of an appeal by Edward J. Ramsey and others, shoe manufacturers, and announced it would hold hearings soon upon the complaint.

Unique Crime Film To Play At Milane

Proving once again that you "can't get away with it," Paramount's "Crime Without Passion," the Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur picture, featuring Claude Rains, Margo and Whitney Bourne, coming Tuesday to the Milane Theatre, again explains the fallacy of the perfect crime and points out that even the cleverest criminal must slip up in his plans somewhere and thus land in the clutches of the law.

Written and directed by Hecht and MacArthur, "Crime Without Passion" is the story of the cleverest criminal lawyer in New York who forgets his role as defender of criminals to become a murderer himself, and who bought his crime.

HIGH COURT TO DECIDE ON NEW DEAL

following score sheet for actions in lower federal courts:
Cases instituted under the NRA and AAA—252.
Cases in which trial courts have acted—59.
Won by government (favorable court action)—76.
Lost by government (unfavorable court action)—23.
Percentage—768.
The relative success scored by government counsel should be discounted somewhat, the Law Week will say, "since in 12 of the cases counted as resulting in court action favorable to the government decrees were entered by consent; in some of the criminal cases the defendants plead guilty; and the favorable action taken in a few other cases was the entry of a temporary injunction pending final hearing."
"Considering only decisions in which federal courts have announced opinions on the constitutionality of the National Recovery and Agricultural Adjustment Acts, the government's score is not so high. Its percentage in such cases has been only about 50 percent."
On the "New Deal" cases pending before the supreme court, on Oct. 1 yesterday, three were from the East Texas oil fields. In general they attacked the authority of the federal government under the NRA to control oil production. Two others from New York assail the authority of Congress to prohibit gold hoarding and suspend gold payments.
Some doubt now exists as to the status of the oil cases. The justice department announced yesterday that producers of oil in Texas who violated the state quota would not be prosecuted by the federal government for such violations committed prior to last Tuesday. At the oil administration it was indicated that one of the cases thus might be dropped but that the others would remain before the court.

Diamond Pin Given W. F. Shelly For 50 Years Of Services

He described Mr. Shelly as a "Man who has more friends among the officials of our railroad than any other man I know," and "one who has the respect and good-will of hundreds of his fellow-workers."
"We are presenting this pin to him today," he said, "on the eve of his departure for the West where he will seek to recover his health. Knowing Bill as we do, we are confident that his courage and will power will bring him back to us safely and that he'll be taking his place on the regular run as of old."
Turning to Mr. Shelly, Mr. Grant, in presenting him the pin, said, "Bill, we of the Coast Line know you as an honorable, straight, and honest man who is loved by all of his associates. You are receiving an emblem that few persons ever receive, and in presenting it to you I do so with the wish that you will have long life in which to wear it. We all hope and pray for your safe and early return from the West."
After Superintendent D. L. Dumas of the Jacksonville District had affixed the pin to his coat, Mr. Shelly turned to the group, and summed up his experiences in a brief statement which was made difficult of presentation because of his emotion.
"I didn't know," he said, "that when I began work over 50 years ago (1867) I'd ever stay as long in one place as I did here. It reminds me of a conversation I once had when as a young man I had been running on the Denver and the Grande for nine years. "Nine years," I said, "Why man I wouldn't work on any railroad for nine years." And here I am today, "in service for over 50 years."
Launching into an outline of the early days of railroading in Florida, Mr. Shelly told of engines with oil lamps, no telegraph train orders to follow, and engineers who left their home station with a timetable in their hands, their north bound trains having the right of way over southbound trains, with five minute clearance at each stopping point.
"A train order in those days," Mr. Shelly said, "was far different from that of today. For instance, suppose we wanted to send an extra freight into Jacksonville from here. With no telegraph system of protection, and with north and south bound trains having only five minutes clearance, your extra freight engines would be handed an order reading about like this, "Engine 459, Sanford to Jacksonville, running wild."
"I've seen lots of trials and tribulations," Mr. Shelly stated, "and I've worked under dozens of superintendents and other officials during these 50 years, and my associations have always been pleasant. I guess I've had more good luck, though, than hard luck to stay here this long."
Mr. Dumas joined Mr. Grant in congratulating Mr. Shelly. "It's a distinct pleasure to do honor to my good old friend Bill Shelly here today. He has just been awarded an emblem that is very rare, very rare indeed. There's no doubt at all that he has had Divine Providence to thank for being here to accept this emblem, but I would like to emphasize something that has been Bill's own responsibility during all these years."
"Bill Shelly's page in my record book," Mr. Dumas stated, "is a page white and fair. There's not even a caution or reprimand entered against him in all those years. About the only thing I've ever heard against him was a story by old Conductor Holland who said 'Bill could run the fastest, slow the loudest and come in the latest of any man on the road. Bill, on behalf of every man and woman on the system, I wish you a long life, much happiness, and a great degree of prosperity. God bless you."
A final speaker was H. R. Stevens, master mechanic. "I've known Bill for 31 years," he said, "and we've never had a bad word. He's always done his duty, and done it well. He's a first class engineer, and I'm proud to see him here to receive this emblem. I wish him well and an early return from his search for health."
As read by Mr. Grant during his presentation of the emblem, Mr. Shelly's record as a railroad man is as follows:
"Mr. Shelly was born at Palatka on Feb. 24, 1867. He entered the service of the Florida Southern at Palatka on Oct. 1, 1881, starting out as a water boy when the building of the shops was started at that point.
"In about a month, he was placed in the Florida Southern shop at Palatka as machinist apprentice, and he completed his apprenticeship in 1888. He then was transferred to the Jacksonville, Tampa, and Key West road on Sept. 21, 1884 as machinist and switch engineer. He was promoted to machine foreman on this same road in March, 1886.
"He was promoted to machine engineer on the J. T. & K. W. on Sept. 5, 1890. His first trip was made on a light engine from Palatka to Jacksonville, to bring back the pay car. His next trip was between Palatka towards Sanford handling rail for laying track for the J. T. & K. W. which is now the A. C. L.
"At this time all engineers had regularly assigned engines, and Mr. Shelly was given Engine No. 2, a new engine from the Baldwin Locomotive Works.
"He continued in machine service until some time in the early part of 1897, when he came to Sanford bringing Engine No. 2 with him. He then handled trains carrying rail for laying the track from Sanford to Tavares.
"Then he returned to the main line between Jacksonville and Sanford in freight service. He remained in that service for about a year.
"He went into passenger service by seniority, and remained in this service until the road was purchased by the Plant System, and he remained as passenger train engineer during the time the Plant System owned the property. He had the same assignment when the System was purchased by the Atlantic Coast Line.
"In the winter of 1906, he was made road foreman of engines on the Third Division, with headquarters at Jacksonville. In the winter of 1907 he went back to running passenger engines between Sanford and Jacksonville, but he again was promoted to road foreman of engines on Dec. 9, 1925. This position was abolished, however, on June 15, 1932, and Mr. Shelly has served since as an engineer."
Mr. Shelly has resided in Sanford intermittently for the past 50 years, but he has made Sanford his home for nearly 25 years continuously. He is married, and has three children—Tom Shelly of Orlando, Frank Shelly of New York City, and Mrs. Louis Grasshoff of Cleveland and Chicago.
Mr. Shelly has been for 43 years a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and he is an honorary life member of that organization. He also is a member of Sanford Elks Lodge No. 1241. He is a devout member of All Souls Catholic church, and in his earlier days he was active in church work.
Among those who witnessed the presentation were: Miss Myrtle Stewart, Mrs. E. M. Carroll, Mrs. J. R. Lyle, Miss Mabel Bowler, Mrs. Carney, T. L. Dumas, Mayor W. A. Leffler, H. M. Papworth, Karl Lehmann, J. A. Shepherd, W. M. Jones, C. E. Adams, T. M. Hays, George Schack, W. R. Edinger, A. F. Kemp, E. M. Carroll, R. E. Cole, J. O. Adams, J. A. Peckham, O. G. Ball, C. W. F. Shelly For 50 Years Of Services

He described Mr. Shelly as a "Man who has more friends among the officials of our railroad than any other man I know," and "one who has the respect and good-will of hundreds of his fellow-workers."
"We are presenting this pin to him today," he said, "on the eve of his departure for the West where he will seek to recover his health. Knowing Bill as we do, we are confident that his courage and will power will bring him back to us safely and that he'll be taking his place on the regular run as of old."
Turning to Mr. Shelly, Mr. Grant, in presenting him the pin, said, "Bill, we of the Coast Line know you as an honorable, straight, and honest man who is loved by all of his associates. You are receiving an emblem that few persons ever receive, and in presenting it to you I do so with the wish that you will have long life in which to wear it. We all hope and pray for your safe and early return from the West."
After Superintendent D. L. Dumas of the Jacksonville District had affixed the pin to his coat, Mr. Shelly turned to the group, and summed up his experiences in a brief statement which was made difficult of presentation because of his emotion.
"I didn't know," he said, "that when I began work over 50 years ago (1867) I'd ever stay as long in one place as I did here. It reminds me of a conversation I once had when as a young man I had been running on the Denver and the Grande for nine years. "Nine years," I said, "Why man I wouldn't work on any railroad for nine years." And here I am today, "in service for over 50 years."

JUNK MEN WILL HAVE IMMENSE JOB VERY SOON

Chicago Fair Must Be Demantled Within Next Few Months

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Another day and the century's biggest entertainment venture and the $27,000,000 World's Fair becomes "just" a job for the second-hand man.

It's still doing business as a pleasure ground but wreckers are cutting it a cold and calculating eye. The fair is 20,000 tons of light structural steel in them, plus many items too numerous to mention.

Steel will be the big salvage material, so that how much the fair is worth, at the close on Oct. 31, will depend upon the steel market. The fair management estimates that they own 100,000 tons, exclusive of the giant halls, which will give them about 11,500 tons to sell.

Plans are still highly uncertain; nothing official has been said about what parts of the exposition are to remain as a souvenir or what. But the management will be ready to hang price tags on all its equipment.

Many exhibitors will be out in two weeks after the close," said Col. J. Franklin Hill, who considers his job as chief of demolition no simpler than his work of closing out the American engineering corps in France, after the war.

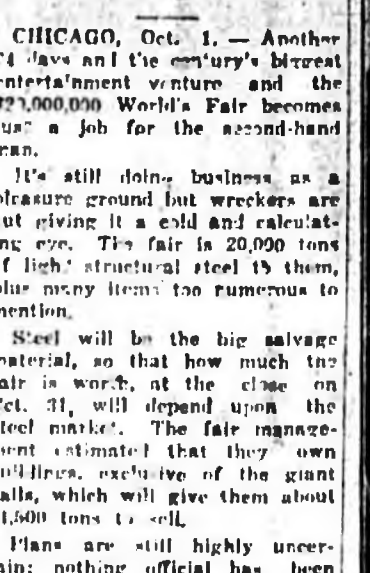

"Most of the rest will be packed up and on the way by November but some won't be able to move that soon, so that it is possible some of the buildings can be touched before February."

None of the big private exhibitors has announced their plans, although some may move to the San Diego exposition which opens next year. In spite of the starting appearance, most of the big private buildings are not pure architectural monuments. The north wing of the 90-foot foot building, for example, is built to factory specifications, and the steel can be used for a part.

Whatever of the fair is left after closing day, the exposition will be a lively ghost. It has until April, 1935, to dismantle its buildings, dispose of all its equipment, and get out.

GERMAN DOCTOR SAYS FISCH DIED WITHOUT MONEY

Specialist Rallies To Support Of Bruno Hauptmann's Friend

LEIPZIG, Germany, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The doctor who treated Isadora Fisch in his last illness yesterday said emphatically that he died in abject poverty.

(Bruno Richard Hauptmann, indicted in New York for extortion following discovery of part of the Lindbergh kidnaping ransom in his garage, said Fisch, his dead friend, gave him the money.)

Rallying to support the assertions of Fisch's family that neither he nor they had money, Dr. R. Chamitzer, white-haired stomach specialist, showed the still unpaid bills for Fisch's treatment to evidence his belief in their poverty. "Look here," he said, "I haven't presented them even today because I am convinced the family has no money."

"They are really poor people," the physician asserted, as he described in detail the last stages of Fisch's illness—an illness that took him back from America, where he knew Hauptmann, to his native Germany to die.

"Isadora first came to me Dec. 20, 1933," he said, "Two days later I X-rayed him and discovered holes in both his lungs. I gave him a vaccine injection.

"He was then staying with his father, Solomon Fisch, in whose apartment living conditions were impossible for any ailing person. Isadora didn't even have a bed. He was lying on a sofa when, as his condition grew worse, I visited him at his home.

"Honestly, if a man had ample means he wouldn't 'vegetate' like that."

Dr. Chamitzer emphasized that he tried in vain to persuade Fisch to go to a hospital.

"I finally was forced to take him there where some time later he was hurriedly called to his bed, side only to find my patient suffering from a hemorrhage of the lung."

Fisch was most anxious to get well so that he might go back to the United States, the physician said.

"He begged me like a child to cure him as he might return as soon as possible," he said.

The doctor was ready with proof as to the cause of Fisch's death.

Psychiatrists Test Mentality Of Bruno Hauptmann

New Jersey, hoping to convict Hauptmann of the kidnaping and murder of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., moved more slowly than New York, but with a distinct possibility in its extradition plans.

One high official said no proceedings would be started this week, and another pointed out that acquittal on the extortion count in New York might weaken his prosecution on more serious charges making it advisable for New Jersey to try Hauptmann first.

Farmers' Income In August $572,000,000 Economists Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Cash income of farmers during the month of August was reported Thursday by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to have totaled $572,000,000.

Of this $499,000,000 came from the sale of farm products, $47,000,000 from AAA rental and benefit payments, and $20,000,000 from emergency purchases of cattle by the government in drought areas.

The total income was an increase of $78,000,000 over July and $159,000,000 over August, 1933.

Income from all sources during the first eight months of this year totaled $3,842,000,000, or $717,000,000 more than in the corresponding period of last year.

Austria Refuses To Release Puderjay

VIENNA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Austria with "regrets" declined today a demand of the United States for extradition of Captain Ivan Puderjay, husband of Agnes Tufterson, Detroit, and New York woman who has been missing since January.

Under the extradition treaty between the two governments, it was pointed out, perjury does not constitute an extraditable offense.

Puderjay, a Yugoslavian, therefore, will be free, and the fate of Miss Tufterson will remain as much a mystery as ever.

Order your fall suit now. Have it shipped at your convenience. See Mr. Dillard today, Tuesday or Wednesday at B. L. Perkins.—Adv.

Regular communication of San-Lodge No. 62, F. & A. M., will be held at the Masonic Temple tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Work will be done in the Fellowship hall. Members are reminded that meetings in the future will be held at 7:30 o'clock instead of 8:00 o'clock. Refreshments will be served tomorrow night.

Miss Rebecca Stevens, teacher of the Vocational School in the Hill Harborside Co. building on First Street, announced this morning that registrations for classes in the school were reported today, and that classes will begin tomorrow. Boys and girls who wish to attend this school are invited to register at the school rooms in the next few days.

Tennis players of the city are expected to visit the Chamber of Commerce building at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of assisting in the re-organization of the Sanford Tennis Club. Pending a large attendance tonight, trade body officials have stated that they will be unable to continue their offer of assisting with such organization.

Today's tale from a wayside filling station: Eight natives of Boston, Mass., drove into the station late Saturday night, enroute back to their homes after having toured the nation. Traveling in two big Packard automobiles the party had spent exactly $612.46, including the sum paid for gasoline in Sanford, for gasoline since they left Boston. Prices ranged from eight to 24 cents per gallon, one of the men said. Spokesman for the party remarked that he would not spend such an amount next winter, for the entire group had planned to come direct to Florida. "We think Florida is the very best of all of the 48 we now have visited," the spokesman said. Seminole County was one of the few counties which they did not have an opportunity of viewing in daylight, he added, but he concluded, "We're coming back to look around and see what you're got."

"Help Keep Sanford Clean," is the appeal which is painted in yellow letters on the green sides of new and modern style trash cans which were placed on downtown streets this morning. Two cans now are available, with five more to be placed next week. The cans were made by L. B. Hodgins, local tinner, at the request of the City Commission. They are exact duplicates of cans which could have been purchased from out-of-town firms.

Miami Said Ready To Adopt Japan's Traffic Regulations

MIAMI, Oct. 1.—Miami heads are not imitative by nature, but after reading in an Arizona magazine a series of rules promulgated in Japan for guidance of English speaking motorists there, they have been sorely tempted to incorporate the regulations in the Miami traffic code.

The rules, as reprinted by the Arizona Highways magazine, read in part:

"At the rise of the hand of the honorable policeman stop with rapidity and grace. Do not pass him or otherwise disrespect him. When a passenger of the foot have in sight touch the horn trumpet to him melodiously at first. If he still obstructs your passage, tootle him with large gonor, and express by word of mouth a warning, 'Hi, hi!'

Beware of the wandering cow that he shall not take fright as you pass him. Do not explode the gift of a waste box at him. Go smoothly by. Give space to the five feet that makes play-sport by the roadway. Avoid entanglement of the dog with your wheel spokes. Go smoothly on the grease mud, as there lurks the skiddy demon. Press the brake smoothly as you roll around the corners and save collapse and tie-up. Thank you honorably."

ROOSEVELT'S PEACE PLANS BRING DEBATE

U. S. Press As Wholes Pleased Over Views Of President, But Capital, Labor Fuss

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt's request for a period of industrial peace got a favorable but non-committal response from labor last night and from capital a counter-proposal that he institute such a truce by proclamation.

President Roosevelt's request for a period of industrial peace got a favorable but non-committal response from labor last night and from capital a counter-proposal that he institute such a truce by proclamation.

The American Manufacturers' Association urged the latter course, with a proviso that during the armistice period present employment conditions continue unchanged. It challenged the American Federation of Labor to join in backing such action.

Police Seek Associate Of Bruno Hauptmann

The Associated Press reports today that police in New York today began a search for unidentified associates of Bruno Hauptmann, the man charged with the slaying of the Lindbergh baby.

Police Attorney Samuel Foley is to convene a conference of Governor Bruce and Attorney General David Whitely of Pennsylvania regarding the case of Hauptmann and the question of his extradition.

Washington, D. C., Star says that two witnesses have testified today that Hauptmann's cellmate told him the "John" of the ransom money and ransom.

INSULL COMES TO TRIAL AT LAST

Samuel Insull (above) fled half way around the world in trying to dodge trial for the collapse of his utilities empire in the Midwest—but the trail finally led to the federal court building in Chicago. Arrested in Greece last October, he was returned to this country and docketed for trial, starting today. Federal authorities accuse him of having engineered what they term a $163,000,000 swindle in the failure of his many companies. (Associated Press Photo)

RUMORS PERSIST THAT SHOLTZ IS TO BE PROMOTED

Governor Says He Will Serve 4-Year-Term And Then Step Out

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—A report apparently of untraceable origin has gained circulation in Washington that Dave Sholtz, Florida's young and smiling governor, was in line for an important federal appointment.

The governor, passing through the capital recently, firmly denied to friends any knowledge of an impending offer of a post here. Notwithstanding, the report persisted.

Most frequently connected with Sholtz was the job of assistant secretary of the navy, now held by Henry L. Roosevelt, cousin of the President and once by the President himself.

There have been no recent indications, however, of a possibility that Henry Roosevelt may retire or that another assistant secretary's post will be created. Friends of the governor also expressed doubt he would leave his executive position in Florida, which has two years to run, for any job in Washington.

Sholtz comes to the capital often, and each time calls upon just about every member of the cabinet, and often the President. The debutant governor, with the air of a natural salesman, has a right-of-way into almost any office here.

Whether his free and easy mixing in Washington had anything to do with the appointment report, no one seemed to know. In fact no one here apparently knew (Continued on Page Three)

Johnson's 'Shadow' To Be In Hall Of Fame

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—"Robbie," faithful shadow of hot lines, General Hugh S. Johnson, has followed him into a permanent place in Sculptor Reuben Nakian's hall of fame.

Nakian, self-appointed immortalizer of the New Deal, who is making a series of 12 busts of Roosevelt aides to range in a circle around a larger figure of the President, reported yesterday that Miss Frances Robinson had been selected because:

"She belongs in the New Deal, whether she's in or out."

FURNITURE DEALER DIES

VALDOSTA, Ga., Oct. 2.—James H. Touchton, 41, prominent furniture dealer, died yesterday of a heart attack. He had been injured two months ago in an automobile accident. Touchton was widely known in Woodstock of the World circles over the state. He is survived by several children.

HUGH JOHNSON SHEDS TEARS IN FAREWELL

2000 Give Former NRA Head 10 Minute Ovation After He Delivers His 'Swan-Song'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Tears streaming from eyes that once blazed defiance at the mightiest captains of American industry, General Hugh S. Johnson yesterday said goodbye to the NRA.

Lately, he said, "there seemed to have been a regular 'last call for dead cats.'"

Johnson appeared a lonely figure as he strode on the barren stage at the commerce department auditorium. As he spoke, members of the new Recovery board who will take over the duties the blustering general has abandoned, were moving into the Administrative suite.

He will hold their first meeting today under the direction of S. Clay Williams, chairman. At the same time, Miss Frances Robinson, Johnson's 56,000 a-year executive assistant, resigned. Co-workers were massed in front of the auditorium stage when Johnson, dressed in a dark blue suit, appeared. There was a burst of applause. He waved for silence. In the crowd were division administrators and stenographers; office boys and porters.

"This occasion is at once one of the saddest and one of the happiest moments of my life," the general began. He praised the workers for a "job well done" and expressed regret that this was the last time all would meet together.

Urging them to be loyal to the new NRA board whose members he praised highly, Johnson said he began urging President Roosevelt last May to accept his resignation.

"I predicted this end in the beginning," he explained. "It was to be red fire... dead cats... oblivion!"

Official Manifesto Urges Japan To Get Ready For Russia

TOKYO, Oct. 2.—(AP)—An official pamphlet which urged Japan to make ready for possible war with Russia spread uneasiness among the nation's economic leaders today.

This was reflected in the stock exchange. Leading shares declined on an average of two yen which is about 60 cents.

Newspapers said members of the Cabinet as well as civilians were taken back by the Army's surprising manifesto which proposed drastic changes in the national economic life, and in the non-military government departments.

It asserted that the United States had three airplanes to Japan's one, and that America wanted a navy larger than this country's in order to support its foreign policies toward the Orient. Political writers predicted the statement would be a grave political issue at the impending special session of the Diet.

Insull Faces Judge
As His Trial Opens
CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Samuel Insull, Sr., head until 1932 of a $4,000,000,000 public utility system, went on trial in United States District Court here today for mail frauds which it was charged cost investors $143,000,000.

Insull, in a gray sack suit, was almost the last of 16 defendants to arrive in the courtroom. "I have nothing whatever to say," the principal defendant declared.

Richberg Is 'Top Man' In Revamped NRA Unit

In President Roosevelt's reorganization of the NRA, Donald R. Richberg (center) emerged as the new "top man" in the industrial recovery drive. He heads a new industrial emergency committee of which will outline policies for the revamped NRA. Members of the NRA's new administrative agency to be known as the National Industry Recovery board, include Leon C. Marshall (upper left), former John Hopkins law professor; Clay Williams, (lower left) North Carolina tobacco manufacturer; A. D. Whiteside, (upper right), publisher of financial data; Sidney Hillman, (lower right), president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union.

TAX ASSESSMENT ROLL FOR STATE, COUNTY OKEYED

$100,000 Difference Is Indicated Over Figures For 1933-34

Approval of the state and county 1934-35 assessment of an approximate total of $7,200,000 was a highlight of yesterday afternoon's session of the Board of County Commissioners, John Meisch, Sr., presiding.

The assessment it was indicated in data supplied by S. F. Doudney, Tax Assessor, Alex Vaughn's office, will be about $100,000 less than it was last year. The actual figures will be released late this week, Mr. Doudney stated.

He also pointed out that with millage reductions having been ordered in every district except Longwood district, the total tax levied on all properties will be around $505,000 instead of the $520,851.99 of last year.

The Commissioners passed a resolution in which they set forth that disposition as to be made of anticipated gasoline tax monies, and they passed another resolution transferring funds from one account to another.

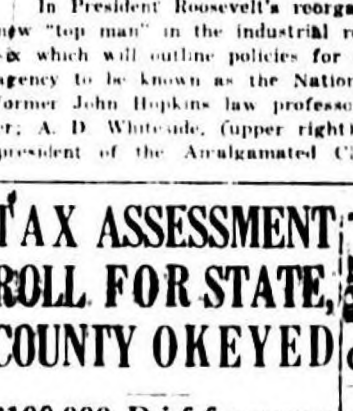

The E. I. and D. I. Roll for 1932 as well as the annual report for 1932 was presented and approved. The Commissioners voted to increase the monthly appropriation for the Seminole County Welfare Board from $125 to $200.

SIGN OF TIMES

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 2.—Sign of the times: a custom that has been in force since Princeton University was founded 183 years ago—the ringing of the bell atop Nassau hall at 7 A. M. today—has been abolished. Students have complained that the bell awakens them too early, and after the clanging will be heard at 8:30.

Suddenness Of Affair Matched By Speed In Which Roads Are Lined With Police

Nation-wide wave of bank robberies struck—near home today when three un- masked men entered the State Bank of Apopka at about 12:30 o'clock this af- ternoon, forced an official of the bank to open a vault, scooped up all cur- rency in sight, and escaped after kidnaping the bank's assistant cashier and was forced to ride the running board of the bandit's car until he was released on the outskirts of the city.

Amount of the loss was undetermined early this afternoon. Frank Burgess, assistant cashier of the bank, was acting as teller when the three men entered the bank with drawn guns. They forced Burgess and Miss Grace van Sicken, the bank's book-keeper to lie on the floor while they completed the robbery.

The men made no attempt to conceal their features, and they left fingerprints.

Suddenness of the attack which came during the noon hour was matched by the speed in which police and sheriff's deputies went into action immediately after word reached Apopka police of the robbery.

Sanford police were among the first notified, as was Sheriff J. B. McClelland's office, and all available police and deputies set out for Apopka. Report had it that the escaped trio are last seen heading (Continued on Page Seven)

County Term Of County Court Opens Before J. G. Sharon

Jurors and court attaches employed by the County Court House this morning as the October term of County Court got underway before Judge James G. Sharon.
