Sanford Loses Eighth Game When Orlando Tigers Romp Away With 36 To 19 Score

Local Five Crippled By Bad Colds; Play In DeLand Friday

By HENRY SLAUGHTER
The strong Orlando Tiger quintet met the Seminole High School Celery Feds here last night and handed the local quintet their eighth defeat this season. The game started with the Tigers opening with 14 points to the Celery Feds' two points in the first quarter. The second quarter proved to be the big one for the local lads as they came out of their slump and scored 12 points against the Tigers' four points and the first half with the Tigers leading 18-14. In the third quarter the locals scored only one point while the Orlando quintet scored 10 to lead 28-15 as the play went into the third quarter. The final quarter found the Tigers making a goal at any time they wanted to and the Celery Feds fighting to get possession of the ball. The Tigers scored 8 points to the Celery Feds' 4, which placed the Tigers in the win column by the score of 36-19.

Rayborn, flashy Tiger forward, scored a total of seven field goals to lead with points, Maynard, Orlando center, turned out the outstanding performance on the court with his brilliant play. He scored a total of five field goals.

Captain Earl Whitten was the outstanding player on the local quintet. He was also high point man for the Celery Feds, scoring three field goals and making one

Lights Fail But Races Are Held Notwithstanding

Greyhounds raced on the Longwood track as usual last night, though electric current was disrupted twice. A woods fire burned down enough poles to cause a break in the power line leading to the track and that delayed the opening of the raceman half hour, and then the lights failed again right in the middle of the second race.

foul shot for a total of seven points, Jack Purdon was put out of the game on fouls after he had scored three field goals.

Charles Roberson was confined to his bed with a bad cold and was greatly missed by the Celery Feds. Billy Zachry took Charles' position and played an excellent game, scoring two field goals for four points.

The Celery Feds were handicapped by colds and seemed to be fighting for breath more than they were for the ball, with the exception of the second quarter where they made the highly rated Tigers look like some Grammar School team.

It is hoped that the boys will be rid of their colds before they go to DeLand tomorrow afternoon to open the Northeastern Conference Tournament against the Lake City quintet at 2 o'clock.

Bonus Bond Application Form To Be Used By Veterans Of The World War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Fingerprints will identify veterans on the application blanks for their bonus bonds. The application forms, already roaring off the presses of the Government Printing Office, carry space for the imprint of four fingers.

The short application statement reads:

"I hereby make application for the settlement of any amount due and payable to me on Adjusted Service Certificate No. _____ Dated _____ Amount $_____. Further identified by No. A _____ which was issued to (veteran's name) based upon military or naval service during the World War, who was born at (place of birth) on (date of birth), and who may be further identified by Army, Navy or Marine Corps Serial No. _____ Date of discharge _____ and rank and organization at date of discharge _____

"I hereby surrender all right, title and interest to the above-described adjusted-service certificate."

The applicant must be identified in a space provided, by a postmaster; a commissioned officer of the Army, Navy or Marine Corps; a member of the House or Senate, an officer of a Post, Chapter or other comparable unit of a recognized veterans' organization; a State or national officer of a veterans' organization; or "any person who is legally authorized to administer oaths in a State, Territory, Possession, District of Columbia, or in a Federal Judicial District, of the United States."

The blank is bedged with warning signals. At the top, a bold-type "Caution" reads: "Filing application or calling in person will not expedite settlement. Do not write regarding application. All applications will be handled in order of receipt. If you do write for any purpose other than to notify of change of address, you will only delay action in your case."

Veterans Blanks For Bonus To Be Available Monday

In figuring the amount each veteran will receive the 1946 maturity, or face value of the certificate is taken as the basis. If the veteran has borrowed on the certificate, the amount borrowed, plus unpaid interest for the time before Oct. 1, 1931, will be deducted from the total. Any interest owing the government for the time since Oct. 1, 1931, is cancelled, but there will be no refund of interest that has been paid in denominations of $50 up to the amount due, provided the total comes out evenly. If there is an odd amount he will receive that in cash. For instance, if he has $475 coming, he will get $450 in bonds and $25 in cash.

Bank Robbery Is Frustrated, One Man Slain

Branford Institution Entered By Masked Men At Early Hour, One Man Captured

Alleged Robbers At Trenton Held

Four Men Are Under Arrest At Ocala For Robbing Bank

BRANFORD, Fla., Jan. 31.—(AP)—One man was killed, one was captured and at least one other escaped today when an attempt was made to rob the Branford State Bank here was frustrated by shouts of the bank president and gunfire from hastily armed citizens. The captured man gave his name as Frank Phillips, but authorities refused to believe him as that is the name of the bank president who founded the bank. The felon declined to identify his slain companion or to say how many of his confederates escaped.

Fred D. Phillips, bank president, entered the building before time for the bank opening, and two armed and masked men confronted him. They had gained entrance through a rear door. Phillips jumped back into the street and set up an outcry. Citizens grabbed their guns and Fred Fissel, using a double-barreled shotgun loaded with buckshot, killed one of the fleeing bandits. Another dropped his pistol and strove up his hands.

Alleged bank robbers jailed Ocala, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Four men were taken to jail here today in the robbery of the Branford and Merchants Bank at Trenton. The fourth suspect was arrested near the entrance of a department store in uptown Ocala. The three others were taken from their beds in a rooming house here.

Despite the fact that J. P. DeLoach, Trenton night watchman, tentatively identified two of the men who bound and gagged him and taped his eyes, then burned their way into the bank vault with a torch, Sheriff S. C. M. Thomas said the men in jail had presented a "time element" alibi that would be difficult to break down.

Fingerprints were forwarded to Washington by air mail in the hope of obtaining records on the men, if such are on file at the Department of Justice.

Comparison of prints made at the bank and of the men in jail here convinced the officers of a "similarity," they said, but they would not say definitely that they checked.

25 Year Service Pin Given Crosby By New Foreman

Award Is Presented By E. M. Carroll Of Local A. C. L. Shops

Twenty-five years of continuous service of F. L. Crosby with the Atlantic Coast Line as a locomotive engineer was recognized today when he was presented with one of the coveted 25-year service pins. The presentation was made by E. M. Carroll, the new foreman of the A. C. L. Shops in Sanford.

Mr. Crosby entered the service of the Atlantic Coast Line on Sept. 5, 1910, but his railroad career started in 1890 with the West Shore & Buffalo Railroad, now a part of the New York Central. In 1899 he went to the New York Central Brake Company, the next year to the Buffalo & Pittsburgh Railroad Company as a locomotive engineer, and then in 1906 he went to Panama where he was employed by the government for three years in construction of the Panama Canal. From Panama he came to Sanford and the A. C. L.

With the exception of three years as a fireman, Mr. Crosby has been a locomotive engineer ever since he entered service 47 years ago, and in that time he estimates he has pulled trains a distance of more than 1,500,000 miles. However, in all that time he has never had a serious accident.

Mayor Of Ocala Says His Canal Comments Were Misunderstood

Commenting on a statement made by Ralph Cameron, prominent Seminole County celery grower, at the meeting a week ago of the Agricultural Association of the Agricultural Valley, he said that the mayor of Ocala had told him that Mississippi Valley and other sections are "ready" behind the Florida Cross-State canal. The Ocala official tells the Ocala Star that he was misunderstood.

200 Couples At Third Annual Roosevelt Ball

Large Sum Realized At Birthday Party Staged In Mayfair Hotel Last Night

Approximately 200 couples danced to the music of Mero's orchestra at the third annual Roosevelt Ball in Sanford last night. The big party was held in the Mayfair Hotel, and in addition to commemorating the 54th anniversary of the birth of the President marked the first anniversary of the reopening of that hostelry.

The President spoke over the radio at 11:30 P. M., but the dance was not halted for his address and continued until about 2 A. M.

More than 400 persons attended the party, as some of those present did not enter the dance floor, and a large sum was raised for local welfare work and for the Warm Springs (Ga.) Foundation.

A bridge party preceded the ball, won by Mrs. O. M. Harrison and D. L. Thrasher, and prizes for auction were won by Mrs. R. S. Cameron and O. R. Estridge. Score pads were donated by the Seminole Laundry, pencils were given by the Hill Lumber & Supply Company, and tables were loaned by the Episcopal Women's and Elks Clubs, and the Erickson Funeral Home, and were hauled to the hotel by St. Johns River Line trucks through the courtesy of One Caldwell.

The bridge party was under the supervision of the Parent-Teacher Association of the county, Mrs. W. H. Stewart, president. The ball room, card room, and lobby of the hotel were beautifully decorated by a committee composed of Mrs. J. Howell Fish, Mrs. W. S. Coleman, Mrs. Julius Dingfelder, Mrs. E. G. Pope and Mrs. F. D. Scott. Beautiful gladioli in the lobby was donated by Clifford E. Bennett and W. E. Kirchoff, Jr.

W. S. Wiggins was awarded the door prize, a 30 day pass good for two persons at the Milane Theater, donated by Manager J. L. Marenzetta of the theater. This award was made at midnight. J. S. Lamson, W. R. Edensfield, J. E. Preston, M. J. Meeks and T. E. Simpson composed the committee on (Continued On Page 2)

Cigar Makers To Get Back Processing Tax

TAMPA, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Federal Judge Alexander Akerman yesterday ordered the return of $85,110 in tobacco processing taxes to 12 local cigar manufacturers pending decision of whether the government must return such taxes. At the same time Judge Akerman made permanent a temporary decree preventing the Internal Revenue Department from enforcing the processing law.

The injunction was issued prior to the ruling of the federal Supreme Court in the AAA Act was unconstitutional. Immediately following the Supreme Court clear manufacturers asked Judge Akerman to order return of the tax taxes, paid under protest, and placed by him in a local bank.

The 12 cigar makers are: Charles Hein, Helen Stafford, Virginia Welch, Colleen Baxter, Edna Collins, Helen Smith, Verne Orribes, Catherine Clark, Mildred Whitson, Lorraine Massey, Joyce Goodspeed, Betty Colburn, Betty Alderman, Peggy and Sydney Holston.

First Railroad Train Came To Sanford On Feb. 1, 1886, Fifty Years Ago Tomorrow

Tomorrow will mark the fiftieth anniversary of a date highly significant in the development of Central and South Florida, according to a statement by Joshua Coffin Chase, president of the Florida Historical Society.

The first train giving much-needed passenger and freight service to Central and South Florida and connecting it with the more highly developed transportation facilities of the northern part of the state was run on Feb. 1, 1886. Prior to that time all freight and passengers to and from South Florida were carried by steamboat between Jacksonville and Sanford.

On the first train which was run over the Tampa, Jacksonville & Key West Railroad Company line, now the Atlantic Coast Line, started from Jacksonville were a large party of leading Floridians including D. G. Ambler, pioneer banker, and Charles H. Jones, editor of the Florida Times Union.

When the train arrived in Sanford a fitting celebration was staged. In the absence of a cannon, an old anvil was loaded up and fired off as the train rolled in. It had a startling effect on the horses harnessed to the various vehicles assembled around the platform.

At Sanford connection was made with the South Florida Railroad from Tampa to Jacksonville, which was at that time narrow gauge.

Mr. Chase, who is a well-known pioneer in the citrus industry believes that this date in the history of Florida was especially significant in the development of the citrus industry in Central Florida. Prior to that time, he said, much of the fruit had to be transported by ox-team to the lakes where it was loaded on steamboats.

Many Growers See Demonstration At Experiment Farm

Future Farmers Join Elders In Viewing Varied Experiments

Between 50 and 60 growers and the entire membership of the Ocala chapter of the Future Farmers of America witnessed a demonstration, conducted by County Agent C. R. Dawson at the Roy Symes farm this morning where they witnessed the results of fertilizer tests conducted by Dr. E. R. Purvis of the Florida Agricultural Station.

Some of the more noticeable results from the experiments included the response observed by increasing the amount of the phosphoric acid from 2% to 6%. On another plot all of the phosphoric acid was applied at one time and this gave good response. One of the best plots was the one which received the entire amount of ammonia, given in the form of nitrate of potash. Another of the more successful plots was the one whereby the source of sulphate of ammonia and nitrate of soda were applied in equal amounts.

Thursday Was Next To Coldest Night of Winter

Mercury Sank To 32 In Sanford And 31 In Oviedo; Expect 28 Degrees Tonight

Last night was the coldest in Seminole County for the season, excepting the night of Dec. 26, with government thermometers recording 32 degrees in Sanford and 31 degrees in Oviedo. The forecast made by Meteorologist E. S. Ellison in Lakeland, as telegraphed to County Agent C. R. Dawson, is for 28 degree weather tonight.

While today's sun brought Florida decided relief from an unusually cold night, the Associated Press quotes the U. S. as forecasting even lower temperatures for tonight. Despite subsiding readings in northeast Florida and the central section, last night the state's crop of frosts and vegetables escaped serious damage and most grunting areas reported no damage at all.

The mercury fell to five below in Atlanta as many other sections of the country remained in the grip of the worst winter chill. Readings of zero or lower dipped southward to Missouri and Kentucky. Snow blanketed high in the Carolinas, eight inches in some places.

The official forecast for tonight and tomorrow is as follows: High at 2:57 A. M. and 3:25 P. M., low at 9:17 A. M. and 9:33 P. M.

J. Muncy Anderson, municipal judge of Jacksonville and candidate for state comptroller, was a visitor in Sanford today, looking after his political fences.

Vacant property between the old and new highways to Orlando was transferred by Frank L. Woodruff and Sons Company.

Friends in Sanford were advised today of the death in St. Cloud yesterday of O. R. Heffleman, former resident of Pittsburgh, Pa., who spent several months in Sanford last year.

Poison Death Of Former Premier Of Greece Denied

ATHENS, Jan. 31.—(AP)—General George Kondylis, 55, former "strong man" of Greece, died suddenly at noon today of a heart attack. Rumors were circulated that Kondylis was poisoned, but this was denied by his own associates. An Athens garrison was ordered to stand by and guard against any events.

Kondylis engineered the coup which ended the Greek republic and restored King George to the throne last fall. Kondylis resigned the premiership Nov. 25 because he disagreed with the King's liberal policies.

On a platform of toleration of King George II of Greece, Eleutherios Venizelos, former premier recently was re-elected premier, and will be invited to return to his country from which he was exiled in army coup by General Kondylis.

Brigadier General G. B. Pillsbury, assistant chief of the U. S. Army engineers, and Lieutenant Colonel Earl North, chief of the engineers for this district, cruised up the St. Johns River as far as Sanford yesterday, reaching this city in the late afternoon. A big car was waiting for them at the dock, and they entered the motor immediately disembarking from their boat, and left right away without meeting the Chamber of Commerce officials. They were scheduled to go to Ocala and view the canal construction work there. The boat which brought the engineers up the river left last night for Jacksonville.

Negro Convicts Burned To Death In Prison Cage

Explosion Sets Fire To Gasoline Drum On Transfer Truck

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., Jan. 31.—(AP)—Twenty negro convicts burned to death today in a cage of a prison transfer truck after an explosion of a 30-gallon drum of gasoline. Two other convicts were seriously injured and two guards were seared on the face and hands in attempting to rescue the victims.

Reports as to the cause of the explosion varied. Guards said the ice coated roads caused the truck to slide, and slosh the gasoline to the floor, where it was ignited by coals in a fire bucket where the negroes were huddled in a cage trying to warm themselves. A state highway engineer, however, said a negro struck a match near the gasoline drum.

Clarence Murton Boyd, 56, a winter visitor from Newburyport, Mass., died Tuesday night in his home in Lake Mary, following a short illness. The body was to be taken on today's train to the family home in Massachusetts for funeral services.

Mr. Boyd spent last winter at Lake Mary, but had been here only about a month this year. He is survived by his widow, three sons, C. B. and H. C. of Newburyport and M. C. of Washington, and three daughters, Mrs. Joseph Blanchard of Wallston, Mass., and the Misses Helena and Florence Boyd. Retaliation Is Threatened By Rome Dictator

II Duce Will Present Program To Fascist Council Saturday For Its Approval

Bachelors To Be Taxed In Italy

Added Levies Placed On Gas, Coal And Coal By-Products

(By The Associated Press) Informed sources at Rome today predicted a program of retaliation, including a possible severance of diplomatic relations, which may be Premier Mussolini's answer to further war sanctions against Italy. As three new taxes became effective to bolster the nation's economic policy, the Italian premier prepared to advance his plan of opposition before the Fascist Grand Council tomorrow night.

On the war fronts the Italian command reported a continuation of systematic activities interspersed with minor engagements between invaders and defenders. Pamphlets from the Italian government published at Geneva by the League of Nations contained photographs purporting to show that Ethiopians have committed atrocities on Italian soldiers.

New Italian taxes were added to levies on increased use of gas and electricity, on bachelors and on coal and coal by-products duties.

II Duce told his ministers the 50,000 additional workmen en route to East Africa, would permit all services in the Italian-occupied war zone to function, even during the "big" rains which will begin in the spring.

Uninterrupted coal burning in the new hordes of workmen will permit the holding of emergency territory as a new advance when the rains are over, he said.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY
 THE GIFT OF SLEEP: It is vain for you to rise up early, to sit up late, to eat the bread of sorrow; for so he gives his beloved sleep.—Psalm 127:2.

LOVE LETTER OF AN ANCESTOR

The molten words of love which ran in burning flow across the page and cooled to golden lines are now a dimmed and curious heritage. A legacy to twist the heart of one who muses, as she must, upon the unintended line. The silver signature of dust. By Adelaide Love

Jim Farley says he didn't hear Al Smith's speech the other night. He wasn't going to take any dance with his ears.

Tax Increase Now Frowned Upon by New Deal Leaders—Headline. That isn't nothing to the expression on the faces of the rank and file.

Florida has been having so much cold weather this winter that the first thing you know will be adopting California's slogan, "It's unusual!"

Imagine what a dull thing politics would be today if we had no radio or telegraph, and it took the local newspapers two weeks to get the news from Washington.

Senator Fletcher was one of a handful of Democrats in the Senate who voted against overruling the President's veto of the bonus bill.

Comptroller Lee says that no new sources of revenue are necessary. Provided, of course, that no new methods of expenditure are discovered.

General Motors made a net profit of $167,228,000 in 1933 as compared with $94,708,131. And, as one fellow pointed out to us the other day, this is positively immoral.

Japanese lecturer says reform necessary in China. It was our understanding that Japan was going the reforming. Braden-Herald. Geographically, at least.

We see where Italy, now that its members of the League of Nations have declared certain embargoes against her, is turning to the United States for raw materials. Wonder what England and France will think of our particular brand of generosity if we should thus give the advantage of the League's efforts to stop the Abyssinian war?

And the next price should go to the discoverer of a device to combine the best of both worlds. The hot air new gas to waste in Congress. St. Petersburg Independent. If all the hot air which is generated during the political campaign could be condensed in one boiler the world would probably blow up.

This Machine Age

We have been hearing a great deal in recent years, mostly from politicians, on the subject of modern machinery and how certain technological improvements have resulted in vast increases in unemployment. It is often stated by persons, who have given the subject little thought, that recent discoveries and inventions actually caused the depression and are almost solely responsible for ten million American citizens being put out of work.

"Congress," says Arthur Brisbane, "asks to what extent has machinery thrown out American workers? Sewing machines throw out many women sewing by hand and gave jobs to many on machines to more women, at better wages. Steam locomotives put all stage coach drivers out of work and gave jobs to 60 times as many engineers, firemen, brakemen and other railroad workers as were ever engaged in the stage coach business.

"Typsetting machines, denounced and opposed by printers, put more printers to work than ever worked before. Mass production of automobiles put out of work wheelwrights that used to make one buggy a month in small shops and created, for every man thus employed, 100 jobs at better pay in the automobile industry.

"If we could suddenly do away with machinery and mass production, an automobile now costing $700 would cost $10,000, and would run badly, and we should have in this country 40,000,000 instead of 10,000,000 idle. Ask the farmers if they want to abandon mowing and threshing machines."

Brisbane's line of reasoning might be carried on almost indefinitely. The typsetting machines which he mentions will actually do the work of eight printers, that is, each one of them will, and when they were introduced half a century ago, printers struck all over the country in protest. It was thought they would never be able to compete or find work at anything else. But the economies brought about by the typsetting machines resulted in greatly enlarged plants and vastly more numerous newspapers with the result that there are now more printers employed than ever before.

When one sees a modern ditch-digger slicing out huge hunks of rock and carrying it a dozen yards, doing the work of a score of men, it is easy to conclude that the machine is the cause of all our troubles. What we are apt to forget is that many men were engaged in building the machine, in transporting its various parts, in selling it when it was finished, and in building replacement parts for it after it has gone to work.

There were seven good years and seven lean years in the days of the Pharaohs. There was unemployment in the time of ancient Greece and Rome. The Machine Age is no more the cause of unemployment than was the Old Stone Age. But we suppose it will keep right on getting the blame just the same.

Bonus Money

As a result of recent legislation authorizing the immediate payment of the veterans' bonus, more than $279,000 of outside cash will flow into this one county during the coming summer months. In addition Orange county veterans will receive $742,823; Lake county veterans, $545,816; Volusia county veterans, $688,404; and Brevard county veterans, $198,328. Altogether all the veterans in Florida will receive some $21,921,858.

This is quite a large sum of money to be placed in the channels of trade during the ordinarily quiet summer months and should have a most stimulating effect upon business throughout the remainder of the year. Some of the veterans will receive as much as $1,500. Others who saw but little service, will not get much more than $100, but the average amount to be paid the World War soldiers will probably be somewhere between $500 and $750.

Just how much good this does the particular veterans, or business in general, depends, of course, upon what use the veterans make of it. Many of them no doubt will use their money to help pay on their homes, to buy furniture, or otherwise increase the comforts of living. Others will perhaps find some way to get themselves established in business, or to retire debts of going concerns. Others will invest wisely in real estate.

There will be a few, of course, who will throw their money away. There always have been and there always will be certain people who do not know what to do with money when they get it. They will try to turn their $500 into $5,000 by a neat turn of the cards. They will buy lottery tickets, or participate in other gambling enterprises. Or perhaps they will shoot the works in a few weeks of riotous living.

But the wise veteran will use his bonus money to good advantage. He will not let city slickers, or gold brick salesmen take it away from him. And he will realize that the woods will be full of folks waiting to do just that very thing.

Citrus Confab Is To Be Called By Governor Sholtz

LAKELAND, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Gov. Dave Sholtz told the Florida Citrus Commission that he would call a conference of industry leaders at his office in Tallahassee Monday to determine whether they would ask for an immediate public hearing on the proposed federal marketing agreement. He will leave the conference Monday. At the time the Governor, who is a member of the commission, had indicated he would call them to see how they would feel about a good job in establishing a price and marketing plan for citrus. The date was not yet set. This is a... (text continues)

SMITH AND ROOSEVELT
 By WALTER LIPPMAN

The rupture of their friendship, which began, I have always understood, shortly after the election of 1928, has been a national misfortune both for Al Smith and for Franklin D. Roosevelt. For the country has had serious consequences. It has brought about the retirement of Smith from public life. It has deflected Roosevelt from an incomparable opportunity for national leadership into a personal and factional adventure. If ever two men needed each other, it was these two men, and though each they now have persuaded himself that they are separated on great questions of principle, they have in fact become divided because they lacked the magnanimity to work together.

This had become estranged and embittered long before either of them had heard of the New Deal, long before Smith had discovered that he admired the Democratic platform of 1932, long before Roosevelt had discovered that it was his mission to reconstruct the Democratic party and to make it the exclusive agency of national reconstruction. All these things are afterthoughts. These two men had not become divided because Roosevelt has recently taken to railing the masses against the rich and Smith has taken to declaiming about Communism and the Red flag. On the contrary, it is because they have become divided and have taken divergent paths that each has ended by making his destructive and unworthy appeal to popular passion.

Although Roosevelt had a political career in the Wilson era it was at the convention of 1924 in Madison Square Garden, when his party was so bitterly divided, that he emerged as a national leader. He was the one man who commanded the confidence of the Eastern Democrats who supported Smith and of the Western and Southern Democrats who were irreconcilably opposed to Smith. In the four years that followed he devoted himself wholeheartedly and effectively to the reunion of the Democratic party, and the nomination of Smith and Robinson at the Houston convention consummated that work. Through all those years the single purpose of Roosevelt was to reconcile what might be called the Bryan Democracy with the Cleveland Democracy, having himself the clear conviction that they must and could find common ground.

In the election of 1928, it will be recalled, Smith lost New York state, his own New York, and Roosevelt by a small plurality carried the state. It was then that the relation between the two men first became poisoned. There is no need to speculate elaborately on just what it was in the way of ambition and sentiment which did the damage. The known fact is that Governor Roosevelt proceeded at once to eliminate Smith from the political leadership of New York and to reach out for personal domination of the state. Whereas up to that time Roosevelt had worked on the theory that the Democratic factions must be reconciled by compromise, from that time forward he began to take the line that the party must be reconstructed by the conquest of the Cleveland and Smith Democracy.

This line of action he pursued relentlessly at the Chicago convention of 1932, when he was prepared to compromise with every element of his party, Hearst, Huey Long, any one, except the Cleveland Democrats and the followers of Smith. There was even a public purge in which Mr. Louis Brandeis, who had carried the national party organization through his lean years, was brutally dismissed from the party councils and shunted on the career which has made him the organizer of the American Liberty League.

During the campaign Mr. Roosevelt, of course, welcomed the support of all Democrats. But when the time came to purge the party he was not so generous. One was that we men could be admitted to the high councils of the administration who had not supported Roosevelt before the convention; the other was that they would form an alliance with the Western Republican progressives. Thus the alliance in the cabinet a Republican progressive like Mr. Clegg has not only been excluded but has been treated as a national misfortune.

Thus, wiffully, Mr. Roosevelt divided his party. Thus, instead of a national party, which was his theoretical objective, there is mere factionalism on both sides. Mr. Roosevelt's speech to Congress, with its appeal to national distinction, and Al Smith's speech, with its appeal to suspicion, may be taken as evidence that both men are up to the neck in it. They both have got themselves into a position where neither is able to function effectively as a political leader. Al Smith, by nature a most gifted politician, incomparable in practical decision, is out of office and without responsible influence, able to do no more than to complain, lacking, it would seem, any idea of purpose as to how to deal with the situation. Roosevelt, who started out with a national purpose to be achieved by the indispensable method of reconciling factions, has been drifting rapidly into a position where he is more the agitator than the statesman.

It need not have happened if only the two men had had the capacity of mind and heart to realize that their destinies were inextricably interwoven, that each possessed qualities that supplemented and corrected the other's weaknesses, that the hearty philippianism of Smith and the buoyant impetuosity of Roosevelt in union would have been fruitful, but that apart they are sterile.

It was such a union of diverse but complementary temperaments that Washington achieved when he held Jefferson and Hamilton together in his cabinet, and though neither Roosevelt nor Smith diverge at the same high level of policy, they would have served their times and themselves better had they been able to realize that if Hamilton and Jefferson could work together, it was their duty and their interest to try a little harder to forget their personal feelings.

Warning Made Of Speculative Orgy By 'Stupid People'

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Huge net demand deposits created by governmental deficits and inflationary tendencies in general have resulted in the erection of a credit base in this country which holds "the basic ingredients for a great speculative movement," Frederick H. Hansen, president of the Thomas Gibson Investment Service, said at a luncheon of the Association of Buying Offices, Inc., at the Pennsylvania. The luncheon was held in connection with the annual convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

Mr. Hansen sounded the warning, however, that from a longer range standpoint, "the time is here when a great many stupid people have a great deal of stupid money and the time must come when speculative orgy and a great collapse will lead to a great lapse."

"In this country no balanced budget is yet in sight," Mr. Hansen said. "Perfectly huge net demand deposits are being created by governmental deficits. We are on an unconvertible currency basis. The identical situation which was developed in Germany, making government bond issues the equivalent of cash, has been created in this country.

"As a consequence an unprecedented condition has developed. The 1929 boom was financed with net demand deposits of around $14,000,000,000. Computed similarly, current net demand deposits are around the $17,000,000,000 mark, with every indication that they will be augmented by four or five billions more during the early months of 1934, due to the bonus payment and increased W. P. A. expenditures.

King Said To Be The Greatest Anomaly In Lengthy History Of English People

The King is the greatest anomaly in English history—a history which records the granting of the Magna Charta by King John at Runnymede in 1215 under the compulsion of the barons, and the beheading of Charles I. by Cromwell's partisans. The King of England is the symbol of the British Empire, to whom tens of millions of his subjects who have never seen him in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, rise in tributes at the opening chords of "God Save the King," because, perhaps, as Bolingbroke wrote 200 years ago, "The Parliament is the Parliament of a class; the King is the King of the whole people."

There is no gathering of Englishmen, dining at any place, under any circumstances, which, when the time for toasts arrives, will not arise and, raising glasses, offer the first toast, "Gentlemen, the King—God bless him!"

The Royal Family is without rival. Its members move into the poorest, most disgraced and sordid sections of London without military display or elaborate police precautions. The presence of the Queen in a poverty-stricken borough, as Shoreham, will prompt a hungry crowd to cheer, but the cry will be, "Three cheers for the King—God bless him."

King George was treated by his people. He maintained an attitude of impartiality to class. He supported Asquith against the House of Lords, and assisted in all attempts to settle the claims of Ireland. He refused to hear any suggestion designed to prevent the Labor party from taking office or to make it difficult to succeed in office.

Under the unwritten English constitution, with its triumph, "The King reigns but does not govern," the English King can act only on advice of his responsible Ministers. Officially his responsibility is non-existent. But his influence is vast and King George's was especially so.

In August, 1931, when Great Britain was facing one of the greatest crises of its post-war years over its financial situation, the enormous influence of the Crown was brought to bear. On especially in the ten (10) level; that wool "is now in the strongest statistical position for which records are available"; that 1934 may be a more difficult year for the silk industry than 1935, probably more so for "the manufacturer than for the distributor, and that production and consumption of synthetic textiles in 1934 may be slightly above the 1935 totals, with prices relatively stable.

The procedure for the average investor in this country is to hedge against inflation by holding increased proportions of domestic high-yielding and low-risk domestic securities and common stocks. The benefit from the standpoint of the investor which will accrue to them."

Mr. Hansen said that a development of utmost importance to the country is the reopening of new capital markets. Two important preliminary steps in this reopening, the rehabilitation of government bonds and the rehabilitation of high-grade corporation bonds, have been made, he asserted. The next logical step will be the stimulation of new construction and heavy industries, in which some progress was made in the latter part of 1933.

President's Address Broadcast

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Calling for a 10-year national effort in the fight against infantile paralysis, President Roosevelt, on the occasion of his forty-fourth birthday, spoke his appreciation of the thousands of celebrations to raise funds for this end.
Interrupting near midnight his own anniversary party with his "old gang" at the White House, the President delivered a brief radio address. His words were carried to what officials estimated were 6,000 birthday balls at which 5,000,000 men and women danced from coast to coast.
The parties were reaching their height, Mrs. Roosevelt was completing her round of the six separate celebrations here when the Executive, sitting in his study, spoke aid for and co-ordination among those carrying "the burnt thousand of afflicted."
"No single agency," he said, "whether it be the doctor, the hospital, the research laboratory can cope individually with this great problem—we can do it only by joining our efforts."
Then, after "re-dedicating" the county agent and Dr. E. R. the Warm Springs Foundation in Parryville will be glad to have the Georg's "to the task which lies growers' questions, they said.

were the plots, which showed that an application of 30 lbs. of borax in two succeeding years showed greater yield than where borax was applied at the rate of 50 lbs. per acre for one year, which indicated that borax is not leached out of the soil and damage may be expected from cumulative results. It is recommended that borax be applied at the rate of 10 lbs. per acre for the prevention of cracked stems in celery, and it is to be noted that any amount of borax in excess of 10 lbs. per acre may give injury to the celery. The entire experimental plot was treated with borax with the exception of one small plot, one-twentieth of an acre in extent, and this was the only plot on which any sign of cracked stems could be found.
An increased yield of approximately 50 crates of celery per acre is to be expected by an application of 10 lbs. of borax per acre.
The celery will be harvested in the near future, at which time final results will be published and given the growers. In the meantime, the county agent and Dr. E. R. the Warm Springs Foundation in Parryville will be glad to have the Georg's "to the task which lies growers' questions, they said.

Townsend Pension Plan Author Writes Long Reply To U. S. Senator Fletcher

The following lengthy article by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, author of the Townsend old age pension plan, is published at the request of Geo. M. Douglass, president of the Sanford Townsend Club, as a "reply" to Congressman J. Mark Wilcox's speech which Mr. Douglass characterized as a "strife" against the Townsend Plan:

By FRANCIS E. TOWNSEND, M. D.

May I invite your attention to the letter sent by Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of the State of Florida, which is printed in this issue. It is to that letter and the amazing statements made in it, because it may be considered as representative of others in and out of the Senate, and also because of his power that I am making this statement: I would not take valuable space in our National Weekly to add to Mr. Ritter's letter, were it not for the prominence and power of Senator Fletcher in the affairs of our national government. For this reason, and this reason only, I again take time and space here to refute the idiotic statement that proposed pensions under the Townsend Plan will be taken from the national income. This statement originated on the streets of Long Beach—among the unthinking—when I first proposed the Townsend Plan. Now, we find this statement in the mouths of college professors, high government officials and dishonest or ignorant politicians, uttered as words of wisdom. Truly, a parrot does as well. It repeats that which it has heard, regardless of any wisdom on its part. Thus, Senator Fletcher simply parrots words of ignorance that originated on the street among unthinking people.

This is the terrible indictment of one of our great national leaders at Washington—and an outstanding example of the need of new leadership in national affairs.

Senator Fletcher parrots the statement: "The idea of involving one-half of the national income in a pension system is wild." Let us illustrate how ignorant—or false—this statement is:

In 1933, the transaction tax on cigarettes of six cents a pack, collected by the National Government, amounted to 328 million dollars. The 1933 national income was 41 billion dollars.

In 1934, the tax collected on cigarettes amounted to 350 million dollars—an increase of 22 million over 1933. Was this increase in transaction taxes in 1934 taken from the national income? It was not; for in 1933 the national income was only 40 billion dollars, and in 1934 it increased to 50 billion dollars. These are not my figures, they are figures of the United States Government.

If, as Senator Fletcher says, transaction taxes are taken from the national income, the national income of 1934 would have been less than in 1933—because the government collected more taxes on cigarettes and everything else—in 1934 than it did in 1933.

If increase in federal taxes would, necessarily, decrease national income, then our national income would have decreased steadily since George Washington was president—according to Senator Fletcher's way of thinking. But this is not the case. Federal taxes have increased enormously since Washington's administration—and likewise national income has increased accordingly.

The records show, contrary to Senator Fletcher's words, that our national income increased in the face of increased taxes; or, putting it the other way, increase in taxes did not decrease the national income.

Here is a concrete illustration of the misunderstanding which inspires the Senator's opposition to the Townsend Plan. He has simply been misinformed—and has not investigated sufficiently to get the facts for himself.

The Roosevelt Administration, with the aid and vote of Senator Fletcher, levied a processing tax on farm commodities, better known as the AAA tax. It was a transaction tax on processing plants. This tax exceeded over a billion dollars before it was knocked out by the Supreme Court. Who paid this tax? The highest authorities are in disagreement. Some say the farmers paid it, some say the processors, and others say the consumers paid it. But that is beside the point.

The point I wish to make, which entirely refutes Senator Fletcher, is that in the face of this new billion dollar transaction tax, collected by the federal government, the farmers' income increased; the railroad income increased; business income increased; deposits increased in banks—and the national income increased.

So much for the Senator's remarks about the Townsend Plan pensions being paid out of national income—or "involving one-half of the national income," as he puts it.

Let me give another illustration to show how "wild" is his word—the Senator's remarks are: He assumes that if an idle canning factory be put in operation, with idle money now in banks, with idle labor now on the dole, and with tomatoes now rotting, it would be a "wild idea." To do this, the Senator assumes it would take canned tomatoes away from those who now have canned tomatoes. Likewise, the Senator reasons, that if we take cotton now stored in government warehouses and make clothes for those who need them, by using idle cotton mills, idle clothing factories, idle money, and idle men, it would take clothes away from those who already have clothes.

Therefore, in his wisdom, the Senator says: give employment and income to those now idle, it will take away employment and income from those now employed. The Senator's position is so ridiculous, that it supports the charge being made in the press that many senators and congressmen are simply "rubber stamps" who act or speak only when they hear "their master's voice."

Other statements in the Senator's letter are just as ridiculous. For instance, in one paragraph of his letter he says (read it again) it will require "20 billion dollars" to pay the pensions for 1936 under the Townsend Plan. In another paragraph he says the eight million pensioners under the plan would get only $26.25 per month. A school boy with a pencil can figure that if eight million people got $26.25 per month, or $315.00 per year, it would require only two billion five hundred twenty million dollars—not 20 billion. And, on the other hand, if eight million pensioners (the figure used by the Senator in his letter) received $200 per month it would only require nineteen billion two hundred million dollars—not 20 billion dollars as given by the Senator.

The Senator, therefore, in one paragraph of his letter, repudiates what he says in another paragraph of the same letter. Senator Fletcher should have called in one of the Senate pages to set him right on his arithmetic—so that he would not have gotten tangled up in his own figures.

It embarrasses me to point out such glaring errors on the part of one who has been a member of the United States Senate for 28 years.

The Senator says further that the Townsend Plan is not "workable," but that the "Social Security Act," which he supported and voted for, "is workable." Again, I challenge the Senator's words. Take Florida as an example. Senator Fletcher at one time was a member of the Florida legislature. He certainly knows something about the constitution of that state. The New Deal "Social Security Act," which the Senator says is "workable," provides that if an old person is penniless and will take oath that he or she is a pauper, the federal government will give such self-declared old pensioners fifty cents a day—$15.00 per month—provided the state, in which these old paupers reside, will do likewise.

But Florida, Senator Fletcher's home state, cannot do likewise without amending its constitution. Thus, Senator Fletcher's boast that the law he supported and voted for "is sound and workable" invites contradiction from the people of his own state. If the old people of Florida will make oath that they are "paupers"—and if when Florida amends its constitution—they can then get this 50¢ per day "social security" from the national government.

In conclusion, let me ask—By what plan, does the senator from Florida propose to put buying power into the hands of the people, so that they can obtain and enjoy God's abundance now kept from them by the lack of jobs and money?

I ask the Senator this question because he is Chairman of the all powerful Senate Committee on Banking and Currency—the committee that directs the financial policy of the greatest legislative body in the world—the United States.

And to the Townsend Club of America; let me repeat the words of Mr. Rust, president of the Orlando Townsend Club of Florida, in his letter to Senator Fletcher: "We are watching Congress and their antics toward our people with a determination to continue the fight to a finish."

Paradoxes Face Leaders Of Both Political Parties In Solving Farm Problem

By BYRON PRICE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Almost beyond belief are the confusions which beset the leaders of both political parties as they renew their efforts to do something about the farm problem. The situation would be almost comic if it did not involve so important an industry and the for-away. Actually, what everybody wants is exactly opposite. If a sufficient number of acres were to disappear securely, there would be no farm problem. Mr. Hoover, who may almost claim to have originated the word "regimentation," comes forward with the suggestion that a direct government subsidy be granted to farmers who would then turn to raising what the government thinks they should. Meantime, after all the Republican assaults on the AAA, it is the Republican leader of the Senate, McNary of Oregon, who hastens to introduce an appropriation bill to pay more money still due under AAA contracts. These confusions grow out of other confusions which go a good way back. In 1932 one of the great political parties adopted a platform condemning any policy which would make the government "a speculator in farm products," and also "the un sound policy of restricting agricultural production to the demands of the domestic market." In the same year the other great party said in its platform that "the fundamental problem of American agriculture is the control of production to such a volume as will balance supply with demand." It scarcely would be guessed today, but the party making the first of these two declarations was the Democratic party, and the one subscribing to the second was the Republican party. After the election the Democratic party leaders proceeded with a farm plan which took millions of dollars worth of corn and corn off the market and gave the government a direct stake in farm prices. It also launched on the most comprehensive program of increasing production yet conceived. Whereupon the Republican party leaders objected hotly to the control of production, which their party platform had endorsed, and to government speculation in farm prices, which the Democrats had charged was one of the chief evils of the Hoover farm record. A heads he is the reward of those who try to fix the output. That has been the reward likewise of everyone who has tried to solve the farm problem, or assist in its solution. On many occasions it has been about the only reward of the farmer himself. After years of theorizing and experimenting, the only conclusion to which everybody agrees is that there still is a farm problem. Senator Dickstein, who has been against the "New Deal" at every turn, comes out for "stabilization of production," as one alternative. It is hard for the lay mind to understand how a thing can be stabilized without controlling it. The truth is that the whole situation has fallen into a state of grotesque paradox and complete uncertainty. What Congress will do will be to pass some sort of bill—absolutely no one can predict at the moment what it will be—and then go home hoping for the best from Providence and the Supreme Court.

Federal Officials Start Pilgrimage In Quest Of Funds

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Supreme Court's knockout blow to AAA pushed into the background, to a large degree, public interest in the President's budget message on the day of its delivery to Congress, but not to the army of department heads and bureau chiefs of the government. From now until around the first of March executive heads and fiscal agents of every government department, bureau, board and alphabetical agency will make their annual pilgrimage to Capitol Hill. There, before the appropriations committees of both House and Senate, they will attempt to justify expenditures requested for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1936. A keen sense of the dramatic is necessary in most instances for their audiences are among the most hardboiled in Washington. The House appropriations committee, for example, is composed of 38 members. They are divided into subcommittees, each of which is supposed to have minute knowledge of the government bureau upon which it holds hearings. Department and bureau heads, therefore, often find it advantageous to support their oral appeals with charts, graphs, exhibits and other visual evidence of efficient administration. Few tricks are overlooked in their efforts to get what they want from the holders of the nation's purse strings. Long ago government administrators discovered that an effective method of expanding their activity is to establish a branch office in a state. Immediately representatives of other states will demand the setting up of similar establishments within their borders. If one state is to have its rivers improved, its waste lands reclaimed or its people rehabilitated, Congress can do no less for other states. There's more apprehension among the government heads this year, however. They had a hard time in persuading the bureau of budget to maintain existing departmental appropriations. The set-up of the House appropriations committee is one that leads toward greater economy in government. Representative Buchanan, chairman of House appropriations, already has served notice he intends to see that appropriations are prepared to the top. There's a lot of sentiment back of him in the House for such a move. Approximately five times as much horsepower per mile is required to drive an automobile at 70 miles an hour as at 20 miles an hour.

Charlie Hamby, of Atlanta, is credited with firing the smallest group of 20 shots ever made at 100 yards, all within an inch circle.

Peru supplanted Brazil first six months of 1935 as important surveyor of cotton in Japan, official figures showed.

Virgil Gracy To Serve Out 5-Year Term

Motion To Set Aside Judgment, Entered When Boy Pleaded Guilty, Is Denied

Thought Father Would Go Free

Guilty Plea Entered To Save Father Who Was Indicted

Motion to "vacate and set aside judgment" in the case of Virgil Gracy, 16, now serving a five-year term in the state reformatory at Marianna for manslaughter, was yesterday denied by Judge M. B. Smith of the Ninth Judicial Circuit.

According to an affidavit signed by the boy and attached to the motion, he pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the belief that by doing so his father, C. C. Gracy, jointly indicted with him for the first degree murder, would go free. The first indictment against the father was quashed when the boy insisted on entering a plea of guilty to manslaughter, but the father was re-indicted by the grand jury last month.

In his affidavit the boy stated he was unaware that his father would be subject to further prosecution if the first indictment was quashed as a result of the lad's plea of guilty, but since the father has been indicted again, Virgil Gracy asked permission to withdraw his plea of guilty to manslaughter and stand trial with his father on the charge of murder in the first degree.

The Court denied the motion on the ground that he had not been induced to plead guilty. Judgment of the Court had been entered, the boy had been sentenced, and is now serving time under that sentence.

C. C. and Virgil Gracy, father and son, are accused of the murder last July 18 of Odell Bumbalough, a Pa.'s boy about the same age as Virgil. They were arrested the same day and Virgil passed his 16th birthday while in the County Jail, as neither father nor son was able to make bond.

The two were indicted for first degree murder by the Grand Jury on Dec. 6. The Court appointed O. W. Spencer as attorney to represent the pair, but against the advice of counsel Virgil Gracy insisted on Dec. 16 of entering his plea of guilty to manslaughter. The indictment against C. C. Gracy was thereupon quashed. Two days later Virgil Gracy was sentenced to the state reformatory until he reached his majority.

Inflationary Bloc Favors Paying Bonus In New Money To Avoid Additional Taxes

Bonus Blanks Are Received By Local Veterans' Post

Applications Being Filled Out At 4 Offices In City

Blanks on which World War veterans are to make application for their adjusted compensation pay (the bonus) have been received by local posts of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars and already the rush is on, with officials in four locations busy filling in the blanks and fingerprinting the veterans. Post officials said that there "really is no hurry" about filling the applications as no payment will be made before June 15, but it is a case of "first come, first served," and each wants to be first.

American Legion men and other veterans can get their application blanks filled out by J. H. Colclough, post officer, room 504 Sanford Atlantic National Bank Building; J. O. Huff, assistant service officer, with Wright Brothers on Sanford Avenue at Tenth Street, where negro veterans should apply; and by L. F. Boyle, commander of the post, in his office in the bank building.

Veterans of Foreign Wars who saw service during the World War and are therefore eligible to receive the bonus can apply to Harry Kent, post commander, at his automobile establishment on Commercial Street.

Commander Boyle said he will have a quantity of application blanks at the meeting of the American Legion next Monday night, and veterans are asked to attend the meeting and get their applications on the way. He will also have a fingerprint outfit at the meeting.

Veterans are advised that they must send either their bonus certificate or the pink slips they received when loans were made along with their applications, and it is sometimes necessary to refer to the discharge papers when filling in the application blanks.

National Head Of V. F. W. Expected In Sanford Today

James E. VanZandt, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars who led the fight in Congress for the veterans' bonus bill before the American Legion joined in the fray two years ago, was expected to make a short stop in Sanford this afternoon, enroute from Jacksonville to Orlando. He was to go to Palatka from Jacksonville, but commander Harry Kent was advised that the national commander would stop in Sanford last today if time will permit. Commander VanZandt is to be honor guest at V. F. W. department banquet in Orlando this evening, and Commander Kent, Adjutant W. W. Goch and several other members of the local post are planning to attend. From Orlando the national commander is to go to St. Petersburg where he will broadcast an address over the radio Sunday evening.

Cates Announces For County Commission In Second District

J. J. Cates, a resident of Seminole County for the last 20 years, today announced as a candidate for the Board of County Commissioners from the Second District, now represented on the board by John Melach, Sr., who, it is reported, will not be a candidate to succeed himself.

Mr. Cates has never held a public office, though he has been a supporter of the Democratic party since reaching his majority. He also belongs to the Masons and is chairman of the board of directors of the First Christian Church of Sanford.

Mr. Cates was born in North Carolina, but his family in Florida has been for many years. He was educated in Sanford where he was employed in the telephone business. He has been in Sanford for many years and is well known to the community.

Mine Workers For Roosevelt, Humanitarian

Group Endorses The President But Not His Party, Though It Will Contribute

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The United Mine Workers formally endorsed President Roosevelt today for re-election and decided to contribute to the Democratic campaign fund. Seventeen hundred delegates unanimously adopted the resolution. Afterward John L. Lewis, miners' president, said that "if the American Federation of Labor would follow suit, as it should, then for all practical purposes, the result of the next election no longer would be in doubt." Lewis added: "We are not endorsing the Democratic party as such. We are rising to meet a crisis in the economic and political affairs of the nation. The Union is allying itself with a great statesman to protect the common people."

Lewis for many years was a Republican.

The Mine Workers' resolution said: "We are for Roosevelt, the greatest humanitarian of our time. Against us are the Chambers of Commerce, the Manufacturers Association, the Liberty League and the representatives of special interests who have exploited the people of this nation for many years. These forces must be defeated in their unholy purpose to re-establish their destructive rule over the destinies of the American people."

In another political development today George H. Bender, president of the Ohio League of Republican Clubs, said that Senator Borah's G. O. P. friends in Ohio are losing faith in him as a prospect for the presidential nomination. Borah at first declined to take notice of the statement. Later, however, Borah said the Ohio situation "remains unchanged."

Groundhog Expects To See His Shadow On Sunday Feb. 2

"Tomorrow, Feb. 2, is 'groundhog day' and, according to time-honored tradition, there will be six weeks more of winter if he sees his shadow. Will he see it and will there be a continuance of the almost weekly cold waves for the next two and one-half months? The weather man forecasts clear skies for Sunday in Central Florida, but if there is a groundhog in the part of the town he therefore is almost certain to see his shadow. But who believes the groundhog story, anyway, or knows there is such an animal?"

ATLANTA'S HEAVIEST SNOW JAMS TRAFFIC

An eight-inch snowfall, the heaviest ever recorded in Atlanta, Ga., demoralized automobile traffic and threw trolley car service out of commission in many sections of the city. Workers are shown trying to start one of the many street cars that found the drifts too deep to navigate.

Veterans Can Now Get Work Two Sanford Boys On Canal, Taking Census, Or Help Find Relics In Civil Service Positions Of Ancient Tribe

Addressed to "All War Veterans of Florida," copies of a bulletin issued by the Veterans' Replacement Service of the U. S. Department of Labor, which advises of many employment opportunities for veterans, were received today by officers of local organizations of former service men. The bulletin informs veterans that they can get work on the Florida Cross-State Canal, in taking the business census, and various civil service positions.

There are two free employment services in Florida, but veterans not familiar with the methods of enrollment and not near enough to established offices of either service will be advised if they will direct their inquiries to the Veterans' Replacement Service, P. O. Box 1118, St. Petersburg. The two free employment services in the state are the Florida State Employment Service covering 41 counties and with district offices at Tampa, Tallahassee and Jacksonville, and the National Re-employment Service covering 26 counties and with district offices in Orlando, Miami, Clewiston and Pensacola.

Celery Reminder Sent To Porters On Dining Cars

A reminder that "Seminole County celery of finest quality is now on the market, was today mailed to dining car officials of every important railroad company operating in America and who last year co-operated with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce in giving this section an opportunity to prove that its celery is by far the best that is produced.

With the reminder went the thanks of the trade body and farmers of this section for the use of Sanford celery in the dining cars of various railroads, and it was suggested that this item be included on the menus this year.

The letters were sent to the Atlantic Coast Line, the Chicago, Rock Island, & Pacific, Pennsylvania Railroad, Florida East Coast, Missouri Pacific, Seaboard Air Line, the Nickel Plate system, New York Central Lines, Illinois Central, Louisville & Nashville, Southern Railway, and Ohio, Pere Marquette, Clinefield, Chicago & Northwestern, C. & O., A. B. & C., C. & E. I. M. & O., and the Central of Georgia.

When the idea was first broached to the railroad authorities last year all of them answered by thanking the Chamber of Commerce for calling the matter to their attention, and all gave assurance that they have found Seminole County celery most satisfactory and would continue to serve it in their dining cars.

Sub-Freezing Weather Felt By Floridians

Extent Of Crop Damage Is Not Known; Mercury Slid Down To 32 In Sanford

Cold Wave Moves To Eastern Zone

Coal Sale Is Limited In Some Sections; Ice Jams Potomac

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 1.—(AP)—February brought frost, sub-freezing temperatures and some crop damage to Florida today, but also an official forecast of warmer weather. The temperature dropped to 25 here last night, was below freezing in Central Florida fruit and vegetable regions, and was near freezing in South Florida.

There were few reports of crop damage, many growers saying it may be several days before the full extent is known. Citrus buds apparently were nipped, however, and set back in the northern edge of the frost belt.

The potato crop probably was delayed, but not heavily damaged. Tender truck crop along the west coast was hit considerably. The Belle Glade agricultural experiment station said the truck crop south of Lake Okechobee apparently escaped heavy damage.

The official forecast issued by the Weather Bureau here today is as follows:

Partly cloudy and somewhat warmer tonight; frost in the morning for north portion of state; Friday cloudy and slightly warmer; possibly rain in north portion. Extreme northwest Florida, increasing cloudiness with rain beginning late tonight or Sunday somewhat warmer.

32 Degrees In Sanford

LAKELAND, Feb. 1.—The Weather Bureau here forecasts no further danger for crops through Tuesday. Florida temperatures early today included Frosticola 25, Gainesville 24, Ocala 20, Palatka 20, Orlando 20, Daytona Beach 20, Tampa 20, Fort Meyers 20, Miami 22, Key West 24, Sanford 22.

Cold Wave Eastward

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—The eastern part of the nation was suffering from cold weather today, with coal shortages reported in many sections due to the prolonged cold wave. Lows with temperatures below zero put coal distribution in hands of the government. Alabama and Mississippi reported coal shortages. Many southern cities limited coal sales to ton or less.

Continued cold was predicted tonight and Sunday from the mountains, although the weather south was promising some relief. Park Rapids, Minn., set a low zero last night, and Duluth, Minn., set a low of 20 below. Chicago had a low below zero. At Washington, Potomac River was jammed with ice.
