Williams Wants School Agenda Published

By SHARON CARRASCO Herald Staff Writer
To improve the lines of communication with the public, Roland Williams, school board member, would like to see the school board agenda published regularly in a local newspaper.

When he took his idea to the board Wednesday, board members questioned whether publishing the agenda was really necessary and a "legal" expenditure of school funds.

Keeth said the expenditure would be illegal. Roger Harris, assistant superintendent for finance and business, argued the school board is required by law to publish the proposed budget but not the school board agenda.

Israel Vs. Lebanon: 'A Dirty Little War'

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — In the years-old war between Israel and Palestinian guerrillas, the rules suddenly have changed.

The shift naturally affects the Israelis who carry out the missions and the Palestinians who are their targets. But the Lebanese now suffer the consequences, too.

"We have to hit them before they hit us," said Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, a retired former chief of military intelligence and peace negotiator who heads the Institute of Strategic Studies at Tel Aviv University.

Combat in Lebanon has become a near-daily event for all branches of the Israeli armed forces — the air force, navy, commandos, artillerymen and border patrols of the army.

"The Israelis, that problem cannot be solved until the Lebanese government forces the guerrillas to evacuate civilian areas. Israeli intelligence estimates the number of guerrillas based south of Beirut between 8,000 and 12,000.

CANTON, Ohio (UPI) — Two football superstars, elected within their first year of eligibility; an American Football League great of the 1960s, and a National Football League star of the 1950s will be inducted Saturday into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

They would ever be awarded football's highest honor. Other players being enshrined along with them are Ron Mix, a premier offensive tackle with the San Diego Chargers, and Yale Lary, a versatile defensive safety and punter, who began his career in 1952 with the Detroit Lions.

He also ran back punts and kept defensive players on edge because of his ability to punt with the ball. He ran from punt formation 10 times for an average of 15.3 yards.

Sometimes the house that costs more, costs less.

$65,000

The new home above meets all the requirements of Florida's new Energy-Efficiency Building Code of March, 1979. It was designed with features to help conserve our energy resources. And it requires less electricity than previously built new homes.

Why? Because it has better insulation, less heat-welcoming window areas, and more efficient water heating and air conditioning systems.

The Code was a contribution to solving our energy problems, and homes built along its guidelines help the buyer save electricity. But not to the same dramatic degree as the Watt-Wise Living home shown on the right. ■

$66,500

A Watt-Wise Living™ home initially costs a little more. Why? Because it contains even more energy-saving features, and is certified by FPL to use up to 25% less electricity than the home on the left which meets the Building Code minimum standards.

But the initial additional cost, when included as part of your mortgage, is more than paid for by the savings on your monthly electric bill. What's more, you're making a wise investment for the future, because the energy-saving features can only enhance its resale value.

In short, the Watt-Wise™ home meets and exceeds the new Florida Building Code with additional energy-saving options.

These options can include: extra ceiling and wall insulation, solar and heat-recovery units for water heating, a higher-efficiency air conditioner or heat pump, power savers like fluorescent lighting and a microwave oven, and thermally efficient windows and doors, (with glass areas planned to minimize heat build-up).

So before you buy or construct a new home, ask your builder about FPL's Watt-Wise Living Program. Or, stop by your local FPL office and pick up an information brochure.

The Watt-Wise Living home. It costs a little more now, but in the long run it costs a whole lot less.

Ask your builder about it.

Famous Parents Haven't Affected Katt's Career

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — One of the big problems confronting the offspring of stars is that they are the offspring of stars.

Making it even worse is the fact that they carry the famous name with them wherever they go. Edward G. Robinson Jr. ran into trouble as Edward G. Robinson Jr. Frank Sinatra Jr. has never prospered as Frank Sinatra Jr.

Maybe that's one reason why William Katt is doing pretty well. He seems to be well-adjusted and his career is chugging along merrily. And he is the son of a star, but you'd never know it from his name. In fact, he's the son of two stars.

William Katt's father is Bill Williams, the star of many second-string features in the '40s. His mother is Barbara Hale, a leading lady of the '40s perhaps best known for playing Della Street to Raymond Burr's Perry Mason on that TV show.

Bill Williams was really William Katt, too. In his era, people changed names like Katt. But he kept it, legally, so his son was always William Katt and he grew up, virtually anonymously, without anyone knowing his parents were stars.

"I think I was very fortunate," Katt says, "because my name was always different. I never had to carry around the problem of being the son of a star. Most of my friends in school didn't know who my parents were."

Today, the name of William Katt is fast becoming famous, too. He has now made four features

— he started out as part of the hit chiller, "Carrie," then was the lead (opposite Susan Dey) in "First Love," and followed that with "Big Wednesday."

His most recent movie was "Butch and Sundance: The Early Days."

It purports to show the events that happened before the events shown in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid."

Katt plays the young Sundance Kid, with Tom Berenger as the young Butch Cassidy. And both of them look like they could have easily matured and ripened into becoming Robert Redford and Paul Newman, respectively.

He appears to be modest, despite his quick success. Maybe it's because he grew up around show business, and knows it is tough and has more pitfalls than a pitfall store.

"I am just neurotic enough to be interesting," Katt says, which is about as egotistical as he gets.

"I'm taking it slow," he says. "I'm being very selective about what parts I take and what I don't. I've only made four movies. I'm in no hurry."

He lives frugally, he says in what he describes as a "funky little house" in one of the Los Angeles area's funkier canyons. He says that money is not important to him, at this point in his life.

"What is important," he says, "is to do things that reach people."

He believes his was a normal childhood, despite being born in the lap of stardom. His family, he says, didn't live in Beverly Hills, but in the very proletarian San Fernando Valley. He has two sisters, one older and one younger; the older is studying for her doctorate in speech therapy, the younger is married and a mother.

He did some acting as a child, an episode of "Rawhide" when he was 8 or 9 but he didn't like it, so his folks let it alone. From then on, for years his interest was music.

"I really think I would have preferred something more substantial, like science or astronomy," he says, "but I wasn't smart enough. So I studied music but found out in college that acting was more me."

His parents, he says, warned him about the rocky road that acting presented, "but that's like being warned that you can lose money playing blackjack in Las Vegas — it's good advice but nobody ever takes it."

Teenleaders Teach Youths Useful Skills

Where have all the children gone this summer? Well, not all of them are spending their time lolling around the pool, draped in front of the TV, talking on the phone or munching popcorn at the movies.

At least 20 boys and girls 8-14 years old spent part of their vacation learning about sewing, cooking, photography, crafts and scuba diving from their peers. 4-H Teenleaders, who have received camp counselor training planned and taught the various classes at a Summer Youth Workshop held July 16-20 at the Seminole County Agri-Center, Sanford. They put into practice the things they have learned in 4-H.

Miriam Leach of the "Wekiva Springs and Things 4-H Club" taught the photography classes. How to make a pin hole camera, how to make winning teen-age movies, and how to take pictures using available light and underwater. Miriam also served as song leader.

Diana Robey of the Teenleader 4-H Club had the "Basic Four" food class teaching about nutrition and a balanced diet. Boys and girls in the class made such goodies as milk shakes, cinnamon crisps, vegetable treats and pizza. Elizabeth Gaines, of the Teenleader 4-H Club, taught her class how to use the sewing machine with each one of the youngsters making an apron.

Tim Daughtery, Dave Erlandson and Susan Dye were on hand half-days to help with classes and assist the children with their projects. Dave demonstrated use of scuba equipment and model rocketry (assisted by Tim).

Urban Forester Mike Martin conducted the nature hikes and urban horticulturalist Tom Davys taught plant propagation. Fred Roberts, 4-H coordinator, taught a music class utilizing melody bells.

"This is the first time we have used teenleaders to teach the workshop classes and it has been a marvelous experience," Roberts said. "I credit their dedication to 4-H and the training they have received with the way they handled the whole thing. Everyone was so cooperative."

PEDESTRIAN IS PINNED
 A 21-year-old Altamonte Springs pedestrian suffered a fractured ankle and cuts when she was struck by a car and pinned between a house and the wreckage of the car, according to a Florida Highway Patrol spokesman. Cynthia Pinder, of 403 Magnolia Ave. was taken to Florida North Hospital shortly after being struck Friday morning by a car driven by Rosa Dorsey Davis, 73, of 142 Jackson St., Altamonte Springs. Mrs. Davis mistakenly hit the gas pedal instead of the brake at the intersection of Brentwood Avenue and Magnolia Street in an unincorporated area of Seminole County, northeast of Altamonte Springs, the spokesman said. She was issued a ticket for failure to stop at a stop sign.

Duck Kill Still A Mystery

By DONNA ESTES
 Herald Staff Writer

The cause of the duck kill over the past 60 days in Lake Monroe which has reduced to less than five the wild flock that has inhabited the lake for years remains a mystery.

But the state Department of Environmental Regulations (DER) does not intend to let it remain a mystery for long. "We are going to go over the Monroe harbor area with a fine-tooth comb," Alex Senkevich, who heads the DER regional office in Orlando, said Friday.

DER through the cooperation of the county department of environmental services, routinely collects water samples from the lake in the area of U.S. 17-92 and Interstate 4 bridge monthly. Either Monday or Tuesday the county agency also will collect samples in the Monroe harbor area, Senkevich said. The samples will be analyzed in DER laboratories.

The chemists will be searching for some sign of new pollution or poisons in the lake that could have resulted in so many ducks dying.

"We'll also be talking with the Game and fresh Water Fish Commission (GFWFC) people to find what their thoughts are on the matter," Senkevich said.

GFWFC fresh water biologist, Carlton Chappell of the state agency's Palatka office, said Friday it is unlikely spraying by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers of a chemical defoliant in Lake Monroe caused the kill.

The defoliant, "Two-four D" is approved by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and used by many state and federal agencies, Chappell said. "We at the GFWFC do aerial spraying with Two-four D, spraying directly on birds at times and have never had a problem with it," Chappell said.

"The kill could have been caused by any number of things. It's hard to say until analysis of the ducks is completed whether the birds were diseased or killed by a poison," Chappell said.

Randy Torbett, a yacht maintenance man at Monroe Harbour Marina, earlier linked the latest duck kill with the defoliant spraying of the water hyacinths by the Corps of Engineers the week before.

Torbett noticed an earlier kill six weeks to two months ago after the corps of engineers had been seen in an air-bomb on the lake. A corps spokesman, Dave Bowman, said, however, last week's spraying was the first one done in the lake this year. The engineer probably were in the lake earlier for inspection purposes, Bowman said.

Meanwhile, J. T. Turnipspeed of the Friends of the St. Johns which has been monitoring pollution in the river and in Lake Monroe for years said the harbor area of the lake particularly has been heavily polluted for years. "It's a wonder anything could live in that lake," he said.

Death Penalty Near? Bundy Jury Hears Of Utah Conviction

MIAMI (UPI)—A death penalty sentence seemed a near certainty for convicted murderer Theodore Bundy today as defense lawyers argued vigorously against the state's push for that outcome when jurors reconvened to recommend punishment.

Jurors considering the fate of Bundy, convicted of killing two Florida State University sorority sisters, were told Saturday that Bundy also was convicted in 1976 of kidnapping a Salt Lake City woman and was sentenced to prison in Utah.

Then the state rested and the trial was recessed until Monday. Defense attorneys said it would take them until next week to prepare their case.

Saturday's court session lasted only one hour. The defense objected to testimony about Bundy's 1976 conviction for kidnapping Carol Dalton of Salt Lake City. In lieu of testimony, the defense allowed a brief summary of the facts concerning the kidnapping conviction and Bundy's prison term to be read to the jury.

It was the first time during the trial jurors have been permitted to hear anything about Bundy's previous criminal record. The seven men and five women will decide whether to recommend that Bundy be executed or spend the rest of his life in prison.

The defense team was almost certain to use Bundy's "self-destructive" behavior during the trial as evidence that he is unbalanced and should not be put to death.

Bundy convicted Tuesday of strangling two sorority sisters and beating three other coeds, was judged competent to stand trial. But the defense could now introduce new testimony showing his mental state at the time of the crime and other mitigating circumstances. The state could introduce Bundy's criminal record.

The 32-year-old former Utah law student could get the electric chair even if the jury recommends life in prison.

The seven men and five women who convicted Bundy Tuesday have been sequestered for the entire five-week trial. They will vote by simple majority whether to recommend life in prison or electrocution.

Circuit Judge Edward Cowart will weigh the jury's advice, then make his own decision. In one of three death sentences he has handed down, Cowart overruled the plea for mercy from the jury.

Although always cool and collected in front of the jury, Bundy's voice became choked with emotion several times during hearings before Cowart as he complained about everything from his treatment in the Dade County jail to being ignored by his own lawyers.

In the third week of the trial Bundy collected glass shards from a light he broke and hid them behind his cot, leading to speculation he was planning suicide. And Bundy's insistence on keeping Robert Haggard, veteran murder trial attorney, from making closing arguments was viewed as a near-fatal blow to defense plans.

"This guy is so self-destructive it's unbelievable," said Dr. Emil Spillman, a psychiatrist-hypnotist who helped the defense team select the jury. "I predicted from the start that he'd try to blow his own defense out of the water. And he did."

Bundy asserted control over the five-member defense team Nov. 27 and that's when the troubles began.

The highly touted defense strategy that was so carefully followed during cross examination of prosecution witnesses crumbled.

Sanford Man, 21, Killed In Crash Near His Home

By SHARON CARRASCO
 Herald Staff Writer

A 21-year-old Sanford man who was described as "quiet and always there when you needed him" died early Saturday in a one-car accident just a few miles from his home, according to Sanford police.

C. Frank Macek, 21, of 2846 Grove Drive, Sanford, was pronounced dead on arrival shortly after the accident at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Gary Picasso, 19, of Orlando was the only passenger in Macek's car and is listed in critical condition at the Seminole Memorial Hospital. He is suffering from internal injuries.

The Macek youth is the second member of his family to die in an automobile accident. His sister Cynthia Ann, then only two months old, died as a result of a traffic accident 19 years ago in DeLand.

Macek marks the fifth traffic-related fatality within the city limits of Sanford since January, 1979, police said. Last year, the Sanford police department recorded seven fatalities for the entire year.

According to an eye witness to the accident, Macek's north bound car veered out of control and skidded into a ditch just north of Lake Mary Boulevard on U. S. Highway 17-92 about 2:30 a.m.

The car slammed into a driveway embankment leading to the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant at 3775 S. Orlando Drive, police said.

Sanford police could not speculate on the cause of the one-car accident but said its traffic homicide investigator is continuing an investigation of the incident.

Donna Jean Macek, Macek's sister-in-law, said Saturday Picasso and Macek were "best buddies and did everything together."

Frank came from a large family of three sisters and three brothers who were all "very close," Donna said.

"We always did things together. We spent every holiday together. We always went to picnics together. We were all so close."

"He (Frank) was the quiet type, a bright guy," Donna said. "He was sweet."

"Frank wasn't outspoken. He was different from everyone else in the family."

Macek attended Seminole High School but was lacking a half credit and never graduated, Donna said.

Macek attended All Souls Parochial School, graduating from there in 1972.

He was employed as a carpenter and in carpentry and drywall installation with H&M Drywall, Orlando.

Donna said her brother-in-law enjoyed fishing and camping.

"He was always there when you needed help," Donna said. "If you wanted him to do something for you, he was there."

Macek is survived by his parents, Chester Macek of St. Petersburg and Larrella Macek of Sanford; brothers, Steve and Arthur of Sanford and Michael of Ft. Lauderdale; sisters, Janet Klepac of Toledo, Ohio and Laura and Donna Marie of Sanford; one niece, maternal grandparents, Mrs. Lillian Bridges of Orlando and Hurley Bridges of Portsmouth, N.H.

Funeral services will be Tuesday at All Souls Catholic Church. Grankow Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

'Hurts When I Laugh'

"It only hurts when I laugh and it's kind of difficult to eat," said County Commission Chairman Bob French from his hospital bed at Seminole Memorial Hospital Saturday morning.

French is scheduled to undergo surgery Monday or Tuesday to set some broken bones in the right side of his face. He was taken to the hospital early Friday evening by county budget director, Jeff Etchberger, after the injury.

French, Etchberger and other county staff members were playing their usual practice softball Friday at Ft. Mellon Park when others joined them for a pickup game. "As I was running the bases, a guy from the other team threw the ball to pick me off and hit me in the face instead. The softball was rather hard," French said.

Somoza In 'Great Danger,' Says Sanford Doctor

By HUGH THOMSON
 Herald Staff Writer

Ousted Nicaraguan president Anastasio Somoza, now living in exile in Miami is in "great danger," according to a Sanford physician.

Dr. Luis Perez, who says he has inside information via a network of intelligence sources, said in an interview that Somoza is open to attack by leftist groups.

Perez, who practices internal medicine and cardiology in Sanford and DeBary, said that presently "2,500 Castro agents have infiltrated various groups in Miami and would be the greatest danger to Somoza."

Perez, an avid anti-Castroite, also said he feels there are great similarities between the march to power of Fidel Castro in Cuba and the overthrow of the Somoza government in Nicaragua by Sandinista rebels.

Perez said the core of the Sandinista guerrillas were trained in Cuba in sabotage and guerrilla warfare tactics. Perez said that "Zero," the group's leader was a disciple of Castro and had been in training for three years.

Perez who resides in Sanford, also said many similarities were present in the methods used by the Sandinistas and the religious leader, the Ayatollah Khomeini, who replaced the Shah in Iran. Perez said the Sandinistas were conducting the same kind of bloodbath in Nicaragua as Khomeini did when he and his followers seized power.

Perez said, "I only know that all officers of the National Guard were killed since the Sandinistas took over and people are calling it a 'genocide.'" Perez said he felt the blood bath wasn't going to stop there.

Perez said arms were supplied the Sandinistas by Cuba and the Palestinian Liberation Organization (PLO) and the arms were shipped through Panama to Costa Rica, then into Nicaragua.

"Castro is only a puppet of Moscow and the leaders of the Sandinistas are puppets of Castro," Perez said.

Since the takeover, Perez said, the Sandinistas have "canceled" judicial authority, all judges have been "eliminated" from the bench, and a Sandinista-type "People's Tribunal" has been substituted for established judicial authority.

Perez, who won the Freedoms Foundation George Washington Medal in 1974 for "dedication to the cause of freedom" and other awards, said the Organization of American States (OAS) in Latin America was "afraid of American (U.S.) intervention in the Nicaraguan situation and was putting pressure on the U. S. not to intervene."

The Sanford doctor disputed some media claims that officers among the Sandinistas included many professional people (artists, teachers and doctors).

"They are professional revolutionaries, just as the Cubans in Africa are," Perez said. "Anything else is propaganda."

Perez claimed that reports of expropriation by the Somoza regime of food and supplies given the Nicaraguan people by the United States also were "propaganda."

Perez has been a leader among the Cuban Exiles who have come to Florida and elsewhere in the United States since Castro gained power. Condemned to death by Castro for his anti-revolution position, he cannot return to Cuba.
