Youth Arrested In Bomb Threat

One of four juveniles has been arrested and a search is under way for three others all involved in making a telephoned bomb threat today to Seminole High School.

Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler said today that Detective William Lykens, acting on investigative information, had arrested one of the four youths, in the 14 and 15-year age group, but the other three ran when they spotted the detective.

The four, all students at Seminole High School, had been making telephoned bomb threats to the high school today and the threats were reported to police.

Additional 'phoned threats also have been made to Lakeview Junior High in the past two days, according to police records, and also are being investigated.

The state law does not permit the release of names of juveniles arrested under 17 years of age.

In another report, Lykens arrested four other juveniles at Crooms High School after the quartet allegedly broke into the facility. They have been released to county juvenile authorities.

In a final report, a Sanford mother informed police of an attempted molestation of her 16-year-old daughter yesterday by a man driving a dark-colored car.

The girl was approached at the intersection of First Street and Palmetto Avenue yesterday afternoon but the girl ran and phoned her mother, who called police.

U. S. Delivers Ultimatum School Chief Pictures Chaos

By BILL SCOTT

"I don't think the School Board has any choice now. If we don't file an acceptable plan by September we will have chaos when the schools open for the 1970-71 term."

These were the words of John Evans, chairman of the Seminole County School Board, this morning when asked to comment on yesterday's meeting at Jacksonville between county school officials and Frank Dumbaugh, assistant attorney general for civil rights with the U.S. Justice Department.

Evans, accompanied by Supt. John Angel and Andrew Brackes, administrative aide, attended the two-hour session with Dumbaugh and Robert Smith, assistant to the director of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) for civil rights, and representatives of Seminole County in the school desegregation discussions with 20 Florida counties, all involved in HEW legal disputes over their freedom of choice school plans.

Evans said Dumbaugh emphasized, "This time is now and you will integrate. If you don't have an acceptable plan by September, we'll submit a plan and you'll be treated like Manatee County."

Evans reported the official indicated the federal government would close Seminole's schools by Sept. 1, unless an acceptable plan has been submitted to the HEW.

The chairman said he told Dumbaugh, "We have, in the opinion of our school attorney, a completely desegregated school system now."

Dumbaugh disagreed with Evans and pointed out that attendance zones had to be drawn around schools and the 7 rings of one predominantly black school with a predominantly white school should be used to achieve a racial balance.

Concert Bookings Planned

As a "thank you" to the community for having a record breaking year, The Mutual Concert Association has booked the top ranking Air Force Reserve Band from Warner Robins Air Force Base in Georgia to appear at the Civic Center at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 12.

This concert will be open free to the public.

A meeting of the board of directors has been called for this Tuesday evening to select major bookings for next year's series which will be announced at the final concert a week later. The association broke all existing membership marks in its over 20 year history this season, but looks for an even greater season next year, according to its president, Mrs. Barton Bartholomew. The credit for this success, she noted goes to our membership chairman, Mrs. G. L. G. G.

Mrs. Fred Ganas.

At the Tuesday board meeting the group will also adopt by-laws to complete a re-organization plan that has been underway this season. In a precedent setting move the board elected a Seminole Junior College student and a high school student as full voting members of its board; and has also added representatives from other cultural groups in an effort to coordinate efforts to foster a better cultural atmosphere in the community.

Rental Trailer Park On Agenda

By MARIAN BETHA

NORTH ORLANDO - The discussion of a proposed zoning change to allow a rental trailer park which was sent to the Planning and Zoning Board for its recommendations probably will be on the agenda for the meeting of Village Council Monday night.

Planning and zoning has recommended that the zoning ordinance be changed to allow construction of the rental trailer park, which will be located between Hays and Moss Roads bordering SR 436. The entire tract encompasses 87 acres, and is presently zoned for privately owned trailers.

The board has also recommended a zoning change of 250 feet of the tract frontage for commercial use.

The matter had been presented to Planning and Zoning at an earlier date but a decision was delayed pending receipt of more information. The northern section of the property was recommended zoned as commercial and the balance as rental trailer sites. The property contains 300 lots 50 by 80 feet.

The park area will feature a bowling alley, a convenience store, laundromat, club house and swimming pool. Since George Creek runs through the park area, the developer plans to incorporate nature trails and bicycle paths.

The present plans provide that one acre shall be designed for retirees and one for families. There will be two entrances to the park and the development will feature underground drainage, sewer and water service and paved streets.

Lots will not be for sale but are on a rental basis.

Residents of the trailer park will be assured of privacy, since there will be a 25-foot planted buffer zone around the perimeter of the property. The park also will have its own fire protection.

At Deltona Shopping Plaza Loyalty Day Rites Tonight

By MILDRED HANEY

Loyalty Day ceremonies will be conducted by the three service organizations in Deltona, VFW, American Legion and DAV, at 6 p.m. today at the Deltona Shopping Plaza on the grounds of the bank. Rev. H. Wight Kirtley of Deltona, United Methodist Church will be speaker for the program.

Music will be by the Deltona Junior High Band.

Plans for the Loyalty Day ceremonies as well as preliminary plans for Memorial Day Services were discussed during a meeting of American Legion Post 255 conducted by Commander Pat Watson at the Community Center.

Don Lavery, Chairman of the newly formed Veterans Council composed of representatives from the three organizations, announced that tentative plans were made at the April meeting of the Council for Memorial Day Services to be held on May 30 at 10 a.m. at Campbell Park. Pat McDonald, Deltona Post 255 Boy's State representative for this year, and also winner of a local Legion oratorical contest will present the reading "In Flanders Field" while Nancy Daniel, Girl's State representative for the Legion Auxiliary will give "America's Answer."

Rev. George Owen of the United Church of Deltona will give the invocation but the speaker has not yet been announced. Gold Star Mothers of Deltona will again be honored guests with transportation furnished for them. It was also announced that Deltona VFW Post will conduct VFW Memorial Services at the grave of one of its members at Deltona Memorial Gardens at 9 a.m. and requested anyone who could attend.

Church Of Today Is Under Attack

By LOUIS CASSELL
UPI Religion Writer

There was a time, not so long ago, when the church was in almost universal favor. Even those who didn't attend felt constrained to put in a good word for it.

Today, the situation is reversed. The "institutional church," as it usually is designated by its detractors, is under attack from all sides. Even those who continue to serve and support it feel called upon to apologize for it.

This reversal of fortunes can be attributed in part to the propensity of Americans for being governed by fads. In what they think as well as in what they wear, eat and read, it is fashionable currently to scorn institutions, particularly institutions such as the church and the university which previously enjoyed great prestige.

But to acknowledge that the church has many shortcomings is not the same as saying that it is an evil or expendable institution, as some of its harsher critics seem to be suggesting these days.

The most savage attacks on the church seem to come from people who profess to stand within the Christian tradition and to judge the church by Christian standards.

To such persons, if not to outsiders, it should be germane to note that the church is not a human invention which men may feel free to dismantle at will. It is a fellowship called into being by Jesus Christ Himself, and the New Testament clearly indicates it is an integral part of God's continuing effort to achieve reconciliation with an alienated world.

The New Testament employs some 30 different images, or figures of speech, in attempting to define the role and significance of the church. The most meaningful for our time, perhaps, is St. Paul's metaphor of the church as "the body of Christ."

Paul meant, the context makes clear, that the church is a physical extension in time and space of the resurrected Christ, living and active, with hands, feet, eyes, ears and brains—through which the work of Christ is supposed to be done in the world.

The church, being composed of sinful and fallible human persons, frequently fails, and sometimes fails spectacularly, to live up to this high calling. But whenever it does, the spirit of Christ finds ways to be reformed and renews its wayward body.

But those who predict its demise are ignoring the testimony of 2,000 years of history as well as the Bible's firm promise that the church will endure, because it belongs not to men but to God.

By REV. W. H. BRYANT JR.

Biblically the subject of nature has been a concern both to God and man. The prophet Isaiah foresaw the day when man's redemption would issue forth in the redemption of nature as well as man. "For you shall go out in joy, and be led forth in peace; the mountains and the hills before you shall break forth into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands."

Throughout the centuries man has seen nature as both friendly and hostile. In his earlier days, nature was often more a foe than friend to man. He was poorly equipped to battle the elements of cold, heat, rain, flood, earthquake and drought. The wilderness in which he exercised his cunningness to hunt his food was filled with threats of danger.

As man began to gain supremacy over the natural world, many men developed a romantic attitude. Nature was worshiped and adored.

But with the advent of the industrial revolution and the beginning of the modern scientific era the exploitative view of nature began to compete with the romantic. Some saw nature as a Katharine to be tamed by the Petruccio of science, rather than a Juliet to be worshipped by a loveless Romeo.

Through science, man has won many victories over heat and cold, disease and famine. He has within his hands the power to produce almost anything his heart desires.

But the very power that can make man's life full, abundant, and free can also deliver the stigma toward which he must flee.

Today we are awakening to the fact that we are not only depleting our natural resources, but we are also polluting the environment in which we live to a very dangerous extent. Nature is beginning to look like a bride whose bridegroom died on her wedding day, and she has been in mourning ever since. Ecology has become a supreme concern for modern man.

But ecology involves theology. There is a mystical bond between man and nature. Spiritual man is also animal and material. There is in the eyes of the biblical prophet a causal relationship between sinful man and an accursed birth. Likewise the prophet foresees for redeemed man a renewed earth.

Church To Hear 'Matthew'

Rev. Willie Eugene Gierst, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sanford, will preach the sermon for the 95th anniversary of the church's founding on Sunday, May 12, at 10 a.m. The sermon will be titled "Matthew." The church is located at 1000 N. Palm Street, Sanford.

Antioch Baptist Church Observes 95th Birthday

Antioch Baptist Church of Orlando observed the 95th anniversary of its founding last Sunday. The church was founded in April, 1875, under the leadership of Rev. A. L. Lester, who served as pastor for a number of years. It is thought that Rev. W. W. Washington served as the second pastor of the church. Rev. G. W. Jones, of Orlando, succeeded Rev. Washington and served as pastor for approximately 25 years. In 1902, the old church was renovated and since then, in 1967, under the leadership of Rev. W. Don Pelham, new pews were purchased and an educational building and parsonage were added to the assets of the church.

Minister Of Music And Youth

Nelson Stone has assumed the duties of minister of music and youth at First Baptist Church of Sanford.

He was born in Pennsylvania but grew up in Orlando. After graduating from Boone High School, he joined the military. During his three years, he served as a paratrooper, "Green Beret" in Special Forces, medic, and chaplain's assistant. It was here that he was called to the ministry of music and youth.

Upon completion of his service, Stone continued his education, graduating first from Orlando Junior College, then the University of South Florida, majoring in music education.

While attending the university, he met his wife, Lynn, a native of Miami, and an accomplished pianist. They have been married for approximately two years and have a five-month old daughter, Adriana Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone have worked together in music and youth programs in several of the churches in the Tampa area while attending school.

Vocational Education Considered

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The House opened its package of vocational education bills today with three pieces of legislation aimed at improving job preparation courses.

The Senate, meanwhile, opened its schedule with routine legislation.

In the whereas clauses on two of the bills, the vocational education bill, the problem is stated in no uncertain terms.

"The present educational philosophy of the majority of school administrators and supervisors is 'unintentionally irrelevant' to the applied educational needs of students," said a bill that would require school districts to employ vocational education directors.

The second bill in the package noted that "the failure to develop systematic programs for identification of potential dropouts, coupled with the failure to recruit such persons and to counsel them and train them for a vocation has resulted in a waste of money and human resources."

The bill provides that acceptable programs will be operated in every school system by Sept. 1, 1971.

Third in the package is a bill that would define vocational education as "that instruction leading to a baccalaureate degree."

Rep. Kenneth "Buddy" MacFadyen, D-Orlando, chaired a subcommittee that prepared the vocational education bill.

Other bills in the package, which will be considered later, would appropriate $10 million for emergency equipment purchases and would devise a federal program for vocational education.

JACK STEWART, formerly with Youth for Christ International, will be the speaker at the installation of the new school principal, Mrs. J. M. Stewart, on Tuesday, May 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

Peppery Satire In Demonstrations

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A Jewish priest said to his bishop: "Your Excellency, an official of your excellency office has informed me that I am not to take part in any more racial demonstrations with 10 out of your knowledge and approval."

The bishop: "Father, it was done without my knowledge but with my approval."

That's the sort of ecclesiastical ambiguity and absurdity, collected mostly from church publications and parish bulletins and sent in by readers, which are the object of a satirical, often peppery satire in a light-hearted column "Cry Pax."

Subtitled "A Column Without Holes," it appears in the National Catholic Reporter, a bi-weekly independent weekly published in Kansas City, and is gleefully lampooned each week's accumulated accounts of oddities and inanities in the church.

A selection of the "The Best of Cry Pax," has now been used as a book bound book. It is for the purpose behind such material, Editor Robert G. Hoy says simply, "It is to make you laugh, but also to enlighten your mind."

Some people feel it is irreverent to laugh about the church, he says, but "our premise is that God must have a sense of humor."

Here are a few examples from the glimpses into the comic side of the religious enterprise, along with the editor's postscript comments in some cases:

—The Baltimore Catholic Review reports the wording of a sign on the wall of a local eatery: "Treasurers will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, Sisters of Mercy."

—Headline in the Michigan Catholic, Detroit archdiocesan newspaper: "Minister, Marries Son in Catholic Church." Comment: "Ecumenism gone wild."

—A Church of England bishop, interviewed by the Gloucester Citizen on the question of admitting women to the priesthood, said "You can't just think of women priests, you have got to think in terms of a woman bishop. And you can't have a 'Father-in-God' in a skirt."

Comment: "The Citizen carried a photo on the same page showing the bishop in his, uh, robes."

Uncle Sam Delivers Ultimatum To Seminole School Board Chief Pictures Chaos In September

Evans said the official failed to state what percentages of white and black students constitute a racial balance. Evans said a published statement which inferred the county was trying to get money for busing from the federal government was not precisely correct. "What we attempted to say was we would have to have additional money to buy buses to move students into the type of busing that the HEW is seeking. It will require about $300,000 to buy enough buses to meet state under the federal requirements, into schools like Miami, which is in an all black area, with no white students living in an area to walk into the facility."

"It is possible that this amount of busing may not be required, but it all depends on just what the HEW requires," he added.

The chairman said the board would study several plans being worked out by the administrative office and Angel before submitting a plan to the HEW for approval. "I cannot envision any plan we could submit that would not require some amount of busing," he added.

The chairman said State Education Commissioner Floyd Christian is sending a man Monday or Tuesday to help in preparing an acceptable plan.

Evans said he would not comment on whether Christian's office is involved with Dumbaugh and the HEW but it was the State Department that arranged for the Jacksonville meeting. "Every time a county is sued, the state also will be sued by the HEW," he concluded.

Another Boost Coming In Security Benefits

By EDMUND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House will receive legislation, probably not needed for another year, that would increase Social Security benefits for retirees and a boost in the taxes on persons still at work.

The House Ways and Means Committee had the legislation almost completed Thursday when it adjourned for the week end. The benefit increase probably will be 3 per cent across the board, adding to the 15 per cent increase last year.

Republicans are pressing instead for a scale related to the cost of living, but apparently they do not have the votes.

The payroll tax that pays for Social Security, including hospitalization under medicare, would be increased by raising the yearly wage base on which it is levied from $7,600 to $9,000 effective next Jan. 1.

The effect of this increase along with a rate boost already passed last year, would increase the maximum Social Security tax paid by an employer from this year's $74.40 to $86.

The committee bill would channel some of the extra revenue into the fund for medicare, hard hit by soaring charges for health services. It would also try to curb those by providing for present hospital charges and standards for doctor bills.

There would be no liberty, because liberty can't survive where rights are not protected.

Sometimes we feel only the restrictions the law places upon us, and don't realize the freedom the law gives us. Law Day USA is set aside each year to give time to consider the positive side of law.

Equal opportunity...better housing...crime control...liberty and justice for all. These are all legitimate aims of law. And we can achieve these goals—through law—if we are willing to work together.

Without law, there can be no justice. Because law is the bridge.

Law Day U.S.A.: Events Underscore Changes

When President Nixon proclaimed May 1 — "Law Day, U.S.A." he could not have anticipated the legal climate which would have been generated by this time.

Complicated. This is to bring people to an understanding that justice is, to be sure, the objective of law but that this objective is now under attack.

Here in Sanford the appearance of two of the area's leading lawyers at the meeting of the Sanford Kiwanis Club on Wednesday is indicative of what can be done and helpfully done.

Complexity NEW YORK (AP) — Iron Buttery, one of the best sellers of recordings during 1969, has replaced his lead guitarist Erik Brann with two lead guitarists, Mike Pflanz, formerly with the Blues Image, and Larry "Rhino" Reinhardt.

Quite Accurate

The congressman who is urging that newsmen reveal the source of their financial holdings just as lawmakers are required to do may be paving the way for an embarrassing situation.

Representative Fletcher Thompson of Georgia believes that all newsmen who are admitted to the press galleries should file financial disclosures.

The only financial involvement most members of the working press have is with bill collectors. A public comparison between the holdings of newsmen and congressmen probably would make the journalists look like near paupers.

Actually, Mr. Thompson might not have such a bad idea. The comparison could make the congressman feel so bad that they would start a special welfare fund for reporters.

We feel sure that if newsmen are forced to make reports on their financial dealings, the sums involved would be so lean that Mr. Thompson would be the first to pass the hat. And if his congressional colleagues have a heart, they all would contribute generously.

Eastern Europe Nationalism

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH VIENNA (UPI) — "The working class has no country," Karl Marx once proclaimed. And V. I. Lenin predicted that the curse of nationalism would melt into a proletarian brotherhood of man once communism was established.

Maybe so. But 25 years after the Communists began seizing Eastern Europe, the area's political life has more to do with nationalism and national rivalries than with brotherhood.

Many experts believe nationalism in the end will prove stronger than communism. And that's not necessarily good.

Nationalism led to Eastern Europe's direct role in World War I and helped start World War II. The tiny nations have been at each other's throats for centuries, which explains much of the area's backwardness. If Russia has accomplished anything positive in Eastern Europe, it may be the banking of these nationalistic fires by its demand for "proletarian internationalism" — that is, knee-jerk loyalty to Moscow.

That "internationalism" is wearing increasingly thin and nationalism has begun to rear its head — sometimes with explosive potential.

Romania, the bloc's current "maverick," is openly trumpeting a feeling of nationalism, while playing down communism.

Against this background, the spite and jealousies within the two big Communist alliances — the Warsaw Pact and Comecon — can be seen as a failure of trust and cooperation in an area traditionally shot of both.

Washington Window

Mills Welfare Attitude Changed

By ARNOLD R. SAWISLAK WASHINGTON (UPI) — If there are any established truths to be stated about the leading man of Congress, one would have to say that Wilbur Mills wears no man's collar.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has immense influence — partly because of high competence and partly because he can and has defied presidents of the United States who he thinks are wrong.

Mills had two alternatives to the Nixon request. First, he could have gone for tougher administration of welfare with a strong emphasis on requiring that recipients go to work.

But two weeks ago there was the low-key Arkansas Democrat on the House floor selling President Nixon's welfare reform bill. Six months ago, it was a good bet that the "family assistance plan" would gather dust in Mills' committee at least until after the 1970 elections.

Mills had indicated that he wanted to take a good, long look at the proposal, including the guaranteed annual income concept included in it, that was taken to mean the bill would work on welfare or even worse, as did Medicare.

The family assistance plan is at least as precedent-breaking and controversial as Medicare, but it took Mills only about six months to come around. It happened so fast that some observers felt Mills must have changed his mind on political grounds — that is, to approve the bill good or bad and return the welfare "hot potato" to the White House.

A Washington veteran well-acquainted with Mills believes there might have been some politics in the decision, but it was too simple to say the whole purpose was to put Nixon on the spot.

According to this man, who was not talking for attribution, Mills is far more pragmatic than political. And in the current state of public welfare, pragmatism required the conclusion that changes had to be made.

Far example, in the same

Hai Doyle Says:

Garry Moore: Depressurized

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — Garry Moore has the high pressure out of a television star's life, and what do you do with the time, even when you're riding "in a cab."

"This is why actors are so self-centered. They are constantly turned back to us on themselves by other people as well as by their own inclinations."

Today Garry restricts his activities largely to a weekly broadcast for the "Voice of America" and a five-times-a-week chore as emcee of a new edition of "To Tell the Truth," the longtime television game favorite.

"They did this for personal gain... hoping they would ride to reflection on the coattails of Judge Carlwell."

Thomas, who was President Nixon's northwest Florida campaign coordinator, said he would work hard for Carlwell and "just as hard against him."

John Q. Public probably often wonders how two opposing candidates, for their knives in each other's backs, can link arms and pose with a smile for news cameras.

The two are waging a hot fight for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senator. Carlwell is a 16-year member of the U.S. District Court. Appeals attorney Carlwell refused to confirm him for the U.S. Supreme Court.

News reports from the Hollywood party, quoting U.S. Sen. Ed Gurney, also support a contention of this column. Carlwell had taken a "crash" at Gurney, since Gurney is supporting Carlwell. Associated Press reports this reply by Gurney:

"He (Carlwell) had nobody but himself to blame" for the upcoming primary test. The senator from Winter Park said he had urged Carlwell repeatedly to announce his candidacy or face opposition.

This column has never announced his candidacy for the Senate post.

Tommy Alexander, The Herald's sports editor, is an avid Republican party worker. He received the following letter, which is self-explanatory:

Mr. Tom Alexander The Sanford Herald Sanford, Florida 32771 Dear Tom:

Your support of my candidacy for United States Senator will always be a valued and treasured expression of my friendship. As you know, I have stood aside in favor of G. Harold Carlwell.

This was not an easy decision... quite frankly, it was a really tough one. But I pledged upon my announcement for the Senate to do all I could to advance responsible, constitutional conservatism. In Judge Carlwell, Florida, has an unusual opportunity to demonstrate the tremendous support conservative government has in our state and nation. His candidacy can and will be a rallying point for conservatives.

In regard to my own future, I assure you that I will continue my work for honest, productive and creative good government. I will be striving to continue to merit the trust you've so many others have placed in me. As a relatively young man in government, I will work for the good of our state and nation in the years ahead.

Whatever my future holds, I earnestly and sincerely trust it will include working and striving with you for those principles which we both cherish.

College Values

By DON OAKLEY, NEA Editor-at-Large

You've probably agreed that we're justifiably concerned about the quality of education in our schools.

Not only are most schools not engaged in programs designed to assist disadvantaged students, most of them are not even considering such programs.

This was the conclusion reached in the first phase of a comprehensive study being conducted at Teachers College, Columbia University. Sponsored by the Ford Foundation in co-operation with the College Entrance Examination Board and the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students, the study is scholar and two-year and four-year colleges throughout the country.

The purpose of the study is to determine the number of institutions with special programs, and the nature of those programs, which are designed to make the college experience more accessible and successful for disadvantaged college aspirants.

Fully 72 per cent of the institutions responding stated that they currently do not have such programs in existence, and only slightly more than a tenth of these had formulated plans to begin such programs.

Another approximately one-tenth of the institutions reported they had had such programs but had already discontinued them.

All of which suggests we are not exactly in danger of creating an impudent corps of effete, overeducated black or brown snobs.

Mrs. Glen McCain was feted with a stork shower in her honor given by Mrs. Delmas Copeland, Mrs. Charles Basinger and Miss Phyllis Caesher, hostesses, at the home of the honoree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McCain, Sr., on North Triplet Drive, Casselberry, Monday night.

Highlight of the refreshment table was a cake appropriately enough in the form of staked ABC blocks, iced in pink and blue and topped with a Kewpie doll. Pink candles in silver holders also decorated the table. Pink punch, nuts, mints and coffee were also enjoyed by the guests. Several party games were played by those present.

"Sun is what really ages skin on the face," asserted Mrs. Cain. She pointed out that women in England show the effects of age far later "because the sun rarely shines over there."

Luncheon Honors Donalyn Knight

By DORIS WILLIAMS Society Editor

Mrs. John Ivey was hostess at her Mayfair home Saturday, April 25, to a luncheon honoring Miss Donalyn Knight, a 1970 graduate of Seminole High School.

Preceding the luncheon, the guests were delighted with the tomato juice cocktail served in thin crystal glasses in the shape of a tomato.

The class colors of yellow and white were carried out in the decor with an arrangement of yellow and white mums in a silver container centering the dining room table, which was attractively set with Madras art work place mats and colorful graduate place cards.

The hostess served a fruit salad course with assorted finger sandwiches, potato chips, olives, and iced tea. For dessert, miniature pastel flowers were filled with ice cream, chocolate syrup and nuts, and served with lace cookies.

Enjoying the charming luncheon with the hostess and honoree were her mother, Mrs. Don Knight, and the Misses Secord, Julie Miller, Julie Smith, Peggy Fuller, Beth Chapman and Regine Murray.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please write something to my column about people (usually women) who are trying to live weight. It is their business "why they eat in their own homes, but when they are at a friend's house for dinner or lunch, don't you think it's rude of them to pick at their food and to say, "I'm sorry, I'm on a diet and can't eat very much." Or even still refuse to taste your dessert?

When the hostess goes to a lot of trouble to make food attractive and tasty shouldn't the guest, out of courtesy to her, eat and enjoy it?

People should diet at home! It's like a trap in the fact when these people diet at home they eat what they want and eat what they like and eat what they like to eat.

DEAR INDIGNANT: Look, you apparently don't know how hard it is to lose a few pounds.

When a dieter is invited out, she should let her hostess know that she is watching her calories. It would not feel "in-substantial" if a guest tried to stick to his diet at her table. I would help him instead, by serving fruit and cheese for dessert, and I wouldn't encourage her to eat more than he wanted.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for two years to a wonderful man, but something has come up which threatens his marriage. I have three previous marriages. The children of my father are very happy and successful. My husband, however, is a dieter and is very unhappy. He has a terrible hard time on the diet. He is very nervous and is now married to a woman whose husband deserted her and her three children, so she adopted her three, and is now supporting them. My husband and I have always had an excellent relationship. Now my children are seeing their father's stepchildren and they notice the disparity between their stepfather's living and that of their father's adopted children, whom they like very much.

Abby, my present husband is very well to do, and he doesn't need that support. He has a very good job and he is very successful. He is very happy and is very successful. He is very successful. He is very successful.

What's your problem? You'll be better if you get off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6706, Los Angeles, Calif. 90066. For a personal reply address stamped, addressed and returned to Abby, Box 6706, Los Angeles, Calif. 90066.

When you have to choose for a king you have to choose in the matter. You are not going to finesse successfully unless his majority is placed to the right of the ace. Similarly if you have a finesse for a queen and both the ace and king are in your hand or in dummy you have only one way to go for it.

To day's hand South finds himself in a club slam. He has to lose a diamond trick no matter what happens. He has no losers at all in the black suits and he can choose which way to finesse for the queen of hearts because dummy holds the king, 10 and nine of the suit and he holds the ace, jack and seven.

With two ways to go after her husband's declarer can still go wrong if he guesses. He

Worry Clinic By Dr. Crane

Man does not live to bread alone," states the Bible. Which means that his human beings have many other desires than merely to eat and drink and be merry.

"A dog is a man's best friend," runs an old adage that is at least partly correct.

For a dog doesn't "show off" its master, whether the latter be old Tom or a six-year-old boy.

Instead, a dog always smiles at you when you walk by. He finds the right person to give you good advice. He has some sense about what you are doing and he will tell you so.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You defeat yourself if you succumb to self-pity because of obligations that weigh you down. Find the right person to give you good advice. He has some sense about what you are doing and he will tell you so.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Converse with others at length and know just where you stand. Assure them you will do your share of any work you have to do with your relationship. Take your rightful place in the scheme of things. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) With all your good wishes to have to do you hardly know where to begin, so take time to figure out which duties are most important. See that your papers are in order. Be energetic.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure to have arrangements set up for your spare time so that you can relax. Forget all that quarreling with kin. Take them out with you for recreation and all will be fine. Show that you have a sense of humor.

SIDE GLANCES By Galsraith

God is depicted as looking down in kindly fashion to us human beings and the dog looks up to us in a somewhat similar manner!

You mothers may protest the dog barks and incontinence resulting from such a pet for your youngsters, but dogs do four-legged psychiatrists who bolster the wounded ego of babies and relax their tensions far better than chemical tranquilizers!

A dog will thus bark gleefully and meet its young master at the front door, despite the poor report card which causes its deity to hawl him out!

We The Women: By Betty Canary

Not long ago we were discussing things mothers do not like to hear. Among other things I do not like hearing are tennis balls thudding against the house and electric guitars at midnight.

Readers sent me their personal diaries and I thought perhaps we should share them. So many of them included the phrase "at midnight," that I included the majority of parents can answer "YES!" when their friends' television announcer inquires, "Do you know where your children are?"

A few of the things parents particularly dislike hearing at midnight are:

Boys lifting weights, girls shampooing their hair, power tools in the basement, raring to ride his bike around the block.

The sound of five drums on the stereo you left your children alone for the very first time while you ran to the garage for your car.

The sound of your last diary can be hit by a truck.

A child whining, "Every body else can, everybody else can, everybody else can, everybody else can."

The toilet running any more while you're trying to take a nap downstairs.

The sound of five drums on the stereo you left your children alone for the very first time while you ran to the garage for your car.

The sound of your last diary can be hit by a truck.

Polly's Pointers By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY—I have some suggestions for Mrs. K. E. B. who is planning things for children to make in Bible School this summer. Our Bronze troop made hot pads by gluing scraps of cardboard felt, cotton and the used on the backs of the squares, which were left over from a project.

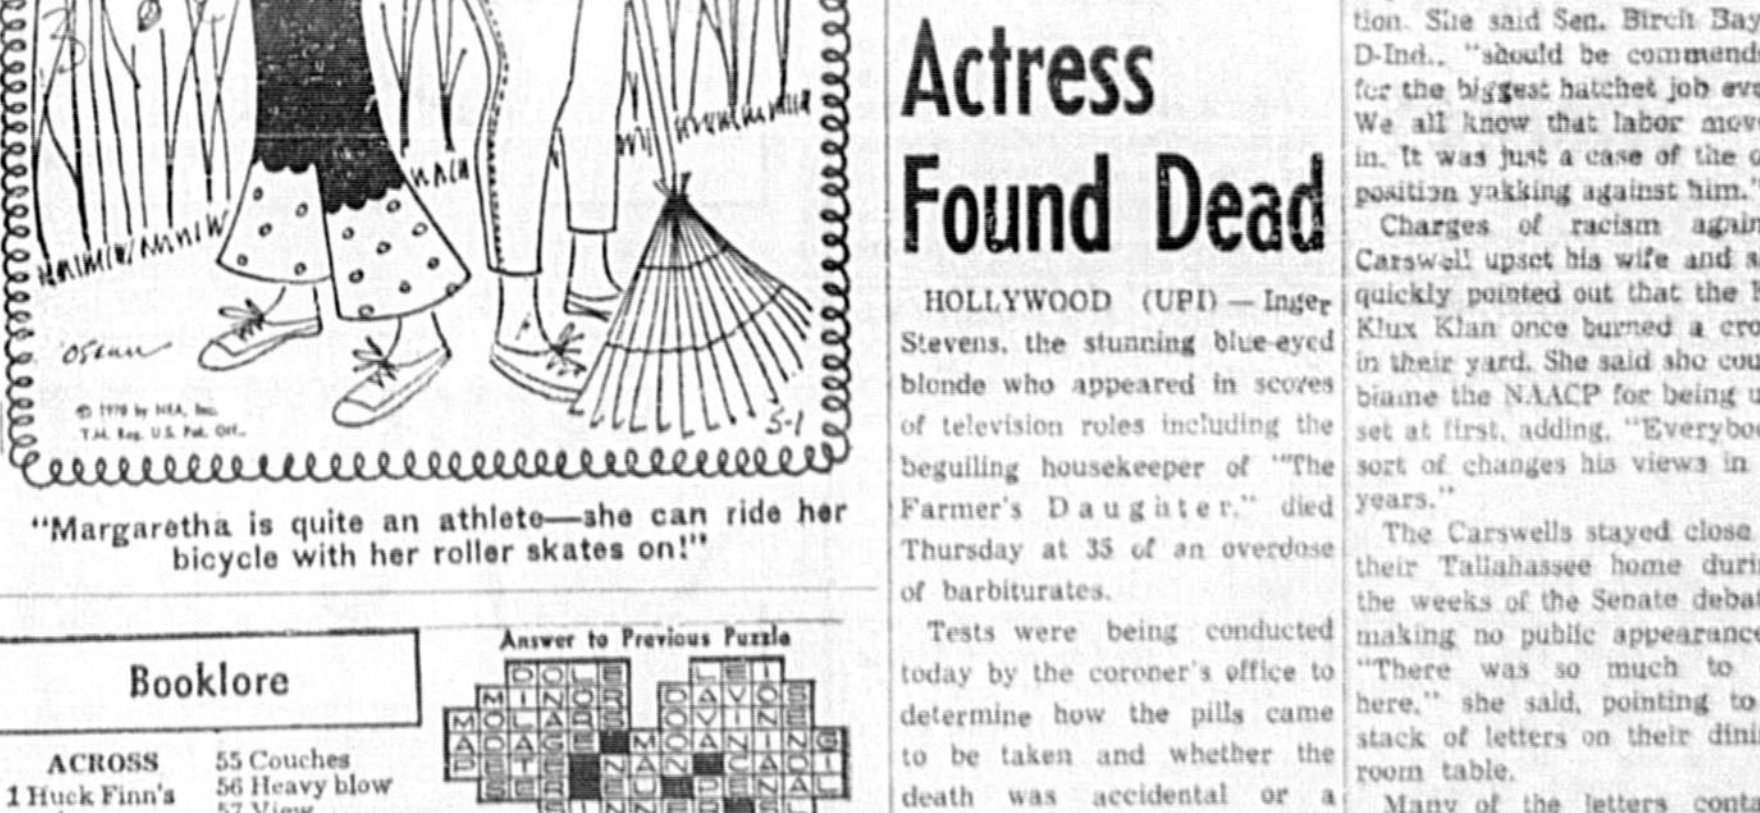

DEAR POLLY—The following are some things my 5-year-old did at Bible school last year. I hope they will help Mrs. K. E. B. with ideas. White paper, two to three feet wide, was put down. The child laid on the paper and sides are covered with wadded wheel mangled glued on. The top is covered up to the picture in looks framed. Cut a piece of paper that will protect the picture while spraying the entire masonite-covered box with gold paint. They are beautiful.

TV, Film Actress Found Dead

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Impe Stevens, the stunning blonde who appeared in scores of television roles including the beguiling housekeeper of "The Farmer's Daughter," died Thursday at 35 of an overdose of barbiturates.

Tests were being conducted today by the coroner's office to determine how the pills came to be taken and whether the suicide.

Miss Stevens' death Thursday was officially attributed to "acute barbiturate intoxication." She died on the way to a hospital after she was found unconscious in her home clad in a nightgown. Police said there were no signs of violence.

In 1959, the Hollywood-born actress was found unconscious in her New York apartment. A party epoxy ammonia bottle was found nearby and doctors said she had swallowed a caustic solution. Police said there were no indications she attempted suicide.

Stevens' name was long associated with her kitchen floor by her secretary, Lola McNealy, who said she found the actress in the United States with her family at the age of 13 and began working in television several years later after a summer playing stock roles on the stage. She later appeared in leading roles on television series and dramatic series, including her movie credits were "Man on Fire," "Cry Terror," "The Fish and the Devil," and her last film, "Dream of Kings."

Pathologist Charges Conclusions Expunged

Food, Drug Administration Launches Own Probe

By MICHAEL J. RAY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is investigating charges that agency officials have manipulated laboratory results for years to avoid weakening or contradicting established government policies on food additives and pesticide safety.

The charges, leveled by Dr. Howard L. Richardson, chief pathologist in the FDA's Bureau of Science, outlined middle-level bureaucrats with limited scientific training who expunged conclusions from reports on animal experiments because they cast doubt on FDA policies.

The findings also have caused FDA policy makers to reconsider "safe" labels for certain food additives and coloring agents and to re-evaluate permissible pesticide levels for food.

Richardson's Oct. 20, 1969, memorandum to then FDA Commissioner Herbert L. May triggered a high-level, on-going investigation, headed by Dr. Dale R. Lindsay, associate commissioner for science. There have been modifications of statements and reports, said the consultant, Dr. Harold R. Stewart, retired chief pathologist for the National Cancer Institute. Stewart emphasizes in an interview his findings were still preliminary.

Richardson's allegations, according to an congressional report on the FDA, "cast doubt on the integrity of all FDA scientific positions for decades."

The FDA is a primary research center on the effects of additives and pesticides on human health and Richardson's charges deal with these factors — not drugs.

Richardson, who joined the agency in 1968, said the old FDA slides and laboratory work sheets revealed what he termed a suspiciously high incidence of cancer in the test animals. The cancer findings were not mentioned in the published reports.

One thousand truckers in a Cleveland suburb voted unanimously Thursday to continue the wildcat strike protesting the national agreement.

Federal Funds Found?
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The much-celebrated $19 million in missing federal greenbacks has returned to Florida to find happiness in roads.

Gov. Claude Kirk — answering critics who said bumbling by his Transportation Department caused the state to lose it last June 30 — said Florida will spend it all by this June 30.

"As I have said over and over again, we never lost that $19 million," Kirk told newsmen Thursday.

"We knew and we said time and time again that it was a temporary freeze and that sooner or later it would be released," he added.

The Republican governor ordered transportation employees to work overtime on planning so all of the money, plus that in federal aid granted Florida for this fiscal year, will be spent in the next 60 days.

Kirk said the $19 million, the amount remaining of what was available to Florida in fiscal year 1969, was released by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

"Most of the released funds will be used on 145 in Palm Beach and Broward counties, for 173 in St. Petersburg and from Naples to Bradenton and on 1-10 in north and northwest Florida," said the governor.

One of Kirk's most vigorous critics on road spending, Senate Red and Savoy type insufficient supply to quote.

Republicans Join Demos In Criticizing Nixon

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Long-time Republican supporters of American involvement in Vietnam, fearing political disaster for the GOP, have joined Democratic war foes in criticizing President Nixon's decision to send U.S. ground troops into Cambodia.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, center of opposition to U.S. policies in Southeast Asia, scheduled another meeting today to discuss how to cope with the situation after its failure to prevent the move into Cambodia.

Although Nixon's speech drew some bipartisan support, the overwhelming tone Thursday night was critical—especially at a Capitol briefing at which Under Secretary of State Elliot Richardson and Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard told senators of Nixon's decision.

While Nixon said he was putting aside political considerations to take steps to prevent an American defeat, Republicans who held high hopes of picking up the seven seats needed to control the Senate were clearly stung by the President's speech.

Sen Robert Dole, R-Kan., a strong Nixon man who just hours before the President's speech had defended the administration's support of South Vietnamese operations into Cambodia, said he was troubled by the commitment of American troops.

"There is no doubt in my mind the public reaction is going to be adverse," Dole told reporters. "I just can't see any thing but an increase in wound, killed, and this will cause a sharp downturn in support of the President's policies."

Likewise, Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., a member of the Armed Services Committee who had declared support of earlier operations into Cambodia by South Vietnamese troops, said he thought "it's going to be very hard to get support for Nixon's dispatch of ground troops."

While the attack ordered by the President is "probably correct" from a military standpoint, he said, "The question of Democratic Senate leaders, sharply critical the past few days of U.S. Cambodian policy, had withheld immediate comment on Nixon's speech.

But Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and George S. McGovern of South Dakota were sharply critical.

Muskie found the Nixon "reasonable" with the nation's prospect in his Vietnam speech 18 days ago that a just peace is in sight. McGovern said, "This is not the formula for saving American lives, this is the formula for a bigger and bloodier war."

World Eyes Nixon Act

By United Press International
The Soviet Union said today President Nixon's decision to send American troops into Cambodia "grossly flouts the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of Cambodia."

France expressed fears it would unleash an uncontrollable sequence of events.

Communist East Europe North Vietnam and Viet Cong delegations to the Paris peace talks issued harsh statements accusing Nixon of escalating and expanding the war on an unprecedented scale. But they said privately they would not walk out on the Paris talks.

Most American allies agreed with the Nixon decision but British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart was so concerned he called the Soviet and U.S. Ambassadors in London to try to get another Geneva conference.

Domestic Political Advice Is Ignored

By LEWIS GULLICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon rejected the great bulk of domestic political advice and accepted foreign policy risks in his surprise decision to send U.S. ground troops into Cambodia.

The storm signals were already flying high on Capitol Hill when Nixon made his decisive Thursday night. Critics of his policy were picking up support and many Nixon backers were continuing against his going beyond U.S. Nixon judgment. It was stated, was the risk announced foray into Cambodia.

"Sharp limits must be set" on any U.S. aid to Cambodia, was how Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., put it. "Sending troops into Cambodia goes beyond that limit," he said.

Nixon was admittedly aware of the political future at stake, and he sought to allay fears that this decision ran against his campaign pledge to end the war and bring the boys home from Vietnam.

The U.S. strike would be only temporary, he said. It was against North Vietnamese in territory they held and thus not an invasion of Cambodia; it would save American lives.

help bring about peace and allow the continuation of his GI withdrawal schedule.

Under Nixon's plan, American forces will pull out of Cambodia in six weeks in two months after smashing the enemy sanctuary. But he still runs a risk of foreign developments that could upset his timetable or otherwise damage his Vietnam program.

White House officials disclosed that one of these risks—a possible Red Chinese decision to enter the conflict as he did in the Korean war—had been carefully considered. The Nixon judgment it was stated, was the risk was greater if the North Vietnamese were not in Cambodia.

Other risks include:

- An anti-U.S. boomering from violating Cambodia's neutrality. Cambodia says it did not accept and will protest the U.S.-South Vietnamese attack.
- The White House portrays this as an understandable posture for a neutral Cambodia wanting to avoid handling the Communists a pretext for taking over Phnom Penh, the capital city. It also says Cambodian officials in fact welcome anything that removes the Viet Cong from their territory.

Congress Can End War

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., has proposed an amendment to the defense authorization bill that would cut off American funds for Southeast Asia for any purpose other than withdrawing U.S. forces.

McGovern, here to address the convention of the National Student Nurses Association, said he and Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., had introduced the amendment which, he said, would require every senator to vote yes or no on continuing or ending our military operations in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, McGovern said.

"My amendment, which will definitely be voted on, will require every senator to vote yes or no on continuing or ending our military operations in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia," McGovern said.

"The President should not have to bear alone the political risk of ending this war," McGovern said.

Yanks Swarm Into Cambodia

By WALTER WHITEHEAD
SAIGON (UPI) — Thousands of American troops swarmed 29 miles into Cambodia about helicopters after massive B-52 strikes today, carrying out President Nixon's order to wipe out the Communist previously untouched sanctuary.

Other Stratoforters dumped about 900 tons of bombs on the South Vietnam side of the frontier in the fiftieth region, indicating the command's force of significant resistance shaping up there.

One of the other regions invaded is the parrot's beak west of Saigon, another finger of Cambodia jutting into Vietnam, where South Vietnamese troops with U.S. support began a cross-border drive Wednesday.

As of late Thursday, the Vietnamese operation in the parrot's beak was said to have killed 443 Communist troops, with government losses just at 46 killed and 214 wounded.

Early today, one of the two 3,900-man South Vietnamese columns was reported within five miles of Svay Rieng, province capital of Svay Rieng, 35 miles inside the border and reportedly occupied by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. Government forces were attempting to encircle the guerrillas and then destroy them in search operations.

Gas Is Used At Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Police fired tear gas for the second straight night Thursday as they battled rock-throwing militants on the Stanford University campus.

About 200 officers from surrounding areas had to quell another rampage by anti-ROTC dissidents backed by opponents of President Nixon's Cambodia policy. Six persons were arrested and 15 injuries were reported.

Two those hurt were police officers and among the injured students was Walter M. Schirra, son of the former astronaut. The reportedly was hurt in a scuffle with the militants.

But police and authorities said a non-violent group of 200 who locked arms and kept militants out of Encina Hall probably averted major trouble. They shouted "peace tonight."

The demonstrators broke school rocks. Demonstrators shouted back "throw rocks" and broke some windows. But they abandoned plans to invade the building, which houses school records. Instead they went on a vandalism spree around campus.

Yankees Topple Halo Boys

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees have been waiting for Stan Bahnsen to become a complete pitcher. Thursday night he became the only one to have.
In the 21st game of the season, the Yankees finally got complete game No. 1, and it wasn't from pitching ace Mel Stottlemyre or Fritz Peterson but rather from the one-time Bahnsen burner, whose flame flickered out last season after he was 17-12 and Rookie of the Year in 1968.
The 25-year-old right hander thrashed the California Angels on five hits and reversed his own personal slumping trend. He had been on the losing end of six two-blanks the Yankees suffered earlier.
Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City stopped Detroit 5-2 on Bob Oliver's 10-inning double, Washington bombed Milwaukee 12-2, the Chicago White Sox clipped Baltimore 6-3, Minnesota whipped Cleveland 8-1 and Boston edged Philadelphia 8-7.
In the National League, it was Atlanta 5, the Chicago Cubs 2; the New York Mets 4, San Francisco 1 and Los Angeles 2, Montreal 1. Houston at St. Louis was rained out and the other teams were idle.
They will be back in action on Friday following singles by Horace Clarke and Bobb Murcer gave Bahnsen his 16 lead and he protected it with an assortment of fast balls, curves, sliders and change-ups.
He struck out only two Angels but picked up 17 outs on ground balls.
"He was making them hit the breaking ball," said manager Ralph Houk. "I thought the way he mixed up his pitches was the best ever for him. In so many games he looks like he's trying to throw the ball by the hitters. He'll strike out so many in the first four or five innings, then get his pitches up and get hurt."
Houk had the bullpen ready to go after Stanly Alomar opened the ninth with his third hit. But he went with Bahnsen and didn't try to rest it as Bill Voss bounced into a double play and Jim Fregosi slid out.
Kansas City nipped Detroit when Oliver slammed a two-out double in the 10th following a walk to Amos Otis. Otis, Detroit's ace, hit solo home run, the Royals in the sixth.
The Tigers got their first run on a wild pitch in the sixth Cesar Geronimo tripled and the Royals declined to appeal that he missed first base. But pitcher Bill Butler heaved the ball into right field and Geronimo scampered home. They tied it in the eighth on a walk and Al Kaline's triple.
Frank Howard and Bernie Allen crashed three-run homers in the third inning as Washington blasted Milwaukee for George Armstrong's first victory. Howard drove in a fourth run with a single.

NEW YORK (UPI) - The market will turn around when there is "increased investment liquidity," according to Wright Investors' Service. This can develop through more vigorous Federal Reserve Board open market operations designed to provide liquid funds "fast" reductions in stock margin requirements and the FIB discount rate, it adds.

It is already "too late" for the government to "rescue" the stock market by some grandstand gesture," House Rep. A. Co. observes. But, the analyst adds, the government "can... make it clear that it would like to relate to an investor club in a new program to teach America to smile again."

Dean Witter & Co. says this country appears to be undergoing a recession comparable to that of 1966-67, but the company's opinion is that it will end in the middle of the year. The firm adds that the "various structural problems" in the economy include the stock market's continuing decline to a new equilibrium to reflect shifts in the outlook for different (economic) sectors.

The stock market list apparently will remain under pressure for another three to five weeks with poor acting issues making news while stronger performers "consolidate erratically sideways," UPI's incorporated observes. It adds: "In view of the near-term unfavorable outlook, turnover seems of questionable value is recommended for the purpose of purchasing better performers at prices under the market."

Thousands Attending Big Rally

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Thousands of demonstrators gathered for a Black Panther rally Friday in front of the state capitol building in New Haven, Conn. The rally was the largest in the city since the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in 1968. The rally was held in front of the state capitol building, which is a landmark in New Haven. The demonstrators were seen carrying signs and banners, and some were seen shouting slogans. The rally was held in the afternoon, and the weather was clear. The rally was a significant event in the city, and it was attended by a large number of people. Trapped Rustler

WOODLAND PARK, Colo. (AP) — Tom Kelly of Woodland Park bought a large hand-forged iron trap that a long-time resident of this mountain community told him was made in 1884 to catch a grizzly called "Old Moose." But the first thing the trap trapped was a cattle rustler.

Replaced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jefferson Airplane has replaced Sponsor Dwyer, drummer for five years, with Joey Covington. Covington has been drummer for Airplane side groups The Tuna and recording duo Jack Casady and Jorma Kaukonen for several months.
