

Resignation Forced, Parks And Rec Chief Says

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

Another of three top Seminole County officials who resigned their positions Wednesday said he was forced to resign.

Former County Parks and Recreation Manager Leonard Carswell said he feels he resigned the job he held since November 1982 "under pressure."

Carswell said he was "not given a reason for the act" when he was "asked to resign" by County Administrator Ken Hooper.

"I had no idea anything like this was coming," he said.

Carswell, former Deputy County Administrator Richard George and former Director of Public Services John Percy resigned their positions with the county for reported differences of opinion between them and Hooper.

Hooper accepted the resignations Thursday morning after being verbally told by the three late Wednesday and early Thursday that they intended to resign.

Although both Percy and Carswell have indicated that if they did not resign, they felt they would have been fired, Hooper again today declined to comment on details of the discussions he said he had with the three Wednesday, before they tendered their resignations.

Carswell said he was "surprised" when he was asked to resign and that there had been no specific mention of his being fired.

He also said he had no idea why he was asked to resign by Hooper. "I did nothing wrong to deserve this," Carswell said.

Percy said that in discussions with the three men over the past several weeks, Hooper had indicated that he was displeased with certain aspects of their work. Percy said when Hooper asked him to resign Hooper said it was because he (Percy) was not handling his division heads correctly.

Carswell said he had not had any discussions with Hooper about "the performance of my job"

Zoo Proposes Tri-County Vote To Tax For Move

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

In a move of one-upmanship, directors of the Central Florida Zoo borrowed their detractors' idea of supporting a zoo with property taxes and announced plans to seek a three-county property tax referendum to support a "state of the art" zoo in Orange County.

Sanford zoo supporters are seeking a referendum for a Seminole County property tax to finance a zoo at Central Florida Zoo site off Lake Monroe. The zoo board has voted to move the facility to Turkey Lake Park in Orange County.

Space limitations and dampness which jeopardizes the health of hoofed animals were cited by zoo officials as reasons for wanting to move the facility. A Seminole County group, however, wants the zoo to stay in Sanford, Or. if it moves, to replace it with another zoo supported by a property tax in Seminole County.

"I am very complimented that they thought we had a very good idea," said A.B. "Tommy" Peterson, one of the Sanford zoo supporters.

"I don't think the county commissioners will do both," he said. "If I were the county commission, I would stick with a local group and not spend any money in Orange County. I'm not really concerned with what

Seminole To Consider Site For YMCA

The proposed construction of a YMCA gymnasium and office building in Seminole County could become a reality if the county commission approves a site on Longwood Lake Mary Road, between Highway 427 and Lake Mary Boulevard, for the facility.

Tuesday commissioners will consider a request by Canin Associates to amend the Greenwood Lakes Planned Unit Development master plan to accommodate the facility. It would change 7.7 acres from open space to recreation designation.

The parcel is located in the southeast corner of the development.

The modification of the PUD plan, which was originally approved in 1972, was recommended for approval by the County Planning and Zoning Commission in November, according to County Director of Land Management Herb Hardin.

The $500,000 YMCA facility planned for Seminole County will include a 25-yard outdoor pool, a multi-purpose room, office and locker room space, said Jerry Haralson, general director of the Central Florida YMCA.

Court Rules Unborn Boy Was Not Human Being

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The Minnesota Supreme Court ruled an unborn boy killed when an alleged drunk driver crashed into his mother's car was not a human being under state law.

The high court, in a 6-1 ruling Friday, agreed a Ramsey County trial court properly dropped a charge of "vehicular homicide" because a fetus is not a human being until it is born alive and living separate from the mother.

Associate Justice Lawrence

Yetka disagreed, saying the "born alive" rule is obsolete.

John Soto, accused of driving while intoxicated, crashed into a car driven by Jannet Anne Johnson, 8½ months pregnant, at a St. Paul intersection Nov. 8, 1984. Johnson suffered bone fractures and the male fetus died of head injuries.

A Ramsey County grand jury charged Soto with criminal vehicular operation resulting in the injury of Johnson and death of her unborn child.

The trial judge dismissed the charge, saying in such a case the death must be that of a human being.

"The sole issue on appeal is whether a viable fetus capable of sustained life outside the womb is a human being within the meaning of Minnesota statute," the Supreme Court said.

The state traffic homicide law uses the phrase "death of a human being," without precisely defining the term "human being." But "to become a human being within the meaning of homicide statutes at common law, a child had to be born alive and have an existence independent of and separate from its mother," the court said.

"It is not within our judicial province, under the guise of interpretation, to hold that the words human being as used in Minnesota (law) encompass a viable 8½-month-old fetus."

In a dissenting opinion, Yetka said medical science has demonstrated that a fetus late in pregnancy is "capable of independent and separate life."

Yetka said the majority opinion is hard to understand because the defense conceded if the child had been born in the car before the accident or as a result of the crash, and then died, the vehicular homicide law would apply without question.

Fire Damages Rail Wheelshop

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

About the only equipment unaffected in today's early morning blaze at the American Railway Services Corporation (ARSC) warehouse in Sanford were the already-damaged train wheels the company repairs at the 7th Street and Persimmon Avenue building.

A blaze swept through the ARSC wheel shop just after midnight, leaving a second floor office on the first floor and causing extensive heat and smoke damage throughout the entire structure.

SCC To Host Special Olympics

Approximately 1,000 mentally handicapped athletes will participate in the District 7 Winter Special Olympics to be held Saturday in Seminole County. Seminole Community College will be host to the opening ceremonies and parade of athletes to be held in the gymnasium at 9:30 a.m.

The athletes will represent Seminole, Brevard, Orange, Osceola, Lake and Volusia counties.

Expected are 130 Seminole County competitors, said the county's Special Olympics coordinator, Eleanor Shill, who teaches at Sterling Park. They will represent Rosenwald Exceptional Student Center, Altamonte Springs; Sterling Park Elementary School, Casselberry; Milwee Middle School, Longwood; Lake Mary High School; Idyllwild, Goldsboro and Hamilton elementary schools, all of Sanford; Seminole Work Opportunity Program, Sanford; and the Fern Park Developmental Center, she said.

Seminole is scheduled to have one gymnast, 30 basketball players, and about 100 bowlers participating.

The bowling competition will begin at noon with 650 bowlers scheduled to compete at the Altamonte and Longwood lanes.

Oviedo Man Surrenders In Murder Case

After two weeks of evading arrest an Oviedo man has surrendered to Seminole County sheriff's deputies to be charged with second-degree murder in the shooting death of his common-law wife of 20 years.

Johnnie Melvin Dupree, 45, of P.O. Box 821, #23 Long Pine Street, was arrested at the Seminole County jail at about noon Thursday and was being held without bond.

Dupree is accused of shooting Ellen Hamilton, 48, in the upper left chest with a small caliber handgun on Nov. 21. Dupree fled and Ms. Hamilton was transported to Winter Park Memorial Hospital in Winter Park, where she was pronounced dead shortly after the 8 p.m. shooting.

A witness to the in-street shooting, Larry Hamilton, a nephew of Ms. Hamilton, told sheriff's investigators he saw the shooting and saw Dupree flee in a dark-colored pickup truck, a sheriff's report said.

Hamilton said, Ms. Hamilton had called him to her home and asked him to come and take her away, "because Johnnie was beating me up," the report said.

When Hamilton arrived at Ms. Hamilton's Pineview Street home, along with two girls, there were no signs of trouble. According to Hamilton's statement the suspect and victim were sitting on the porch talking, the report said.

Within minutes they moved from the porch into the street and began an argument, which escalated into pushing and shoving, the report said.

Larry Hamilton was about 20 feet away from Ms. Hamilton and Dupree when a shot was fired, striking Ms. Hamilton, who fell to the ground, the report said.

Seminole County sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said today he did not know where Dupree had been between the time of the shooting and his surrender. —Susan Loden

DAYS 'TIL CHRISTMAS

NATION IN BRIEF

Committee Urges Special Probe Of Justice Department Inaction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee wants Attorney General Edwin Meese to appoint a Watergate-style special counsel to investigate findings of misconduct by former Justice Department lawyers in the withholding of EPA Superfund files from Congress in 1983.

But a spokesman for Meese is questioning the "fairness" of a 1,200-page report on the committee's 2 1/2-year secret staff investigation of President Reagan's claim of "executive privilege" in withholding the Environmental Protection Agency documents.

The committee adopted the report Thursday on a 22-13 vote, mostly along party lines after Republicans sought to eliminate its conclusions.

The report says Justice Department officials not only misled Congress and a federal judge in refusing to release the EPA files, but later impeded the committee's inquiry into the department's handling of the matter. It all but exonerates former EPA chief Anne Burford, who became the first Cabinet member ever cited for contempt of Congress for her role in that decision — saying it was made by Justice Department and White House.

Killer Said He Deserves To Die

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Carroll Cole, a deadly lothario who claimed to have strangled a dozen women and said he deserved to die because he knew he would kill again, waited calmly for his execution today, fearing only that it would hurt.

One hour before his execution, Cole was to receive an injection of the sedative Nembutal to prevent him from resisting being strapped to the death table, where three lethal drugs would be injected into his arms.

Cole will be the 50th person put to death since the Supreme Court reinstated capital punishment and the first in the 13 Western states since 1979.

Cole, 47, became a Roman Catholic and was baptized on his final day, then ate a last meal of jumbo shrimp and french fries. He spent his last hours talking with guards, watching TV, playing Monopoly and chatting with chaplains.

Cole was sentenced to die for the 1979 strangling of Marie Cushman of Las Vegas. After meeting in a bar, he said, they went to a motel and had sex before he killed her.

Tractor-Trailer Crash Kills Four

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UPI) — Negligent homicide charges were filed against a truck driver whose vehicle was reported weaving across both lanes of a snowy highway before slamming into a school bus, killing four children.

The tractor-trailer loaded with steel rammed into the rear of the bus carrying 23 children from Faith Baptist Academy in Mattawan Thursday, state police said.

The bus crashed into a cement abutment beneath an overpass, mangling it beyond recognition and trapping the screaming children inside.

Rescue workers called for special equipment to free the children and used a utility company's cherry-picker to lift the bus.

Bid To Free Hostages Hits Snag As Kuwait Refuses Waite Visa

KUWAIT (UPI) — Kuwait's refusal to allow a visit from a Church of England envoy and the Iranian Parliament's refusal to meet a French delegation apparently have set back efforts to free American and French hostages held in Lebanon.

Kuwait sources said Thursday Kuwait had refused to issue a visa to Terry Waite, personal envoy of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Waite is seeking to negotiate the release of American and French hostages held by the Islamic Jihad, a Moslem fundamentalist group with ties to Iran.

Islamic Jihad has demanded that, in exchange for the American hostages, Kuwait release 17 Shiite Moslems jailed in Kuwait for a string of bombings carried out in December 1983 against U.S., French and Kuwaiti targets.

Waite, currently in Britain, said last week he wanted to fly to Kuwait to discuss the problem with officials of the Gulf state. He ruled out trying to pressure them to give in to the Beirut kidnappers.

SDI Joint Research Pact Inked

LONDON (UPI) — Negotiators raced to finish an agreement on British participation in the U.S. "Star Wars" defense research program so Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger could sign it before returning to Washington today.

Weinberger arrived in London Thursday. He was to brief Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher today on progress in President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative, known popularly as the "Star Wars" program.

Thatcher has said Britain will take part in the program and officials from both sides have said the basic terms of an agreement have been worked out.

Reduction Impasse Breached

VIENNA (UPI) — NATO says it hopes to break a 12-year impasse at the Vienna troop talks with its new plan for a limited withdrawal of troops from Central Europe. The East is not so optimistic.

In a dramatic change of position at the Mutual Balanced Force Reduction talks, the West agreed Thursday to drop its insistence on more complete data on Warsaw Pact troop strengths in Central Europe.

It also, for the first time, used the contents of the last Eastern proposal, presented Feb. 14, as a framework for its own.

Unemployment Rate Shows Slight Drop

By Don Carmichael
UPI Labor Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven percent of America's workers were unemployed in November, a slight improvement over the previous month, the Labor Department reported today.

The unemployment rate dropped 0.1 percent from October to November. But 8.1 million Americans are still out of work.

The October unemployment rate stood at 7.1 percent, identical to the rate in September. In August, the jobless rate was 7 percent. For the second half of 1985, the jobless rate has remained essentially stable.

Teenage unemployment dropped to 15.6 percent in November from 18.6 percent in October.

There was a slight decline in unemployment among whites — from 6.1 percent in October to 5.9 percent in November — while joblessness among blacks rose slightly, from 15 percent to 15.9 percent.

For Hispanics, November's

unemployment rate dropped slightly — from 11.3 percent to 10.7 percent. The biggest change of any major category was for teenagers — a 1.7 percentage point drop to 18.4 percent from October to November.

A companion index, reflecting men and women in the Armed Forces, showed a jobless rate of 6.9 percent in November — a slight drop over October's figure of 7 percent.

For the fourth month in a row, the unemployment rate for adult men was 6 percent. The jobless rate for adult women also was the same as the October figure — 6.4 percent.

The civilian labor force remained steady in November. During the past year, the labor force has grown by 2 million people, with adult women accounting for about 70 percent of the increase.

There was an increase of 180,000 non-farm payroll jobs from October to November. The biggest gains occurred in finance, insurance, real estate and the services industries.

Factory employment in November, which had increased by some 60,000 in October, remained stable in November after seasonal adjustment, showing a rare two-month rise after major losses earlier this year.

Between January and September, 325,000 factory jobs disappeared — part of the general erosion of America's industrial economy blamed mainly on the stronger U.S. dollar. While this made American goods less competitive on world markets, manufacturers are hoping that the recent decline in the dollar is helping to reverse that trend.

Construction industry employment also was unchanged from October to November. The report showed that there were just enough new jobs during the past year to provide work for the 2 million people who entered the labor force. The result is that the jobless rate has remained remarkably stable.

The relative stability is in sharp contrast to the improvement in 1983 and 1984 when the recovery sliced nearly 3.7 percentage points off the high unemployment rate that followed the 1981-1982 recession.

Superfund Backers Push For Quick Bill Passage

By Linda Werfelman
WASHINGTON (UPI) — House supporters of a $10.1 billion Superfund expansion plan called Thursday for speedy passage of the measure to help reverse a government slowdown in cleaning up the nation's worst toxic waste dumps.

The legislation would provide a budget nearly twice as large as the allocation requested by the Environmental Protection Agency and allow the agency to resume cleanup work halted by expiration of the old Superfund law in October.

Debate was expected to continue for several hours before the House could vote on the overall legislation and on controversial plans to finance the program, probably late Friday.

"Urgency exists for full and speedy action by this body," said Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee, which helped draft the proposal.

"There is no time for delay," he added, noting that the EPA is financing essential cleanup action "on the residue of funds" remaining in its Superfund budget.

Rep. James Howard, D-N.J., chairman of the Public Works and Transportation Committee, which also worked on the bill, said the plan would accelerate cleanup work that has lagged since Superfund was created in 1980.

"The effort of the previous five years was not good enough," Howard said, noting that only a handful of sites on the EPA's list for priority attention have been cleaned.

Some critics, including Rep. Jack Fields, R-Texas, endorsed the proposal even though they expressed concern that the bill's funding level is too high and its restrictions too binding on the EPA.

Earlier Thursday, EPA Administrator Lee Thomas voiced similar sentiments and added that he probably would join other presidential advisers in recommending a veto of any bill that contained the controversial broad-based corporate tax.

Environmentalists also opposed the so-called value-added tax, which they said would ignore the "polluter pays" concept of taxing producers of the chemicals and petroleum products found in hazardous wastes.

The tax is "the devil's work," said Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., sponsor of one move for alternative financing. "It ... radically changes the Superfund hazardous waste program by transferring the costs of the program to taxpayers who have played little or no role in the creation of the toxic waste crisis facing us today."

But Rep. John Breaux, D-La., noting that 4,000 business of all kinds are named on the EPA's list of those responsible for Superfund toxic wastes, said the measure is designed to ensure that "all industries that helped cause the problem should also help solve the problem."

The petrochemical industry also supports the value-added tax.

Under the legislation, the government would spend six times more on Superfund in the next five years than the $1.6 billion set aside for the first five-year phase of the cleanup program.

The proposal also would require the EPA to start cleanup work at 600 of the nation's worst hazardous waste sites by Sept. 30, 1990. The agency would be expected to complete work at each site within five years or publish a statement explaining the delay.

The measure includes "community-right-to-know" provisions requiring producers and users of highly dangerous chemicals to file reports stating how much of the substances are stored at their facilities.

The Senate approved a $7.5 billion Superfund bill earlier this fall. The House and Senate must agree on a single final proposal before the measure can be sent to President Reagan for signature.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Snow fell like a wet blanket from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Coast today, covering roads with slippery slush and bringing some areas their first accumulations of snow this season. A cold weather emergency for homeless people was declared early today for a fourth night in a row in New York City when the mercury fell to 32 degrees, but freezing temperatures spared the South and its less fortunate residents.

At least 28 people have been killed by snow and bitter cold since Sunday. Snow fell from Illinois to New York today as a storm that dropped a half foot of snow on the Plains pushed east. Snow and freezing drizzle slicked Indiana and Kentucky, and rain extended into North Carolina. "It's still snowing up here," said Brenda Dean in Marlinton, W.Va. "What's on the roads is just slushy right now. It's slick." New York City received its first measurable snow of the season as did the Allentown airport in eastern Pennsylvania, where forecasters said up to 2 inches could fall.

Four inches of wet snow hampered rescue efforts on an interstate near Kalamazoo, Mich., where a tractor-trailer truck rear-ended a school bus carrying 23 children, killing four of them.

Negligent homicide charges have been filed against the truck driver. Cars in ditches lined the interstate, and traffic could move at no more than 30 mph. Vehicles reportedly were backed up for more than 5 miles in eastbound lanes during rescue efforts. State police in western Pennsylvania reported a large number of accidents, mostly minor, in the Laurel Mountain area, where up to 7 inches of snow was expected.

Network Plans Appeal, Cites Chilling Effect On Press Freedom

CBS Fined $5 Million For Libeling Cigarette Maker

CHICAGO (UPI) — A CBS broadcaster convicted of libeling a cigarette maker says he will not be intimidated by a $5 million judgment against the network, but CBS lawyers warn it may have a chilling effect on freedom of the press.

"It's not going to intimidate me," Walter Jacobson, veteran commentator with WBBM-TV, a CBS Inc. affiliate, said Thursday following the award by a federal jury.

Jacobson was convicted last week of libeling the Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp. in a 1981 "Perspective" commentary that accused the manufacturer of luring youngsters into smoking. In his commentary, Jacobson claimed the company waged an advertising campaign that equated smoking with "sex, wine, pot and wearing a bra."

Jacobson said the suit was an attempt by the tobacco industry to "stop us from reporting the evils of tobacco."

"I am the target now. You could be the target next," he warned reporters gathered outside the courtroom.

The award was short of the $17 million that Brown & Williamson had sought. The jury ordered CBS to pay $3 million in compensatory damages and $2 million in punitive damages. It also ordered Jacobson to pay $50,000 in punitive damages.

The award could "have repercussions on the press and people everywhere — whether they can speak out ... their ability to point out hypocrisy," CBS attorney Thomas Morsch said during closing arguments in the damages portion of the trial.

CBS management issued a statement saying it will appeal.

"The damages, while substantially less than Brown & Williamson sought, are unjustified. We still contend that no financial loss was proven and that any punitive damages are unfair. We are confident that the jury's libel verdict and the damages will be reversed on appeal and that Walter Jacobson and CBS will be vindicated," CBS said.

Brown & Williamson originally had sought $10 million in punitive damages and $7 million in compensatory damages from CBS, saying Jacobson destroyed the cigarette maker's reputation. It also sought $100,000 in punitive damages from Jacobson.

"Reputation to a corporation means, 'Can I sell my product or not?' There was no evidence that there was one nickel lost as a result of this broadcast," Morsch said.

Reagan Call Ends Vet's 51-Day Fast

KENT, Wash. (UPI) — President Reagan persuaded a Vietnam veteran to end his 51-day fast in a bamboo "tiger cage" by agreeing to meet with him about U.S. servicemen believed to be missing in Southeast Asia.

The president called Gino Casanova Thursday over a mobile telephone brought to the outdoor cage, a replica of those used to hold American prisoners of war in Vietnam.

The former Marine has lived and fasted in the cage since Oct. 16 to dramatize his belief that more must be done to find missing American servicemen. The fast has caused him to suffer from blurred vision and weakness.

"Like I said before, it's amazing what can happen when you miss a few meals," said Casanova, 34, who lost 43 pounds since his last food.

Reagan — who called from New York City, where he was attending a black-tie dinner — told Casanova he shared the veteran's concerns about MIAs.

"I'm with you, Gino. The problem is in Hanoi, not Washington. And they need to know we are a united country on this question," the president was quoted as saying by Bill Hart, a White House spokesman.

"I've given my personal pledge to the families (of MIAs) and vow to you to do all we can, and I mean it."

Reagan said, "I'd like you to end your fast and get yourself healthy again."

The call ended days of negotiations that involved the White House, the offices of Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash., Rep. Bill Hendon, R-N.C., and Casanova's organization, Operation Second Crusade.

Casanova said the president agreed to meet with him within 60 days to discuss the problem of military personnel believed missing in Southeast Asia.

"You know, sir, the Vietnam veterans here and across the country are concerned about this issue," Casanova told Reagan during the brief conversation. "Is it possible, sir, that myself and a couple other common people could meet with you for 10 or 15 minutes in the next 60 days?"

When the president answered affirmatively, Casanova said: "I'm sure that will show a lot of folks around the country that you really care, and we sure appreciate it. God bless you, Mr. President."

Bus Hijacker Shot

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A man who hijacked a city bus and forced its driver to chauffeur him around the city before releasing the man was shot and critically wounded by police early today as he left the bus with a gun in his hand, police said.

Nearly 12 hours after the hostage drama began Thursday, the Rapid Transit District bus doors opened and the gunman walked outside. Seconds later, an officer fired one round from a shotgun, wounding the man, Officer Jack Schmidt said.

Paramedics treated the suspect, identified as Clarence Allen, before he was taken to Hollywood Presbyterian Medical Center. A hospital spokesman said Allen, whose age was not immediately released, was in critical condition.

The shooting occurred early today outside the hijacked bus, which was parked west of downtown Los Angeles while police and mental health workers tried to talk the man into surrendering peacefully.

The gunman commandeered the Rapid Transit District bus somewhere along its route between downtown and West Los Angeles at about Thursday afternoon, said police spokesman Willie Wilson.

After releasing the driver some three hours later, the gunman barricaded himself in the bus and was surrounded by police, Wilson said.

Mutual Respect Is Big Summit Plus

Historically, the full impact of superpower summits is usually not apparent for many months and often several years after the leaders bid each other goodbye and depart for their respective capitals. So, final assessments of the historic meeting in Geneva between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev should be withheld, or at least advanced with considerable caution.

Even so, there seems abundant reason for dubbing this first Reagan-Gorbachev summit at least a tactical success, even if it fell well short of a strategic breakthrough in U.S.-Soviet relations.

For starters, the summit met one of columnist William Safire's sensible standards for judging success: It did no harm. This is not meant as sarcasm. Some summits, most notably the 1961 Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Vienna, produce misjudgments that make things worse. Others — the Carter-Brezhnev meeting in 1979, for example — ratify agreements that are less than advantageous to the United States.

The Reagan-Gorbachev affair avoided these pitfalls. The four agreements signed were of comparatively minor importance. And both leaders seem to have come away from Geneva with more, rather than less, respect for each other. That should diminish the risk of miscalculation in any future superpower confrontation. This alone would have made the Geneva summit a net plus.

Hardly less important was President Reagan's apparent success in preserving his Strategic Defense Initiative. Stopping the "Star Wars" defense program was Mr. Gorbachev's principle objective in the summit. The Kremlin's pre-summit position, relentlessly repeated for months leading up to Geneva, was that there could be no reduction in offensive nuclear weapons unless the United States repudiated any thought of developing defenses against an attack by nuclear missiles.

Mr. Reagan was apparently unmoved. He emerged from Geneva seemingly no less committed to strategic defense, as a research project now but with a presumed option to develop and deploy actual defenses at some point in the future. Nevertheless, the Soviets still agreed in principle to negotiate towards a declared goal of 50 percent reductions in offensive nuclear weapons. This hardly means an actual agreement is near or even that both sides can concur in enough of the vital details to make any agreement possible.

But it does mean that President Reagan emerged from the summit with a major doctrinal victory for his vision of an America facing far fewer nuclear weapons and protected in addition by a strategic defensive shield? If Mr. Reagan, or more likely his successors, can translate this vision into reality, it might at last lift the nuclear sword of Damocles hanging over mankind these last 40 years.

It is also worth noting that Mr. Reagan apparently succeeded in reintroducing the principle of linkage to the conduct of relations with the Soviet Union. The Soviets wanted a summit dealing only with arms control, and specifically with "Star Wars." Mr. Reagan insisted on also discussing human rights and regional conflicts involving Soviet proxies.

This is another way of saying that Soviet conduct, not arms control, is the key to improving U.S.-Soviet relations. Precisely so. Moreover, Mr. Reagan was explicit in recent days in noting that, in any case, progress on arms control will never be likely unless the political tensions that prompt arms building are substantially reduced.

Can it be that Mr. Gorbachev's failure to dispute this central point publicly means that he agrees? If so, the Geneva summit just might lead in time to an enduring improvement in Soviet-American relations.

And even if, as the odds suggest, the most optimistic result fails to materialize, the two days of talks in Geneva did demonstrably improve the atmospherics of superpower relations. Mr. Reagan and Mr. Gorbachev are to meet again in Washington in 1986 and in Moscow in 1987. Geneva can be rated a success for having accomplished, without prompting any illusions, the necessary first step in the superpower dialogue now established.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Excuse me, you folks haven't gone into shock, have you?"

DONALD LAMBRO

Privatization Saves Dollars, Makes Sense

WASHINGTON — As the choices of where to cut the federal budget become politically more agonizing, Congress must sooner or later begin exploring the idea of turning certain government activities over to the private sector.

Better known as "privatization," this has been effectively practiced by the Thatcher government in Great Britain to reduce public expenditures without eliminating or curtailing needed public services. And some modest successes have been achieved by deregulating certain government monopolies to stimulate new private-sector competition.

Licensing restrictions on long-distance bus service, among other things, have been partially deregulated, allowing commercial firms to compete with the state-owned British Rail and the nationalized inter-city bus company — leading to the creation of several new low-cost private bus services.

The government also split off the British post office's telephone monopoly, permitting a new network to compete with the British phone company and freeing commercial firms to sell telephone equipment. The post office has also been denied its monopoly of express-mail service and the delivery of Christmas cards.

The Reagan administration, on the other hand, has proposed selling Conrail, the national rail-freight service, but that idea remains bogged down in Congress. It has sold the Alaska railroad, a minor program, and has further deregulated the rail, truck and communications industries.

Beyond this, however, significant privatization in the United States hasn't really gotten beyond the talking stage. Still, the fact that more and more experts are proposing it in a number of influential quarters is a welcome sign that the idea is being given serious consideration.

Consider, for example, the lead story in this week's Washington Post commentary page, by a West Point graduate, which was headlined, "Why Waste Money on West Point?" The writer suggested, among other things, that it would be much cheaper to educate our officers in regular universities, supplementing their military training through the Reserve Officer Training Corps or Officer Candidate School.

Not only does this $209-million-a-year academy cost taxpayers an astounding $225,000 per graduate, but the number of West Point graduates who are general officers in the Army are dwindling each year. This year, only one-fifth of the officers chosen in July for general officer rank were West Pointers.

Similarly, a veteran instructor in the Defense Department's National War College tells me there are few if any courses taught at this military-run academy that are not available in our best private and public universities, at a much lower cost. "We don't need the War College," he says.

The waste-fighting Grace Commission pushed privatization in its 1984 report to the nation, showing how a number of government activities could be contracted out to the private sector.

No one is saying that privatization is a panacea for shrinking a swollen budget deficit, but it does offer a reasonable alternative to simply abolishing needed services. Congress would be wise to give it.

SDI Foes Aid Reds Not U.S.

When a high official of the U.S. government strives with uncommon energy and dedication to augment the nation's security, he shouldn't expect praise from opinion-makers. Unfortunately, he can expect to be the target of media sniping and stiletto attacks from hidden assailants inside the government who have their own political agendas. Worst of all, praise usually is lavished on those who have done the least to enhance national security, or who have damaged it.

One is reminded of this by the recent media barrage of criticism aimed at Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger whose letter to the President prior to the Geneva negotiations was leaked to the press, most probably by his foes inside the administration.

There was a veritable stampede among network news-readers to declare that Mr. Weinberger sought to sabotage the President, the same President who had selected Mr. Weinberger for his post and who continued to support him to the fullest during the media firestorm.

Those who created the synthetic storm over the Weinberger letter were attempting to strike at the President's program of rearming the United States and, specifically, at his plan to provide a shield in space.

The October issue of Organization Trends, published by the Capital Research Center (1612 K Street, NW, Washington) described the work of the numerous anti-defense groups. Among the organizations are Common Cause, Council For A Liveable World, Federation of American Scientists, League of Women Voters, Physicians For Social Responsibility, and the Campaign to Save the ABM Treaty. Their immediate aim is to reduce congressional funding for SDI.

These organizations ignore the fact that the Soviets have been working on space weapons systems for years and have six major anti-missile systems under construction — all in violation of the ABM treaty.

At the same time, the networks, in their coverage of the Geneva summit, played up those figures who are against the shield in space.

The American people need to understand these things so that the Reagan administration isn't deflected from its course on its space defense, so that the public understands the great work accomplished by Mr. Weinberger, and so that Americans recognize the latest attempt to spread misinformation about their security.

Japanese Mob Sets Sights On U.S.

By Jack Anderson And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — The Immigration Service has warned its field offices to be on the alert for members of the Japanese "Mafia" trying to enter the United States. If they lie about possible criminal records, they can be prosecuted and deported.

"Although organized crime is not the primary jurisdiction of the officers of this service," the warning states, "each officer should be made aware of the difficulties the United States is encountering with organized crime. ... The employee at a port of entry is most likely to encounter an organized-crime member applying for admission to the United States. His or her alert detection can sometimes preclude these individuals from entering."

The internal "strategic assessment," prepared by the Immigration Service's central intelligence office, was obtained by our associate Donald Goldberg. It provides a

WILLIAM RUSHER

Geneva: After Glow

Second thoughts about the Reagan-Gorbachev summit are proving, as second thoughts so often do, more interesting than the first impression.

At first, the whole event seemed suffused in a faint but perceptibly rosy glow. Nothing much had happened, but then, nothing had gone terribly wrong either, and President Reagan had carried off his important role in the proceedings with that polished ease which is his trademark.

Now everybody has had a chance to sleep on it, and the second wave of reactions is in. As usual, these tell us almost as much about the commentators as they do about the subject matter.

Among the hawks, the Cato the Elder Prize for Telling It Like It Is undoubtedly goes to my fellow columnist Bill Safire, who has had it up to here with all the pre- and post-Geneva guff about how summits aid the prospects for peace by "lessening misunderstanding." On the contrary, "at the core of superpower conflict," Safire asserts, "is the Russians' certitude that their historical mission is to extend their system's dominance to the corners of the earth — countered by our responsibility to nurture freedom everywhere. Mutual understanding will widen, not narrow, that gulf." Right on, Bill!

Among professionally neutral political observers, one of the earliest to note an important change resulting from the summit was The Washington Post's Lou Cannon. Cannon's vision, where Reagan is concerned, has not always been 20/20: His book-length biography of the president, whom he has covered since Mr. Reagan's early days as governor of California, flatly predicted that Mr. Reagan would retire at the end of his first term in the White House. But perhaps that blunder has just made Cannon more cautious about counting Mr. Reagan out prematurely. Noting that Mikhail Gorbachev is now scheduled to visit the United States for a second summit next June, and that Mr. Reagan then plans to go to Moscow for a third in 1987, Cannon has concluded that Mr. Reagan is "not a lame duck anymore."

Not many people who know the president well have thought him likely to become a lame duck very soon in any case; but Cannon's point is certainly well taken as far as it goes. A president who is scheduled to be negotiating in Moscow in mid-1987 is bound to have an enormous continuing impact on U.S. policy — and, for that matter, on world affairs generally.

As for the liberals, their second thoughts about Geneva seem to have improved their spirits somewhat. Immediately after the summit, Princeton professor Stephen Cohen, whom the media frequently consult as a certified dove on all things Russian, was almost ash-faced. Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger, Cohen sorrowfully told one interviewer, won just about every point he had been struggling for.

A few days later, however, CBS' Leslie Stahl glimpsed a silver lining: Since Mr. Reagan has finally begun negotiating with the Soviets, he "can never call them an 'evil empire' again." (My own guess is that Leslie may be in for a surprise on that score — but note, meanwhile, how the phrase seems to have rankled!)

In other words, the liberals figure they can tighten the screws as the summits go by.

Ashtrays Removed At AMA

By Larry Doyle

CHICAGO (UPI) — A cosmetic change was made recently at the downtown offices of the American Medical Association. All the ashtrays were removed.

"If you want to sneak a cigarette," said one person working in the AMA building, "you have to put the ashes in your shirt pocket."

It was a simple gesture, but not the first in an organization that has taken a high-profile stance against smoking and the $60 billion industry fed by it. There has been earnest AMA opposition to tobacco subsidies, an early call to ban television advertising of cigarettes and frequent support of the rights of non-smokers in public and the workplace.

A stated goal of the AMA, and the U.S. surgeon general, is the elimination of smoking by the year 2000.

However, the AMA has decided to agree with the tobacco industry on what many consider a key issue in the anti-smoking campaign: product liability. Both say, for their own reasons, that suing tobacco companies over adverse health effects the products may have caused are time-consuming, costly and can make for bad law.

The tobacco industry's position isn't difficult to understand. More than 200 lawsuits are pending against cigarette manufacturers and the industry could be destroyed if such suits were widely successful.

But the AMA has another reason for being opposed to the lawsuits: They don't seem to be doing any good.

In a report to be issued at the AMA national meeting in Washington Dec. 8-11, the AMA board of directors contends a thorough study shows tobacco liability litigation to be "an ineffective and unwieldy tool for shaping public policy."

"We are no friend of the tobacco industry," declared Kirk Johnson, the AMA's General Counsel. "That should be clear from everything we have done in the past and what we're doing now."

As evidence, Johnson pointed to another resolution being taken up at the AMA's national meeting that will call for the ban of all cigarette advertising — including newspapers, magazines and billboards.

Unlike the product liability report, the advertising resolution will become official AMA policy if adopted by the organization's 371 delegates.

In Japan, the Yakuza is in the big time. Japanese police estimate the Yakuza's annual take at $5 billion, from activities that include prostitution, pornography and extortion of large corporations and their employees.

"Hence the Yakuza seems to have money to spend, and is coming to the United States to invest, launder (money) and set up new operations," the Immigration Service report warns. "On the West Coast, Hawaii and now New York, Yakuza members are investing heavily in legitimate businesses such as real estate, bars, nightclubs, export businesses, tour agencies and others."

In California, the report states, the Yakuza is "suspected of being involved in gun smuggling, gambling, the smuggling of amphetamines to Japan, pornography and recruiting young American women to sing in Japan but really to work as prostitutes."

In Honolulu, San Francisco and Los Angeles a thriving tourist industry has developed to serve legitimate Japanese travelers. Tourist agencies, bus companies, hotels and souvenir shops, specializing in the needs of Japanese visitors, have been targeted by the Yakuza shake-down teams.

fascinating inside glimpse of the Japanese mob, or "Yakuza."

The document estimates that there are more than 2,000 Yakuza groups in Japan, with a total membership of 100,000. "Yakuza members trace their roots to Banzuin Chobei, a Japanese Robin Hood of the 17th century," the report states. "Chobei recruited his 'soldiers' from among social outcasts like himself, and many wore tattoos marking them as criminals."

The first gangs were known as "Maehi-Yakko," and members adopted the charming custom of "lopping off a finger tip to offer the 'don' as an apology for a failed assignment. The gangsters' favorite non-violent pastime was a black-jacklike card game.

"If a player drew as his cards an eight, nine and three, which can be pronounced in Japanese as Ya Ku Za, he had a worthless hand," the report explains. "The Yakuza of today call themselves 'worthless' persons, social outcasts. The Japanese police refer to them as 'Boryokudan' or 'violent ones.'"

The strategic assessment says the first Yakuza members arrived on American soil in the 1960s. In Hawaii, there they set up operations extorting money from Japanese-American merchants and Japanese tourists.

"It is estimated that only about 100 Yakuza members are operating in this country, but that they are paving the way for others to come," the study warns. "The Yakuza is becoming increasingly involved in gambling, prostitution, extortions and arms purchases on the mainland as well."

In Honolulu, San Francisco and Los Angeles a thriving tourist industry has developed to serve legitimate Japanese travelers. Tourist agencies, bus companies, hotels and souvenir shops, specializing in the needs of Japanese visitors, have been targeted by the Yakuza shake-down teams.

House Sitter Charged With Grand Theft

A Jacksonville woman staying in a Longwood home while the owner was away has been accused of stealing items from that home and has been charged with grand theft.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies report arresting the suspect at the home of Judith Barclay, of 220 Tollgate Drive, after Ms. Barclay returned home and found a $200 camera, an $1,800 engagement ring, two silver coins and $48 cash missing.

Leigh Ann Summer, 30, was arrested at 3:05 a.m. Thursday and was being held in lieu of $3,000 bond.

QUESTIONING ARREST
Sanford police who questioned two men spotted behind Uncle Nick's, 2605 Park Drive, at about 5 p.m. Wednesday reported charging one with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia after contraband was reportedly found in his possession.

The other man wasn't charged and police said the man arrested had a small pipe believed used to smoke pot and a small quantity of marijuana in his possession, a police report said.

James Ray Crockett, 34, of P.O. Box 654 Lake Mary, has been released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Dec. 18.

DRUG ARRESTS
The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:
—Joseph Richard Schureing, 25, of Sorrento, was arrested at 11:28 p.m. Wednesday after his vehicle ran onto the shoulder of Lake Mary Boulevard, Lake Mary. He was also charged with driving with a revoked license.

—Tracy Scott Preisler, 23, of 304 W. Second St., Sanford, at 3:05 a.m. Thursday after a policeman pursued his vehicle from 12th Street to Fourth Street in Sanford.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
Michael J. Conover, 34, of 510 David St., Winter Springs, the owner of All in the Family Tavern, 569 N. U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies a briefcase containing $500 to $800 kept behind the counter of the bar was stolen around midnight Wednesday. Deputies have the name of a suspect who was seen behind the bar and who reportedly rode away on a bicycle carrying a briefcase.

Archie Lee Cuyler, 41, of 420 Dunbar St., Altamonte Springs, told sheriff's deputies he awakened early Thursday to find a man standing in his bedroom. That man took Cuyler's pants and fled. The pants held $120 cash and 10 keys worth about $70. The keys are to the Orange Motor Lodge.

A thief cut the wires to a video camera at an automatic teller machine outside the Barnett Bank, 2601 State Road 434, Longwood, on Tuesday, a sheriff's report said. The camera, which was stolen, is valued at $800, according to the bank's manager.

Margaret A. Schneider, 43 of 143 Tollgate Trail, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies that $405 cash and golf clubs worth about $255 were stolen from her home between Dec. 1 and Wednesday.

total value of almost $2,000 were stolen Wednesday along with a $350 video recorder and a $540 television from the home of Gerald Hadler, 41, of Citruswood Court, Longwood, a sheriff's report said.

A thief took an $85 heater and a $400 stereo from the home of Cary L. Bell, 34, and Willie Lee Robinson, 51, of 2401 Byrd Ave., Sanford. A sheriff's report said the theft occurred Wednesday.

Sheriff's deputies have the name of a suspect who may have stolen a $500 necklace and a $200 rifle from the home of Kerry E. Kelly, 38, of 2065 Judith Place, Longwood, Wednesday.

Lawrence L. Lindfeldt, 37, of 303 Coble Drive, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies his baseball card collection with a total value of over $1,000 was stolen from his utility room Wednesday.

Marsha Phillips, 27, of P.O. Box 864 Wilson Road, Paola, reported to sheriff's deputies a .22-caliber handgun worth $150 was stolen from her home Monday.

A Sanford woman was grabbed by the back of the neck and robbed of her gold chains by a man posing as a good samaritan, a Sanford police report said.

Mary Lee Atkins, 42, of 449 Palm Drive, had gone to 704 West 9th Street on Tuesday to inquire about firewood, but found no one home. A man claiming he knew the owners offered to show her the wood and after the couple went into the backyard, he grabbed her by the neck and pulled her chains off, according to police.

Atkins' screams alerted a neighbor, William Strom, 40, who chased after the alleged robber, but lost sight of him on Holly Avenue, according to the report.

SENTENCINGS

Melbourne man who pleaded no contest of leaving the scene of an accident with injuries and driving under the influence was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail to be followed by 5 years probation.

David Carlos Bateman, 28, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor who also fined Bateman $500 and suspended his driver license 5 years.

Bateman pleaded no contest to the charges in mid-October and could have received up to a year in the county jail.

According to court records, two Ohio residents were injured April 28 when the motorcycle they were riding collided with a motor home driven by Bateman.

Charles Lively, 24, the driver, and John Boylen, 15, both of Akron, were treated and released from Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford. Lively received multiple cuts on his legs and Boylen had minor internal injuries.

They were riding their motorcycle south on U.S.

Highway 17-92 near Airport Boulevard when a Bateman tried to turn left, according to a Seminole County sheriff's report.

The men struck the side of Bateman's 1974 Winnebago which then turned south on 17-92 and fled the scene, the report said.

A sheriff's deputy patrolling the area caught up with the vehicle and stopped it. Bateman reportedly said to the officer, "I hope that guy is not hurt too bad. What hit me?"

In a second case heard Monday, an Altamonte Springs man who was intoxicated and got too rowdy with a Seminole County sheriff's deputy was sentenced to a year probation.

Theodore Duane Webber, 32, of 553 Karen Ave., was sentenced by McGregor.

According to court records, Longwood police removed the man from Woogles Pub, State Road 434 in Longwood, shortly after midnight, May 7. They gave him a trespass warning after he refused to leave the bar, according to a sheriff's deputy report.

Deputy Don Neil then reported calling some of the man's relatives so they could give him a ride home but they did not come to get him. After Weber agreed to pay for a cab, Neil called one but when it arrived Weber refused to give the address to the driver, the report said.

Neil reported that before the cab arrived the man offered to work for the police as an "agent" because he knew of "large drug deals." The man also kept grabbing Neil by the arm, jabbing him in the ribs and putting his arms around Neil's neck, the report said.

After "contending" with the man for about an hour, Neil arrested him and took him to the Longwood police station, the report said.

While at the station, the man reportedly started removing items from a desk and kept standing up when told to sit down, the report said.

When Neil left the man in the custody of another officer so he could file his report, the man started fighting with the officer, according to the report.

He then passed out and was taken to South Seminole Community Hospital where he was treated for cuts on his head and arm. Then he was booked into jail.

In other court action, two brothers who pleaded guilty to cruelty to an animal following the butchering of an alligator were each sentenced to 10 days in jail and a $1,000.

Victor Earl McKinnon, 27, and Carl McKinnon, 24, both of 183 Lorian Lane, Winter Springs, were sentenced by McGregor who also ordered the men to serve a year of probation each. They could have received up to a year in the county jail.

The brothers were originally charged with poaching an alligator but pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of cruelty to an animal.

According to court records, a witness told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that on April 27 he saw two men capture an alligator in Lake Jesup south of Sanford. The men hauled it to shore and butchered it by taking its tail. He gave the deputies a description of the men and their boat.

Officers arrested the brothers July 15 on a warrant issued by the State Attorney's office.

Longwood Parade Saturday

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer
Longwood's Christmas parade on State Road 434 Saturday morning will begin at 10 and feature 92 units, including 42 parade units from the Bahia Shrine. It will be the longest in the city's history.

Congressman Bill McCollum will be the grand marshal and Longwood mayor Harvey Smerilson will be the Shrine Grand Marshal.

This will be the only Central Florida parade to feature all of the Shrine's parade units, including Gus the camel, drum and bugle corps, bagpipes, oriental band, jazz band, clowns, cars, and motorcycles.

There will be 500 Shriners and 1,500 other participants, according to William Goebel, director of Longwood Parks and Recreation Department.

The parade theme is Christmas in Longwood.

State Road 434 will be closed off between Range Line Road and State Road 427. Traffic on State Road 434 will be detoured around the parade route for 4-5 hours, according to Smerilson as follows: eastbound traffic will turn on Range Line Road and go north to E.E. Williamson Road then turn right going to Church Street; then back to County Road 427 (or they will have the option of getting to County Road 427 by taking Longwood Hills Road from E.E. Williamson) and south to 434. Westbound traffic will go north on 427 to Church Street to E.E. Williamson, then going to Range Line Road and back to 434.

Among the entries will be four knights on horseback from Medieval Times in Kissimmee, a dozen floats, the Seminole YMCA Indian Guides, Boy and Girl Scouts, cloggers, commercial, veteran's, church and civic groups, Miss Florida USA, Miss Altamonte Springs, city, county and state officials, and last, but not least, Santa Claus himself. Santa will distribute candy to the children after the parade at community building.

The Lyman, Lake Brantley and Lake Mary high school bands, Milwee and Rock Lake middle school bands, and Longwood Elementary School's Minutemen Band will march in the parade.

To help relieve some of the traffic and parking problems in the parade area, the city will provide shuttle bus transportation between the parade route and Lyman High School on County Road 427. The reviewing section will be located at the entrance of South Seminole Community Hospital and a section will be reserved in front of the hospital for the handicapped.

Goebel recommends spectators bring their folding chairs.

Vietnam Vet Ends Fast After Reagan Promise

KENT, Wash. (UPI) — A telephone call Thursday from President Reagan expressing his concern for U.S. servicemen missing in Southeast Asia ended a 51-day fast by a Vietnam War veteran.

"Like I said before, it's amazing what can happen when you miss a few meals," said the veteran, Gino Casanova, who began his fast Oct. 16.

Casanova received the call at 5 p.m. on a mobile phone, which had been brought to his bamboo cage Tuesday, ending days of negotiations that involved the White House, the offices of Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash., Rep. Bill Henderson, R-N.C., and Casanova's organization, Operation Second Crusade.

"The president told Gino he was concerned about his health and the whole issue of MIAs," said Dave Endicott, Gorton's Washington spokesman. "He told Gino he had tried to reach him several times during the day but had trouble getting through."

Casanova said the president agreed to meet with him sometime within the next 60 days to discuss the problem of military men still believed missing in Southeast Asia.

"You know, sir, the Vietnam veterans here and across the country are concerned about this issue," Casanova told Reagan. "Is it possible, sir, that myself and others could meet with you for 10 or 15 minutes in the next 60 days?"

When the president answered affirmatively, Casanova said: "I'm sure that will show a lot of folks around the country that you really care, and we appreciate it. God bless you Mr. President ... You bet, I'm going to have something to eat tonight."

After the conversation ended, Casanova and the others in the small "tiger cage," similar to those that held some POWs in Vietnam, let out a loud cheer.

Casanova, 34, had vowed to fast 61 days, one day for each serviceman missing from Washington state. He began the fast to call attention to the plight of nearly 2,500 Americans still listed as missing in the Vietnam War.

Casanova has lost at least 43 pounds and is suffering blurred vision and weakness.

"I'm so damn hungry that everything looks like food," he said. "I'm in a reed hut and everything around me looks like spaghetti."

Smith Breaks Silence On Split

By Michael Moline

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Attorney General Jim Smith said Thursday he dropped off Harry Johnston's gubernatorial ticket because neither could live with their "naive" promise to campaign and govern as equals.

Smith, who had secluded himself at his home outside Tallahassee since Senate President Johnston announced the rift on Tuesday, said he still supports Johnston in his bid for the 1986 Democratic nomination.

During a news conference in his back yard, Smith ruled out a try for a third term as attorney general. Beyond that, Smith said as workers repaired damage Hurricane Kate caused to his home, his own political future is unclear.

"I thought it would work," Smith said of the agreement with Johnston. "Maybe we were both naive. I just think it was a situation where two good people failed pretty miserably at communicating with each other."

He added: "Over the last two weeks I went to bed every night and prayed that I would wake up the next morning with enthusiasm and feel good about things, I didn't, and that's what brought it to a head."

When he unveiled the ticket in April, Johnston publicly promised that Smith, victor in two statewide races for attorney general, would handle campaign strategy and become Johnston's chief of staff should they win.

Smith said that over the past two months Johnston decided over his objections to intensify the campaign — and that he began to wonder what would happen after the election, when as lieutenant governor his official role would be dictated by Johnston.

"Once elected, a lieutenant governor is very dispensable," Smith said. "Given the way things had gone the past couple of months, I really anticipated a successful election would mean misery for me."

"Frankly, (my wife) Carole and I promised each other that if politics ever became a misery I would get out," Smith said.

The rift in a partnership that had merged Johnston's political moderation with Smith's conservatism and name recognition, was the latest in a series of campaign surprises this year.

First Smith, who had been considered a leading candidate for the Democratic nomination, balked at running after publicly wavering over a switch to the GOP. Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter, the acknowledged Democratic frontrunner, followed with a surprise announcement that he would instead seek re-election to the Cabinet.

Former House member Steve Pajete of Jacksonville and Sen. Frank Mann, D-Fort Myers, remain in the race for the Democratic nomination.

Smith said the split will hurt Johnston, but that the Senate president still has time to repair the damage. He said he is unlikely to campaign for Johnston but will continue to support him.

Johnston said Tuesday that he has received no requests to return campaign money donated by Smith supporters. "The Smith people are still with me," Johnston said. "They're very enthusiastic and happy."

Smith said he has not yet decided what to do about his own political future.

"I live off my instincts and those instincts haven't served me very well in 1985," Smith said.

But he insisted the divorce, which came Monday night, was mutually amicable.

"I had been acting like a horse's ass for a couple of weeks and I apologize for it. I can be a real SOB if I want to be and I had been and I told him I didn't like acting that way," Smith said.

"He said, it sounds like you would like to be out of this thing, and I said I would and he said, well, you're out."

Raines Moves Into Heathrow; Ups Demand To $2 Million

Tim Raines might not know where he is playing baseball next year but he knows where he will be living this weekend.

The Montreal Expo All-Star outfielder, along with wife Virginia and sons Tim Jr., 6, and Andre, 2, will move into Heathrow this weekend. The Raines have purchased a $1.2 million English Tudor house, for which they paid $885,000.

"It's the home we've always dreamed about," Virginia said Wednesday. "We'll be there the rest of our lives."

The Raines currently reside in Palm Beach Gardens although they spend the weekends in Sanford. The WPB residency, on the PGA National Golf Course, was first thought to be the most convenient for spring training. Virginia, however, said the family needed more room and living there had become "inconvenient."

They'll have enough room at Jeno Paulucci's multi-million dollar development just off I-4 west of Lake Mary.

The three-story house, which Virginia said is similar to that of Prince, the rock star, has seven bedrooms and six bathrooms.

The master bedroom has separate bathrooms for each. There's also an exercise room, a sauna and a jacuzzi.

"We'll probably move up here for good at the end of spring training," Virginia said. "It's a beautiful house."

And, a long way from humble beginnings on Sanford's Airport Boulevard.

While Raines will be situated in Heathrow residence-wise, it is not a sure thing that he will be again playing left field for the Montreal Expos. Contract talks are going nowhere as the Expos are still standing firm on their stance to not give long-term (over three years) contracts.

Raines initially wanted $8.5 million over five years. Now, however, the price tag has jumped to $10 million over five years and he may try and force the Expos to trade him.

Sam Cook
SPORTS EDITOR

Raines is in a pretty good position contract-wise. His numbers were up again last year when he batted a career-high .320. He has worked diligently on his bunting during the winter instructional time. Some experts believe he could add 30 points to his average if he masters the drag.

The former Seminole High flash could test the free-agent waters next year. To do that, he would have to play out his option this year, which might cost him some money presently, but he would more than make up for it on the open market.

That is, if the owners are still willing to spend the big bucks. The path to free-agent Kirk Gibson's door hasn't been worn out but the real indicator should come later this month when the Tigers' time to sign him runs out.

Virginia said Tim was rumored as possibly going to the Yankees in a trade if George Steinbrenner's braintrust can't work out something for Andre Dawson, who the Yankees covet.

Raines, although not the power hitter and fielder Dawson is, can do everything else better. And the Yankees would be pretty potent with Raines behind or in front of Rickey Henderson.

No doubt, George would open the pocketbook for that 1-2 punch.

Raines was one of 24 players who received a letter from commissioner Peter Ueberroth concerning the drug trial in Pittsburgh. Raines never testified Pittsburgh situation but he will meet with the commissioner sometime in January.

There has been talk of punishing the individuals involved in the cocaine mess but Raines said he doesn't think he will be suspended. Raines underwent rehabilitation for cocaine dependency three years ago and has passed all tests for drugs that have been administered by the Expos and an insurance company.

Isaac Williams, a senior at Florida State University, was named to the All-South Independent Team, which was picked by Associated Press. The 6-2, 250-pound defensive tackle is looking forward to his final game against Oklahoma State in the Gator Bowl.

Last year, FSU assistant Jim Gladden said he thought Williams could become a better player than former Seminole All-America Alphonso Carreker. Carreker spent most of last Sunday with Tampa Bay's Steve Young. He had four sacks while frolicking in the Green Bay snow.

Evans' FTs Nip Tribe

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

WINTER PARK — Seminole's Jerry Parker and Winter Park's Chad Evans took turns playing the hero's role Thursday night at the Rotary Tip-Off Classic Invitational.

Evans tossed in a game-high 30 points and continually beat back any comeback efforts by the Seminoles. Parker popped off the bench to score 19 points and attempt to get the Tribe over the hump.

As commonly occurs with heroes, the star with the last opportunity makes the headline. Evans last chance came with 14 seconds left when he calmly dropped in a pair of free throws to give Winter Park a two-point lead.

Parker's last chance never materialized. A poorly thrown pass with eight seconds to play denied the Seminoles of a chance to tie and Winter Park held on for a 65-63 victory over the Seminoles in losers' bracket prep basketball at Winter Park High School.

The setback sends the Tribe home with a 1-2 mark, both losses coming in the tournament after an opening win Tuesday at DeLand. Coach Bo Clark's Wildcats, 1-1, play the winner of today's Mainland-West Orange game Saturday at 5:30 p.m. for the consolation championship.

In Thursday's other action, Orlando Jones sped past West Orange, 76-65, to move into tonight's semifinal game with Edgewater at 9. Edgewater slipped past Daytona Beach Mainland, 52-51. Daytona Beach Seabreeze plays Oak Ridge in tonight's 7 o'clock game.

Seminole coach Bill Klein attributed the setback to overconfidence and a coaching mistake. "If we had a coach we would have won," Klein said. "I should have called a timeout with 27 seconds left. That was my fault."

"But from the beginning I didn't have a good feeling about this game. The kids watched them (Winter Park) play Seabreeze and get blown out (67-46) Wednesday. They figured it was going to be an easy game."

Parker, who hit 8 of 11 floor shots and three free throws, echoed his coach's sentiments. "That was it," the sharpshooting junior said about the Seminoles' overconfidence. "We saw them get whopped Wednesday night and we came in thinking we'd win easy."

The Wildcats didn't have a starter over 6-3 but they continually out rebounded the larger (6-4, 6-7 and 6-7) Seminoles. Evans, in particular, was unstoppable.

When the Tribe went man-to-man, the junior forward beat his man on the baseline for easy baskets. When the Seminoles went zone, he penetrated and hurt the Tribe with short turnaround jumpers.

Evans scored Winter Park's first eight points and 10 of 12 as the 'Cats took a two-point lead at the end of the first period.

In the second period, Seminole missed a pair of one-plus-ones and Evans took advantage by scoring five straight points to give Winter Park a 19-14 lead. Seminole's Craig Walker and Rod Henderson then scored six points to pull the Seminoles within 21-20 but Jerry Magee, Winter Park's talented football quarterback, came off the bench to hit a three-point play for a

Nelson: Woodham Appears Reel Tough

Lake Mary's Rams will try to reverse the tale of the tape — the video tape that is — tonight when they take on Pensacola Woodham in the 5A-1 Section playoff at Lake Mary High. Tickets are $5 for reserved seats and $4 for general admission.

The Rams, 9-2, come off a 7-3 victory over Lake City Columbia in the region playoffs while Woodham, also 9-2, comes off a 28-12 victory over Jacksonville Ribault. The winner advances to the state semifinals against the survivor of the Merritt Island-Brandon battle.

Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson has studied the films of Woodham and said the defending state champions like to control the ball on offense.

"They've got them (the films) broken down for offense and defense," Nelson said. "The offensive reel is always bigger than the defensive reel. Their best defense is keeping the ball a long time. When they get the ball on offense, they keep it."

Leading the Woodham running game are tailback Jason Hawkins and quarterback Vince Dirden. The running attack re-

Don Sharpe: Titans' Disciple Of Discipline

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Don Sharpe, who became a prep football legend with 59 consecutive victories and three state championships at Adulsa, Ala., is on the verge of establishing that same reputation in Florida.

Pensacola Woodham's disciplined mentor has won two Class 4A titles in the past three years. Tonight at 8, he and his Titans, up a class to 5A after the realignment, try to take another step toward their third when they battle Lake Mary for the Section 5A-1 championship. Kickoff is 8 p.m. at Lake Mary High. Tickets are $4 for general admission and $5 for reserved seats.

A coach very familiar with Sharpe, former Oviedo High boss Joe Montgomery, who has unsuccessfully butted heads with Sharpe the past four years while at Pensacola Pine Forest. He said the Woodham whiz is a disciple of discipline.

"He (Sharpe) will have over 100 players on that sideline and not one will be out of place," Montgomery said via telephone Tuesday. "The offense will be at one end and the defense at the other.

Football

It's a very impressive operation."

Montgomery calls Sharpe's discipline and organization as the strongest link in his championship chain. Woodham, 9-2, lost to Milton and Pensacola Escambia.

Sharpe said this year's edition is not as big nor as strong defensively as past years, but the offensive line is prime cut. "As far as we're concerned, our offensive team is as strong or stronger than it's ever been," he said Friday morning. "The defensive team is not as big or as talented. Last year, our defensive almost singled handedly won the state championship for us."

Sharpe said, like most of the Panhandle teams, his squad is built around the offensive line. "Ninety percent of the teams in our area run the football," he said. "The teams are very hard-nosed and very accustomed to high-intensity contact. That (contact) doesn't turn them off."

Making the biggest contact for the Titans are center Chris Bromley (6-5, 225), right tackle Vince Sparks (6-3, 287) and left guard Ricky Faoro (6-1, 216). "Bromley is an All-American candidate," Sharpe said. "Sparks is a Division I player and Faoro is a very good guard."

Woodham runs its offense from a multiple formation which relies on the triple option. The three running backs who share the load are Cesar Jones, Sherman Saulsbury and Jason Hawkins. Sharpe has two quarterbacks, Bill Reifelder and Vince Dickens. He calls sophomore wideout Lance Sasser "his most talented player."

Defensively, The Titans play a 5-2 (50). Two of their better players — nose guard Eddie Boyd and cornerback Willie Blankenship — were hobbled by injuries the past two games but Sharpe pronounced them 100 percent today.

"Our linebackers look like clones," Sharpe said about Larry Brewer and Michael Daniel. "The only weight about 190 pounds but they will hit you and are very mobile."

Sharpe said the contrast in style between the Panhandle and Central Florida is his biggest obstacle.

"I know they have excellent quarterback (Shane Letterio) and two good receivers (Ray Hartsfield and Byron Washington)," he said. "The tailback (John Curry) is pretty good, too. From what I've seen on film, the games they have won, the defense has kept them in long enough to have the offense find some way to win it."

Sharpe said the Rams win with finesse while his teams win with power.

"All I can say is that they play a different style of football. It's not better or worse, it's just different," he said. "When we've gone to the south part of the state, it has tried to out-finesse us."

"They probably do a better job of finessing points and we do a better job of forcing points. I think they're going to come in knowing they're going to throw the football."

Sharpe said his defense is not as imposing as Lake City Columbia's, which Lake Mary topped last Friday, 7-3, for the region title.

"They're got a better chance of butting it out with us on defense than Lake City," Sharpe said. "Our defense is not as physical as Lake City but our offensive team is outstanding."

How outstanding? "Well, we'll find that out tonight," Sharpe added with a chuckle.

SCC's Efram Brooks speeds up court. Raiders play in Indian River tonight.

Poellnitz' Progress Impresses Payne

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

The Seminole Community College Raiders turned in their best performance of the year Tuesday with a 88-76 victory over Florida College. Florida College was unbeaten and the top-ranked team in the state JuCo poll prior to the game.

SCC was ranked second. With the victory, however, the Raiders upped their season log to 9-1 and avenged their only setback, an 81-73 decision to the Falcons on Nov. 23.

"It was definitely our best performance of the year," Payne confirmed Thursday night while catching some prep action at the Winter Park Rotary Tip-Off Classic Invitational. "We played good defense which enabled us to run. That was the key."

And it's a key which will unlock the combination to the state's No. 1 ranking if it works again tonight and Saturday. Tonight at Fort Pierce, the Raiders take on the Florida International University junior varsity. A victory tonight will set up a championship game Saturday with either host Indian River or Florida Memorial's junior varsity.

Basketball

Payne, for one of the few times this season, doesn't know a thing about the opponent. "I heard they played (Miami) Dade North close," he said. "But that's about it."

Dean Smith, Payne's bird dog on the scouting and recruiting trail, said he heard FIU "only brings seven guys and they aren't very good."

Regardless, if the Raiders play as if they did Tuesday, it won't matter. Freshman guard Tony Roberts put on a sparkling all-around show with 27 points, four assists and four steals. Sophomore guard David Gallagher handed out eight assists and came up with three steals. Freshman center

Vance Hall popped in 13 points and broke loose for two slam dunks.

Although the above trio performed well, third guard Efram Brooks, swingman James Morris along with forwards Claude Jackson and Carl Poellnitz caught Payne's eye.

It was Poellnitz' performance, though, which was most promising. The powerful 6-5 sophomore had bided his time patiently last year while sitting his transfer year out. He was figured to be a starter this winter but a stress fracture of the ankle knocked him out of the lineup before the season opener.

"Carl is playing a little better each game," Payne said. "We need him to go to the boards for us and use his strength."

Along with that strength, Payne said Poellnitz has a deft shooting touch. "He has an excellent touch but he has to improve his shot selection," Payne said. "Once he learns which shots to take, he'll be very tough."

Schirmscher Wins Nationals, Chases Record In 1966 Chevy

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Merle Schirmscher deals with Blue Book cars. As an employee of Jim Lash in Sanford that's only natural. But Schirmscher isn't showing the customer every car on the lot. He's got one that he keeps all to himself.

Last Sunday, it turned a nice hue of blue, too. Blue as in Blue-Ribbon winner at the De-Soto Memorial Raceway at Bradenton. Schirmscher drove his 1966 Chevrolet to the championship of the 13th annual Snowbird Nationals Superstock and Stock Division. He covered the quarter-mile in 13.75 seconds at 98 miles per hour.

"My time was one-tenth of a second off my fastest," Schirmscher, who lives in Apopka, said. "I'm pretty sure it will run in the 13.50s next time."

And Schirmscher would like that to happen this Saturday at West Palm Beach when he competes in the final National Hotrod Association race of the season at the Moroso Motor Sports Park.

Racing

The 30-year-old shop foreman of the Blue Book Service Center said he has an added incentive for the last race of the year. "We had the national record in our class until four months ago," he said. "Then, we lost it. I plan on getting it back."

Colorado's Frank Tolicky bumped Schirmscher from the top spot when he ran off a 13.81. "The colder it gets the better, though," Schirmscher pointed out. "It's denser air and the car will run faster."

Schirmscher said he has been drag racing since he first received his license 14 years ago. He has worked at Jim Lash for six years and counts the Sanford automobile agency and his wife Donna as the biggest supporters. "Jim Lash pays my entry fee ($50) but my wife is really my number one sponsor."

Schirmscher said. "She's an Orange County school teacher and she's been real understanding about my racing (career)."

The returns last weekend weren't too bad either. Schirmscher received $1,100 for his win, $600 from the first-place finish and another $500 in contingency awards for his decals.

Schirmscher's win came among a field of 37 qualifiers. The time runs were held Saturday before six eliminations rounds were held Sunday. He whipped Minnesota's Al Corda in the finals by 200th of a second.

"I had pretty stiff competition," he said. "I got a little bit better start and that made the difference."

Schirmscher said the start is where it's at in drag racing. "Cutting a good light is the utmost," he said. "You got to be rolling before the green light. Anticipation is the most important thing."

He'll be anticipating a record run Saturday.

Merle Schirmscher chases the national record this Saturday in his 1966 Chevrolet.

Patriots Thrash Wymore

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

Four players hit double figures and Lake Brantley played a tough half court, man-to-man defense en route to a 75-46 thrashing of Wymore Education Center's Bobcats in the opening round of the Patriot Tip-Off Tournament Thursday night at Lake Brantley High.

The Patriots go up against New Smyrna Beach tonight at 8 for the tournament title. New Smyrna Beach knocked off Lake Howell, 87-42, in Thursday's first game. Lake Howell goes against Wymore in tonight's 8:30 consolation game.

Senior guard Mark Moser had the outside touch for the Patriots Thursday as he poured in a game-high 20 points while sophomore center Darren Leva turned in a strong showing in his varsity debut with 13 points.

Veterans Dave Hardwick and Wade Wittig also contributed big to the Lake Brantley offense as Hardwick pumped in 14 points and Wittig added 10.

"We stuck with the half court, man-to-man the whole game and it worked pretty well," Brantley coach Steve Jucker said. "The defense pressured them (Bobcats) a little and we got a lot of steals out of it."

Brantley took a 17-10 lead after the first quarter the went on an 18-4 tear in the second for a 35-14 halftime lead. The Patriots went on to rout the Bobcats despite Wymore advantage underneath.

"Wymore was pretty big inside," Jucker said. "I'm sure they outrebounced us. But our guys held their own inside. Leva played really well for his first time on varsity."

Jucker made his head coaching debut in fine fashion Thursday but he also picked up a technical foul for coming off the bench when the ball was in play. A new rule this season says the coach must remain seated at all times when the ball is in play. "I forgot all about that rule," Jucker said.

Lake Howell, 0-2, returns to action Tuesday at Apopka. No boxscore was reported for the Lake Howell game.

LYMAN DOWNS DELAND

Lyman's Greyhounds journeyed to the unfriendly confines of DeLand High Thursday night and came away with a 56-49 victory over the Bulldogs.

It was the second straight win for the 'Hounds while DeLand fell to 0-2, with both losses coming at home. Lyman opens play in the Seminole Athletic Conference Saturday night against Oviedo at Lyman High.

Four players scored in double figures for Lyman Thursday led by T.J. Scaletta's 12 points. Ralph Philpott and Craig Radzak contributed 11 each while Brett Marshall tossed in 10. Junior guard Robert Thomas added eight.

"We had the scoring spread out well and the kids rebounded really well," Lyman coach Tom Lawrence said. "It's tough to win in DeLand so I was really pleased with the way the kids played."

Lyman held a four-point lead, 21-17, at halftime and extended the lead to six, 35-29, after three quarters. The Greyhounds then held the lead the rest of the way. Lyman helped itself at the free throw line by hitting 10-of-14 while DeLand hurt itself by making just 5 of 16.

Willie Smith led DeLand with a game-high 14 points and Deke Harris netted 11.

Along with the Lyman-Oviedo clash Saturday, coach Willie Richardson's Lake Mary Rams will open at home against Spruce Creek and stand out Jon Fedor. The 6-8 Fedor has already committed to Florida State and is considered one of the top players in the nation.

"We know all about him," Richardson said Thursday. "We're going to have to play real well to keep him in check."

Alexander, Anderson Dry Up Creek

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

For the past few years, Spruce Creek and the lead have been a contradiction in terms. The Lady Hawks usually play their tougher opponents even for about two minutes before the roof caves in.

Thursday night, the Creek didn't go up the creek until late in the second quarter. That's when Seminole High's pressure defense started to take effect and the Lady Tribe went on to claim an 81-51 victory at Seminole High.

It was the second straight win for the Lady Seminoles who stand at 3-2 overall. Seminole has a tough one tonight when it hosts Winter Park (7:45 start).

Spruce Creek surprisingly jumped to a 14-12 lead after the first quarter as it had little trouble breaking Seminole's press. Seminole came back to outscore the Lady Hawks, 27-9, in the second period to take control with a 39-23 halftime lead.

"We pressed them from the beginning but it didn't start working until the middle of the second quarter," Seminole coach Charles Steele said. "We looked a lot better on the press and ran the offense a little better. But we still need to be a little more intense around the basket."

While the Tribe's full-court pressure started paying dividends in the second quarter, senior guard Temika Alexander was cashing in from the outside from the start. Alexander poured in 18 of her 21 points in the first half.

When the defense tightened on Alexander, Catherine "Kitty" Anderson cleaned up on the inside as the senior forward tossed in a game-high 24 points, 12 of those coming in the third quarter. Freshman point guard Aretha Riggins had another impressive outing with 18 points, 10 assists and four steals.

"Temika (Alexander) was smoking from the outside," Steele said. "She only missed about three shots all night long. They (Spruce Creek) were backing up off of her and she was hitting. When they played her tight, we went to 'Kitty' (Anderson) inside."

Along with her 24 points, Anderson also pulled down 10 rebounds. Yolanda Robinson hauled down seven boards. Alexander added four assists and four steals to her 21-point performance.

"Temika (Alexander) and Aretha (Riggins) complimented each other very well tonight," Steele said.

"We're still showing our inexperience though," added Steele. "We only have two girls that played a lot on varsity last year. When we play teams like Winter Park the inexperience hurts us. But we should give them a good game if we play well around the basket and if Kim (Johnson) is ready to go."

Steele said Johnson, a 6-0 senior, missed school Thursday and couldn't play in the game.

Freshman Leads USC Turnaround

United Press International

Nothing like freeway traffic and guacamole to find that winning groove again.

The Trojans of Southern California recently went East for two games. They should have kept going until hitting the Irish coast.

First came a 102-68 blowout at Syracuse in the craziness of the Carrier Dome. Two nights later they were worked over in a Philadelphia gym, losing 63-54 to Penn.

They regained their equilibrium in Los Angeles Thursday night with an 84-62 victory over Texas. Freshman Tom Lewis scored 30 points — the most by a USC freshman since Cliff Robinson's 39 in 1978 — and Larry Friend collected 14 assists.

"We practiced for 3 1/2 hours yesterday and it helped," said Lewis, a 6-foot-7 forward. "We came out hard and played hard. The team is playing well and Larry is getting me the ball."

Lewis struck for 19 points in the opening half, including 10 of his squad's first 11. The Trojans broke the game open seven minutes into the second half, pulling in front 53-40 lead on Lewis' breakaway layup.

"Tom Lewis got us off to a great start," USC coach Stan Morrison said. "He shot well and got out on the break. He got rebounds and made nice passes. He is a fine shooter but tonight he also defended well, carried out his assignments and ran hard."

Texas, which committed 24 turnovers, was led by Patrick Fair with 20 points.

"We didn't respond from our last game and USC did," Texas coach Bob Weltlich said. "It's harder when you're on the road, but that's no excuse."

Basketball

Elsewhere, with no Top 20 teams playing: Paul Fortier scored 9 straight points over four minutes to rally Washington past Nevada-Reno 70-66; Len Bias tossed in 20 points as Maryland clobbered William & Mary 77-48; Lamar downed Texas A&M 68-59 behind Anthony Todd's 18 points; Scott Rose's 11 points and 6 rebounds carried Arkansas over Samford 72-51; Kevin Houston scored 17 of his 23 points in the final five minutes to lift Army over Dartmouth 58-55; Craig Burgess' 16 points pushed the Citadel past Morgan State 84-73; Louisiana Tech dropped Centenary 82-70 with Darryl Emerson scoring 19 points; and Kevin Henderson scored 24 points, including 14-of-14 free throws, as Fullerton State downed Texas Tech 80-67.

Leonard Taylor's 26 points paced California over Hawaii 87-71; Reggie Lewis hit for 19 points and Andre LaFleur 16 to send Northeastern over Vermont 65-50; Ohio State bounced Akron 91-73 behind Dennis Hopson's 27 points and Brad Sellers' 16 rebounds; Nolan Richardson, son of the Arkansas coach by the same name, scored 18 points as Oklahoma State edged St. Mary's (Texas) 68-63; Purdue stopped Morehead State 81-71 with Troy Lewis scoring 21 points and Todd Mitchell adding 18; Siena upset St. Joseph's 69-53 on 19 points by Eric Banks; and Rick Olson's 20 points sent Wisconsin past East Texas State 82-60.

Casillas Wins Lombardi

HOUSTON (UPI) — Tony Casillas, officially stamped as the nation's best college lineman, now wants to help the Oklahoma Sooners become the nation's best football team.

"There's not much you can ask for in a college career as a lineman," Casillas said Thursday. "To win a Big Eight championship, a national championship and to win a Lombardi."

Casillas played a major role in boosting the Sooners to the Big Eight title and Thursday, the 6-foot-3, 280-pound senior from Tulsa won the prestigious Lombardi Award.

All that's left now is for the Sooners, ranked No. 2 nationally, to win the national title, a goal within their grasp. A victory over SMU in the regular-season finale Saturday would set up the battle for No. 1 on New Year's Day in the Orange Bowl, when the Sooners play top-rated Penn State.

"What's more relevant to me and more important was to win the Lombardi," Casillas said. "It's every college lineman's dream to win the Lombardi. But when you have a chance to win a national championship and be recognized as the best team in the country, then I think that's more symbolic."

BROWN TAKES VANDERBILT JOB

HOUSTON (UPI) — Watson Brown, making his eighth move in 14 seasons, will return home to coach Vanderbilt.

Brown Thursday resigned his position as football coach and athletic director at Rice after just two seasons.

"I'm resigning, effective immediately, to go to Vanderbilt," Brown said. "It's the toughest decision of my life. But it (Vanderbilt) is home. It's what I've always wanted."

Harassed Officials Postpone Today's Semifinals

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) — Harassed officials Friday postponed the men's semifinals of the Australian Open Tennis Championships when rain, which has plagued this $1.5 million tournament, again washed out play.

Mats Wilander of Sweden, heading for his third consecutive Australian crown, led unseeded Yugoslav Slobodan Zivojnovic 7-5, 6-1 and was down 0-1 in the third set when referee Peter Bellenger stopped play following desperate appeals from Zivojnovic.

The match will be resumed Saturday before the final of the women's singles between Martina Navratilova and Chris Evert Lloyd.

The second men's semifinal between top seeded Ivan Lendl and Stefan Edberg of Sweden, will be played after the women's singles final.

More rain and thunderstorms are forecast for Saturday and Sunday, a weather bureau spokesman said.

Zivojnovic, seeded No. 66 in the world and unseeded in this tournament, slipped several times when he was serving the opening games of the third set and told the umpire he couldn't maintain his footing on the soggy grass center court.

"Do you want me to break a leg or what," he called out and Bellenger quickly called a halt to the match.

Wilander was in complete control when the match was washed out.

A capacity crowd of 9,400

jammed the center court despite the bad weather.

The 6-foot-6 Zivojnovic, who overpowered John McEnroe in five sets Wednesday to register the tournament's biggest upset, played well below that stunning form against the defending champion.

He repeatedly clutched his back and while he had trouble with his service, he volleyed with great power.

IN BRIEF

Senators Block Rozelle Power Move After Expansion Refusal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A measure giving the National Football League broad power over team relocations was blocked by two senators because Commissioner Pete Rozelle refused to commit to an expansion of the 28-team league.

Threatening a filibuster Thursday, Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and Charles Mathias, R-Md., prevented a vote on a measure Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas had given two days for consideration, ending Thursday.

Gore and Mathias both demanded NFL expansion in exchange for releasing the bill, with Gore pushing for a six-team expansion by 1991. Gore said he talked to Rozelle on Wednesday and Thursday, but the commissioner refused to compromise.

NFL spokesman Joe Browne, speaking for Rozelle, said, "We feel (the legislation) will bring stability to professional sports and will benefit sports communities, teams and leagues. Commissioner Rozelle did tell Sen. Gore this morning that the NFL could not commit to expand by six teams in six years as he had requested."

Senate sources said it is unlikely the bill will be brought up again until sometime next year.

The sources say Dole would have permitted a vote on the bill, but the threat of a filibuster doomed the measure, since the Senate is under the gun to finish budget and debt limit legislation.

Curry, McCrory Unite Tonight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The last time a welterweight unification title bout was staged, on Sept. 16, 1981, it was the biggest non-heavyweight fight ever.

The fighters' purses totaled more than $18 million and, by time the fight came off, all of America was quite familiar with the faces of Sugar Ray Leonard and Thomas Hearns.

When Donald Curry and Milton McCrory step into the ring tonight, they'll be fighting for a combined $1.5 million and clawing for recognition. In fact, the undisputed 147-pound title on the line takes a back seat to the improved market value for the winner.

"This is my gold medal here," said Curry, who is 23-0 but still feeling the financial sting of the 1980 Olympic boycott. "This is everything I've been looking for after the boycott. I've wanted this fight for a year-and-a-half."

McCrory, 27-0-1, is less known than Curry. He's less respected among boxing circles, too, which irks the World Boxing Council champ. Curry holds the World Boxing Association and International Boxing Federation crowns.

Iavaroni's FTs Spill Dallas

United Press International

After a disastrous game against the SuperSonics earlier in the week, the San Antonio Spurs vented their frustrations in Dallas.

Mark Iavaroni's 2 free throws with 18 seconds left Thursday night completed a late surge that furnished the San Antonio Spurs with a 120-118 decision over Dallas, ending the Mavericks' six-game winning streak.

Artis Gilmore, who dominated the boards with 14 rebounds, said he felt the Spurs had something to prove.

"We were totally embarrassed in Seattle," he said. "We decided we had to play with intensity and that's what we did. That was the key for us."

In other games, Milwaukee downed New York 105-95, Cleveland edged Seattle 100-97, Detroit nipped New Jersey 113-111, and Golden State whipped the LA Clippers 121-104.

Businessman Aim At Trump

NEW YORK (UPI) — Real estate magnate Donald Trump began hunting for a tenant for a proposed domed football stadium in Queens, as local businessmen took aim to shoot down the $286 million project in court.

Trump was selected Thursday to build the sports center next to Shea Stadium, on the condition that he find a tenant belonging to the National Football League team.

But businessmen in the borough's Flushing section who face being displaced to make room for the stadium said they would fight the state Urban Development Corp. project in court.

"We'll fight this for as long as it takes," said Richard Musick, president of the Willets Point Business Association. "UDC hasn't had the decency to sit down and talk to us."

Green, Quinlan Top Mixed Golf

LARGO (UPI) — Ken Green and Sally Quinlan Thursday revived the lost art of conversation.

The pair stopped talking long enough to hit some terrific shots en route to a 7-under-par 65 and a one-stroke lead after the opening round of the $600,000 Mixed Team Classic.

The 72-hole event is sponsored by J.C. Penney. Green and Quinlan, who met for the first time Monday after Donna White served as a golf matchmaker, blended their skills to pace a 48-team field through the 6,957-yard Barmoor course. The winning duo will split $120,000.

Lyman Overpowers 'Noles

The young Seminole High wrestling squad carried just six wrestlers for its match against Lyman's Greyhounds Thursday night. Of the six, only Tracy Turner came away with a victory as the Greyhounds cruised to a 63-4 victory at Lyman High.

"Lyman's a tough, experienced team," Seminole coach Glenn Makolin said. "We just don't have the experience they do."

Turner's victory came at the 157-pound weight class where he shutout Lyman's Randall Mathis, 9-0.

The best match of the night came at 128 pounds where Seminole's Sheralton Mays duced Lyman's Eddie Campbell. And it was

Wrestling

Campbell that came through in the clutch in the third period to pull out a 10-8 victory.

"It was a good, tough match all the way," Lyman coach Bill Scott said. "Mays has been a quality wrestler the past two seasons but Eddie (Campbell) did an excellent job against him."

Mays jumped out to a 5-2 lead after the first period but Campbell came back to tie it at 6-6 at the end of the second. Campbell kept the momentum going into the third period for the decision.

Also claiming wins for the Greyhounds were Andy Baber at 114, Hector Gomez at 140, Greg Hartman at 160 and Pat Perkins at 222. Baber came up with a pin in 3:50 while Gomez pinned Seminole's Troy Rollins in 1:30. Hartman pinned Keith Redwine in 1:43 and Perkins had the quickest pin of the night as he flattened Mark Willis in 30 seconds.

Lyman's junior varsity also came away with a lopsided victory, 48-12 over Seminole. All of Seminole's points came by forfeits. — Chris Pieter 24-20 lead.

Parker, who was bothered by a bad knee last year, then started rolling. He popped in a long jumper and then converted two free throws for a 24-24 tie. Evans came back with two free throws by Walker scored underneath to pull the Tribe even again.

The teams traded baskets the final minute of the half until Bret Munsey dropped two free throws with eight seconds to go. Seminole, though, hustled the ball up the floor and Parker swished a jumper to send the teams into halftime at 30-30.

In the third quarter, Seminole stayed close but could never pull even. A four-point flurry from a spread offense in the final 25 seconds sent the Wildcats into the final eight minutes with a 51-46 edge.

The Seminoles finally deaddocked the game early in the fourth when Henderson hit a free throw. Parker connected from 12 feet and Whitney nailed four consecutive free throws for a 53-53 tie with 5:30 to play.

Winter Park resumed the lead, however, when Magee converted a foul shot and James Carter hit a layup for a 58-55 lead. Three minutes later, Seminole finally got over the hump when Parker hit a 12-footer and Whitney canned a foul line jumper.

After Winter Park missed a free throw, Parker drove the middle and whipped a superb pass to Henderson underneath. The 6-4 junior muscled it in with a nice baseline move for a 63-62 Seminole lead with 32 seconds to play.

Henderson, however, was whistled for a foul when he reached in at Magee near the sideline. Magee dropped the first free throw and missed the second. "That's when I should have called time out," Klein lamented.

He didn't and Whitney rushed the ball up the court. He tried to hit Joe Holden on the left wing but the throw the ball behind him and out of bounds with 21 seconds left. Seminole still was in good shape, though, as Winter Park couldn't move the ball against the press. Seven second ticks down but Evans was still at the Seminole free throw line as Walker had him pinned down. With 14 seconds left, though, Walker fouled Evans, sending him to the line 70 feet away.

He hit both free throws for a 65-63 lead and when Robert Hill tried to get the ball inside at the other end, his pass was picked off. Porter couldn't beat the clock for a layup but the game was already decided.

Behind Parker's 19 points, Henderson added 13 and Walker chipped in 11. Whitney finished with nine. Holden pulled down 10 rebounds while Henderson and Parker had five each. Whitney handed out five assists.

Seminole returns to action Tuesday at home against Mainland.

lies on an offensive line that Nelson said may not be the biggest but is still impressive.

"They've got some very good blockers," Nelson said. "We've played bigger teams but, from their stance, their blockers' first two steps off the ball strike very quickly. The whole team is off the ball very well. I'm very impressed with that."

Lake Mary's defense hopes to keep Woodham's offense from controlling the ball. Leading the way are linemen Shannon Porter and Scott Ross and linebackers Brett Mollie, Ryan Lisle and Tom Kothera. All of those defensive performers had outstanding nights in the win over Lake City Columbia.

Lake Mary's defense has given up just 10 points in its last three games. And the defense gets tougher as the game progresses. The Rams have allowed just one second-half touchdown the past five games.

Woodham uses the passing game sparingly but it has been most successful passing when it gets in scoring territory. The top receiver is Sherman Saulsbury. Lake Mary has a top-notch defensive backfield led by seniors Ray Hartsfield and Byron Washington and sophomore Sheldon Richards.

"They (Woodham) know how to get the ball in the end zone," Nelson said. "Fort Walton Beach (Choctawhatchee) moved the ball well on them and guarded the pass and run well on defense. All of a sudden, a faked punt went for a touchdown and a flea flicker went for another TD for Woodham."

Lake Mary hopes it can get its offensive attack back on an even keel. Last week, the Rams were held to minus two yards rushing by the rugged Lake City defense.

Sophomore running back John Curry, who had averaged over 100 yards rushing per game, was held to 13 yards on 15 carries. Curry has 1,078 yards for the season.

"Lake City really stacked him (Curry) up," Nelson said. "I think he will be a determined runner tomorrow night."

The passing game provided all of the Rams' offense last week as junior quarterback Shane Letterio completed 11 of 20 passes for 170 yards and the game's only touchdown, a 23-yarder to Washington.

For the season, Letterio has completed 73 of 148 passes for 1,240 yards. Hartsfield is the leading receiver with 34 for 614 yards while Washington has snared 23 passes for 373 yards.

Tight end Dave Mitro has been a central figure in the passing game the past two games with four receptions for 105 yards.

Nelson said the Rams will have to mix it up tonight against Woodham.

"On defense, they don't let you do one thing too often," Nelson said. "They change their scheme to stop something that's working."

DUNKEL'S LINE — The Dunkel Power Rankings, which rates teams on the basis of margin of win and loss, has Woodham as a 22-point favorite. Woodham is the third-ranked team in the 5A in the Dunkel Index with a rating of 73.8. The Rams are 115th with a rating of 51.3.

Mitro Richards

in another game of interest, Dunkel has Merritt Island (72.1) as a two and a half point favorite over Brandon (69.5).

Change Medicine To Battle Side Effects

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I was overmedicated with Inderal, and dry mouth and throat resulted. I have no saliva at all. Will pilocarpine help? Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER — Even small amounts of the beta-blocker Inderal can cause dry mouth. Ask your doctor to change you to another medicine, rather than having you try to overcome the side-effects of one medicine by using another. Chewing gum may stimulate saliva production. Remember that dry mouth may be caused by factors other than medication, so ask your doctor about this.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What is an IGE blood test for allergies? Is it more accurate than the scratch test? DEAR READER — The disease-fighting proteins (globulins) in our bodies can be separated into groups: A, E, G, and so forth. By measuring Immunoglobulin E (IGE), allergists can partially assess a person's allergic response, the way the patient reacts to substances that cause allergies.

On the other hand, by introducing tiny amounts of material into the skin and measuring the subsequent swelling and redness, an allergist can determine precisely what components the patient is reacting to. Therefore, the IGE test gives general information; skin testing provides more specific data. Both types of tests can be useful in evaluating an allergic patient.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 29-year-old female. I recently found very unsightly broken veins on my thighs and ankles. What causes them? Is there anything I can do to make them go away or to prevent them?

DEAR READER — You seem to be describing a variety of varicose veins. The tendency to vein swelling may be inherited. Elastic stockings or supportive wrapping may help prevent further distension of the blood vessels. Elevation of the feet on a hassock or footstool (after work) may relieve pressure in the veins. If the condition progresses, you may have to consider surgical removal of the dilated veins, a procedure called venous stripping. Ask your doctor to keep an eye on the situation and advise you what to do.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My problem is very simple and not serious, but it is very irritating. All of my fingernails grow in a curled-down position when they're any length. I take vitamins and file my nails in the correct way. Do you have any tips on this problem? DEAR READER — I don't have any tips on your nails. Scooped nails which splay outward are often abnormal, but ordinarily, down-turning fingernails are OK. I suggest you continue to keep your nails short; in that way, you can minimize curling.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Last year "Politiken," a prominent morning paper in Denmark, celebrated its 100th anniversary with a bridge hand competition. Today's deal won the prize for December. Played at the Students' Club, it demonstrates how four defensive tricks are sometimes compressed into only three.

The bidding by South was aggressive, and perhaps West should have guessed that he should attack clubs first, but then we would have had no story. On the lead of a spade, declarer must suppress the natural instinct to win the first trick with dummy's queen. Instead, after winning in hand, South plays his diamond jack, a diamond to dummy's queen, and then a third diamond. East ruffs low and declarer overruffs. Now back to dummy with the spade queen to play a fourth diamond. Once again East must ruff low, overruffed by declarer.

A low spade ruffed in dummy allows the last diamond to be played. If East ruffs, that ruff will be with the heart king, and South can shed a losing club. If East discards, South lets go a club, and West ruffs low. However, if that is the case, when declarer comes back on lead and plays trumps, the ace and king will drop together.

If you want a moral for the defense, try this: Although it is a good rule not to lead away from aces against suit contracts, there are exceptions. In today's deal, for example, a club lead quickly beats four hearts.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 7, 1985

Conditions in the year ahead will be more hopeful for you than they have been for many years. You will be lucky in ventures that stress originality.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you've been thinking about initiating a new venture, you couldn't pick a better day than today. Roll it out to the launching pad and light the fuse. Major changes are ahead for Sagittarians in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have a bit of an edge over the other guys today in competitive situations. But don't get careless and take winning for granted.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A problem that has been plaguing you and appeared to have no reasonable solution can be resolved today. A chance remark by another could put you on the track.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be sure again today that the goals you set for yourself are meaningful and not frivolous. What you truly want to achieve, you can.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your luckiest breaks today are likely to come from group involvements. If you're thinking about doing something big, line up helpful allies.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There's going to be marked improvement in conditions that relate to your income. But all can't be left to chance; you'll have to do your share as well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you find yourself at a social gathering today, don't sit in the corner and be a wallflower. Benefits could develop through people with whom you converse. CANCER (June 21-July 22) This should be a very favorable day for you. In fact, something that has worried you is going to do a turnaround and work out happily.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't lock yourself into rigid plans that limit your ability to maneuver at this time. It looks like you'll be making revisions for the better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Continue to devote the greater part of your attention to materially meaningful matters. Your luck is still holding in these areas.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Get off to a good start today because the course you now set for yourself will be one you'll follow for some time to come. Think ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're in a strong position for financial dealings today. You can gain the upper hand, not by being aggressive, but by relying upon your instincts and timing.

Indoor Plants Not Immune To Insect Invasion

When we think of insects, usually we're thinking of outdoor plants and vegetables. But, your indoor plants are not immune to insect invasions. Usually our indoor plants are better protected, however, a number of insects may infiltrate your home in search of a leafy meal!

Major enemies of house plants include spider mites, mealybugs, aphids, scales, and occasionally a caterpillar or two. Spider mites are very small — about one-fiftieth of an inch long. They're difficult to see without a magnifying glass. They look like tiny spiders, and are usually found on the undersides of leaves. In a severe infestation, you'll see a fine webbing on the foliage.

Mealybugs are small, soft-bodied insects, about an eighth of an inch long. They're covered with a white powdery material. Aphids are usually less than an eighth of an inch long. They're pear-shaped, have long antennae, and two short tubes that extend from the rear of the body. Scales range from an eighth to a third of an inch in length, are covered with a waxy material, and may be circular, oblong, or pear-shaped. They're found on both sides of the leaves, and on twigs and branches.

Occasionally, you'll even find whiteflies on your plants. These resemble tiny moths, are about one-sixteenth of an inch long, and guess what? They're white. You can usually tell if you have whiteflies by gently shaking unsuspecting plants. If they're there, they'll swarm all around the plant for a few seconds. You can also find them on the undersides of leaves. When young, they resemble tiny green to white-ish fish scales.

Other pests include fungus-gnat maggots, psocids, and springtails. These are soil-borne pests and cause little or no damage. Large populations can become a nuisance. Fungus-gnat maggots are white, wormlike, and reach a length of about one-quarter of an inch at maturity. Psocids are about a sixteenth of an inch or less in length. They're grayish and may or may not have wings. Springtails are really tiny, usually white, and they jump when disturbed.

These are the most commonly encountered insects indoors — others may try to sneak in for a free meal. If you're bringing in new plants, give them a close inspection before placing them near your other plants.

If you discover bugs attacking your house plants, slow down, don't grab the nearest pesticide. You could be making a big mistake! You may be applying a pesticide that would do more harm than good. You may not even need a pesticide!

Those who believe chemicals offer the only sure solution to house plant pests are at least partially wrong. While commercial pesticides usually are essential for severe infestations, many insect problems can be controlled through regular inspection and proper care. You can control them before the situation gets critical.

As soon as you get a new plant, inspect it carefully, make sure it's free of insects. Isolate it for a month or so before placing it with your collection. If it is infested, this gives you time to recognize and correct the problem before it spreads. When potting plants, be sure you use sterilized soil and containers. This will prevent attacks by soil-borne pests.

If a pest problem occurs, and only a few are seen, the simplest solution is to physically remove them. Caterpillars, slugs, and snails are easily picked off by hand. Such villains as aphids and mealybugs can be seen well enough to be removed with tweezers. Aphids and mealybugs can be removed, too, with a cotton ball dipped in rubbing alcohol and stroked gently on the infested area of the plant. Be careful, though, too much alcohol will burn the foliage. Plants can be sprayed with a forceful stream of luke-warm water — strong enough to wash the bugs away without damaging the foliage. If you spray your plants once every two weeks, you'll eliminate nearly all of the common pests. Remember, most insects are found on the undersides of leaves, so spray these areas well. Plants enjoy a frequent shower — it keeps them clean and attractive.

Washing plants with a mild soap solution is another way to control insects. Mix teaspoons of a mild detergent in a gallon of water. Then apply the solution with a soft brush or cloth. You'll probably want to wash your plants outdoors, or in a large sink. For the very large plants that you cannot move, use a sponge or toothbrush to clean them. Most plants will benefit from a thorough washing a couple times a year. Remember, some plants with fuzzy leaf surfaces cannot tolerate moisture on their leaves. Other methods will have to be used on these sensitive plants.

All of these methods will effectively remove bugs on your house plants. They're simple and inexpensive. And, if you keep your plants clean, you probably will not have to resort to stronger measures. In cases of heavy infestations and certain persistent pests, it may be necessary to use a chemical pesticide. If so, check with your favorite garden supply store for recommended insecticides and follow directions exactly. Happy gardening!

Alfred DeLattibeaudiere Honored

Evergreen Lodge No. 23, Free and Accepted Mason Annual Thanksgiving Banquet was dedicated to Alfred G. DeLattibeaudiere, one of Sanford and Seminole County's well known citizens. Thanksgiving Eve was an evening to be remembered by Mr. DeLattibeaudiere, and many of the leaders who have worked with Mr. DeLattibeaudiere, as he is called by many in our community. Raymond Gaines served as Toastmaster for the evening. The Rev. J. C. Shannon gave the prayer and blessing. The Lord's Prayer was sung by Mrs. Evelyn Clark. The dinner of turkey, ham, collard greens, green beans, salad, rice, peach pie, potato pie and dressing was served to over 100 guests, who came to say thanks and give honor to one who has done many things in this community to make it better for all. Soloists were Mrs. Patricia Hitchmon, Mrs. Evelyn Clark and Mrs. Sylvia Stallworth. They gave beautiful renditions. Tributes from the community and friends were given by the Rev. J. Edward Connelly, Mr. E.N. Smith and The Rev. Amos Jones. These persons have known and worked with Mr. DeLattibeaudiere for many years. Through his concern for this community, we now have single-member district. The honorable Mayor Bettye Smith, Dr. Robert Smith and Commissioner Robert Thomas shared this evening with the honoree.

The Masonic Family was presented by Brother Willie King, 32nd Degree Worshipful Master. Awards and presentations to members and local community organizations were made by Brother George Myles. Receiving awards were East-West Kiwanis, AmVets Auxiliary, Ushers of Evergreen Temple, Celery City Lodge No. 542 and Evergreen Temple No. 321 Elks. Willie King, W. M., Barbara Jackson, W.M., O.R. Jackson, Anthony Duval, Bernard Mitchell, Raymond Bellamy, Walter Mosley, Theodore Davis, Elaine Crumly and participants of the program. The honoree was presented with a plaque from Evergreen Lodge 23 Mason for his dedicated service to the Masonic Lodge and community. Give thanks to one who works with us and for us. The honoree was most appreciative to the Masonic Family, local representatives of the government, friends, and well wishers for their thoughtfulness of him.

Allen Chapel AME Church will observe their Annual Homecoming Service Sunday, Dec. 8, at 11 a.m. Guest speaker for the service, Professor Willie C. Holt, principal of Milwee Middle School, will speak on the theme: Commitments To God and The Church. The community is invited to worship at 1203 Olive Avenue. Mrs. Lorraine R. Offer, Chairlady. The Rev. John H. Woodard, Pastor.

Husband A Tax Dodger

DEAR ABBY: I have been a housewife for all our married years, never having held a job outside the home. My husband owns his own business.

In the last six years, he has not filed state or federal income tax. It was not his intention to defraud the government, but actually a case of poor bookkeeping methods and his inability to afford an accountant.

If the government catches up with him, would I be equally guilty? Could I be arrested?

I dearly wish he would file his taxes, pay what he owes and get it over with, but I have no control over his business affairs, and I don't want to be a nagging wife. The business is in his name only.

Would I be held liable for his past taxes during the years we were married?

Please answer in the newspaper. Obviously, I cannot risk having your answer delivered to our home in a Dear Abby envelope.

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: First, when a personal reply is requested, the writer sends a stamped, self-addressed envelope so there is no indication that the letter is from "Dear Abby."

Dear Abby

Second, although I am not qualified to answer legal questions, I can offer some free advice: Tell your husband to see a lawyer immediately about his failure to file state and federal income tax. If he turns himself in before he is discovered, the penalty will probably be considerably lighter. Then, ask his lawyer (or another one) what your liability would be as a spouse or ex-spouse.

Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. All correspondence is confidential.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Federal Agents Capture Armed And Highly Sought Fugitive

KEY LARGO (UPI) — Federal agents have captured a heavily armed and highly sought fugitive in the Florida Keys as he was planning an escape to Central America, the U.S. Marshals Service reported.

Following an intensive investigation by U.S. marshals and agents of the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, deputies surrounded a 31-foot boat and arrested Larry Cooper, 52, late Wednesday night. He was jailed Thursday at the Metropolitan Correctional Institution near Miami pending a hearing on firearms violations and violation of parole charges.

U.S. Marshal Daniel Horgan of Miami said a loaded machine gun, a 9-mm semi-automatic handgun, and "Rambo type" knives were confiscated from the boat on which Cooper was living at a Key Largo marina under the assumed name of Kenneth Hutchinson, Horgan said.

Cooper admitted he was planning to flee the United States to Central America as soon as financially able to do so, the marshal said.

Convicted Non-Doctor Appeals

PALATKA (UPI) — A lawyer for a retired Air Force colonel convicted of dispensing homespun remedies without a license says his client could die in jail because he is unable to raise the $100,000 appeal bond.

"He is in very poor health and will soon die if he does not get out where he will be able to take his remedies for a heart condition," said Robert Altman, Tracy Baker's defense lawyer. "He just does not have that kind of money. He does not even have the $10,000 it would take to secure the bond."

Baker, 63, was sentenced last month to five years in prison after he was convicted on 20 counts of practicing medicine without a license.

Baker's secretary, Emma Dupree, said Thursday his former patients and colleagues were trying to raise money for Baker's bond.

Cocaine Now Comes In Rocks

MIAMI (UPI) — The number of people getting addicted to cocaine is growing rapidly because of the increasing popularity of a cheap and relatively new form of the drug sold on the streets called "rocks," narcotics experts report.

Rock cocaine is sold in a pre-processed, purified form to enable users to freebase the powerful stimulant. It has been responsible for a growing number of users who abandon the more traditional and expensive practice of snorting the drug and turn to the "higher highs" of freebasing, the term referring to the act of smoking cocaine, police and drug experts said.

A single rock of cocaine, which is white and gives users an intense five-minute high, is about the size of a pencil eraser, weighs about one-third of a gram and sells for $10, said Sgt. Mike Lowe, head of the Miami Beach police department's narcotics division.

...Fire

State fire marshals spent this morning digging out the rubble of a warehouse that caused the big fire which melted skylights and ceiling lamps and employees producing its effect on their holidays. The fire apparently started in the building's second floor office, fire marshal John Fitzgerald said.

The shop is located behind Sanford's Amtrak station and did not cause delays in this morning's train operations, an Amtrak spokesman said.

Sanford Fire Chief Tom Hickson and 10 of his men responded to the 12:07 a.m. call and were able to bring the fire under control within a half-hour, according to Sanford Fire Department investigator Mike Hoening.

Contained in the burnt-out office was $300-$400 in petty cash, a computer, a copy machine, wheel testing devices, desks and file cabinets containing wheel blueprints, ARSC lead mechanic William Miro said. When the office collapsed during the blaze, it destroyed a wheel mounting machine located below it. He declined to estimate costs for repair of the warehouse and replacement of its damaged equipment.

Miro said the shop services wheels from Amtrak, Garrett and Ringling Bros. and is owned by Horace Orr, who also leases Amtrak the land for its station.

Miro and fellow employees watched the fire marshals at work this morning, they remarked at the extent of its damage to the shop, as well as to their Christmas holidays.

"It looks like I'm out of a job," Miro said. "This couldn't have come at a worse time."

Fire marshal John Fitzgerald said it looked as though the 16-year-old building could be repaired, although "They've got a lot of work ahead of them."

Fitzgerald also applied the statement to his own efforts.

"When I got here last night I thought it wouldn't take us more than a couple of hours to figure out the cause," he said. At 10 a.m., the fire marshal was still sifting through the rubble and collecting clues to determine the fire's origin.

...Gang

racketeering and conspiracy to racketeer, and some are charged with grand theft and burglary, he said.

Most of the arrests, which included the arrest of a Nashville, Tennessee policeman, were made in Nashville. The policeman is accused, Solomons said, of serving as lookout in at least three Tennessee incidents where a police radio was monitored and the gang warned when police had picked up silent alarms.

The arrests follow a six-month investigation by Florida Department of Law Enforcement agents, Orange County sheriff's deputies, Altamonte Springs and Longwood police, and Tennessee police, Solomons said.

About half the three dozen or more burglaries reportedly linked to the gang occurred in Central Florida.

Also arrested was Larry M. Brewer, 43, of Nashville, James Brewer's brother. Solomons said Larry Brewer was on workrelease from a Tennessee jail when he allegedly participated in some of the burglaries.

Others arrested are: David Kevin Duchac, 41, of Nashville; and Nashville policeman Morris McKansie, 41, assigned to a youth unit.

There may be additional arrests, Solomons said.

Asked how the crime ring was identified, Maroney would say only that a "concerned citizen" aided police.

"The perfect crime is one you commit yourself with what you're doing only between you and God," he said. "If it's not between just you and God, you'll get caught sooner or later."

...Zoo

they are doing, I am concerned about keeping the zoo here."

He said if the Seminole County group was successful in keeping a zoo in Sanford, it would have to be supported by tax dollars to be successful.

"We've had a zoo here 80 years. People like it. People have always liked it. It's a good place to take your grandchildren, or to sit and meditate."

"I'm not discouraged. They would have to react in some way against our efforts to keep it here," he said. His group has proposed a 15 cents per $1,000 property valuation tax in Seminole County to support a zoo.

Rozon is proposing a tri-county 25 cents tax per $1,000 evaluation to support a $30-million zoo. He said the zoo has been working on such a proposal for 7 months and did not borrow the idea from the Seminole County group. He met with Seminole County Commissioners Sandra Glenn, Barbara Christensen, and Bob Sturm, and with all five Orange County commissioners.

"My basic problem with it is that they are trying to get it with a property tax," said Mrs. Christensen. "I don't think the citizens of Sanford will vote for a property tax to move the zoo," she said.

Mrs. Christensen said she preferred to see a tri-county zoo supported with a tourist tax adding that she did not think voters would support a Sanford zoo with a property tax.

"We should have a tourist tax in Seminole County," Mrs. Christensen said. "It's not going to hurt us to have a tourist tax and it's a good source of revenue for us," she said.

Mrs. Christensen said she has seen a state-of-the-art zoo in Miami and thinks such a zoo, where the animals are kept in natural, non-caged surroundings, does benefit a community.

She said if the zoo does move to Orange County, a zoo of small animals might be kept at the Sanford site, probably supported by admissions and local businesses.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff call the tri-county proposal "interesting" and said both referendums could be placed on a ballot.

Commissioner Bob Sturm, chairman of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners, said he would probably recommend that the commission approve both proposals be placed on the ballot.

Haralson said a $220,000 matching grant from the Central Florida Capital Funds Committee will be used to help fund the facility, meaning $254,000 must still be raised.

About $135,000 has already been donated by the YMCA board and what Haralson called "key community leaders." In February, the organization will begin a campaign to seek public support for the local YMCA building, he said.

Haralson said the facility will serve 5,000 program participants and estimated construction will begin "as soon as possible" after the property is purchased.

He said the site on Longwood Lake Mary Road is a "good central location to serve Seminole County."

The YMCA lost its bid for a five-acre tract near Lake Mary Brantley High School last July when the County Board of Adjustment denied a special exception to permit construction of the 12,000 square foot building on agriculturally zoned land.

A subsequent appeal of the adjustment board's decision was also denied by the county commission.

but that five meetings which were scheduled over the last two months to talk about the three men's work programs were cancelled by Hooper.

"There were some problems, but not with my job performance," he said. Carswell indicated those problems were between him and his staff in the parks and recreation division.

"Apparently, someone there wields more power with the county than I do," he said.

Carswell also said he had not spoken with any county commissioners about his resignation and said he does not plan to appeal the action.

He said he has no immediate plans for the future except to "take it easy through the Christmas vacation," but after that he plans to seek another position.

Carswell said that he was unsure of his plans "because I had not planned to depart from county service."

"I wish the county well and I will go forward from here," he said. "It has been a big jolt, but I will bounce back."

Carswell has been employed with the county since March 1976. He leaves a $35,100-a-year position as parks and recreation manager.

George could not be reached for comment.

In Praise Of Teepees

Facing The Wilderness Indian Style

Tepees — Mansions Of The Camping World

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Some who have the urge to get away from it all trade the rumble of their garbage disposal and dishwasher for the roaring engine of a recreation vehicle.

Other more rustic types take to the woods in a tent, but perhaps don't completely cut their ties with their battery-powered television.

But there are others, the true lovers of the primitive yet practical who put up a tepee and for the short term live the traditional lifestyle of the American Indian.

That's the way of Sanford's Robert Bronson, who, when he takes to the wilderness, wouldn't think of going without one of his three Cheyenne style tepees, which he said are actually lodges, not tepees.

"Once you've camped in one you won't be comfortable in a regular tent. It's a lot of work and a lot of free-for-all to put it up, but the enjoyment you have is worth the free-for-all," he said.

Bronson, 38, may call his tepee a lodge but that doesn't change the shape of things. His portable housing, which consists of cream-colored canvas covering stretched into pyramid shape over a network of 18 poles, stands about 20 feet high and covers a circular space of from 14 to 18 feet.

Working alone, it takes Bronson about 2 1/4 hours to set up one of his lodges, with stakes placed at the bottom to anchor the structure and to hold the bottom of the tepee up to allow passage of air into his lodge.

The air is a must to feed the campfire Bronson builds, as needed for cooking or heat in the center of the tepee.

A fire inside a tent you ask? The Indians planned it that way, Bronson said, and it's a perfect plan as long as you use common sense and don't over build the blaze, which is placed in a pit dug into the ground in the center of the tepee.

The opening in the top of the tepee where the poles meet in a point serves as a chimney, creating an ideal operation, Bronson said.

"You close it up and it leaks a little, but it's dry, but you can cook in it," he said. "If it's snowing outside you can walk around in a T-shirt if you've got a fire going. You can't build a fire in a modern tent."

Bronson is so taken with tepees that he has purchased three from a Jacksonville supplier who provides the canvas skin and liner for about $1,000 per lodge. He adds the poles for an additional $12.50 each and wooden pins that hold the flaps of the lodge in place at the opening and near the base of the structure, and the stakes that ground the bottom of the structure.

The flaps, which can be opened are the "air conditioning" system for tepees, Bronson said. And a covering of animal hides, which represent his kills and collecting make a snug, yet portable floor covering.

If you aren't a hunter, you can opt for rugs on the floor, he said. In the old, old days tepees were made of buffalo skin, Bronson said. But that changed when covered wagons came on the scene and Indians who had a knack for using what was available started incorporating canvas confiscated in raids on wagon trains into their lodges.

Portability played a large part in the Indians' choice of building materials and household items, according to Bronson, who said he can dismantle his lodge in about half an hour.

"A lot of people thought the Indians had a lot of valuables and they carried a lot. But basically they had what they cooked out of and hunted with, because the squaw had to take everything down and transport it. The braves didn't do anything. The less they had, the better off they were, Bronson said.

Bronson, a fishmarket worker, said he has always been drawn to the primitive lifestyle. As a member of the American Mountain Men, he meets with others of a similar bent from across the nation for occasional rendezvous where they live the life of the America of the early 1800's.

It was a time of Indian ways, he said, when the buffalo was "considered the mother of all. It furnished the food, the hide for clothing, the bone for tools, points for weapons. The buffalo is one of the strong animals in the Indian heritage," and it was even a major part of the roof over their heads.

The buffalo died out. The dreams of the American Indians were snuffed out by white man's aggression. But some, like Bronson, continue to live the Indian life in which the tepee plays a major role.

"For their time they were advanced, just like we are now," he said of the Indians and their expertise at developing a style of housing that remains functional. "But you're talking the early 1700's and 1800's, when nobody was superior. They used what they had at the time."

Actress Blonde Madsen Started Against Top

By Vernon Scott

UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Blonde Virginia Madsen, 24, began the three most important roles of her young career scared to death of her co-stars — Robert Mitchum, George C. Scott and Peter O'Toole.

The slender Chicago native had good reason to be unnerved.

She had barely been introduced to Mitchum for her role as the veteran actor's lover in "The Hearst and Davies Affair" before she was thrown into a kissing scene — her first day on the film.

Equally intimidating was her initial scene with Scott in "Mussolini: The Untold Story." She spent her first day on the set nude from the waist up in a bathtub.

Madsen had no intimate scenes with O'Toole in "Creator," but the Irishman's awesome, larger-than-life persona, had her too nervous to speak to him.

"I spent a lot of my life wanting to meet, work with and learn from actors like these men," Madsen said. "They were my idols. And there I was actually playing scenes with them. It was frightening. I was in awe of all three.

"But I believe people can create their own reality and project events in their lives if they care enough and are determined about it. I'd seen all three actors in movies and on TV and I did everything I could to make things happen."

Madsen moved from Chicago to Hollywood in 1983 and within two years completed four feature films and two TV mini-series.

In addition to her projects with the three heavyweight stars, she appeared in "Dune," "Electric Dreams" and "Captive Hearts."

She sees nothing incongruous in the fact that she played the lover of Mitchum and Scott, men easily old enough to be her father. With Scott she portrayed Benito Mussolini's mistress Claretta Petacci. Opposite Mitchum she played actress Marlon Davies.

In private life, Madsen lives with actor Bill Campbell, 25.

"I never went out with anyone even in their 30s," Madsen said, "but then before I met Bill I didn't date much at all anyway. I grew up in a family atmosphere where age wasn't a factor in relationships. I hung out with a lot of adults while I was growing up.

"The love scenes with Bob Mitchum and Scott were great. They are both very handsome men. I'd had a crush on Mitchum since I was a little girl.

"In makeup as Mussolini, George was really fierce looking and scary. I had to figure out what Claretta saw in him. It was obviously Mussolini's passion and his power over others. George is a very passionate man, too.

"I think I played my love scenes convincingly with both of them."

Phyllis Frellich and Ed Waterstreet star in "Love is Never Silent," a Hallmark

Hall of Fame presentation Monday on NBC. In the film, the couple — both deaf in real life — portray deaf parents struggling in a hearing world.

Bachelorette Larson Flirting Steve Wariner

By Jim Lewis

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Nicolette Larson says she's one of country music's most eligible bachelorettes and Steve Wariner is one of the most eligible bachelors.

They've been carrying on a "flirtation" but Wariner spends too much time on the road.

That seems to be the latest flash on the romance front from Nashville.

"I did a duet with Steve Wariner, which was a big thrill," Larson said. "I'm a big fan of his. I think he's a great singer and a nice guy. I tried to get him to go out with me but I can't seem to get him to return my call. We have a mutual flirtation society. We just tease."

Reminded that Wariner, who has just celebrated a No. 1 single, "Some Fools Never Learn," is unmarried and 30, Larson countered that she was "one of the most eligible bachelorettes."

"That's why we think we'd be such a great match," she only half-joked during an interview.

Larson and Wariner have the same producer at MCA. They sang a duet on the label's new Christmas album, seasonal songs by a number of MCA artists.

"I met Steve in a few places. I sang 'Tender Tennessee Christmas' with him and I was amazed.

"I had never seen him sing (in the studio) and I was amazed at how he went in there and whipped that song out. Besides that, he does card tricks. I don't know where those cards came from or went. I have a simple mind I guess. That was pretty impressive."

"But I was more impressed with his singing. We did some singing together and proposed marriage and had a wonderful night."

But, alas, since then Larson has returned to her home on the West Coast and Wariner has been on the road.

"Steve and I did a duet for my album (to be released next spring). It's inspiring to work with him. Yes, he's married to his work. It's tough. He's booked Thursday through Sunday."

Larson, who has been identified with pop music in the past, said she would like to lay to rest once and for all that she's a country music singer.

"I've worked out of Nashville for two years now. I've moved most of my business from Los Angeles to Nashville. I've burned a lot of bridges behind me. I like country music and I like what's happening in

Cheech & Chong Video

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cheech and Chong, the comedy team known for their drug-soaked satire, say they still use controlled substances but have stopped making jokes about it. Not a single drug joke appears in their latest album, "Get Out of My Room." Cheech and Chong are even sporting All-American haircuts and using music videos as the medium for their new brand of humor.

An example is their first single, "Born in East L.A.," a spoof of Bruce Springsteen's hit about a Vietnam veteran. In the hands of Cheech and Chong, it becomes an upbeat tribute to the City of Angels' Latino neighborhoods.

"I didn't try to make fun of his lyrics or parody them," said Cheech, who wrote the new lyrics to Springsteen's song. Richard "Cheech" Marin, wearing blue jeans and a baseball cap,idgeted during an interview at the MCA Records office in midtown Manhattan. Tommy Chong, who in the past was the leader of the group, sat quietly, occasionally injecting a comment.

Although their jokes no longer concern drugs, Cheech and Chong say they still indulge in them.

"Drugs are still a part of my lifestyle. I automatically reach for a joint and get high," Chong admitted.

"I plan to smoke pot all my life. I can't see when I'm 50, saying, 'I'm 50 now and I'm going to quit smoking pot,'" Cheech said.

Of their entry into music videos, Cheech boasted, "I think the world has too long suffered from the mediocrity of Stevie Nicks, Michael Jacksons and Prince; now it's time for us to make our video statement."

Natty Gann's 'Jed' Is A Wolf-Malamute Mix

Dear Dick — We have just seen Walt Disney's "The Journey of Natty Gann" and as animal lovers we would like to know more about Jed, the beautiful dog who played the wolf. — L.M., Blomarch, N.D.

That animal is actually a wolf-malamute mix, trained by a noted animal trainer named Clint Rowe. It took to movie work beautifully, and handled all the stunts required of it. It even jumped from a moving vehicle and fetched a rabbit for Natty. You can't ask more of a wolf-malamute mix than that.

Dear Dick — The answer to this question is a very important issue between my boyfriend and me. He believes the woman who played the wife on "MacGruder and Loud" also played the mother of Tommy in "The Emerald Forest." Could you give me the mother's name so I can prove that I know what I am talking about? — M.B., East Dubuque, Ill.

You know what you are talking about, all right. Kathryn Harrold was in "MacGruder and Loud" and Meg Foster was the mother in "The Emerald Forest."

Dear Dick — In which studio is "Cagney &

Ask Dick Kleiner

Lacey" filmed? Are visitors ever allowed on the set? No bets are riding on this, but a vacation spot could be. — J.L., Kalamazoo, Mich.

No visitors are allowed on Hollywood movie sets, unless you know somebody who can get you on. But "Cagney & Lacey" is shot mostly on location, all around Los Angeles. So, if you happen to be in L.A., and can make a few inquiries and find out where they are shooting on a particular day, there is nothing to stop you from going to where they are shooting and watching.

Dear Dick — I have recently seen Mary Steenburgen in two movies on TV, "Cross Creek" and "Romantic Comedy." Could you please tell me some of the other movies in which Ms. Steenburgen has been in. — D.B.,

Houston, Texas.

She is becoming one of Hollywood's busiest actresses, because she can play comedy or drama with equal facility. She won an Oscar for her work in "Melvin and Howard," and has been in such films as "Going South," "Time After Time," "Ragtime," "Cross Creek" and the current release "One Magic Christmas."

Dear Dick — Could you please tell me how I could go about getting the addresses to the actors and actresses of the TV screens. — V.S., Stratford, Mo.

It is very hard to get home addresses, and I think it should be hard. After all, they are entitled to privacy. If you have this powerful passion to write a letter to a star, send it to them in care of the program and network on which they appear.

Dear Dick: My family and I are old-movie buffs. We especially love musicals. Can you tell us whatever happened to Kenny Baker? He had a beautiful tenor voice and was in "Goldwyn Follies of 1936" and "The Harvey Girls." — Mrs. C.M., Hastings, Okla.

Kenny Baker died just a few months ago.
