Retarded Child Potentials Stressed In Film

"Children, Limited" was the title of the informative film shown to members of the Seminole Assn. for Retarded Children at the Health Center Monday.

A comprehensive report, the film documented the various types of mental retardation, possible treatments, home care vs. institutional care, and showed clearly how much can be done to help and train and utilize the limited abilities of these children.

The film showed that, far from being the hopeless, helpless situation that too often prevails, many mentally retarded possess remarkable skills in some lines, particularly in the field of music, art, physical skills and athletic endeavors.

Many retarded persons are very adept at caring for animals and crops and a farm environment is often very beneficial and rewarding in providing useful accomplishments. Many simple routine tasks can be adequately fulfilled by those who are incapable of any formal education.

Following the film, Archer Moore, psychologist in care of mental health for Seminole County, talked to the group of association members and other interested persons on the meaning of IQ tests.

Some of the points that he discussed included the difference in the educable and the trainable child; the age of testing; the rate of maturation; types of tests; results of tests and other points that were raised by questions from the floor.

Mrs. Margaret Manfre, vice president of the association, presided in the absence of President Ken McIntosh.

Hospital Denies Girl's 'Tall' Story

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Charity Hospital said today it was not responsible for stories about a teenage girl who was supposedly eight feet two inches tall.

Turned out the girl actually is only six-foot-ten.

"The hospital isn't to blame for the misunderstanding," said Dr. Leo Kerne.

It started when Delores Hurlard, 14, a star forward on a Negro girl's basketball team, was sent to the hospital for treatment for a minor knee injury she received in a game.

Reporters talked to the girl and stated she was being examined by doctors at the hospital because she was so tall, perhaps the tallest girl in medical history.

The hospital had to stretch her over two regulation-sized hospital beds to make her comfortable.

"How tall are you, Delores," newsmen asked.

"Eight two," she replied.

Kerne pointed out that the hospital made no statement about how tall she was, and that newsmen took the information from the girl herself.

Instead of eight feet two inches, Kerne said, an official measurement indicated that what the girl meant by "eight two" was 82 inches, or six feet, ten inches.

Industry Potential Here, Speaker Tells Realtors

Seminole County has the potential for an important industrial belt, but it's going to take a combination of hard-headed business technique and a spirit of cooperation to develop it.

That's what Wilson Knott, president of Florida Land Planning, Inc., of Winter Park told county realtors Tuesday night at their monthly meeting at the Sea Shell Restaurant.

There's a lot of difference in offering industrial land tracts and in offering well planned industrial locations to prospective clients, he emphasized.

The natural growth of South Seminole and the expansion of Orange County northward puts the area in an ideal position for development, he pointed out.

The Seminole Industrial Park on Hwy. 17-92 south of Fern Park is meeting "good response" from industry in its development proposals, Knott told the realtors as he compared the park to an ideal theoretical industrial park.

He said industry is interested in the Seminole Park because of its central location, access highways, planned rail and other facilities and the favorable 12-mill county tax structure.

"As soon as we started to work, interest increased and we should expect to have 20 plants in the area by next year," he said.

Housing Code Enabling Act Asked By County

The County Commission Tuesday afternoon gave its approval by a 4-1 vote to ask the legislature to establish a minimum housing code and the license all building contractors.

District 3 Commissioner James P. Avery opposed both plans. He contended that the "minimum housing code was 'ridiculous in part' and declared 'it goes too far setting up too many controls on how to build a house.'" zoning Director Robert Brown urged the commission to put through the enabling legislation on the code, citing the many substandard homes in the county. Commissioner Vernon Dunn, who said he favored the code, added "I could take you all out here and show you 50 homes that are not fit to live in even by standards of 30 years ago."

Avery said the commission should table action on the code and give it more consideration.

Holding up a sample of the proposed law, Avery said, "I can show you passages out of this book that are ridiculous."

"We don't need this code now. We've got enough controls," Avery said.

Lake Study Is Outlined

The first phase of a massive engineering study to relieve flooding of land-locked lakes in Seminole County was presented to the County Commission Tuesday afternoon in a session that lasted into the early evening.

County Engineer Carlton Bliss submitted the study which includes providing of storm sewers from Lake Marion to Lake Florida near Altamonte Springs.

Bliss estimated that cost of the first phase would be approximately $4,000. He added that other parts of the study would include engineering on Lake Orienta and all land-locked lakes in the county.

The board tabled action on the study until next week.

In other business during the lengthy session the board agreed to ask the State Road Dept. for a traffic study on installing a cloverleaf at the intersection of Hwy. 17-92 and SR 436.

Commissioner Vernon Dunn proposed the study saying "we should take this step to determine the future traffic needs in that area over the next five year period."

Dunn emphasized that that area is growing "by leaps and bounds and even if we get a traffic light at the intersection, it will be obsolete in five years."

The board also heard George W. Daugherty of Eustis who said he represented a large industrial park in Lake County. Daugherty asked the commission to consider extending Bear Lake Rd. with SR 46 to make an access road into the proposed park located half in Lake and Orange Counties.

He asked the commission to put the access road in the county's primary road budget this fiscal year.

The board tabled action on the request. Daugherty said it would be a boon to the entire three counties.

The commission also authorized Cleveland to work with Col. Fred Dyson who owns property near Lake Jessup by Howell Creek.

Dyson has agreed to give the county rights of way through his 2,700 acre tract pending certain conditions to clearing Lake Howell Creek.

Roads Committee To Dig Into New Payola Accusations

Powers was the first witness called by the Legislative Roads Committee as it opened a two-day session to hear new payola charges, adopt its final legislative program, and consider alleged conflict of interest charges against Powers.

State Sen. Scott Kelly of Lakeland, committee chairman, said it was not the group's purpose to question Powers' "personal conduct nor to attack his standing in his home community."

"We do, however," Kelly said, "intend to study some of his business dealings during the period he served as a Road Board member."

Powers, who served on the Road Board in 1958 and again from 1958 to 1961, readily admitted owning stock in the Edwards Building Supplies Co. and the Denny Concrete Products Co., both of Gainesville.

Both firms have sold material to the state for road building purposes. But Powers declared, "I've never solicited business from the State Road Department in any business I've been connected with."

More than 50 witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear at the two-day hearing.

Gloom Prevails At Nuclear Meet

GENEVA (UPI) — The nuclear test ban conference met for only 23 minutes today in a gloomy atmosphere created by Soviet demands for a built-in veto of any test control machinery.

Dean had planned an explanation of its offer to let Russian scientists look inside any nuclear devices the Americans might use in any peaceful research programs. This offer is conditional on Soviet acceptance of a treaty assuring a carefully-policed ban on all nuclear weapons tests.

McKibbin Stresses Need For Adequate Planning

Simons Plan Discussed

"Planning is essential for proper growth," Clifford McKibbin told the Lions at their luncheon meeting, Tuesday.

With the aid of four maps, McKibbin outlined for the Lions some of the main points of the proposed city plans which has been drawn up by planner George Simons.

The city is still studying and discussing the long, detailed report and has not yet accepted it.

McKibbin, who is well acquainted with a great many phases of planning activities is at present the president of the Chamber of Commerce's Committee of 100. He was formerly president of the Chamber, was at one time city manager and also had served as chairman of the city zoning board.

He was instrumental in forming the initial plans to make a study of the city's growth, its long-range needs and the best ways in which these needs could be met.

In his outline of what is incorporated in such a plan, McKibbin listed neighborhood treatment. This was defined as a natural area, which is homogeneous as to economic status and social strata, with adequate access to parks, playgrounds, schools, churches and a nearby shopping area.

Rehabilitation areas, another phase of the planning, was explained as being comprised of older areas and rental districts near commercial areas, although, he added that not all older homes need rehabilitation as some homes are well cared for and maintained by their owners.

Redevelopment areas, McKibbin defined as areas with outdoor plumbing, substandard living conditions in grossly inadequate housing. Urban renewal provides the answer to this program, he said, but when it was proposed formerly, the state was not eligible to receive the urban renewal funds from the Federal Government because the state lacked the permissive legislation necessary to allow the city to apply for the Federal funds.

Street planning was listed as one of the most important phases of any planning program, as there are many types of streets and their proper use is often stymied by improper zoning. Some of the categories of streets include major arterial highways, residential streets, farm to market roads, commercial area streets and secondary arterial roads. Traffic accidents and bottlenecks are caused when improper zoning allows residential areas and commercial areas to open onto major highways and deterioration of residential property is caused when commercial interests are allowed to come too near, with the resulting commercial traffic.

Institutional areas such as schools and hospitals should also have careful zoning so that they are not distressed by commercial vehicles, trucking or fast major highways. However, McKibbin emphasized that zoning must be fluid and not set in too rigid a pattern over a period of years centers of population are changeable and move in different directions, necessitating changes in defining areas as residential, commercial, institutional or industrial.

Also included in the city plan, said McKibbin, are the broad phases of land use plans, general guides and developers guides. Financing is generally one of three methods. One is from current revenues, another is revenue bonds. Large obligations and institutional development is cared for through general obligation bonds.

After the talk, members of the Lions Club studied the four maps. One was a serial map of the city as it stands presently. One was a projected map showing proposed future developments. The third was a proposed road and street map, for better and more efficient movement of traffic and the fourth map showed all streets and lands with suggested and existing zoning markings.

By ATLANTA MCGINNIS
Residents of voting precinct 12 met Monday under the leadership of Allen Forward of Forest City, to discuss work on organizational plans of an association for all citizens living in subdivisions and areas embraced by the precinct.

Representatives of four subdivisions attended the meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William D. McGinnis on Great Lake Dr., with George Bray and Vincent DuFus present for Wetherfield; T. W. Stuckey, Forward and the hosts for Forest City, Bill Kelley for Lake Harriet Estates and Mrs. Martin Dunn for Lake Brantley.

The purpose of the organization is for the betterment and growth of the community through economic, political and spiritual morality. Membership is open to anyone living in precinct 12 which includes Wetherfield, Briarwood, Forest City Estates, Oakland Hills, Golf View Estates, Meredith Manor, W. Lake Brantley, Lake Harriet Estates, Forest City and many areas not under a named subdivision.

One representative from each subdivision and area will constitute the executive board which will elect a president, vice president and a secretary-treasurer. Immediate aims of the association, as decided Monday, are to build a community house, work for a post office, for a traffic light at the intersection of SR 436 and SR 434 near the Fosgate Plant, for lights at the railroad crossing on SR 436, for general road improvements in the area, for conservation and against water pollution in seeking protection of recreational and fishing uses of the many lakes in this part of the county.

A third meeting is scheduled next Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the McGinnis home. All persons who wish to represent their residential localities are invited to attend.

SEATO Studies Laos Intervention Move

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Military advisers to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization SEATO held two important conferences today on the Communist threat to Laos and other important Southeast Asia areas.

The military leaders approved a three-day agenda which called for "immediate examination" of the Laotian crisis. Although their immediate attention was focused on the trouble in Laos, their discussions covered each country in this strategic area.

SEATO military men are confident that they have the power and ability to hold Laos and other important areas if the diplomats call on them to use force if necessary to prevent the spread of Communism.

Reliable sources told United Press International that some military men feel that the diplomats have not called the signals on Laos properly up to this time. However, these same sources said some of the diplomats do not believe the record of the free world mili-

Senate Nears Surplus Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) The Senate is today expected to approve a compromise version of President Kennedy's program to cut down the feed grain surplus.

The bill, designed to trim surpluses by raising support prices for farmers who cut their acreage by 20 per cent or more, was passed by the House Tuesday.

It was worked out in a joint conference committee after both chambers originally passed differing versions. It retains the major provisions of the bill the administration presented.

In general, the bill offers farmers higher price supports if they cut their feed grain acreage by 20 per cent. A further 20 per cent reduction — a total of 40 per cent — would be paid for in feed grain. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman, who would administer the bill, says he would raise the support price for corn from its present $1.06 per bushel to $1.20.

Well-informed observers said although there was no immediate indication whether the views of the military men or the diplomats will carry the most weight when the final decision is made, a tougher and more positive attitude may be in the making.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other SEATO foreign ministers will meet here next week to make the necessary political decisions.

Encouraging Signs

There were several encouraging signs in an announcement by the Atlantic Coast-Line Railroad Monday.

One, that a piggyback operation is due to get underway in Sanford next week on the ACL property near French Ave.

This will include the building of tracks and ramps on the site for movement of American Motors Corp. vehicles from Wisconsin to Sanford on tri-level flat cars to be distributed to other Florida destinations by motor transport.

ACL officials also pointed out again that piggyback operation plans have been under consideration for some time for use in transport of citrus fruits.

However, more important—the start of this operation is one indication that the ACL meant it when officials said that the railroad has no intention of curtailing service through Sanford.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Jackie's case seems very puzzling to his parents but is crystal clear to a psychologist. He is bent to vacillate your child against this tragedy by the 3-fold plan outlined below. If parents put themselves in their children's shoes, they'd know why Jackie's grades are falling.

CASE H-439: Jackie B. aged 11, is a shy, brilliant child. "Dr. Crane," his mother began, "Jackie used to be a straight 'A' pupil.

"Now his marks are falling and he seems to hate school. He tries to avoid starting out in the morning by complaining of various aches and pains.

"Yesterday he had a headache. This morning his stomach hurt.

"Why does he hate school so much, for he used to be very fond of it before we moved into this new neighborhood last fall."

Many a busy man gets a promotion and is suddenly sent into a new territory. So he moves his family to a different town.

Because he is preoccupied with his own duties and may be rather quick to make friends, (especially if he is a salesman), he never dreams that his wife may grow lonely or that his children may be scared by the strange neighborhood.

That was Jackie's problem. He had grown up with neighboring boys in the small town from which he had suddenly been uprooted.

His pals were like members of his own family, for they had been in kindergarten together.

And even his teachers were like relatives, for they attended the same church in that small town, so he had known them long before he reached their classrooms.

Out of that happy, friendly atmosphere, Jackie was suddenly uprooted and transplanted in a strange city.

He didn't know a single boy or girl. He had never previously seen any of the teachers in that grammar school. He felt like Robinson Crusoe, socially, although he was now surrounded by hundreds of kids in a grade school of 1,800 enrollment.

"Buck up," his father gruffly reassured him, when he had acted blue and unhappy, "for this is a fine city."

But that advice still didn't produce a close pal for Jackie, nor did it make him feel better acquainted with his teachers.

What Jackie needed was quick help from his father and mother in making friends with kids in his own city block.

Here is what his parents should have done when they reached the new city:

(1) Take Jackie to Sunday School and meet his teacher there.

(2) Find out the names of children of Jackie's age who live near by and concoct some excuse to let Jackie invite them to a party.

Call it a modernized version of the old "house warming" or take advantage of Valentine's Day, a birthday, Halloween or any appropriate calendar holiday.

But don't even wait for the calendar. Hatch up any convenient excuse to have a party within the first week, if not the second day in the new environment.

(3) Add social status to your child by letting him invite two or three special pals to a movie or circus or ball game. Daddy and Mother should go out of their way to chaperone a carload of youngsters on this occasion.

(4) This is the one time when a little over-indulgence of your child may be justifiable, for a bicycle or dog or pony or fancy baseball mitt will help add social status to your youngster and help him get included more rapidly in the camaraderie of the neighborhood.

... wedding ring was used by Christians as early as 400 A.D.

POLITICAL NOTEBOOK

By Peter Edson

HONOLULU — (NEA) — The most exciting story in Hawaii today is not the building boom that is turning Waikiki into another Miami Beach or the new Honolulu office building with the one-complex - revolution - per-hour penthouse restaurant.

It is the new East-West Center at University of Hawaii.

It has only 100 foreign students enrolled now. Its projection is to have 2,000 by 1965-66, with 1,000 new students admitted every year for two-year courses of study.

There will be 1,600 from as many countries of Asia as possible. Mixed with them will be 400 from the United States.

For the purpose of the center is not just to teach Asians the American way of life. Equally important will be teaching the Americans the Asian way of life—language, customs, problems, solutions—in a real, two-way interchange.

In this respect, the center here will differ greatly from Moscow's Friendship University, whose purpose is to sell the Communist way of life.

At the East-West Center, there will be no segregated international student body. They will be thrown together to create an international community.

In the final three to nine months of the course, the plan is to have the Asian students come to the Americas maintained for a look around in their fields of special interest. And the American students will be sent to Asia.

The center is so new it doesn't as yet have a head. Dr. Ralph Bunche is being suggested for the job. Dr. Murray Trumbull of University of Hawaii is acting head, and has done much to get it started. Faculty is being recruited world-wide.

Policies for the center will be developed by University of Hawaii's board of regents, which has just been reconstituted with new and younger blood, brains, and ideas.

Idea for the center was born in Hawaii about three years ago. Hawaii put up 40 per cent of its cash surplus—about a million dollars—to get it started.

But the idea was too big for one state to handle.

Right out of the blue, in 1958, Democratic Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas picked up the idea, and made a speech in favor of the East-West Center for Hawaii. This idea could well be his greatest monument.

Congress appropriated $10 million to get it on its feet.

The plan now is for three main programs:

First is the undergraduate student program, outlined briefly above. Each scholarship will be for about $9,500 a year.

This will cover everything—travel, tuition, living.

Second will be a senior scholar program, organized on the ratio of 1 Asian to 1 Westerner. They will be recruited to train teachers for new courses, to think up educational development and to do educational research.

This research may be conducted at other universities—London School of Economics, Leyden, Tokyo or wherever a job can best be done.

The third program will be technical training of specialists, and here Hawaii has unique advantages to offer.

It is a rural state. Its development and underdevelopment are assets. It is highly mechanized in sugar and pineapple culture field work. But it also has many "mud" farmers, tilling small tracts of an acre or two, as in Asia.

This is where "Peace Corps" recruits can best be trained.

Hawaii is like a small country. It can show how to combat tuberculosis or organize police forces, or collect statistics and study the effects of particular reforms.

Asian students can be made to feel at home in multiracial Hawaii, where they might be lost in Stanford, Wisconsin, Harvard or M.I.T.—which are too advanced for the underdeveloped countries.

A four-man task force under Prof. John M. Stalker, an Ohlson of 37 who is head of University of Hawaii's overseas operations program, has recently returned from a three-month trip through 17 Asian countries from Korea to Pakistan. The group surveyed Asian universities and interviewed educators to learn what should go into the center's curriculum.

Stalker has also just concluded an Afro-Asian student leaders' conference at University of Hawaii. He had 33 "kids" from 23 countries on the campus for six weeks. Some of them had led riots against their governments.

Their subject at Hawaii was, "The Role of the University in a Developing Country."

It is out of raw material like this that the future of the East-West Center here is to be shaped. It is something to watch, for it is bound to be an inspiring development.

CROSSROADS OF THE WORLD

By William Drury

From Sydney, Australia, comes a letter from a Mr. Blacaster Moodmeed. Mr. Moodmeed, a journalist of that parish, wishes to set me right in a certain matter concerning his compatriot and my very good friend, Ned-fud Skibbn of Down Under.

You remember Ned-fud Skibbn. He spells his name rather oddly:

N-e-d F-i-l-l-g-g-l-b-b-o-n.

Of late, a lot of people have been wondering whatever became of Ned-fud. Well, I will tell you. He still lives and breathes. And still is hopelessly confused and bemused by American customs and the strange language spoken by the natives of these parts.

For instance, He thinks A.W.O.L. means "American Way of Life." And that the national drink is gin rummy.

One reader took a violent dislike to Mr. Skibbn, especially his manner of speech, and demanded his head on a platter. Ned-fud, he said, was an insult to the entire Australian nation, which amazed the dickens out of Mr. Skibbn, who considered himself a nice, plain, ordinary, fair dinkum cobbler and could see nothing wrong in the way he spoke.

A shower of letters poured in, defending Mr. Skibbn. And many came from Australians. Only one attacked him, and that was Mr. Blacaster Moodmeed. His signature is written in an almost illegible scrawl.

It could be Blacaster Moodmeed.

Or Flaxcander Moodmeed.

Or Flaxcander Moodmeed. Mr. Moodmeed—I do with people would write their names more clearly—is not really mad at Mr. Skibbn. He is mad at me, Chiefly, he says, because I confused Australian money with English money.

It happened this way. Ned-fud, I reported, was utterly bewildered by American nickels and dimes. And yearned aloud for the currency of his own country, which was so much simpler. Mistakenly thinking that the money used Down Under was exactly the same as that in Dear Old Blighty, I took it upon myself to explain Australia's currency, like this:

Two ape knees made a penny, six pennies made a tanner, two tanners made a bob, 10 bobs made a nicker, and two art nickers made a blooming quid.

An Ohio man broke a plate glass window to steal a watch and a judge gave him seven years of bad luck. . . .

A thermostat keeps the house too warm for half the family and too hot for the other half. . . .

An Oklahoma boy was expelled from school for cutting off some of a girl's hair. What these little snips will do! . . .

Ice skating doesn't come easy to some people, the hardest part of it being the ice. . . .

This, said Mr. Moodmeed, was all wrong.

"In the local vernacular," he wrote, "three pennies make a troy, two troy make a sack, two sacks make a deeser, five deesers make a cesser, four cesser make a quid, five quid make a spin, 10 quid make a brick."

So now you know. If you should visit Australia this summer for the Sydney State Fair, be sure to take a lot of bricks. And give my love to Mr. Alexander Macdonald of the Sydney Daily Telegraph.

I have just figured out his name.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about a teacher who doesn't do her job? My daughter is in the fifth grade and is falling in her work. She brings home papers that some child has corrected and everything is marked wrong. Unless I, and the rest of my family, have forgotten everything we ever learned in school, a good portion of her answers were right. Still the teacher accepts the grade by a mere child. We used to grade each other's papers once in a while when I went to school, but the teacher always went over the papers again herself. Don't tell me to talk to the teacher because I have tried that, and she is either hard of hearing or doesn't care.

ANGRY PARENT

DEAR ANGRY: Give the teacher one more chance. Write her a note telling her that you would like to talk to her before you talk to the principal. I think you'll find her hearing improved.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 52 years old and for the last six months he has been trying to get him to take a bath. He wears the same shirt, socks and underwear for three weeks straight. He insists they are not dirty. I have to sneak his clothes out of his room when he's asleep in order to launder them. He claims it is too cold to take a bath or shower. He does wash his hands and face when he gets up in the morning. He is a real sweetheart in every other way. We've tried everything. What now?

WIFE AND FAMILY

DEAR WIFE AND FAMILY: There is something wrong with a grown man who is afraid of soap and water. If you can't get your "sweetheart" to listen to a doctor's lecture on the importance of bodily cleanliness—pray for an early summer.

DEAR ABBY: At a family get-together (at the home of a sister-in-law) I offered to help her clear the table after dinner. She said, "Thanks a lot—I'd rather do it myself—these ain't my PLASTIC dishes, you know."

Abby, I felt like two cents. Maybe my dishes aren't as good as hers, but I can certainly carry dishes from the table to the sink without breaking them. I just stood there, red in the face, and didn't say a word. What should I have done?

HURT

DEAR HURT: You did exactly what you should have done—minus the red face. The embarrassment you felt should have been for HER, not yourself.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "VERY MUCH AFRAID": There is nothing to fear. Had your friend been even slightly infectious, she would not have been discharged from the TB hospital. Therefore, it is far safer to associate with her than someone who has never had a chest X-ray . . . and could be one of the estimated 100,000 Americans walking around with active TB and doesn't know it.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

It often isn't easy for a man to compete successfully for a woman's full attention. Women momentarily find many things more fascinating than a man's conversation. For instance: The conversation at the next table when the two are dining in a restaurant. Women are born eavesdroppers, who find no conservatism directed toward them as fascinating as what they can manage to overhear. A mirror. When a woman hangs a mirror out of her handbag a man might as well quit talking. The only answer he'll get is "Mmmm . . ." as his companion

North Orlando Land Owners Organize

By MONA GRINSTEAD
North Orlando residents of both incorporated and unincorporated areas met Monday in the Village Hall to organize an association which will be representative of all property owners.

W. W. Anderson, serving as acting chairman, led the informal open discussion, calling for views from the audience on why an organization is needed; whether or not to incorporate; a name for the group and means and methods of keeping such a group active in all civic and social affairs.

F. Stewart Helmly in opening discussion, stated "an organization such as this should bring residents of the entire area together . . . it should serve as a sounding board to help solve personal problems of the individual homeowners as well as community civic problems. Any delegation of a civic organization always carries more weight in state, county and city matters than does an individual group of citizens acting independently."

Mrs. Jack Riddley, stating her opinions on how best to get such a group organized and working said "if residents are encouraged to come out to social functions such as picnics, barbecues, fish fries, etc., eventually the political aspect and representation will take hold."

Helmly, in answer stressed "in all activity, let's don't be divided . . . let's be one group . . . we're all neighbors in and out of the city limits and we should all be members of ONE civic organization."

A suggested title of "North Orlando Property Owners Assn." was agreed on by those present at the Monday meeting, however, at the suggestion of Anderson, residents decided to hold three more consecutive meetings each Monday at the Hall before completing final plans of organization. It is hoped, he said, that at least some of the next meetings can be held outdoors.

Robert Dean was appointed to invite a representative from a neighboring town, which has just completed formation of a civic association, to speak before next Monday's meeting. William Shook was asked to look into the legal aspects of incorporating the group and to investigate the advantages and disadvantages of incorporation.

Anderson was unanimously elected as temporary chairman with Mrs. Jack Riddley to be acting secretary.

At the close of the business session, the chairman read a statement from Mayor Frank Fasula saying "Your association will have my full cooperation and that of the council in any activity and project it wishes to sponsor."

He also advised that a local radio station has promised unlimited assistance in making spot announcements to help "get things going."

Social activity at the first meeting was in the form of an awards program with all gifts donated by merchants of the immediate and adjoining shopping areas.

Jack Riddley got free games at Fern Park's Mini-Bowl; Helmly got tickets to Prairie Lake Drive-In movie; Shook, a box of candy from Stuckeys; Helen Maxwell, five gallons of gas from Warren's Sinclair Station in Casselberry; Anderson, a homemaker's stool from Sheppard's Rexall Drug Store in Casselberry; C. H. Sutton, a Blushing Bride hibiscus plant from the Wagon Wheel Nursery on Hwy. 17-92; Sarah Proudly, four tickets to Mini-Bowl and Bob Stephenson, a philodendron plant from Wagon Wheel.

BARBARA FLYNT

AN ENVIABLE YOUNG LADY is Miss Barbara Flynt who leaves Friday by plane for New York and thence by jet airliner to Frankfurt, Germany.

She will be making a three-months visit with her mother, Mrs. Hazel Flynt, who is librarian at the Army dependent's school in Baumholder, Germany. They have planned a full schedule of eight-weeking trips all over Europe and the first trip, taking advantage of a long Easter vacation for Mrs. Flynt will take them to Italy for a week's tour of that colorful country and back by way of Switzerland.

On weekend tours in April and May in the new little Volkswagen that Mrs. Flynt has purchased they will take in the historic sights and landmarks in Germany, with a side trip to romantic Vienna, Austria, a country rich in the history of song and music, and the native land of several of Hollywood's most glamorous stars.

In June, when school is out, they will leave the continent for a trip to England and the other countries in the British Isles, Scotland, Wales and Ireland.

"I am taking two cameras," says Barbara, "and expect to have both of them going like mad all the time. I know I shall go broke buying film!"

In July, Barbara will return to the States and her job at First Federal Savings and Loan, where she has worked as a teller for the past five years. Mrs. Flynt will return soon after with the Military Air Transport Service.

"The nearer comes the time to go, the more excited I get!" says pretty Barbara. "I have my passport, my reservations and my bags packed and I can hardly wait to get started!"

Vaya con Dios, Barbara, you lucky girl!

FROM LAKE LAND comes word that Sherlene Shepard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Shepard of 2909 Oak Ave., and a member of last year's graduating class at Seminole High, is a new pledge of Phi Kappa Sorority at Florida Southern College, following the annual Spring Rush Week.

MRS. DOROTHY BOLLINGER of Sanford was joined for dinner at the MQ Ranch over the weekend by her son, Jimmy, of Orlando, who is a teacher in an Orlando high school. It was a sort of a

Mrs. Virginia Anderson Honored And Presented Gifts By OES

Members of Seminole Chapter No. 2, Order of Eastern Star, honored Mrs. Virginia Anderson at the regular meeting, last week, in Masonic Hall.

Mrs. Anderson, a Sanford resident is Grand Instructor of District 24. She was escorted through the arch to the East and serenaded with a paraphrasing of "The Bells of St. Mary," extolling her virtues and merits.

Several of the chapters presented courtesies in her honor and also presented her with gifts, including the local chapter and Mrs. Leslie Sheppard, president of the Past Matrons' Club.

Upon arrival each officer was given a Shamrock corsage, in keeping with the St. Patrick's day theme. These were made and presented by Mrs. Irving Pryor.

The chapter was draped in memory of Elizabeth V. Hart, deceased. There were 44 members and 51 visitors present for the evening. First-time visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Dibble Sr., past master and patron of the Chapter 6, Golden Fells, Miss.

At the close of the meeting, a family reunion for them as they do not often get to visit.

Another congenial group enjoying a relaxing get together and dinner in the pleasant atmosphere of the Ranch were Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Munson and daughter, Kathie and Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Mathers, with children Eleanor and Albert.

A LOVELY GIRL with a head start in the wonderful world of fashion is Miss Joy Dugger, 14-year old ninth grade student at Sanford Junior High. Her talents have brought her many honors and many compliments lately.

The winner in the Junior Division of the Sanford Woman's Club Dreammaking Contest recently with her attractive three-piece outfit, she was awarded a beautiful white and silver bracelet, studded with rhinestones and $5.

Her triumph in the local contest sent her to the district meet at the Woman's Club in Winter Park, where she again won first place and a sewing kit.

Next stop was the state contest in Miami, which was a run-off between the top ten district winners in the state. Accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Dugger, and a friend, Mary Scott, Joy traveled to Miami for this exciting adventure, where she came out with an honorable mention.

While in Miami for four days, the Duggers and Mary enjoyed touring the city and sightseeing and especially a shopping spree in the fabulous shops of the glittering gold coast of Miami.

Joy's winning costume consisted of a dress, reversible coat and a hat. The dress was made of rayon taffeta, white background with a cocoa brown and green print. The coat was made of cocoa brown Regatta material, lined with the same material as the dress, and the hat was made to match the coat. It was a stunning outfit and with it she wore brown accessories.

Although she is a first year home economics student under Miss Shirley Seacord, she was taught to sew by her mother, who makes all of her own and Joy's clothing, most of which they design themselves. She started sewing when she was 10 years old and has been an apt pupil.

With such a talented mother-daughter sewing team, we wonder if they ever say, "I haven't a thing to wear!"

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served by the hostess committee, Mrs. R. F. Cole, chairman, and Mrs. J. E. Blackman, Mrs. Charles Cole, Miss Versa Woodcock, Mrs. Ruth Hawthorne and Mrs. Walter Raines.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pell, Osteen, are the parents of a son, born March 15 at the Seminole Memorial Hospital. The new arrival weighed 7 lbs. 9 1/2 ozs. and has been named, William Gary.

Mrs. Pat Crews of Yulee has been staying with the Pells for the past two weeks. Pat came to see his new grandson and stayed overnight. Friday, he and Mrs. Crews returned to their home, Saturday.

Youngsters 'Dig' Peace Corps Plan

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's Peace Corps program probably has made a bigger hit with the youth of America than anything since Elvis Presley.

Typical of the response it has aroused is a letter a senator received not long ago from one of his young constituents.

"I would like very much to join the Peace Corps," the letter said. "Please tell me something about it."

Similar inquiries have been pouring into the capital from all sections of the country. There was, therefore, considerable interest in a hearing Tuesday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee had before it R. Sargent Shriver, one of the President's brothers-in-law, whose nomination as director of the program is now awaiting Senate confirmation.

Shriver outlined plans for the Peace Corps as best he could, but said he was unable to provide many details because he had only been on the job for two weeks. This seemed to bother Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

Hickenlooper complained that "we're asked to confirm you for something that is still nebulous." He said this put the committee in a position of "buying a pig in a poke."

"If you give us a few pokes in the future, maybe we won't be too much of a pig," Shriver replied.

This is what I would call a fair exchange. Ask a cliché for a question and you get a pun for an answer.

Among other things, Hickenlooper wanted to know whether Shriver had any plans for providing a sectional balance in the selection of Peace Corps members.

The director replied that he planned to pick the best men available, regardless of where they came from.

Hickenlooper, however, was not overly impressed by Shriver's high-minded policy.

"I have noticed," he commented, "that the best men often are members of the prevailing political party."

It developed during the hearing that not all of the 17,400 applications received by the Peace Corps were from young people.

The lawyers explained that they were volunteering their services because they wanted to do something a bit more stimulating than helping their employers save money.

Somewhat I have a feeling that sending corporation lawyers into the backyard areas of the world are not exactly what Kennedy had in mind when he instituted the program.

However, it might not be a bad idea to have a couple of them available, just in case. There is no telling what sorts of problems the Peace Corps will bump into once it gets into operation.

It might develop that some countries are still in the underdeveloped stage because nobody has yet shown the natives how to find tax loopholes. In that case, a corporation lawyer could render an invaluable service.

thus far came from young people. A couple were sent in by big corporation lawyers.

Labor Seeks Way To Stop Inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI) Top industrialists and union leaders were under orders from President Kennedy today to find a way to halt inflationary wage-price movements without federal interference in collective bargaining.

Members of the newly created White House Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy also were asked to give priority to problems of automation and competition from lower-price foreign-made goods at their next meeting April 2.

Tourism Boost Plan Outlined

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A 20-year plan for development of industry and tourism in Florida was outlined Monday by Fred O. Dickinson of West Palm Beach, Dickinson, who will head the Florida Council of 100, said the plan is scheduled to go into effect in 1963.

One of the council's first acts, Dickinson said, would be to set up luncheon meetings with business and industrial leaders from around the nation. At the meetings council members would attempt to convince the leaders to bring their firms to Florida.

Industrial Commission Chairman Worley Brown said a federal plan to aid depressed areas in the nation could have the effect of keeping new industry out of Florida.

In a report to the Development Commission, Brown said Florida could not qualify as a depressed area to get federal aid under the present bill.

To combat the situation, the Development Commission considered plans for expanding its tourist promotion program outside the United States.

Cooper Looms As Best Bet To Meet Patty

NEW YORK (UPI) The executive director of Feature Sports indicated today that Fancyp-dan Henry Cooper has replaced heavy-listed Sonny Liston as the most likely next opponent for heavy-weight champion Floyd Patterson.

Cooper, a 26-year-old Briton with a slashing left jab, apparently gained the inside track for the Patterson match with his fifth-round technical knockout of Joe Erskine at Wembley, England, Tuesday night. Cooper, British and Empire heavyweight champion, called for a shot at Patterson immediately after the victory and Tom Bolan, executive director of Feature Sports, issued an encouraging statement.

"I'm meeting with Floyd right now and that is one of the things we are going to discuss," said Bolan, immediately after learning of Cooper's win. "Cooper's victory certainly is a big boost in his favor. However, no decision has yet been made."

A source close to Feature Sports said one possible site for Patterson's next defense is Pittsburgh's new Civic Arena which is scheduled to be opened in July. The arena will have a retractable roof and could seat about 18,000 for a prize fight.

DeBary Kegler Scores Close

League bowling results finds the scores in the DeBary Social league running very close. The DeBary Business Men's Team leads with 64 games won, followed by Jackson Service Station, 63; Peck Real Estate, 56; and Faren Builders No. 1 and VFW tied with 54.

Results in last week's play were Faren's No. 2, taking 3 points from Radio and TV Center; Lake Marie Estates, 3 from Jackson Service Station; Peck Real Estate, 3 from DeBary Business Men; VFW, 4 points from Davis Builders and Faren's No. 1, 3 from Peck's.

L. Diondi took the individual high singles with a 218 and the individual high series with a 599.

Lake Marie Estates swept the boards to take team high single with 1087 and team high series with 8072.

Be Fawn Looms As SOKC Choice

Be Fawn, who broke the 21 second barrier in his last outing Friday night, will be the dog to watch in tonight's feature race at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

Paul Boone's young hustler gets the favored inside box in tonight's main event and will be going for his seventh victory since he began his career this year.

Also in the feature field is a group of veteran campaigners, either of whom could score a victory. Rounding out the field for the Mid-Week Hot-Box are Arlene Nug, John Lee, O. B.'s Modest, Gasto, Angulon, Wayne Roberts and Aunt Hortie.

Wayne Roberts is the only greyhound in the main event with more wins than Be Fawn. Carl Tracy's 64-pounder has triumphed seven times and has been in the money in 16 of 20 starts.

In the Grade C seventh race, young Mr. Springer hopes to keep his winning record intact. Big Mo has won twice and placed twice in the only four starts of his career. He has climbed from maiden class to Grade C in only four races.

Mar. 30—Chicago White Sox.

Apr. 3—Detroit.
Apr. 4—Milwaukee.

Tiny Bone Chip Has Howard, Dodgers Hurting All Over

United Press International
A tiny bone chip has Frank Howard and the Los Angeles Dodgers hurting all over.

The chip in the left thumb of the $100,000 bonus beauty from Ohio State was discovered Tuesday night and Dr. William Scarp, Dodger physician at Vero Beach, speculated it could mean the giant slugger will miss the team's National League opener.

The injury came just as Dodger manager Walt Alton and other Los Angeles officials believed they were making solid progress in taming the 6-foot, 7-inch, 250-pounder's batting swing. The loss of Howard would be a hard blow to the Dodgers who plan to alternate him at first base and in the outfield and who are counting on him to produce much of their long-range batting power.

Howard started the 1960 season with Spokane but wound up as the National League's rookie of the year on the strength of a .288 batting average, 23 homers and 77 runs batted in.

General manager Buzzie Bavasi said that Howard, who suffered the injury in Sunday's exhibition game with the New York Yankees, will not rejoin the Dodgers until April 4. The announcement on Howard's injury came shortly after the Milwaukee Braves in which John Roseboro hit a pair of two-run homers for Los Angeles and Al Spangler had a triple and three singles for Milwaukee.

Other camp notes: Catcher Dick Brown raised his spring average to .343 with two singles at the Detroit Tigers beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 2-2. Left-hander Jim Archer's three-hit pitching for five innings paced the Kansas City Athletics to a 4-2 win over the New York Yankees in a game cut to seven innings because of rain. . . . The Boston Red Sox crushed the Los Angeles Angels, 12-3, with the aid of a homer, double and single by Rip Repulski and six errors by the Angels. . . . Rookies Nelson Mathews, Danny Murphy and Billy Williams hit eighth-inning homers to produce an 8-6 victory for the Chicago Cubs over the Cleveland Indians. . . . The world champion Pittsburgh Pirates gained their ninth win in 12 games when they topped the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-5. . . . The Cincinnati Reds walloped the Minnesota Twins, 10-4, and the Baltimore Orioles slipped the Chicago White Sox, 2-1.

Spencer Golf Play Entry List Growing

The entry list is growing for the G. W. Spencer Golf Tourney set for the Mayfair Club Apr. 6-8.

Among the entries will be Carl Dean, former state amateur champ and now owner of the Dudedead Golf Club in Orlando.

Other early entries include Dr. Harold Ring and Gene Witsel former winners in the Spencer play.

Champ Plans Tour

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI) — Sportswriter Sven Ekstrom of the Goteborg Daily says world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson will make an exhibition tour of Sweden this year. He said Patterson will tour 10 Swedish cities during April or August with the profits going to the Swedish National Police Fund.

Vikings Sign Back

MPLS.-ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The Minnesota Vikings have signed Ken Bald, all-around backfield star from Bethel College of St. Paul, Minn., as a free agent.

Scientists believe that no more than 60 to 80 species of birds remain undomesticated in the world.

DeLand Nips Sanford With 3 Run Ninth

DeLand scored three unearned runs in the ninth inning, Tuesday to shade the Sanford Seminoles, 5-2.

Bobby Johnson hurled the whole game for the locals allowing only four hits.

It was the second loss of the season for Sanford.

Their next game will be against Winter Park Friday.

Providence, Dayton Cop NIT Play

NEW YORK (UPI) — Providence College and the University of Dayton were mighty lucky to be occupying semi-final berths today in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

At least that was the opinion of their straight-shooting coaches — Joe Mullaney of the Friars and Dayton's Tom Blackburn.

"Let's face it, we were lucky all right," Mullaney said after Providence pulled out a 71-68 victory over Niagara Tuesday night in the final quarter-final game at Madison Square Garden.

"We were lucky, too," admitted Blackburn as he reviewed the Flyers' 62-60 squeaker over Temple in the first game of a doubleheader. "In fact, we must have set the game back a few years the way we played."

Dayton, a 10-point favorite, barely outlasted Temple on a jump shot by Tom Hatton with one second left to play.

Both Dayton and Providence will need more than luck on their side in Thursday night's semifinals. The Flyers will play St. Louis University and Providence will meet Holy Cross in a rematch between a pair of bitter New England rivals.

Scotts Capture Fishathon Prize

A grand sweepstakes prize was taken by the F. D. Scotts in Sunday's Sanford Boat and Ski Club fishathon, however, the winners would accept only one gift, deciding to hold the remaining awards for "another try at it."

Mrs. Richard Hart, publicity chairman, said Tuesday that of the five boats and more than 15 members taking part, the Scotts were the only ones "with magic poles." Fishing was limited to the use of cane poles and a choice of bait.

Outdoor cooking of the eat, and hamburger brought along in the event of such emergency, had just begun at Woodruff's Caf. Mrs. Hart reported, "when the flood came."

"We moved all cook-out operations to the D. H. McGillis home on Forest Dr. between rains and wound up about 9:50 p. m. dried out, appetites satisfied and ready to go again," she concluded.

Reds Invade Laos, Thailand Charges

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Thailand charged today that 14 battalions of Communist North Vietnamese troops had invaded Laos. An American spokesman announced the United States was sending "about 15" helicopters to embattle pro-Western forces.

Britain asked Russia today to join in calling for an immediate cease-fire in Laos, the Foreign office announced in London.

A spokesman said a note delivered to the Soviet Foreign Office by British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts suggested that Britain and Russia launch the appeal in their capacity as co-chairman of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indo-China.

This announcement coincided with the second day of a meeting here by top military men of the eight SEATO nations to prepare strategy in the event the Laos crisis cannot be settled peacefully.

Thai Defense Minister Thanom Kittikachorn told newsmen that the Communist troops from North Viet Nam and Pathet Lao soldiers had attacked on two fronts and within 16 miles of the administrative capital of Vientiane. He said that the government of Prince Boun Oum had rushed reinforcements to meet the attacks.

A U. S. embassy spokesman told United Press International that the helicopters would be serviced by U. S. Marines stationed at Udorn in northern Thailand, just a few miles from the Laotian border.

Informed sources said that the United States had presented a standby military plan to the other seven SEATO partners at the top-level meeting. Tight security surrounded the talks, a prelude to the council of foreign ministers gathering here next week.

The United States and Allied nations maneuvered forces into position today for a battle against the Communists in Laos if the Russians refuse to negotiate. Faced with a massive Red arms buildup and rebel successes in the little Southeast Asian kingdom, the West made it clear the hour of decision was near at hand.

Sir Frank Roberts, British ambassador to Moscow, was instructed by London to deliver to the Kremlin what Foreign Office sources said was a "final plea" for Soviet cooperation to head off an armed conflict.

Military leaders of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) met in Bangkok, Thailand, to map strategy for blocking a Communist takeover in Laos.

The American attack aircraft carrier Midway left Hong Kong with a destroyer escort. It was reported headed for the South China Sea, closest water port to landlocked Laos.

A squadron of C130 Hercules turbo-prop transport planes left Honolulu for the Philippines. They presumably could be used to rush U. S. troops from Far East bases into Laos.

A U. S. Marine landing force aloft in Southeast Asian seas was reported alerted for possible intervention.

Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines — three of the SEATO partners — could contribute armed forces quickly. It was not clear just what help the other four members — France, Australia, New Zealand and Britain — would give.

The Communist rebels in Laos claimed substantial successes and pro-Western government sources in Vientiane admitted some of them.

Laotian rebels claimed to have routed government troops from the strategic mountain pass at Muong Kasy, about 100 miles north of Vientiane, and at Pha Tang and Vang Vieng, somewhat to the south.

This would mean that the government forces had lost control of the vital highway link between Vientiane, the administrative capital, and the royal capital of Luang Prabang 300 miles to the north.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was preparing to leave Washington at midnight for a meeting in Bangkok next week with the foreign ministers of the seven other SEATO nations.

Road Reform Laws Stressed As Probers Near End Of Session

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The Legislative Roads Committee ends two years of work today with final proposals for road reform laws and a probe into alleged collusion between state highway engineers and a Jacksonville contracting firm.

The legislators, who spent Wednesday sitting conflict of interest charges against former Road Board member Earl Powers of Gainesville, also were scheduled to look into the alleged failure of Jacksonville's Beach Boulevard and irregularities in a $85,000 paving job at Orlando.

The hearing probably will run even longer than Wednesday's session. That one stretched to almost dusk as witnesses after witnesses testified about Power's interest in firms which sold supplies to the state and property he owned on land served by roads built while he was on the Road Board.

Powers, a certified public accountant, was on the board in 1953 and again in 1955 until the Bryant administration came in.

State Sen. Scott Kelly of Lakeland, commission chairman, said the aim was to determine what changes are needed in state laws to correct situations that might have existed while Powers was a member of the board. Kelly said he would leave it to the public to decide if there was any conflict of interest.

Jury Deliberations Open In Finch Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The fate of lovers Dr. E. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff was in the hands of a jury today for the third time.

Judge David Coleman gave the case to the jury of 10 men and two women Wednesday after recommending that it deny a defense plea of double jeopardy—a situation in which a person is tried again on the same charge even though a verdict has been reached before.

Finch's attorney has contended the second trial jury reached a verdict on the surgeon. But the judge in the second trial, Leroy Dawson, said no decision was made.

Peel 'Framed', Attorney Says

PORT PIERCE, Fla. (UPI) — Convicted sex sleazy jewel thief Ted Rinehart moved from his prison cell to testify today in the trial of Joseph A. Peel Jr., accused mastermind of the Chillingworth murders.

Carlton Welch, defense attorney for Peel, said he hoped to show by Rinehart's testimony that Peel was "framed" on charges of murdering Circuit Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth.

The state claims that the dapper Peel, a former West Palm Beach city judge, ordered ex-convict Floyd (Lucky) Holsapfel and Negro moonshiner George (Bobby) Lincoln to kill Chillingworth in 1955.

Holsapfel and Lincoln have testified in the musty St. Lucie County courtroom that they drowned the couple at sea on June 14, 1955, and that they carried out the murders "for Joe."

Rinehart, once on the FBI's list of ten most wanted criminals, is serving a term at Ralston state prison for a jewel robbery at the swank Palm Beach Towers hotel, winter home of some of society's biggest names.

Rinehart is the latest in a colorful string of witnesses called by Welch.

Emry C. Pickren, pipe-smoking "private eye" and former sheriff, testified Wednesday he and his bloodhound named Holmes followed a trail from the Chillingworth cottage to a highway, Holsapfel and Lincoln have testified they took the couple to sea in a small boat, directly from the cottage.

Pickren said marks on highway A1A, heavily traveled tourist artery, might have been made by "a piece of rubber." He told newsmen outside the courtroom the marks could also have been made by the shoes of a person being dragged across the road.

The first day of the defense case ended with an unsuccessful effort by Welch to put Miami Beach bartender John Tedesco on the stand to testify that he overheard a conversation between Holsapfel and nightclub operator R. J. Barnett about a "contract" to kill Chillingworth.

Educators Elect Baleman President Of Organization

The Seminole County Education Assn. meeting at the Oviedo School auditorium, elected Mrs. Mary Joyce Baleman president and Louis Koskey, vice president; Mrs. Alice Grant, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Marguerite Parlin, recording secretary and Miss Beatrice Neilson, treasurer.

The devotional address, given by Murray Faculty Member Rev. J. Murray, was based on Proverbs and entitled "The Lips of the Wise Dispense Knowledge."

A report from Mrs. Hazel West, chairman of the legislative committee, included accounts that her group has met with the county legislative delegation, has kept in touch with similar committees in neighboring counties and has arranged for a number of speakers at various civic clubs, P-T-O and P-T-A organizations.

After adjournment of the brief business session, a majority of teachers assembled to adopt a constitution for the countywide classroom teachers organization.

A refreshment course was served in the cafeteria under direction of committee chairman, Mrs. Kirby Bucklew.

UN Supplies Arrive In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The United Nations said today supplies have been arriving at Matadi since the Congolese forced UN forces out of that main supply port earlier this month.

At the same time, officials of the national transport system charged the United Nations has failed to give instructions for the forwarding of supplies and accused UN special representative Rajeswar Dayal of "untruth" in saying 33 ships were held up outside the port.

'I Pulled The Trigger-She Was Dead'

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI) — "She gave me a kiss to remember her by . . . I pulled the trigger . . . and she was dead, just like that."

The bizarre story of the high school football player and his melancholy sweetheart unfolded piece by piece today in this Texas town where both were known and liked.

"Nice kids," a school official called them.

The motive for the killing? Authorities haven't found one yet that satisfies them.

"You don't take people out and kill 'em like rabbits," Sheriff L. B. Eddins said today.

"Even if you accept this story that he killed her because she asked him to, it's murder," he said. "You could hardly call it a mercy killing."

Elizabeth Jean Williams, 17, failed to show up for class Wednesday morning. She was a slender girl, 5-foot-3 and just under 100 pounds. Miss looking, with light brown hair and blue eyes. Rather serious most of the time, but when she laughed, it was infectious.

Her parents thought it strange she didn't come to breakfast. They called the school to see if she had walked out without telling them goodbye.

Then they called the police. John Mack Herring, 17, who earned his letter playing end last year as a sophomore on the Odessa High School football team, was taken to police headquarters for questioning about noon.

"You were the last one to see her, son," Juvenile Officer James Duvall said. "Where is she?"

After about 30 minutes of questioning, the boy's father, O. H. Herring, an electrical contractor, arrived. Mack turned to his father, with tears in his eyes, and blurted out, "I killed her."

Mack led police to a ranch east of Odessa where his father leased hunting and fishing rights. He waded into a stock pond, and while police watched from the bank, reached into the water and dragged to the bank the girl's body, still in pajamas and a robe.

The body had been weighed with two pieces of lead.

"There is no motive, I think I am crazy, that's all I can say," the boy said later at Kermit, where murder charges were filed against him.

"She first asked me to kill her on Monday," Mack said. "I told her it was foolish, but she kept talking about how she wanted to be in heaven."

"I made a date with her about midnight. We drove into the country and parked. We talked about what it would be like in heaven. She wasn't sad, she was happy."

"We sat on the bank about 15 or 20 minutes. I had the shotgun. She told me she was sorry she had to leave me like this. I said 'Give me a kiss to remember you by.' She turned up her face, and I kissed her."

"She said 'Thank you, Mack. I'll always remember you for that.' Then she said 'Now!' and I raised the shotgun barrel up. She took it with the back of her hand and held it up to her head, and I pulled the trigger. She was dead, just like that."

That's 600 Acres We Called 60

A numerical digit dropped in typesetting operations of a newspaper plan can make or break the importance of a report.

Such is the case in an account of Chubota growth and program appearing on page 11 of the Herald today which states that a 60-acre tract of land is under development and soon to be opened. A lot of land can be lost between 60 and 600 . . . the correct acreage.
