County Employees To Vote On Unionization

A vote on unionization will be taken Thursday among Seminole County's full-time and permanent part-time blue collar and some white collar employees.

The election is scheduled among 381 employees, considered eligible to vote by the state's Public Employees Relations Commission. The union seeking to represent them in collective bargaining is an affiliate of the AFL-CIO.

Polling will be held in the county commission conference room in the county services building from 8 to 9 a.m. and 2:30 to 5 p.m.; on the first floor of the Emergency Operations Center at Five Points from 7 to 9:30 a.m., and 3 to 6 p.m.; at the Casselberry Library, from noon until 1 p.m. and at the Sandlot Transfer Station off Douglas Road, near Interstate 4, from 12 noon to 1 p.m., said county Personnel Director Lois Martin.

The union upon which the employees will vote is the National Association of Government Employees, SEIU, AFL-CIO.

The state commission in 25 official notices posted among the county employment sites says eligible voters are those who were employed in the voting unit as of Oct. 10, 1984.

Excluded from voting are all "temporary, managerial, confidential, professional, supervisory employees possessing a conflict of interest or lacking a community of interest."

The notice identifies those employees with a conflict of interest or lacking a community of interest on four legal size sheets of paper with the posted notice of the election.

The notice says the purpose of the election is to determine whether the eligible employees want a representative for the purpose of collective bargaining with their employer. A majority of the valid ballots cast will determine the result, the notice says.

The election is to be by secret ballot.

Everyone Wins Gold In Games Diving Contest

A 69-year-old high school diving coach dominated the action Thursday at the Golden Age Games diving competition.

Five divers — four men and one woman — braved chilly temperatures to compete at the Lyman High School pool in Longwood. All the divers were gold medal winners since each was the only contestant in his or her age category, except the 65-to-69-year-old category which had two. But one man, dubbed "the best diver here" by Judge Hank Mast, made the highest score of 128.25 — all for dives with the highest degree of difficulty.

Ken Deith, a diving coach at Satellite High School in Indian Harbor Beach, put away his nearest competitor with his last reverse inward dive.

Deith said he has been diving all his life and works out daily with his team to keep in shape. He also competes in tournaments for senior citizens as often as he can find them.

"There is not much available for old characters anymore," he said.

In the men's 60-to-64-year-old category, Melvin Gangloff, 63, of Pompano Beach, took a medal with a score of 84.75. Velea Lynch, a 65-year-old from Deltona, took the gold for the women's 65 and over category with a score of 71.75.

David Field, 67, of Vero Beach, turned in a score of 103.50 and took home a gold medal in the 65-to-69-year-old slot. Karney Troshian, 71, of Tampa, who had a "flop" style of diving, also garnered a gold medal for his identical 103.50 score.

Judge Mast, a past champ of the Games' diving competition, decided to sit out this year. A master diver himself, the 71-year-old Mast coaches youngsters at the Langford Hotel in Winter Park.

He said the contest this year was very tight because the divers made few "flub-ups." He likened the contest to a "junior high level" and said all the divers did well.

The Games will wind down Saturday with a 9 a.m. track and field meet at Seminole High School. Gamemasters will take to the shuffleboard courts at the Sanford Shuffleboard Club at 9

Ken Deith, a 69-year-old high school diving coach from Indian Harbor Beach, tucks off the springboard for the final dive that gave him a winning score.

Fears U.S. Invasion

Nicaragua Arms 20,000 Students

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaragua, fearing a U.S. invasion is imminent, called some 20,000 students back from the coffee harvest and issued them rifles to fend off the anticipated attack.

"In the following days, we will give to every youth, to every resident of Managua, a gun to defend the fatherland," Jaime Wheelock, a member of the leftist Sandinista junta, told a cheering crowd in Managua's Revolution Square Thursday night.

"We have arms such that Managua will be defended by dozens and dozens and dozens of thousands of fighters," Wheelock said.

Thousands of Nicaraguans gathered in the square raised clenched fists and joined in chanting: "They will not get through. They will not get through."

The Sandinistas have expressed fear the United States — concerned that a Soviet freighter docked in the Nicaraguan port of Corinto may be delivering MIG-21 fighters — will invade the country.

Nicaragua has flatly denied the freighter was carrying Soviet fighters.

Wheelock's call to arms came as sonic booms — believed caused by U.S. spy planes — shook five Nicaraguan cities, sending residents fleeing into the streets in fear of a U.S. airstrike.

Wheelock said the mobilization of the 20,000 students who had been destined for the coffee fields "was immediate."

"We prefer to see the coffee fall rather than our national sovereignty," he said. "It was a difficult decision, but it is the price we must pay to be free."

In San Francisco, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said Thursday the administration is "watching the situation" in Central America but has not alerted any U.S. forces for possible action.

In Mexico City, Czech Prime Minister Lubomir Strougal told reporters: "I was informed last night that a Soviet boat landed at a Nicaraguan port and that it unloaded four helicopters."

The United States has expressed concern that the Soviet freighter Bakuriani may have been delivering the first shipment of the MIG-21 Soviet fighters Junta Coordinator Daniel Ortega has promised to purchase to protect the country's "sovereignty."

In California, a White House spokesman said the administration also is concerned about the presence of at least two other Soviet bloc freighters in and around Nicaragua — a Bulgarian ship carrying helicopters and another communist ship, already emptied of its cargo, sighted in Corinto.

The Pentagon said Thursday the only U.S. military presence in the area was the guided missile frigate USS Paul, on station in the Gulf of Fonseca to monitor guerrilla radio traffic.

But defense sources said SR-71 Blackbird spy planes may have flown into or near Nicaraguan airspace to photograph the Bakuriani in the Pacific coast port of Corinto to determine if it contained crates loaded with MIG-21 parts.

El Salvador and Honduras Thursday launched a small-scale naval exercise in the gulf with patrol craft supervised by less than a dozen U.S. advisers, Pentagon spokesmen said.

Corinto is 50 miles south of the gulf. But the Pentagon said the maneuvers were planned months ago and had no connection with events in Nicaragua.

U.S. Senate leaders have endorsed strong action — even military force — to keep Soviet-built MIG-21 fighters away from the Sandinistas.

The MIG-21 — first built in 1957 but modified since then — is capable of flying at twice the speed of sound. It is primarily used as an interceptor but can also be used as an attack craft, capable of carrying rocket packs and four air-to-ground missiles or four bombs — two 1,100-pounders and two 550-pounders.

Its payload and range, however, are regarded as limited and its performance in rated by experts as far below that of the latest Western fighters.

Opening ceremonies will be held outside of the civic center immediately after the parade, followed by a day of activities for the whole family: a boat and auto show, continuous auction, food, games, rides, pony rides and booths sponsored by local clubs and civic clubs. There will be free entertainment and contests.

Arts, crafts, and science entries from Seminole and Orange county schools will be displayed and prizes awarded.

New this year will be a Health Fair sponsored by the Lion's Club to include blood pressure checks, dental screening, diabetes screening, glaucoma screening and more. Homecoming Prelude

The Sanford Chicken (also known as Seminole High School volleyball coach Beth Corso) puts in her two bits worth during a discussion between referees and players in Thursday night's second annual SHS faculty/alumni flag football game. The alumni won 20-16, avenging last year's 14-12 loss. The kids get their chance tonight at 8 when the 4-4 SHS Seminoles take on the 7-1 Lake Mary High School Rams at Seminole Stadium. The homecoming king and queen will be crowned at halftime.

2% Drop In October

Wholesale Prices Fall For Third Month In Row

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's wholesale prices fell 0.2 percent in October, the third monthly decline in a row, the Labor Department reported today.

It was the first time since January, February and March of 1987 that the seasonally adjusted index of producer prices of finished goods has showed falling prices for three consecutive months.

The Labor Department said the decline was due in large part to cars and trucks. Prices of newly introduced 1985 models did not rise as much as expected compared to September close-out prices.

But prices of finished energy goods rose 1.5

percent as indexes for both gasoline and heating oil turned up, following four months of declines.

And finished foods were up 0.1 percent after falling 0.4 percent in September.

Before seasonal adjustment, the index of producer prices for finished goods — in general, wholesale goods one step below the retail level — moved up 0.6 percent in October and stood at 291.6. That means that goods that cost $100 in 1987 now cost $291.60.

In the past year this index has risen 1.4 percent, a very low wholesale inflation level. It compares to a 12.8 percent rise in 1979.

Wholesale consumer food prices have risen 3.1 percent during the past year, wholesale energy prices have fallen 5.5 percent, and those of other wholesale consumer goods rose 2.1 percent.

Seasonally adjusted, the index had fallen 0.1 percent in August and 0.2 percent in September.

The Labor Department also measures producer prices below the final wholesale level. Those for goods in intermediate stages of production inched up 0.1 percent in October, after falling slightly in each of the preceding months. Those for crude materials fell 0.9 percent, much more than September but not so much as in August.

Producer prices do not tell consumers what levels of inflation they will feel in months ahead, but they give an indication of the trend. Consumer inflation has been running at an annual rate of about 4 percent, and most economists expect that to continue for some time.

Arms Group Says New Congress Can Defeat MX

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Arms control groups say the elections may spell doom for the controversial MX missile and that arms control advocates generally fared well in Tuesday's balloting.

"The MX is in more trouble than ever before. The MX can be and may well be defeated" in the Senate next spring, a spokesman for the political action arm of the Council for a Livable World said Thursday.

But John Isaacs, at a press conference called by several arms control groups, said MX opponents "may be narrowly behind" in the House.

Vice President George Bush broke a tie in the Senate this year to ensure the survival of the 10-warhead missile. Isaacs said a vote on the same question with the new Senate lineup would result in a 51-49 defeat for the MX.

Spokesmen for groups opposing renewed U.S. aid to Nicaraguan rebels, an issue that won in the Senate but failed by a wide margin in the House, said the expected GOP gains in the House were not sufficient to allow the administration to win a vote on that issue next spring.

Shuttle To Launch Satellite

United Press International

The five astronauts aboard the shuttle Discovery pressed on today with their mission to rescue a pair of stranded satellites and prepared to launch a new Canadian relay station to earn $9.5 million for NASA.

Commander Frederick Hauck, pilot David Walker, Anna Fisher, Dale Gardner and Joseph Allen began their second day in space at 3:15 a.m. with "Good Morning Starshine" from the musical "Hair" beamed up from mission control in Houston.

The major item on the agenda today was the launch of Telesat Canada's $35 million Anik D-2 communications satellite from the shuttle's payload bay.

The Anik spacecraft is the first of two satellites nestled in the payload bay to be launched by Discovery's crew. On Saturday, the astronauts plan to release a communications station built by Hughes Aircraft Co. and leased by the Navy. Hughes paid NASA about $16 million for the launch and Telesat paid about $9.5 million for the launch of its satellite.

Artificial Heart Recipient Sought

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Doctors who performed the first permanent artificial heart transplant have begun searching for a second suitable recipient.

William DeVries, the pioneer surgeon who nearly two years ago implanted the world's first artificial heart in Dr. Barney Clark at the University of Utah, began screening candidates Thursday at Humana Hospital Audubon in suburban Louisville.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has granted permission for six implants at the hospital.

Basic requirements for candidates for the second implant are that they be over 18, weigh more than 150 pounds and have a non-operable heart condition.

DeVries said the 150-pound weight limit would eliminate most women, but it was necessary because of the size of the chest cavity needed to fit the mechanical device.

NASA Seeking 'Space Teacher'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency has launched its search for the first teacher in space, warning applicants they will have to show how creative, informed, healthy and eloquent they are.

About 500,000 announcements detailing the program are being mailed to state agencies, schools and organizations and applications will be available Dec. 1, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Thursday. The deadline for applications is Feb. 1, 1985. Blastoff will be in early 1986.

Tax Hike Coming?

White House Denies Rumors Of Increase

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The White House is vigorously denying a report that some administration officials have drawn up a plan suggesting that some tax increases, in addition to spending cuts, will be needed to reduce the federal deficit.

Reagan, vacationing at his mountaintop ranch, intends to return to Washington Sunday to buckle down to his first order of business — looking over the first draft of spending estimates for his 1986 fiscal year federal budget.

White House officials Thursday denied as "absolutely, categorically untrue" a Newsweek report that presidential aide Richard Darman and Budget Director David Stockman have prepared a plan to reduce the federal deficit with a combination of spending cuts and tax changes to increase revenues.

Nevertheless, Reagan is expected to receive around December 1 the Treasury Department's new package of tax simplification proposals that has been under review for months. The proposals will be unveiled in the president's state of the union address in January.

The Los Angeles Times reported today that the "tax simplification" plan in Reagan's address probably would be a modified "flat tax" that would eliminate many popular deductions.

Reagan steadfastly refused to disclose any proposals he had in mind for reducing the $175 billion deficit during his re-election campaign, insisting that the economic expansion he foresees will do the job.

He also declared that there would be tax increases "over my dead body" and skewered Democratic opponent Walter Mondale for announcing that he would raise taxes.

The Times said a White House official, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said the basic criteria for the plan included making it easily understood by the average citizen, "perceived to be fair" to taxpayers and attractive for immediate, substantial congressional support.

The plan also must reduce income tax rates so the overall effect to the Treasury, even if deductions are eliminated, will be "revenue neutral," the newspaper said.

A senior administration official insisted that Reagan really wants to eliminate "all tax shelters."

"He wants to do it because there is a strong feeling on the part of the people out there — and it really is strong — that somehow we're off the track," the official told the Times.

"You can't even pay the taxes you owe the federal government without going through two or three days of filling out forms and getting tax accountants and lawyers involved. It's just too damn complicated."

Bell Leaving Education Post; A Democrat May Get The Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration is looking for a successor to outgoing Education Secretary Terrel Bell, with much of the speculation focusing on a conservative Democrat — William Bennett.

Bennett, 41, head of the National Endowment for the Humanities, has been seen as a leading contender ever since rumors first surfaced more than a year ago that Bell might step down before a second Reagan term.

Bell, citing "personal reasons" and his financial future, Thursday became the first member of President Reagan's Cabinet to officially decline four more years, announcing he will resign Dec. 31.

Bell came to Washington to help Reagan abolish the agency but ended up saving it by triggering a massive campaign to upgrade schools.

Bell, the only non-millionaire on Reagan's Cabinet, said he will return to his home in Salt Lake City to help run the family's sod farm and to become a professor at the University of Utah where he can build up "retirement credits."

Bell's announcement came just two days after Reagan's landslide re-election.

Among possible successors, those mentioned most often are Bennett and John Silber, 58, who has served since 1970 as president of Boston University.

By late Thursday, at least two other names entered the speculation on Capitol Hill and at the Education Department — Don Devine, head of the Office of Personnel Management, and Howard Matthews, the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee's education specialist.

"If you took a poll at the department, the name you hear most often is that of Bennett," said a high-ranking agency official. "But we don't know what they are thinking at the White House."

Bell, in his letter of resignation to Reagan, said, "I leave my position feeling that we are in the midst of a lasting and meaningful academic renewal that will benefit millions of learners in our nation's schools and colleges."

The president accepted the resignation "with deep regret," and wrote Bell that thanks to his leadership, "There is a new dedication in America to achieving educational excellence."

Reagan took office vowing to eliminate the Education Department, which was created by Jimmy Carter and which Reagan adviser Edwin Meese had called a "bureaucratic joke."

Terrel Bell

Bell came to Washington in 1981 with his belongings packed in a U-Haul truck, saying he expected to work himself out of a job within a year and return to Utah, where he served as the state's commissioner of higher education.

The plan to disband the agency never got off the ground, however, and during the past 18 months, with Bell leading the charge, nearly all states have moved to upgrade school curriculum, toughen graduation requirements and raise teachers' pay.

Riot Police Disperse Protesters

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Rock-throwing students clashed with riot police in the streets of Santiago in the first outbreak of violence since President Augusto Pinochet began a crackdown on opponents to his military regime.

Even as police used tear gas to quell the riots, the government exiled more than 250 detainees to a desert prison camp, shut down six opposition publications, imposed press curbs and banned public meetings.

Pinochet's state of siege was imposed Tuesday, triggering the demonstrations. The siege is similar to tactics that were used by Socialist President Salvador Allende when he was overthrown by Pinochet in 1973.

Police said 61 demonstrators were arrested in a two-hour battle between students and police outside a Santiago campus, raising to more than 300 the number of arrests since the state of siege went into effect.

The Christian Democratic Party, the main opposition force, said the country will not accept the state of siege and announced new mass protests against military rule without specifying a date for the demonstrations.

Training Pays Off For 61-Year-Old Swimmer

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

While she may have been the only woman in the half-mile swim in the Sanford Landing's pool, Jan Gugino probably would have beaten any female competitor.

In fact, her time of 29 minutes and 39 seconds in the swim, the second event of a triathlon, eclipsed several performances in the male division.

The reason, according to the 61-year-old Mrs. Gugino, is training.

"Hardly a day goes by that I don't swim," she said, adding that she started training for the half-mile swim in June.

Her big secret is that as a retired physical education teacher, she's been in training most of her life and considers the Games a very important event for senior citizens.

"I think the Games are super great. Everything is positive about it. It shows that people our age are very able," she said.

"Swimming has been good for me physically, good for my breathing," she said while watching the first heat of the men's division. She said she was a non-competitive swimmer in college and later became a certified life guard, swimming daily in a cold New York state lake.

...in a class by herself

She said she lived on a 30-mile lake near Erie and the lake's narrowest point, where a ferry crossed, was a half-mile. She swam the ferry during her lunch hour until car problems caused her to head for terra firma and give up swimming for tennis.

After many years away from the water and then retirement to Bartow, Mrs. Gugino took up swimming again and while she still plays tennis, winning a bronze medal in the mixed doubles in last year's Games, swimming is still her first sports love.

"When I get done playing tennis, I feel tired. Swimming energizes me.

"Swimming is the best (sport) overall for conditioning the body," she said. While her time of 29:39 was a good one during the blustery, chilly day, Mrs. Gugino said she has done better, swimming the distance in 18 minutes in a pool at her home.

"I've been physically active all my life, and haven't had to see a doctor since we (she and her husband) retired. We're more active now than when we were younger because we have more time. We don't have enough time to do what we want. We have to make choices," she said.

The half-mile swim at the Landing's pool was run in three heats in the men's division because of the many entries, according to race organizers.

It is the second event of a triathlon which concludes with a 5-mile bike race today at Seminole High School.

Man Dead, Another Hospitalized After Car Plunges Into Lake

A Sanford man is in guarded condition and an Osteen man dead following a one-car dive into Lake Monroe Thursday.

Jerry Freeman, of 111 South Maple Ave., was in guarded condition in the critical care unit of Central Florida Regional Hospital today. Dead at the scene was Lyman Mitchell, 33, of Oak Avenue. Mitchell's body was not located until about two hours after the accident when divers checked the car before it was dragged out of the lake.

According to reports, Mitchell was driving at excessive speed northbound on U.S. Highway 17-92 about 2 miles west of Sanford shortly after 5 p.m.

when his car swerved off the road, according to a witness. The car swerved a second time, failed to make a curve on the road which snakes along Lake Monroe's south bank, and plunged into the lake.

The vehicle stopped about 25 feet from shore resting on its roof, its wheels sticking out of the coffee-colored water.

T. Andy Youngblood, 19, Sanford, saw the accident and with three other motorists jumped into the water. Youngblood, Ronald Muse, 33, of Debarry, Tim Shepard, 21, of Sanford, and Rick Leihgeber, of Orange City, opened the car's right front door but could not get Freeman out. They then got a crowbar and opened the vehicle's left front door and freed him. The men searched the submerged car but could see no one else.

Youngblood began CPR and Freeman was breathing when emergency medical technicians arrived.

Mitchell is the 39th traffic fatality in Seminole County this year.

Casino Drive Draws Ire Of Religious Leaders

MIAMI (UPI) — Religious leaders say they will not let election officials use their churches as polling places as long as a ruling that allows solicitors to come within 15 feet of a voting station is still in effect.

The ire of religious leaders was raised this week when solicitors for casino gambling worked within 15 feet of churches serving as polling places. Dade County's churches make up about 20 percent of the county's 489 polling places.

An August federal court ruling changed the distance solicitors must keep from the polling places from 300 feet to 15 feet.

Backers of the push to get a casino gambling issue on the statewide ballot in 1988 said they should meet their goal of 100,000 signatures in Tuesday's one-day blitz when all the signatures are counted. They need more than 300,000 to get a spot on the ballot.

Pro-gambling backers have pushed for a constitutional amendment that would allow voters in each county to approve gambling in hotels with 500 or more rooms.

Barge Slightly Damages Skyway

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — The Sunshine Skyway Bridge suffered only superficial damage Thursday when a construction barge broke loose from its moorings during the night and began bouncing off bridge piers.

The bridge over the mouth of Tampa Bay was closed for 11 hours until engineers finished a survey of the piers, both above and below water.

Department of Transportation officials said the barge struck 30 of the piers but caused only superficial cracks in five of them.

The bridge is part of U.S. 19 and is a major traffic artery down Florida's west coast, connecting Pinellas and Manatee counties. It eventually will be part of the Interstate 275 system.

Hit-And-Run Drivers Plead Nolo

An Altamonte Springs woman has pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to leaving the scene of an accident in which a pedestrian was killed.

Linda Rene Katz, 34, of 275 Cranes Roost Blvd., entered the plea Tuesday before Seminole Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. who set Jan. 9 for sentencing.

Ms. Katz, who has no prior criminal record, could receive up to 5 years in prison.

According to court records, David Burnett, a 23-year-old surveyor, was struck by Ms. Katz' eastbound car on Crane's Roost Boulevard, Altamonte Springs, at 7:05 a.m. on March 8.

Burnett was either crossing or walking along the road when he was hit, records indicate. He was knocked to the shoulder of the road where he lay until discovered about 50 minutes later, almost at the same moment Ms. Katz, a teacher in Orlando, told a superior at school that she may have been involved in an accident.

Burnett was taken to Florida Hospital—Altamonte and then transported by Orange County Sheriff's Department helicopter to Florida Hospital—Orlando where he died at about 11:30 a.m.

Ms. Katz, who teaches at Westridge Junior High School, surrendered herself to authorities Aug. 17 after charges were filed against her and a warrant issued for her arrest.

In a separate case, a driver accused of running down a hitchhiker and then driving away after getting out of his car and bending over the battered man as he lay in the roadway, has pleaded no contest to leaving the scene of an accident with serious injury.

Randy Paul Reiss, 22, of 325 E. Seminole Blvd., Casselberry, entered the plea Tuesday before Davis who set Jan. 9 for sentencing.

Reiss could receive up to 5 years.

According to Casselberry police, Shawn D. Smith, 23, of 1995 Casselwood St., Winter Park, was hitchhiking while standing in the road on the striped line between the right and center lanes on state Road 436 at 12:45 p.m. on Aug. 4 when a Thunderbird traveling about 45 mph hit him.

According to eyewitnesses, the impact threw Smith about 25 feet. They said the car stopped, Reiss got out, walked back to Smith, bent over him, then returned to the car and drove away.

One of the witnesses followed the car and copied the license plate number and gave it to police. Reiss was arrested about an hour after the accident.

According to comments made at the plea hearing, Reiss was talked out of helping Smith by a man who was reportedly riding in Reiss' car.

Turlington's Five-Year Education Plan Called Hoax, Delaying Tactic

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington has unveiled a new program setting goals for Florida's education system to achieve by the year 1989, but a teacher union official blasted the plan as a hoax.

The state has already set a highly publicized goal of boosting its education system into the top 25 percent nationally by 1988, but Turlington said Thursday officials must look ahead to 1989, when current eighth graders will graduate.

Turlington's goals include improved funding, higher teacher salaries, better student performance and higher teacher competence.

"With graduation of the high school and college class of 1989 less than five years away, there will be only two biennial legislative budgets for ensuring that the support programs will be in place to follow through on the state's commitment," he said.

He will submit the plan to Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet next week.

Pat Tornillo, president of the teacher union FEA-United, criticized the plan sharply, however, and urged the Graham and the Cabinet to reject it.

"Commissioner Turlington's new five-year plan to bring Florida schools and teacher salaries into the upper quartile of the states in the nation is a hoax, a subterfuge and a cop-out," he said.

Tornillo said the only thing Turlington had done was change the date and extend the original pay goals five years into the future. He said Florida teachers opposed the "transparent" attempt to delay implementation of the upper quartile goals.

Turlington said the goals for 1989 included: —Building upon the K-3 enhancement program to provide increased academic opportunities for students in grades four through eight to prepare them for the increased requirements at the high school level.

—Implementing a research-based program at the middle grades level to identify — and ultimately prevent — potential dropout students.

—Developing a statewide system for rapid electronic transfer of information among school districts, post-secondary schools and the Department of Education.

—Increasing opportunities for students to be able to meet college academic standards for admission.

—Raising salaries of teachers on a statewide average into the upper quartile and maintaining them there.

Rich Old Maid Looking For Man With Mustache

BRAINTREE, Mass. (UPI) — An elderly woman who won $2.6 million in the Massachusetts lottery's Megabucks drawing says her fortune may help her find a husband at last — preferably one with a mustache.

"I'm an unclaimed jewel. Maybe I will get a man now that I am a millionaire," said Bertha Chouinard, 82, of Holyoke, who never married. "I like one with a mustache."

Chouinard Thursday picked up the first of 20 annual $88,970 checks at the state lottery office after turning in her ticket with the winning combination — 9-13-16-25-28-29 — which was drawn Wednesday night.

Chouinard, who picked the winner at random from numbers she put in a paper bag, said she'd buy some new clothes for herself.

Primer Is No Surprise

It's hard to understand all the turmoil over the CIA's 42-page primer that suggests killings and kidnappings can be used to overthrow Nicaragua's Sandinista government.

Congress seems appalled by the presence of the primer, which recently was revealed as something the CIA provided to the contra guerrillas who oppose the Soviet-dominated Sandinistas.

The publication advises the contra rebels to execute selected government officials publicly, arrange the shooting deaths of their own comrades to create martyrs and to blackmail citizens into working for the cause.

The Reagan administration, which is sympathetic to the contras, has stated it has not advocated or condoned political assassination or attacks on civilians. It has ordered the CIA to investigate the matter and determine whether those who masterminded the primer have acted improperly.

Congress also has instructed the General Accounting Office to investigate, and some congressmen are calling for the resignation of CIA Director William J. Casey.

Why all the fuss? What does Congress think it's paying for when it funds contra activities? Does it believe the contras' role is to deliver speeches in Nicaraguan parks about the advantage of democracy or to run Freedom of Information bookstores in that country's barrios?

We have spoken out against CIA-instigated mining of Nicaraguan harbors — an act that clearly violated international law.

We still hold those views. But we aren't blind to covert warfare. We aren't surprised the primer exists. We don't believe Congress is, either.

A Brave Report

The Philippine commission investigating the assassination of opposition leader Benigno Aquino has performed with courage.

The majority report recently released by four of the five commissioners shows that they probed deep and uncovered a conspiracy to keep the facts from the Filipino people. The majority report accused 26 persons — all but one of them members of the military — of conspiring to kill Aquino as he arrived at Manila International Airport on Aug. 21, 1983. One of those accused is Gen. Fabian Ver, chief of staff of the armed forces and a life-long friend of President Ferdinand Marcos. A minority report by Commission Chairperson Corazon Agrava named only six soldiers and one high-ranking officer.

After Aquino was fatally shot, the military killed Rolando Galman, claiming he was the assassin. The report says, in part:

The military knew the plane Sen. Aquino was on and "therefore, the ostensible acts of having to meet and search every arriving flight in order to identify Sen. Aquino were fictitious and sham."

Aquino was shot as he reached the bottom of the service stairs leading from the arriving airplane. He was not shot by Galman, who was never at the stairway. "It was in fact only the soldiers in the staircase with Sen. Aquino who could have shot him."

The military kept other passengers and news reporters on the arriving plane from disembarking with Aquino, and kept Filipino newsmen on the ground away so they could not see the shooting.

Some Filipinos believe the commission should be faulted for not naming President Marcos, because the plot could not have happened without his knowledge and approval.

They are wrong. The commission should be commended for its bravery in speaking out and not going beyond the evidence at hand.

BERRY'S WORLD

By Susan Loden

If you have some time to spare for the Sanford/Lake Mary Unit of the American Cancer Society you're needed as a door-to-door volunteer for the 1985 fundraising crusade scheduled from April 1 through 15.

The goal for the year is $45,000, and new volunteers are needed in Sanford, Lake Mary and Geneva to make the drive a success.

In 1983 to '84 the Cancer Society served 104 patients, provided 648 round trips to radiation treatments centers, handed out 84 home-care equipment loans, issued 46 grants for medication and gave 77 gift items. All services and programs listed are provided by the Cancer Society free to all cancer patients who request assistance.

More services are in the works. The Florida division of the Cancer Society plans to build Hope Lodge, a place for cancer patients and their families to be together during their weeks of radiation and chemical therapy. The lodge will be located on land donated from the University of Florida in Gainesville, with donations from Winn Dixie and Florida National Bank. No funds collected in crusade drives will be used for the lodge.

The local unit receives funds through corporate gifts, memorial gifts, fund-raising projects such as golf tournaments, bequests through wills and through the crusade.

April is cancer control month. To volunteer for the funding drive or to help out year round call 322-0849.

The purpose of the Cancer Society is to educate both professionals and lay person through films, programs and literature, to provide grants and fellowship to further medical research and to aid patients with services and rehabilitation programs.

The Sanford/Lake Mary Cancer Society group has a brunch scheduled for 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Dec. 2. Tickets are available through the phone number shown above.

VIEWPOINT

Decision Due On Terrorism

By Ronald Valderano

The attempt by the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army to blow up British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and her cabinet calls into question the whole matter of security against terror in a democratic society.

In the last few years, the President of Egypt has been murdered, the Pope was seriously wounded, a member of the British Royal family blown to pieces, an attempt made to kill the President of the United States, who was wounded, a former Italian Prime Minister kidnapped and murdered, Ministers, Members of Parliament, and military officers shot down. In Ulster more than 2,500 have died; in Spain the murder rate has been running at about 130 a year.

These assassins have something in common: the Provisional IRA; ETA, the Spanish terrorist Organization; and the Italian and Red Brigades are all avowedly Marxist and pro-Soviet, and the same can be said for most of the terrorist organizations worldwide. Fatah and the Palestinian Rejection Front are both now deeply committed to the extreme political Left, as are the great majority of the Arab terrorist groups.

Training for terrorists comes from the 40 or more training establishments set up in the Soviet Union, in Czechoslovakia, North Korea, Cuba, East Germany, Libya, and the South Yemen, all under direct or indirect Soviet control.

It was, in fact, in 1984 that the Soviets decided to invest in terrorism, and increased their spending on it by a factor of 1000 percent.

It is a cheap investment for the Soviets. Terrorists everywhere are taught to be self-sufficient, to obtain funds by bank robbery, hold-ups, kidnapping and drug sales. Arms are supplied if required, and in fact nearly all terrorist arms are of Soviet manufacture.

Terrorism knows no boundaries. The Red Brigades have safe houses and rest areas in France; ETA provides considerable support to the IRA, and there are close links between German, Dutch, Belgian and Italian terrorists. There are links between the IRA and Libya, and the hundreds of terrorists being trained at the Soviet-run camps. The western democracies are wide open to terrorist attack. The governments which set great store on personal freedom provide just those conditions which make it so much more difficult to identify and catch terrorists.

We greatly cherish our freedom, but faced with the threat of organized international terror we should consider how much of this individual liberty we are prepared to sacrifice to afford better protection for ourselves and our leaders. It is not an easy decision.

Trio Hid Critical Ethics Report

WASHINGTON — A year ago, three members of Congress put on their white hats and charged forth in defense of the public's right to know how an industry lobbyist got his hands on a confidential government report that criticized his client.

The congressmen asked the House Ethics Committee staff to investigate, and it did. But apparently the investigation revealed more about the inner workings of the House than the three members wanted to know. So by an informal agreement, the trio suppressed the embarrassing 15-page report for the past five months.

But my associate Tony Capaccio has had a peek at the suppressed June 7 report. Here are the details of the quest that turned into a cover-up:

Rhugh Coffman, an aide to Rep. Robert Walker, R-Pa., told his boss about a year ago that he had mistakenly given a confidential March 1983 Food and Drug Administration task-force report or 56-pager to William

WILLIAM RUSHER

The Assassin-Masters

NEW YORK (NEA) — When Pope John Paul II was shot while greeting the throngs in St. Peter's Square on May 13, 1981, and a lone Turkish gunman, Mehmet Ali Agca, was arrested on the spot, the episode at first seemed to fit neatly into the long and dreary series of assassinations and attempted assassinations carried out by single individuals, usually deranged.

That had been the case with Ronald Reagan's would-be slayer, John Hinckley, less than two months earlier. So, too, with the killers or attempted killers of George Wallace, Bobby Kennedy and John Kennedy. In each instance we wanted to believe, and eventually succeeded in believing, that the deed was the act of a solitary psychotic. Such a belief somehow makes the outrage slightly more endurable.

Where the facts clearly point to a conspiracy (as in the assassination of Indira Gandhi), or where there are at least hints of dark forces behind the actual killer (as in the case of Martin Luther King Jr.'s assassin, James Earl Ray), we accept the conclusion, or keep an open mind, because we must; but we would vastly prefer to believe in a solitary assassin if only we could.

Agca, in the beginning, appeared to present no special problem. He was a young and footloose member of a right-wing Turkish political faction, and it seemed not terribly unlikely that he might have developed a personal hatred of the pope sufficient to explain the attempted slaying. True, there were all sorts of unanswered questions about Agca's wanderings around Europe prior to the shooting; but there are always plenty of dubious types wandering around Europe. That proved nothing.

Even after the Italian authorities launched a serious investigation of a "Bulgarian connection," and arrested specific suspects, and such respected reporters as Claire Sterling and Marvin Kalb laid their reputations on the line, many sophisticated Americans insisted on pooh-poohing the idea that there had been any major international conspiracy. As Zbigniew Brzezinski has observed, one of the strangest aspects of this whole business has been the stubborn reluctance of our own CIA and State Department to credit the possibility that Agca (who had now begun to talk to his jailers) was, at least intermittently, telling the truth.

Now at last, three-and-a-half years after the shooting, the Italian magistrate in charge of the investigation has recommended the prosecution of four Turks and three Bulgarians for conspiring to kill the pope. It transpires that there was even a second gunman on the scene, that day in St. Peter's Square.

Well, what difference does that make? An enormous difference. For while one individual may be psychotic, it is impossible that seven people from two nations, acting together, were all psychotic. This was a thoroughly sane, utterly cold-blooded attempt to kill Pope John Paul II.

But why? There is nothing distinctive in the politics or culture of either Turkey or Bulgaria that would make the assassination of the pope imperative. The only entity on earth that had a really powerful motive for killing him was the Soviet Union — which is, of course, communist Bulgaria's mentor, protector and boss. This particular pope is a Pole, and unquestionably the leading Polish national of his era. His very existence, at a time of deep crisis and unrest in Poland, represented an enormous threat to the Kremlin's secure domination of Eastern Europe. So the Soviet rulers reached out — indirectly, furtively, but with grim determination — to destroy him. By the grace of God, they failed.

And now the United States and the other free Western nations must decide the terms on which they shall live with these assassin-masters. Our decision may tell as much about ourselves as it will tell about them.

WASHINGTON WORLD

What Is It We Ain't Seen Yet?

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan has one slogan to sign off every campaign speech: "This is going to drive my opponents up the wall — you ain't seen nothing yet."

Whisked off the platform and hustled into his limousine, there was no way to pin him down on what he meant or whether his prediction was to be viewed with joy or foreboding.

Lacking specifics from a president who waged a broad-brush campaign, one must surmise what he has in mind in view of his conservative philosophy.

However, he did rule out any cuts in Social Security benefits for those currently on the rolls and in the future, contending the Democratic leadership had demagogued the issue and were trying to scare the elderly.

He also said he would raise taxes "over my dead body." But fuzzy is the word for his explanations when pressed on whether he would rule out taxing unemployment and workman's compensation benefits. He also is planning to eliminate a vast number of deductions that will be the equivalent of a tax hike for millions of taxpayers.

A Treasury Department study has been under way for more than a year and nothing was revealed by Reagan on the stump.

Clearly, he views a second term as a mandate to curtail, if not erase, government involvement in many domestic areas where it grew under the New Deal and the Great Society.

The president believes that the private sector is capable of taking on a bigger role in providing opportunities for the needy. His antipathy for federal support of social programs has personified his political career since he became a Republican with conservative credentials 20 years ago.

Cuts are expected to be made in educational benefits.

Adjustments also are expected in the Medicare field, which the administration says may not be on a stout fiscal footing in a few years.

As for the $175 billion deficit, Reagan believes economic expansion and growth will ease the red ink column.

In foreign policy, Reagan has proved to be an interventionist. Whenever he mentioned the invasion of Grenada on the hustings, he was cheered by his flag-waving supporters.

He also is expected to continue U.S. military maneuvers in Central America as a warning to Salvadorans of insurgency.

As for the Soviets, the president is expected to pursue arms reduction talks to persuade the Kremlin to return to the bargaining table.

But Reagan also intends to continue the costly military buildup on grounds that it is the best insurance to keeping the peace.

Got A Spare Computer For The Needy This Christmas?

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

If wishing will make it so, Santa will be answering some pretty unusual requests this Christmas — diapers, soap, decorations, photographic darkroom equipment, vans, office space, and volunteer helpers. They're all among the things on the wish lists of area social service agencies.

The 1984-85 Wishbook is now off the press and it is the seventh and largest edition yet. There are 115 agencies listed from Seminole, Orange, and Osceola counties. Some of their needs are simple, while some agencies have big dreams such as building space, computers, and office equipment.

About this time of year many schools, churches, civic organizations and individuals are thinking of ways they can make Christmas, and life in general, better for the less fortunate in the community.

To help them pick a project, the Volunteer Service Bureau (VSB) puts out a Wishbook each year listing many area charitable institutions and agencies and both their holiday wishes and year-long dreams.

Many holiday wishes are for small items such as jewelry, cards, perfume and Christmas decorations that can be collected, and taken to any number of worthwhile agencies.

There are hundreds of volunteer jobs listed for groups or individuals that only take a couple of hours a week.

Here are some of the items listed by local agencies in the Wishbook:

The American Cancer Society needs clean sheets from which to make gowns and pads for patients and transportation for patients to treatment facilities.

The American Red Cross wants gifts for elderly shut-ins, CPR mannequins and red blankets.

The Citrus Council of Girl Scouts needs used uniforms and darkroom equipment. Federation of Senior Citizen Clubs of Seminole County, which provides nutritional and social services to the county's elderly, is wishing for food for holiday baskets, blankets, and Meals-on-Wheels volunteers.

Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) needs larger office space and equipment and volunteers to help with the December candlelight vigil, music, and setting. Oasis Workshop in Sanford, which provides work for the emotionally and physically disabled, needs a van in good condition and a 18-inch Polysealer.

Seminole Community Mental Health Center is wishing for Christmas trees, decorations, records, gifts for clients, food and entertainment for the Christmas party as well as sewing and craft supplies.

Seminole County Dividends School Volunteer Program needs volunteers to tutor children, and Spanish-speaking volunteers to teach Spanish.

Seminole Work Opportunity Program, Sanford, would welcome Christmas decorations and gifts for clients and special holiday shows or presentations as well as production equipment such as electric staplers, tape shooters, and heat sealer/shrink tunnel.

In order to prevent duplication and make sure all agencies receive some of their wishes, the VSB requests those making donations to inform them by calling 898-0945.

As a central clearinghouse, VSB is also available to provide additional information.

Escaped Brothers Back In Jail

The Chyle brothers who escaped from the Seminole County jail Aug. 23 are back in that lockup after being brought Thursday from Tennessee wearing matching sets of leg irons and a third pair of leg restraints which bound the pair together.

Sheriff's deputies Don Ellis and Willie Chandler, who transported 19-year-old Jed Allen Chyle and Michael Chyle, 23, by car from Roane County Tennessee, where they were captured on Oct. 26, took no chances with the slippery duo.

But sheriff's spokesman John Spolaki said the Chyles gave lawmen no trouble on the trip back, which followed a post-escape crime spree that led to their Tennessee capture for burglary to an auto.

The brothers gained their illegal freedom when they scaled a wall of an outdoor recreation area at the jail and slipped beneath a razor-sharp coil of barbed wire. They ran to Lake Minnie and hitched a ride to Volusia County where they eluded lawmen who mounted a ground and air search for the Tampa pair.

At the time of their escape, both were being held on two counts each of burglary and were wanted in DeSoto County. Escape charges have been added and the Chyles are being held without bond. After they have been dealt with in Seminole County, they are slated to be returned to Tennessee to face charges there, a sheriff's report said.

SPOUSE ABUSE

A Sanford man has been charged with spouse abuse after reportedly kicking his wife in the head.

Sanford police responded to a disturbance call at the Handy Way convenience store on Celery Avenue and met witnesses who told them that a couple were fighting in a home at 1305 Elliot Ave., a police report said.

The lawmen heard shouting

Homecoming Draws Perfect Duel

Posey: Tribe Has To Keep Hartsfield's Feet In Check

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Some coaches are of the opinion that the homecoming foe should be some patsy hauled into town under the veil of secrecy, starved both Thursday and Friday and then served up for slaughter that night for the graduates.

Not so tonight, however. When the Seminole and Lake Mary football teams collide at 8 p.m. it will be a perfect duel. Lake Mary needs a victory over Seminole to clinch the Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 titles.

Seminole coach Jerry Posey said the homecoming match is by habit and not choice. "Ever since I've been here, the last home game has been homecoming," he said. "It'll be a perfect match if we win."

Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson, meanwhile, couldn't ask for a bigger setting, although he said he wouldn't mind if the game site was changed to Lake Mary. Nelson said the Rams have had three big games this year, but none bigger than tonight's clash.

"DeLand was big, Lake Brantley was big, Apopka was big, but Seminole is the biggest," said Nelson. "This game is for everything. I can't wait."

The Rams' excitable mentor won't have to wait much longer. Neither will Posey who is just as excited. He relishes the challenge to spoil what has been a near-perfect season for Lake Mary.

"It's going to take a helluva effort," said Posey. "But we can do it. We did it before. Lake Brantley came in here as conference champion in 1977. We did everything right and tore them up."

Lake Mary is 7-1 overall and 6-1 in conference. While a victory locked up the regional berth, a loss would throw the conference into a two-way or three-way tie with Lake Brantley (6-2 and 5-2) or DeLand (5-3 and 4-2) and Apopka (6-2 and 5-2). A two-way deadlock would give Lake Mary the crown since it has beaten all the other variables. A three-way logjam sets up a tiebreaker system playoff on Monday, Nov. 19.

Seminole football coach Jerry Posey said his main concern tonight is to keep Lake Mary's dangerous Ray Hartsfield in check.

Seminole is 4-4 overall and 3-3

Nelson Returns To The Scene Of Crime

Harry Nelson returns to the scene of the crime tonight. He does so without remorse or trepidation. He says he has nothing to fear but fear itself...well maybe he didn't say it exactly that way.

could only remember him as "Tom something Italian." As the player came over to the sideline, Nelson said, "I can't believe you did that. He said I can't believe I did either, coach."

Lake Mary Principal Don Reynolds, who was then principal at Seminole, had some trouble believing it, too. "Reynolds was going bananas up in the press box. I don't think he thought much of me in those days."

Another incident at Winter Garden didn't exactly place Nelson in the Reynolds Hall of Fame. "I was running onto the field and I fell down in front of the Seminole fans and they all started cheering. My glasses went one way and I went the other." Nelson, after regaining his feet, flashed the section that universal No. 1 sign. And guess who was sitting in that section? Don Reynolds.

Jerry Posey, Seminole's football coach, was at Winter Garden that night and he said he saw a little different version. "Seminole and Bishop Moore didn't play each other that night, so they were sitting on the same side. I think, there were some Bishop Moore fans cheering, too," laughed Posey.

When the Lake Mary coaching position came open two years ago, however, Reynolds was quick to let bygones be bygones, although while at Seminole he dropped Nelson-coached teams from all schedules.

"Reynolds even cancelled a golf match because I was coach," said Nelson. "He said he never wanted to play another Harry Nelson-coached team."

"And he's right, he'll never have to."

Injuries, Poor Grades Hurt Hawk Chances

By Carl Fister
Herald Sports Writer

After being devastated by injuries, and ineligibilities due to the end of the nine-week grading period, Lake Howell's Silver Hawks can just about forget about any hopes of an upset over Apopka's Blue Darters.

In fact, some players who were on junior varsity just two weeks ago, will be sitting up and starting for the varsity tonight when the Hawks travel to Apopka.

"We're really hurting," Lake Howell coach Mike Blacaglia said. "We have some kids up from JV that will be starting and quite a few other guys that will be playing both ways. All of our linemen will be playing both ways."

Those lost to injuries include offensive and defensive tackle Harold Crowley, defensive end Ryan Barton, offensive guard Mark Petrarca, linebacker Dave Williams and offensive guard Mark Rogers. Rogers sprained a shoulder in practice on Wednesday.

Lake Howell also lost three starters to grades including halfback-defensive back Terry Gammons, noseguard Ken Henderson and defensive end Shawne McNeil.

"We don't have the people but we're just going to go out there and try to give them a game," Blacaglia said.

Among those players who will be playing both ways are the Hawks' main offensive weapons, quarterback Allan Jack and slotback Jeron Evans. Jack will also play some on the defensive line and Evans will also play in the defensive backfield.

The Jack-Evans passing combination has accounted for a lot of Lake Howell's offense this season. Jack leads Seminole County in passing as the senior southpaw has completed 46 of 104 passes for 583 yards and four touchdowns. Evans not only leads the county in receiving but the talented senior has more receptions than any player in Central Florida. Evans has hauled in 33 passes for 403 yards and three TDs. Also for the Hawks.

Senior tailback Efram Brooks leads Lake Howell in rushing and ranks fifth in the county with 311 yards on 87 carries. Steve Inman, who has missed a few games because of an injury, has 191 yards on 45 carries.

Apopka's leading ballcarrier, senior Sammie Smith, has been used only sparingly in the past three games because of a twisted ankle. For the season, Smith has picked up 840 yards on 107 carries. Other players to watch for the Blue Darters include quarterback Steve Usery, running back Mike Lowman, receiver Sydney Lowman and punter-kicker Greg Elmore.

Blacaglia sees tonight's game as a learning experience for his young team.

"When you go against teams like Apopka and Winter Park (next week's opponent) with seven or eight 10th graders starting, you just chalk it up to experience."

Seminole's jubilant alumni celebrate a touchdown. From the left, Nick Brady, Tim Raines and Levi Raines engulf giant lineman Tom Ball. Levi Raines caught two touchdown passes and Tim Raines grabbed one from quarterback Brant Carl as the alumni avenged last year's loss with a 20-16 victory over the faculty Thursday night.

Raines Brothers, Carli Lift Alumni By Faculty

Past, present and unusual. Those are just three words you could use to describe the second annual Seminole High Faculty-Alumni football game Thursday night at Seminole High.

Some of the school's great athletes from the past, including the Raines brothers — Tim (1977), Levi (1975) and Ned (1976) — were on hand for the event which benefitted the Seminole High baseball team. Other alumni on hand Thursday included Brent Carl (1974), big Tom Ball (1973), FSU great Mike Good (1976), Tom Whigham (1971) and a host of others.

And the Tribe's braintrust of the present, who will put their heads together to try to pull of an upset over Lake Mary tonight, coaches Jerry Posey, Emory Blake, Dave "Mr. Intensity" Moore and Roger Beathard tried to keep up with some of their old players.

The unusual included Posey wearing a football helmet from the Knute Rockne era and volleyball-softball coach Beth Corso dressed up in a chicken outfit.

It all made for a pretty entertaining night for the spectators and a great boost for the baseball team.

"It's our biggest fundraiser of the year," Seminole baseball coach Mike Ferrell said. "I really appreciate all the alumni and the faculty coming out. They create a lot of fan interest."

The proceeds from Thursday's game will go toward the building of a baseball field at Seminole High. Ferrell said the construction on the field will begin sometime next week and it should be completed by January.

The night proved to be more than entertaining for the alumni, which upended the faculty, 20-16, to even the two-year series at one game apiece. "And we aren't going to lose another one," predicted the Raines.

The alumni held a scant 14-6 lead in the fourth quarter when Tim Raines gathered in a swing pass in the right flat outran the linebackers, reversed his field and went 72 yards for the game-clinching touchdown.

The alumni started the game with two quick scores. Carli fired a 59-yard TD pass to Levi Raines on their first series. Levi came back with a pass to Nick Brady (1972) for the two-point conversion and an 8-0 lead.

The alumni moved quickly for the score. Carli hit Brady for 56 yards, Tim Raines rambled for 22 and Carli came back to Levi Raines for 15 yards and the second TD. The PAT failed but the alumni led, 14-6.

It stayed that way until the fourth quarter when Seminole Assistant Principal Bobby Lundquist teamed with Blake for a five-yard scoring loss.

Tim Raines' touchdown run put the game out of reach a few minutes later, but the faculty did make it close when Blake threw a long touchdown pass to speedy Don Merrick as time ran out for the 20-16 final.

Patriots Battle DeLand With An Eye On Sanford

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

DELAND — Lake Brantley coach David Tullis may have his heart in DeLand tonight but his eyes would like to be in Sanford.

Tullis and his Patriots need a win over the Bulldogs and a loss by Lake Mary to Seminole to force a deadlock in the Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 standings. A Lake Mary win over Seminole sews it up for the Rams.

His most immediate concern, however, is DeLand. "They're tough and they're in a fight for the conference race, too," said Tullis. "Coach David Hiss has done a good job over there. If they beat us and Lyman (next Friday), 7 and 3 is a quick turnaround for them."

Tullis said DeLand's two mitey-mite running backs, James Taylor and James

Patrick, are both "tough runners." He ranked DeLand linebacker Mike Studley as the top at his position. "I haven't seen any better linebackers than Studley," said Tullis. "That quarterback (Ferrol Gordon) looks good at times, too."

Lake Brantley is coming off a near-perfect performance against Seminole and Tullis hopes for a repeat of that tonight. Running backs Cornelius Friendly and Bobby Garrison are both running well, as is Scott Salmon who offensive coordinator Brian Smith uses near the goal line.

Salmon, though, has been bothered by a hip pointer. "He's a tough kid, though, and we've got a lot of confidence in him," said Tullis. "I'm sure he'll play."

Although the win over Seminole was lopsided (28-0), Tullis said his team took a physical beating. "Larry Froemming broke his hand, so he's out and we had a lot of other guys banged up," said Tullis.

Both quarterbacks, David DeInacco and John Gowan, are healthy, though. Both played well in the Seminole win. DeInacco ran the option flawlessly while Gowan hit 5-of-8 passes, one for a 30-yard TD to Rich Pearce.

Tullis, though, still couldn't keep his mind from the Lake Mary-Seminole clash. "I read where (defensive coordinator) Dave Moore was getting them as fired up," said Tullis about Moore's statement about slicing his forearms in the pregame. "I like that guy. Tell him if he needs some razor blades, I'll bring them down."

Elsewhere involving county teams, Oviedo takes on a tough Osceola ball club at Kissimmee and Lake Howell travels to Apopka tonight while Lyman tries for its first win Saturday against Mainland at Daytona Beach.

BOWERS CHASES 1,000
For Oviedo, fullback Charles "Pop" Bowers has his sights set on the 1,000-yard rushing barrier. Bowers, a senior, is far and away the leading rusher in the county with 936 yards.

Bowers' running mate, Andrew Smith, has been coming on strong, too, the past few games. Sophomore John Morrow rounds out the backfield for coach Jack Blanton's 5-3 Lions.

Defensively, linebacker Mark Howell and defensive back Kevin Clifford were outstanding in last week's win over Cocoa Beach. Howell is the third leading tackler in the county with 106 stops. Clifford had a great game against Cocoa Beach, said defensive backfield coach Chris Hall. "After they got that quick score on a dump pass, we shut them down."

Knights Close On Road With Furman

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

The University of Central Florida Knights hope to close the season on a winning note as they travel to Greenville, S.C., Saturday to take on the Furman Paladins.

UCF, 2-8 for the season, dropped a 38-0 decision to Indiana State, the top ranked Division I-AA team in the nation, last week. Meanwhile, Furman, 6-3, crushed visiting Davidson, 55-7. The Paladins, coached by Dick Sheridan, broke a school record for total offense in a single game against Davidson.

Furman rushed for a record 521 yards last week and had 632 yards total offense, just four yards shy of a single-game mark.

The Paladins offensive attack is led by running back Robbie Gardner, who is in line to set a NCAA Division I-AA record for yards per rush. Gardner, a 5-10, 201-pound junior, has averaged 7.1 yards per rush. He's carried the ball 133 times for 940 yards and 10 touchdowns this season, an average of 104.4 yards per game. His best game this season came against Marshall when he picked up 185 yards.

Junior Bobby Lamb is the Paladins' quarterback. The 6-0, 170 pounder has passed for 1,396 yards this season. He's completed 86 of 161 passes (.534) and has 14 TD losses. Senior Chas Fox has been on the receiving end of 27 passes this season and has a 17.9 per catch average.

The Knights, meanwhile, are looking to snap a two-game losing streak and break a string which has seen them lose three season finales. UCF lost its final game of the 1983 season, 31-22, to Bethune-Cookman.

Interim head coach Jerry Anderson's Knights have been getting some timely play from sophomore wide receiver Ted Wilson and junior tight end Glenn McCombs.

Wilson has caught five TD passes this season, tying a school record for TD catches in a single season. Wilson has 20 receptions overall, third on the team. McCombs has a team-high 37 receptions for 408 yards.

Senior quarterback Dana Thyhsen will try to lift the Knights to victory in the final game of his outstanding career at UCF. Thyhsen has completed 120 of 243 passes this year for 1,581 yards and 16 touchdowns. Thyhsen is closing in on 5,000 career passing yards and will enter his final collegiate game just 203 yards short of that plateau.

Freshman running back Robert Ector and sophomore running back Elgin Davis have combined for nearly 1,000 yards on the ground this season. Ector has 484 yards while Davis has 429.

Defensively, Darrell Rudd, a senior, was credited with a team-high seven tackles last week, giving him 83 for the season.

SCOTT LEADS SEC

Senior flanker Chuck Scott, a Lake Howell High graduate, will try to keep a lock on first place in receiving in the Southeastern Conference as Vanderbilt travels to Lexington, Ky., to take on the Kentucky Wildcats.

Scott, an All-American at tight end last year, leads the conference with 37 catches for 666 yards (18.0 yards per catch). He also has six TD receptions and a pair of two-point conversion catches.

The elusive senior from Maitland burned Ole Miss two weeks ago (the Commodores were idle last week) with four catches for 49 yards and one touchdown, a diving 15-yarder from Kurt Page.

Another Vandy receiver, A-back Keith Edwards, needs just two catches to break the SEC career pass receptions record of 172 set by Florida's Carlos Alvarez in 1969-71. Edwards, a senior from Williston, is fourth in the SEC this season with 31 catches for 340 yards.

Broncos' 9-1 Record Puzzles Even Reeves

United Press International

The Denver Broncos are 22nd in the NFL in defense, 23rd in offense and in first place in the league's toughest division.

Not even Broncos coach Dan Reeves is sure why his team is 9-1. Reeves knows, however, that they won't be in first for long if they don't improve soon.

Beginning with Sunday's game in San Diego, Denver plays five of its final six games within the AFC West. The five teams in the division have a combined 34-16 record and Seattle, 8-2, and the Los Angeles Raiders, 7-3, are right on the Broncos' tail.

"We've got six games left and five are within the division," Reeves said. "You look at everybody else's (in the division) schedule and we all play each other an awful lot. So I don't know what's going to happen in the races. I just know the toughest part of our schedule is coming up and we are not as healthy as I'd like. We just have to keep fighting hard and hope good things happen for us."

Good things have been happening for the Broncos. Although their defense gives up bunches of yards, it has surrendered the fewest points in the league and scored seven of Denver's 26 touchdowns.

"The ball seems to bounce

well for them." Chargers coach Don Coryell said. "It's hard to call it luck when they do it game after game. I don't call it luck. I call it hard, aggressive play."

Denver's John Elway was the AFC Offensive Player of the Week last week when he completed 26 of 40 passes for 315 yards and three TDs in a 26-19 win over New England.

San Diego, 5-5, which has not won a divisional game yet this season, isn't scoring points like it used to and it's not hard to figure out why. The Chargers still have quarterback Dan Fouts and wide receivers Charley Joiner and Wes Chandler but something else is missing.

"We're a two-tight end offense and we don't have two tight ends," Coryell said.

Kellen Winslow is out for the season with ligament damage in his knee. Pete Holohan is questionable with a sprained ankle and Eric Sievers is doubtful with a sprained knee.

In other games Sunday, it's Dallas at St. Louis, Philadelphia at Miami, San Francisco at Cleveland, Chicago at Los Angeles Rams, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, the New York Giants at Tampa Bay, Detroit at

The Los Angeles Raiders play in Seattle Monday night.

At St. Louis, the Cardinals and Cowboys will battle to knock at least one team from the four-way deadlock for first place in the NFC East. St. Louis topped the Cowboys 31-20 a month ago to end a seven-year winless streak in Dallas. Neil Lomax threw three touchdown passes for St. Louis in the win. Dallas coach Tom Landry will start Gary Hogeboom at quarterback

At Miami, the Dolphins are looking to become the second team in NFL history to get off to an 11-0 start. Only the 1972 Dolphins, who went unbeaten in 17 games counting post-season, won their first 11 games. Miami averages a league-high 33.6 points per game and Dan Marino is the league's leading passer. His 29 TD passes leave him seven shy of the all-time season record. Philadelphia, 4-5-1, is looking to join the tight NFC East race.

Holmes Makes 1st Defense Of IBF Crown Against Smith

Pro Boxing

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Undefeated heavyweight champion Larry Holmes' defense of his International Boxing Federation title against James "Bonecrusher" Smith tonight is expected to answer one question: How much does the 35-year-old champion have left?

It's an interesting question, since even Holmes concedes Father Time is one opponent who always wins in the end. The champion says he hopes he's wise enough to call it quits before age robs him of his skills.

Holmes, 221½ pounds, of Easton, Pa., is the prohibitive favorite in the first defense of his IBF championship, following 16 successful defenses of his World Boxing Council title. He resigned the WBC championship in December rather than defend his crown against WBC No. 1-ranked contender Greg Page.

Las Vegas oddsmakers have not even posted a line on tonight's title tilt. The legal bookies say it is 13-10 against Smith lasting beyond round seven in the ring against Holmes.

While acknowledging that Holmes has been a great champion en route to a 45-0 record with 32 knockouts, Smith's camp contends the bearer of the crown is ready to be taken.

They point out that Holmes has fought a total of six rounds in the past 18 months, including a one-round outing one year ago against Marvis Frazier and a Sept. 10, 1983, title defense when he stopped Scott Frank in five rounds.

"He will go down and not get up," said Smith, 227, the winner of 14 consecutive fights, 12 by knockouts, since losing in his professional debut three years ago to James Broad.

"The time is right. He will be a has-been after Friday night. It's been a while since he's been hit and I'm going to hit him," said Smith, 29.

Smith, ranked No. 11 by the IBF, stopped the previously unbeaten Frank Bruno in the 10th round in May '80 to earn the title shot. The challenger predicted he would knock out Holmes in the fourth round.

Holmes, for his part, predicts he will stop Smith in the fifth round.

"I don't think Smith has the talent, mobility or speed to beat me," said Holmes, who added Smith's vaunted right hand can't be any more powerful than Earnie Shavers "and I beat him twice."

Eddie Futch, Holmes' trainer, agreed.

"I'd look for fireworks from the very beginning," he said.

in the Five Star. The Tribe was in contention until it lost the past two weeks to DeLand and Lake Brantley. Regardless of its position, pride, bragging rights and homecoming have been motivating factors for Seminole.

The game should come down to Lake Mary's stable of bruising running backs against Seminole's tenacious defense.

Lake Mary has big play threats in quarterbacks Ray Hartafield and Mike Schmit, running back Charlie Lucarelli and wideout Donald Grayson.

Of the four, Posey said he fears Hartafield the most. "They do a lot of things real well," said Posey. "But that Hartafield worries the dickens out of me. When he's at quarterback, they are very explosive."

Hartafield's flashy feet, however, have been slowed this week. The 5-7, 155-pound junior sprained his ankle against Apopka and it hasn't come around like Nelson wanted it to. "Hartafield will play, but I don't know how effective he will be," said Nelson. "He isn't whole, that's for sure."

Hartafield, who also plays running back, wideout and safety, has accounted for six touchdowns. Five of those came on running plays and the other came on a pass to Byron Washington. Nelson said he would start Schmit but try to use Hartafield inside Lake Mary's 20-yard line and inside Seminole's 20-yard line.

Schmit has thrown five touchdown passes. He is 22-for-55 for 514 yards. Lucarelli jumped off to a fast start with a couple of 100-yard games, but an ankle injury and a bevy of talented runners have cut down his yardage. The senior halfback has 573 yards and seven TDs. Grayson, who is the only Ram to play with some of the Seminoles when they were teammates at Crooms High as freshmen, has overcome a slow start to run his reception total to 17. He has 374 yards for a whopping 22 yards per catch average.

great balance and bounces around until he usually has the first down. Underwood has 426 yards. Another threat is senior Pat Murray. Although he hasn't had the workload of the other backs, Murray is the fastest and his 5.8 yards per tote gauge his value.

The job to stop of these weapons falls upon Seminole defensive coordinator Dave "Mr. Intensity" Moore and his 11. The Tribe defense had been nothing short of sensational between the Titusville Astronaut and Lake Brantley games.

During that six-game span, Seminole posted three shutouts and gave up just 35 points. It blanked Lake Howell, Lyman and Oviedo. Against Apopka, only a game-opening kickoff return of 85 yards to the five-yard line produced the score.

"We started losing our intensity, though, against DeLand," said Moore about the 14-9 loss two weeks ago. "And we didn't have it against Lake Brantley. I just hope we'll have it back Friday."

The intensity starts up front where ends Fred Brinson and Walt Lowry are both quick, hard-rushing defenders who make a habit of shaking hands at the quarterback. Lowry leads the county with 10 sacks and Brinson has six. At tackle, newcomer Brian Brinson has been a perfect complement for husky Anthony Hall. Brinson.

At linebacker, the "DeBruise Brothers," Mike and Bryan DeBoer rank first and second in the county in tackles. Both have over 100 tackles. Jerry Walsh is the third LB and he is a keen student of the game who picks his spots to blitz well. Jerry Little also logs some time and is often around the ball.

The defensive secondary received some good news Thursday. Theron Liggins, who Posey thought had not made his grades (student-athletes need a 1.5 grade point average and have to pass five subjects), did and remained eligible. Liggins, Sanford Optimist Club Player of the Week Brian Brooks, Dexter Franklin and Dennis Lawrence make up the hard-hitting defensive backfield.

'WHERE A GREAT DEAL IS HAPPENING!'

Sanford's Billy Penick takes his usual position, in front of the pack, during a recent cross country race. Penick, Seminole's district champion junior, is expected to receive a stiff challenge from Winter Park's Phil Wharton and Satellite's Bill Hibbard in Saturday morning's region championship race at Lake Mary High School. The girls race begins at 9:30 a.m. following by the boys at 10:15.

Tribe, Rams Hope For Historic Run

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The Lake Mary and Seminole cross country programs can make history Saturday morning when the Rams' boys team and both of the Tribe's teams attempt to qualify for the 4A State Meet for the first time ever.

While Seminole and Lake Mary look to make history, Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks will try to stay unbeaten going into the state meet at the 4A-3 Region Championships at Lake Mary High.

The girls meet gets under way at 9:30 a.m. followed by the boys at 10:15 a.m. The top four teams and top five individuals (if their team doesn't make it) advance to next Saturday's state meet at the DeLand Airport.

There will be 12 teams in each race Saturday. The regional qualifiers for the girls meet include Lake Howell, Seminole, West Orange, Winter Park, Lake Brantley and Colonial from district five and Lake Worth John I. Leonard (district champion), Melbourne, Merritt Island, Palm Beach Gardens, Twin Lakes and Vero Beach from district six.

Teams from district five in the boys meet include Winter Park, Lake Mary, Lyman, Edgewater, Boone and Seminole. From district six, Twin Lakes (district champion), Spanish River, Satellite High, Palm Beach Gardens,

Cross Country

Melbourne and Lake Worth.

In the girls meet, Lake Howell will try to repeat as regional champions and take the momentum into the state meet. Leading the Lady Hawks' pack is sophomore Lisa Samocki followed by junior Amy Ertel, senior Nancy Nystrom and sophomores Martha Fonseca and Bellinda LaSeur.

Samocki will also be in the running for the individual title as she goes up against Winter Park's Kim Bovis, the winner at district. The last time Samocki ran on the Lake Mary course, the conference meet, she came away with a convincing victory. Bovis has not run a meet on the course but has practiced on it the past few days. The top runner from district six, Melbourne's Lisa Palmisano, should also be among the frontrunners Saturday, too.

Seminole's girls team is looking to overtake Winter Park and move back into second place behind Lake Howell. Seminole coach Ted Tombros said running on the familiar course will help the Lady Seminoles.

"I hope the tidal wave of enthusiasm can carry us right to the state meet," Tombros said. "Running on the Lake Mary course will be a little bit of an advantage. But, regardless of what we do, I have to be happy with the progress the team's made this season."

Leading the way for Seminole are Shownda Martin and Dorchelle Webster, a pair of freshmen who have been consistent all season long. The Tribe will also look for another strong performance from junior Debbie Coleman and Tombros is hoping his fourth and fifth runners, Jennifer Roberts and Katrina Walker, can move up a few places Saturday to strengthen the Tribe's chances.

Another county team looking to move up and make it to the state meet is Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots. The Patriots have packed together pretty well and they need now is for the pack to move up some.

Leading the way for Brantley are senior Joanne Hayward, junior Kim Pacetelli, sophomore Michelle Herbst and juniors Kim Lubenow and Melissa Meghdadi.

In the boys meet, Lake Mary is looking to be psyched up for the race on their home course. The Rams had an off day in the district meet but still managed to pull out a second place behind its top two runners, Ken Rohr and Matt Palumbo. Lake Mary hopes the remainder of its top six, Harold Pitts, John Amrhein, Bob Howard and Jim Shepherd will come through Saturday and give the Rams a shot at the region title.

Tombros said Seminole's boys chances of making the state meet are better than many people might think. The Tribe only finished sixth in the district, but it was behind three teams, Edgewater, Boone and Lyman, that it had beaten before.

"If we have a good day and the guys move up a few places, we have a chance to qualify," Tombros said. "Lyman looks like a good shot to qualify but I know we can catch Boone and Edgewater."

Number one runner Billy Penick, the district champion, will lead the way for the Seminoles followed by Larry Cooby, Kelly Faint, Kelvin Abney, John Herberger and Randy Drury.

In the individual race, Penick is running on a course that his top competitors, Winter Park's Phil Wharton and Satellite's Bill Hibbard, have not competed on although Wharton has practiced on the course a few times this week.

Lyman is hoping its surge in the championship portion of the season will carry it right into the state meet. Leading the way for the Greyhounds are Carl Schmalman, Steve Grundorf, Chuck Mullina, Mike Mohler, Robin Rogers and Wayne Straw.

Merchandise Doesn't Awe 'Picky' Teams

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major league teams went to market Thursday and did not like the quality of most of the merchandise.

There were 56 players on the re-entry free agent draft list, but only 19 were selected by four or more teams. That means 37 players, including sluggers Dave Kingman and Cliff Johnson, are free to negotiate with any club. But many of them may be out of a job completely by next season.

"When 37 of 56 are not selected, that tells you something," said Al Campanis, vice president of player personnel for the Los Angeles Dodgers. "Those guys are looking for jobs and borderline players may not get jobs in the future."

There were even three players among the 19 selected by four or more clubs who are not wanted by their old teams. Negotiation rights to outfielder Oscar Gamble and pitchers Bobby Castillo and Burt Hooton were not retained by their 1984 clubs. Gamble played for the New York Yankees, Castillo for the Minnesota Twins and Hooton for the Dodgers last season.

Aside from Rick Sutcliffe and Bruce Sutter, who naturally will get long term contracts at more than $1.5 million per season, the big winners in the draft figure to be pitchers Steve Trout, Don Aase and Ed Whitson. Those three were pursued beyond their wildest dreams. Trout, a left-hander who posted a 13-7 record for the Chicago Cubs last season, was selected by 17 clubs while Aase was picked by 13 and Whitson by 11.

The interest expressed in Trout and Whitson, a 14-game winner for the NL champion San Diego Padres this year, was not surprising because both appear to be reaching their primes, and in Trout's case there is a shortage of good left-handers. However, the amount of interest shown in Aase was curious since he had elbow surgery two years ago and did not pitch at all in 1983.

The 30-year-old right-hander did not return to action this year until June, yet pitched superbly in the second half of the season, posting a 4-1 record and eight saves in 23 games, with an ERA of 1.82. Many teams are in need of strong late inning relievers, and they obviously feel Aase can meet those needs.

Other players who were selected by at least four teams were outfielder Lee Lacy (14), relief pitcher Tim Lincecum (9), outfielder Sixto Lezcano (7), designated hitter Andre Thornton (7), infielder Rob Wilfong (7), outfielder Fred Lynn (5), catcher Steve Nicolai (5), pitcher Dennis Eckersley (5), outfielder John Grubb (5), outfielder Ruppert Jones (5) and infielder Greg Pryor (4).

Lacy, who hit .321 in 138 games for the Pittsburgh Pirates, is a 13-year major league veteran with a .287 lifetime batting average and is regarded as the perfect utility player for a contending ballclub.

Because of their high price tags, only eight teams selected negotiation rights to Sutcliffe, the National League's Cy Young Award winner, and just six took Sutter, who tied a major league record with 45 saves this year.

Sutcliffe, who went 16-1 for the Cubs last season after being acquired in a trade with the Cleveland Indians, was chosen by Atlanta, Kansas City, San Diego, St. Louis, Texas, California, Baltimore and the New York Yankees. Sutter, who pitched for the Cardinals last season, was taken by Texas, Toronto, Atlanta, California, Baltimore and the Yankees.

Negotiation rights to the two players also were retained by their previous clubs.

Only one club, Pittsburgh, went for Kingman, who hit 35 homers and drove in 118 runs for the Oakland A's last season. The 30-year-old slugger is most productive, however, as a designated hitter and his asking price of nearly $600,000 a year was believed to have turned off many teams.

A few years ago Lynn would have had more teams after him, but injuries have begun to erode his skills. He hit .271 with 23 homers and 79 RBI for the Angels this past season and those numbers, while good, don't warrant the kind of money ($1.5 million per year) he is seeking. Still, the Angels retained rights to him and are hopeful of re-signing him.

The Chicago Cubs, who stand to lose nearly half their pitching staff, did not participate in the draft, preferring instead to channel their resources toward re-signing their free agents — Sutcliffe, Trout, Stoddard, and Eckersley.

Other teams who did participate in the draft were the world champion Detroit Tigers and the New York Mets.

Veterinarian Says Slew O' Gold Will Definitely Run In Breeders

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Most people make sure they always have certain phone numbers handy in case of emergencies, like the police or fire department. But Mickey Taylor, a co-owner of Slew o' Gold, keeps some rather peculiar numbers in his little black book.

"With this horse, you don't lose the phone numbers of your blacksmith or your quarter-crack man," joked Taylor.

Slew o' Gold, unbeaten in five starts this year, a solid bet for Horse of the Year honors and the heavy favorite for Saturday's $3 million Breeders' Cup Classic, has a new quarter crack in his right front hoof that could knock him out of the richest event in thoroughbred racing history.

The 4-year-old son of 1977 Triple Crown winner Seattle Slew has been running with two quarter cracks — splits in the hoof that can deepen under heavy pressure — but late Wednesday, after the horse arrived from New York, a third crack was found and pus had accumulated, indicating an infection had set in.

Treatment consists of applying a layer of fiberglass on the hoof to seal the cracks and then covering it with a special bar shoe that provides additional stability.

That was accomplished Thursday, and Dr. Judd Butler, the veterinarian for the swift 4-year-old colt, said the horse would definitely run on Saturday's $10 million Breeders' Cup program.

"I'm a hundred percent sure he'll be able to run Saturday," said Butler.

Who says the first three quarters don't mean anything in the NBA?

The Houston Rockets scored just 10 points in the fourth quarter Thursday night, yet held on for a 99-89 victory over Seattle and stayed unbeaten in six games this season.

"We were lucky to get away with the win," said Rockets guard John Lucas, who led all scorers with 22 points. "They really shut us down in the fourth quarter."

Houston led 89-71 after three quarters, but managed just four field goals and two free throws in the final 12 minutes. The closest Seattle could get, however, was 97-89 on Danny Young's 20-foot jumper with 2:33 left.

Oilers Tie Record For With Start

United Press International
Only one thing was scarier than the guy who was waiting to receive the puck. And that was the guy who had it.

Edmonton tied a 41-year-old NHL record for the longest unbeaten start because Wayne Gretzky and Jari Kurri erupted with six seconds to play Thursday night, giving the Oilers a 3-2 victory over the New Jersey Devils.

With New Jersey on the verge of forcing the Oilers to overtime, Gretzky retrieved a pass in the right-wing corner and relayed in front to Kurri, who scored his second goal of the game and 13th of the season. It was Gretzky's third assist of the game.

Oviedo Eyes Spot At State

Oviedo's Lady Lions can move into the state playoffs with a victory tonight as they travel to Brooksville Hernando for the 3A-3 Sectional Volleyball Tournament. The match is scheduled to start at 5 p.m.

Oviedo advanced to the sectional with a surprisingly easy 15-6, 15-3 victory over Ocala Vanguard on Tuesday. Brooksville's Lady Leopards advanced by beating Auburndale.

The Lady Lions rode an outstanding team effort to victory over Vanguard.

Oviedo's top hitters include seniors Fran Foster and Mary Lokers and juniors Stephanie Nelson and Amy Bussae.

Senior setters Tina Pauldo and Kim Belatel have done an impressive job setting up the hitters.

Bench strength for the Lions comes from Marilyn Francis, Kim Verne and versatile Yvonne Gugat.

Showy Violets Exotic Gift From Africa

Africa, which has given us many things, ranging from beautiful diamonds to fascinating wild animals, is the home of one of our most popular house plants — the African violet. These attractive plants easily adapt to conditions in our homes. Fortunately, there are many varieties, types and colors from which to choose.

Like all plants, African violets need the proper growing conditions to prosper and flower normally. You must consider light and humidity for leaf growth — soil moisture and drainage for root growth — and temperature and plant nutrients for growth of the whole plant.

Too much light can be just as bad as too little. If you know what to look for, you can spot the effects of improper lighting before serious problems result. When African violet plants don't get enough light, the leaves may be thinner and a darker shade of green. Under low light, your plants may grow quite well. But, they will produce few, if any, flowers. Too little light is the most common cause of failure to produce flowers. On the other hand, too much light affects growth, as well as leaf color and flowering. If they get too much light, the leaves will turn a pale, yellowish green and flowering decreases.

To keep plants healthy and flowering freely, they should get about eight to 12 hours of light per day. Try setting your plants near north or east windows. But, don't expose them to direct sunlight. Light strong enough to cast a shadow would be sufficient. Plants growing near windows need to be rotated occasionally to maintain an even plant growth.

African violets will tolerate the relatively dry air found in most homes, but they prefer a fairly high humidity. To maintain the humidity around your plants, set them on a layer of pebbles in a shallow, watertight metal or plastic tray. Add water around, but not over to pebbles. As the water evaporates, it will raise the humidity around the plants. Add water, as needed, but not enough to contract the bottom of the pots. This could cause the soil to become waterlogged, resulting in foot damage.

Like humidity, temperature varies from home to home and season to season. African violets grow best when the night temperature is 65-70 degrees F., but they'll withstand a range from 60-80 degrees F. Long exposure to temperatures above 80 degrees will reduce growth and flowering. During such periods, put your plants in the coolest spot you can find or in an air-conditioned room.

Poorly drained soil is just about the most common cause of slow growth of African violets. Good drainage is the most important consideration in choosing a potting soil. You want a loose, light and porous mixture. You can purchase ready-mixed African violet soil at your favorite garden supply center or you can mix your own. The best mix is equal parts potting soil, sphagnum peat moss, and horticultural grade perlite. Half and half mixtures of only sphagnum peat moss and perlite will support excellent African violet growth, also.

Madrigals To Ring In Holiday Season

This year's Madrigal Dinners at the University of Central Florida will have a new look, with the same traditional flavor.

The dinners, which will be held on four consecutive evenings beginning Dec. 5, will feature a new script, new music, a mini-play and young violin students as part of the fare.

This year's celebrations mark the tenth time the annual dinners have been held at UCF. Along with the entertainment, diners will be treated to such delicacies as roast prime beef, flaming plum pudding and the traditional wassail bowl.

Students from the UCF Theatre will perform as well.

Most store-bought potting mixes have been "sterilized." If you mix your own, you can "sterilize" it by slightly moistening the mixture, then heating it in your oven at 180 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Clay pots can be treated like soil — in the oven. Plastic pots can be cleaned with a weak solution of household bleach.

Like all plants, the roots of African violets must have the right amounts of air and water. To maintain this balance, you must use a porous, well-drained potting mixture. After you water thoroughly, you should let all the excess water drain from the bottom of the pot. Plants in clay pots require more frequent watering than those in plastic pots. Decorative glazed pots without drainage holes are generally unsatisfactory.

African violets can be watered from top or bottom. Either way, the water should be room temperature. As a rule, water each time the soil surface feels dry, but before it becomes hard, or the plants wilt. With African violets, too much water causes trouble more often than too little.

Some folks use a wick-watering system for their African violets. This works on the same principle as oil lamps. Water is kept in a reservoir and is soaked up by a wick that leads into the soil around the roots of the plant above. You can buy wick-watering pots, or you can make your own, using ordinary clay pots held over a water reservoir made out of something like a cottage cheese container.

Commercial wick pots usually have fiberglass wicks. You can buy these separately from your garden supply store or make your own from strips of old nylon stockings. Use a wick about six inches long, threading half of it through a drainage hole in the bottom of the pot. Then, add your soil mix on top of the wick, and set the plant in the normal fashion. Run the other end of the wick into the reservoir below, making sure the pot is not sitting in the water. Water the plant from the top the first time to get the system working. Watch the plant for a few days to see how often you'll need to add water to the reservoir. Clean the reservoir about once a month to reduce the chance of plant disease infection.

African violets prefer frequent plant food applications. You can feed with each watering, using about one-quarter the amount of fertilizer recommended on the label — be very careful not to overfeed.

Remember, keep the soil moderately moist and well-aerated...keep cold water off of the leaves...and, keep the crown (the part of the plant where all of the leaf stems grow) as dry as possible. Be sure you use pots with drainage holes to prevent fertilizer buildup in the soil and root rotting.

Happy gardening!

Peggy Miller as Susanna Wesley

Dramatist To Enact Susanna Wesley Role

Her son founded Methodism. His brother Charles wrote more than 3,000 of its fervent hymns. An now, 200 years later, Susanna Wesley, the 18th century mother of the founding Methodist evangelicals, is being given her place on the stage of Methodist history.

Christian dramatist Peggy Miller of Jacksonville will appear in the role of Susanna Wesley at the First United Methodist Church, 419 Park Ave., Sanford, on Sunday, Nov. 11, at the 8.30 and 11 a.m. worship services. In a 45-minute dramatization, Mrs. Miller recreates the personality, the life and message of this devout woman of God whose strength of character shaped the lives of her history-making sons. Visitors are welcome.

Mrs. Miller is the wife of the Rev. Ken Miller, a United Methodist minister, and the couple are the parents of two daughters. A graduate of Asbury College where she majored in speech and drama, since 1976 Mrs.

Miller has been performing on-stage-woman dramas based on famous women in history. She does the research, writes the scripts and designs the costumes for her presentations.

Other characters in Mrs. Miller's repertoire include Katherine Luther, the former nun who married Martin Luther of the Protestant Reformation; Fanny Crosby, America's blind gospel hymn writer; Carrie ten boom, survivor of Nazi persecution; and Mary, Mother of Christ.

"I have been portraying Susanna Wesley for almost nine years," Mrs. Miller says. "She has greatly influenced my life."

John Wesley said of his mother, "God never blessed a human creature with a more cheerful disposition, a more generous spirit, a sweeter temper or a tenderer heart."

Mrs. Miller calls her portrayal based for the most parts on Susanna's journals and family letters, "A Portrait of Discipline and Devotion."

Finicky Eater Hurts Hostess

DEAR ABBY: I don't want to brag, but I'm considered one of the best cooks in Brooklyn. I spent two days preparing a delicious company dinner and all my guests ate very well with the exception of one woman who is always watching her figure.

She took one bite of the appetizer (chopped liver) and a taste of the soup (matzo ball) and that was all.

I asked her why she wasn't eating the roasted chicken and noddle pudding, and she said she was afraid if she took even a taste, she wouldn't be able to stop.

She turned down my dessert, too. Abby, if she didn't want to eat, why did she accept my invitation? Doesn't it show bad manners to come to dinner and refuse the food?

HURT IN BROOKLYN

DEAR HURT: Perhaps the lady wanted the company but not the calories. I'm sure you're a fine cook, but a gracious hostess pretends not to notice how much (or little) a guest is eating.

Your guest could be a compulsive overeater, in which case just one little taste could trigger an eating binge.

Dear Abby

These days, the caring hostess will serve an abundance of vegetables and fruit for calorie-counting guests who are fighting the battle of the bulge.

DEAR ABBY: I work for a company that has roughly 1,700 employees. Every year we are treated to an outstanding Christmas party, and each employee is entitled to bring one gift.

A fellow employee I hardly know has a married son and an unmarried daughter. They both live out of town.

Yesterday, this woman came up to me and said, "My son and his wife are coming in to spend Christmas with me, and my daughter will also be here. I'm taking my son to the Christmas party as my guest and 'so and so' is taking my daughter-in-law.

Would you mind taking my daughter as your guest? I'm sure you won't mind — you are single, and I know you don't date."

I was so angry I lost my voice, but here is what I want to say to her:

"Lady, listen up good. No, your daughter may not come as my guest. This party is for the employees and one guest each; it's not a family reunion. And besides, this year I have a date! Merry Christmas!"

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED UP: The speech is wonderful. Now deliver it to this office turkey before Thanksgiving.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, you published some incredible remarks mourners had made to the widow at the funeral. This one should be added:

Duncan was a sheep farmer in the Scottish Highlands. One sunny day he went on the loch alone in his small boat to fish. A sudden, violent wind and rainstorm hit the area, capsizing his boat and drowning him.

At the wake, people were giving condolences to the grieving widow. One prying woman, a casual acquaintance, offered, "I'm very sorry about your husband."

The widow nodded, "Thank you."

The "friend" added, "I hear he left you quite well off."

The widow replied, "Quite — 200,000 pounds, to be exact."

The nosy one, shaking her head, exclaimed, "My, my, such a lot of money for a man who couldn't read or write."

"Nor swim," replied the widow with a wry smile.

JACK MCGINLEY,
WESTMINSTER, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks to "In Love in Oregon"—the Romeo who wrote to say he had a "fabulous" weekend at Harris Beach with a nice girl from Grants Pass, but he didn't catch her last name — now I know where my wife went last weekend.

She's a Dear Abby fan, so after she reads this, she might want "In Love" to come back and help her pack.

Cirrhosis Of Liver Not Always Alcohol Related

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — My wife is an alcoholic and has just recovered from a bout of alcoholic hepatitis. Her doctor said she was very lucky to have survived. She was very jaundiced and had to be in the intensive-care unit at the hospital.

The doctor said she does not have cirrhosis of the liver. I thought all alcoholics who developed hepatitis really had cirrhosis of the liver. If she doesn't have cirrhosis now, will she develop it later?

Aside from stopping drinking alcohol, what can be done for her? What is her outlook for the future?

DEAR READER — Cirrhosis means scarring of the liver. It is true that some people who have acute alcoholic hepatitis do not develop cirrhosis, but the liver is very badly damaged during the acute illness, and 10 to 40 percent of patients with acute alcoholic hepatitis die from it. That is why your wife's doctor said she was very lucky.

Cirrhosis of the liver is the fifth most common cause of death in middle-aged women. It is fourth in men. About 80 percent of these cases of cirrhosis are caused by alcohol abuse. Cirrhosis can be caused by complications of viral hepatitis, specifically hepatitis B, heart failure and obstruction of the bile system. Therefore, not all cases of cirrhosis can be attributed to alcohol, even though it is the most common cause.

Your wife's outlook is not good unless she stops drinking. She needs professional help for that, and the sooner the better. That is the one most important thing she can do. Fewer than half of the patients with such problems who do not stop drinking survive more than five years.

DEAR DR. LAMB — When we lose fat, how do we eliminate it? Is it then toxic? Does fat turn back into cholesterol? Will losing fat too fast increase one's cholesterol level?

DEAR READER — The fat in and on your body is much like the fat on meat. When your body fat is mobilized and metabolized, it is handled in exactly the same way: It is metabolized into carbon dioxide and water to release its energy. It is not toxic, any more than the fat that is digested and metabolized from food is toxic.

Years ago, we did worry that as body fat was mobilized and metabolized, it increase the cholesterol level. The thought was that it was like being on a high-fat diet if the body used a lot of body fat for calories. However, we now know that just the opposite occurs. In most people, when the calorie intake is decreased enough to induce body-fat loss, the cholesterol level falls. It may not stay down after the weight has stabilized.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Here is another chapter in the saga of not taking finesse. That principle is combined with an unusual type of dummy reversal in this deal. First let's see where declarer went wrong.

Declarer ducked the opening heart lead. He won the heart continuation, played a diamond to the ace and low diamond back to his jack. West won, cashed the third heart, and later made another diamond to set the contract.

South started on the right track, but was derailed when he went for the diamond finesse. Instead, the key to success is making all his small trumps. After winning the heart ace at trick two, he should play ace of clubs and trump a club. Next he should lead a spade to the king and trump another club. A spade lead to the queen allows declarer to trump dummy's last club.

Now the spade ace is played. If West trumpes in, he is end played in diamonds. If West does not trump, declarer can cash the king and ace of diamonds for 10 tricks. If declarer wants something better, he can play the diamond ace and put West on lead with the last heart, forcing the lead into declarer's K-J of diamonds for 11 tricks.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 10, 1984

This coming year offers many surprises that could bring about welcome changes. A series of unusual happenings will breed new life into your personal affairs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Recognize the difference between kin and foolishness today so you won't be maneuvered into a position where you pay for another's mistakes. Find out why you may be having trouble with your romance by sending for the Astro-Graph Matchmaker set. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio Station, New York, NY 10019.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Valued relationships must be handled with extreme tact and skill today so you do not unintentionally do something that could alienate one who is fond of you. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-19) Do not try to take shortcuts today in tasks that require time and patience. This could end up making things much harder for you than they should be.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You might meet someone today who will make a wonderful first impression. However, you'd be wise to get to know this person better before getting too deeply involved.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Timing is important today for your career. Don't do anything impulsively that your better judgment tells you needs more thought and study.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Think before you speak today because your concentration may not be up to par and you might let comments slip out that would be difficult to retract.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be extremely careful today if you are the guardian of the possessions of another. Treat what has been put in your trust as if it were your own.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you require a staunch ally today, avoid one who has a history of indecision. He might abruptly switch sides and leave you standing alone.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Failing to take care of your duties today is inviting future problems. Later you might have to pay a bigger price for your negligence than you anticipated.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Even if you link up with a friend today who usually fares well with fliers, this could still be a bad day for you to gamble on risky ventures.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you present yourself too forcefully in career situations today the end results could be just the opposite of what you had hoped to achieve.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be a good listener today and be certain you have all the facts before jumping to conclusions. There's a chance you may hear only what you want to hear.

murder investigation — first as a pain in the neck to the homicide boys, then as a sort of visiting expert on murder. It is she who cracks the case.

I did see one episode that stayed at home. There was a shipwreck near Cabot Cove. A millionaire was thrown overboard and apparently died. Each of his four daughters on board had a reason to do it.

However, the plot was just awful. I'm the world's worst person when it comes to guessing who done it, and even I figured this one out.

Given time, "Murder, She Wrote" could become better. But it needs confidence in its small-town setting and affection for the denizens. Some regular subsidiary characters would help immensely.

As it is, the gifted Miss Lansbury is left to flail around all by herself. The producers ought to throw her a life preserver.

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — California's newest city is home to the Sunset Strip, trendy Melrose Avenue and the nation's first city government dominated by openly gay politicians who say their election was a victory for homosexuals across the nation.

"It is of symbolic significance that gay people were elected as competent leaders," gay activist Valerie Ferrigno said Tuesday after West Hollywood, a community of 36,000, voted to incorporate and elected a city council.

"A lot of people will be watching to see how well we do," said Ferrigno, one of three avowed gays who won seats on the five-member city council.

Coffee

America's Beverage Goes Exotic

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Swiss chocolate almond, hot chocolate mocha, Irish cream, bewitching brandy — they may sound like the latest exotic offerings at your favorite ice cream parlor, but they're not.

And if Bruce Hartman has his way, they will make you turn your back on that cup of instant, caffeine-laden muddy water that you clutch at and cling to each morning, gasping "Coffee! Coffee!" as you struggle to get going.

Hartman, 35, who presides as manager over the steaming pots and bean-filled bins at a Longwood gourmet coffee shop, would like to turn you onto a new brew that might make you a true coffee lover and not just a caffeine addict. In fact he would urge you to try one of his heady decaffeinated brews, one that may have had an exotic extract of brandy, chocolate, or other flavor added when the beans were roasted.

But the one you ultimately choose to please your palate will have to be solely your choice, because, he said, "It's a matter of personal taste. Coffee is really an individual thing. People come up and ask me what's the best coffee on the counter. I don't know. My taste is different from yours. I like sweet bewitching brandy, but somebody else might not.

"All people are eccentric and are really fussy when it comes to coffee," Hartman said. "That's why there are so many different coffee drinks." But Americans are less sure of themselves when offered a sample of a less traditional drink.

"Europeans are used to a strong, rich cup of coffee — the espresso, the French roasts. They think our coffee is just muddy water. The Cubans, the Spanish people, they've been raised on these strong brews that will just about grow hair on your chest," he said.

"It's frustrating to try to educate the public. They come up and say, 'I just want regular old coffee.' I say, 'We don't have regular coffee. We're a gourmet coffee shop.' Or they say, 'I want good old American coffee. There's only one coffee grown in America and that's a technicality. It's grown in Hawaii.'"

Most uninitiated coffee seekers who find their way to Hartman's counter settle for the security of the house blend of a light roast Colombian and a dark French roast, which tastes more like the average coffee, he said.

"But the real connoisseur will be into espresso or cappuccino, which is pretty much an acquired taste and it's a much stronger cup."

Espresso means three things, Hartman said. It's a very fine grind, and one of the darkest roasts in addition to being a quick brew process, thus the name espresso. "What you end up with is a very small demitasse cup equal to about three cups of regular coffee."

Cappuccino is half coffee and half steamed frothed milk and may be topped with chocolate or cinnamon, he said.

A Cappuccino-type drink lured customer Lisa Riley to Hartman's shop one day recently. She was disappointed when she found out Hartman was temporarily out of her favorite Irish cream, which is her usual treat when she's shopping at his Longwood location, but she quickly adapted and ordered a frothy concoction — hot chocolate mocha — after seeing Hartman whip one up for another customer.

"I used to be a real coffee freak," 26-year-old Ms. Riley of Fern Park said, but I'm getting back to nature, so I don't drink as much. I don't drink decaffeinated, because it doesn't do anything for me. I try to make it all day without a cup of coffee, but if I can't make it I stop and have a cup. Once I get the coffee I want the boost from the caffeine. For taste, I really prefer hot tea, but I always treat myself to a cup of Irish cream when I come here; except for today I'm having this."

Ms. Riley was delighted with her substitute selection, but Marian Zouderer of Winter Park wouldn't consider settling for anything less than Swiss chocolate almond.

"I'm an old-time coffee lover. I've been through the gamut, but I only drink decaffeinated now. I'm an ex-Navy wife and they're very big on coffee. I drink three or four cups a day," she said.

Mrs. Zouderer not only ordered a cup of Hartman's brew to drink on the spot, she had him grind a pound for her to take home.

"When I get this," she said.

...Horton

The amazing thing is that Horton, who is now 80, did exactly that.

After five years with "Wagon Train," he left the show in 1963. They tried to persuade him to stay — the show was still big — by waving around numbers like $2 million. And they gave him, without his asking, a bigger dressing room and the stereo of his choice. And more.

But Horton was determined. So, off he went to New York.

He realizes that a lot of actors paid lip service to the goal of returning to the stage, of just doing 'TV long enough to amass money so they could go back and do stage work, which pays relatively little. But few ever did it.

"I think the reason I did it and the others didn't," Horton says, "has nothing to do with our relative moral fiber. I think it is because I came from Beverly Hills in the first place and I grew up with money."

'Murder She Wrote' CBS' Surprising Stiff

By David Handler

Maybe I was expecting too much of "Murder, She Wrote." But I had reason to. This CBS series stars the great Angela Lansbury as a famous mystery writer who keeps stumbling onto real-life murders. It comes from Levinson and Link, who gave us "Columbo."

"Murder, She Wrote" could have been one of the season's best new shows. And maybe it is, but that says more about the season than the show, which is softer, slower and more obvious than it ought to be.

For me, this one's a big disappointment. Our lead character is delightful. Jessica Fletcher is a wonderfully dotty widow who lives in a tiny Maine fishing hamlet called Cabot Cove. Jessica jogs and rides a bike and wears amusing hats.

She types her best-selling murder mysteries on a manual typewriter. She uses lots of quaint expressions like "You're full of clam dip." She's quirky, witty, generous and friendly. She also possesses a sharp wit and a tough, persistent Yankee nature. She is never fooled.

Trouble is, the producers have little faith in the show's small-town setting. Jessica is our only regular character, and the stories are deviled with the intent of getting her the heck out of Cabot Cove.

The two-hour pilot took her to New York to publicize her new book, and then out to her publisher's country home for a costume party where, in Agatha Christie tradition, a guest was murdered.

Another episode I saw sent her to Hollywood, where one of her books was being made into an awful film. The producer, a man who was loathed by everyone who knew him, turned up dead.

In both cases, Jessica becomes involved in the

"It's just like I'm having desert, but without the calories, if I have the chocolate coffee. Skip the calories and drink the coffee. It's better for the hips," Mrs. Zounderer said.

When it comes to selecting a coffeemaker, Hartman said you can go with a $10.99 manual maker or up through the scale to a $200 model that can be programmed to automatically grind your coffee and brew your drink. But whatever maker you choose it should use the cone, drip process, he said.

Perking is a passer method that makes a bitter, oil-filled brew and the automatic drip makers that have flat grounds baskets aren't much better, Hartman said. A cone-shaped basket is a must, he explained, because it lets the water seep through the grounds just once and the even flow of water extracts the ideal flavor from the coffee.

Once you have your coffee brewed, what you put it in to drink it is also a very personal thing. A thermal cup is for those who want to keep their drink hot for as long as possible, but for those who like cooler coffee a ceramic mug, which draws off some of the heat is ideal.

Hartman said would like to see the return of the old-time coffee shops of the '50s and '60s where those who don't drink alcohol could enjoy their less potent addiction, along with some entertainment, but for now his "coffee boutique" is geared to the hurried shoppers who rush in, grab a quick cup of coffee without stopping to relax and sip.

and I went to the best schools, so I had nothing to prove to myself in that area.

"What I did have to prove to myself was that I had the talent, for Broadway."

So he left the glamour and the money behind and went to New York and did a couple of musicals — "110 in the Shade" and "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever" — and ultimately stayed in New York for 20 years.

And he might still be there, except that a few years ago a house he had always loved, one designed and built by George Montgomery, came on the market here.

So they bought the house and came back home, back to California.

Robert Horton Blazing A Winding New Trail

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Back in 1958, Robert Horton was one of the big TV stars. His "Wagon Train" was a trailblazing show, a critical hit, a ratings smash.

In those days, I interviewed Horton and asked him about his plans for the future. "After 'Wagon Train' runs its course," Horton said, "I'll be heading back to New York and I'll get on the stage — somehow, anyhow. I'd particularly like to do a musical, because I sing, which very few people out here know."
