Slemp's Testimony Shows No Previous Information

President Coolidge's Secretary Testifies Before Senate Oil Committee that White House Had No Prior Knowledge of Truth Regarding $100,000 Loan.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Presented with a sheet of telegrams sent from Washington to Albert B. Fall and Edward B. McLean at Palm Beach, the Senate Oil Committee yesterday went into executive session today to examine them. Telegrams were presented by divisional superintendents of commercial telegraph centers and apparently numbered several scores. Some were said to contain hundreds of words.

Results of the examination of telegrams have not been disclosed but some of the committee members have hinted that the files had produced some highly interesting information. Some of the messages are to be placed in public record tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Turning its full attention once more to the McLean-Fall incident at Palm Beach, the Senate committee today heard on behalf of the White House a positive disclaimer of any previous inside information on the subject and developed a new mystery regarding the now famous $100,000 loan which Albert B. Fall obtained while he was in the cabinet.

C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to President Coolidge, testified that he not only had no prior knowledge of the truth regarding the loan, but that he discussed the subject at Palm Beach with both Fall and Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, and urged that they dispose of the many rumors in circulation by telling the committee the whole story.

Promising to tell all, Mr. Slemp said, McLean testified before Senator Walsh, Dem., Montana, on the same day that he had given Fall two checks aggregating $100,000 late in 1921, but that they had not been returned to him uncheck. Today, however, he confirmed from an examination of the records of Washington banks that the publisher did not have an aggregate of $100,000 on deposit at that time in the banks on which he said the checks were drawn.

Having learned that Mr. Slemp had conversations with both McLean and Fall regarding the oil scandal at Palm Beach last month, Senator Walsh will seek today to ascertain whether any individual members of the committee communicated by telegraph or telephone with either of them at the Florida resort or with Fall at New Orleans. Should the records in the offices of the telegraph and telephone companies here disclose that there was such communication the committee members will be given an opportunity to make a statement in the public hearings.

After hearing Mr. Slemp, the committee received from H. Foster Bain, director of the Bureau of Mines, testimony that Fall had told him that the contract with the Doherty interests for oil leases at storage at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, had been discussed by the cabinet and that Attorney General Daugherty had made no objection to it.

The attorney general in a letter yesterday to Senator Willis, Rep., Ohio, again denied that he had given any oral or written opinion as to the legality of the oil leases, and at the same time stated he had purchased stock from the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Company after the case came into the cabinet but had sold it at a loss.

Taking the oil discussion again to the floor of the senate, Senator Walsh charged that the Republican National Committee News Bureau had made a "deliberate and malicious" misrepresentation of the facts in its statement of yesterday that the naval oil leases were made under the general leasing act of Feb., 1920, which he had sponsored.

Replying in a statement last night the News Bureau asserted that Senator Walsh's declaration that the leases were made, not under this act, but under one passed in June, 1920, was "quibble for the purpose of misrepresenting the facts."

Chairman Lenroot and others of the oil committee indicated that there was no intention to recall William G. McAdoo, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, for questioning regarding his statement Saturday that his New York law firm would have received an additional fee of $200,000 if the negotiations in the Doherty company's Mexican affairs had been successful.

THIRD VICTORY FOR COALITION IN TAX MEASURE

Insurgents Again Join Democrats to Secure an Increase in Estate or Inheritance Tax—Coolidge Measure in Advance Bill by a Vote of 180 to 174

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The Senate took up for proposal Tuesday a bill to increase the revenue bill with the Democrats and Republicans in a coalition confident of defeating their success of yesterday, on a measure which would increase the rate of estate or inheritance taxes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—An increase in the estate or inheritance taxes was voted into the revenue bill in the house Monday by another combination of Democratic and Republican insurgents. Another proposal of the coalition, a gift tax, was before the house when it adjourned.

Both amendments were attacked by organization Republicans. The estate tax increase, raising the rates all along the line on the same brackets as now contained in the law to a maximum of 40 per cent on the amount by which the estate of a decedent exceeds $10,000,000 instead of the present 25 per cent rate, was adopted 190 to 110.

Representative Ramsey, Republican, Iowa, submitted the estate tax amendment and Representative Green, Republican, Iowa, chairman of the ways and means committee, proposed the gift tax, which will be voted Tuesday. About six Democrats present voted against the estate tax amendment.

Next speaker, including Chairman Green, on a division vote. Republican organization leaders remain hopeful of a compromise on the income rates when a final vote is taken on the bill notwithstanding the continued coalition of Democrats and insurgents.

Administration spokesmen let it be known that if their tax reform program, as carried in the Mellon bill, does not get through at this session it will be brought up again next winter. Secretary Mellon believes the country will show its favor toward his plan at the election this fall and that its success in the next congress will be assured.

Representative Frear, speaking for the Republican insurgents, issued a statement Monday declaring his group was not disturbed over the Longworth compromise of a 25 per cent reduction in the surtax rates, which would cut the maximum to 37 1/2 per cent in the next winter.

He called upon Mr. Longworth to make public his plan so that study might be given it. Mr. Frear also denied any formal coalition with the Democrats, declaring the insurgents supported the Democratic plan because it was the "next best plan to our own."

He called attention that Democrats had aided in defeating their proposals for taxing present tax exempt securities.

The entire day was spent on the estate tax contest, but with a vote in sight early Tuesday on the gift tax proposal, Chairman Green said Monday night he expected reading of the bill to get into the excise rates by Tuesday night where another fight impends on proposal reductions in the automobile taxes.

REED ACCUSES MADDOO ASKING EXCESSIVE FEE

In Opening Address of His Campaign for Democratic Nomination for Presidency Reed Scores McAdoo Bitterly for Receiving Million Dollars in "Legal Fees."

(By The Associated Press) ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.—United States Senator James A. Reed formally opened his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, at a mass-meeting here Monday night declared that in his opinion "not one-tenth of the corruption and iniquity which has existed is yet laid bare," in referring to the oil disclosures.

He charged William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and an opponent for the nomination expected to receive $1,000,000 in "legal fees" from E. L. Doherty, oil magnate, the Charles W. Morse interests and motion picture concerns, although he did not appear in a single lawsuit.

The senator reiterated his platform and reviewed the oil scandal at length. He said the disclosure warranted him in saying "that the people of the United States, were by bribery, deprived of these great oil deposits upon which the nation must rely in the hour of extremity."

"Facts are being constantly exposed," he said, "and when the whole foul mess is known the American people will be convinced of the supreme necessity of purging the government and driving from power every tainted man."

His speech in part follows: "I am asking the endorsement of the Democracy of Missouri and of the nation for the presidential nomination."

"Mr. McAdoo publicly announced he did not intend to enter the list against any home candidate, but for reasons which are doubtless satisfactory to himself, he has singled me out as an exception to his general rule. He comes into the state of Missouri and is receiving some support."

"Having been invited into the arena, I come and give my reasons why the attorney for Mr. Doherty should not receive the endorsement of the Missouri Democracy."

"Mr. Doherty came to Washington. He was in search of influence and to obtain it was willing to expend large sums of money. Although there were tens of thousands of lawyers of distinction and ability in the United States, Mr. Doherty took into his employ five cabinet or ex-cabinet officers. I do not say these lawyers were corrupt. I do say that with the possible one exception, Garrison, they were not employed for their legal ability."

Attorney General Admits Dealing In Sinclair's Oil Stock

In Letter to Senator Tells of Transactions Stocks of Oil Company Since Entering Cabinet but Maintains Official Information Never Misused

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Paul had an hour's conference with Attorney General Daugherty, the house impeachment proceeding a year ago, before today's cabinet meeting. The White House department of justice officials declined to discuss the conference. The conference followed a discussion of similar length late yesterday between the President and Daugherty at which they talked over the movement of Republican senate leaders to bring about Daugherty's retirement.

Senator Walsh said today he did not plan immediately to call Daugherty for questioning, regarding a statement in a letter Daugherty sent to Senator Willis of Ohio that he had dealt in Sinclair oil stocks after the leaving of Teapot Dome to Sinclair.

Aty. Gen. Daugherty Monday publicly acknowledged that he had dealt in Sinclair oil stock before and since he entered the cabinet, declared he never had misused official information in these transactions, and renewed his willingness to submit all the facts in any investigation of the matter.

In the open letter to Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, Mr. Daugherty said he bought some Sinclair stock before he became attorney general and finally suffered a loss of $238 a share. Six months after Teapot Dome was leased to the Sinclair interests, he sold part of his stock, in an effort to recoup losses. Later he bought back the same amount at a slightly lower price, and finally sold, last fall, his entire Sinclair holdings.

The letter also answered charges of failure to prosecute former Secretary Fall, Edward L. Doherty, Harry F. Sinclair and Charles E. Forbes, former director of the Veterans Bureau.

Mr. Daugherty pointed out that at his suggestion action against Fall, Doherty and Sinclair was left to special government counsel, while proceedings against Mr. Forbes had been initiated some time ago before a grand jury at Chicago.

The attorney general added that he never had given any opinion, oral or written, regarding the legality of the oil leasing policy, and had no knowledge of the negotiations until they were concluded. He urged that the senate inquiry into his department be conducted without delay, but that he be given an opportunity to submit witnesses for his own questioning by his own counsel.

A copy of the letter was sent to the White House after it had been made public by the department of justice. White House officials said it had not previously been submitted to President Coolidge. Late in the day Mr. Daugherty had a long conference with the chief executive, but there was no outward indication of a change in the demand of Republican senate leaders that he resign.

At the same time, however, it was apparent that some definite step might be announced in the near future. The president has under consideration several proposals, one of them contemplating that Mr. Daugherty submit his resignation to become effective after the senate inquiry has been completed.

By that method, it has been suggested, the Attorney General might avoid the charge of quitting his office under fire.

The investigation resolution is expected in the senate not later than Wednesday, and its author, Senator Wheeler (D) Montana today sought unanimous consent to save a day by bringing it out of committee, but Senator Willis objected, insisting upon "decent" proper and orderly procedure.

Mr. Willis said, he desired early disposition of the matter but wanted action to be taken in the regular way.

For the most part President Coolidge has kept his own counsel regarding the demand that Mr. Daugherty return to private life. No statement of the president's intentions have been authorized at any time from the White House nor have those who have conferred with him taken away as clear an idea of his mental reaction as they might have desired.

Nevertheless, it is certain that some of his confessions have given the distinct impression that he is hopeful of an adjustment that in a measure satisfy both Mr. Daugherty and the group of senate leaders who have been demanding his resignation. It is in furtherance of that hope that the suggestion has been made that a resignation might solve the problem.

Asked what he meant by his statement, General Dawes said he thought the Ruhr occupation had made the Germans realize that they were way up to their "armpits" which it appeared they had not intended to do until the French troops entered the Ruhr; also the year's stay in the Ruhr has brought the French to understand that occupation itself was not producing reparations payments and caused them to recede from the stand taken demanding enormous immediate sums and prepared them to consider easier terms of settlement than previously.

RED SEAL LYE Keep Sinks, Drains and Pipes Clean

TRAPS and drain-pipes will clog. Ordinary soap is practically useless to clean them. The best way is to use a little Red Seal Lye into the sink. Its powerful cleansing qualities quickly loosen the grease and dirt and the rinse water washes away the sediment, leaving the drain-pipe clean and sanitary. A can of Red Seal Lye saves many plumbing bills.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS Things Our Readers Want to Know Red Seal Lye cleans sinks, toilets, pots and pans with less time and trouble than any other cleanser. Red Seal Lye is a big help in washing clothes. By softening the water the dirt is loosened without any rubbing being necessary. Cracks and corners where roaches and vermin abound should be sprayed with a solution of Red Seal Lye.

EMINENT TEXAS MEN ARE IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 25.—Discussion of issues advanced by presidential candidates William Gibbs Millard and United States Senator Oscar W. Underwood, together with the entry of six prominent Texans in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor, has brought the political pot hereabouts to a near-boiling point, despite the fact that the primary is four months away.

The soldiers' bonus, the 18th amendment and the Ku Klux Klan are included in the issues spoken of on all sides at present. Mr. McAdoo's stand on the bonus, Mr. Underwood's stand on the 18th amendment, and the stand of the six candidates for governor on the Ku Klux Klan question absorb interest at present and overshadow the entry of numerous candidates for the lesser state offices. Both McAdoo and Underwood have established state headquarters in this city and are lining up the state's intensive campaigns.

In the governorship race on the Democratic ticket, which is expected to win the election, the state's overwhelmingly Democratic, the following have announced their candidacies: Former Governor James E. Ferguson, Lieutenant Governor T. W. Davidson of Marshall; Adjutant General T. D. Barton of Amarillo; Lynch Davidson of Houston; V. A. Collins, of Dallas, and State Senator Joe Burnett, of Eastland. The Ku Klux Klan, a prime factor in the last election, is mentioned by three of the gubernatorial candidates in their platforms. T. Davidson, Burnett and Lynch Davidson have declared against the Klan, while the others have mentioned it.

The platforms of the candidates for governor cover a variety of issues from tax reduction to minor details. Women candidates have signed their intention of running for any office, but it is understood that several may seek election to the legislature. The campaign is expected to take an added interest after the meeting of the state committee in May.

SMUGGLERS USE BLIND SWEEPERS TO FIND LIQUOR

Arrest of Two Freeparters with Large Cargo Reveals New Type of Whiskey Hunting

NEW YORK CITY, Feb. 25.—Charles Combs and S. J. Phillips, Federal prohibition agents, began campaigning off Freeport, L. I., Friday against a new type of liquor running. Owners of small power launches, who never visit the rum fleet, officials say, but who do a thriving whiskey trade by working along the coast with apparatus like that of a mine sweeper, which permits them to find and recover jet-boosted cargoes.

Because of increased vigilance on the part of government rum chasers the smugglers have adopted the policy of sinking contraband liquor contained in the heavy cases used for export goods by Scotch distillers. The prevalence of this plan to evade capture among smugglers came to light among prohibition agents on Jan. 23, at New Castle Keyway and August, Me. Cleskey, both of Freeport, with 170 cases of Scotch whiskey, eight 12-gallon cases of French cognac and other contraband valued at $18,000 which had been fished up by them from seven fathoms of water.

Since then information has been obtained with regard to nocturnal activities of more than a score of launches, ostensibly engaged in fishing, whose mission, the prohibition agents say, is to pick up sunken liquor stores and land them at various points on Long Island. Because it has been known the small launches do not visit Rum Row or, so far as is known, come in contact with recognized rum-running craft, they have hitherto escaped close observation. The authorities are certain as to whether owners of these boats have definite information as to where liquor may be found or whether they comb the coast until submerged stores are encountered by their sweeps.

From one source it was learned yesterday the British schooner Papyrus from London, which lay off New York last week with a cargo of contraband liquor, disappeared in a storm in some mysterious way, apparently without transshipping. It is thought possible her cargo was jettisoned and that its precise location is known to so-called landing agents. When the Papyrus sailed three other vessels which had kept her company—the Kirk & Sweeney of Nova Scotia; the Athens of Nassau; and the L. M. Smith of Halifax—remained off the coast and are receiving visits from runners in the ordinary fashion. What became of the Papyrus cargo is being investigated.

These "ground sharks," as prohibition agents call the sweeper fleet, are said to be operating with considerable success off Montauk Point, where the British smuggler Oberland and the Canadian ships Gordon E. Moulton and D. M. Smart are lying. Large quantities of liquor in cases are said to have been jettisoned inside Fresh Pond Bay on the easterly end of Long Island.

STORK ARRIVES IN SNOWDRIFT AFTER WRECK

Baby Is Born in Snow Bank Soon After Collision Between Train and Auto

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—A baby was born in a snow bank Saturday, after the sedan in which its father was hurrying its mother to a hospital had been hit by an express train.

Both mother and baby, the former with a dislocated right elbow sustained in the crash, were reported "doing splendidly." Early Saturday morning, hearing the beating of stork's wings above their home, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Elman set out in the family sedan for the Northern Westchester hospital. Descending a steep, ice-coated grade toward some railroad tracks, Elman heard the shrill whistle of a locomotive on the fast Rutland milk train.

The brakes failed to check the car, which swung onto the tracks, and was struck by the flying train and driven against a snow-banked curb. Neighbors, the train crew and anxious husband assisted Mrs. Elman from the sedan.

While a chill morning wind and flurries of snow blow over a little group, a baby girl was born. Wrapped in a laborer's coat, the lusty youngster was hurried to the hospital while policemen and volunteers waded a litter and carried the mother more slowly.

Beyond a dislocated arm, Mrs. Elman suffered no ill-effects from the affair.

Oldest twins in the world, Matthew and Mark Gunn, are 91, and our guess is these Gunn boys are never loaded with booze.

GLIMPSES OF THE OLD WORLD

The World's Highest Aerial Cableway

Starting from Chamoux in French Alps, will carry passengers to a height of 12,600 feet. Cars travel at speed of 482 feet per minute. Human "wheels" and "tractors," in snow 30 inches deep in August, hauled heavy materials by cable and pulleys in world's latest engineering feat. Magnificent views over Europe's highest peaks and glaciers.

The Aiguille du Midi (12,608 ft.), Terminal Point of the Aerial Cableway.

These cars carry 18 passengers at 5 1/2 miles an hour without a trace of jolts or jars.

of granite rocks and cliffs. An idea of the enormous strength required of these bases is given by the impacts which they may be called upon to withstand at any time.

A medium-sized avalanche in this part of the Alps contains nearly 200,000 cubic yards of snow mixed with boulders often several yards in diameter and with trunks of trees broken off or uprooted and carrying tons of soil along with their roots. Avalanches usually start from heights near the 10,000 ft. level, gathering weight and speed all the way to the 3000 ft. line, which is where they usually smash themselves. They crash through this 7000 ft. fall in from 8 to 20 seconds. The "dust avalanches" are even swifter and just as deadly; they consist mainly of powdery snow and icicles and often fall 3500 feet in two seconds; whole forests have been laid low by the tremendous force of the air thus violently displaced, sometimes 1500 feet away from the direct path of the avalanche.

To guard against these perils, ramparts attaining a volume of 327 cubic yards of solid masonry have been built around the bases of the steel pillars, shaped and placed so that any avalanche striking against them will be split open like a wave by the prow of a ship.

The cars run along two parallel cables about 13 feet apart from each other, at a height from the ground of from 40 to 100 feet. They carry eighteen passengers at a speed of 8.2 feet per second, roughly equivalent to 5 1/2 miles an hour, allowing full enjoyment of the gorgeous panorama. When fully loaded, each car weighs about 4 1/2 metric tons, but so stout are the cables and so delicately adjusted is the mechanism that the cars glide smoothly and quietly, with never a jolt or jar. A special cable acts as an automatic check to the speed of the car in case of a break in the main cable. Such a contingency is hardly likely, however, because the strength of the main cable is ten times, and that of the other cables eight times, as great as any strain which can be placed upon them by the utmost requirements of service.

By VICTOR PIEDMONT

The first section of the world's highest aerial cableway has just been opened to traffic at Chamoux in the French Alps, about nine hours from Paris by the P. L. M. Railway. The line starts at the "Pilgrim's Station," 3474 feet above sea level. When completed it will land passengers squarely on top of the "Aiguille du Midi" at a height of 12,608 feet, which is only 3000 feet or so below the summit of nearby Mt. Blanc, the highest peak in Europe. Not far below the Aiguille du Midi, at the last intermediate station, called the "Col du Midi," a large modern hotel will be erected, from the terrace of which visitors will dominate one of the most extensive and impressive mountainscapes imaginable, over the jumbled mass of peaks and glaciers of the French and Italian Alps.

The first section of the cableway, opened in December last, is comparatively easy, the grade being only 17%; but the next stretch, over which traffic will run this summer, is far more rugged and steep, the grade here being 50%, while the third section, to be put in operation next year, will surmount precipitous rocks and gullies on a 72% grade. From here on the grade will be uniformly steep, anywhere from 45% to 69%.

From the very beginning the task has been gigantic. Service paths had to be blasted and hewn out of the rock and around the sheer cliffs; transformers and other pieces of machinery, that often weighed 1100 lbs. and over, had to be hoisted by sheer man power. In 1910 it took 50 men ten days of heaving and hauling to carry a transformer 1500 feet; the month was August, yet the snow lay over two feet deep on the ground at that altitude. Miles of cables, weighing some 40 lbs. to the yard, were spun out to giddy heights with the help of the whirling motors of trucks solidly anchored to masonry; the steel pillars of the line were securely embedded in bases built on almost vertical surfaces

GOVERNMENT EXPERTS PRAISE HIGH SCHOOL GARDEN

By R. P. Cooper

I was in Orlando three days last week attending a regional conference of the directors, supervisors and teacher trainers from 12 Southern states and the Smith-Sorghas teachers from South Florida. Mr. Mattley and Mr. Sargent, the regional directors from Washington, were also present at the meeting.

The conference was very helpful from beginning to end, but the thing of most interest to Sanford was the visit these men made to this city.

On Tuesday afternoon of last week I gave them a cordial invitation to come to Sanford, which they gladly accepted. We secured seven cars and brought about 40 of these men over and showed them the School Garden on Celery Avenue. They were also shown several of the celery farms and the pre-cooling plant. Several remarked that it was one of the finest trips they had ever taken. The next day, Mr. Garris from South Carolina told the conference that Sanford had one of the best school gardens he had ever seen. Mr. Mattley, from Washington, stated he would like to live in Sanford because the people are doing things here. He said it was surely a treat to see these wonderful celery fields.

It was a pleasure to have the leading men from 12 Southern states to inspect our garden and visitation to come to Sanford, which they gladly accepted. We secured seven cars and brought about 40 of these men over and showed them the South by dairymen, according to information published by the department, which says many are breeding common herds up to high-grade stock by using pure-bred bulls.

FORD'S NAME TO BE ON PETITION FOR PRESIDENCY

DETROIT, Feb. 26.—A political paradox looms ahead of the presidential primary in this state on April 7, with the possibility of President Coolidge being the choice of the Republicans of the state and Henry Ford, whose "I am for Coolidge" proved a political sensation recently, being the Democratic choice.

A few days before Mr. Ford said: "I will not be a candidate against him on any ticket, whatsoever." Ford petitions, circulated throughout the state were presented to the secretary of state as the candidate for the regular Democratic preferential choice. Having got this far, the Democratic leader came to an abrupt halt with Mr. Ford's announcement that he was for Coolidge.

But he could not withdraw the name as the law specifically states that only the candidate himself has this right, once the petitions are presented and accepted. To date, Mr. Ford has not withdrawn his name, and has given no inkling that he intends to. Thus the Democratic backers of Mr. Ford found themselves in the unenviable position of having agitated and commended the candidacy of a man whose expressed sympathies are all with the opposition.

While President Coolidge has been named as the preference of Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck and Bart D. Cady, chairman of the Republican state committee, United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson has whipped an organization into shape, named his county and state managers, established his headquarters and named Michigan as a battle ground by making one of his first campaign speeches here. Johnson supporters recall that Michigan expressed its presidential preference for California Senator in 1920 and they say that that favorable sentiment still exists.

A significant point in connection with Michigan's state politics is the almost lack of early discussion of issues. The Teapot Dono disclosures created somewhat of a furor in Michigan political circles, mainly because they involved Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, a Detroit. The reaction in the case of Denby has been somewhat of a blotting out of political lines in going to the navy secretary's defense.

Rollins Union Is Urged By Sprague In Speech Sunday

Sunday night the annual Founders Day exercises were held in the Knowles Hall Chapel. The greater part of the evening was given to the discussion of the Rollins Union Project. Dr. R. J. Sprague, president of Rollins, presided over the meeting.

People that have children, people that are interested in the Christian educational movement in the country and people with money are the ones that Rollins needs. Dr. Sprague said that if the Crucen Union was put into effect that the college would have all these different types of people backing the college. People with children would send them here, people with interest in the work would send their children here and they would back the college in every way that they could, and people with money would help the college in a financial way. Dr. Sprague then introduced a member of the Rollins faculty who is also one of the hardest workers for the union of the churches, Dr. Wm. H. Dresch.

Dr. Dresch is a representative of the Presbyterian Church and has been working for many months to try and put the Rollins Union into actual being. He told of the condition the college was in when he first came eight years ago. The college student body at that time numbered about 75. The greater part of them were preparatory school students who were not fitted for college work. Dr. Dresch had from two to five in his classes that year and said he was heartily discouraged with the whole affair.

Dr. French, then president of the college, persuaded him to stay and he said since that time every year has been a little better than the one preceding it. The students have gotten more mature every year and have shown an interest in their work. The college itself has changed every year until now the course of study offered is entirely different than it was in the time eight years ago.

DAIRY INDUSTRY SHOULD THRIVE IN FLORIDA, REPORT

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 26.—Development of a prosperous live stock and dairy industry goes hand in hand with the eradication of the cattle fever ticks, according to results described by the federal agricultural department. In pointing to the improvements derived from killing the ticks, the department directs attention to the South's suitability for both a prosperous live stock business and the dairy industry.

Recent reports to the department, it is stated, show that various sections of the South already are showing signs of fast becoming permanent and profitable centers for dairying. South Carolina reports that the small farmers of that state are finding a good source of revenue in this business. One creamery alone is said to be paying the farmers an average of $250 daily for cream.

Mississippi also is becoming a dairy state, it is said, although a few years ago there was an inadequate milk supply for local consumption in some cities in that state, and milk had to be shipped in from outside sources.

The changed conditions have been wrought by systematic dipping which has largely eliminated the cattle ticks, the department says, and now in regions entirely free from ticks, herds of well-bred dairy cattle are found which are not only meeting the local demand for milk, but are producing enough to enable the owners to ship considerable quantities to New Orleans and other distant markets.

Keen interest is being shown in live stock improvement throughout

Who Gets the Most for His Money?

THE fellow who buys haphazard—or the chap who puts his every-day purchasing on a business basis?

The latter, of course. He is the one who reads the advertisements and discovers just where he can buy what he wants. He is the one who realizes the great value of advertising when it comes to the important business of spending his hard-earned money.

The well-informed shopper always has the advantage when it comes to stretching the dollars. And you can't possibly be up-to-date on the shopping news unless you make a practice of reading the advertisements. The advertisements show you how to save money—and steps—and time. Watch them carefully.

Anything that increases your purchasing power is working hard for you.

Make The Advertisements Serve You Well Read Them Regularly

The services rendered the country by the men of the United States during the world war cannot be paid for. It is impossible to estimate in dollars and cents the value of the time and services of those who devoted many months in the service of their country. They gave their time and ability without thought of remuneration in a financial way. They left, many of them, good incomes and good positions to do their part in the war. There is no way of estimating their value and there is no accurate way of making payment to them.

Under Secretary of the Treasury Winston says government actuary figures on the total cost of the bonus, allowing for expected percentage of selection between various options and probably cash borrowings, will be over five billions of dollars of which one billion comes in the first four years. It would take an average of two hundred and eleven million dollars to meet the payments and sinking funds for the first twenty years.

With this increased burden of taxation would the average ex-serviceman be any better off? It would indeed be interesting to know what proportion of his own bonus the ex-serviceman would have to pay. Thinking people realize that the small amount of cash each man would receive would go but a short distance and give very little financial assistance to the ex-soldier. They also realize that for the next twenty years the burden of paying for the bonus will be on the ex-servicemen themselves.

Several years have passed since the closing of the great war. The men who gave their time have re-entered the business life of the nation and are again making their own way. Many of them find it necessary to pay an income tax each year. The ex-serviceman who is taking his part in the affairs of the country would undoubtedly rather see taxes reduced than to receive a "gift" for his war time service. "Gifts" of this kind will prove very expensive to the recipients and will eventually cost them more than the actual value in dollars and cents today.

Instead of urging the adoption of the bonus measures, the American Legion would be doing the country and their individual members a real and lasting service by seeing to it that taxes are reduced so that it isn't necessary to continue indefinitely paying so heavily each year in taxes. It is impossible to have both tax reduction and the bonus and the sooner the people realize it the better off they will be. The bonus will without doubt prove an expensive "gift."

The Time For Preparation.

Each year sees the number of winter visitors to Florida rapidly increasing. The winter of 1923-24 has seen all records smashed. More tourists have come to Florida this year than ever before. Hotels of the state have been filled to capacity. Apartment houses have been crowded and rooming houses have done a big business. But next winter will see a much larger number of people here for the cold months. Tourist towns throughout the entire state have begun preparing for next year. The coming summer will see Florida's biggest building campaign. Hotels will be constructed by the tens. Apartment houses will jump up all over. Florida will be in a position to care for the people next winter when a bigger crowd of visitors will be here than even during this big season.

What is Sanford going to do while other Florida cities are preparing to look after tourists? There is no city in the state where hotels and apartment houses are more needed than in this city. Sanford cannot now provide adequate accommodations. Hundreds of persons have been unable to secure living quarters here this winter and have been forced to go elsewhere for the winter months. While other cities in Florida are making plans for taking care of next year's crop of tourists what is Sanford going to do?

This is the time for preparation for next winter. The people of this rapidly growing city must see that the tourists who come here next year are provided with accommodations. Work should be started now on the construction of more homes, more apartment houses and more hotels. What Sanford needs to make it a tourist center are more accommodations.

"STRAW" VOTES ASHEVILLE CITIZEN

When Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan were in the thick of their campaign for the Presidency, numerous newspapers throughout the country took "straw" votes among their readers to determine in advance which gentleman would win the White House. Without exception, the "straw" votes proved that Bryan would be the victor. So emphatic was the Bryan sentiment shown to be by these advance "votes" that the Nebraska was much elated and the Ohioan greatly depressed. There was nothing to it; Bryan was sweeping the country! Whereupon, on election day, with an astonishing disregard for the infallible functions of "straw" votes, the people marched to the polls and elected Taft to the Presidency. A similar reversal has overtaken the Literary Digest on the "Mellon plan" for tax-reduction. Each week The Digest, with red ink, black ink and statistics, explains to the world at large that the "fifteen million blank ballots" are producing an irresistible evidence of public opinion favoring the Mellon plan and condemning the Garner scheme for reducing the coun-

JIMMY STILL HAS HOPES DETROIT FREE PRESS

Perhaps you remember Jimmy Cox. He ran for the presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1920, but he got caught in a terrific landslide and ever since then he has been busy digging himself out of the mud out of his eyes, so to speak, and has had a chance to look around, he has set out to prove that he is a per- a glutton for punishment by announcing that he is going to have one more try at the game. Cox's candidacy will certainly be welcomed by the Republicans. Next to William C. Cady, there probably is nobody they would rather see the Democrats nominate. However, it is not likely that Jimmy will get very far at the New York convention. His principal sponsor in 1920 was Boas Murphy, and Murphy isn't given to selecting the same lemon the second time, particularly if it happens to have been badly squeezed in the first round.

MY FAVORITE STORIES By IRVIN S. COBB

A man driving along the country road, saw the roof of a farm-house ablaze. He gestriculated to an elderly woman who was standing quietly in the doorway: "Hey, you, house is afire!" "What?" "I say your house is afire!" "What did you say? I'm a little deaf." "Your house is afire!" yelled the stranger at the top of his voice. "Is that all?" "Well, it's all I can think of right now."

As Brisbane Sees It

Daugherty is a Fighter. The "Red" Mad Dog. A Million Dollar Bryan. Eggs 30 Cents Each. Copyright, 1923

THE FIGHT between Attorney General Daugherty and the crowd trying to drive him out of office will be worth watching. The Attorney General is a fighter. His enemies include some able men.

One question is, who are the men behind those that are trying to get rid of Mr. Daugherty?

THE CHARGES made against him are vague. That he had nothing to do with the Teapot Dome case everybody knows. Both Mr. Fall and Mr. Denby testify that the Attorney General was not consulted. Nobody asked his opinion. His duty and powers in the administration are limited to giving legal opinions when asked for them. It is no part of his business to tell Cabinet officers that they are breaking the law, whatever his own opinion may be, unless the President or a Cabinet member asks for advice.

SOME OF Mr. Daugherty's enemies, that have real cause for wishing him out of office, keep very quiet in these proceedings. They include men that Daugherty accused of selling to themselves or to friends for a nominal, dishonest price, property which they held as public trustees.

MR. DAUGHERTY brought legal proceedings against a collection of war profiteers and grafters and talked plainly about them. Some powerful men are included among those that have good reason to hate him.

THE PUBLIC will withhold its opinion concerning Mr. Daugherty until it knows whether he is being attacked in the interest of the public or in the interest of war grafters whom he attacked and exposed.

DEAN INGEL of St. Pauls in London, well called the "gloomy dean," appears to be growing gloomier and gloomier. He says the "Red leaders," particularly those in Russia, "should be killed off like mad dogs." "We can not allow moral poison to be scattered broadcast," says he, "and we can not allow fanatical minorities to conspire against the Constitution."

THAT'S HARD language, not exactly such as the Founder of Christianity would use, probably, but good and strong. The dean would presumably give all the "mad dogs" a trial before or after executing them.

THE HOLSEVISTS would reply to that gloomy view, "What you say about us was said about you Christians, when you were trying to get a start in the days of Marcus Aurelius. They fed you to the lions, used you as blazing torches in the arena. But that didn't discourage you. Calling us 'mad dogs' won't discourage us. If you think we ought to be killed off, let's see you come and do it."

STATEMENTS LIKE that of the gloomy dean are unfortunate in that they don't result in killing any mad dogs but seem to justify the mad dogs if they happen to kill a gloomy dean or two when they get hold of them. "Judge not" seems to be a text out of fashion.

WILL THE state of Florida accept or reject fifty million dollars worth of free advertising? If Florida sends William Jennings Bryan to the National Democratic Convention, he will go at his own expense and Florida will get free of charge in all newspapers in the United States, advertising that could not be bought for fifty or a hundred million dollars. If Florida allows herself to be deceived by political gentlemen who belong to the East Coast Railroad, which doesn't want Mr. Bryan to go to the convention, then Florida will lose very valuable advertising.

MR. BRYAN would go to the convention as a resident and most enthusiastic "boosting" citizen of Florida. He would nominate for President a Florida citizen of high character. He would talk of the Florida candidates and of the great State of Florida as nobody else in the United States could do. He would center the attention of the country on the Florida delegation and on the State of Florida.

CONSIDERING THAT Florida voted three times to make Mr. Bryan President of the United States, doing all that she could do to make him President, it is hard to believe that the East Coast Railroad will have enough political power to prevent sending Mr. Bryan to the National Democratic Convention. After his record as a fighting Democrat to deny him a place in that convention would be a disgrace, not to him, but to the State of Florida.

TO UNDERSTAND public agitation in France, it is necessary to realize what a low price of exchange does to the cost of living. Before the war the dollar would buy five francs, the British pound buy five francs, the British pound buy five francs, the British pound buy five francs. Now a dollar buys twenty-five francs, and a pound one hundred and twenty-five francs.

EGGS IN France used to cost two francs a dozen. Now they cost a franc and a quarter each, fifteen francs a dozen.

Suppose eggs cost thirty cents apiece in the United States and a man working for twelve hundred dollars a year got two hundred and forty dollars worth of real money. That is the situation in France.

IS BRYAN A GREAT LEADER? Ocala Banner

We cannot agree with the Highlander that Mr. Bryan is the greatest member of his party; he can not even concede that he has shown himself to be a great leader.—Muller Press.

Let's examine the records. Mr. Bryan led the fight for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

That is now the law of the land. He championed the cause and led the fight for women suffrage when that question was looked upon as a "will of the wind."

It is now the law of the nation. He championed the cause that all campaign contributions and expenses of the two great National parties should be given publicity in advance of the elections.

It is now a statutory law. From the very beginning of his career Mr. Bryan championed the cause of prohibition in state and nation.

State by state, in hotly waged battles, it won its way to victory and now occupies a place in the constitution of the United States and in the constitution of every state in the Union.

In defiance of the power of Wall Street and the corporate interests of the country, Mr. Bryan was the instrument at the Baltimore convention that won the nomination for Woodrow Wilson, who is now acclaimed as the "greatest statesman that was ever born on American soil," not only by our own people but by the nations of the world.

Yet, Woodrow Wilson, great leader that he was, failed in the cherished ideal nearest his heart—the League of Nations which he fondly hoped would bring about the peace of the world.

As Mayor Geary, by introducing Mr. Bryan to an Ocala audience last Friday, well said: "Christ failed to impress his ideals upon the people of his day, was tried, condemned, spit upon and then crucified."

Perhaps in this connection it may be interesting to tell of the fate that befell Christ's own chosen and beloved apostles, but their ideals now pulsate and animate all humanity.

They, one by one, with one lone exception, suffered martyrdom, but the things they stood for are still felt in the heart-throbs of all the civilized nations of the earth.

St. Peter was crucified in Rome, head down, on a cross similar to the one used in the crucifixion of Christ.

St. Andrew was bound to a cross and left to die from exhaustion. St. James, the Great, was beheaded by order of Herod at Jerusalem.

St. James, the Less, was thrown from a high pinnacle, then stoned and finally killed with a fuller's club.

St. Phillip was bound and hanged against a pillar. St. Bartholomew was flayed to death by command of a barbarous king.

St. Mathew was killed by a halberd. St. Thomas was shot by a shower of arrows while at prayer, and afterwards was run through the body with a lance.

St. Simon was crucified after the manner of Jesus.

St. Mark was dragged through the streets of Alexandria, until he expired.

St. Luke was hanged to an olive tree in Greece. St. Paul was beheaded by command of Nero.

St. Barnabas was stoned to death. St. John was the only one who died a natural death.

These apostles whom Jesus selected from the body of common people, still control the best thought of the world.

Mr. Bryan has taken his place in the barricades of the common people, and the same as the "Great Teacher," the "common people hear his gladly," and despite the efforts of his traducers they are going to commission him to be a delegate to the National Democratic convention.

GREAT GOOD WILL COME TO FLORIDA FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

There can be no question about it; great good will come to Florida through the interest aroused by means of the exposition of Florida's character. It was not only an exposition of fruits and vegetables, products in general, that Florida presented to the six million people who make their homes in New York City, and to that city's guests during the week. It was an exposition, also, of Florida enterprise, of Florida progress and of Florida hospitality. The latter, because, through the exposition, there was extended heartily, generous invitations, to all people everywhere, to come to Florida and enjoy the manifold blessings that the people of this state enjoy to such an enormous degree. It is an invitation that will be accepted by thousands of those to whom it was extended.

In the dispatch from New York, published in the Times-Union of Saturday last, it was told that Madison Square Garden, spacious as it is, "was packed to its capacity today" that "more than twenty thousand" people were there to see what Florida had to offer for their pleasure and their information. Further, it was told that "special police officers had to be stationed around" the booth from which were distributed Florida fruits and the various products made therefrom, it being estimated that by closing time from eighteen to twenty thousand people had been made the recipients of these Florida specialties from groves that yield abundantly of appetizing, health-giving fruits, to know which is to create continuing desire for more of them.

There is no doubt of the Florida exposition in New York having more than fulfilled the hopes of its promoters and those responsible for making it the success that it proved to be. It not only was a novelty, to have "a bit of Florida" in New York, a bit of the Florida sunshine and warmth, in a time when the people of that great city were "chilled to the bone," their resting about made difficult and disagreeable by a not uncommon visitation of winter weather, to Florida entirely unknown.

More than a mere novelty was the practical demonstration of Florida's agreeableness, of its balmy atmosphere, its glowing sunshine, embedded in golden globes of sweetness, and of Florida's ability to produce fruits and vegetables in variety and of superior excellence, and especially in this season of the year. It was a demonstration that was comprehensive and convincing. It cannot fail to bring very great benefit to the state. Also, it will prove of benefit to those who saw, and were convinced that Florida is the place for them, either as visitors or as permanent residents.

An object lesson, properly presented, always is more enlightening, more convincing and more lasting than mere word-of-mouth explanation or statement. So, the Florida exposition serves, and is of continuing value. This will be seen in the coming of more people to the state, of more money being sent here for investment, of more and better efforts being put forth by Florida people, to continuing just what has been done by the Madison Square Garden show—attaining the people know more and more, always reliably about Florida, its possibilities and its actual achievements. In this latter respect the people of Florida have been presented to them an object lesson that is as important and as valuable as the one they presented to the thousands of people who visited the exposition in New York.

How Business Depression Tests Good-will

Many a manufacturer during the past two years has had an opportunity to measure as never before the real worth of his advertising investment.

He has seen his trade-marked line keep up in sales and his unadvertised goods shrink to a small fraction of their former volume. Innumerable instances could be cited.

Dealers can tell a similar story. The number of makes carried of each item have shrunken to a very few—the best known and most frequently called for. Dealers have changed their point of view; they no longer stock lightly with many brands, but substantially with a few.

Quick turnover is their only salvation in a depression and their real source of profit in a prosperous period.

LOVELY BRIDGE PARTY HONORING MRS. RUBY

The spacious home of Mrs. Edward Lane was the scene of a very pretty party Monday afternoon when Mrs. Lane entertained at bridge, complimenting Mrs. Laurel Ruby of Madisonville, Ky., the attractive house guest of Mrs. J. R. Pace.

The color motif of red and green was artistically carried out with exquisite red radiance roses and ferns. Marking the places of the players were tallies designed with Martha and George Washington.

Of unusual interest was the game of bridge played during the afternoon, and the prize for top score, two Maderia guest towels, was won by Mrs. W. C. Hill. The consolation prize, Maderia handkerchiefs went to Mrs. D. L. Thrasher. Mrs. Ruby, honoree, was presented a Maderia buffet set.

Refreshments of chicken salad, sandwiches, olives, stalfines, fruit cake and coffee were served at the conclusion of the card game, by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Hill, Mrs. A. J. Richardson, Mrs. John McNamara and Mrs. Donald Smith.

HOLLYWOOD WILL MAKE ONLY GOOD CLEAN PICTURES

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 26—Wholesome pictures with clean advertising, is the 1924 program of Hollywood producers. Modern stories, with as few characters as possible, and told in six or seven reels, is the present producing vogue.

This is the opinion of Maurice Tourneur, one of the leading producer-directors who has just completed a survey of the year's outlook.

In accordance with public demand throughout the country, the trend will be toward pictures that will entertain the whole family, Tourneur said today.

"With the exception of a few truly powerful stories the period play has lost favor with the public, although there are very limited number of period plays, including their old time costuming, that will always command a tremendous public patronage.

"The majority of the film producers unlike theatrical producers of the east and many book publishers will keep away from the profane and salacious.

Producers, however, will always insist upon their rights as American citizens to portray life as we know it and it is not to be inferred that the pictures to come will be the sugar-coated, namby-panby stuff that no one would enjoy.

"Most stories can be told in six or seven reels and this will be the popular length of films to be shown in the near future.

"Another lesson has been learned by producers and that is to keep the number of characters down to a minimum."

FOR VISITORS

Misses Frances Wilson and Hazel Hill of Parkville, N. Y., the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Emmet Wilson were the charming honorees, Monday afternoon when Mrs. Andrew Mahoney entertained at bridge at her home on Tenth Street.

The rooms where the card tables were placed were bright with pink roses and ferns effectively arranged in baskets. Scores were kept on tallies symbolic of Washington's birthday.

After a number of games of bridge, scores were counted and prizes awarded. Mrs. Wilson, holding high score, was given a box of stationery. The cut prize, a set of table markers, went to Mrs. Alice Peters. The honorees, Misses Wilson and Hill, were presented beautiful vases of sweet peas.

Following the card game, the hostess served a tempting salad course with cake and coffee.

Hardened Prisoners Do Not Cheat In Sing Sing School When They Learn Their Three "R'S"

BY STEVE HANNAGAN
Nea Service Staff Writer.

SING SING PRISON, OS SINGING, N. Y., Feb. 26

Many a man goes to prison to learn the three R's of childhood.

Here at Sing Sing, education is compulsory for prisoners who have not attained fifth-grade perfection in their studies.

Sitting in their desks, like the grown-up children they are, they wrestle with reading, writing and arithmetic.

They attack their lessons with a vengeance each day for an hour and a quarter.

An examination was being conducted by a prisoner-teacher in one of the classes.

"Now remember," he admonished, "the first student I catch with a prompting note in his hand, I will take his examination paper away from him—and give him zero."

Men in the class—daring, fearless persons who laughed into the muzzle of the law's guns—covered under the teacher's throat.

The class rooms are bright and airy. They would be cheerful under other circumstances. Shadows of steel window bars mark the faces of 13 nationalities in phantasm fashion as the students attend class. Their ages range from 18 to 50.

In another room a new teacher was leading the class for his first time.

Questions were popped at him with machine-gun rapidity. He was nervous. The students were trying to break him. He was being given the schoolroom third degree of Sing Sing.

But he answered every query to the complete satisfaction of the class—and the pupils immediately became subservient.

Had he faltered under this initial barrage of tell-tale questions it was explained, he would have been valueless as a teacher.

There are no guards in the class rooms. Teachers and students are on an equal—all prisoners. Students do not recognize teacher as a superior—but in their eagerness to learn they do recognize his superior knowledge. He rules by his margin of education.

Seven prisoner-teachers conduct the classes. Three of them are college men. Only once in the history of the Sing Sing school has a professional school teacher—as a prisoner—led classes.

The entire school is under the supervision of Norbert J. Henzel, born at Albany, N. Y., and graduated from Holy Cross College. He became director of education at Sing Sing four years ago—when he was only 22 years old.

He examines all prisoners as they enter Sing Sing, classifies them and determines whether they shall enter school.

"Men Who Do Not Want to Learn Are Animals."

One prisoner-student—a Russian—refused to study on entering Sing Sing. A year later he sent this letter to Norbert Henzel as a preface to a year's work in his cell.

Addressed to "Dear Mr. Professor," it reads:

"Please look over these my cell lessons, and you will see what I wrote before and what I write now. Before I thought English school was nothing for me and I would never learn it. Now I am very glad with it and give you, Mr. Professor, very great thanks, because now I can read and write English."

"Which man not want to learn, that man is an animal."

"Now I am reading a very good book—the Bible—and it opened my eyes. It is about Our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ."

"Good-bye and thank you very much."

at night—after their day's work is done.

One of the men is studying mechanical drawing. Within the cramped quarters of his cell he works out his lessons each night until 10:30 o'clock, when the lights go out.

This man has perseverance—for he must also be an acrobat to manipulate a drawing board on his knees in the small cell enclosure.

PERSIA TO SELL CROWN JEWELS FOR RAILROADS

Diamonds and Rubies That Stud the Famous Peacock Throne are Valued at Approximately $40,000,000.

NEW YORK CITY, Feb. 26—The report that Persia will sell a part of her great collection of crown jewels to raise money to build railways brings renewed interest in the contrasted splendor and bankruptcy of the court of the Shah of Persia, writes "The Kansas City Star."

The value of the diamonds and rubies that stud the famous peacock throne of Persia has been placed as high as $40,000,000. The three largest diamonds belonging to the crown—the Great Mogul, the Darya-i-nur and the Taj-e-mah—are among the most precious jewels in the world.

When the boy Shah was crowned he had to support the heavy diadem first with one hand and then with the other. It had been worn by Nadir Shah, and was of solid gold, set with diamonds, rubies and emeralds. After a few moments the crown was removed and replaced by an astrakhan hat, ornamented by the great Nadir siffrette, set with the huge dia-

2. Safeguard the Monroe Doctrine.
3. Accept the fact that the United States will assume no obligations under the Treaty of Versailles except by Act of Congress.
4. Propose that membership in the League should be open to all nations.

MIAMI PLANNING FOR MID-WINTER RACES MARCH 7

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—Plans are nearing completion for handling the mid-winter regatta to be staged here March 7 and 8, under joint direction of the Yachtmen's Association of America, and the American Power Boat Association. Members of these organizations have been on the ground for several days engaged with the details of the plans.

A. A. Schant, commodore of the Detroit Yacht Club, has been designated as chairman of the racing committee, and is serving in an advisory capacity during preparations for the races. He is generally looked upon as an expert in staging such events. He was chairman of the responsible committees in charge of Detroit's regatta last summer, which distributed prizes aggregating $25,000.

Jack Himself

In conjunction with the motor boat regatta there will be held the national aeronautic meet, which is expected to bring together some of the best flying talent in the country. The National Aeronautic Association, recognized official flying club of the country, has awarded the Curtiss Marine Trophy race to Miami. This carries a first prize of $1,000, a second prize of $300 and third prize of $200, in addition to a silver trophy awarded for one year to the Aero Club represented by the winning pilot. The distance of this race is 200 kilometers, or 124.27 miles.

There are to be four major events, including the Curtiss Marine trophy race, as well as the motor boat events and the preliminary events. A free-for-all race for privately owned seaplanes and flying boats over a distance of 35.2 miles, a novelty bombing competition and a handi-capped race for navy seaplanes and flying boats also are to be added.

ATTRACTION BOXING CLUB

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 26.—Thirty-two rounds of boxing will be offered the public in a card arranged by the American Legion for its program at Waterfront Park Monday night. Otis Hurst, junior welterweight of this city, will meet Tommy Quinn of Brooklyn in the 10-round finale. Louis Puglacia of Tampa and Jimmy Noble of this city will meet in the semi-final eight-round bout.

STUDENTS OBSERVE "TAP DAY"

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 26.—Monday was observed at Florida State College for Women as "tap day," when 20 members of the Freshman class will be chosen for certain honorary duties, and 20 others will be selected for Y. W. commissions. The occasion is one of the most important events of the year at the school, and the students consider it a great honor to be "tapped."

SERVE MORE FLORIDA FRUIT

LAKELAND, Feb. 26.—Miss Lois Godley of Bartow, Polk county home demonstration agent, has started a movement to have more Florida fruit served at hotels and restaurants and at lower prices. Already she has been given the endorsement of Mrs. Anton Schneider, president of the Polk County Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. L. L. Arnold of Haines City, county chairman of home demonstration.

Jack Dempsey called at the White House and discussed affairs of the nation with the president. Dempsey wanted to know why Czechoslovakia was not given mandate over Abyssinia, it is rumored. Coolidge assured Dempsey, gossips have it, that the only thing that stood in the way was Article X of the League of Nations, and the two thereupon discussed the league in detail.

STAR GOLFERS TO PLAY IN ORLANDO TOURNEY MAR. 8

Announcement is Made for Year of 1924 When Only Wholesome Films with Clean Advertising will be Produced.

ORLANDO, Feb. 26.—Golf enthusiasts in this section of the state are to have an exceptionally good opportunity to see the game as it should be played here Mar. 8, when the 36-hole pro tournament, with a $1,500 purse at stake, will take place at the Orlando Country Club. This tournament, according to an announcement made yesterday by Dave Davidson, will attract some of the best professionals in the country with an entry list of 30 experts.

Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen have already signified their intention to enter the match play, Davidson stated, and he named Jock Hutchinson, Mike Brady, George McLean, Leo Diegle and Alex Gerard as among the nationally known golfers who are likely to play here. Professionals from the various clubs in the state, including Sanford, Belleair, St. Augustine, Miami, St. Petersburg, Tampa, Daytona, intend, it is said, to participate in the tourney.

Eighteen holes of the match are to be played in the morning of Mar. 8, with the other 18 holes in the afternoon. The purse, it was announced, will be divided in 10 ways.

Cornell Virtually Clinches Cage Title

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Cornell virtually has clinched the 1924 championship of the intercollegiate basketball league. With six victories out of seven starts and a margin of two and a half games over their nearest opponents, Dartmouth and Columbia, the Ithacans are firmly established at the league pinnacle. Only an upset of the most startling character can avert the first triumph of the "big red" quintet since 1914, when the Ithacans were forced to share the top with Columbia.

Cornell has three more games to play and a victory in one will assure it of at least a tie, providing Dartmouth or Columbia wins all of their remaining four contests.

Two sensational victories last week, one over Columbia at Ithaca with the league lead at stake, and the other over Pennsylvania on the Quaker court gave the Ithacans their present formidable lead. To complete the swift change in the league line up Columbia met unexpected defeat at the hands of Dartmouth here and these rivals went into a tie for second place, with three victories and as many setbacks apiece.

PREPARING FOR BIG GAMES

WINTER HAVEN, Feb. 26.—Work is being rushed on the new grandstand at the baseball park here, in preparation for the spring training exhibition games of the numerous major league teams in Florida. The stand will have a seating capacity of 1,500 and will cost approximately $5,000. The Chicago White Sox are expected to reach here during the first week in March to begin their training. Advance notices indicate there will be about 50 persons in the party, including the newspaper correspondents and others.

ERGEST AROS HAS GIVEN HERE SOME MOTORISTS' HINTS

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 26.—Automobile owners, visiting Florida whose cars are provided only with temporary carboard tags, should obtain a license tax from their home state for use on the journey en route back home; otherwise they may encounter difficulties with local officers in states through which they pass.

The state comptroller, in making this suggestion, says he has taken up with the authorities in all states east of the Mississippi river the question of whether or not the Florida non-resident card-board tag will be honored, after having received many inquiries from non-resident motor vehicle owners. While most of the states replying have advised that they would honor the tag, some reported they would not. Some of the states take the position that the temporary tags are valid for use only in Florida, and accordingly will not be honored by them. They rule that to have a license tag honored in another state, the owner should have one issued by his own state, and not a temporary tag of a state in which he does not reside. This means that while the non-resident Florida tag is of unquestioned validity during the time for which issued in Florida, its validity will be questioned by some of the other states for use in those states.

The comptroller had hoped to obtain a unanimously favorable report from all eastern states, but it

Commission Postpones John B. Stetson Jr. Searches for Early History of Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 26.—The state railroad commission has issued an order indefinitely postponing the hearing scheduled to be held tomorrow in the matter of express rates on articles of food to which state commodity rates are now applicable.

Reasons given for the postponement are that "the interstate commerce commission has postponed, until further order, the effective date of its order in the case of 'Express Rates 1922'" in so far as it pertains to commodity rates applicable to the interstate transportation of articles of food; and

That "the railroad commissioners of Florida deem it inexpedient to act in the matter of interstate express rates" on articles of food to which intrastate commodity rates are now applicable until final order of the interstate commerce commission in the matter of interstate rates."

CUSTOM RECEIPTS SOAR

MANILA, Feb. 26.—The gross customs receipts of the Philippines for 1923 amounted to $8,500,000. This is the record in the history of the lands, with the exception of the year 1920, when the total was $8,800,000.

Electric Locomotive Is Victor in Tug-o-War

Two monsters of the rails, one operated by electricity, or "white coal," and the other by steam, staged a spectacular tug-o-war at Erie, Pa., recently before railway officials from all parts of the country. Puffing and snorting, with its huge driving wheels turning ahead, the steam locomotive was

Detachable Bird Houses

It is becoming quite the fashion for country, suburban, and even city dwellers to provide small bird houses in yards and parks. They are usually mounted on poles or in trees, and as they are securely fastened, it is not an easy matter to remove them when it is desired to paint, repair, or clean them, which is occasionally necessary. A method of mounting a bird house so that it can readily be detached is shown in the drawing. The top of the supporting post is trimmed down to fit loosely inside a No. 2 fruit can, which is cut and slotted as shown. The can is nailed to the underside of the bird house and slipped over the end of the pole. Nails are then driven into the slots and bent downward at right angles as shown, so that the can will not slip off. When removing the bird house the nails are turned to the position shown in the lower detail, when the can may easily be released, by an upward pull.

Decomposition caused by contact of the cream with metallic surfaces in the churn produces an iron acetate that causes the "fishy" taste frequently detected in butter, government experts have discovered.

Men Outnumbered by Women in Census of World

That there are more women than men in the world, is the conclusion drawn by a statistician after recent researches. Among the 475,000,000 inhabitants of the earth, there are 250,000,000 women, 25,000,000 more than the number of men, his figures show. In Germany there are 1,026 women to each 1,000 men; in Russia, 1,400 women to each 1,000 men, and in France and Belgium, respectively, 1,093 and 1,033 for each 1,000 men. The 1920 census reports for the United States show that there are 1,040 males to every 1,000 females in this country. "The preponderance of women in foreign lands is believed to be partly explained by the death toll of numerous wars in the past few generations.

"Soap Holes" of Cowboy Days Become Valuable Clay

"Soap holes," once thought by cattle ranchers of the West to be dangerous mines of worthless slime, have become mines of mineral clay of great commercial value. Bentonite, as the substance taken from the deposits is called, has been made into an ingredient to give body and weight to paper and to aid in the mixing of wall plaster and pastes. Soap makers experimenting with it are said to have found it possessed of good cleaning qualities and beneficial to the skin. Many of the clays and massage creams used by beauty parlors are mixed with it as a base. In the raw state it lies near the surface. Since it absorbs almost seven times its volume of water, it forms a soft, slippery mass where the deposits are in low ground.

FLORIDA

A Shore Line of Over Three Thousand Miles; Fine Harbors; A Great Fishing Industry

Florida has a shore line of more than three thousand miles, including bays and islands, rich in commercial and other possibilities. Several fine harbors assist in economical marketing of farm products and to maintain reasonable freight rates for manufactured goods. The fishing industry has reached gigantic proportions. Salt water-sea food shipments have an annual value of nearly fifteen million dollars.

The tonnage of salt water scale fish runs about 60,000,000 pounds a year. One shipping point has moved 1,250,000 pounds of fresh water fish in a single month. Over one hundred thousand barrels of oysters yearly are canned or shipped fresh.

The yearly output of shrimp averages around ten million pounds. In a year three-quarters of a million dollars' worth of sponges have been shipped. Conversion of non-edible fish and fish scrap into oil and meal is a new industry of considerable promise.

"Florida Has Unsurpassed Opportunities For Two Distinct Classes of People"

—WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

The first class, according to Mr. Bryan, now a resident of Florida, consists of people with a taste for development work. "Only five per cent of Florida land is now cultivated," he says, "but nearly all the rest can be utilized, with a maximum of reward to persons who help turn the state's natural resources into money."

A different type of opportunity is offered the class who will avail themselves of the unsurpassed attractions of Florida as a winter resort. Mr. Bryan points out saying, "our winter climate is an asset of incalculable value which cannot be exhausted. Florida invites inspection, whether one desires a farm or a home."

OPPOSE WAR DEPOT SITE

GENEVA, Feb. 26.—The free city of Danzig, which is under control of the League of Nations, has protested to the league against the site picked by the Polish government for a war depot. The site is too near the city and likely to endanger life in the event of explosions, declares the protest.

A neutral commission has been named in an effort to settle the dispute.

FRANCE and Germany, says Stines recently said in an interview with the Paris Journal des Debats, have but two choices. Either to solve the present deadlock through a new war and new rains, or to work for peace through a firm agreement between two countries which can not remain hostile to each other forever. My efforts are for the second choice.

Unless the second choice is made by France and Germany, there is ahead of Europe calamity such as the world has never seen. We should sympathize deeply, lend money privately if the lender choose to take the risk, and nationally keep out of Europe and European affairs.

IF YOU knew that in the house next to yours there were two men with loaded guns uncertain about shaking hands or blowing each other's head off, you would stay out of that house until they had made up their minds.
