DeCottes Quits As County Attorney In Message To Board

Controversy Between County And City On Status Of Warrants Is Cause Of Action

DeCottes Primary Duty Is To City

Attorney Says He Did Not Desire To Em- barrass Commission

George A. DeCottes, attorney for the County Commissioners since the creation of Seminole County except for a brief period during the World War, today tendered his resignation in a letter addressed to each member of the board. The attorney stated that the resignation was made effective immediately and the board is expected to act on the resignation.

The action is declared to have been prompted by the attorney's desire to relieve the County Board of any embarrassment in its controversy and impending litigation with the City arising over the question of validity of certain city warrants now held by the County as security for deposits in the Seminole County Bank.

DeCottes' resignation is the result of a controversy between the County and the City which has been going on for some time. The controversy is over the question of validity of certain city warrants now held by the County as security for deposits in the Seminole County Bank.

M'ADOO SOUNDS WARNING NOTE AGAINST SMITH

Former Treasury Head Itaps New York Governor Saying Things He stands For Must "Be Fought To Conclusion"

Richmond Address Causes Big Surprise

McAdoo Also Declares War On Albert Ritchie And Jim Reed In No Uncertain Terms

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—William G. McAdoo was out of the city today as he prepared to attend the afternoon session of the Senate in Richmond, Va., where he is scheduled to deliver a speech against Governor Al Smith.

McAdoo's speech in Richmond last night—a speech in which he mentioned Governor Smith by name and declared that the things Smith stands for "must be fought to a conclusion next year."

Most Democrats in Washington interpreted McAdoo's speech as a rallying call to the anti-Smith elements of the party. It came as a surprise to most of the leaders, for since McAdoo's pacific speech at the Jackson Day dinner they have been led to believe that he would not seek to relitigate the end of Madison Square Garden.

Nobody but an unconscionable dog can put into the white house next year with safety to the Eighteenth Amendment, McAdoo warned. The "liquor interests," he asserted, have gained political control of both New York and Maryland, the two states that have no state enforcement statutes. And to expect enforcement from a president who does not believe in the law, he said, "is absurd on the face of it."

"Attempt is being made," said McAdoo, "to convince the country that no matter if a wet is elected president the prohibition and the laws will be enforced. That is both untrue and untrue. The White House is in the hands of the liquor interests who will do anything to maintain the status quo of the Eighteenth Amendment."

"The eight buyers who arrived for the called-off sale were W. A. Williams, President Savings Bank, Cincinnati; W. P. Davis, Wash. Wash. and Irving, Cincinnati; vice-president, W. A. Bryson, Title Guaranty Bank and Trust Co., Cincinnati; T. B. Johnson, Broad, Elliot and Harrison, Cincinnati; H. B. Graves, Hanchett Bond Co., Chicago Ill.; E. F. Shaylor, W. L. George Cairns, New City Manager, Assumes Duties; F.S. Lamson Becomes Clerk

George H. Cairns, Sanford's new city manager, yesterday assumed his new duties here, taking over the office vacated by the resig- nation of W. R. Williams, who left after serving in that capacity for the past five years.

Mr. Cairns was busy yesterday morning meeting various city heads and employees who will be his associates. Yesterday after- noon he met with the Commission for the first time, acting in his capacity of city manager. The first work which the Commission asked him to do was to conduct an in- vestigation into conditions in the municipal gas plant relative to charges for the recent wholesale in- crease in bills of local consumers. In assuming his new duties, Mr.

PROTEST BRINGS SLIGHT DISCOUNT ON GAS ACCOUNTS

Immediate Probe Is Ordered By Commission Of Causes Of Excessive Bills; Held Appointed City Health Head

A request for an "immediate" probe into the complaints of excessive charges for gas made by scores of Sanford citizens was lodged with the City Commission at a meeting yesterday afternoon by S. O. Shinholser, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Shinholser told the Commission that investigation into individual complaints was not the proper course to pursue and told them that the increase in the charges was general and could not be attributed to individual increases in consumption.

A number of other prominent citizens who have been charged with increasingly large bills during January had their complaints officially voiced through Mr. Shinholser.

The commission announced a 10 per cent discount on all January bills which exceeded December bills by 20 per cent or more. Mr. Shinholser said he did not consider the 10 per cent discount adequate to compensate for the excessive charges. Commissioner Frank L. Miller advocated a 25 per cent discount but the other commission members voted him down.

CHALLENGE TO DRYS FLUNG BY WET LEADERS

Association Against Prohibition Amendment Denies That Big Business Has Lined Up With Forces Of Dry Order

Plans For National Campaign Outlined

Curtiss, Harkness And Dupont Families Are Contributors To Fund Raised Last Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The wet leaders challenged the drays' claim that "big business" is overwhelmingly for prohibition.

Submitting a list of its 1927 contributors to the clerk of the house, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment listed some of the nation's biggest captains of industry among its backers.

At the same time wet leaders disclosed their intention to make a nationwide campaign this year to enlist "big business" in the fight. More than $200,000 was raised for the wet cause last year.

Among the wealthy members of the organization for hotel, Arthur Curtiss James and Edward Harkness, James Dupont of the DuPont family of capitalists and W. W. Atterbury, head of the Tidewater Railroad.

The report of contributions, filed under requirement of law, showed receipts of $301,682.00 during 1927 and expenditures of $241,200.00. The Missouri Association Against Prohibition reported contributions of $15,000.00 and expenditures of $11,700.00. Other smaller wet organizations also listed contributions.

Shinholser Urges People's Support Of Series Of Concerts

Addressing an urgent appeal to citizens of Sanford for support of the series of three concerts, beginning tomorrow night with the appearance of Geraldine Farrar, S. O. Shinholser, president of the Chamber of Commerce under whose auspices the entertainments have been scheduled, today issued the following statement:

"With the appearance of Geraldine Farrar tomorrow night in concert, Sanford opens a series of outstanding entertainments unusual in a city of its size.

"The Chamber of Commerce, together with other civic organizations, sponsored these performances, believing them to be of the type of entertainment that few small cities ever have the opportunity of enjoying, and believing that the people of Sanford and environs would give them splendid support.

"A full attendance at all three concerts will mean much to Sanford, as well as giving the music lovers of the city exceptional entertainment for we can expect other good things will follow if these are put over in the proper way.

"Many calls have come in for ticket reservations from outside cities, one reservation for a party of ten coming from Jacksonville. For the advertising value that attractions of this nature will give to our city, we trust this series of concerts may have the whole-hearted support of every man, woman and child who has the interests of Sanford vitally at heart.

James Carson Enters Gubernatorial Race

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 2.—(INS)—Formal announcement that James M. Carson, Miami attorney, would toss his hat into the gubernatorial ring on February 15 was made here today by the prospective candidate.

Carson, who is said to have started the movement in Flori- da against the operation of race tracks, and in whose name a number of petitions for writs of injunction to close the tracks were made is well known in Florida legal circles.

STEWART SHEDS NO LIGHT ON OIL DEAL TO SOLONS

Belligerent And Breezy By Turns, Standard Oil Chief Declines To Answer Several Questions Asked By Walsh

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The new Teapot Dome inquiry ran into another blank wall today when Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil of Indiana, refused to shed any light on the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,000,000 liberty bond fund.

Stewart shed but little light on the $50,000,000 oil deal between the Continental and the Sinclair-Guide Oil-Prairie Oil and Gas Companies. The Continental bought oil at $1.50 a barrel from A. E. Humphreys, Texas oil man, and sold it at $1.75 to the other companies. The Sinclair Company guaranteed the Continental company in the deal.

Stewart said he knew "somebody was making money" on the deal but he refused to tell who he thought was profiting.

"I didn't care who was making money on it," Stewart said. "I know my company was making a good deal."

"Stewart showed anger once when he shouted that he had never made one dollar personally" out of the Continental deal.

When Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D-Mont.) referred to the fact that the profits of the Continental were invested in Liberty Bonds, some of which were traced to former secretary of the interior Albert B. Fall, Stewart defied the committee.

"Did you hear that any portion of the profits of the Continental on this contract were invested in United States bonds?"

"I think I'll have to do something now that I regret," said Stewart. "I can't give hearsay evidence. I can't tell you what I heard."

"I'll have to insist on an answer," said Walsh.

FATHER PLANS TO TAKE STAND FOR KIDNAPER

Estranged Husband To Tell How His Wife Threatened To Kill Her Unborn Child

Walsh Reveals Defense Move

Teachers Take Stand To Tell Of Youth's Call For Little Girl

COURTROOM, Los Angeles, Feb. 2.—(INS)—How the mother of William Edward Hickman brandished a butcher knife and threatened to destroy her unborn son was to be retold by her estranged husband today at the Marion Parker kidnaping and murder trial.

This was disclosed a few minutes before Hickman's insanity hearing resumed this morning when Walsh renounced William Thomas Hickman of El Paso, Texas, Hickman's father, who had been called to the witness stand at today's session.

The father probably would precede Mrs. Eva M. Hickman, his divorced wife to the witness box, Walsh indicated.

Miss Naomi Burton, a teacher at Mount Vernon junior high school, from which Marion Parker was kidnaped, was today's first witness.

Miss Burton told how a suave young stranger called at the school on Dec. 15, last and asked for the "daughter of P. M. Parker."

The witness identified Hickman in the courtroom as "the quiet and courteous" caller.

Mrs. Mary A. Holt, a teacher was present, which Hickman asked for the Parker girl, the witness testified.

Miss Burton said Mrs. Holt talked with Hickman but could not recall the conversation. The witness said she herself went for Marion Parker, who was in a class room.

"I turned Marion over to Mrs. Holt and that was the last I saw of her," Miss Burton said.

"When you brought the little girl to Mrs. Holt, did she recognize the defendant?" Miss Burton was asked, under cross examination by District Attorney Aaa Keyes.

INTERLUDE: By Jerry Evans. From The New York Herald Tribune.

Come to me, beloved, when now distant twilights falter; On the brink of weariness too deep to have a name; It will be no matter then that years exhaust and alter; Life and dreams, since love will wait, immutably the same.

Drop low your head beside my own, and let your troubled fingers Relax at last, and lie within the folds of my hand; And close your eyes, serenely sure no tear-wet shadow lingers; To fringe your lashes with a pain past grief to understand.

Patience be your hunger, let your soul take its full measure; And no faint utterance need pass across your lips and mine; Or if my heart, translated to the quiet speech you treasure, Be your desire, you shall have words, drawn murmuringly fine.

Crooked Banking Repudiated

Conviction of Howard G. Skiles, Daytona Beach banker, on charges of misapplication of bank funds, has been received in Seminole County with more than passing interest. Citizens of this community see in the results of the trial definite reassurance that justice is still meted out by our courts, and that people elsewhere are thoroughly aroused to the necessity of stamping out crookedness even when practiced by bankers.

The fact that in some Florida cities bankers' defalcations have escaped vigorous prosecution because of public indifference has had little effect in Volusia county. It is apparent that people there are determined to "clean house" and to repudiate dishonest bank methods in no uncertain terms. Volusia county, especially Daytona Beach, has been the scene of the most unscrupulous conduct on the part of bank officials and it will be interesting to watch the outcome of other cases now pending in the courts.

As the result of his conviction Skiles faces a prison sentence of from one to ten years. He was found guilty of misusing funds to benefit a real estate promotion in which he was interested. His crime constitutes a flagrant violation of state banking laws and utter disregard of the confidence imposed in him by the depositors of his institution.

Volusia county has set a good example. It has put the world on notice that it will not permit bankers to gamble with other people's money and "get away" with it. If men want to operate financial institutions with transactions that are shady and corrupt, they had better stay away from Volusia because people over there will not tolerate any such crooked business.

The good work done in our neighboring county may serve to profit other counties of the state. Seminole for instance.

Opposition Is Needed

The Chamber of Commerce with commendable enterprise will discuss at its meeting Friday plans for attracting more independent boat lines to Sanford in an effort to protect local shipping interests against recently increased freight rates and also to preserve the city's position as one of the leading distribution points of central Florida. The Herald believes the movement to be one of the most important inaugurated here in some time, but there has arisen another problem whose solution is essential to the success of the Chamber of Commerce scheme.

Common carriers have just gained a sweeping victory in the greatly increased trans-continental freight rates that have become an added burden to Florida shippers. Not content with the success of their recent appeal, the carriers are making another plea for higher water rates. The Florida Railroad Commission will hold a public hearing on the matter at Jacksonville on February 7 and unless some determined opposition is manifested, the shipping lines will probably carry their point and Florida dealers will have a heavier load to shoulder.

As the Palatka News points out, the carriers will be well represented at the meeting, all of them armed with lengthy arguments in substantiation of their claims. It now rests upon the various affected communities to unite against the move. Palatka business interests are to meet Friday night to discuss preparations to present their side of the case. Interests at DeLand, Jacksonville and other points no doubt will lend their efforts to prevent any further increase in rates at this time.

It behooves Sanford to do likewise. This is a time when we cannot afford to be laggard in our duties. Sanford's future as a distribution center has already been affected and it is now threatened with added disaster. What good will it do to persuade more boat lines to connect with Sanford if water rates are boosted to figures that are almost on par with rates of other carriers? If we are to be successful in fighting off burdensome rail rates, we must see to it that water rates are kept low enough to furnish us with an effective weapon.

PROHIBITION

WAYCROSS JOURNAL-HERALD

The man who doubts that prohibition is being enforced at the courts. Any session of a city court or a Federal Court will provide for the one who doubts the enforcement of prohibition several sentences removing of that doubt. It is interesting to note the contributing causes to a rigid enforcement of a law that many predicted could not be enforced.

First, it is widely accepted now that the man who drinks is not so efficient and not nearly so reliable as the man who keeps sober.

The man who drinks himself has itates when it comes to investing his hard earned money in the enterprises of another man who drinks. These drinking employes hires sober men.

Second, men in all ages have hesitated about continued indulgence in that which must be performed secretly. The number of men who refuse to hide themselves in order to take a drink is steadily decreasing.

PROHIBITION THE REAL ISSUE

EVERGREEN COURANT

Al Smith is wet and he doesn't deny it. Under his leadership, New York State has become noted as the most outstanding one for its violations of the 18th Amendment are concerned. New York is one of few states refusing to aid the Federal Government in enforcing the 18th Amendment, by not enacting State prohibition laws. No wonder prohibition has failed in New York with such a leader. Yet this is no criterion by which to condemn the 18th Amendment. Prohibition has been reasonably well enforced in most of the other states and has proven a great help in the moral, educational and economic uplift of American people.

Prohibition is very much an issue in the coming Presidential election and Al Smith is the best hope the wets have. If they can elect him president they will have successfully completed the first step toward repealing the Volstead Act and perhaps eventually the 18th Amendment.

ETERNAL BUNCOMBE

JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL.

The legal dramas that have made morbid public spectacles of sensational murder trials and other court functions during the last few years are about to be staged in the trial of Edward Hickman, Los Angeles killer, and public sentiment, despite the fact that it is now almost wholly against the youthful fiend, will be swayed by his talk with his mother and of his childhood and, if needs be, by his grand-aunt Sally, who is a colorful and pathetic figure.

No opportunity will be overlooked in the Hickman trial to dramatize the youth and family background of the slayer who kidnaped and calmly cut to pieces a small girl. Talk of this and talk of that, mostly of things that have no bearing on the case except that they can arouse sympathy for Hickman; acting on the part of the slayer, acting intended to convince the jury that he was not and is not sane; posing on the part of some of the professional witnesses; careful trained dramatics by his lawyer; the honest, unaffected grief of the slayer's mother and father will be mingled in an attempt to produce an effect that will swing thousands of emotional minds to sympathetic support of the slayer. The opportunity for pathetic gesture has always with the prisoner, rather than the state.

This ever increasing dramaturgy in our courtrooms is destroying the effectiveness even of America's justice which has, in capital cases, too often been hesitant and often unwilling to strike swiftly and decisively.

The same process of dramatics is taking command of sports, of human endeavor. Perhaps the development of the motion picture and its influence on nearly every one is responsible for it and its existence is inevitable.

However, the whole business is becoming tiresome. Court trials are contests in dramatic gestures. Prize fights, bullfights are made dramatic figures. Breakfast food is dramatized. Almost nothing is safe from the craze for what those who set the stage and pull the strings fondly hope will dramatize their products or personalities and bring success—whether success in escaping a just punishment in a court room or the success of dollars and cents that appears in the bank balance and counting room.

It's all rotting—and it has been since the beginning of time. It's all lachrymose—whether in courtroom or playing field, in the business office or on the street—buncombe that is becoming wearisome and repugnant.

Perhaps in that very fact can be found some comfort. Perhaps the much overdone dramatic gesture will build up a resistance against itself in the public mind.

ADVERTISING BOOSTS

GAINESVILLE NEWS

Evidence continues to pile up to the effect that the great advertising of the country is coming more and more to be recognized as the best medium for advertising their wares.

John E. Spill, president of the Gainesville Real Estate Board, recently told the Advertisers Club of that city that the newspaper was undoubtedly the best medium for advertising real estate. Mr. Spill pointed out that both classified and display space in newspapers are available to the advertiser. Among other things the speaker emphasized the following points:

Don't stop all your advertising to the classified ads. Try to buy advertising space in the newspaper. It is a sure thing. Argument that the newspaper is not a good medium for advertising is a fallacy. It is a sure thing. Argument that the newspaper is not a good medium for advertising is a fallacy. It is a sure thing.

Second, flexibility. "We can emphasize one product for a given industry in these sections where we can highlight advertisements," he said.

Third, cooperative tie-in advertising with local dealers. Fourth, reader interest nearly every worthwhile American buys and reads his daily paper.

The fifth advantage he listed as instant action today's shopping news is possible for today's selling.

Sixth, within the public the industry starts the opportunity to reach the masses with messages of local interest and at timely seasons.

Seventh, the advantages of both local and nationalizing advertising.

Eight, the method check of the newspaper who doesn't read a newspaper advertisement is now rare indeed.

Ninth, finally, a glorious opportunity is now being meted out to the advertiser. The Philadelphia Path-Finder.

It has been so long since the industry adopted a new style that photographing is becoming more and more important.

MONTHLY BUSINESS MEETING HELD BY SANFORD WOMAN'S CLUB

Unusually interesting was the monthly meeting of the Woman's Club held Wednesday afternoon at the club house at 3 o'clock with the president, Mrs. E. A. Douglass, presiding.
 After routine business was disposed of, including reports from the department heads, Mrs. Douglass appointed a committee to act in conjunction with the Arbor Day committee in planting a tree on the club house grounds. Miss Margaret Young presented to the club a resolution, endorsed by the Welfare Department, concerning the passage of a bill in Congress which provides for a department of education.
 It was announced that information concerning the Florida history essay contest of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs could be secured from Glenn E. McKay, principal of the Seminole High School. Reference material for these essays may be obtained from the General Extension Division, University of Florida.

Mrs. Douglass announced that the County Federation of Women's Clubs of which Mrs. Alexander Vaughan is president will meet in Sanford, February 19, at the Presbyterian Church. They will be the guests of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. D. P. Drummond Hostess At Delightful Bridge And Luncheon

One of the most elaborate social affairs of the season was the bridge luncheon given Tuesday by Mrs. Donald F. Drummond at her handsome home on Twin Lakes, when she entertained honoring Mrs. Rutherford Douglas of Henderson, Ky., the guest of her daughter Mrs. Charles Powell Jr. Sharing honors with Mrs. Douglas were Mrs. A. Dial Gray of Laurens, S. C., and Mrs. Joseph Garretson of Orlando.

The affair was exquisite in every detail. The rooms of this lovely home were made more attractive with quantities of yellow snap dragons, baby breath, yellow narcissus and asparagus ferns arranged in amber bowls. On cabinets, buffet, and mantels tall yellow tapered tapers with blue tulle, burned in amber holders. The luncheon table arranged for the guests of honor and their daughters was overlaid with a handsome Italian cut work cloth. The central decoration being an amber bowl filled with yellow snap dragons and baby breath.

Placed at the corners were tall yellow cathedral tapers in amber candlesticks. The other table arranged for the guests had similar appointments and decorations. The unique place cards were real feathered blue birds and birds of paradise, whose plumage of blue and yellow helped to emphasize the color scheme. At 1 o'clock a delicious four course luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. James A. Pittman, Mrs. Charles Powell and Mrs. Samuel Dighton.

Most enjoyable was the card game played during the afternoon and after the stated number of rounds had been played, scores were collected and the prize for highest score, a novel blue and yellow spring bag was awarded Mrs. James Pittman. The three guests of honor were presented French chiffon handkerchiefs as mementoes of the occasion.

This affair was the first of a series of bridge luncheons which Mrs. Drummond is giving this season. Her guests on this occasion were Mrs. Rutherford Douglas, Mrs. Charles Powell, Mrs. Joseph Garretson, Mrs. James A. Pittman, Mrs. A. Dial Gray, Mrs. W. Wallace Wright, Mrs. E. H. Ashcraft, Mrs. Ralph Wight, Mrs. C. E. Myers, Mrs. Calvin Teague and Mrs. Samuel Dighton.

Following the program, a short social meeting was enjoyed, the hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Fred R. Wilson, Mrs. L. P. Hagan, Mrs. Henry McLaughlin, Mrs. H. J. Lehman. Refreshments consisting of tea and sandwiches were served.

Mrs. Charles M. Powell Entertains At Bridge

Mrs. Charles Powell Jr. entertained most delightfully Wednesday afternoon at bridge at her home in Rose Court. The guests included the members of the Young Matrons Bridge Club.

Blue and maize were the colors used for this affair and were carried out with baskets of snap dragons, baby breath and lupins. Tall yellow candles were also effectively used.

After a delicious three course luncheon games of progressive bridge were enjoyed and when scores had been compared it was found that high score prize for the club members, a blue linen table cover, had been won by Mrs. Lloyd Boyle, Mrs. S. R. Dighton who scored the most points among the guests received a dainty linen towel.

Covers were laid for: Mrs. Rutherford Douglas, Mrs. A. Dial Gray, Mrs. Lloyd Boyle, Mrs. C. E. Myers, Mrs. Clyde Byrd, Mrs. Braxton B. Baggett, Mrs. Grant Wilson, Mrs. James A. Pittman, Mrs. Benjamin Whitner Jr., Mrs. Samuel R. Dighton, Mrs. E. H. Ashcraft and Mrs. Powell.

One of the most delightful affairs on the social calendar for the week is that of Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock when all former residents and visitors of New York state will hold a "get together" meeting and the Sanford Country Club for the purpose of organizing a New York Club. A most interesting program is being arranged, which will include talks by Mayor Ernest Housholder and R. G. Davey. Several other interesting features will be given and refreshments will be served. Over 40 have already made reservations and it is expected that about 75 will be in attendance.

Mrs. A. Dial Gray, who has been extensively entertained during her visit here with her daughter Mrs. Lloyd Boyle, left Thursday afternoon for her home at Laurens, S. C.

Rare Qualities Contribute To Success Of Miss Farrar Both In Opera And Concert

Rare as Miss Farrar's appearances in the concert hall are, she brings into it the qualities that have made her a vivid and distinguished figure in the opera houses of Europe and America.

In a single evening her audiences hear Geraldine Farrar as graphic and moving singing actress, as well as accomplished singer of songs. As both, Miss Farrar is now in the prime of her powers.

In recent years her voice has gained in richness, in warmth, in the expressive quality that has long been its signal and characteristic distinction. As her tones ripened, so also have the keen mind that shapes and controls them, the vibrant temperament that gives them life and glow, the lively and many-sided imagination that colors and intensifies them. More vividly than of old Miss Farrar can now impart to her hearers the passion, the fancy, the picture, the atmosphere that a song would summon.

With the grace and melody of French pieces, the high pitched cantation of Russian numbers, Italian ardors or American playfulness, she is equally happy. For Miss Farrar can penetrate and absorb the quality of a song or seize upon a moment in an operatic part, heat both in the fires of her own spirit and give them forth to her hearers so that they also shall thrill to them. This intensity is the secret of Miss Farrar's personality, the source of her power over her audiences alike in opera house and concert hall. In these days of her prime, it burns more brightly, ranges more widely, is surer of means, works more deeply upon her hearers than ever before.

Miss Farrar is the opening attraction of the artists series coming to the Milane Theatre and the management of the Chamber of Commerce on Friday evening.

"Ask Alla Axiom, He Knows"

MRS. LANGLEY HOSTESS

A delightful social affair of Wednesday afternoon was the duplicate bridge party given by Mrs. W. Theodore Langley, when she entertained members of the Afternoon Tea Duplicate Bridge Club at her lovely home in Mayfair.

Narcissus and calendulas were lavishly used about the rooms where the card tables had been spread for play. The games proved most interesting and when the boards had been played, it was found that highest scores had been made by Mrs. Harry Papworth and

Enjoying the games were: Mrs. G. Irving Loucks, Mrs. T. L. Dumas, Mrs. Harry Papworth, Mrs. Robert J. Holly Sr., Mrs. A. P. Connelly,

Mrs. T. L. Dumas. At the tea hour, the card tables were cleared and spread with hand made covers and dainty refreshments consisting of assorted sandwiches and tea were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Charles E. Henry, Mrs. H. W. Houk and Mrs. Langley. Mrs. W. Wallace Wright and Mrs. James L. Wells motored to Orlando, Wednesday for the day. Miss Frances Graves left Thursday afternoon for Philadelphia, Pa., where she will spend a month with her sister.

American Program For Naval Expansion Will Give Lead Over England Unless Latter Builds More, Says German

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Grand Admiral Von Tirpitz, "father of the German Navy," and supreme director of German naval operations during the war, believes that the American program for naval expansion now before Congress will give the United States supremacy of the seas unless Great Britain meets it with equal additions.

Negro Memorial Is Proposed To Solons

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—to sanction the building of a $500,000 memorial to the negro race in the national capitol.

Rep. Taylor (R) of Tennessee went before the House public buildings committee to plead for passage of a bill authorizing "a fitting recognition of the negro's contribution to the achievements of America."

He proposed to create a national memorial commission which would raise money by popular subscription for the construction of a memorial building to contain a negro hall of fame.

American Actors Are Holding Sway In London's 1928 Theatrical Year

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The 1928 theatrical season in London is in full swing, and in common with past years, this new one sees American actors and actresses, American musical comedies and American dance music still holding popular sway.

With the exception of "Clowns In Clover," a brand new Jack Hulbert-Cleely Courtneidge revue, the American piece "Hit the Deck" remains the most popular musical show in town.

Ernest Truex, one of the best American comedians on the stage, is scoring a great hit in P. G. Wodehouse's new comedy, "Good Morning, Bill," while "The Squall" and "The Adding Machine" are other American plays which are filling the houses at each performance.

the theatrical public that Miss Luce is the only show-girl in captivity with a natural beauty mark (some call them moles) on her left shoulder.

"The Girl Friend," also from Broadway, is going strong and "Able's Irish Rose," may still be seen by those who wish to ride out to Golden Green. "Whispering Wires," a mystery play which ran five in New York, is now popular here, and "Crime," a crook melodrama, continues to pack them in.

As for the dance music—the Londoner might just as well be in a Broadway cabaret, for these are very few popular successes here today that were not brewed or born in the brain of a composer in New York's "tin-pan alley."

CLEK FOOTBALLER-SINGER

Scottman Pays Man's Fine
Insisting that he was morally responsible, a Scotchman paid the fine of an Irish laborer, charged recently in a London police court with being drunk and disorderly. The Irishman struggled and fought all the way to the police station and civilians who rendered and were thanked by the magistrates.

Celery Markets
Bureau of Agricultural Economics co-operating with the Florida State Bureau of Markets. — R. E. Corbin, Local Representative
Celery from Florida is moving in lighter volume than last season. Shipments from the Delta region of California are nearly finished, San Diego County output is increasing. The New York season was closing with a record of over 5,800 cars. This is 1,000 more than last year. Arrivals were jobbing at a lower level, and the Florida market was dull at $1.50 per 10-inch crates.
The U. S. shipments of celery for February first totaled 70 cars with 10 cars not previously reported for January 31st. Florida shipped 43 of this total. New York 1, California 28, and Utah 1. Thirty-nine of Florida's 43 went out from Sanford and Oviedo billed to the following points: 5 New York, 5 Patuxent Yards, 4 Florence, 4 Waveross, 2 each Jersey City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Rochester, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Portland, Me.; New Orleans, Buffalo, N. Y.; W. Albany N. Y.; and Tampa. Missouri Station reported 4 cars billed to 2 Waveross, and 1 each to Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.
The f. o. b. market remained steady at $1.50, but the demand was active and most shippers reported selling most of their loadings.
AGED WOMAN, DYING CON-FESSES TO MURDER FOR WHICH MAN DIED
Jakovskis, a Russian farmhand, was beheaded in Strehlitz, in Germany, in February, 1926, following conviction on charges that he had murdered his four-year-old son.
Now the boy's grandmother has confessed on her deathbed that it was she who killed the boy.
The "German League for Human Rights" is using this new "judicial murder" as a telling argument in its campaign for the abolition of the death penalty in Germany and it also demands that the ministerial officer who blocked all efforts to obtain a pardon for Jakovskis be called to account.
SHORT SKIRTS AFFECT THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY, BRITISH EXPERTS SAY
LONDON, Feb. 2. (INS) The textile industry, and not the reformers as is generally believed, is the greatest sufferer from the present feminine predilection for short skirts, it was declared by Sir Edwin Stockton M. P., speaking at a joint meeting of the Textile Society at Bradford recently, and that the existing mode had caused a serious depression in industry.
"The shortening of skirts has resulted in many idle looms in Bradford and other manufacturing districts," he declared.
There was one saving grace in the present style however, he added, inasmuch as it has created an unprecedented amount of employment in the hosiery trade.
BROWN SKUNK HIDE IS NOVELTY BOUGHT BY KANSAS FOR BUYER
STOCKTON, Kan., Feb. 2. (INS) A big, stunk hide was the novelty brought to this city by H. H. Wildix, fur buyer. This cut-off of the hide, instead of being jet black with the white stripes, was a delicate silky brown and the narrow white stripe was narrower than usual.
The hide was secured in Trego County and was the first one of this color ever seen by either of the fur buyers who have handled tens of thousands of skunk hides in the past few years.
Wildix presented the hide to W. H. Keitholtz who will have the novelty skin tanned and made into a wall decoration.

MAINE PREPARES FOR IMPENDING POLITICAL FIGHT
Governor Brewster Opposes Frederick Hale For Election to Senate; Executive Has Made Envious Record
PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 2. "As Maine goes so goes the country," was a phrase that politicians used for many years. It fell into disuse when Republican majorities annually returned to the White House and national politics.
This year it seems to be due for a comeback, though perhaps the word "country" will give place to the letters "G. O. P."
One of the hardest campaigns in the history of the Pine Tree State is due to be fought between now and next June when a Republican nominee will be named for the United States Senate to try for a seat that is not only nominally but pretty nearly always a Republican position.
Opposes Hale
Frederick Hale, the present incumbent, is seeking re-nomination for the Senate and opposed to him among the others, is Ralph O. Brewster, at the present the Governor of the State.
Hale is finishing his second term. Before him his father and his grandfather were in Maine politics and it has become tradition for Maine Voters to cast their ballot for the name of Hale Eugene Hale, father of the present Senator, and also a United States Senator.
Brewster, four years ago, was a State Senator from Portland. He ran for the gubernatorial nomination and upset party plans by winning both the nomination and governorship.
Brewster Repeated
Two years ago, he repeated an earned for himself the cordial dislike of Republican leaders, by his victory.
Now standing forth as a Progressive and an iconoclast, he is out to win the nomination and election to the United States Senate. Where Hale is a strict party man, Brewster only follows his party when he feels like it.
Maine voters are of the opinion that the feeling of the electorate will be reflected in the National Convention of the Republican Party and that if Maine goes for Brewster, the party will be for Herbert Hoover; but if Maine goes for Hale though, they believe the party will be for ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.
