WASHINGTON, May 4-(AP)-President Truman said today he doesn't feel the cold war is close to turning into a shooting war with Russia. In fact, he said, he thinks the international situation is much better now than it was in

Mr. Truman voiced his optimism for world peace at a news conferance. He spoke out affer a reporter told him Senator Tydings (D-Md) had said this country is close to a shooting war with Russia.

The President said he thinks Tydings was unduly alarmed if he said that. He said he thinks the situation is improving. He said he may be an optimist in saying that. and added that one has to be an optimist to be President of the United States.

Mr. Truman said that he disagrees with former President Hoover on Hoover's proposal to reorganize the United Nations without Russia. But, he said, he feels Hoover is right in suggesting that moral forces he strengthened for world peace.

The President said the nation's defense hudget will be smaller for the 1951-52 flacal year (beginning July 1, 1951) and he is not alarmed in any sense of the word. This was in answer to a question

Democracy In Japan

"If we moved out of Japan tomorrow, and any group tried to restore the old conditions, they would be hanged to the lamp-posts," General MacArthur told J. P. McEvoy in an exclusive interview reported in the Reader's Digest.

Millions of farmers who for the first time own their own farms, will fight for their lands as our American farmers would fight. MacArthur said. Seven million laborers nessee Democrat, proposed this track which has a license from last January. The Senate didn't the state to do business and take achieved. The old imperialist crowd will be extinct in ten get around to approving the idea bets. These are called pari-mutuel years, and its works are already thoroughly discredited in until yesterday.

The new Japanese constitution is the most democratic will dig into the doings in varous in the world, MacArthur stated. So are Japanese laws. Denying that the Japanese "went berserk after they got! liberty and now have 2,000 political parties," the General asserted that all the parties "shake down to three"-the committee trying to figure out conservatives (in the majority), the labor party and the information number to combless fringe.

Communists in Japan number less than a million, plione, 'They consist," MacArthur said, "of the underworld, a certain percentage of liberals educated beyond their under number of people who might have standing, some North Koreans, and the usual groups who semething to say on this, includexploit any situation they think will bring them wealth and these hearings have not really power." The General believes that the Japanese will never been a crime investigation. They accept Communism. It spells Russia to them, and they hate and fear Russia above all else.

The Japanese have faithfully observed their surrender out is this: commitm nts-disarmed, demobilized and established a peaceful democratic regime. A peace treaty with Japan is motsters running a nationwide long overdue, MacArthur insists. He is convinced that Japan crime syndicate? should not rearm. # The Neutral Corner

The American people seem to find a strange fascination in the superlative. The typical American likes to read about people who make the most money, get married the most times, fly faster or further, or have the most radical ideas. Evidence of this may be found in Superman or Amber.

Imes, fly faster or further, or have the most radical ideas. Evidence of this may be found in Superman or Amber.

In no type of person is this trait more conspicuous than in the nihusiastic follower of sports. When sports fans talk shop, the conversation is packed with superlatives—the longest hit, the hardest punch, the bloodlest fight, the big-gest crowd, the fastest horse race, the best team, the best purch. gest crowd, the fastest horse race, the best team, the best urday.

Although only four games reabour July 10—sports writers included. All the onlookers make some sort of selection and compare their choices with the pick of the so-called authorities—Grantland Rice, A. P., U. P., Paramount News and so ad infinitum Every diamond fan from bathoy to executive reserves the right to take issue with those experts and espouse the cause of his own particular favorite.

An, ther popular indoor sport is picking the all-time greats of sport. When Pop Warner was coaching the Carlisle icdians, he called Jim Thorpe the best back of all time. Several years later while Pop was directing the foot.

time. Several years later while Pop was directing the football fortunes of Stanford, he came up with a big, powerful back na ned Ernie Nevers. Pop was reckless enough to nominate Evers to succeed Thorpe, calling Ernie, "The best back I have ever seen." This statement covered a lot of ground because Pop had then been around the football wars for many years. The reaction the gallant warrior had bonne ed off his ears was immediate and well-nigh violent, with some fats, and non-too few sports writers going as far as to accuse Pop of senility,

But petting back to baseball: Every died-in-the-wool fan has als own lineup for an ad-time, all-star team. Oldsters in the game, such as Connie Mack or Al Schacht, are periodically asked to compare the dashing of today with the stars of yesteryear; to compare Babe Ruth with Ted Williams, DiMaggio with Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson with Bob Feller, Honus Wagner with Marty Marion.

What we would like to point out is the fact that the worth of all these ratings and selections and comparisons and controversies is as intangible as the value of comparative baseadl box scores. They amount to little more than idle speculation, and are about as useful as a fractured arm

A practical comparison between Johnson and Feller, for example, would necessitate their pitching to the same batters under the same conditions when each pitcher was in top shape.

We co not, however, advorate the suppression of All-American teams, the prohibition of controversies as to relative abilities, or any curtailment of the use of the superlative in sports discussion. If the Hot Stovi league of Sllp-pery Rock wants to call Bill Dickey the best catcher ever to pull on a mitt, who are we to complain. If fact, we like to (when the clipper-wielder isn't looking) slip in a few selections of our own from time to time. And apsaking of selections, said the man as he cleared the decime for action, here are a few from the Neutral Corner

Among the six officially accepted yesterday, were two leading choices, Hill Guetz's California Chillenger, Your Host, and the Virginia-bred Hill Prince, award by Chris Chensey.

Also named yesterday were William Veeneman's Black George Tom Gray's Oil Capitol, Hail Prince and Abercrombile and Smith's strands of the National Football league. We have seen some fine passers in both college and probabl, including the Chemsey.

Sid Luckman, Frank Fishock, Charlie C Rourke and Whizzer White, but Sammy, Baugh far surpassed them all. Slingin' Sam threw the pigskin like a maseball, and it was a strike everytime. strike everytime.

Our candidate for all-around baseball player of our e. perience is the former Detroit second baseman Charie Gebring r. He could hit with the best, and he made the hard ones look easy. What more could you ask?

We refuse to venture an opinion as to the best pitcher we have seen, but the best pitched game was a shut-out of the New York Yankees turned in by Pete Appleton of the Washington Senators in 1987.

"What," you acream, "The guy's nuts. Those selections are completely haywire." They're unorthodox."

Perhaps you're right. Anyhow, looking at them in the light of the preceding paragraphs, you'll see that one man's selections don't mean too very much. Neither do the selections by the group of by "outstanding" sports figures. When you pick your favorites stick by "em and trumper their virtues loudly. The fun is in the picking—nos n the being right.

Our choices are made simply because we believe those athletes deserve the credit. And another final thing about the "picke": We tout no team, player, horse, etc. that we haven't seen in action. Admittedly, this will limit us somewhat, but our readers will get the benefit of an honest appraisal, free from the influence of publicity agents, handouts, and or popular opinion.
