Campaign Tempers Flare When Issues Raised At Jaycee Luncheon

Dr. Dobson To Talk On Japan At Rotary Club Meet Monday

A man who, in all probability, is the best qualified in this area to talk on his subject, will speak to the Sanford Rotary Club at its weekly meeting Monday night at the Yacht Club on "Japan—After 10 Years."

Capt. John Dobson, M. C. 1st N. Senior Medical Officer of the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station, who had two tours of duty in Japan, first during 1945 and again last year in school, among other things, to check the atom bombing of Hiroshima during World War II. Dr. Dobson, a native of New York City, received his medical schooling at Columbia University and served his internship at St. Vincent's Hospital and his residency at Jefferson Hospital, both in his home city. His degrees include those of A. B. and M. D.

He has been attached to aviation units since beginning his naval career at Pensacola in 1940 and has had duty aboard the aircraft carriers Ranger, Lexington, Munda, Roosevelt, Leyte and Tachibana and prior to reporting to Sanford shortly before the start of this year was stationed at Naval Air Station, Alameda, and as Medical Officer and as Medical Officer for Command, Fleet Air Japan.

Accusations May Come Out Tonight At Rally In Geneva

The 10th in a series of 11 rallies will be held tonight at Geneva at the Community House when the local candidates will be allowed five minutes to speak their platforms to the people of that community.

Rumors, and purely rumors, have not been substantiated, but been circulated that charges and countercharges will come out tonight's rally.

In which group, or whether several groups are involved, has not been determined, but it is expected that the night's rally will be the largest attended other than the expected crowd at the final rally which is to be held in Sanford at the Farmer's Auction Market Friday night, May 4.

The Parent-Teachers Association will serve dinner tonight prior to the rally beginning at 8 p. m. Speaking will get underway at 8 o'clock.

James Lee, chairman of the Seminole County Democratic Party, said the candidates.

Tempers flared briefly during an after-speaking question-and-answer period when candidates brought out their points regarding issues facing them in the coming election for Sheriff of Seminole County.

Four of the candidates for sheriff of Seminole County were guests of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday at their noon luncheon meeting and each was allowed to speak on his platform and retire to become sheriff.

Charles Beck, gave an unprecedented talk longer than any he has given during the political rallies and speaking tour. However, he again brought out "The people of Seminole County, I believe, are looking for an honest, hard-working sheriff."

"I want to thank you for this opportunity to speak," he said, "and will appreciate your vote in the coming election."

J. L. Hobby did not appear at the luncheon meeting, probably due to his railroad commitments which prevented him from being in Sanford for the affair.

Denver Cordell took an entirely new tack on the broadcast program when he surprised his audience with the statement "There seems to be some question as to the appointment for this job."

"A number of people applied," Cordell said, "including my three opponents, and when I finally made up my mind to accept this appointment, I went to Tallahassee."

"The Governor told me I'm not appointing you sheriff because you are a friend of mine or because of friends of friends of mine and you are not obligated to the committee which recommended you. Go back down to Sanford and make a good statement," he said.

"I have had no trouble with the committee," Cordell said.

And he concluded, "I have not had time to do what I want to do. If you give me a chance I and I will prove to you that I will give you an up-to-date sheriff's office."

Porter Lansing told the Jaycees, "We are going to have law enforcement as we have never had before. We want to protect natural resources, something that has never been done before in Seminole County. With the people's help I can do this for you."

He said, "We need a new deal. Everyone of my opponents are (Continued On Page Ten)

12 Complete Red Cross First Aid- Instruction Class

Twelve members of a Red Cross First Aid Instruction class held in the Oviedo City Hall under the direction of Ernest Defallot have completed the course.

The twelve members of the class have met the Red Cross qualifications of the standard course of instruction and will receive their certificates through the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Those receiving certificates are: Theodora Aulin Jr., W. C. Schumacher, J. W. Evans, J. E. Brookshire, Katrina Brookshire, Jimmy Brookshire, Wesley Evans, James E. Pearson, Don R. Ulray, Betty Duda, Katherine Duda, and Lillian Jackson.

Those registered in the classes were from both Oviedo and Slavia.

Clerks, Inspectors Instructed In Use Of Voting Machines

Clerks and inspectors who will be in charge of the forthcoming elections in Seminole County were instructed last night in the use and operation of the Shoup Voting Machines.

All of the clerks and inspectors have been appointed for the 16 Seminole County Precincts, the list of which is published elsewhere in today's Sanford Herald along with sample ballots that will be used on the voting machines.

C. E. Ripple, representative of the Shoup Voting Machine Company, instructed the election officials as to the use and operation of the machines and in the tabulating of the final report of the election results.

The voting machines, 23 of them to be put into operation and used in the Seminole County elections, were demonstrated yesterday at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Coffee Club by W. A. Adams, Custodian of the machines appointed by the Seminole County Commissioners.

Today, J. T. Lanlon, a representative of the voting machine company, is in Sanford demonstrating the use of the machines on the corner of First and Park.

Since early this morning, hundreds of Seminole County voters have availed themselves of the opportunity to learn the use of the machine and to become familiar with its operation.

Samuel E. Shoup, son of the inventor of the Shoup Voting Machine, was in Sanford earlier in the week. He said here "The Shoup machine is the simplest machine to operate and absolutely fool-proof."

He said, "No one should stay away from the polls this election because of the machines since they are so easy to use and clerks and inspectors are fully informed as to their use."

"In every place that the Shoup Voting Machine has been used," he said, "the number of voters has increased because of their simplicity."

Moss Bluff Lock Closed To Boats

A notice has been given that the Moss Bluff Lock, located at Moss Bluff on the Oklawaha River, is closed to navigation for dewatering and underwater repairs during the period extending through May 1.

Special attention is given to the fact that this temporary closure prohibits through passage on the Oklawaha River between the St. Johns River and Lake Griffin.

Navigation interests are urged to take this closure into consideration in planning their operations.

Every effort will be made, it is reported, to reopen the lock to navigation at the earliest possible time.

Due to the number of persons of the immediate Sanford area using this water route special attention is brought to this notice.

Herald Endorses Sen. Stenstrom

The Sanford Herald is proud to endorse the candidacy of Senator Douglas Stenstrom in his bid for re-election to the Florida Senate.

Do do this, not simply because he is our fellow citizen, but because we believe him to be the better qualified of the two candidates for the office.

On his record, Senator Stenstrom has earned a full term in the Senate. In 1955, his Senate colleagues selected him first term Senator. In the traditional St. Petersburg Times' poll of Capitol correspondents, Stenstrom was voted among the top six most valuable members of the Florida Senate.

These tributes from the men with whom he served and from those who watched the workings of the Senate day by day are evidence enough of his effectiveness, ability and integrity, and of his consistent vote in the public interest.

Let's set the record straight!

The record shows that Senator Stenstrom did not vote against an increase in old age assistance grants and did not vote to decrease old age assistance grants. Senator Stenstrom has supported Florida's assistance program for our elderly citizens. The Senate Appropriations Committee in 1955 included in the general appropriations bill over 30 million dollars for the old age assistance program. The entire membership of the Senate, including Stenstrom, voted in favor of the appropriation. In addition, he supported a Senate resolution providing for a thorough study of the problems of financial assistance to our older people by the State Development Commission for recommendations to the 1957 session, realizing that proper planning was necessary in order to sustain the old age assistance program in the years ahead.

Senator Stenstrom's record shows conclusively that he favors separate but equal school facilities for Negro children in our state. Along with the entire membership of the Senate, he voted for a Senate resolution to Congress, requesting Congress to over-ride the decision of the Supreme Court by passing a proposed constitutional amendment, to be submitted to the several states for ratification providing the states with exclusive jurisdiction over their public school systems. He also voted with the entire membership of the Senate for a bill to permit the County School systems to have exclusive jurisdiction in determining which schools children shall attend.

The record shows that Senator Stenstrom has supported revision of Florida's antiquated constitution, the 1955 Road Code to put road building in our state on a basis of determined need, the Florida Development Commission for the attraction of new industry to Florida, the Civil Service Merit bill providing job security for competent state employees, water conservation and flood control, adequate appropriations for our state hospitals for our mentally ill, the Farm Colony for our retarded children, and the Florida Industrial Schools for boys and girls.

As Chairman of the Senate Citrus Committee he handled on the floor of the Senate, in the closing days of the last session, a bill providing for adequate funds to combat the new citrus disease known as "spreading decline" which threatens Florida's citrus industry. He supported bills providing funds for the construction of diagnostic laboratories for Florida's growing cattle industry.

Serving on the important Education Committee, Senator Stenstrom took a leading part in the strengthening of Florida's school program, working for the teachers' pay raise, the drivers' training program, the Junior Colleges and other important bills affecting education in Florida.

Douglas Stenstrom has served the people of Seminole County for the past eight years and the people of the 37th Senatorial District for the past 18 months in a conscientious and able manner. His influence and thinking have always been on the side of the growth and development of this county and this district. He was a leader in the fight for our hospital and has been a leader in the fight for primary roads so needed in both of the counties of his district.

The people should place their stamp of approval on Douglas Stenstrom's splendid record on May 8 and return him to the Senate for a full term.

Christensen Chosen Bicycle Club Head

Officers of the Seminole Bicycle Club were elected at a recent meeting of the organization. Ed Christensen was named president of the group. Mrs. Frances Murray, vice-president and Mrs. Leda Peterson, secretary. Sidney Vihlen Jr. accepted the appointment as Senior Road Captain.

For further activities of the members of the Seminole Bicycle Club, which numbers several hundred boys and girls will be divided into age groups for such events as hobby parties and treasure hunts.

Bids will be sent home to parents or guardians of the children, from school, asking permission for the boys and girls to ride in groups to the various events sponsored by the club.

The Elks Club of Sanford has volunteered to sponsor the next event planned by the Seminole Bicycle Club.

Attending the meeting were: Mrs. G. Hamberger president of the Southside School P-TA; Mrs. Ray Murray, Safety Chairman, Southside School P-TA; Mrs. Alice Willink, co-chairman of the Southside School P-TA Safety Committee; Mrs. Margie Hill, Navy Officers Wives Club; Mrs. Gene Pitters, Navy Wives Club; Mrs. Harvey Swanson, Pilot Club; Mrs. C. St. Flowers, Womans Club; Ernest Cowley, Kiwanis Club; Bob Karnes, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce; Chief Ray O. Williams, Elks Club; Patrolman Ben Butler, Sanford Police Department; Dr. Charles L. Park Jr., Rotary Club; Rayburn T. Milwee, Superintendent of Public Instruction; Mrs. W. B. Brinson, Sanford Grammar School Safety Committee; and the Girl Scouts.

Brought to the attention of the Seminole Bicycle Club members was the fact that bicycle riders of today are tomorrow's motorists, so if they learn habits of safe, lawful and reasonable driving, they will continue those habits when they begin to drive automobiles.

It is expected that many safe bike riding events will be planned throughout the coming summer months.

Friends' Aid Needed

Bralley Odham spoke for LeRoy Collins last night in a television address seen and heard in the Sanford area.

Odham defended Collins against charges of opponents that the governor favors segregation and in a press interview forecast that Collins would win in the first primary — "If his friends work hard enough for him."

The pressure of the stretch drive in the gubernatorial campaign brought forth sharp criticism and name calling among the four major contenders yesterday.

Monter L. Lowry, who has been engaging in a verbal slugfest with Gov. Collins over their views on segregation, called the governor a "hoax on the people of Florida and just a small time politician."

Collins, in a speech to the annual Cracker Day celebration at Sherfield Beach, warned his audience against exchanging good government for "buffoonery and demagoguery."

Earlier in Pinellas and Pasco counties, Collins spoke out against "babe campaigning" by opposition candidates and said "We have a state to build and not a state to destroy."

Former Gov. Fuller Warren told an audience at Tallahassee last night that if Collins is re-elected he is likely "to make a strong effort" to get the constitution amended to permit him to run for governor again in 1960.

The same suggestion was made earlier by Farris Bryant, another of the gubernatorial candidates. Bryant said the Constitution Advisory Commission was getting ready to propose a constitutional change to allow the governor to succeed himself one time.

Collins had said he agreed with commission chairman Wallace E. Sturgis who labeled Bryant's statement an "outright fabrication."

"Too much power for too long is a very dangerous thing," Warren said. "Give anybody too much power for too long and he's liable to abuse it and mistreat the people he has power over."

Light beyond the shadows

People who see the Light that shines beyond the present shadows can walk safely along the way of life. Those who stumble in darkness and fear are the people who lack the vision of faith.

A man named Saul of Tarsus groped in the darkness of the pagan world. His heart was filled with hate and he saw them stone the servants of God. Then he saw the Light and became a new man.

The skies of life are often filled with clouds and storm. Strife and hatred, selfishness and meanness, suffering and despair, rob the day of its brightness and fill the world with woe.

But those who have the penetrating vision of faith need fear no harm. If they keep their eyes fixed on the Light that lies beyond the shadows and trust in God, they may walk in the perfect security of faith.

The blackness of night cannot quench the Light of faith; the sweeping storms of adversity cannot blot it out. It shines on undimmed into the perfect day, when the storms depart and the shadows fade away.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the great factor on earth for the building of character of a good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four main reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to attend church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Murray's Life Full Of Coincidences

HOLLYWOOD UP—The lucky lad who gets to play opposite Marilyn Monroe is lanky Don Murray, whose life is full of coincidences. Like this one: Don was born 26 years ago a stone's throw from the Fox Studios. His father was dance director there. Now the young man is back on the same lot, standing in the first film he has done.

When Don Murray was announced as Monroe's leading man in "Bus Stop," a lot of folks asked "who's he?" It wasn't an impertinent question. Except for avid fans of the Broadway stage and TV dramas, he was largely an unknown.

Just as you'll know, here's a rundown on Don: Producer Buddy Adler chose Don out of 53 or more others who tested for the role. The lad was signed to two pictures a year, with the right to do plays and outside in Long Island, Cleveland and Texas. Show business was his heritage; his father is Dennis Murray, long-time stage manager; his mother is Ethel Cook, one-time Ziegfeld girl.

Don went to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts a grade ahead of Grace Kelly, did a few small stage roles. A member of the Church of the Brethren, he chose to be a conscientious objector and served two years as a worker in refugee camps and other services in Europe.

He worked an extra six months on such projects abroad, then resumed his acting career. His biggest break was playing in "The Skin of Our Teeth" with Mary Martin and Helen Hayes. Josh Logan spied him in the show, tabbed him as a possibility for "Bus Stop."

Don and Hope became acquainted in New York and were cast in the same show, "Hot Corner," without each other being aware of the fact. Don swears that he had no knowledge of Hope's getting the "Bus Stop" job, and studio bosses claim they didn't know the pair was engaged.

movies. With Monroe as costar, he's headed for the big time. Also appearing in "Bus Stop" is Don's pretty young bride, Hope Lange, and thereby hang some more coincidences. Their fathers know each other when Dennis Murray was Ziegfeld's stage manager and John Lange was the showman's arranger.

What Are We Doing As Individuals To Help Prevent Traffic Deaths?

What are we doing, as individuals, to prevent the loss of life on our streets and highways?

Sometimes we might ask ourselves that question and try to extract from our not infrequently selves a frank and deliberate answer.

What would the solution be if those lights, ideas, plans, self-examination were not pooled into one definite line of action?

Is the individual who will ultimately be responsible for the reduction of accidents, perhaps, the cause of an accident might be attributed to the fact that "mentation" grates on nerves of those who drive the speed, get-away, and agility of new-fangled, new-powered cars that on the roads during this modern age.

A crystal ball, perhaps, would be an answer to our problem if we could foresee in the next moment and determine what might happen to us as we hurtle down the highway at break-neck speed. Certainly we would not push ourselves into a self-dug grave.

Sixteen hundred and forty-nine accidents were investigated on highways outside of Florida towns and cities in March when 72 persons lost their lives and 818 were injured.

March was the worst of traffic death months in the state's history, with a total of 181 dead from traffic crashes both inside and out of towns and cities of the state.

The wreck total was up 19 per cent over a comparable month last year and the death toll up 45 per cent in wrecks and deaths investigated by the Florida Highway Patrol alone.

While the month was going down in history as a bloody massacre with the gas-

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Come to me all ye that labour.—Matthew 11:28—Christ was a laboring man most of his life. He laid down principles that were fair to labor. It was he who first laid down the principle that those engaged late in the day should have a full day's wage. No system based on hate ever gave labor its rights. It never will.

Bankers say the demand for loans is effectively drying up available funds. Insurance companies, with total assets above $10 billion dollars, report they are largely loomed up in carrying for their regular customers.

At the same time, rising interest rates and investor choosiness are making some new corporate financing "stitchy," and have caused some companies and local governments to cancel earlier plans to seek money in the market.

The prices of marketable U. S. government bonds have fallen—meaning that the yield on them has risen in line with the increase in returns on other forms of lending or investing.

One prime indicator of the money market—the U. S. Treasury's 91-day bills sold each week—has just climbed to 2.78 per cent, the highest cost for such borrowing since the 1953 bank holiday when it touched 4.28 per cent. Now much the Treasury has to pay to borrow each week usually shows how tight or easy the market may be—although weekly fluctuations themselves may reflect on temporary or special conditions.

Bankers say the federal reserve has been following rather than leading the money market—that

Herlong Reports

Our Committee is now holding hearings on the Administration's proposals for improvement of the public assistance program and for extension and improvement of the child health and welfare program.

These programs are not to be confused with Social Security, although they are administered by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Social Security is an insurance program whereby the employed people pay into a fund and when they reach retirement age they receive monthly benefits based on the amount of payment they have made into the fund. The public assistance program and welfare program are a federal-state partnership. The federal government will contribute this year nearly 1 1/2 billion dollars to this program and the various states will contribute over a billion dollars. This is an appropriation which is financed by the taxpayers which is in contrast with Social Security which is financed by people who pay Social Security taxes.

Some interesting and enlightening facts have been brought out at the hearings. For example, 74 per cent of the men reaching age 65 today are eligible for insurance benefits under Social Security. Today eight million persons are receiving monthly old age and survivors insurance benefits. Under the public assistance programs over 2 1/2 million people receive monthly old age assistance checks. In addition to this amount, over a million and one-half children and over one-half million adults caring for them receive payments under the aid to dependent children program. Further, 105,000 blind persons and more than 245,000 permanently and totally disabled persons receive monthly payments. This adds up to nearly five million people in the United States who are receiving monthly checks. Add this five million to the eight million people receiving Social Security checks and we have about 13 million people getting checks.

Children born in the United States today can expect to live an average of 70 years—a striking increase of almost 50 per cent in the life expectancy rate that prevailed at the turn of the century.

Newspaperman's Tour Report

This is the 20th and last article of a series written by Mrs. Carmage Walls who represented The Sanford Herald on a tour of foreign countries.

This article will be the last of the ones I have been writing on our recent trip to North Africa, the Middle East, Europe and behind the Iron Curtain.

Our last stop of any consequence was in Leningrad, Russia to which we flew from Moscow on April 10th. We arrived at our hotel—still mulling along Eskimo style in the snow—about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Because the next day was some sort of holiday, we all made a dash to get into Leningrad's famous (and infamous) "Museum of the History of Religion and Atheism" or, as it is better known, the "Anti Religion Museum."

Believe me when I say this is one of the most sickening and terrible sights I have ever witnessed. If you can possibly imagine such a thing, it is a huge building housing nothing but anti-religious displays—sculptures, paintings, literature, etc. Since the Catholic Church has been the strongest religious influence in this area, it, of course, is the prime target of this disgusting play but all denominations and, most especially, the idea of religion itself are attacked viciously. The Communist Party's definition of religion, as everyone knows, is that it is "the opiate of the masses" and must be dealt with in the same manner as if it were a drug like marijuana, etc. The children, of course, are being educated in a program that has no mention of religion of any sort and displays, such as this museum, are aimed at the adults who still cling to their beliefs and worship. It was a vile, evil exhibition and I felt when I got out that I was actually dirty from spending an hour in there. However, I am very glad we were able to see it since, although I had heard of the museum, I never really believed it could be that bad. I'm sorry to say it was even worse than reports had indicated.

I had a bad head cold when we got to Leningrad so, thinking it would be better to stay in, I passed up the trip to "The Hermitage" the next day. The temperature was about at freezing outside and about ten degrees colder inside the hotel where we had no heat, so doubt remains as to the good it did me. At any rate, the others reported that The Hermitage was a sight. It is the former palace of Peter the Great and is now an art museum which, to most of our group, was on a par with the Louvre in Paris or the Prado in Madrid.

The next day before we left Leningrad for home we interviewed Mr. Nikolai I. Smirnov, the Chairman of the Leningrad City Council which district is rather large, making him the equivalent of a governor of one of our states. Mr. Smirnov was learned in selected to his post from an executive committee of 25 people, who are chosen from the whole council of 640 members. These 640 representatives are elected by the people every 2 years from small groups of about 6,000 citizens each.

The only requirement for voting in Russia is to be 18 years of age with no criminal or insanity record. When I asked about literacy being a requirement, I was told, "There is no literacy. If someone can't read and write, he must learn." The ratio at present in the Leningrad Council is 58 per cent Communist and 42 per cent non-Communist. You must remember, of course, that there are no "non-Communist" the way we think of them. There are only non-Party members but who think and act along Party lines. One other interesting fact gleaned was that while voting is not compulsory, 99 percent of the eligible voters do so in this particular area.

We left Mr. Smirnov's office with his apparently friendly wish for a safe journey home and "made tracks". We left Moscow in a snowstorm and flew to Helsinki, Finland for lunch and also to change airlines—

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I had the privilege of attending a meeting at the Parish House on Tuesday evening April 26, 1956, to which the public was invited and special invitations were sent to parents, leaders, and members of the troop committees of each of the Girl Scout troops.

I was surprised and dismayed at the small attendance. What is the general consensus of our citizens regarding such a vital problem?

The future of our nation lies entirely with the training of our youth. The only way to give them the bright prospective is to show OUR enthusiasm in building good character and setting good examples by upholding a good moral organization that has proved itself for the past half-century.

Don't let the Girl Scout Movement down!

We need it to keep down delinquency and build good true American HOMES.

complain in this new legislation. We had one of the most delightful groups to visit us this week that it has been our pleasure to receive in our office. It was the graduating class from the Florida School for the Deaf and Blind in St. Augustine. I was tremendously impressed with their interest in our government and their desire to learn as much as possible about our Nation's Capitol. It really gave me a thrill to see them enjoy it so much.

pleased us. These four engines and seat belts looked like "home." We made the short flight then to Stockholm, Sweden's lovely modern airport, where we had a three hour layover. Then the plane for home! We stopped at Glasgow, Scotland but most of us were asleep and did not leave the plane.

We arrived at New York's Idlewild Airport about 7:30 a.m. Friday (which was 2:30 p.m. according to when we left Russia) and I came within an inch of kissing that beautiful ground! We got through U. S. Customs and went into New York to a hotel for the express purpose of taking showers—one of the many things we missed most. We then went out and ate hot dogs, doughnuts and sweet milk! Our flight for Birmingham left late in the afternoon and, as you know, we got home that night about midnight.

The six and one half weeks were really fabulous—an experience I don't care to repeat for many reasons but one which I would not have missed for anything. We both have a greater understanding and, more important, a greater curiosity and interest in world affairs. My own little world which I must confess was becoming more and more my husband and my children and home, has been greatly enlarged.

I certainly don't think I can solve all or even any of the world's many problems but I am at least taking a greater future interest in reading, studying, thinking and especially in using my best judgement when voting for the people who will play parts in the solutions (or lack of solutions.) For our trip I am extremely appreciative of the opportunity—for our safe return to this beloved country of ours, I am thankful.

Our baseball team has added two more wins to its record. This makes 10-1. Monday DeLand was sent home in defeat to the tune of 6-4 while Tuesday the team returned from New Smyrna victorious with the score 12-5. Good luck in the tourney.

YOU'RE NEVER OLD

Some Folks Take Pleasures Too Grimly
By Spring Byington

MOST folks take their pleasures too grimly, and that's no way to stay young. I've seen women just wear themselves out at their bridge games and social gatherings, thus heating themselves to a nervous frazzle. They strain too much to have fun or to make a point of being sign on others, and they come home exhausted, feeling just miserable.

Those attending were Mrs. Agnes Walker, Mrs. Gregory Kinlaw, Mrs. John Cameron, Mrs. Wesley Fillmon, Mrs. George K. Stephens, Mrs. A. C. Lange, Mrs. S. P. Griffin, Mrs. Eddie Stout, Mrs. W. J. Clark, Mrs. W. J. Moughton Jr., Mrs. Harry Kent, Mrs. Harold H. Kastner.

whether my flowers are going to be bigger and better than those of my neighbors. Sometimes, while I'm gardening around my place in Hollywood Hills, a few strange dogs and cats will drop over for a visit, and like a good hostess I treat them to some refreshments. Some wild little things too come around and I find them wonderful company. In the hills behind my garden there are a lot of racoons that have gotten to know me. Or rather, I've gotten to know them. I go out at night with a flashlight and a bag of food to lure them a little closer and become my friends. Believe me, when you're indulging in that kind of hobby, one that calls for no strain, your worldly cares just vanish.

Energy Begins With Relaxing.
The main thing is to break tension in one's self. Women who besiege doctors with chronic complaints about migraines, depression and insomnia, don't seem to realize that they can't be relaxed when they try to have fun. Hence their lined, worried faces, and their "stoop of age." They make themselves old.

Friends ask me where I get the energy to carry on day after day, seven days a week, with the back-breaking job of starting in TV's "December Bride" show. Remember that I am a 63-year-old grandma.

My answer is simply that I never let myself get tensed up, even when the going gets real rough. During rehearsal breaks in the show, I find that 10-minute catnaps in my dressing room can do wonders.

Besides, I try to keep my spirits gay by using nothing so refreshing and contagious. A little joke or a merry laugh can break mounting tension in a roomful of people, and everything is fine again. It takes no great effort. Try it.

Much Can Happen While Watching TV

NEW YORK (AP) — Sitting quietly at home watching the television set would seem to be a safe and sane pastime. Yet look at some of the things that have been happening in recent weeks:

An Ardmore, Okla., couple were sitting on opposite sides of their living room gazing happily at their TV set when an auto crashed through the wall, passed between them, and came to rest at the end of the room. The startled motorist, who had side-swiped a chair and a stove before him, he didn't touch the TV set.

A fellow in Guelph, Ont., was watching a TV movie of a fire when his wife began shouting, "Fire!" Irritated, the husband snubbed, "I'm watching it. Don't bother me." Minutes later flames extinguished a $3,000 blaze in their kitchen.

In a way George Gobel is to blame for this one. A San Bernardino, Calif., woman laughed so uproariously at his Saturday night show that she awakened her husband, who cursed her out. To frighten him, she got a pistol and fired one shot. Her husband looked at her with a surprised expression and walked out of the house. She went to bed. In the morning she found him 50 feet from the house, dead from a bullet wound.

In Malibu Bay, Va., there was a man who didn't like the TV program his wife was watching. So he went to the garage to listen to his car radio. To keep warm, he turned on the motor briefly. In the morning he was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning.

An elderly woman in Oakland Calif., was watching TV when she was taken ill. She lay for 42 hours in front of her set before help arrived.

A Sedalia, Mo., TV station was raising polo funds when a resident phoned and said he'd give $5 to see a certain policeman get hit in the face with a pie. Arouse from bed, the cop said he'd do it for $50—not $5. In no time viewers had pledged $25. As he hit in the face with a pie. He is, by the way, the cop who issues parking tickets in Sedalia.

Campaign

...of mine but they've all saved in the Sheriff's office in one capacity or another. Road blocks, patrols, sheriffs' posse are all standard equipment. The Sheriff's office belongs to the people and for nine-thousand dollars a year you should get a good job."

Ollie G. Owens, a former chief deputy sheriff, pointed out to the press: "A man should be honest with a determination to stay honest. If elected, I will enforce all the laws of the county and State with no partiality to anyone. I will pay duplicate salaries sufficient to live on and I will cooperate with all law enforcement officers for the betterment of the county. I know I can't whitewash this county but I will clean it up and keep it clean to the best of my ability," he said.

"The flare of tempers came when a question from the floor, directed to the candidates, asked whether personal accounts will be made public if you are elected sheriff," O. G. Owens said. "Certainly, I'll be glad to do that. I will keep records of my personal accounts and they will be open to public inspection. I'll promise the people I'll do that."

Porter Lansing said, "I'll do it and make it public with a notice published for I have to make an annual statement anyway."

Charlie Beck stated that he would make available records of his personal financial accounts.

Denver Cordell, however, said "The records of that office are public and you can look at them any time you want to but those of my business are personal accounts."

To the question regarding the detention of juveniles in the county jail, candidates revealed that each of them prefer detention homes but that a juvenile is detained and jailed only on order from the Juvenile Judge. Ollie Owens stated "A sheriff has no right to put a juvenile in jail without instructions from the Juvenile Judge."

A question about the "fee system," whether for or against, brought varying answers from the four candidates.

Ollie Owens said "I've always been against the fee system. I would recommend that the fee system be done away with. I've been sued at and sometimes lost my religion about the matter. But, Owens said "people think that the sheriff gets all of that money. There are others on the fee system too, with the judge, the clerk of court, the prosecutor all getting a part of the fee."

Porter Lansing revealed "I'm against the fee system. Every at-

Collins should advise bus company operators "in no uncertain terms" that state law requires that buses be segregated and that bus companies "must operate in compliance with our state laws" despite the recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling banning segregation on intrastate buses.

The Tampa businessman also accused Collins of "go-slow, pussy-foot, do-nothing leadership" in not protesting plans for Negroes to use white hotel in Miami Beach for a church convention starting May 2.

"This is a deliberate step toward integration of the races in our state," he said.

Lowry's 8-year-old daughter Lynn attended a fish fry with her father and at his instructions stood up on the platform.

"That's my little girl," Lowry said. "Now what kind of a man would I be if I didn't stand up and fight for a little girl like that?"

Collins and Bryant spoke from the same platform at Deerfield Beach.

Bryant ripped into Collins for his record on segregation, constitutional revision and road spending and called Lowry "a tool of Ed Ball and the duPont interests."

Collins said his opponents are "staring defeat in the face and in their recklessness they have impugned my administration which has brought progress and good government to Florida."

"They have impugned a great and good industrialist who is trying to help the state. They are walling about national magazine publicity which has benefited the entire state."

Collins canceled a campaign swing into Brevard County in order to attend a State Plant Board meeting in Miami which is studying ways of combatting the Mediterranean fruit fly.

Bryant goes on a handshaking tour of five communities south of Miami and makes a night television talk there. He also will make a flying campaign trip to Key West.

Warren goes to Blountstown, Panama City, Fort Walton Beach and Pensacola. Lowry moves up to Jacksonville.

est I make will be a legal one," Charlie Beck answered this way, "I'm not going out and make honky-tonk arrests for the benefit of the fee system. If a man is guilty I'll arrest him."

Denver Cordell said "The fee system has its good merits and its bad merits. The first thing is that the County Commissioners will begin to tell you who to hire and who to catch if the fee system is abolished. I'm not sure that I'm for doing away with the fee system."

Meet To Map Next Products Festival Scheduled May 18

A state-wide planning meeting to map the next Florida Products Festival will be held in Orlando May 18 according to word received here today by Forrest E. Breckenridge, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

A. J. (Tony) Dwyer, advertising director for the Florida Development Commission, said the one-day gathering would review the initial Florida products promotion campaign held last Jan. 19-23 and use it as a basis for planning the next event aimed at promoting consumer purchases of Florida products.

Representatives of retail fields, manufacturers, packers, various commodity associations, news media, publicity groups and Chambers of Commerce as well as members of the Florida Development Commission, will be invited to attend the meeting.

Objective of the Florida Products Festival, sponsored by the Development Commission, is to retain a greater share of consumer dollars in the state.

Probable speakers at the meeting will be J. Saxton Lloyd, chairman of the Development Commission, and D. M. (Pete) McCormick Jr., advertising and promotional director for Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc.

The planning meeting is scheduled for 10 a. m. in the San Juan Hotel ballroom.

Baseball Tourney Will Be Played Here May 9-11

Seminole High School Athletic Director Fred Ganas revealed this morning that a baseball tournament will be played in Sanford in May.

"This is a sub-group baseball tournament," Ganas said, "that is a preliminary tournament which leads to the statewide contest."

The tournament will be played here May 9, 10 and 11. Ganas said, at the Sanford Memorial Baseball Stadium.

"The games will be played in the afternoon," he said, "play beginning at 1:30 on the ninth and 10th and at 2 o'clock on the 11th."

Teams participating in the tournament will be DeLand, New Smyrna, Seabreeze, Pierson, Seville, and Seminole High.

The Seminole High School baseball team will play Seabreeze at 3:30 May 10. Ganas said with the opening game between Pierson and DeLand and the second game on the first day between New Smyrna and Seville.

Voters Probably Will Go To Polls 3 Times In May

Little has been said about the fact that there will be three separate elections during May.

The May 8 Primary, the Special election on May 22 for the unexpired term in the House of Representatives, and the Presidential preference and run-off primary on May 29.

If there is a run-off in the contest for the unexpired term in the House of Representatives, the names of the two candidates chosen in the May 8 Primary will appear on the ballot May 22.

This special election is called to coincide with the 1st and 2nd primaries and the name of the nominee will appear on the ballot on May 29.

Voters will be going to the polls, in all probability, three times during the month of May to choose candidates for both local, state and national offices.

The May 29 Primary could well be considered, in the case of the candidates for House of Representatives, a general election naming the one candidate for the unexpired term.

Citrus Mutual Will Start Membership Campaign May 1

An all-out campaign to bring another 500 or more growers into Florida Citrus Mutual, which would give the super-cooperative a total membership of 8,000, will start May 1 and continue through June, it was announced today by Les. T. Bryan, Altamonte Springs veteran mutual grower member and chairman of the Seminole Grower Council unit.

Joining in the announcement were Frank Russell, co-chairman of the Council unit, Fern Park, and J. R. Stewart, Sanford, secretary.

"Without Mutual, Florida citrus growers would be helpless to combat the price-depressing propaganda which is constantly being circulated," Bryan emphasized.

"With Mutual, the growers know what is actually happening—not what some persons would like to have the growers think is happening."

He pointed to the millions of extra dollars which Mutual has added to orange growers' returns this season by forecasting in May last year that there would not be a bit of a frost of frozen concentrate when the new season started on December 1.

"There were some forecasts made which were ridiculously high," the local Council chairman said, "and if Mutual had not been alert in counteracting them, many

White Egrets Loll On Lake Monroe As Crowds Watch

A strange gathering of white egrets on Lake Monroe just opposite the Mayfair Inn puzzled many passersby as they saw the huge, white birds floating peacefully on the water yesterday morning.

As many as 500 white egrets were on Lake Monroe shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning, many of them perched along the seawall and wading in the shallow water or standing on pads of hydrilla.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN PANAMA CITY (AP) — Oscar Hettema of Dade City took over today as president of the Florida City Managers Assn. succeeding Harbert C. Gregory of Quincy.

Also elected yesterday were Charles Odham of Bartow, vice president, and James Stewart of Titusville, secretary-treasurer.

growers would have received much less for their oranges than they did. That one thing alone was worth all that the growers will invest in Mutual for many years to come."

Mutual is making an intensive membership drive in May and June. Slogan for the drive is, "Let's Be Mutual Friends."

Prizes are being offered for members signing the most new members.

The unusual scene attracted many motorists on their way into Sanford. One motorist explained, "I thought they were small sailboats and came over to see them."

Many people in this vicinity had never seen the white egret although it is a rather common water bird around the lakes of this area.

By 8:30 yesterday morning, the egrets had floated away from Sanford headed South. Most of the snowy white birds gathered in flocks and settled on the water. Very few of them were seen in the air flying or moving from one area to another.

Appearing rather tame, the egrets would allow strangers to approach them to within 30 or so feet before becoming frightened and swim or fly away.

No reason has been given or attributed to their coming to Sanford and Lake Monroe other than possibly a migratory movement of the unusual water bird.

SUMTER L. LOWRY

THE MAN...

Sumter L. Lowry, a native Floridian born in St. Augustine, August 27, 1893. Has been active in business, military and civic fields. Held top positions with many Florida concerns, including 15 years, Chairman of the Board, Gulf Life Insurance. Two terms, President, Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce. Presently Chairman of the Board, Bushnell Steel Company and Cuban American Metals Distributors, Inc. An original founder of American Legion; formerly Florida State Commander. Chairman of council to select site of Jacksonville Naval Air Station. Honor graduate, Virginia Military Institute. Served as Captain, European Theatre, World War I; Brigadier General, Pacific, World War II. 35 year member, Florida National Guard; served through all ranks; retired as Lieutenant General. Received numerous Military Decorations and Awards, including Two Distinguished Service Medals. Resides in Tampa with his wife; has two daughters, one son; member of St. John's Episcopal Church.

THE ISSUE...

The big issue is segregation, which involves our basic principles of Constitutional Government... States' Rights... the preservation of the Constitution of the United States. The Supreme Court ruling on segregation is an infraction of the Constitution... the Court is usurping the sovereign rights of the state... its action is a grave threat to Constitutional Government... yield to these actions and we surrender forever the individual freedom of choice and liberty written into the Constitution... if allowed to go unchallenged, the loss of more and more rights, individual as well as state, will follow. The State of Florida has a legal right to oppose this ruling and must do so immediately. Interposition and appropriate state legislation is the answer. Interposition has never lost... Interposition has always won.

LOWRY'S PLEDGE...

Sumter L. Lowry pledges a vigorous fight to preserve the Constitution of the United States and the sovereign rights of the State of Florida. Continued segregation of the white and colored races without compromise or surrender... justice and equal opportunity for all regardless of race or creed. He pledges to maintain Constitutional Government through legal and time-tested methods. He pledges to develop and maintain Florida as a state of opportunity... with improved roads, schools and other facilities. He will face the problems of Florida industries with an understanding business attitude developed through his wide business experience. Former business activities have taught him sound judgment in financial matters. Pincrest School Plans Registration Roundup May 2

A roundup at Pincrest School of all prospective pupils and Parents will be held Wednesday, May 2, at 1 p. m.

All children ready for the First Grade in the Fall in the Pincrest Area are asked to meet with their parents in the school auditorium.

While the children enjoyed refreshments and visit the classrooms, Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, principal, will talk to parents in the auditorium. For registration purposes, the birth certificate, and if available, inoculation record, will be needed at this time.

The question as to whether or not the child is in the Pincrest area may arise. In order to eliminate a great many phone calls, Mrs. Reynolds will register all first graders attending the meeting and when the actual school boundaries are set up any registration that needs to transfer will be taken care of by the school.

Cub Scouts Receive Awards

Approximately 130 people attended the April meeting of Cub Scouts Pack Ten, Thursday night. There was a large display of handsome birdhouses made by the boys, and each Cub explained the research he had done on birds in accordance with this month's theme.

Cubmaster Ted Williams commented the entire pack on their appearance, at inspection, and awarded the Honor Flag to Den 12. The den count for attendance percentage resulted in a three-way tie among the Webelos Den and Dens 8 and 12, with the latter winning the draw for the honor.

Committee chairman, E. D. Kirschner, presented 1956 registration cards to each Cub, and announced that the next Pack meeting will be held on May 24. At that time the area field representative will attend to make the annual charter presentation. May 19 was set as the date for a concentrated training course for all Cub leaders, and especially for any possible future leaders, such as Den Mothers or Committeemen. This consolidated program will start at 2 p. m. at McKinley Hall of the First Methodist Church on Saturday, May 19, and will conclude at about 9 p. m. after a group dinner.

Herald To Sponsor First Pancake Day In Seminole County

De Baryites Boo Absent Official S. E. Stone, Deland

By MARY FOWLER

A query as to why a Sanford bank should be the repository of funds deposited by Volusia county commissioner S. E. Stone was one of the highlights of the Democratic rally in De Bary Friday night.

Chairman Ed Healey showed a photostatic copy of one check as proof that this is happening to funds entrusted to the De Bary bank. A copy of the check will be sent to S. E. Stone, Healey promised. Since the De Bary people have contributed $24,000 from their own pockets for betterment of roads in their town, Healey said, they are vitally interested in the outgo of their money.

A letter of March 30 was read in which Stone promised to visit on Friday night's rally; then one of April 25 in which he stated his duties came first and he could not attend. This was met by boos from the audience.

Healey also showed the campaign promises of Stone to assist with the smaller district and his first obligation to see that better roads would be built "It has been three years and three months since then," Healey stated, "and nothing done until now in this campaign season, Stone urged the claying of the school bus route."

In Seminole County Stone spoke glowingly of the proposed causeway over Lake Monroe, enthusiastically giving his approval in Volusia County the next day, Healey said, Stone insisted that his aim was all for a four lane highway through De Bary.

Sheriff Tucker arrived as the audience was evidencing their opinion of Stone. Snuffing dryly, he addressed them as "fellow Philistines." He spoke of his abolition of the fee system which, he said, smacked of the Robin Hood days, Paul Caldwell and Roy McWilliams, candidates for commissioners of the Third District received ovations as they described the clique which is handling out cards for each other in the hope of continuing on the gravy train. Both candidates outlined their ambitions for the office to which they are aspiring.

The Juvenile Court received eight complaints to do with juveniles trespassing on other people's property, annoying neighbors, and committing other acts of mischief, and family troubles with juveniles involved.

The Juvenile Counselor made 23 investigations for the white and colored schools.

One case was brought to a successful conclusion by the Juvenile Judge which involved personal property damage by a group of six children and which had taken three months to close.

Proceeds Go To Auxiliary

Sanford and Seminole County citizens will eat pancakes next Sunday from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. at the Elk's Club.

The first annual Pancake Day is being sponsored by the Sanford Herald with all proceeds going to the Women's Auxiliary of the Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Funds provided by contributions will help the Women's Auxiliary buy important equipment for the local hospital.

The Sanford Herald staff will cook and serve the pancakes as well as furnish all of the ingredients without cost to the Women's Auxiliary.

Sanford and Seminole County families are urged to stop by the Elk's Club on their way to church after church for breakfast, lunch, or snack of pancakes, syrup, sausage and coffee.

There will be no tickets sold to the all-day affair, and there will be no charge for the pancakes. Contributions of any amount will be accepted when the pancakes are served.

Pancake Day will have a three-way meaning in Sanford and Seminole County. It is the opening day of the nationwide "Hospital Week" celebration and the lead-off day of the week-long event. Pancake Day will also be an opportunity for local citizens to help the Women's Auxiliary of Seminole Memorial Hospital in their efforts to provide as much of the equipment as badly needed by the local hospital and Pancake Day will be another opportunity to urge as many families as possible to attend the church of their choice.

The Sanford Herald Staff, headed by Publisher and Editor Fred Perkins, will cook the pancakes and serve them to what is expected to be one of the largest turnouts in this area supporting the humanitarian efforts of the Women's Auxiliary of the Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Serving of the pancakes will start promptly at 7 o'clock next Sunday morning to allow families to attend early services of their churches and to take care of the early-morning eating habits of many families.

Plenty of seating space will be provided at the Elk's Club barbecue pit so that everyone will be able to eat in comfort.

Sanlando Springs Attendance Rises

Sanlando Springs will experience an all-time record attendance for April despite a prolonged cool spell this month, J. S. Damico, acting manager of the tourist attraction, reports.

Business was 28.5 percent for the first 27 days of the month as compared with the same period in 1955.

Advance reservations for May by school groups and business company parties indicate that next month also will be a record breaker, it was learned.

Emergency Landing Renders Slight Damage To AJ-2

Friday at 8:10 p. m. Lt. Lewis M. Millsaps of VAH-7 effected a successful night landing at the Naval Air Station despite the fact that he was unable to lower the nose wheel of his AJ-2 "SAVAGE".

Using excellent pilot technique, Lt. Millsaps eased his 17 ton aircraft into the emergency arresting gear on the runway and made what was later termed by his crew as "a landing softer than most carrier landings."

The drama had seen its beginning nearly five hours before when Lt. Millsaps of Ashboro, N. C., his 3rd, Crewman A13 B. C. Blair, of Cronon, Pa. and two 3rd crew trainees, A13 F. Chasard of Lanford, Pa. and A13 M. S. Placey of Pensacola, took off on what was to be a brief training flight. Upon their return to the field for landing, it was discovered that the nose wheel could not be lowered by normal means.

While the crew exercised the prescribed emergency procedures a group of squadron officers headed by their commanding officer, Cdr. L. B. Libbey, gathered in the N.A.A.S. Control tower to offer advice to pilot Millsaps.

In the mean time 3rd crewman Blair had removed a portion of the cabin flight deck and had gained access to the malfunctioning nose wheel. For nearly three hours, with the upper part of his body hanging in space, he struggled to release the jammed wheel.

At 9:30 p. m. it was deemed as an even greater threat decided to put the big plane into the arresting gear. Thanks to Lt. Millsaps' skillful execution of the landing, the plane suffered only slight damage and the crew escaped without injury.
