

Roosevelt Asks Congress To Find Railroad Panacea

are suggested spreading of a re-organization procedure, and the possible establishment of a single court in charge of re-organization.

However, Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont) of the Senate Commerce Committee indicated he might call the railroad management and labor spokesmen into conference to study the idea of emergency legislation. Arguing that many railroads have already borrowed too much money, he said he was opposed to granting subsidies or loans on inadequate security to forestall receiverships.

Some of the recommendations Mr. Roosevelt submitted were drawn up by three members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Chairman Walter M. W. Splawn, Joseph B. Eastman, and Charles D. Mahaffie. The President summarized them as follows:

For "immediate relief":

- (1) That approximately $300,000,000 be made available from government funds for the purchase of railroad equipment, the equipment to be the security for the advances.
 - (2) That for 12 months the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be empowered to make loans without certification by the Interstate Commerce Commission that the railroad can meet its fixed charges.
 - (3) That other forms of government credit be considered from the point of view of public policy.
 - (4) That Government traffic pay the full rate by eliminating land grant concessions. (As a means of stimulating railroad building years ago, the government gave tracts of land to the roads, in return for a stipulation that government freight, troops, etc., be transported at reduced rates).
 - (5) That the commission does not feel justified in expressing an opinion for or against reduction of railroad wages.
 - (6) That reorganization procedure under Section 77 of the Bankruptcy Act receive the attention of Congress, and they suggest consideration of the establishment of a single court in charge of reorganizations.
- Long term proposals by the ICC members were:
- (1) That a Federal transportation authority be created for two years to plan and promote action by railroad companies to eliminate waste, a consolidation and coordination.
 - (2) That the Interstate Commerce Act be amended to broaden the powers of the commission with respect to pooling of earnings or traffic, to eliminate the consolidation plan and to approve unifications, that the authority be permitted to intervene in such proceedings before the commission, and make recommendations through the commission to the President and the Congress.
 - (3) That the authority investigate economy and all types of transportation, encourage special fitness and abate destructive competition.
 - (4) That attention be given to railroad financial abuses now under investigation.

der investigation."

While Mr. Roosevelt expressed no opinion on the advisability of these proposals, various of his aides did so in letters to the President which the latter attached to his message to Congress.

Secretary Morgenthau said he was "disappointed" and thought the program represented an "over-cautious approach." He opposed the creation of the temporary Federal Transportation Authority and urged instead the creation of a permanent department of transportation.

Emisary Sent To America By French Military Society

PARIS, Apr. 12.—(AP)—The accused chief of the CNAI, secret armed military organization, yesterday told a state national's inspectors one of the organization's members was sent to the United States "on a mission."

Eugene Deloncle, arrested Nov. 25 as head of the CNAI, said the emissary was a Frenchman named Mouglet but declined to disclose details of the American mission.

At the time of his arrest, police charged the CNAI was a fascist military organization but Deloncle stated it was merely an anti-communist vigilance society.

Police found in Deloncle's possession a check signed by Mouglet for a New York bank for $3000.

Deloncle told the inspectors a large part of arms and ammunition caches found in recent months by police came chiefly from consignments shipped through France for the Spanish government; and intercepted by members of his organization.

Numerous arrests have been made and large stores of arms and ammunition have been uncovered since the mission was launched an investigation of the CNAI.

Hardy Lawn Grass Tested At Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, Apr. 12.—A new kind of St. Augustine grass, recently offered for lawn plantings by various seed companies, is being tested this year by the University of Florida Experiment Station. W. E. Stokes, agronomist with the station, says the new grass is claimed to be immune or resistant to attacks by chinch bugs, which often damage lawns of regular St. Augustine.

The new strain is called bitter blue stem St. Augustine. Test plots have been planted at the Main Station in Gainesville and the Everglades Station in Belle Glade.

Mr. Stokes hopes to inspect the plots with chinch bugs this summer to determine immunity, or lack of it, exhibited by this strain.

St. Augustine is an excellent lawn grass, particularly for shady situations. Its worst drawback in the past has been its frequent susceptibility to chinch bug attacks. If the new tester has an immunity as resistant as claimed, it should find an important place among lawn grasses of Florida, Mr. Stokes says.

Growing of tulip bulbs has been a leading industry in Holland since the 17th century.

Harrison Insists On Elimination

President Says Tax Change Would Hurt, Not Help Business

WASHINGTON, Apr. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt urged Congress today to retain the principle of the bitterly-disputed undistributed profits tax, but met with stubborn resistance from the Senate Finance Committee.

Attacking the provisions of the Senate tax bill which would eliminate the undistributed profits tax, Mr. Roosevelt said it would substitute a flat capital gains tax for the graduated system now employed.

Chairman Harrison (D-Mia) of the Finance Committee said, "The Senate amendments will result in a tax on the income of the individual, but it will not help, but hurt, by these suggestions."

Bury The Axe

Plans are underway in the nation's capital for another gigantic spending program. Having failed once to borrow our way into prosperity, it now appears inevitable that we will go on borrowing. Having more than doubled the federal debt, having more than doubled the government's annual expenditures, having more than doubled federal taxation, reports indicate that we will now see some spending that is some spending.

There is no doubt about the current need of additional relief appropriations. The number of unemployed are increasing like leaves on the ground in the late Autumn. Able-bodied men are appealing for government relief work for the first time in their lives. Men who managed to retain private employment throughout the "Hoover depression", and others who, though unemployed for a time, still had meager savings upon which to subsist, now have no other place to turn but to government aid.

These people must be provided for. They and their families must be adequately fed, clothed, and housed, and we for one believe they should be given medical attention when they are sick, just as the children of the unemployed should be educated in public schools the same as any other children. This must be done, not only for their own sakes, as the only decent, civilized, humanitarian thing to do, but also for the sake of all the people, as the most practical way to meet a problem which otherwise would destroy the country.

But let no one say again that relief expenditures will bring back prosperity. Let no one be fool enough to think that going into debt on a national scale is any different than going into debt in an intimate personal way. And if anyone says again that the more the government borrows the richer all of us will be, that the more the government taxes us the better off we will be and in general the more the government spends the more we will prosper, let no one believe him.

For "pump-priming" by this time ought to be a thoroughly exploded theory. It has been given a first class workout during the past five years. And it worked exactly like a shot of morphine on a dope-crazed addict. For a while we enjoyed delusions of grandeur. We thought we were on the road to prosperity again and then the exhilarating effects wore off and we were back in the dumps. Another shot in the arm will have exactly the same effect.

It is no more possible for the government to subsidize permanently any widespread prosperity than it is for a city government to do it locally. It is no more possible for Uncle Sam to support his rather large family in the style to which they are accustomed than it is for the head of your own family to keep up with the Joneses indefinitely when he has to borrow the money to do it. It is no easier for a national government to avoid bankruptcy if it continues to spend more than it takes in than it is for a business concern.

So let an one rejoice that it has become necessary to launch another spending program. Let us accept the responsibility of caring for the unemployed, as a civic duty which must be performed but which nevertheless is a burden. Let us not delude ourselves with a lot of pennycock that the unemployment problem which is in the nature of a cancer can cure the patient. The twin issues of jobless relief and restoring prosperity should not be confused.

Additional funds might be voted at this time for taking care of all poor and unfortunate people, but at the same time steps should be taken to restore business generally to a normal healthy plane. Confidence will have to be restored among business men. Investors will have to be encouraged to invest. Efforts will have to be made to reduce the cost of doing business. And the chance to make a legitimate profit without having it taken away from you by taxation will have to be restored.

You cannot frighten the public into buying. You cannot cause bankers to make loans. You cannot bullyrag investors into making investments or bluff businessmen into expanding their businesses. This has been the policy of the New Deal for the past five years and it has failed to restore prosperity. That it has failed should be fully apparent to everyone. It is now time to try the more moderate policy of encouraging business and of affording a reasonable opportunity to earn a fair profit.

For until business is able to go ahead, the unemployed will always be with us, but the government will not always be able to take care of them.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dressner and their two children left Wednesday for Jacksonville, and there they will take the waterway to Philadelphia. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Moses, who entertained them with a delightful dinner party on Tuesday night.

Miss Ruby Loring was too well known to need any introduction to the public. No play is really a success without these two. Clifford Walker was the pit agent and Eston McAlexander as Aloysius Doolittle, but his humor created the fun for the evening. Alice Vaughn, who took the part of Marassa O'Kea, a movie actress was the envy of all the girls in the house. Quite a nice little amount was realized on the play.

Fiji Pigs And Dogs Harass Island Men

Pigs and dogs are fighting about on several islands of the Fiji group, with white settlers the chief victims.

On Tavuni and Vanua Levu the wild pig, eat the commercial coconut crop, spread young trees, and keep the settlers busy trying to exterminate them.

Settlers on these islands favor breeding a race of wild dogs to keep the pigs down, but from Viti Levu comes warning that this merely creates another problem. There, roving bands of wild dogs are extremely troublesome.

Mrs. Henry Wight, sponsor of the program who was responsible for obtaining Dr. DeLoach as lecturer.

Federal Penitentiaries Are Located At Leesworth, Kas.; Atlanta, Ga.; Lewisburg, Pa.; McNeil Island, State of Washington, and Alcatraz Island, San Francisco.

Dr. DeLoach's discussion was John Burroughs noted American naturalist, who has also written many well known essays and poems. One of the lecturer's slides was a picture of the original of the poem "Waiting," by Burroughs, picture in the poet's own handwriting.

One beautifully colored slide showed the four great men, Ford, Edison, Firestone, and Burroughs in a moment of relaxation and play, barefooted and wading in a brook.

The lecture centered around the camping trips of the four noted men with the lecturer, Dr. DeLoach, which were spent mostly in the Adirondacks. The lecturer discussed the slides presented in a most interesting manner.

Dr. DeLoach was introduced by Mrs. R. J. Holtz, chairman of the Literature Department of the Woman's Club, and following the lecture Mrs. A. M. Phillips, club president, expressed her appreciation to the speaker, and to the outstanding personality in the program who was responsible for obtaining Dr. DeLoach as lecturer.

Bury The Axe

Plans are underway in the nation's capital for another gigantic spending program. Having failed once to borrow our way into prosperity, it now appears inevitable that we will go on borrowing.

There is no doubt about the current need of additional relief appropriations. The number of unemployed are increasing like leaves on the ground in the late Autumn.

These people must be provided for. They and their families must be adequately fed, clothed, and housed, and we for one believe they should be given medical attention when they are sick.

But let no one say again that relief expenditures will bring back prosperity. Let no one be fool enough to think that going into debt on a national scale is any different than going into debt in an intimate personal way.

For "pump-priming" by this time ought to be a thoroughly exploded theory. It has been given a first class workout during the past five years.

It is no more possible for the government to subsidize permanently any widespread prosperity than it is for a city government to do it locally.

So let no one rejoice that it has become necessary to launch another spending program. Let us accept the responsibility of caring for the unemployed as a civic duty which must be performed but which nevertheless is a burden.

Additional funds ought to be voted at this time for taking care of all poor and unfortunate people, but at the same time steps should be taken to restore business generally to a normal healthy plane.

You cannot frighten the public into buying. You cannot cuss bankers into making loans. You cannot bullyrag investors into making investments or bluff businessmen into expanding their businesses.

Tennessee Valley May Be Huge Munitions Center

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Apr. 13.—(AP)—Proponents of a strong national defense have started a drive to turn the Tennessee valley into a huge munitions center. Plans to build a big factory here to make explosives and other war materials are being pushed with all the energy possible. It is believed that the valley is one of the best places in the world for such a factory. The valley has abundant supplies of limestone, coke, copper sulfate ores and pure fresh water. It has also a large supply of electric power.

With a little chemical magic and ton of electrical power the limestone and coke from Tennessee and Alabama with ammonia made from the air becomes ammonium nitrate and then nitric acid. Sulfuric acid, once a waste at the copper mines on the Tennessee-Georgia border, now is principal product there. Gunpowder, a high explosive, is made by addition of sulfuric and nitric acids to plain cotton. Muscle Shoals' shipped how easily it could be done during the World war.

Meanwhile Representative Atkinson, Democrat, Tennessee, said tonight a congressional investigation of TVA would result in a program and President Roosevelt could give the authority to move along military lines suggested in the TVA act, and predicted TVA would begin construction of munitions after the war.

Government officials who said they were considering a working out of such a plan, said unofficially the army has considered many factories being built here.

The Tennessee Valley already produces about one-third of the national supply of phosphates and nitrates, invaluable in manufacture of munitions, and has many factories capable of being quickly converted into powder manufacturing plants.

One plant at Old Hickory, Tenn., produced 1,400,000 pounds of smokeless powder a day during the World war, and still is in operation as a chemical plant. Located on the Cumberland river it has a filtration plant large enough to supply a city of Baltimore's size with pure water necessary for munitions manufacture.

TVA power makes possible cheap manufacture of munitions and with large supplies of copper ore in east Tennessee together with one of the largest aluminum processing plants in the world at Alcoa, Tenn., the valley could be easily turned into an airplane manufacturing center. Most of the largest manufacturers, it was pointed out, are located on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

Terrain is excellent for defense purposes. The valley is protected from the Atlantic coast by rise 8000 feet into the air, and from the west coast by distance. About halfway between the valley and the Gulf of Mexico is a United States airbase at Montgomery, Ala. The 1100-mile 45,000,000 field could handle almost any number of defense planes.

An air base in the valley would be less than two hours' flight from the Atlantic coast, Washington, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and New Orleans, and less than three hours' flight from New York and Miami.

Army engineers said they long had considered Nashville logical site for such a base. A 100-mile circle drawn about the city will run within a few miles of TVA's largest dams at Norris, Muscle Shoals, Chickamauga, Pickwick and the proposed dam at Gilbertsville, Ky., Fort Knox, Ky., with billions of United States gold, comes within that 100-mile radius. Nashville's 400-acre airport, one of the most modern in the nation, can be enlarged with little difficulty. The WPA is considering construction of a new runway there to give the airport landing lanes running in all directions—more than at any other. Within an hour's flight are three other important airports—Brmy approved—at Knoxville, Chattanooga, Memphis, and the six cities in the eastern part.

Found within the valley are raw materials for almost any munitions needed and the power—an estimated 1,000,000 horsepower within a 50-mile radius of Chattanooga, for example—for its manufacture.

Phosphorus, manufactured easily and cheaply with hydro-electric power, becomes important in times of war as deadly gas, tracer bullets, incendiary shells and flary signals. A phosphorus product is base for smoke screens laid down by planes and destroyers.

Chemists said the most important materials for explosives such as smokeless powder, cordite, dynamite and nitro-glycerine, TNT, TNA and picric acid, are found in abundance as limestone, coke, copper sulfate ores and pure fresh water.

With a little chemical magic and ton of electrical power the limestone and coke from Tennessee and Alabama with ammonia made from the air becomes ammonium nitrate and then nitric acid. Sulfuric acid, once a waste at the copper mines on the Tennessee-Georgia border, now is principal product there. Mr. Simpson stated it was one of the finest activities ever attempted by the Chamber of Commerce, and will undoubtedly bring about valuable results.

An interesting report was given by Mr. Simpson regarding tourist activities during the past season. This report revealed that the first meeting of the Sanford Tourist Club was held Dec. 21 and weekly meetings continued over a sixteen-week period, the final entertainment being on April 4. During that period twenty-one entertainments were given, including 18 various indoor programs, 4 outdoor picnics and 4 all-day river excursions. Attendance at meetings varied from 35 to 200 winter visitors.

The only expense to the Chamber of Commerce, in addition to increased utility charges for use of the Chamber of Commerce Building, was the Annual Tourist Reception sponsored by the Chamber's Women's Civic Committee, and that item amounted to only $11.29. All other programs were financed by members of the Tourist Club.

In making this report, Mr. Simpson said that too much credit could not be given Secretary Ralph Bagwell for his untiring work in promoting activities for winter visitors in Sanford and Seminole County during the past few months.

Directors paid a special tribute to the Women's Civic Committee, of which Mrs. Enoch Curlett is Chairman, for its outstanding work in furnishing tourist programs. The Committee was instrumental in organizing the Sanford Tourist Club, and is now planning in advance a program of entertainment for the Tourist season of 1938-39.

At the request of Geo. H. Bridge, Jr., a Chamber committee of five will be appointed to confer with committees from other organizations for the purpose of devising a means to send the local Boys' Drum and Bugle Corps of the American Legion to the Legion's state convention in Jacksonville next month.

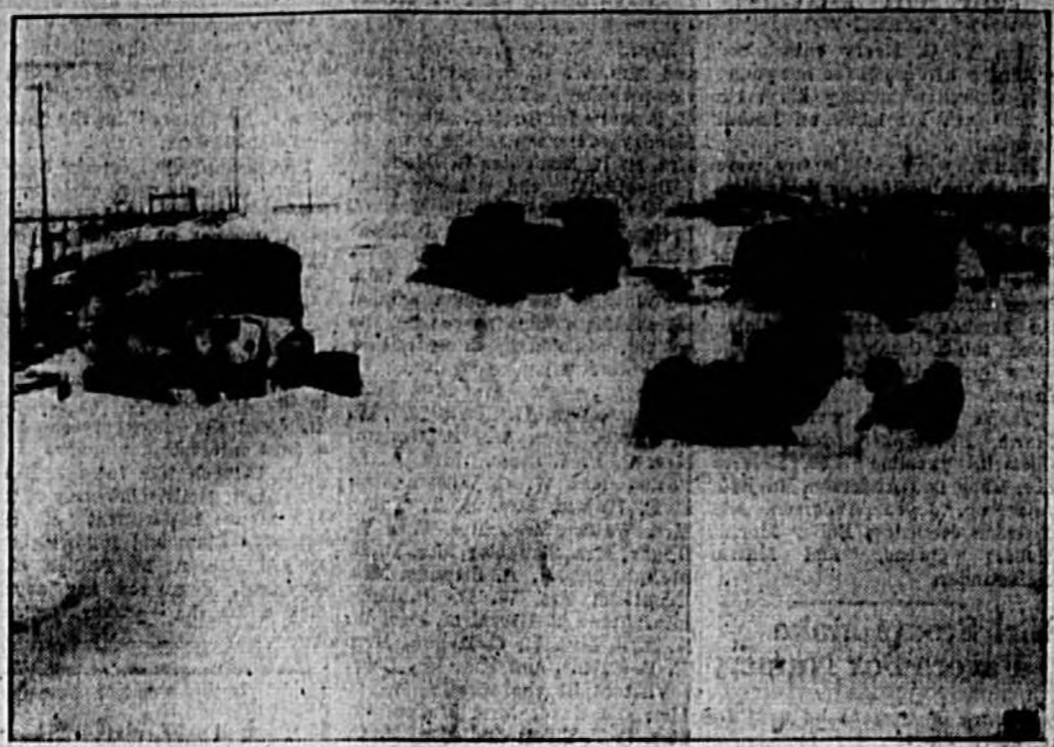

The week of May 8th was definitely set for the Chamber of Commerce annual membership drive.

The following were in attendance at last night's meeting: Mrs. Prudence Bruno, Fern Park; Gordon J. Barnett, Fern Park; W. L. Sieg, Geneva; Geo. H. Bridge, Jr., Longwood; C. E. Beary, Longwood; E. H. Laney, Palm Bay; and D. K. McNab, Palm Bay.

Also present were: E. H. Coe, Palm Bay; W. S. Coleman, E. L. Dean, J. H. Dinsfelder, H. C. DuBoise, H. James Galt, W. M. Haynes, J. L. Ingle, H. J. Lehman, John Meisch, Sr., E. A. Newman, Jas. G. Sharon, T. F. Simpson, W. H. Tunnicliffe, Geo. Weinstein, and Fred T. Williams.

The dedication of the new 4-21 club building at Macclenny last week drew an attendance of nearly 4,000 persons.

...schools using visual education as a basis of instruction made grades 10 to 20 percent higher than those where usual methods of instruction were employed.

He pointed out that this factor alone would greatly reduce costs of school operation through reducing the number of failures in the schools to a minimum. Using the average that 10 percent of the students in school fail and that the school operation costs per pupil per year is $60, Dr. Keeler declared that on this basis schools of Seminole County could be operated $12,000 cheaper each year by employing methods of visual education and at the same time developing to a greater extent the personality of students which is so vital after school has been completed.

After his present survey of the State is completed, Dr. Keeler declared that it is intended, through the facilities of the American Schools Educational Film Libraries, that an adequate supply of scientifically constructed educational motion picture films will be furnished the schools and colleges of this State without cost.

These films, Dr. Keeler pointed out, are the result of the collaboration of educators, research and production specialists and will depict all aspects of knowledge and the schools may select films that are believed to be most effective to supplement instruction.

Guests at the meeting today which was presided over by President Sidney Nix, in addition to Dr. Keeler were: Gordon Barnett, C. B. Schirard, G. E. McKay, T. W. Lawton, and Herman Morris.

Three Police Killed In Palestine Bombing

HAIFA, Palestine, Apr. 12.—(AP)—Bombs exploding in the hands of police investigators aboard a petroleum workers' train yesterday killed three officers and injured seven other persons.

Official reports said the bombs were found in suspicious packages on the train which was loaded with employees of the Iraq Petroleum company's terminal plant here.

The bombs went off while being removed by the police. Arab and Jewish workers on the train became involved in a fight when they accused each other of planting the bombs. Four Jews were injured in the clash.

In Spain liquid fire throwers, heaping loyalist barbedes with charred bodies, were reported last night to have burned a path through government lines east of Morocco to carry General Franco's armies to within nine miles of the Mediterranean coast.

Loyalist dispatches from Barcelona said Italian forces, wearing flared suits, mowed the sea-bedging liquid fire and that losses among the government's foreign volunteers were heavy.

The government admitted its troops were in retreat toward the southeast after attempting to stand up against the searing death apred by the flame throwers.

"If such ships are being constructed," a high navy official said, "they would represent perhaps the most powerful offensive sea weapon in existence. Of course they could not successfully engage a battleship in close fighting, but they would be tremendously more powerful than any American or British cruisers and their terrific speed would make them the scourge of world shipping lanes."

This country's heaviest cruisers are 10,000 tonners and are armed with eight-inch guns.

It was said in official circles that if the Japanese reports prove true, the United States may be forced to increase the size of her cruisers.

In addition to the super-cruiser program, Japan, according to navy department information, is constructing or has authorized construction of three dreadnoughts of 40,000 tons each, five aircraft carriers, 43 destroyers, seven light cruisers and eight submarines, for a total of 94 fighting vessels.

Physician Deplores 'Life' Photographs

TAMPA, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Dr. Howard A. Kelly, noted Ballimore physician and surgeon, arrived yesterday on his annual visit to Postmaster Wall and talked of Florida springs and snakes and rare sea shells, medicines and syphilis and "The Birth of a Baby" pictures in Life magazine which were banned for a day in Tampa.

He said he did not approve of the film showing the birth of a baby, nor of the pictures in Life magazine.

"There ought to be some privacy and reverence for womanhood," Dr. Kelly said. "The question of how far to go with boys and girls in regard to public morals is hard to answer sometimes, but I do not think such pictures should be in a public magazine, to be studied perhaps by a boy and girl together, who should not indulge in such freedom."

Mexico Rejects British Request To Return Lands

MEXICO CITY, Apr. 13.—(AP)—It was learned authoritatively last night that Mexico delivered a note to the British legation yesterday rejecting Great Britain's request that expropriated oil properties be returned to their former owners.

The note was in reply to a British protest sent to Mexico last Friday and made public last night, charging the Mexican government was motivated by "political desire" in taking the properties.

Mexico's note, informed quarters said, argued that expropriation was within her rights and rejected the British contention that the action was "political" and not in the public interest. The note also pointed to the government's expressed intention to pay the owners for the properties.

The reply will be made public here and in London today, it was announced.

A finance ministry source said Francis M. Hickat, British promoter, took with him when he left yesterday's draft of a contract for the purchase of many millions of barrels of oil—another source said between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000 barrels—at a price not yet fixed.

ed in Chicago gave Lydon 16,376 to 2060 for W. J. Baker of Chicago in what was nominally a three-man contest.

Circuit Court Judge John Prystalski, captain of the Kelly Nash forces in Cook County's major race, trained his Horners-backed rival, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, Jarecki, denied endorsement for re-nomination to the county judgeship, office controlling the election machinery, had 86,617 votes in 550 precincts to 63,922 for Prystalski.

Both parties nominated candidates for U. S. senator, five state offices and partial lists of legislative and county offices, but these contests were mere vehicles for the major clash between the Democratic organizations headed by Governor Horner and by Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Patrick A. Nash, national committeemen.

The Horner organization endorsed Rep. Scott W. Lucas of Havana for the Senate to succeed Senator Dielerich. The Kelly-Nash organization backed U. S. District Attorney Michael L. Igoe of Chicago.

While the Democratic vote gave evidence of approaching the record 1,697,418 for the primary two years ago, the Republican figure apparently fell short of the 1,000,000 goal set by party leaders.

Prof. Burgess Offers Chart To Marital Bliss

Ten Points Are Listed Which Make Or Strain Marriage

By AURELIUS KINSEY

Sweeping down Talona creek, a raging mountain torrent washed away a large general store near Jasper, Ga., carrying 13 persons to their deaths. Early arrivals at the scene here stand among the concrete pillars that once supported the structure.

CHICAGO, Apr. 12.—(AP)—Couples about to be married probably won't wait for Prof. Ernest B. Burgess' okay, but they might take a look at his charts after they've "gone and done it" just to see what are their chances for marital bliss.

Professor Burgess teaches sociology at the University of Chicago. He became so interested in finding out why marriages stay sweet or turn sour that he and his associates sent out 1,300 questionnaires to couples who had been married not less than one and not more than six years—asking them stacks of questions about themselves, their parents and their backgrounds.

From the answers the professor started 526 couples, breaking down the information into several groups from which he figured out some of the influences that make or strain a marriage.

Burgess' Ten Points

The outstanding indications can be condensed to ten points which a young married couple or even those engaged to be married consider as guides to their own lives together.

Here they are:

1—ARE PARENTS HAPPILY MARRIED? The survey showed that if the young husband's and wife's father and mother have enjoyed congenial, happy marriages the chances are their children will have such a union.

2—ATTACHMENT TO FATHER HELPS: The highest degree of happiness between young couples was found in cases where there was a strong attachment between the husband and his father and the wife and her father. Attachment to mothers rated second.

3—"ONLY CHILDREN" A

GAMBLE: The survey showed the highest number of happy marriages between eldest children from families of four or more members. Youngest children or a "only child" had the greatest difficulty adjusting to married life. As Professor Burgess expressed it, "The only child and the youngest child seem to be poor marital risks unless mated with an oldest or middle child."

4—OLDER SISTERS A MENACE: Attachment of the husband or wife to an older sister is apparently an "unfavorable" relation to marital adjustment.

5—LONG COURTSHIP HELPS: The longer the courtship and engagement the better are chances for complete understanding and happy marriage.

6—AFFECTION OR INFATUATION? One argument for a long courtship is determination which or the marriage shall be based on affection or infatuation. "Affection," says Professor Burgess, "means congeniality, companionship and common interests; infatuation is merely a romantic conception of love." Marital happiness is more certain and of greater duration when based on affection.

7—CHILDHOOD INFLUENCES A FACTOR: Similarly in the culture a husband and wife absorbed from their families during childhood and similarly of interests between husband and wife "show a small but definite relation to marriage adjustment."

8—RELIGIOUS AFFILIATIONS HELP: The survey showed the greatest degree of happiness between persons who attended church or who did not cease attending until beyond the ages of 19 and 25 years.

9—MODERATE INCOME HELPS: Greatest marriage happiness was found in the middle income brackets, or between $2,000 and $3,000 a year at the time of marriage. Professor Burgess said that "the occupation of the person rather than the amount of his income bears the highest degree of association with marital happiness."

10—CHILDREN? The professor characterized as "the most significant of all factors" the parents' attitude toward children. The survey showed the most favorable category to be that where the couple has no children but desires one. The second most favorable is that where the couple has one child desired by both parents. Unfavorable is that of no children and either or both parents wanting none. The unfavorable combination was shown to be where the parents have one or more children and wish they had none.

Several Nations Combine To Make Air Service Safe

NEW YORK, Apr. 12.—(AP)—A scheme to outwit the storms of the north Atlantic for the first time since ocean traffic started between the old world and the new, was in formulation yesterday for protection of air transport passengers.

The course of storms originating in the Arctic circle or the Caribbean will be plotted by an elaborate system of observations to which seven nations will be parties.

When giant flying boats begin carrying passengers, mail and express between America and Europe this year, their captains will be able to fly around, under or over the "storm fronts" of the Atlantic with the aid of precise meteorological information gathered from the "rim of the ocean" and from ships at sea.

Just returned from an international conference of the four nations planning on the inauguration of trans-Atlantic air service, United States representatives said facilities for the ocean-wide weather service to be set up would cost in excess of $1,000,000. Up to now, accurate weather information has been available to steamships and air transports over only the west half of the Atlantic. That service was only established in 1927, just prior to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's flight to Paris.

Weather reports will be made and dispatched from the British Isles, the North Sea area, the channel, Biscayne bay and Mediterranean areas, Portugal, the Azores, Greenland, Iceland, Canada, the United States and from the West Indies as far south as Port of Spain, Trinidad.

300 Members Of "Greatest Show On Earth" Strike

Ringling Brothers' Circus Hampered In Giving Performance

NEW YORK, Apr. 12.—(AP)—The Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus—"The Greatest Show On Earth"—was a shadow of its usual opulent self last night after more than 300 employees went on strike.

There were no elephants in the parade that opened the spectacle at the night performance in Madison Square Garden and the performers took only 10 minutes instead of the customary 25 to parade.

To top it off there were only two rings in operation instead of the famous five.

The greatest blow to the circus fans came when they tried to buy peanuts and pink lemonade. The hawkers also were on strike.

Outside, 18 pickets, six on each side of the building, paraded up and down. They represented 300 strikers, members of the American Federation of Actors-Circus Workers Branch, American Federation of Labor.

Higgers, property men, animal feeders, groomers, drivers, porters, canvas, baggage and wardrobe men are members of the union. They demand the same pay scale during the "indoor season" here and in Boston as they are paid when the show is under canvas on the road.

Inside, 15,000 spectators were in their seats at 8:15 P. M. when the parade was scheduled to start. Musicians, who were not involved in the strike, entertained them while hurried officials prepared for a curtailed performance.

About 300 policemen and detectives were in the garden. In the balcony were several strikers who kept shouting:

"Do you call this thing a circus? We want our money back!"

"Clowns helped to set up the rings and some of the rings."

The strike was called at 8:00 P. M. After Ralph Whitehead, executive secretary of the A. F. A., rejected Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's offer of mediation, Whitehead and John Mumford North, co-owner of the circus, conferred yesterday afternoon without reaching a settlement.

Then the Mayor offered to appoint an arbitration committee or to mediate the dispute himself. Whitehead refused and the employees walked out.

Referring to the union, North said: "They have refused to arbitrate. We haven't."

When the show reached the halfway point, North was introduced to the audience by the ring master. He made a brief speech thanking the spectators for their "heartening attitude" and paying tribute to "our loyal performers." He said the show would go on this afternoon as usual.

World-Famous Is The Mallard Duck

By "DING" DARLING

The ancestors of our domestic duck—

The wild duck of countries around the world, from Japan to France, from Mexico to Siberia, from Panama to Holland, the mallard—

Of the marsh ducks, the dipper and dabblers that dive but seldom—and feed in the shallows or ponds, lakes and marshes, the mallard and its cousin the black duck, are by far the most conspicuous.

The original breeding range of the mallard included practically every state in the Union. By stream and lake, in innumerable little pond holes—everywhere there was water and sedge, the "green head" drake and modest brown hen reared their broods.

The frenzy for cleaning the last square inch of wild land, for ditching, draining and cultivating, drove the mallard from much of its old roosting territory and yet the mallard remains the first known and most prolific species of our American waterfowl. Probably more mallard are hatched in this country than any other species of wild duck.

The one wild duck that quacks is the mallard, its voice being the same as that of the domestic variety. In fact, wild mallard so readily mingle with barnyard stock and adapt themselves to domestication that it has been difficult to keep pure-bred wild stock for experimental purposes and restocking experiments.

The hosts of mallard pouring up and down the Mississippi valley have, in former years, been too vast for any reasonable estimate to be made of their numbers. But civilization, with its twin menaces of drainage and death, pasturing cattle on the remaining grassy marshes and the heavy slaughter in years when there was no closed season or bag limit has taken its toll of even this most common species.

Now they're on the upgrade, and just so long as we allow ourselves to kill less than we hatch and rear each year, they may be expected to increase. The length of season and size of bag limits depend altogether on how rapidly we restore the population to adequate numbers by intelligent management.

Citrus Packing Is Paralyzed By Strike

BARTOW, Apr. 12.—Efforts made by John Snelver, head of the Citrus Packing Association, to replace striking fruit pickers with grove workers at his Star Lake grove, yesterday reported to have been frustrated by pickets who stopped trucks carrying ladders into the groves and threw them off by the side of the road.

Snelver attempted to resume picking operations in a privately owned grove at Star Lake yesterday morning sending a picking crew but pickers, picketing the grove, very soon persuaded the coming pickers crew to join the strikers lined up outside the grove.

He then attempted to put his grove workers to work picking fruit but this move was also frustrated when the strikers refused to allow ladders to be taken into the grove.

Both pickers and packers are striking at Cody's packing house at Frostproof claiming that Cody has violated a written agreement he had with the citrus union. The strikers also claim that he discriminates against Union men and discharged one of their number. Snelver's employees are said to be striking because of a one cent wage cut.

'Lasses' White To Appear Here With All-Star Minstrel

An unexpected incident that threatened the nation-wide tour of the famous Honey Boy Evans Minstrels of New York many years ago plummeted "Lasses" White, today's top one minstrel man, into the front ranks of minstrel performers.

That incident is frequently recalled by "Lasses", co-star of the blackface comedians.

"Lasses" and "Honey" team featured in the Lassie White All-Star Minstrels which will show here Saturday under the canvas of the nation's largest tent.

Mr. Evans, the star of his show, was suddenly stricken ill as the minstrel performance was scheduled to begin in one of the country's largest cities. Consternation reigned among the troupe, confronted with a problem that threatened the tour.

Up-stopped one of the troupe's young members, Leroy White, with the announcement "I can take his place."

The show had to go on and the manager, whose confidence did not match that of young White, called for the performance to begin.

An immediate success. White (later the famed "Lasses") plunged to fame as a blackface comedian. His success mounted and soon he headed his own company, the famous "Lasses" White All-Star Minstrels. Later he formed a partnership with "Honey" Wilds to give the nation its greatest team of blackface comedians.

In the Spring and summer he and his partner headline the "Lasses" White All-Star Minstrels booked to appear here, in the month that theatre, seating 3000 people on Saturday, Apr. 17, two performances at 8:00 and 9:45 o'clock.

Methuselah? Sanford's Oldest is 3500. What were the oldsters of Bible times compared to a canardite who started life before the Indians discovered this area of abundance—before record of human life in the Southeast—3,500 years ago? This oldest inhabitant is "at home" to visitors in a park just southwest of Sanford. A majestic cypress, the venerable tree is commonly called "The Sentinel". So large has the trunk grown that reaching around it takes eight men with arms outstretched, fingers just touching. The tree is 17 1/2 feet in diameter; towers 125 feet into the air. "The Sentinel" has lived beyond human expectations—slightly, perhaps—but many in Sanford believe the same clear, sunny air which has nurtured this tree preserves human health; that the wealth of outdoor sports here promotes happiness, and that the combination does make for longer, better living. Make Life Carefree Much is added to life in Sanford by low-cost electrical comforts. Correct, plentiful light; hot water at all hours; quick and easy cooking—all at a low cost that has been repeatedly lowered. FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT COMPANY
