Army Adquirer Theurands Of Puerto Rican Soldiers

Golf Course for Marines But No Lights for Tents

Special to Central Press WASHINGTON-With a stroke of the pen the Army has added thousands of well-trained soldiers to its fighting forces, without maying to go to the country's draft boards.

Under a new order, all English-speaking Puerto Rican soldiers are new available for assignment to units wherever the United States Army is stationed.

Puerto Ricans formerly were limited to service on their own island and the Panama Canal Zone except during actual wartime. Col. Morton F. Townes, commanding United States Army forces in Puerto Rico, attributes the change in policy to the "outstanding combat record" of the island troops and the "excellent impression" they made during recent maneuvers.

The Army has defined as English-speaking any soldier who can "express thoughts verbally on commonplace topics with reasonable coherency, or who can interpret or carry on a normal conversation in the English language."

Probers noted that the camp had a golf course and a riding stable, where service men and their dependents have free use of 40 horses.

However, it also found that some Marines had to use the latrines if they wanted to read at night.

Senators reported that these men lived in tents that had no lighting chities. They said the men used the latrines for reading because the lights stayed on there for several hours after dark.

The committee found no fault with needed recreational facilities but senators slightly questioned the quantity of amusement centers at Camp Lejeune, N. C., where there are 13 baseball fields, 18 baseball sourts, two 18-hole golf courses, 10 football gridirons and various ether sports playgrounds.

New York Lawyer Hunting Way To Make Government Understandable

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK,--(A)-Some people complain they don't know what the government is up to.

This could be because of two reasons:

I. Governments themselves—local, state and national—don't know what they actually are doing.

2. If they do know, they have lost the art of letting the people know what they are doing.

Enso Gaspari believes the latter is the case. He is a young and energetic New York state senator from the Bronx who has embarked an perhaps the most hopeless quest of our day.

His goal: to discover a way to make governmental acts and proposals intelligible to the voters.

"People want to know more in the people affected before legis—lators even submit bills." 1. Governments themselves local, state and national don't proposals intelligible to the voters.

"People want to know more about their government—what it is doing and what it plans to do," he said, "They have never been more eager for information. But they have to be told in a language they can understand."

Gaspari has been searching for a common language that people in government and those who are governed can understand. He figures the best bet is old-fashiesed plain English.

But the trouble with that is that only the voters remember it can more. Legislators write their than in a cloudy legal terminology that even the high courts find interactive officials are lost than a misty verbal curtain of subbledegook. To an outsider, an meshange of letters between them is an mysterious as the scratching of two turkeys in barnyard.

There is another possible solution, but it is too idealistic to be practical. All government of ficials should be periodically fortically in the art of writing the common man's language—aimple English.

The trouble with that is the trouble with that is too many politicians might find it depressing to be understood by the ordinary voter.

Odham's Candidacy

Our fellow townsman, J. Brailey Odham, is receiving some valuable publicity in the press of the state, and is being highly commended for his vigorous and forthright utterances wherever he goes. This sort of campaigning, somewhat new to Florida, is nevertheless of the kind to make friends and influence people. Editorial comment throughout the state shows that, while few newspapers have yet committed themselves to any candidate. they are not disposed to look unkindly on Odham's candi-

"J. Brailey Odham, the Seminole County legislator, has made his expected announcement for governor with a platform declaration in keeping with his record as an outspoken foe of corruption", says the politically powerful Tampa Tribunc. "In view of recent revelations of organized crime and official corruption in Florida . . . honest law enforcement is certain to be the big issue in the 1952 campaign. Every candidate's fulmination against sin must be measured against his own record on the issue. Some records may be found wanting. In Mr. Odham's case, however, his turns. promises to work for cleaner government are backed by performance"

Commenting that people you've been reading about in the papers are often quite different in the flesh from what you imagine, the Lakeland Ledger says, "Candidate Odham s exactly the personality we had him figured out to be-a great big, clear-cut open-faced, clean-minded, folksy young fellow with lots of courage. It may be that he has too much courage for his own good, though not one whit too much for the good of the State of Florida"

John Kilgore in the Miami Herald writes, "An aggressive announcement from former Rep. Brailey Odham of Sanford, promises that the other candidates will not be permitted much rest or relaxation between now and the counting of the ballots. Odham will keep their skins loosened up and their muscles flexible. II promised that when he cut himself off from any help from the powerful dog track lobby and its allies" From the Ocala Star-Banner comes this editorial comment: "It might well be said that J. Brailey Odham, former Seminole County representative in the 1947 legislature, has set the pattern for other candidates to follow, in greater or lesser degree, in taking a forthright stand against commercialized gambling in making his announcement as a candidate for governor. Odham has an excellent record of performance behind him as an attest that, if elected governor of the state, he would wage a relentless fight to drive the gamblers out"

The Pensacola Journal says, "Odham is no candidate to be disregarded. (His fight against the anti-bookie bill) was proof of Odham's strong moral character and of his stalwart opposition to any conniving with the gambling element of the state". And the Suwannee Democrat points out "The most important issue in the coming campaign will be gambling and its allied evils in Florida. No candidate will be allowed to dodge the issue as long as Odham is in the race".

These and many similar editorials from newspapers all over the state show that Odham is no flash in the pan, that ations. he is in there to stay, and that he has a strong and growing

One group of community leaders whose work often poes without much notice is the clergy. Ministers, priests and that is seldom likely to attract attention. Occasionally some of them feel compelled to speak out against particular situations in a community, and then their efforts are noticed for a while. But in the simple performance of their daily tasks of guiding those of their faith they do an important job for the community.

Regardless of denomination, they do not lead an easy life. The are subject to criticism both from those who call them too worldly and from those who say that their concern with spiritual things blinds them to practical considerations. Few clergymen ever become wealthy in a material sense, yet most of them could have commanded much higher salaries had they taken up other professions. These we might soon get the idea that men bring dignity and devotion to their task and a love of this country is being run by a God which allows them to meet discouragement with a gang of convicts. We couldn't help smile, disbelief with a soft answer and the countless problems which they must accept as their own with faith and

The members of the clergy are mortal and it may be said that they sometimes make mistakes. They would be the last to deny it. But they make important contributions to the communities in which they live. There will always be man of faith, vision and dedication to God to lead our churches.

Hazard Of Public Life

The wives of two unsuccessful candidates for public office in a New York town found that loss was not without gain, and went so far as to take a newspaper ad to thank the voters who supported their husbands' opponents. If their husbands had been elected, the wives pointed out, their official duties would have made it necessary for them to spend more time away from home. Anyone with experience in public life will agree that this supposition was ac-

The wives of public figures have learned to accept the fact that holding office interferes with home life. The many chores connected with office, constant problems and an utter lack of privacy are among the occupational hazards of public service. Sincere men who go into politics to serve the public must make sacrifices, and so must their families. The reward of both is the knowledge that they make democracy work.

Canada Plans To Build Seaway On St. Lawrence River

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(A?)— Transport Minister Liquel Chev-rier gave the House of Commons tice today that on Monday he will propose the establishment of build the St. Lawrence Seaway.

the speech from the throne at the opening of the session, will be alled "the St. Lawrence Seaway uthority."
It will have power to build and operate the waterway between Montreal and Lake Erie, to set up to $300,000,000. Latest cost estimates on the sonway are that the federal goverhment would have to spend be tween $250,000,000 and $300,000, 000 on the navigation phase of the project if the United States govrnment does not participate in a joint scheme. The U. B. government's entry into the plan has been stalled for many years by Congress. The Canadian government has decided to go shead alone if the U. S. cannot Join. Recently President Truman told the Canadian government he would give his sanction to an all-Canadian waterway if Congress sloes not act soon The proposed seaway authority will not participate in hulfding the power development of the seaway, estimated to cost around $400,000,000.

This would be undertaken by the province of Ontario and the appropriate United States authand the 2.200.000 harsepower of electricity from the international rapida section of the river.

Celery Feds Pitted Against Sandcrabs In Homecoming

Important Conference Game To Be Played Tonight In Rain Or Shine

By DEREK DUNN-RANKIN Rain or starlight Sanford's slery Fed football team clashes tonight with the Sandcrabs from Seabreeze High School in a homecoming tilt that may be the most important of the season. Rickoff time is 8:00 on the Seminole High School field. The two squads rank next to ference standings. Seabreeze holds a single victory over DeLand and a loss to St. Augustine and Palatka, Sanford boasts a two and two record with losses to St. Augustine and Deland and wins over Palatka and New Smyrna. A victory will give the Feds a respectable three out of five wins in conference play. A loss will leave them on the losing side of the victory balance sheet.

The game shapes up as an evenly matched contest in which other team could carry home the

"If we play our top ball game we can win the game," said Linecoach Fred Ganas. Linecoach Fred Ganas.

Big gun in the Sandcrab's attack is Dick Lenholt, a six-footfive end who weighs in at 310

In the only change contemplated in the Sanford line for tonight's battle speedy guard Bob Graham will gain the starting defense assignment in a move to upset Crab plays before they get underway.

Junior Metts who played an outstanding game against New Smyrna last week is scheduled to start in the backfield in place of Frank Stenstrom. Stenstrom, the regular tailback, is still suffering from a bruised hip that kept him out of last week's contest, but the zippy back is expected to see some action.

Ed Gordon stalwart signal calling fullback is hampered by a twisted ankle received in the Fouth Broward game two weeks ago but will start in tonight's fray, Gordon has been the outstanding ground gainer through the center of the Seminole line. Stockly J. B. Howell who until three weeks ago was playing B squad ball is likely to get the nod at the brocking back spot with Ed Lockott rounding out the backfield quartette.

Miami Squad To Be At Full Strength For Hot Rivalry

MIAMI, Nov. 16-(A)-Flor ida's Gators arrive by Lane to-day for the state's most important football game of the season—the Saturday night clash with Mi-ami's Hurricanes in the Orange Bowl.

A sellout crowd of 62,000— largest ever to witness a regular season game in Florida will see the state's hottest football rivalry between its two higgest univer-

Miami was a one-touchdown to the fray with Chester favorite to win its third straight over the Gators from upstate. The Hurricanes won at home in 1949 by 28-13 and whipped the Gators Gainesville last year, 20-14. Even the coaches were "up for" this one. Rain cut short the 'Gators' last home workout yesterday and Coach Bob Woodruff said:

"This always has to happen in the middle of your biggest prac-tice day. This was the one when the Seminole forward wall posts we had to get the plays down fine; now look at it rain."

Sellout Crowd To Gil McDougald And See Gators Clash Willie Mays Named Rookies Of Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(A)— Handy Gil McDougald of the world champion New York Yankees and Willie Mays of the New York Glants share rookic-ofthe-year honors for 1951. Selection of McDougald and Mays was made by the same 24-man committees of the baseball

Negro outhit McDougald, .326 to .306 and led the league with 14 triples and 31 stolen bases. The Yankee freshman hit more homers 14 to 10.

Apparently the fact that McDougaid was the only 300 hitter on the permant-winning Yanks and a real steady performer all season was more convincing to the writers than Minoso's aver-

The National Lengue vote was a landslide for Mays with 18 of the 24 ballots. Chet Nichols, Boston Braves lefthanded pitcher, had four and Clem Labine, Brook-lyn Dodgers righthander, had just warm ups for the main event. "We're not quite read" yet, but believe we will be after Friday's
