Gen. Vandenberg Will Retire June 30, To Be Succeeded By Twining

President Announces First Staff Change
WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced today Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg is retiring as Air Force chief of staff and will be succeeded by Gen. Nathan F. Twining.
Twining at present is vice chief of staff. Assuming the Senate confirms his appointment, he will step up to the top Air Force post June 30 when Vandenberg's term expires.
This is the first change in the joint Chiefs of Staff since Eisenhower took office, and the White House gave no indication whether it would be followed by other changes.
Nominated to succeed Twining as vice chief of staff was Chief of Staff Thomas D. White, who would get a fourth star.
Twining's appointment is for the usual four years.
In advance of the White House announcement, the Air Force released an exchange of letters between Vandenberg and Secretary of Air Harold E. Talbot in which Talbot said that he had approved Vandenberg's retirement "with reluctance."
Vandenberg was originally appointed chief of staff for a four-year term which ended April 30, 1952. At that time his tour of duty was extended for 14 months.
Vandenberg had been in the Air Force since 1921. He had been chief of staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff since 1951.
Vandenberg, now 54, pointed out in his retirement request that he has served more than 34 years and that the last five have been as chief of staff.
Vandenberg's retirement is the first announced by a member of the present Joint Chiefs of Staff.
The chairman, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, will complete his second two-year term on August 15.
The Army chief of staff, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, will complete his four-year term on the same date this summer.
The remaining member, Adm. William M. Friedman, will complete two years left of his normal four-year term.

TB Unit Will Be Here On May 12, Jaycees Are Told

Mrs. Clara Jobe, executive secretary of the Seminole County Tuberculosis Association, announced today that state-owned chest x-ray units would be in Sanford and Seminole County beginning Tuesday, May 12, through Saturday, May 23. Mrs. Jobe outlined the county association's plans for the forthcoming x-ray campaign in her speech before the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Yacht Club.
The mobile x-ray unit has not been to Seminole County since 1931, she said. "When it was here, only 51 chest pictures were taken, and out of that number 28 suspects were found."
"We hope to take pictures of at least one-third of the county's 35,000 population. We have already printed 10,000 handbills and have been receiving fine publicity from the newspapers and radio."
The permanent x-ray unit will be located at Mathers Furniture Store in downtown Sanford for the entire period while a mobile unit will be touring the county, she added.
"At the present time we have 14 TB patients in the hospital with four more on the waiting list, including two white women and two Negroes."
In conclusion, Mrs. Jobe asked the Junior Chamber for its wholehearted support in publicizing the x-ray unit. President Douglas Stenstrom thanked her and pledged the Jaycees' support.
The Sanford Jaycees snared two first places and a second place ranking in its scrapbook entries at the State Junior Chamber convention held in Daytona Beach last week.
In addition, Valle Williams was elected district vice president in a class three-way race. President Cliff Able revealed.
William Hutchinson Jr. reported that Sanford's Douglas Stenstrom was selected as one of the five "Most Outstanding Young Men" in Florida.
Mr. Kader also said the Florida Wildlife Magazine will have a feature story concerning Sanford and Seminole County fishing in its issue next month.
Judge Stenstrom announced that the Jaycees will have a float in the annual Armistice Day parade, slated for Saturday, May 10. Lt. Comdr. Charles Atkinson is in charge of building the float.
Joe Moss, Seminole High School junior, will be sponsored by the Jaycees for the American Legion's Boys State trip to Tallahassee.
Ron Rieder announced that Francis Moore, Jr., of Jacksonville, is making application for the Miss Florida Contest at Daytona last week, will be sponsored again by the Junior Chamber in the Watermelon Festival in Leesville.
Cliff Able suggested that the club sponsor her in the Dixie Frolics at Daytona on July 4.

Mighty Naval Craft Shell Korea Harbor

Attack Follows Softening By Aircraft
By WILLIAM WAUGH
SEOUL (AP)—The mighty battleship New Jersey and the cruiser Bremerton steamed boldly into Wonsan harbor today, and the coast today and bombed the battered Communist port and communications hub for the second time in three days.
Big guns, the two warships and an escorting destroyer opened up a few hours after dive bombers from the carriers Princeton and Valley Forge heavily damaged an important Red metal processing plant in Northeastern Korea, only 100 miles from Siberia.
Sea and air forces provided virtually the only action. Fighting along the twisting 153-mile battlefield was at a virtual standstill.
The New Jersey's 16-inch rifles cleared shell after shell into Communist artillery positions, raining the rubble city. The Bremerton and destroyer Twining bombarded communications targets as well as anti-aircraft.
Planes from the Princeton and Valley Forge Wednesday demolished the main transformer which currently exists as a semi-processed plant northwest of the Communist port of Songjin. The Navy announced.
Carpairs and Sikorskis flew through fire and antiaircraft fire "so heavy we could get out and walk on it" to bomb the key metal plant.
Pilots said bombs landed squarely on several buildings and touched off three secondary explosions which could have been ammunition stores.
Low clouds grounded many Allied warplanes Tuesday, but 23 Sabre jet fighter-bombers bombed a Red troop concentration at Singye, northwest of Choron in West Korea. Pilots reported 20 buildings destroyed.
Fourteen Japan-based B29 Superforts dumped 140 tons of bombs on a 130-acre troop and supply depot at Tokchon in northwest Korea Wednesday night.
The ground force was an elite Eighth Army briefing officer said only 30 Communist soldiers were killed or wounded in the 24 hours ending early Thursday. U.N. divisions on the Western Front reported hitting only one Chinese in overnight skirmishes.

Communists Unveil New Plan As Compromise Designed To Break Korea Truce Deadlock

Sue Ann was one of a group of nine boys and two girls from the school training an exhibition following the Lions Club's luncheon meeting. The trampoline was loaned from Stetson University and has been used by the local high school in physical education classes recently. Included in the prep tumbling group were Junior Mitts, Ray Davis, Joe Paken, Clarence Hittell, Hughes Julian, John Bowen, Luther Muse, Bob Taylor, Max Rosen, Charlotte Wain.

Important Concession Is Granted By Reds

By ROBERT H. TUCKMAN
PANMUNJOM, 48.—The Communists today unveiled a new compromise plan to break the Korean truce deadlock and the Allies immediately asked time for top-level study.
The eight-point proposal flatly demands that 48,000 Communist prisoners who refused to go home be left in Korea after an armistice rather than sent to a neutral country.
And it offers other concessions.
Even though the Reds made it clear the Allies must accept all or nothing, this appeared to be the first major break since the truce talks reopened April 23 in an effort to agree on exchange of prisoners, last major barrier to an armistice.
Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief Allied delegate, said:
"This is an important proposal that merits careful and considerable thought."
"Our major decisions must be made by the governments themselves."
The next meeting is scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday.
WASHINGTON (AP)—State and Defense department officials began a searching study today of the Communists' new eight-point plan on prisoner exchanges. Plans on the surface appeared to offer some important concessions toward getting a truce in Korea.
Washington authorities in recent days have however, highly doubted about whether the Reds really want a Korean armistice, however, and their skepticism and suspicion of all Communist moves dominated initial reaction to this latest proposition.
Soon after the Red plan was received here from Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior U.N. trustee negotiator, by way of Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters, State and Defense policy makers went to work on it. The only word given out from these quarters initially was that it was much too early to say whether the new plan had appreciably brightened truce prospects.
It is proved to mark real progress, however, it could mean taken together with news from Laos, the government an exceedingly gloomy outlook in the East, with approaching major crisis, proposals that suddenly lightened the news from Laos which could contribute to the improving Communist forces which had driven into the little Indochinese kingdom.
The withdrawal of troops probably will be a part of the armistice. The season threatened to bog down their whole operation.
One of the difficulties of previous Red proposals is that they usually are carried forward in the new plan is what eventually happens to the POWs who do not want to go home. The United States and Britain have argued that they deserve freedom if they choose it. The Reds stated that this fate should be decided at a political conference on Korean and probably other Far Eastern problems.
This could mean they might be denied freedom for a considerable time and that they could become human pawns in the international political conference. There have been no indications here that U.S. officials would be willing to agree to any arrangement which would have such a result.

Jailer Of Dade's Escape Proof Jail Resigns His Post

MIAMI (AP)—Lee C. Sanders, veteran police officer, resigned as head jailer Wednesday with an "utter confusion" in the office of Dade County Sheriff Thomas J. Kelly.
Sanders, 42-year-old former police officer and deputy U.S. marshal, said he felt recent Kelly appointments had relieved him of any responsibility for two jail breaks from the big county jail when nine prisoners fled.
"I have no desire to make Sanders a whipping post," Kelly said. "I can take all the heat that goes over from this office."
Sanders rapped Kelly's appointment March 10 of Deputy George J. Washington, an administrative assistant in charge of all jail personnel. He said Washington had at no time conferred with him and that he had no part in supervision of jail personnel.
"I regret that it has become necessary for me to make this decision by this department and the personnel in their confusion from lack of training, supervision, leadership and from divided authority—a condition which makes it impossible to determine who is responsible for conditions as they now exist," Sanders said in his letter of resignation.
Sanders had been slated for replacement as warden of the new 100-bed jail on May 15. Arthur I. Scrabble, but Kelly said he hoped to retain the veteran officer in another capacity.
Sanders said the department had "too many chiefs without any Indians."

Hobby Defends His Fee For Returning Prisoner To State

Sheriff J. L. Hobby today defended his office's action in returning a worthless check writer from Ohio for prosecution, which was one of the items on his monthly bill submitted to the County Commission on Tuesday which caused that group to hold up payment.
The Sheriff's request for payment of $150 to his office during the month of April totaling $4,218.83 was turned down by the Commission during its regular session.
Mr. Hobby declared in a written statement today that:
"The Justice of the Peace issued a warrant for violation of the criminal law of passing a worthless check which is a felony under Florida law. Two worthless checks were passed, but the Justice of the Peace issued only one warrant in order to save the County double cost. One check was for $400 and the other for $150."
"I was authorized by State Attorney H. E. Griggs to bring the accused back to Seminole County in order to pay the $150 to the man who was arrested for the crime, and numerous criminal violations."
"Commissioner Melch has attempted to make the people believe that this man was brought back to pay the $150 to the man who was defrauded. This is not the case. He was returned to be prosecuted, he was prosecuted and he is now in jail."
"I regret that Commissioner Melch sees no need to bring criminals to court. However, as long as I am Sheriff of Seminole County, I will do just what the law says I believe this is exactly what the good citizens of the County want me to do."
"I ran this office on a platform of enforcing the laws and bringing criminals to justice. If we are to let people get away with violations of our criminal law, there is no need for having a sheriff."

Plans Are Revealed For New Cemetery

Plans for a modern perpetual care cemetery to be located on the country club road just west of Twin Lakes were unveiled today by W. E. Williams, president of the cemetery corporation.
The cemetery will be the first of its kind in Seminole County according to Mr. Williams, who stated that at the present time only about three acres of the tract will be opened. However, he pointed out there is ample space available for many years to come.
Funds for the cemetery's care and maintenance will be placed in irrevocable trusts in a bank. These funds will increase monthly by a percentage amount from the sale of each lot.
The corporation is composed entirely of local people with Mr. Williams serving as president and Ray Mason as secretary-treasurer. No date of the opening has yet been announced.
A temporary office has been set up at 118 North Park Avenue.

Easter Seal Drive Is Still Short $114

The Easter Seal drive is still $114 short of the $1,000 mark and although the campaign is officially over, the campaign is still being held in the hands of the organizers.
Mrs. Harold Appleby, Seminole County chairman, is still hopeful of reaching that amount.
An immediate need exists for sewing machine operators, pressers, and packers with operators the prime necessity.

LONGWOOD GROUP MAY SERVE AS TAX BOARD
TALLAHASSEE (Special)—The Town Council of Longwood in Seminole County could act as a delinquent tax board, according to terms of a bill introduced by Rep. Cleveland S. Hays today.
It would authorize the board to receive applications for adjustments of taxes and assessments and could make such compromises regarding settlement of any municipal tax sale certificate or unpaid taxes on city property prior to 1950.
Provisions in the bill would permit the council to have this jurisdiction for one year only.

Storer Elected As President Of Dixie Baptists

HOUSTON (AP)—Dr. J. W. Storer of Tulsa, Okla., today was elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention.
The 66-year-old minister was chosen in a runoff with Dr. C. C. Warren of Charlotte, N. C. The election dominated the second day of the convention. The total vote was not announced.
Dr. Storer held a plurality over Dr. Warren and three other candidates on the first ballot.
While voters were counting the nearly 15,000 ballots, the convention elected Dr. Storer as a delegate to the annual meeting of the convention in Kansas City, Mo., June 10-14, 1954.
A special committee was created to study the question of ministerial jurisdiction in such federal benefits and report to the 1954 convention.
Officials of the convention told reporters the resolution was "preliminary" in that Southern Baptists in the past have been among the leaders in opposing federal social security for ministers.

Bill Abolishing Price Fixing Power Of Milk Commission Fails In House

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Senator Boyle of Sanford introduced Senate Bill 928 amending Chapter 321 relating to automobile transportation companies. It was referred to the Transportation and Traffic Committee.
TALLAHASSEE (AP)—An attempt to revoke the price fixing power of the Florida Milk Commission failed in the House today in a vote of 41-28.
The bill was introduced Wednesday by Senator Boyle of Sanford. It would abolish the commission in favor of another commission which would let the board keep its price fixing power but give milk consumers more representation in the agency.
Rep. Williams, Seminole County, sought to override the commission on the calendar despite its adverse report.
Both House and Senate worked mainly on bills of minor interest during the afternoon session in the afternoon to hear addresses by U. S. Sen. Spessard L. Holland and George A. Smathers.
Williams said the milk price bill should be moved out on the House floor where all members could participate.
"I would like to know if we have a dime pack for all a man who should sell articles he produces should be moved out on the House floor where all members could participate."

Peterson Is Being Mentioned As New Hospital Trustee

A. B. (Harold) Peterson, president of the St. Johns Realty Co., was mentioned last week as a possible candidate for the opening which currently exists as a Seminole County hospital trustee.
Governor Dan McCallister is currently considering prospects to fill the position left vacant by the death of Dr. E. S. Seaman of Altamonte Springs.
J. F. McClelland, chairman of the Seminole County Commission brought up Mr. Peterson's name at Tuesday's meeting. He suggested to the other members of the board that they inform Governor McCallister they had no objection to the appointment of the Sanford resident.
However, the other Commissioners held firm in their earlier recommendation of Robert S. Bradford of Altamonte Springs. Two weeks ago when the Commission voted for Mr. Bradford as the replacement, Mr. McClelland, although present, declined to vote on the motion.
Commissioners pointed out Tuesday that although they had no objection to Mr. Peterson, they had taken action and did not, at this time, intend to becloud the issue with another nomination.

De Bary Doings
By KAY HENNINGER

Thanks to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, the Mer-
... friends in Sanford, the first hurdle
... been cleared and the DeBary
Civic Association is now in a position to say that their land will not be lying idle much longer; it will have a building on it by the Fall.
The committee has worked long and hard but it was worth the great effort as they are able to report progress all along the line.
Not only has money been given but the long list of donations of materials and labor are heartening. Here at home, pledges are being met regularly and generously and whenever a call for volunteer workers goes out, the response is greater than the need.
We don't remember the exact words of the poet, but he said something like "It couldn't be done, so they did it". Let us keep up the fine work!

The National organization known as the Home Demonstration Clubs is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary this week. The De-Bary Club is not yet a year old,
the youngest in Volusia County, and meeting wherever kind friends invite them in. They gave an afternoon tea party today from 2 to 4 o'clock at the home of the president Mrs. Ray E. Peck. Each member was asked to invite a friend. Mrs. Herman Lederhaus and Miss Kay Henninger served the tea and Mrs. Cesar Robinson took charge of the guest book.
The green and white decorations were most attractive.

Beginning next Sunday May 10, and until further notice, the De-Bary Baptist Church will hold services at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard White on Granada Road. This group will have its next in on Saturday, May 16, at Daytona Beach. Take food for one or two meals, whichever you prefer. There will be a short business meeting after lunch. Get directions from Dorothea Henninger.

The mothers of the children who attend the Enterprise School have done us proud and shown a proper interest in the school. These women of our community were elected by the P. T. A. for the coming year: Mrs. Herman Lederhaus, President; Mrs. J. A. Jackson, Vice-President and Treasurer and Mrs. Edward Redman, Secretary.
Congratulations, ladies!

Members of the Plantation Estates Womens Club are reminded to make reservations for the May 20 luncheon at Holiday House in Deland with Mrs. Carroll Blackburn before the tent is dismantled.
Delbaryites will be sorry to hear that Mr. and Mrs. William Schroth have sold their home and their fruit and gift shop on Highway
17. They will be leaving this week because of Mr. Schroth's business connections. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Papineau of Miami are the purchasers and plan to carry on along the same line as the Schroths.
This means they will continue to sell fruit at the same price for which it can be obtained at the grocery. Good luck may we say to those who are going and to the newcomers in their business venture.

New Head Of MiamiU Being Inaugurated

CORAL GABLES, Fla.—This was inauguration day for Dr. Jay F. W. Pearson as president of the University of Miami today. There were 38 NAAS men who should be feeling very happy today. The exams were held last February throughout the Navy and the results received here yesterday are similar to the results being received aboard every Naval ship and station.

Out of a total of 108 NAAS men who took the exams, 38 passed and have been recommended for advancement on May 10. Twelve others also passed their exams, however, due to Naval quota limitations, they are not authorized for advancement at this time.

Of the 38 men recommended for advancement, 20 will be taking the step to first class petty officer, 14 will be going from third to second class petty officer, and 18 will be entering the petty officer field for the first time, going from seaman, alman, fireman or steward to third class petty officer.

Congratulations men! The effective date of your new rating will be May 10 and don't forget to tell your friends. Today and tomorrow are also the days to tell your friends about the NAAS men who should be feeling very happy today.

Dr. Pearson is the type of person who knows what the fundamentals are and that he will be a worthy successor to Dr. Ashe.

Dr. Pearson and Dr. Ashe are products of the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Ashe founded the Florida School and was its only president until his death. Dr. Pearson was among the first instructors and has been Acting President since Dr. Ashe died.

Delegates from 318 colleges, universities and foundations throughout the country came here for the ceremonies.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD — Susan Hayward has returned from a business and pleasure tour of Europe and is ready to play her heart's desire—a wicked woman.

The Brooklyn actress, whose temperament matches her flame-haired hair, is the only actress in the picture to do something of a record. It appears to be the first time that a picture and its sequel were both successful in the marketplace, "The Robe." Just wound up shooting, and the studio will save thousands by again using the sets and costumes.

Miss Hayward plays the sultry wife of Roman Emperor Claudius in the film. The empress's pastimes include murder and adultery. She has been willing to play a wicked woman for a long time, she enthused. "I'm fed up with playing so many good girls. They're not much fun."

The actress toured France, Spain and Italy for two months with her husband, Jess Barker. The trip had a two-fold purpose, she remarked.

"In the first place, I had never been to Europe," she said. "So it was a wonderful experience. It was also a business trip. I made appearances and did interviews wherever we went. The foreign market is very important to the picture business, you know."

She offered a kaleidoscopic view of European trip. Among her impressions:

The Italians, both male and female, were the best-dressed among the nationalities she saw. "I saw a lot of beautiful men," she added. "They're not for us," she said. "They're designed to go 100 miles an hour, and you can see you go that fast here."

The Barkers toured in their Jaguar, accompanied by a driver, linguist. They found the accommodations excellent, except when they stayed in the smaller towns of France. The actress was much impressed with the hospitality of the Europeans. "How did she like the bullfights?"

"Wonderful!" she replied. "I have no feeling for the bull. He is a mean, vicious animal who won't just as soon kill you as a dog."

The Europeans are very friendly to Americans, and he to film stars. The only descendant noted was a "Go home" sign in the "Go home" signs in France—but they're not the opinions of a small minority."

Blues In The News

The long-awaited results of the service-wide examinations for advancement in rating were received aboard NAAS yesterday and there were 38 NAAS men who should be feeling very happy today.

The Altamonte Springs home of B. D. McIntosh, one of the landmarks of that area, where President Ulysses S. Grant was a frequent visitor. At one time the home was occupied by the son of President Grant, who often enjoyed visits in the community.

HISTORICAL RESIDENT

McIntosh Home In Altamonte Was Often Visited By General Grant

President Ulysses S. Grant was a frequent visitor at the present B. D. McIntosh home in Altamonte Springs, which today is one of the landmarks of that area.

A luxuriant cupola structure of the Victorian era, the house was built in 1887 for Hon. N. J. Bradley of Boston. At one time it was occupied by the son of President Grant, who often enjoyed visits in the community.

The house has a fascinating history and is a perfect treasure trove of antiques. A twin of the house was built at the same time for H. H. Westinghouse and occupied the opposite corner. That house burned some years ago.

It was through the efforts of the late Mrs. McIntosh, who died May 24, 1932, that the house was restored to its present beauty. The McIntosh purchased the property in 1947, and Mrs. McIntosh immediately put forth every effort to make it exactly the way she wanted it.

For several years previous, she had a lively ambition to purchase the property. However, less than two years after its acquisition, she died. Her husband, who is now 68, still resides in the 16-room, eight-fireplace mansion.

Some of the original gas lights have been restored and electrified and are now in use. Porches were screened for summer comfort by the residents.

The place is filled with antiques of both the McIntosh and Maxwell families. The McIntoshes of Philadelphia and the Maxwells of New York and New Jersey are mentioned in the history of the property, and they at one time lived where the M. D. Overstreet home now stands.

Broad expanses of lawn and many shade trees add to the attractiveness of the grounds encircling the three floor structure.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK — Bosses, like other items of office equipment, wear out and have to be replaced. When this happens, there is always an air of tension and nervousness about the office. Who is the new boss? What'll he be like? Rumors fly around thicker than grasshoppers in August.

If you hear they dropped him on his head when he was a baby, and he wears a silver plate in his forehead.

"They say that at the last place he worked he cut the staff in half—and salaries, too."

"I hear he's the big boss's cousin. There is a family resemblance. Not too close together his eyes are."

"Is it really true he eats his own young?"

By the time the new boss actually shows up on the job, the office staff is firmly divided by hope and hysteria. Half of them have a chip on their shoulder and are determined to put him in his place. Half have secretly decided to butter him up.

Well, which course is right? How do you break in a new boss? The answer is neither course. Having a new boss is highly satisfying to the ego—but ruinous to your goal of more take-home pay. Fawning on him, on the other hand, will only cause him to question your intelligence.

The proper way to break in a new boss is to surround him with an atmosphere of cordial impartiality and let him know he is on his own mettle. Here are a few tips:

1. Never tell him, "The old boss wouldn't do it that way." If the former boss's name ever comes up at all, just shake your head in wonder as if to say, "How did our organization even manage to survive under that mutthead?"

2. Don't volunteer to do more work. Throw as much of your own work as you can on his shoulders. Then, as you gradually start doing it, you'll find your feet under you again. He'll find his own load lighter, and feel grateful that you kept him in case, but not too sure of himself if he tells you a joke. Laugh, but laugh moderately and thoughtfully, so he will know that if he had told a little better, you'd have laughed heartily.

3. When he does a really good job, or finds a way to cut down expenses by making the paper clips last longer, don't hesitate to reward him with a little credit. Bosses are human. They want to be appreciated. But keep your praise easy and to the point. A pat on the back, a "Good show, Chief!"—that is enough. All ways leave him yearning for more.

4. Never point out the boss's blunders to him. You must share your knowledge of his ignorance. Tell it to your wife. Let the other fellows in the office make the mistake of telling the boss about his blunders. They'll find a boss doesn't mind making a fool of himself so much as he does having wit-nesses.

5. After an interval of time, you let the boss know tactfully that your relationship, while friendly, isn't necessarily permanent. He'll get the idea—and give you the raise in pay you want.

6. And why not? Instead of making him feel inferior, you have given him a sensation of victory and accomplishment. You are doing work he secretly feels he ought to be doing himself, and your measured laughter is a bright moment in his day. You keep him from being too, and make him feel he's a good boss. That's the way bosses like to feel.

7. One final tip: If you learn the new boss is a 24-karat dumb-

Legislature

Gov. McCarry in his opening message to the Legislature, had given the bill careful consideration before rejection and has a "compromise" measure ready for reconsideration in the House.

"We have a good committee," said R. P. Moran, Dir. of Compt. "We should let them work out the problems."

The 17-man project would cost 200 million dollars over a 10-year period. It is intended to protect South and Central Florida farm lands from damaging floods.

TALLAHASSEE — The state motor vehicle commissioner would be given authority to revoke the license of any used car dealer who violates the auto registration laws or perpetrates a fraud on any person in his used car deals under a bill introduced in the Senate today.

The bill was offered by the Senate's Committee on Motor Vehicles.

The proposal also would start the sale of auto tags on Jan. 1 next and of Jan. 3 as present. The deadline for purchasing new tags would remain Feb. 20 with the governor given authority to extend it another 30 days if he deemed it necessary.

TALLAHASSEE — An election law revision bill which would cut out the presidential preference primary and tighten absentee balloting is before the Legislature.

It also would repeal a 10-year old prohibition against holding a bond referendum simultaneously with any other election. Conducting the two elections together would make it easier to get out the 10 percent of voters who must participate to make a bond election valid.

The revision bill came from a group headed by Sen. Peyton Davis, who has been studying the election laws with an eye to eliminating confusion, inconsistencies and omissions which arose from the first experience with the 1951 statute.

It would leave out of the law entirely the obscure provision which the State Democratic Executive Committee invoked to get

THE SANFORD HERALD

San Richard B. Russell of Georgia got more votes than Sen. Estes A. Love in Tennessee in the poll which wasn't binding on any of the state's legislators to the Democratic National Convention for the presidential nomination.

It would be harder to get an absentee ballot under the proposed law. You would have to apply personally or over your own signature for an application blank and have the ballot application notarized.

Upon receipt of the ballot, you would have to show a notary or one of several other authorized witnesses that it was blank, torn away and vote it in the notary's presence and it have the postmark approved by the postman.

Hoopla Attends Duel But No One Is Hurt

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — It was the latest thing in duels: legal real guns and bullets, big shot confusers and an audience even press and radio coverage.

And nobody got hurt. All four shots missed.

Today no one seemed to know if the duelists, Senate President Alfeo Brum and politician news-paperman Ulises Pereira, would carry their current tilt further.

The 35-year-old law legalizing dueling doesn't mention misses.

Brum and Pereira have been bickering about Uruguayan politics for quite a while. Recently the pair exchanged blows at an air field. A tribunal of honor subsequently ruled there was cause for a duel.

Weapons, seconds and medics were set out. With them, Brum and Pereira met yesterday at an army airfield 30 miles from here.

Newspaper and radio correspondents also came along, but set up 100 yards from the line of fire. A portable transmitter, the radio men gave Uruguayans a shot by shot description.

Each man fired two shots. No hits.

Everyone went home.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE
They wanted a political man on horseback, not an idealist to save them from sin. They cried out, Away with him, away with him.
Cruelly him—John 19:15.

It is good to see the name of Doyle Carlton Jr. cropping up in the news from Tallahassee these days. He is evidently a chip off the old block who was elected governor in 1928.

Meriwether Lewis, former advertising manager of the Sanford Herald, has been elected president of the Printing Industries Inc. of Florida. Since leaving Sanford some years ago Lewis has gone far to Jacksonville, he purchased his own job shop, developed it and expanded it until today it is better than a million dollar corporation doing some of the best printing jobs in the state in one of the best equipped plants.

James Gamble Rogers, Winter Park architect, has designed a civic center for our neighboring city which includes headquarters for the chamber of commerce, a meeting place for civic clubs, a youth center, and an infinite variety of recreational activities. The project is sponsored by the Rotary Club and is supported by the Kiwanis, Lions, Key, American Legion, Woman's Club and the Chamber of Commerce. It is estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $150,000. It would be a great thing for the town if Sanford would undertake such a project.

The Senate has passed the Tidi-lands Oil Bill which means that the Supreme Court has been overruled, that states rights have been reasserted, and that the individual states have more right to the oil under their tidal shores than the government of the United States.
It is a funny thing, though, that in this latest fight over states rights, 35 Republicans and only 21 Democrats voted for the bill while only nine Republicans and 25 Democrats voted against it. We have come a long way since the War Between the States.

Senator Boyle is sponsoring a bill in the Legislature which would require all automobiles to be equipped with shatter-proof safety glass. Most new automobiles come equipped with safety glass now, but there are many older cars on the highways these days which are not,
and which are extremely dangerous on that account to occupants and others alike. No doubt some auto owners will squeak to high heaven over being compelled to buy new glass for their cars. They would rather take a chance on having their necks cut. But for the sake of those who may have to ride with them, this is a wise bill.

It was nice to see our old friend
Frank Shames in town Tuesday checking up on things and renewing old acquaintances. Frank hasn't changed much since the old days when we used to argue about the New Deal and the liberal concept of political philosophy and he still has many interests outside of running Florida Fashions in Orlando which he does from his office in New York City and his home on Long Island. And Florida Fashions is doing all right, thank you, solving its production problems and making money. So, congratulations, Frank, on being another beast town boy who made good in the big city.

There will be no more speeding on Colony Avenue if the State Highway Board has its way about it. Signs are soon to be erected restricting speed to this narrow road just outside the city limits to 40 miles an hour in an attempt to reduce the number of accidents. A lowered speed limit will be a big help if the law is enforced, but another good thing would be to get along with the state and get the highway board out of the middle of the road.

Slip In South America

Sam Brewer Pope, New York correspondent recently returned from South America, is convinced that there is a need for better relations between the United States and South America. He pointed out that the United States is regarded with distrust and suspicion in many countries of South America, even in some where the governments are friendly toward the United States.

The Good Neighbor Policy helped to promote cordial relations between the nations of North and South America. But in recent years other parts of the world have claimed the attention of the United States and relations with Latin America have suffered.

In Argentina, Juan Peron keeps up a constant campaign against the United States and he has supporters in other countries. The Communists have been active in exploiting nationalism and in fostering anti-Americanism.

President Eisenhower recently appointed his capable brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, to head a fact-finding and goodwill mission to Latin America. When Dr. Eisenhower's trip is over the administration will have a clearer idea of what the problem really is and what can be done to better the situation. Good relations with South America, like anything worth having, require effort.

Old Age Postponed

At what age can a person be called old? Sixty-five-year-old Thomas C. Deamond, a member of the New York state senate, said recently:

"The tendency of society to tag everyone 65 and over as old is nonscientific, nonrealistic and socially harmful mischief which is doing much to handicap our senior citizens in living their lives out fully and as they wish."

In recent years men and women have been proving that there is no arbitrary age-line which separates the young from the old. Some men are more capable, ambitious and energetic at 70 than other men are at 60. Former Vice-President Alben Barkley displays few signs of his 74 years. President Eisenhower will be 67 before his term expires.

People live longer today and it is natural that they should engage in useful pursuits for a longer portion of their lives. It is wise to think twice before labeling anyone as "old."

A Step Back

In 1951 Wisconsin voters, by a margin of 763,000 to 889,000, voted to elect both branches of the state legislature in accordance with population. This was considered a forward step but in this year's spring election the citizens decided to take a step backwards.

By 18,000 votes it was decided that legislators would be chosen on a basis of area as well as population. Spokenmen for the victors announce that they will probably give a 50 per cent allowance for area and 50 per cent for population. In other words a forest county, thinly populated, will have an unduly large representation in the state senate and a densely populated area such as Milwaukee will have an unduly small representation.

Can this be changed as the 1951 decision was? It does not seem likely for the proponents of representation by area are now firmly entrenched and can veto any proposed amendment to the state constitution.

The problem is not confined to Wisconsin. The attainment of a just system of representation is one of the serious problems of any democratic government.

Psychiatrists Told Of Pretty Girl Who Has 3 Different Personalities

DIVERSIFIED BRUNETTE

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

LOS ANGELES—A demure, pretty brunette who turned into a dare-devilish, irresponsible creature in front of her doctor and later into a bright, respectable, conscientious girl, was described today to the nation's psychiatrists.

This girl now has three different personalities, changeable at will. She is married and has a small child, but she denies her husband and child whenever she turns into anything except the shy young housewife who first sought medical attention two years ago for terrific headaches.

The unusual case was reported Association in a medical report as well as in color movies by Dr. Corbett H. Thigpen and Dr. Harvey M. Cleckley of Augusta, Ga.

The case is not unique. About 100 such instances of multiple personalities in single individuals have been reported. But Dr. Thigpen's presentation was medically interesting because of the provocative personal relationships involved.

The young woman identified only as Eve White, an alias, changed suddenly about a year ago. She said she had been hearing voices. She asked if she might be going insane. A queer look spread over her face and in a couple of seconds she changed into a coquettish character, who winked and said, "Hi, doc."

Dr. Thigpen named the personality involved in this change Eve Black. Eve Black goes to parties, drinks too much sometimes, and occasionally turns back into Eve White and says she is horrified at finding herself in the middle of drunk-on-gaiety.

Eight months after Eve Black's dramatic appearance, the girl blossomed out with a third personality, Dr. Thigpen said, which was something more than a blend of the other two.

Eve Black went out with men, usually got a job as a night club entertainer, bought and charged expensive clothes. The third personality called Jane took the clothes back to the stores. Later Eve Black bought more clothes and had them altered so Jane couldn't take them back.

Eve Black and Jane don't remember the things they do or think or say as their own. Eve Black admits having been married, but not to Eve White's husband. Jane says she never was married.

The patient let her husband know she realized that there was something wrong and said she was going to stay away until she was well.

Jane is aware of the two Eves but doesn't have all their knowledge and her memories. Dr. Thigpen said Eve White knows the other two, but she has a feeling that she is not one of them.

There is a case of mental abnormality in the name of Miss Janet, who never was married. She had a personality which was the same as Jane's. It was destroyed by Dr. Thigpen in 1947.

THE WORLD TODAY

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower is striving today to translate into world peace the victory he won in Europe eight years ago. The man in the White House says that is his basic hope.

He won a military victory in Europe. But he found a military victory was not enough. It rarely has been in this old world.

It was on this date in 1945 that Eisenhower, then supreme commander of the Allied forces in Europe, accepted Germany's unconditional surrender.

He said in a victory order of the day: "The crusade in which we embarked in the early summer of 1944 has reached its glorious conclusion. Full victory in Europe has been attained."

And so it seemed. Millions laughed and wept and celebrated around the world with prayers of thanksgiving. Troops who had come to know war as a way of life looked eagerly toward home, once they could comprehend the fighting actually was ended. Now that it's here, I don't know what I feel."

Oddly enough, while there were victory celebrations in Paris and London and New York and San Francisco in the hundreds of towns and cities around the world, there was a strange quiet among the fighting men.

Remember in Germany on VE-day the men of arms—did not almost stolidly. It was as though they just couldn't realize the fighting was over.

One soldier said: "I've dreamed about this so long. Now that it's here, I don't know what I feel."

But within a short time it became apparent the victory in Europe was not of arms—but not of peace. Communism boldly rode to power in Eastern Europe on the force of arms and it spread fear and distrust among men as the Nazis had done.

Eisenhower, perhaps more than any other man, has a right to be bitter over Soviet corruption of the victors in Europe that would have symbolized world peace. It is little wonder he has warned this nation the Russians must show their desire for peace by deeds rather than words.

Eisenhower made it clear he no longer relies on the words spoken by the Russians. He made it clear he will judge them—and that the free world should judge them—solely on their acts.

In their words, the Communists have raised the horse of war in a world long weary of conflict and strife and destruction.

But in their deeds? The Reds' truce talks, a Communist army invades the peaceful little kingdom of Thailand. There is fear that while the Red's talk of peace, they move behind their words to conquer Southeast Asia, and move nearer to acceptance of a full program of inspection for disarmament.

Now well Eisenhower will succeed in moving toward the goal of peace for free can predict accurately. That depends largely on how

Citrus Commission Plans To Increase Its Selling Effort

LAKELAND—The Florida Citrus Commission is planning to step up its dealer service program as one way to increase use of citrus.

The Commission voted Wednesday to add 11 dealer service representatives to the present staff of 44 and to employ a merchandising manager to direct their work. Ralph Henry, advertising director, has been supervising them in addition to his other duties.

These men visit dealers to advise and help with citrus sales, arrange store displays and plan promotional drives.

Another move to boost citrus use was approval of a special program for the week of May 25 to get more citrus in school lunches.

There has been criticism recently of the way the Commission has been using the funds available for promotion of citrus use.

O. C. Winston, Ft. Pierce, chairman of the Advertising Committee, said at Wednesday's meeting that the Commission has been slow to new means of increasing citrus sales. He also defended the work of the Commission's advertising agency, the J. Walter Thompson Co. of New York.

In other actions the Commission: 1. Decided to stay neutral on the issue of allowing Florida processors to put out a 5-1 concentrate for dispenser use only. State law now allows only a 3-1 concentrate but there is a bill before the Legislature to allow a 5-1 product.

2. Appointed Frank Chase, Winterberry, chairman of a committee to study the need for using bipharyl in citrus containers to cut down decay. The Pure Food and Drug Administration has reported this substance may be dangerous to health.

3. Accepted the resignation of its attorney, W. J. Steed, Orlando, effective May 31.

The terms of six of the 12 Commission members also expire that date. Their regular meeting June 3 will be a reorganization session of the six holdovers with the six new men to be named by Gov. McCarthy.

much the men in the Kremlin want peace. And only time will give the answer.

Sanford Forum

Dear Mr. Editor:
For some months you have carried interesting articles, of both the syndicated and the news type, dealing with retarded persons. Here and in Jacksonville and elsewhere about the state, it appears, a growing concern for the mental progress of this category of people is presently being manifested.

As a coach (in mathematics and English) of both the "slow pupil" and his opposite number, the "accelerated student," including not only youths who are candidates for the military service but also boys and girls as well, I have come more and more to wonder how we in our public schools are going to cope with the problems presented by both classes of children and grown-ups.

It is granted, of course, that "slow" is a relative term and may involve retarded thinking capacity that can be stimulated by means of usual classroom teaching methods. In other cases, it has been pointed out, mental health needs building up before ordinary educational processes prove fruitful. In some instances, authorities agree, mere elimination of conditions not conducive to study and substitution of favorable conditions for learning are helpful to varying degrees. And, too, the sense of being regarded as a somebody in his own name does make a child who yearns to be useful feel that he can match footsteps with his classmates and look with level gaze and confidence upon the whole field of kids as a group.

Query is respectfully made, through a column, and information from those who know is courteously invited, relative to facilities afforded in this vicinity for mentally retarded people of usual school and college age.

It would be logical to assume that teachers' groups and parent-teacher associations have already previewed the problem locally, but specific data, if they are available, are what are desired by the writer.

Sincerely yours,
Ferry M. Teep,
Civil Engineer,
539 Valencia Drive
