

Many Athletics, New Fans To Come Out Of Service

By JOHN GROVER
AP Features Writer
Washington — Watch for a return-of-war rubies postwar sports era that'll make the so-called "golden age of athletics" in the 1920s look like dime-store jewelry.

Officers in charge of the Army's athletic program say the armistice will turn loose the biggest mass of muscles the sports world ever saw. They don't see how a post-war boom in both spectator and participant sports can miss.

Col. Ted Bank, former football coach at the University of Idaho and now with the Army Special Service Division, figures men got a taste of athletics, liked it, and the boom after the first World War resulted.

Now there are plans for a 10,000,000-man military force. They'll all get a lot more than a taste of organized athletics. With twice as many soldiers, sailors and marines getting big helpings of sports, the decade after peace looks to be a copper-lined cinch for outstanding athletic development.

There are two basic purposes behind the Army's athletic program: (1) Body contact sports to make Joe Rookie a better soldier, able to protect himself in the battle clutch; (2) morale value, resulting from the best employment of leisure time, both in training and in the field.

It's working, Colonel Bank reports. The Army sports schedule is continually expanding. Kids who never had an opportunity to participate in organized athletics are grabbing at the chance to learn new games. There are camp leagues in almost 60 sports, with competition between camps in many. Troops in England played the finals of the expeditionary force basketball championship before a packed soldier audience.

There are plans for after-the-war tournaments on a wider scale. The inter-Allied games after the last war brought out some of the great white whales of the golden age, like sprinter Charley Paddock, boxer Gene Tunney, Bob Roper and dozens of others.

This time the pool of potential sports talent is deeper and wider. It's in Army ranks to bring it out. Maybe, some, back, picking up heavy army baggage in the Tunisian mud today will be the one to stamp his second flat in the 100-yard dash on grid out the four-minute mile.

Colonel Bank says they're uncovering sleeper stars all the time. The unknown ace of a 1943 camp team could be the Babe Ruth of the 1950's.

The answering of talent in camp athletes is only half the story. Just thinking about the made-to-order audience the Army is building for future sports events is enough to make a promoter's eyes go with visions of boxes of folding money.

There's no more rabid sports nut than the top who's played a little himself. The "support" will be to bounce his back-ten on the box office line for the privilege of criticizing the performers, usually the guy with some slight playing background himself in the Army he gets to know the game, and that gives him a chronic case of "expertise" that makes him a post-war cash customer.

BEAU JACK'S SEARCH FOR CULTURE DELAYED WHILE HE DEFENDS CROWN

By HILTON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor
NEW YORK — Always interested in improvement of the breed, whether it be horses or human beings, it was with great interest I learned that our lightweight champion can now distinguish between cat and dog when he counters words in the public prints.

Furthermore, Beau Jack can write Sidney Walker, which happens to be the 135-pound champion's name.

He can read well enough to make sense out of the average newspaper story, so long as they don't ring in any 25-cent words on him. It just goes to show that boxing can do for a person, what an elevating profession it is.

When Jack was shined by the Augusta, Ga. National Club, newspaper were just being while folks left scattered around the room to be picked up.

His attitude changed last November. Before Jack beat Allice Stiles and became the No. 1 contender for the title, Allice would come up with his gnawing craving for culture and knowledge. He was curious to know what was in those newspaper, besides pictures.

So reading and writing it was for Jack. Bowman Milligan, his guardian and ring coach, became his private tutor. Jack was steered away from arithmetic. The champ is allowed $5 a week spending money and his board of strategy decided there was no reason he should learn that currency came in larger denominations. It is much better that they bank his earnings for him until such time that he can use them. Yes, reading and writing would suffice now for Jack.

After keeping his nose in a school book for a month, Jack could read his name and write it too. That was the status of his culture progress the night last December when he knocked out Tippy Larkin in three heats and won the crown.

Between fights he'd light out Augusta and cram some more. There was definite improvement by the time he first fought Fritzie Zivic, more progress at the stage of their second meeting. And he was quite a literate party on Dr. Elliot's five-foot board of strategy decided there was no reason he should learn that currency came in larger denominations. It is much better that they bank his earnings for him until such time that he can use them. Yes, reading and writing would suffice now for Jack.

Now Chick Wergales, his manager, tells Beau can manage his way across any newspaper and come up with the gist of the news, not too badly mangled. "Well, it just goes to how, step."

Wergales says this is nothing to get upset about, that it is only natural for a fellow who moves about as fast and as steadily as Jack to tire. He just asks: "Was it easy was as tired, why didn't Zivic or Armstrong a few punches but he was alright, knock him down or out? Sure, he was wanting up and taking they couldn't hurt him. And Montgomery won't either."

I can't vouch for the veracity of this rumor from Greenwood Lake but the essence of it is that Jack has been saving his allowance and, with extra five-spot he'll get from the Montgomery suit, he plans to make a down payment on Dr. Elliot's five-foot shelf. He's still a hungry fighter, not for pork chops but for culture.

Joey Burns May Be "Semi-Pro" But He's Making Berth For Himself

AP Features
BOSTON — He came into the major league tagged as a "semi-pro" but Joey Burns, the Boston Braves' promising rookie third baseman, doesn't mind. He's having fun.

When that presentable player who, in addition to owning a 3-A draft card, can hit, field and run, was asked how he liked being a big leaguer, he replied: "I don't know. I've only played a couple of weeks or so in the National league and I haven't any idea what will happen to me. But so far I've had plenty of fun."

Burns, who is a 25-year-old athlete, appears to have enough self-confidence to make himself a regular berth during his freshman year with the Braves. Both President Bob Quinn and Manager Casey Stengel share that opinion.

Quinn rates Burns as the most promising third base prospect the Braves have had under his presidency and Stengel, just before he was sidelined with a fractured leg, nominated Joey as the lead-off man for his opening game lineup.

For a rookie, Burns broke in sensationally. He belted the Giants' Johnny Wittig for four hits in his opening game and the next day he stole home on such a crafty flinger as Van Lingle Mungo. After going seven games for a batting average of .333, Burns was forced out by a tonalitis attack.

Describing Burns as a semi-pro is accurate but very misleading. It is true that he started out as a sand-lotter around Philadelphia seven years ago and was one again there last season. But between times he more than made good in the minors.

Six years ago, Jimmy Dykes, who knew Burns' folks, got him a berth with the Richmond Piedmont League Club. From there Burns drifted south to Tyler in the East Texas League and made good with such a bang that he was promoted to Oklahoma City within a year.

Burns hit so well for Oklahoma City in 1941 that that Texas League club had a couple of major league nibbles for his services. Burns, however, had a nailing stomach at the time and, fearing he would be handicapped by it, balked about going higher. He insisted at that time that he was "not ripe enough" for a major league trial.

Still ill, Burns failed to report to Oklahoma City last season, which he spent working and playing semi-pro ball in Philadelphia. Quinn was tipped, about Burns by a Texas friend and when that magnate finally located the player, Joey had been approached by three other clubs, including Dykes' White Sox. The assurance that the Sox were wide open caused him to cast his lot with the Braves.

When Burns checked into the Tribesmen's camp at Chocoma School in Wallingford, Conn., he found it jammed with prospective third basemen. Among them were the veteran Tony Cochet, Edie Jost, who prefers third to second base, Ben Geraghty, former Villanova star, and Mike Sandler.

The competition, however, lasted only until Stengel, who has been yearning for a rifle-armed third baseman for years, saw Burns gunning his throws after and murdering his veteran pitchers at the plate in the earliest intra-squad practice games.

U. S. Airmen Bag 113 Planes Around Italy

Softening Up Attack Includes Bombing Of Sardinian Dam; RAF Raids Berlin

WASHINGTON, May 21, (AP) — President Roosevelt declared today that preliminary plans for the next great Allied move against the Axis will be submitted by the British-American chiefs of staff tonight, and Japan appears high among the targets as he reported a large majority of American forces outside the United States are in the Pacific.

(By Associated Press) American fliers were officially credited with ringing up a spectacular toll of 118 enemy planes destroyed in softening up attacks on Italy and the island outposts while swift United States fighter-bombers dropped explosives on a dam in north-west Sardinia.

Wing services delivered a night assault on an Italian air base at Grosseto, 90 miles north of Rome, on the invasion-litany southern flank of Hitler's Europe, while a deep-bombing was of nerves between London and Berlin appeared underway.

Speedy RAF mosquito bombers (left) lobbed at Berlin last night while London underwent an alarm all night long.

Other RAF planes striking the Axis capital were carrying the "Dambusters" to the Ruhr valley, and communication lines were being cut.

The Red Army's drive on Novorodok was started by furious German assaults attempting to break out of the trap but the Russian leaders they were fighting in the "Dambusters" (left) were in the hands of the German army.

Among the Axis victims sent streaming into the sea were Messerschmitt 109s, Focke-Wulf 190s, and Me 262s. Official sources described the onslaught as "aerial long and grinding fights."

The southern and central Sardinian targets attacked were Monte Alamo, Monte S. Paolo, Capriani harbor, Monte Alamo, and Villadelfia.

Opposition was intense but American Marauder and Mitchell bombers and Western fighters shot down 18 enemy fighters, scored direct hits on at least six grounded planes in the airfield, and planted bombs in the dispersal areas at Cillabate where approximately 30 grounded planes were observed.

A lone Messerschmitt patrolling the eastern Sardinian coast was shot down by a Mitchell fighter.

The Italian high command in a communique broadcast by Rome claimed 14 Allied planes were destroyed, and said the attacks caused some casualties and small damage.

Axis planes were said to have been downed and probably sunk two more planes shot off the sky by the American coast guard vessel.

The parts of Sicily, Tunisia, and Great Britain, Tunisia, said to have been heavily attacked by Axis bombers.

Holland Signs Bill Banning Secret Clubs

TALLAHASSEE, May 21, (AP) — Governor Holland today signed a bill banning secret clubs in Holland.

The bill, which is now in effect, prohibits the formation of any secret club or organization in the state.

The bill also prohibits the membership of any person in such a club or organization.

The bill is one of the many measures which Governor Holland has taken to strengthen the state's defenses.

Italian Targets Hit By Allies

A SPECTACULAR WARNING that Rome is within easy reach of bombers based in North Africa was given by Allied planes that roared over the Italian capital after blasting the seaplane base at Cillabate, only 15 miles away. Shortly before this raid, British bombers made a daylight assault on Trapani (2) in Sicily.

Dorner Advocates Building Facilities For Cold Storage

Establishment of ample cold storage facilities, and of a large cannery kitchen to preserve vegetables, is the Sanford State Farmers Market, was yesterday advocated by E. Dorner.

Mr. Dorner, who has been living in Chester, Pa. for the past two years, and who was one of the early growers of this section, has been recuperating from the effects of an operation at the University of Pennsylvania hospital.

For the past year, he has been employed in the tool department of the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock Company of Chester. Prior to that, he was on the staff of the U. M. C. A. there.

Manager H. J. Lehman, I understand, is strongly advocating establishment of a large cold storage plant at the market.

Body Of Soldier Severed At Waist Found On Track

Completely severed at the waist, the body of a soldier, identified as Alejandro C. Costillo, was discovered at about 1:30 this morning lying across the track of the Atlantic Coast Line near the station.

It was his belief that the soldier was trying to hop a ride on a freight train, and in some manner fell between the cars. Authorities of McDill Field, Army base at Tampa were immediately informed by the Sheriff's office of the death.

An Army pass found in Costillo's bilfold, identified him.

Cigarette Tax Bill Is Passed By Senators

Only Governor's Signature Remains To Turn $3,500,000 Measure Into Law

TALLAHASSEE, May 21, (AP) — The House today passed H. R. 11, introduced by L. B. Mann and M. S. Smith, creating the Sanford Police Department pension fund; and H. R. 12, introduced by M. S. Smith and Mr. Smith, designating a road in Sealon and Orange counties.

TALLAHASSEE, May 21, (AP) — The recent cigarette tax bill, big issue before the legislature, was passed yesterday by the Senate, 25 to 11, in two hours, with no floor up or fireworks.

Out of the House Monday, 44 to 27, it rolled through the Senate with a bigger vote than greeted by some of those who had sponsored it.

The tax, to run for two years, is effective July 1.

Urged by Governor Holland at his major legislative program, to raise $3,500,000 to offset losses of horse racing taxes for old age pensions and county aid, the bill, with friendly amendments to transfer tax enforcement from the state comptroller to the state beverage administrator.

Companion House bills, also amended in minor degree and passed by the Senate, provide $2,000,000 a year for old age pensions and $1,500,000 a year for distribution among counties on the same basis that revenue from taxes on horse race wagers.

Penalties Not Increased — The three bills do not increase amounts previously provided for old age pensions and public welfare for which $3,800,000 a year of liquor and beer tax is provided.

If facing is resumed next winter, the cigarette tax will contribute to go into the general revenue fund and amounts will be proportionately reduced.

Only Senator Mathews of Jacksonville spoke against the tax (Continued on Page Two)

Improvement Of State Road 44 Is Requested

Construction of a 20 foot road to the Naval auxiliary field at Cecilia, and of improvement of the neglected State Road 44, extending from Sanford to Mims, on the ground of military necessity, today lunched as a possibility, when a copy of a letter addressed to the Chief of Naval Air Operation Training command from Comdr. F. Massie Hughes, requesting these improvements, was received.

This letter was read by Secretary George Morgan of the Good Roads Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, which met Tuesday evening at the Hotel Mayfair.

Mr. Morgan, the committee voted to concentrate its efforts on the building of Road 44 and Road 203, extending five miles from Sanford to Orlando highway to Ovidio and Chulonta and connecting with the Cheney Highway. It was also requested that the County Commissioners be requested to proceed with the securing of the right of way for these two roads as quickly as possible in order to have them available when material and labor can be secured for construction.

William A. Laffer, presiding in the absence of Chairman H. Wheeler, emphasized the necessity of a definite road program to develop Seminole county. He stressed the importance of keeping constantly behind the State Road Department for securing roads requested, also the importance of formulating definite plans for secondary roads.

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Edward Higgins was instructed to follow the Road 44 project through and assist in any way he could in having it presented to the Bureau of Public Roads for approval. He was also instructed to ascertain the proper procedure to have the State Road Department designate a proposed road from Pine Avenue on Sanford Avenue, across Lake Jasper to Ovidio.

Limit. George T. Swiggum, of the Sanford Naval Air Station, told of the possibility of using material available in the county for construction of secondary roads. Following a lengthy discussion of this matter by the group, it was determined that it was necessary to have an engineer make a survey of the county so as to determine the present possible traffic, which would determine the type of road that it would be necessary to build in the different districts.

The proposed road, which will be presented to the County Commissioners for their consideration. Present at the meeting were: W. A. Laffer, Chairman, G. C. C. C. A. J. Wagner, R. E. Housley, W. G. Kilborn, Mr. Bryan of the State Road Department, Lt. J. E. Bergman, Ch. L. McWhorter, and others.

W. R. Dyson Seizes Zoot Sued Negro For Jewel Thefts

A number of robberies which in the last few days have pointed to a whole neighborhood were cleared Wednesday afternoon when W. R. Dyson, 1201 Magnolia Avenue captured a zoot suited negro youth of 18 and held him at the point of a pistol until Police Chief R. L. Williams and Lt. Roy Willis arrived to claim him.

Examination of the zoot suit at the Police Station revealed that it in fact was a jewel valued at $150, and to have been recently stolen from the residence of Mrs. J. H. Reed of 11 East Eighth Street. A small bag full which had been in a pocket book stolen from the residence of Mrs. H. H. McCallum of Magnolia Avenue was recovered but the other contents, including six ration books belonging to members of the household, were missing, police stated.

The capture of the negro thief was the climax of a chase that started when H. M. Grumball of the Magnolia Avenue residence of the negro who had been stolen from the street from Mr. Grumball of 1119 Magnolia Avenue.

Yamamoto Is Reported Shot Down In Action

Vichy Radio Reveals Japs Are Preparing To Flee From Attu; Kiska Faces Hunger

NEW YORK, May 21, (AP) — The Tokyo radio announced today that Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, commander-in-chief of the combined Japanese fleet, who was reported to have boasted he would dictate the peace terms in the White House, has been killed in action.

A broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission said Yamamoto met death in April aboard a warplane "while directing general strategy in the front line" but gave no details.

The Navy Department reported today that operations on Attu Island are continuing with the latest reports indicating the Japanese are making a last stand in the defensive high ground on the island's northern extremity.

The broadcast said Admiral Mineichi Koga, formerly commander of the Izo fleet in Chinese waters, succeeded the 49-year-old Yamamoto, and "already was in command." Yamamoto was Japan's foremost admiral, who combined sea and air power and was known as one of the ablest naval strategists in the empire.

Meanwhile the Nazi-controlled Vichy radio declared the Japanese "have been to evacuate Attu" but United States warships were believed to be in the ocean. The Japanese situation's base at Kiska was seen as threatened with starvation or surrender to the blockade.

In Washington it was said that the battle for Attu island has swept into its final phase with American troops attacking Japanese forces holed up on the shore of Chichagof Harbor. Warships and bombers are supporting the assault.

Still important is being encountered and United States casualties may be heavier than any yet experienced in the fighting, but an early conclusion is expected, and the victors are expected to throw the enemy off the island.

The airfield which the Japanese were building on Attu is an American base. One of the first American projects in development of the island probably will be the completion of this field which would give our forces an air base about 200 statute miles from Tokyo.

The field would be useful in helping to cut off the enemy's main American base on Kiska from reinforcements and supplies and in softening up Kiska during the assault on the island to annihilate the enemy garrison on that island also.

More Enlistments Sought By Local State Guard Unit

Close order drill and the manual of arms were conducted by Lieut. Porter Lansing at the regular weekly drill of the 1st Florida State Guard, held at the Army last night.

A lecture on safety in handling shotguns was delivered by Sgt. Byrd Goslin, who also instructed the men in the manual of arms and the use of shotguns. Jim Webb instructed the submachine gun squad in the dismantling of this weapon as well as the names of the various parts.

In the absence of Capt. John Galloway who is attending State Guard officers' school at Fort Benning, Fla., Lieut. Lansing announced that a number of vacancies have occurred recently in the regular Army or Navy and made an appeal for additional enlistments to bring the company up to full strength.

He urged that any patriotic men in the county over 18 or under draft age who want to do their duty on the home front in this emergency to get in touch with him or any of the other officers or non-commissioned officers of the company with regard to enlistment papers.

W. A. Laffer, president of the organization, expressed his gratitude and thanks to all those who helped in the campaign and requested any who are not yet members to join us in our work.

"The work we do now and the war are most important to the community and well being of Seminole County," he added.

Dorner Advocates Building Facilities For Cold Storage

Mr. Dorner said "In our original plan for the market, as outlined by our Agricultural Club Committee, one of the major features was to be adequate cold storage facilities.

"One of the main reasons for this storage, we realized, was that when we were through shipping vegetable crops from this section, we later had to buy as consumers, high priced products that in cold storage we could have retained for 60 days, but for lack of these facilities, we had to ship away.

"We realized also that the market would be used for fruits and vegetables shipped into the State, and cold storage could be used to keep these in good condition. We even planned also to keep meats and fish in storage, and there was also need for a cold storage place for seeds. We believed that this cold storage would result in great savings to consumers within a 100 mile radius, and much elimination of waste.

"Finding that often many vegetables that were unsold, went to waste, it was planned to have a large canning kitchen right near the market, somewhat similar to the small canning kitchens now in the County, but on a much larger scale, and available to individuals who wished to can these surplus foods," Mr. Dorner added.

"However, I am pleased to see the Farmer's Market answering the purpose it was built for," he said. "The need for such a market, which has since proved a model for many other markets of its type not only in Florida, but other states as well, came from our realization as growers that the great need of Seminole County was for more diversified crops.

"We realized that in order to efficiently market such crops we would have to have a place to load mixed carloads for rail shipments, and a terminal point where truckers could come to buy these vegetables. Many were the discussions the growers had on the subject, but we seemed to get nowhere.

"In 1933, I had visited a privately owned farmer's market at Newark, New Jersey which gave me the idea for a market here. I talked this up among the growers who at the time were dependent, and complained of some broke. We formed a committee which I headed and which included Mr. Doty, Rex Packer, Frank Meisch, George Hahn, and Alex H. Johnson, Seminole High School agricultural instructor, to formulate plans for a market. Mr. Johnson was on the outstanding papers in this section in order to interest Nathan Mayo, State agriculture commissioner in the matter.

"Mr. Mayo when visited by the committee seemed to like the idea of a farmers market, but however, said that for lack of funds, it couldn't be built. We continued however later to send him information regarding possibilities of such a market, and need of a centralized location to sell these crops. He sent us to Gov. Dave Roberts, who also said that no funds could be had to finance the market and sent us to the F.W.A. in Jacksonville where we were finally granted funds to start the project. Later, at a mass meeting of growers in Sanford, Mr. Mayo promised us aid from State agricultural funds.

"When Mr. Mayo first voiced objections to the plan on the ground that funds for a market were not available, we pointed out to him that we were raising ette tax when it was called up as special order business after the Senate and miscellaneous legislation committee had endorsed it. He said he had consistently opposed sales taxes in any form. He contended new taxes are not necessary, and that funds could be transferred from the state, road department or other operations during the war emergency period.

Only source of Revenue

Other senators said they had hoped new taxes would not be necessary, but had decided that the cigarette tax seemed to be the only source from which to get funds for carrying on old age benefits and helping counties with their local government.

Taking up the bill at 11:15 a. m., the senate passed it at 1:15 p. m.

They voted for it: Senators Adams, Baker, Barrenger, Black, Brewton, Carroll, Coleman, Collins, Davis, Franklin, Graham, Griner, Hinely, Housholder, King Lewis, Mains, McKenzie, Fardis, Rose, Sheldon, Shuler, Sturgis, Upchurch, and Wilson—25.

They voted against it: President Beall, Senators Beacham, Clark, Clitt, Johnson, Linder, Maddox, Mathews, McArthur, Shands and Taylor—11.

Senator Drummond is absent on military service and no successor has been elected. Senator Slater Smith, who died recently, left the senate his 38 memberships.

The administration's cigarette tax bill got the endorsement of a second Senate committee Wednesday. Without dissent, the miscellaneous legislation committee reported the bill favorably, following similar action by the Finance committee which approved it 8 to 4.

The House already has passed the cigarette tax 87 to 25, and the senate will consider the house bill.

UTILITY BILL

The House killed by a vote of 63 to 30, a bill to give the state railroad commission exclusive regulatory authority over privately owned electric and gas companies and their rates and services.

The vote came on a motion by Representative Heasley of Walton to strike the enacting clause.

"This is a Florida Power & Light company piece of legislation," Heasley declared. "I say that because the Florida Power & Light company hasn't opened its mouth against it."

Although sponsors emphatically contended that municipally owned utilities systems and rural electrification cooperatives were exempt from the bill's provisions, Heasley said they would be handicapped if this becomes law.

"I don't think they have taken the REA and the municipalities out of the bill," he declared.

The Legislature also sent to the people for the second time a constitutional amendment regarding county commissioners' terms from two to four years.

"This is a Florida Power & Light bill," Heasley said. "It is the third amendment approved by the House and Senate to be laid before voters in the 1944 general election.

Wave Of Strikes Spreads To U.A.W. From Coal Mines

DETROIT, May 21, 1943—Three war plants of Chrysler Corporation were closed down yesterday in a wave of strikes which saw more than 21,000 employes leave their jobs and a corporation spokesman expressed fear that all 85,000 Chrysler workers in the country might be affected.

The walkout began at the Detroit-Kercheval plant, with United Automobile Workers (UAW) leaders claiming that collective bargaining had "completely broken down." Within a short time, workers at the Dodge main plant and Dodge Lynch Road plants joined the walkout.

Thousands idle

Several thousand workers at the Dodge truck plant also were idle because of lack of materials.

A Chrysler spokesman said the bank account might be forced to close Friday if the system continued. He estimated that a total of 129,000 man-hours of work were lost today.

A union statement charged the Dodge truck plant also were idle because of lack of materials.

The disgruntled miners' chances of getting WLB approval of their demands for a flat 33 a day increase are not generally regarded as bright, but a majority of the WLB's fact-finding panel is reported to favor their call for extra pay to cover all the time they spend underground.

Even the United Mine Workers leadership concedes that nothing is due under the little steel formular as it now stands. The miners want to discard the formula but even under existing stabilization rules they are not permitted to obtain some concessions other than a straight wage boost.

Study Concessions

Whether such concessions are made and if made, whether they will satisfy UAWW President John L. Lewis and his followers remains to be seen.

But there have been these definite stands on the government side of the controversy:

1. A statement by Secretary Ickes, as Federal boss of the mines, that "any contract must have approval of the War Labor Board."

2. A WLB description of Lewis' attitude in ignoring it as one that "challenges the sovereignty of the United States in time of war and gives aid and comfort to our enemies."

"Securing of a site for the market was a big problem, but we finally secured the co-operation of the late Alex French, and city authorities and the present site was obtained. Plans for the market were drawn by Elton J. Noughton," Mr. Dorner concluded.

Canada's First Woman Consul Likes Career

By ADELAIDE NERR
AP Features Writer

Open the office door of Canada's first woman diplomat—and you will see a quiet brown-haired woman pouring over papers.

Try to talk to Agnes McCloskey about herself and you will be lost in a maze of Canadian history. Not because the first Canadian consul in New York tries to talk you (though she is certainly not anxious to talk about herself). But because for nearly 35 years the warp and root of her life have been woven around Canada's Department of External Affairs. She began work there as a kind of glorified office girl, and worked slowly, steadily and undramatically up through the ranks.

She talks of developments in the department over the years with the same warm glow in retrospect. Asked her about the awards will be given to civilian defense volunteers with 400 or more hours of service. (International)

Child Care Discussed By Club Departments

Child care during the summer months was discussed at the business meeting held at the joint bridge-breakfast of the Social and Civic Departments of the Sanford Woman's Club Wednesday morning.

A simple, effective arrangement of red and white roses placed beside an American flag was the only decoration used. Three-iced tallies were cups and saucers fashioned of cardboard.

Mrs. Roy Tillis presided over the Civic Department meeting and Mrs. H. H. McCain suggested the club's sponsoring classes in knitting, crocheting and sewing for school children. The group approved the motion and Mrs. H. W. Rucker, chairman, today revealed the idea will be presented to the other departments of the club for approval before going ahead with the project.

At the conclusion of games, Mrs. W. B. Brinson was awarded screen prize; Mrs. H. B. Crumley won high score bridge prize and Mrs. James Moughton won a prize for checkers. Prizes were defense stamps.

Approximately 20 persons attended the meeting.
