AID IS SOUGHT FOR MEMORIAL TO W. J. BRYAN

Philadelphia Record Takes Initiative in Forming A Committee To Finance The Building of National Shaft

Daniels May Head The Memorial Committee

Former Cabinet Official Says He Will Be Glad To Accept; Campaign Begins Soon

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Record today will take the initiative in forming a committee to finance and erect a national memorial to William Jennings Bryan. The Record solicits the support of citizens and newspapers throughout the nation and names as the prospective chairman of the committee Joseph Daniels, publisher of the Raleigh News and Observer, secretary of the navy in President Wilson's cabinet, and a firm friend of the great Commoner.

"Mr. Bryan will be remembered without any formal reminder of his achievements for his influence on the lives of his fellow citizens, for his long untiring defense of the rights of the common people against encroachments and privileges. For his vigorous promulgation of the society's present finally embodied in the 18th Amendment; for his earnest advocacy of peace and for his militant stand at the climax of a life fraught with critical moments, in behalf of Christianity as he interpreted it against what he conceived to be the attacks of science.

"These things will be recalled, we say, long after his errors have been forgotten. The beneficence of the man, his earnestness of purpose, his miraculous sway of millions of his fellow citizens are some facts that must be recognized even by those who do not agree with his political or social theories or entertain his religious convictions. He was a great American."

The Record has observed reports from Tennessee of a movement to found there, as a memorial to Mr. Bryan, a college dedicated to opposing the theories of evolution.

"Such a movement, unless it is intended to be of merely a local character, would be an egregious mistake.

"Unquestionably, the service of Mr. Bryan to his countrymen should be recognized by the erection of a national memorial—not Bryan the fundamentalist; not Bryan the prohibitionist; not Bryan the democrat, but to Bryan the fearless crusader; to Bryan the statesman. It should not be a narrow tribute from any group, or clique or class; it should be an embracing expression of the sentiment of the country, to the financing and erection of which all Americans big enough to recognize strength of character, exceptional ability and dogged persistence in obtaining a goal, should be political friends or foes, may contribute."

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—"If Mrs. Bryan and Mr. Bryan's close friends request it, of course I will accept the chairmanship of the committee proposed by the Philadelphia Record," declared Joseph Daniels, close friend of the late William Jennings Bryan, when informed tonight of the proposal of the Record that he become chairman of a committee to finance and erect a national memorial to the Commoner.

"I am very much gratified that a great paper like the Record has taken the initiative," said Mr. Daniels, "and I feel sure that the press of the country as a whole, of all political creeds, will be glad to further any wise movement for a suitable memorial to Mr. Bryan."

Former Minister From Ecuador Will Ask U. S. To Recognize His Country

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Rafael H. Elizalde former Ecuadorian minister to this country and now diplomatic representative in Chile, is expected here within a few days seeking recognition of the new government in Ecuador, which recently overthrew the constitutional regime.

The governing body now administering Ecuador is said to have sent Senator Elizalde, who has arrived in New York, on a special mission to the United States. Six nations already have recognized the new Ecuadorian regime, according to advices received by the legation here. These are Great Britain, France, Italy, Switzerland, Chile and Panama. There have been no breaks in diplomatic relations with any foreign governments, according to Senator Barberis, charge d'affaires of Ecuador, and affairs have been moving along as usual. U. S. Attitude Unknown. No formal indication has been given as to the attitude of the United States government. Prompt recognition by Chile is believed to have been largely due to the influence of Senator Elizalde, and also to the fact that Chile desires the moral support of Ecuador in its present territorial conflict with Peru. Ecuador also has long-standing boundary disputes with Peru.

The governing body in Ecuador, consisting of seven members, has not yet fixed a date for new elections or the calling of a constituent assembly. It is stated the governing body is getting the administrative affairs in good shape and "probably will call new elections within conditions approximate normal. Already there is said to have been marked improvement in the rate of exchange.

Northerners Have Become 'Florida Crazy' Declares Mero, Back From Detroit

Sanford Auto Distributor Asserts Florida Foremost Topic of Discussion On Streets of Larger Cities

Hupmobile Convention Attended In Detroit

Montreal Visited and Ford Plant There Is Inspected by Party of Florida Agents

"Florida crazy" is the term used by Percy Mero in describing the people of Detroit and other northern communities visited by the Florida Hupmobile agents just back from a three-day inspection tour of the company's factory in Michigan.

"On the street, in restaurants, theaters and everywhere our Florida hat bands were the signal for the gathering of horde of curious and inquisitive people who shot various and multitudinous questions at us with the rapidity of a machine gun," Mr. Mero stated.

"Men, women and children literally pounced on us for information. The idle rich and the working man, the investor and the housewife all trailed the Florida hat bands demanding news of 'gators cocanuts, palm trees and the many advantages that the 'Flower State' has to offer, and but for the ministering officials of the plant our wonderful trip would have been nothing more than three tortured days of answering questions."

"Even Menendez and the other early explorers could not have been more widely questioned on their return to the home country, from Florida than we were, but we had the advantage on those old boys for we could relate true and unexaggerated tales of real estate transactions and developments that made their fictitious tales of gold and silver seem insignificant by comparison," Mr. Mero added.

"Unusual interest in Florida, interest and speculation in regard to the fortunes that can be made in Florida are now at a higher degree of intensity than any that could have possibly existed in the days of Drake, Ribaut and Ponce de Leon," he continued.

"Where those old adventurers sought raw gold and silver these more civilized explorers see golden weather and the wealth of beautiful scenery that has placed Florida at the head of the list of tourist resorts."

"Never in my life have I seen interest in anything so intense and widespread," Mr. Mero said.

"After talking Florida for an hour in the retreat of a wealthy investor, I left his office only to be stopped for information by a shop apprentice who was saving his money to buy a flivver to hit the road to this state."

Mr. Mero stated that the "road to Florida" was the chief topic of conversation on every hand.

"If the interest in Florida so prevalent in Detroit is as representative of the entire north, as I believe it is," Mr. Mero added, "railroads and steamships will prove entirely inadequate to handle the great influx of tourists this year. The highways leading south will be so choked with cars that transportation will be appreciably slowed down and all sections of this state will be sorely taxed to provide shelter for the thousands who are already on the way here and the other thousands who contemplate coming in the fall."

"The whole nation seems to have caught the fever," Mr. Mero explained, "and this season will in my opinion witness the greatest migration to Florida that any section of the United States has ever experienced."

Mr. Mero described his trip to Detroit as one of the most enjoyable.

Lawson Funeral In Chicago Very Simple

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Utter simplicity marked the funeral services and burial today of Victor Fremont Lawson, for fifty years publisher of the Chicago Daily News and world figure in journalism.

Notables of the nation, city and of the newspaper world attended the funeral in the church, where Mr. Lawson was a member for nearly a half century, but in keeping with his wish they left the final rite to be attended by his few surviving relatives and close friends. There was no pomp and no display aside from many wreaths and sprays of flowers.

EDITOR IS UNDER $10,000 BOND ON MURDER CHARGE

Carl Magee, Stormy Petrel In New Mexico Politics, Charged With Slaying Man In Fight With Judge Leahy

EAST LAS VEGAS, N. M., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque editor and stormy petrel of New Mexico politics, will be embroiled Wednesday in his fourth fight in a row for a different charge—the accusation of murder.

Charged with the killing of J. B. Lassiter, whom he shot during a fist fight here Friday night with his political enemy, former District Judge David J. Leahy, Magee will appear for preliminary hearing in a justice court here Wednesday. The Albuquerque editor left here Saturday for his home after he had been charged with killing Lassiter by a coroner's jury and had posted $10,000 bond for his appearance.

Former Judge Leahy is painfully injured at his home here, his left arm being broken by two of Magee's shots. Magee brandished a revolver and fired three times after he had been knocked to the floor by Leahy. Lassiter, who had rushed to Magee's rescue and was trying to pull Leahy off his prostrate body was the victim of a stray bullet.

In again entering the courts of this section of New Mexico, Magee will be treading on familiar grounds. Twice before he had appeared in the district court, the trials being the origin of the clash Friday night for Leahy was the judge who tried him and both cases were marked with intense animosity. In July, 1923, he was convicted by a jury in Leahy's court of criminal libel against a state supreme court chief justice, but was pardoned by Governor Hinckle before he served his prison sentence. In July of the next year he was sentenced by Judge Leahy for contempt of court and served a day and night when another gubernatorial pardon freed him. His third trial in New Mexico's courts was in Santa Fe, where he was acquitted of a charge of criminal libel against Jose D. Sena, supreme court clerk, in September 1923.

Magee's campaign in New Mexico's politics as editor of the Albuquerque Morning Journal and at present the New Mexico State Tribune has resulted in many political upheavals. His fight against Leahy resulted in the defeat of the latter for reelection to the district court.

It will be the most elaborate train service the road has ever furnished the state, Mr. Ecker said, both incoming and interstate.

U. S. LINE SHIPS TO BE KEPT ON EUROPEAN RUN

Announcement Made By Palmer to Quiet Rumor That Service Was to Be Curtailed

Brought Out Rumor Budget Difference

Better Times For Line Predicted By Head In Cablegram to U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Leviathan and all ships of the U. S. Line will remain in their present service from New York to Europe permanently. President Palmer of the Fleet Corporation, announced Sunday to set at rest reports that they were to be tied up indefinitely.

Mr. Palmer was appraised of these reports by T. H. Rossbottom, general manager of the U. S. Lines, now in Europe, who said the rumor was "being taken advantage of by our competitors with the idea of reducing our future bookings."

In a cable message to Mr. Rossbottom, Mr. Palmer said: "Reference rumor about withdrawing Leviathan, there is absolutely no intention of doing so. On the contrary, we intend to maintain and continue in improved service the Leviathan and all other ships of the U. S. Lines."

"Preliminary results show that this year will be more successful than any previous one and from the enormous number of letters most strongly endorsing every part of the services of the U. S. Lines from all parts of the country and from Europe, I feel that next year will be even better than this year."

"I need not reiterate to you that the U. S. Lines is in the North Atlantic run to remain permanently and nothing has transpired since your departure to suggest anything to the contrary. If any of our people abroad have heard any of these unfounded rumors they are of no more importance than rumors of a similar nature that have constantly been in evidence during the last three or four years."

"The U. S. Lines is in this service permanently and there is absolutely no ground for such adverse rumors as the U. S. Lines reports are understood to have developed from intimations emanating from the shipping board that, if the budget was sharply curtailed, some reduction in government merchant marine service would be necessary and the U. S. Line would be the first affected."

On the other hand, some shipping board commissioners have said that if any curtailment were found necessary for financial reasons, the freight, rather than the passenger services would be reduced, inasmuch as the former represented the heaviest losses in operation for the government.

Mr. Palmer recommended an appropriation of $10,000,000 for the Fleet Corporation for the fiscal year 1922, but the shipping board recently increased that estimate by $4,000,000 and informed the budget bureau that for the corporation and the board $22,540,000 would be necessary. The budget bureau had notified the board that it should endeavor to keep its requests down to $15,300,000, but last week returned the estimates with the statement that the total must not exceed $18,540,000 thereby standing of Mr. Palmer's estimate.

Two weeks ago Mr. Palmer also announced that, whatever the appropriation made by congress for the fiscal year 1917, there would be no curtailment of the number of ships or lines operated, but that the differences between the board and the budget bureau developed reports arose that the Leviathan, at least, might have to be tied up.

The Florida crop in August is 16 7-8 per cent normal with 28,000 bales forecast.

EIGHT MEMBERS OF SHIP'S CREW SAVED BY GUARDS

Schooner Victoria Is Total Loss Off Ocracoke Island; On North Carolina Coast; Went Ashore In Bad Storm

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The four-mast schooner, Victoria S. of New York, lumber laden from Georgetown to New York, went ashore two miles south of Ocracoke Island on the North Carolina coast early Sunday morning and is expected to be a total loss. Her crew of eight men were rescued by means of a breeches buoy by coast guardsmen.

The school was driven on the beach about 5 o'clock during a severe easterly gale. Owing to heavy seas, coast guards from the Ocracoke station, responding to distress rockets sent up from the Victoria S., were unable to launch boats to go to the ship. A Lyle gun was brought up and after several unsuccessful attempts, a line was shot over the schooner and made fast to a mast. A breeches buoy then was used to bring the members of the crew ashore, one at a time. They are now being cared for at the Ocracoke station and were reported little worse for their experience.

The Victoria S. left Georgetown, S. C., Aug. 15 for New York with a full cargo of lumber. Two days out she ran into bad weather and was forced to lay low and ride out a gale. Resuming the voyage, she again ran into more rough weather off Cape Hatteras, which sent her on the beach this morning. Messages received here this afternoon said the schooner was fast breaking up and would be a total loss.

The wrecked ship was built in Dennistown and is in commission since 1914.

Permit For Erection Of New Laundry Issued This Morning

Permit for the construction of Sanford's new steam laundry was issued this morning at the City Clerk's office. The permit represents the cost of the building alone was for $25,000 and was taken out in favor of the Austin Laundry Builders of Cleveland, O., a firm which has been awarded the contract for the construction and equipping of the local plant.

Work on the building is already under way and will be rushed to rapid completion so that the plant may be in operation in the late fall. A. S. Christenberry, who with J. N. Wigfall and Nat Burman of Orlando, form a company that is building the plant here, stated to the board that when ready for operation, the laundry will represent an investment of nearly $75,000.

The original estimate of the cost of putting in the laundry has been $50,000. This has been pointed out by the high cost of equipment, this part of the plant representing an outlay of approximately $35,000, it is said.

When finished, the plant will be one of the most modern and up-to-date in the state, it is declared by the builders.

FLORIDA FACTS

Edward W. Bok... has working plans under way for the establishment of a monument to the wild life and plants of Florida.

The tract will be named the "Trexel Jungle" after the island in the Netherlands on which Mr. Bok was born.

It is planned to have a series of roads leading to the proposed district road which will connect at Darty's crossing on the Kissimmee river and the road to Vero and the Atlantic Ocean.

Frederick Law Olmstead, architect who will supervise the work for Mr. Bok, has visited the jungle and made a survey and has maps nearly completed from an airplane observation trip.

Mr. Olmstead has three assistants aiding him in the making of the plans and as soon as they are completed they will be presented to Mr. Bok for his approval.

There are now two wardens who daily and nightly patrol the jungle watch for fires and to prevent hunting and fishing.

The Florida Methodist Orphanage is located at Benson Springs (Formerly Enterprise, Fla.) It was the outgrowth of a joint committee of orphanage trustees and church trustees authorized by the annual conference of 1908.

The institution was started in an old store and hotel building. Later the present location was secured from the DeBerry Estate. It has about 15 acres campus and garden land and seven acres of orange groves.

Approximately one hundred children are cared for annually. They are given a common school education at the orphanage school and upon completion of this work, they are sent to schools of higher education. Especial attention is given to the education of the girls.

The ages run from two years to eighteen years. At the age of eighteen the boys and girls are found employment on the outside.

Reverend Smith Hardin is now the superintendent and field representative of the institution.

There are a number of other orphanages in the state that operate under similar plans in general.

There were 6,537 cars from other states than Florida that crossed the St. Johns river bridge at Jacksonville during the month of July. The cars carried 25,597 passengers.

Georgia led all other states with 1,697 cars and 6,613 passengers. Alabama was next with 588 cars and 2,309 passengers. South Carolina came third with 499 cars and 1,921 passengers.

The state of Florida has no state or federal bird and game reservations, according to the state department of agriculture. There are, however, bird sanctuaries throughout the state. These have been donated from various sources, a number of them coming through the activities of the Florida Division of the Audubon Society.

Valuations in Florida have had a continued increase since 1903. From 1903 to 1916 real estate values went from $68,247,312 to $207,105,741 and from 1916 to 1923 the increase was from $207,105,741 to $307,119,438.

On personal property the increase in assessed valuations from 1903 to 1916 was from $29,930,608 to $52,419,243. From 1916 to 1923 it increased from $52,419,243 to $84,571,697.

There was a slight decrease in personal property valuation in the years 1916, 1921 and 1922 but the other years show consistent increases.

Railroads and telegraph properties increased in assessed valuations during 1903 to 1916 from $22,148,815 to $45,519,248 and from 1916 to 1923 from $45,519,248 to $59,404,424. There is a slight decrease shown in these properties in 1921 and 1922 but the other years show increases throughout.

Total valuations in Florida increased from $111,333,735 in 1903 to $304,244,175 in 1916 and in 1923 it was $445,995,559. The total for 1924 is placed at over $475,000,000.

These increases were made for the most part under conditions of unimproved highways, and limited development of water transportation on rivers and canals.

Agriculture Commissioner Nathan Mayo says that during the highways and port facilities, the assessed valuations in Florida may show an increase above that of 1923 of approximately $800,000,000.

The Florida honey ranks with the best in the country. Its varieties are the tupelo and orange blossom.

L. M. Rhodes, state commissioner of marketing, is advocating the co-operative marketing of honey and the standardization of the packing. This, he says, will increase the demand for the Florida spurry product and will enable the chain stores, hotels, and other markets to buy in large lots. A thing that they have been almost unable to do to any extent in this state.

$2,750 Offered For Old Eastern Stamp

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(P)—A remarkable collection of rare eastern stamps which were kept in a gold casket is to be sold by auction here. The collection was formed by Mohamed Kamel el Kassab, son of the President of the High Assembly of Assyria, who is visiting Great Britain.

Every page of the album is exquisitely handpainted with views of Damascus, Aleppo, Beirut, Jerusalem and other cities of Asia Minor and the volume reposes in a massive gold and silver inlaid casket of Arabian design and workmanship. Three smaller gold and silver inlaid caskets contain medals commemorating the Independence of Arabia and other events. An offer of $2,750 was made and refused for one of the stamps.

The Sam Browne belt was invented by a one-armed British officer.

U-Boat Warfare Is Defended by German

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—(P)—Vice Admiral Hollweg deplores the fact that the German submarine war was not started earlier and carried through ruthlessly. For then, he declares in an article in the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, all American armaments and munitions would have proved worthless and Hindenburg and not Wilson, would have won the war.

The admiral speaks of submarine warfare as a "God-given gift" which had been entrusted to Germany in self-protection against "the inhuman blockade which, though sanctioned by America, was a violation of all precepts of international law."

The writer emphatically denies that it was the unrestricted submarine campaign which induced America to enter the war. Those Germans "who still adhere to that opinion, as Count Bernstorff," he refers to as "poor simple-minded cosmopolitan souls."

Alias John Doe

And his name was John Doe. The Herald doesn't often indulge in story telling in its editorial columns but this one is so good that we cannot help passing it on to the readers of this page in the hope that they will find it interesting, too.

Since it really is a good story, The Herald has no scruples about beginning it in the fashion of all good stories and it simply says that once upon a time there was a thriving, prosperous town. Its name is of small consequence, hence, there is no need of mentioning it.

Anyway, this particular town, although it was a fast growing city and possessed wonderful possibilities, had one bad fault. And that fault was that it had too many people by the name of Doe. To make it even worse, they all had the name of John. In a word, it had too many John Does living in it.

Now there really should be no more harm in having a large number of John Does as there is in having scores of Smiths, Jones, or Browns. But in this instance it was different. Take the case of one certain John Doe. He was a prominent man with intiuence. He was a pioneer citizen. He had done much to further the progress of his city. But he was lacking in one respect. He liked whiskey, not some whiskey but too much whiskey.

On one certain occasion he imbibed too freely of the well known liquid. And naturally he began to feel unusually good in spirits, so much so in fact, he decided to take a spin in his automobile. Up one street and down another he drove and not with any too much care either. Soon his uncertain handling of the car attracted the attention of an officer, who promptly halted the offender. When the policeman ascertained that the man was intoxicated, he placed him under arrest for violation of a state law. In police court the next morning, we are told, he was fined a hundred dollars and costs.

There is nothing strange or unusual in these few facts that have already been related. There was usually one or more similar cases tried in every session of the municipal court in that town, but the difference in this particular case and some others was in the name that appeared on the police blotter.

It was John Doe. Of course that wasn't the man's real name but it was used in this instance anyway. And why? Because in that same town there is a newspaper that publishes the police court news and if the story had gone out that Mr. So-and-So had been found guilty of driving a car while in an intoxicated condition, it would have been terrible. Think of the scandal, not to mention the possible loss of business and social prestige. Something had to be done so the easiest way to do it was to substitute the more appropriate name of John Doe for the real name. Simple, isn't it and also convenient.

How did it happen in this particular instance that the fictitious name of John Doe was used when in hundreds of others, the person's real name was given? It was because in this special case, the party implicated was a prominent citizen. He occupied a leading position in the life of their town and something just had to be done. And in that town there were thousands of people who knew the real facts as they existed and laughed up their sleeves at the foolish camouflage with which efforts were made to cover up and protect "a prominent citizen."

Every man ought to stand on his own two feet. If, in doing so, it brings him riches and fame, let it be known, but if on the other hand it brings him into violation of the law, let him take his just deserts. There should be no dividing line between a rich man and a poor man in the matter of violation of the law. The poor man has to take it because he isn't the "pull;" the rich man doesn't take it because he doesn't have to.

A newspaper has to print the docket as it stands, otherwise it has no authority to back it in the publication of the police court news. If other names are substituted for the real ones, it has to publish them, although it is reasonably certain that to this extent it is in error. If, then, the reader of a newspaper fails to see the name of a certain prominent man in print for violation of the law and instead reads the name of John Doe, don't blame the paper for suppressing the news, but place the blame where it belongs.

In the name of fairness, it isn't right to change one man's name and let another's go as it is. Every law breaker should be treated on the same basis, regardless of his station in life. One is just as good as the other. If a man breaks the law, let him suffer to consequences regardless of what these consequences may be.

DOUBT NOT BUT THAT angling will prove to be so pleasant, that it will prove to be, like virtue, a reward to itself.—Isaiah Walton.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

I used to know a New York business man who delighted to tell a yarn of his boyhood. He said that when he was about 10 years old, his father, who was a presiding elder in the M. E. Church, took him from his home in Pennsylvania to a town out in Ohio where the son was to be entered in a small college.

HELPING THE CROOKS

A man who had been employed in St. Petersburg last season recently left for places unknown after cashing several worthless checks. He got away with several hundred dollars and also he defrauded the hotel at which he had been staying.

Such a law as this aids the crooks and encourages crime. A dishonest man, knowing that the state will not spend money to bring him back to face the charges against him, runs little risk of conviction for fraud if he flees the state after cashing worthless checks or embezzling money. He knows that the average man will not spend money to bring him back and he can go on his way with the money he obtained by dishonest methods. Therefore men with criminal inclinations are not in fear of the law.

League Leaders Drop First Game By Score of 7 to 4 And Win Second 3 to 2 by Pulling Several Fast Plays

55,000 People Pack The New York Field

Pirates Came Near Winning First Game When Recruit Blows Up in 8th Inning

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates drew an even break in a twin program with the New York Giants Sunday, winning the second game, 3 to 2, after losing the opener 7 to 4. Pittsburgh continued to lead in the National League flag race by a five-game margin.

Another capacity crowd of 55,000 saw the games, thousands of others being turned away. The grandstand was sold out an hour before the first game started and the crowd was so dense that police stopped traffic blocks from the grounds.

New York won the first game through timely hitting against the veteran Babe Adams in early innings. Meusel, who was hit by a pitched ball, scored the first run in the second inning on singles by Terry and Jackson. Bunched hits in the following stanza by Frisch, Young, Meusel and Terry brought about the retirement of Adams in favor of Sheehan after three runs were registered. A single by Kelly gave the Giants another tally before the side was retired. Sheehan yielded two more runs in the fifth inning on singles by Young, Meusel and Terry, and the pitcher's wild throw.

Kent Greenfield held the Corsairs helpless until the eighth when he blew up without warning. With one out, Wright, Grantham, Smith Moore and Rawlings hit safely, four runs resulting. Scott was rushed into the box. It was said afterward that Greenfield strained a muscle in his right arm during the inning.

Inability to hit with men on bases proved costly to the Giants in the second game, as they got only two runs out of 12 hits off Morrison and Oldham and 13 of their number were left on base.

The Giants got off to a one-run lead in the first inning on Southworth's single, Frisch's infield out and Young's single. Pittsburgh tied in the fourth when Traynor singled, took second on Meusel's fumble and scored on Wright's double. New York regained the lead in its half on a base on balls to Jackson and singles by Hartley, Fitzsimmons and Southworth.

In the seventh Grantham singled and scored the tying run on a single by Pinch Hitter McInnis. Bigbee ran for McInnis, took second on Moore's sacrifice and came home with the winning run on a double by Rawlings.

Pirates Crush Opposition Offered By McGraw's Team; Now Enjoy Five Game Lead

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Major league baseball today was almost ready to concede the claims of at least one new championship contender.

Five full games ahead of the Giants after an even break with the four time champions Sunday, the Pirates will leave New York today with Giant opposition temporarily crushed. Had the home club succeeded in matching its feat of 1924 by standing off the Pirate rush, the outlook for the McKeechie entry would have been less promising.

For Pittsburgh leaves after a fifth game with the Giants to face a new menace at Boston, where Dave Bancroft last week led his Braves in a sally from the depths of last place to six victories in eight starts.

Brilliant pitching performances chased one another in such rapid succession that only 27 runs were made against the revolting Braves by New York, St. Louis and Cincinnati. But Pittsburgh will be able to face the new ordeal with the confidence of an impressive lead and the satisfaction of delivering a stunning blow to the Giants from which they are not likely to readily recover.

The schedule, which has but six more weeks to run, will lend its aid to the Pirates in their march. After series at Boston and Philadelphia, they will return to the home grounds for the remainder of the season, except for two series with St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Both Shocker and Karr, who started the game, were knocked out of the box. Speece, who replaced Karr, did not allow a man to reach first. Penock was also effective until the ninth when J. Sewell reached third when Combs let his single go through him. Burns was passed purposely and with Spurgeon at bat a wild pitch scored Sewell.

Ruth made his fourteenth home run of the year off Karr.
