Testifies In Shotgun Slaying Trial

Woman Claims She Witnessed Murder

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

A 77-year-old Sanford woman has told a 12-member circuit court jury that she saw Ben Harden Jr., 46, pull the trigger of a shotgun twice and kill her daughter, 47-year-old Laura Mae Harden.

Mrs. Annie Fisher, of 1805 Mulberry Ave., testified, "I was there. I saw him shoot her twice and kill her."

Mrs. Fisher and other relatives of Mrs. Harden testified that they were in the yard next to the 1805 Mulberry residence of the Hardens and had been playing cards when Harden went into the house and Mrs. Harden ran out of the back door with Harden chasing her with a 12-gauge shotgun.

"I was looking right at him," Mrs. Fisher said. "I saw him when he pulled the trigger two times and the gun went bam, bam." She said her daughter "was dead before we could all get to where she was."

Investigators said Mrs. Harden's body was found lying on an alley-like pathway between nearby houses.

Mrs. Fisher testified that Harden ran from the pathway

Harden trial jurors, escorted by bailiffs and sheriff's deputies, exit cars to observe shooting scene near 18th Street and Mulberry Avenue, Sanford.

Atty. Claude Van Hook and defense attorney Newman Brock and the defendant, Louis Gilley, of 1800 Mulberry Ave., testified Wednesday that he saw Harden chase his wife from the house and ran toward the pathway to see Harden point the shotgun toward the ground and fire the second shot.

Gilley, the victim's nephew, testified that while they were loading trucks at Osteen two days before the shooting that the Hardens, who had been

Kidnap Suspect Charged Here

Sanford police today charged a New York juvenile with two counts of kidnaping and two counts of robbery in the Monday night abduction-robbery of a Sanford woman and her daughter. The youth is being held in Volusia County on charges in connection with a Tuesday night kidnap-robbery in Daytona Beach.

The 16-year-old runaway from Monroe, N.Y., could be indicted by grand juries to stand trial as an adult in the cases of Juvenile Court judges could order him transferred to Circuit Court for trial as an adult.

The juvenile, captured by sheriff's deputies north of Daytona Beach after two bookstore clerks were robbed and abducted Tuesday night at a Daytona shopping center, is a suspect in the Monday night kidnap-robbery of a Sanford woman and her daughter, Capt. C. B. Fagan said.

Mrs. Margaret Mergo and 15-year-old Regina Mergo were released unharmed after a man armed with a knife and a pistol forced them into their camper van at Sanford Plaza Shopping Center and made Mrs. Mergo drive to a location between Altamonte Springs and Maitland.

The man took the camper van, which was recovered at Daytona near the scene of the second kidnap-robbery.

Police said a 1976 model auto registered to the suspect's father was found in Downtown Sanford and impounded. Witnesses told officers a van left the car at First Street and French Avenue several hours before the Mergo abduction.

The juvenile suspect in the cases is being held at the Volusia County Juvenile Detention Center at Daytona, authorities said, on charges of armed robbery, kidnaping, use of a firearm in commission of a felony, auto theft and possession of stolen property.

Commissioner Says County Paying 'For Training'

Attorney's Pay For Seminar Prompts Disagreement

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

Two county commissioners today verbally disagreed over a county policy which allowed County Utility Attorney Ned Woolfolk 6 1/2 hours' pay for attendance at a county-sponsored utility seminar in Sanford.

Commissioner John Kimbrough called payment of $25-an-hour attorney fees an example of the county "having to foot the bill for training."

But Committee Chairman Michael Hattaway saw nothing amiss about paying Woolfolk $125 for attending the June 6 seminar as long as Woolfolk was requested to do so by the commission.

"The only thing an attorney has to make his living off of is his time," the commission chairman noted.

Kimbrough, however, said members of County Attorney Thomas Freeman's law firm "are young men with relatively no experience."

"The county is paying for the training—that's just a fact," Kimbrough noted.

Hattaway said if Woolfolk went on his own initiative, "I'd say no." Woolfolk confirmed he was on request from county officials.

Kimbrough said the inexperience of Freeman's associates is "one of the reasons Freeman's firm was objected to."

In January Freeman replaced Howard Marsee as county attorney. Shortly afterwards Woolfolk was named utility attorney.

The June 6 conference was presided over by Stanley Cohen, a certified public accountant from Miami and an acknowledged expert in utility matters.

The county paid Cohen $450 for his part in the seminar.

"The commission chairman said county policy has been to reimburse the county attorney when he is requested to attend a meeting of any nature," Woolfolk and Freeman aren't employees as such, but the two attorneys are paid on a fee basis in return for legal services.

In Woolfolk's case, the fee is $25 an hour.

Contacted at his Altamonte Springs office, Woolfolk confirmed he was asked to go and said, "It is beneficial to me."

"I don't see how you can distinguish between the learning process and what is of benefit to the county," he added.

"I learned a heck of a lot at that seminar. I think [Director of Environmental Services] Bill Dale learned a heck of a lot, too," Woolfolk noted.

Woolfolk said he can see where the county is paying him to acquire an expertise in utility matters.

"If they didn't pay me, why should I take the time off from my legal practice?" he asked.

Woolfolk also pointed out he attended a seminar in New Orleans in March and charged the county for three full days of legal services.

The seminar, which was a study of land uses, was attended last year and recommended by Marsee, Woolfolk said.

Woolfolk said attending such conferences or seminars takes time away from his law practice, in which, he says, a much higher fee than $25 per hour can be earned.

Dale agreed with Woolfolk that the seminar was useful. Both Dale and Woolfolk called Cohen one of the "most knowledgeable" experts in the business when it comes to utilities.

Board Rejects Busing

Work crews were scheduled to begin clearing a wooded area near Woodlands Elementary School today after the School Board last night turned down a request from parents for courtesy busing.

On request from School Supt. William P. Lauer, the board declared a moratorium on all courtesy busing until a county-wide study is completed that defines areas considered "safety hazards."

Action came after parents from Windsor Manor subdivision complained children en route to Woodlands are required to walk an "inadequate" pathway littered with rubbish, rodents and snakes.

"Parents said snakes, rodents and other dangers lurked along the pathway," said Ralph Ray, administrative assistant to Lauer.

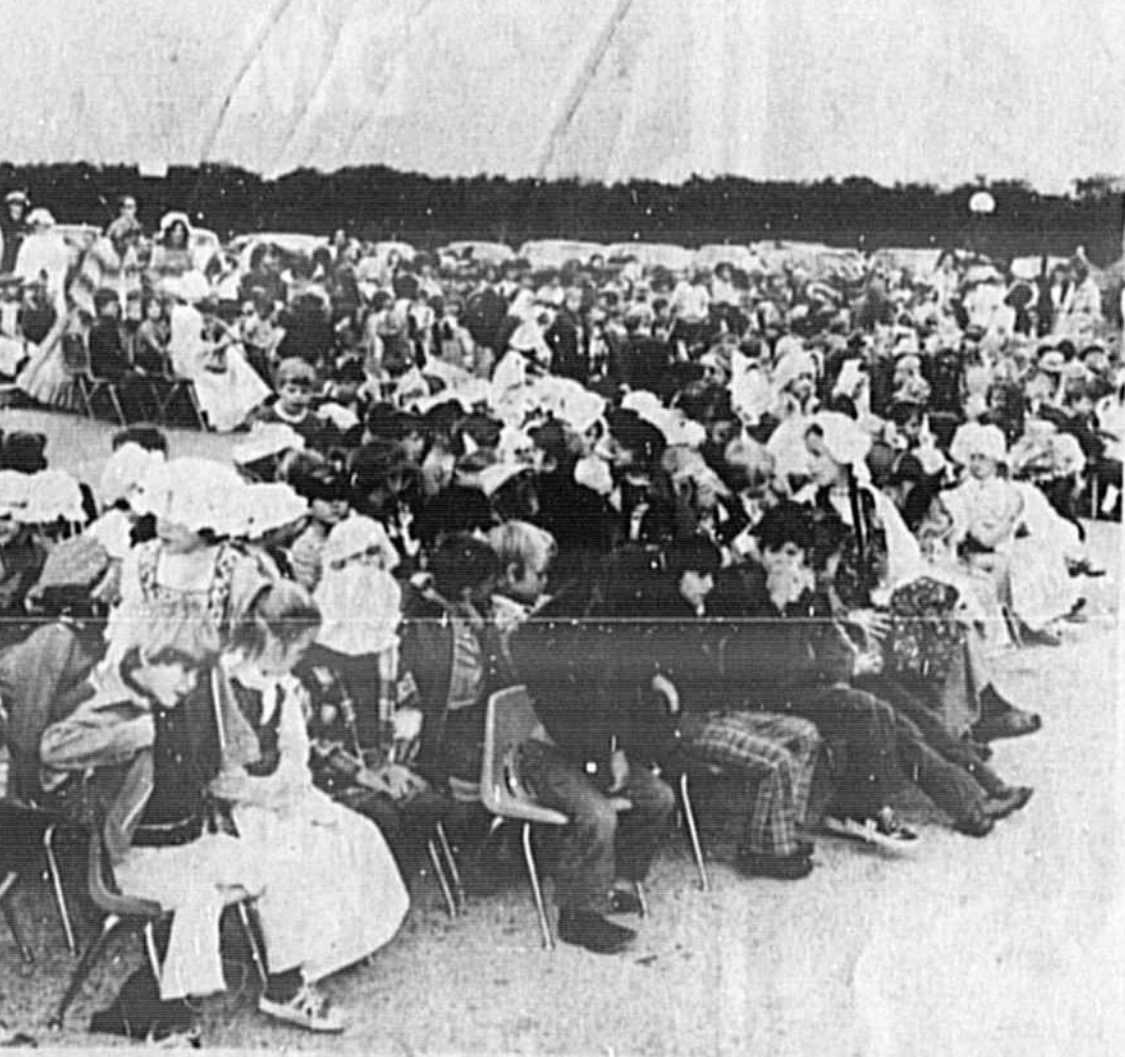

Ray said work crews began today cleaning up the area, which is school board owned property and a former orange grove.

School officials ordered the cleanup in lieu of courtesy busing. Courtesy busing may be provided if "safety hazards" necessitate transporting pupils who live less than two miles from the school they attend.

Courtesy busing, school officials say, costs taxpayers $60,000 a year. No state funds are provided for the service, and about 2,400 students are recipients of courtesy busing in Seminole County.

Ray said the school system is conducting the study to determine which areas are underserving enough to be titled "safety hazards."

The board also approved installation of a fire hydrant at the new $1-million Altamonte Springs Elementary School.

BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

Red Bug Elementary School held a celebration this morning and County Bicentennial Chairman Jack Horner presented a flag to officially designate the school as a part of the Bicentennial program. As a part of the ceremony, various articles were placed in a "time capsule," which will be locked in the Seminole County Courthouse to be opened in the year 2,000. The entire student body turned out for the program as is evidenced by the large crowd pictured above. In the photo at the right, Horner holds the Bicentennial flag while Principal James W. Neville, dressed in revolutionary days costume, and School Superintendent William P. Lauer watch first graders Chai Calder and Jennifer Griffin place various and sundry items in the time capsule. Authority Asks For Specifics On Industries Needed Here

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Industrial Development Authority (SCIDA) director James Daniel was instructed Wednesday to set a list of specific types of industry needed locally to solve some unemployment problems and to benefit the county generally.

Daniel said today he expects to take advantage of information contained in several studies to have the list of priority industries sought available within 30 to 60 days.

"We should have specific types of industries needed and objectives desired within the next month to two months," Daniel said.

Daniel said his first six months as SCIDA director has been spent "getting my feet on the ground in the area and finding out those areas in the county where we can have industry come in and benefit all concerned."

"The only drawback is that there are not many existing buildings," he said, adding industries are looking now for buildings containing 35,000 square feet. Daniel said because of the money market being what it is, many large firms prefer leasing existing buildings rather than having them constructed.

Daniel said SCIDA members, which include Ron Smith of Florida Power Corp., Frank Hutsell of Winter Park Telephone Co., Mark Grayson with real estate, former State Rep. Eugene Mooney and industrialist Georges St. Laurent, selected Mooney as chairman and St. Laurent vice chairman.

St. Laurent was named to SCIDA recently, replacing Edward White of Tuttle-White Construction Co.

Daniel said the members discussed the prospect activity generated through an advertising campaign in recent months, whereby some 45 inquiries have been received by the SCIDA office. He said some of the inquiries came from consultants and other type industries not directly interested in putting up an industry locally.

The major discussion, however, centered on specific goals and objectives, "boiling down" to what types of industries should be sought and how to seek them.

"We intend to do some face-to-face type solicitation," Daniel said, "zeroing in on particular areas, especially those areas from where inquiries have come, meeting with principals of those firms and selling the benefits of Seminole County and the advantages there are over existing locations elsewhere."

Also discussed was the tri-county concept, pushed by the Central Florida Development Committee, of concern with the overall growth of the tri-county area of Seminole, Orange and Osceola.

Airport Authority Approves Resolution For Expansion Today

By JANE CASSELLHERY
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford Airport Authority, at this morning's meeting, approved a resolution authorizing Aviation Director J. S. Cleveland and Authority Chairman Robert M. Rosemond to execute a joint participation agreement with the State Department of Transportation (DOT) for Phase III of the airport improvement program.

The next phase consists of construction of Taxiway 4 (north-south); Taxiway 2 (east-west) from terminal ramp to runway 18-36; construct a new patrol road on the southern end of the airport; and install new runway and taxiway lights on the north-south runway and associated taxiway.

The project cost is estimated by DOT to be $733,500. The state's pro-rated share, based on 12 1/2 percent of the total, is $91,687, according to Cleveland, who estimated it will cost $34,000 to revise plans and specifications and bring them up to date. He said the engineering for revision cost would be reimbursed by the state, but there would probably be a six weeks wait.

Cleveland said federal legislation covering funds for airport projects expired June 30, 1975.

and Congress has not passed replacement legislation as of this time, but it is anticipated it will be passed in a couple of months.

"Indications from FAA sources are that we will be near the head of the line once appropriate legislation is enacted," he added, "and if the process falls to the right holes, we could be started on construction next May."

The Authority members also approved the leasing of Buildings 88 and 126 to Gentry Manufacturing Co., Inc. for use in the fabrication of custom cabinets. The two buildings comprise a total of 7,582 square feet. Expiration date for the lease will coincide with that of Gentry's other lease on Buildings 3 and 11, accordingly. The lease will be for 1.75 years with the option to renew for two successive terms of two years each at an annual rental of $1,540.20.

The Board voted to instruct its attorney, W. C. Hutchison Jr., to write a letter to Florida Aircraft Instruments, Inc., which is behind "$1,800-$1,900" in rent payments, to meet the terms of its lease or it would be terminated. Hutchison recommended the lease be reformed or, as an alternative, rescinded. Cleveland said the firm probably would be a six weeks wait.

NATION IN BRIEF

President Ford Said Angry Over CIA Funding Disclosure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House suspects someone in Congress made public secret CIA testimony about undercover American money being given to some Italian anti-Communist politicians.

President Ford was described as angry about the public disclosure of the CIA funding, which CIA Director William E. Colby had described behind closed doors last month to the House and Senate members.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said there was "a strong suspicion in the White House that these allegations originated in Congress." Asked to be more specific, he replied, "I could but I won't."

The public disclosure that the CIA was funneling $6 million to the politicians came just hours before Italy's 32nd government since World War II collapsed, setting off a new crisis in the midst of a determined Communist drive for a share of political power there. However, there was no known link between the disclosure and the government's collapse.

Labor Committee May Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's veto of a bill giving construction unions wider striking powers may cost him not only his labor secretary, but also all union members of his collective bargaining committee for the industry.

The nine labor members of the committee are meeting today to consider a mass resignation to protest Ford's veto of the common-sense picketing bill, which was also supported by Secretary of Labor John T. Dunlop.

13 Arrested For Deception

ATLANTA (AP) — Thirteen employees of a Nashville, Tenn., firm have been arrested in connection with the sale of distributorships for the products Seal-Tite, Seal-It, Less-Mow and Molytex, a Georgia consumer affairs official said Wednesday.

Tim Hyles of the Office of Consumer Affairs said Eugene Scott was arrested in Bristol, Fla., on a Georgia warrant charging theft by deception. Twelve other employees of LDC Industries have been arrested through FBI investigations in Tennessee, he said.

Ford Popularity Down By 7%

President Ford's campaign officials say a poll showing a 7 per cent drop in Ford's popularity is a temporary setback resulting from voter apathy. But a spokesman for Ronald Reagan indicated he thought the figures mean the country is looking for leadership.

Ford, who has yet to make his first 1976 political trip, went by motorcade Wednesday from the White House to his campaign headquarters six blocks away. He met about 130 campaign workers and expressed continued confidence in his campaign manager, Howard H. Callaway.

Council Session Saturday

LAKE MARY — A lengthy agenda faces the city council at its 10 a.m. workshop session Saturday at city hall, beginning with a mobile home fee ordinance which has been discussed by the board several times over the past few months.

The ordinance, as written, provides a method of assessing mobile home owners a $50 parking fee annually to go into the general fund for city operation.

City officials, noting that currently the city receives property tax receipts only from the land on which the mobile homes are parked, said an additional fee would "even up" costs of government operation between owners of permanent structures and mobile homes.

A second ordinance to be discussed sets regulations on replacing and repairing roads and sidewalks when utility lines are installed.

Evan's Dale Road, a private 50 feet right of way, also known as Pine Tree Road and Pine Tree Circle, will be considered for inclusion in the city road maintenance program as requested by abutting property owners. The road has not been dedicated, as yet, to the city.

Other items on the agenda for discussion include: hospitalization bids for city employees, employee job descriptions, salary review and the setting of official holidays for the year.

State Biologist Blames Water Temperatures

Official Says Fish Disease 'Not Abnormal'

By BOB ORRELL
Herald Outdoor Correspondent

"The bacterial infection which is affecting fish in the St. Johns River is not abnormal at this time of year," stated Larry Hartzog, fishery biologist with the Florida Fresh Water Game and Fish Commission.

Hartzog visited the Sanford area Wednesday at the request of Delbert Egan, member of the advisory council of the Florida Department of Natural Resources to examine first hand specimens of infected fish.

"The bacteria which causes the infection (aeromonas hydrophila) is present in the water at all times," he continued, "and due to unusual high water temperatures, which puts extra stress on the fish, we are experiencing this outbreak."

The biologist explained that as a rule, one end or the other of the river has this condition. This year, the Seminole County area has been hardest hit.

His opinion is that the situation, while not serious, bears looking into. Bass, bream, speckled perch, and now catfish, have been caught showing signs of the disease.

While here, Hartzog was in consultation with Jerry Banks, Asst. chief of fisheries, relating his findings by telephone.

Several strains of the bacteria exist, but according to Hartzog, the one present here is the least deadly to the fish.

When questioned as to how this could be controlled, the biologist stated flatly, "The answer to the problem is to try to clean up the water quality and keep it at the highest possible level."

He also mentioned that there is no possibility of the fish being dangerous to eat if properly cooked, but they are anything but esthetic to look at.

The local commercial fishermen who depend on the catfish for their livelihood are policing their own industry. They are culling their catches to make absolutely sure that none of the affected fish are going into the market.

Another question that came up in the discussion was the possibility of shad contracting the bacteria.

"I have never seen a silver shad with any signs of it," Hartzog said. "They are salt water fish and only come into the river to spawn during the cold months. Gizzard shad or stink shad are susceptible, however."

The question was raised in view of the upcoming Sanford Shad Derby scheduled for Feb. 14 through March 14. The biologist requested that if any shad showing signs of the infection were landed during the derby, they should be frozen and kept for the Game and Fish Commission to study.

Hartzog pointed out that when water temperatures stay cold, the bacteria cannot breed. Therefore, he sees an end to the

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Shevin Files Land Complaint, Says More Suits To Follow

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin says several Florida-based property firms have defrauded investors across the country and violated the state's deceptive trade act.

Shevin filed a complaint Wednesday against one of the companies, Atlantic Equities Inc. of Miami, and said legal action was planned against the others.

Shevin charged that the firms had defrauded a large number of customers through false promises to sell land. He said he would try to have the money refunded.

The firms solicit listings from out-of-state owners of Florida land, promising to make various efforts to sell the land when in fact such sales efforts are "virtually nonexistent," Shevin said.

Office Split Suggested

MIAMI (AP) — The legislature should split the office of state treasurer-insurance commissioner and make the insurance regulating job a Cabinet-appointed post, says the man who now wears both hats.

Treasurer Phil Ashler said Wednesday he hasn't thought about whether he'd like to be the insurance commissioner appointee, but that he will push to split the job during the 1976 legislature.

The treasurer should remain an elective officer and a member of the Cabinet, he said. He added he emphatically is not interested in running for that job.

Change In Procedure Urged

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The director of the Florida Highway Patrol says major changes should be made in the way stolen-vehicle reports are handled.

Col. Eldridge Beach said Wednesday that the changes were needed to safeguard against errors which led to the death of one motorist and another incident during the weekend involving an erroneous stolen car report.

He said he was proposing that stolen vehicle tag numbers be purged from the computer system after 90 days instead of the current four-year period.

Welfare Increase Requested

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — State welfare payments, unchanged in two years, should be increased, says Health and Rehabilitative Services Secretary William J. Page.

Page gave this top priority Wednesday in his spending request for the state's biggest agency at the first of two days of budget hearings by Gov. Reubin Askew.

The increase is aide to families with dependent children from 74 to 80 per cent of a state-established level of need would, for example, raise monthly assistance for a family of four from $170 to $184, Page said.

Official, tawman Indicted

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — City Manager Ronald J. Stack and a Key West detective have been indicted on charges of trying to solicit a $3,000 bribe from a pawn shop operator.

The indictments were handed down Wednesday by a Monroe County grand jury. Stack and the detective, Carlos Zarate, surrendered and were released on their own recognizance later in the day. They made no public comment.

The charges are the first returned by the panel in its months-long probe of alleged corruption and narcotics trafficking among officials of the southernmost U.S. city.

State Appointment Reported

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Richard W. Ervin, retired state Supreme Court justice, will become director of the Florida Division of Elections, the Florida Times-Union says in editions for today.

Secretary of State Bruce Smeathers will announce the appointment Friday, the newspaper said.

Neither Ervin nor Smeathers was immediately available for comment on the report.

Sanford Man Arrested Stolen Guns Recovered

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police have arrested a 19-year-old man and recovered two shotguns taken in a weekend burglary at Seminole Sporting Goods, Sanford.

Detective Capt. C. B. Fagan Jr. said detectives Walter Jones, arrested Rudolph V. Brown, 19, of 923 1/2 Poplar Ave., Sanford, on Wednesday afternoon on a charge of buying, receiving and concealing stolen property.

Brown was booked at county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

The shotguns and pistols valued at $2,215 were taken in the burglary of the sporting goods store. Police are still searching for five rifles, five shotguns, eight revolvers and a quantity of ammunition taken in the break-in.

Meanwhile, police today said a Sanford man who was arrested on an extortion charge in the case Tuesday has been transferred to the Sanford Juvenile Detention Center.

Capt. Fagan said when the youth was arrested he listed his age as 18 and was booked into county jail as an adult. Fagan said that officers determined Wednesday afternoon that the suspect is a juvenile.

The boy was arrested after Don Smith received telephone calls demanding $500 for the return of the guns stolen in the burglary. Police said Smith, his family and store were threatened and the arrest was made after money was dropped at a telephone booth on W. 13th St.

Cities, States Need More Power

In the 1950s Dwight D. Eisenhower said that one of his biggest disappointments as president was his inability to return some federal powers to states, cities and counties.

More recently, when President Ford was asked for his opinion of Ronald Reagan's proposal that $90 billion in federal programs be returned to local governments he answered that the governments probably did not want the programs.

The governors probably were reflecting majority opinion. Politically it's much easier for them if Washington does the taxing and they do the spending.

Citizens are aware, as are the governors, that the billions that they and the President were discussing already are a burden on the citizens of their states.

UNESCO Crippled

The Arab using UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, for a propaganda platform against Israel are subverting the organization's high purpose.

The Arab and Communist nations are insisting that proposed "guidelines for the mass media" include a condemnation of Zionism as racism.

Writing such guidelines is a questionable project in itself. It smacks of propaganda and censorship.

There were several other names on J. Edgar Hoover's hate list, the old bulldog subjected most of them to FBI harassment.

More than one distinguished lawyer, for example, was systematically smeared by the FBI because his name happened to be mentioned as Hoover's possible successor.

The quickest way for a free people to lose their liberty is to grant too much power to their policemen.

Around

The Clock

So you want to do a bit of digging in and around your yard, huh?

Well, before you move that fence post, mail box or what have you, it might be well for you to call Southern Bell Telephone Co., and advise them of your plans.

Tom Hunt, manager of the Sanford Southern Bell office, told us, "No one would intentionally prevent a friend or neighbor from calling the doctor when an emergency arises."

There's more involved in a cable cut than just inconvenience or the cost of repairs," Hunt said.

Hunt told us "a recent cable break in Deltona cut off services to the medical clinic in addition to almost 100 customers."

As in the world did not face an acute enough problem already in feeding its burgeoning billions, another threat to the global food supply has appeared.

It is salt, creeping into farmland waters at a disturbing rate, reports NOAA magazine, a publication of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Salt is encroaching not only in coastal areas that have never been arable; it is intruding into areas that have long been intensively irrigated, such as the lower Colorado River Valley.

That's the bad news. The good news—and it could be very good news for an increasingly hungry world—is that the salt problem may literally contain the seeds of its own solution.

Many varieties of plants, called halophytes, can live comfortably with salt.

For the past three years, a team of scientists at the University of California in Davis, with support from NOAA's Office of Sea Grant and the National Science Foundation, has been engaged in an effort to make salt-tolerant plants even more so, as well as to develop new strains of valuable crop plants not now naturally tolerant to salt.

The goal is nothing less than the creation, through selection and breeding, of seed-bearing plants that can be grown in soil irrigated with either brackish water or seawater, or that can be grown directly in seawater in hydroponic tanks.

The process of developing such crop strains is a long-term one. But if it is successful, the results would be of inestimable value to the world's crops to be harvested in regions presently totally unsuitable for agriculture.

Radio astronomers have picked up the sounds of what they believe was the explosion of a stupendous "primeval fireball" out of which the universe was created 10 billion years ago.

Meanwhile, anthropologists have discovered the fossil remains of manlike creatures in Africa's Great Rift Valley which push back the origins of the human race at least three million years.

Access Law Called A Patchwork

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — State law opens new records to the public, but access to reports on how well employees are doing their jobs depends on occupation and geography.

You can see evaluation reports on all employees except public school teachers and university professors in most parts of Florida.

But you are denied access to all employe evaluation reports if the employe in question works in one of 18 West Coast and Central Florida counties served by the 2nd District Court of Appeal.

If you live in Tampa, for example, you cannot see a local revenue collector's evaluation report but you can go to the capital city and examine his Tallahassee superior's file.

That crazy-quilt situation results from a patchwork of laws, rules and judicial interpretations, says Asst. Atty. Gen. Sharyn Smith, who specializes in public records and open meetings issues.

She said the legislature has passed a law extending public school teacher assessment reports on how well employees are doing their jobs depends on occupation and geography.

Without realizing what it was doing, according to Miss Smith, the Cabinet last year approved a Board of Regents rule denying the public access to university professor evaluations.

The Tallahassee Democrat challenged professor evaluation Secretary in court after Florida A&M University officials refused to release a report that apparently outlined the reasons for dismissing a former football coach.

The Cabinet then attempted to repeal the rule, but the 1st District Court of Appeal said it has failed to act in the 30 days required by law for it to overturn a Board of Regents rule.

Angola Disillusions Cubans

SILVA PORTO, Angola (AP) — Three young Cubans taken prisoner by the National Union (UNTA) in the Angolan civil war say they were told in Cuba they were needed to help the Popular Front (MPLA) fight foreign mercenaries.

They said they came to Angola believing they were helping the Popular Front fight off invaders, but since their arrival they had not seen a single foreigner, either before their capture or after.

"The Cuban people would be disgusted if they knew what was going on in Angola," said Lt. Selo Calder, a 22-year-old black.

Cooperation With Reds

ROME (AP) — Another long, difficult Italian government crisis was predicted today as the Christian Democrats ruled out cooperation with the Communists in forming the country's 33rd cabinet since World War II.

The issue of a role for Western Europe's largest Communist party was a key factor in the collapse of Christian Democratic Premier Aldo Moro's 13-month-old minority coalition Wednesday night.

Moro resigned after the Socialist party, Italy's third largest after the Christian Democrats and Communists, withdrew its parliamentary voting support.

The Socialists complained that the Moro government ignored their economic proposals and their demands that the Communists be given a hearing in the formulation of government policy.

Some African observers said the endorsement of the leftist faction in the Angolan civil war would be coupled with a request that it negotiate with its anti-Marxist foes, who are supported by the United States and South Africa.

Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., told newsmen the United States should go along with the African consensus. Diggs, attending the summit as an observer from the Congressional Black Caucus, said President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger have lowered American diplomatic standing in black Africa by joining white-ruled South Africa in support of the Angolan National Front (FNLA) and the National Union (UNTA).

The loan program, which Florida has operated since 1972, provides low-interest loans to students. Loan payments don't have to start until 12 months after graduation.

Students there held a protest rally Wednesday night, and student government leaders were exploring whether some other funds might be diverted for the loans.

Bill Ryan, chief of the Bureau of State Surplus Property, told the committee that one of the sales involved a lawmaker who purchased surplus office furniture for use in his district office.

"At the time, we weren't familiar with all the ins and outs of the program and we assumed he could be considered a political subdivision," Ryan said.

Cities and counties are political subdivisions, which fall under different procedures than private individuals in sale of surplus property.

Surplus Property Director R.C. Covington later identified the legislator as then-Rep. Ted Handell, D-Port Myrtle. Covington said Handell paid $291 for two desks, four filing cabinets, two storage cabinets and four tables.

Florida House Committee Probes Sales

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A lawmaker who questioned whether sales of surplus state property to private individuals were "completely washed over" has learned that one of the buyers was a legislator.

And officials of the Department of General Services explained Wednesday, they saw no problem with selling office furniture to the legislator because they assumed he was a "political subdivision."

Jack Kane was to be presented an opportunity to defend his agency against criticism, much of which was spotlighted in a recent audit by Auditor General Ernest Ellison.

Rep. Tom Lewis, R-West Palm Beach, pointed out Wednesday that the audit said three sales of surplus property failed to meet proper procedure, but Kane's audit response "did not mention this and it appears to me it was completely washed over."

State College Fund Depleted

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — An $11.4-million fund to provide loans for Florida college students has been depleted for the first time ever, meaning more than 2,500 persons will not receive the loans they were expecting, officials say.

Ernest T. Smith, administrator of student financial aid for the state, said Wednesday that the legislature had appropriated $11.4 million for the loan program last session, but that by November all the money had been allocated to some 13,000 students.

He blamed the unprecedented demand on economic conditions including the inability of students to get money through normal bank loans.

"We had never come close to exhausting the funds before, but this year we did five months into the fiscal year," he said.

Student leaders at various campuses, including the University of Florida in Gainesville where 865 applications were turned down last year, said the rejection notices that came in December were late, said for students to take other plans.

Students there held a protest rally Wednesday night, and student government leaders were exploring whether some other funds might be diverted for the loans.

Zeigler Barred From Funeral Of Slain Wife

WINTER GARDEN (AP)— Eunice Zeigler, one of four victims of a bloody Christmas Eve massacre, has been buried. But her husband wasn't there to see it.

Authorities allowed W.T. Zeigler, accused of first-degree murder in the slayings of his wife and three others at his furniture store Dec. 24, to visit his wife's body at a funeral home Wednesday. But he was barred from attending the burial.

Defense attorney Ralph Hadley III said County Judge Frank Kanev changed his mind about allowing Zeigler, 39, to attend the burial because of fears for Zeigler's safety. Hadley did not elaborate.

"That's the only reason the sheriff didn't want him there and we occurred," Hadley said.

Zeigler spent only a few minutes in the funeral home and was returned to jail prior to the brief burial service, which was attended by about 12 friends and relatives of Mrs. Zeigler, 32.

Mrs. Zeigler, her parents and a customer were gunned down in Zeigler's furniture store the night of Dec. 24. Police have accused Zeigler of plotting the murders as part of a scheme to collect $50,000 in life insurance on his wife.

Zeigler has proclaimed his innocence, but has refused to disclose his version of the slayings.

As Mrs. Zeigler was being buried, Prof. Herbert L. MacDonnell of Elmira College, Elmira, N.Y., was at the scene of the murders trying to recreate what happened.

MacDonnell is a nationally known forensic scientist who served as an expert witness in the Joan Little murder trial and the trial of 12 Chicago policemen on charges stemming from the bloody 1970 riot on a Black Panther headquarters. He also was involved in the investigation which followed the assassination of Martin Luther King.

A sheriff's department spokesman said it would be several weeks before the results of MacDonnell's inspection would be completed.

MacDonnell examined the size, pattern and location of blood stains at the scene, the spokesman said.

Edward Kirkland, another Zeigler attorney, said he had no objection to MacDonnell's entry into the case, calling him a "totally dedicated forensic scientist."

"I am singularly impressed with his reputation to be neither pro-prosecution nor pro-defense," Kirkland said. "I feel this guy will call it as it is, at least as it is in his opinion."

Hadley described Zeigler as "pretty torn up" after viewing his wife's body in the company of his mother.

"Both Mr. Zeigler and his mother are terribly upset," Hadley said.

Joseph Alioto Evasive About Political Future

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— "I'm as anxious as anybody else to find out what's going to happen to me next," Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said during his last day in office.

In an interview later Wednesday with a local television station, Alioto was evasive about his political future.

"I've always had a career in public service, but it's a question of what is open," the 59-year-old multimillionaire said. "You put yourself on certain roads and things happen. I'm waiting to see what happens. Meantime, I'm earning my living, an honest living, as a lawyer."

Alioto, mayor here the past eight years, was an unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate in 1974.

'It's A Two-Way Street'

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)— The bishop of Richmond's Catholic Diocese has ordered all high schools in his jurisdiction to refuse to allow the U.S. Selective Service to use the schools for student registrations.

The Most Rev. Walter F. Sullivan said he was practicing the doctrine of separation of church and state delineated last year by the U.S. Supreme Court in denying government aid to parochial schools.

Separation of church and state, the bishop said, is a two-way street.

Young Ford Offered Job

The Thoroughbred Breeders of Kentucky offered the president's son the job after reading that he had transferred from Utah State University to California State Polytechnic University to take courses in horsemanship and riding.

Abby's Suggestion Angers Bird Lover

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "move that cursing myna bird to the garage, basement or some other isolated place so people won't be offended by its vulgarity" was strictly for the birds.

If a bird is isolated for a long period of time, it will become listless and unhappy. Birds need the sound of a human voice or the company of other birds to keep them happy and healthy.

Also, myna birds are tropical birds, and as such, they are highly susceptible to pneumonia and should be kept warm and out of drafts. (I lost two crows in one week by leaving them in a drafty kitchen.)

Please, Abby, in the name of humanity, print this!

DEAR BIRD LOVER: All right, here's your letter. Now, all you folks out there, please keep your birds warm!

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I are 21 and 19. We are married now, but when we were young (12 and 10) we were both sexually molested by our brother-in-law on numerous occasions. We were never very close to our mother, and we had no father, so we had nobody to turn to. We were naive and very frightened, so we just kept it to ourselves.

The problem is not ours now because what has happened in the past, but this brother-in-law is now the father of two adopted daughters, ages 4 and 6, and we are afraid that they might molest them.

How do you go about telling our sister that her husband is abnormal? Is it too late for us to do anything now to prevent him from molesting his children?

DEAR BEEN: Try to establish a close relationship with the two little girls so that they will tell you if their father takes any indecent liberties with them. I don't recommend your telling your sister or anyone else. Bringing up the past now could create an ugly situation, and finally, you wrote Herbert a note in February of last year, which began correspondence between the two.

When Stella visited her brother in Maryland last summer, after nearly 40 years, she was reunited with her first boyfriend. After her return to Sanford following the two-month visit, Herbert came to Florida for a brief vacation. Marriage was never mentioned.

If a woman acquaintance dies, my wife develops instant "compassion" for the widower, and it's "let's invite poor Jim over for dinner, or bridge, or for the evening."

Whenever we have a party, she says, "Don't you think we should invite poor John?" He must be so lonely!

She is the only one among our many friends who has this type of interest and compassion.

Abby, I have had it. How do I put a stop to it without appearing to be a jealous husband?

Childhood Sweethearts Reunited

Pryor-Wiley Are Wed

By DORIS DIETRICH
Herald Correspondent

A romance that began in Eden, Md. in 1934, and ended in 1936, was renewed nearly 40 years later and resulted in marriage for Stella Pryor of Sanford and D. Herbert Wiley of Eden.

As youngsters, the two were in school in Salisbury, Md., Stella's home town, from grades one through seven, when his parents moved to another county 4 miles away. When the family church folded, Herbert and his mother, who was widowed at the time, began attending Stella's church in Salisbury.

Among the sympathy cards Stella received at the death of her husband, Irving, was one from Herbert, who had read the obituary in a Maryland newspaper. An enclosure to the effect that he had lost his wife in 1936. Stella answered all the messages, and finally wrote Herbert a note in February of last year, which began correspondence between the two.

When Stella visited her brother in Maryland last summer, after nearly 40 years, she was reunited with her first boyfriend. After her return to Sanford following the two-month visit, Herbert came to Florida for a brief vacation. Marriage was never mentioned.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Herbert Wiley... the former Stella Pryor

Stella followed through with the orders and left Sanford on Dec. 3 for a new life in her home state.

The couple was married on Dec. 14, 1975, following the morning worship service at Asbury United Methodist Church, Allen, Md. Officiating clergyman at the 12:30 p.m. ceremony was the Rev. William A. Turner, and the brother of Stella's late husband, Rev. Elmer H. Pryor.

Attendees were the bridegroom's only daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. (Alison) Heckler Jr. A former schoolmate of the couple, Mrs. David Kolb, organist, played "My Cup Runneth Over With Love."

The bride chose for her vows she answered, and then departed to St. Petersburg to visit relatives. Upon her arrival back home, she stopped by the post office to discover two letters from her anxious lover, who asked her to marry him.

Following a flight back to the church, was the site of a lavish buffet-reception. The bride's sister, Mrs. George W. Williams, made and served the wedding cake, and the bridegroom's cousin, Mrs. Hazel Hearn, made and poured the cranberry punch which floated a molded ice heart filled with cherries.

The bridegroom's modern eight-room farm house, which Stella visited as a child.

The newweds share similar interests such as history, antiques, and gardening, among others. The bridegroom is a quality control man in the grain division at Perdue, Inc. He is also a trustee of the Asbury United Methodist Church, a director of the Fire Department, a member of the Lions Club, all of Allen, past president of the Asbury United Methodist Church, and currently on the board of directors of Somerset County Historical Society, past president of Del-Mar-Va Guernsey Breeders, a member of Wisconsin County Historical Society and an amateur photographer.

Turkey Leftovers?

Try Banana Salad Solution

If you've still got turkey leftover problems, bananas are the answer. They'll turn your turkey into a dish so delicious, people will think you planned it on purpose — not as an afterthought to a leftover problem.

The thing to do with leftovers is to make them dramatically different from the first-time serving — and what could be more dramatic than a Banana-Turkey Skillet Salad? It's a polyester leisure suit while Clay (or maybe Nathan) is decked out in blue.

Norman Rockwell Is Star of Mall Exhibit

A 500 piece traveling exhibit of Norman Rockwell works will appear at Winter Park Mall Jan. 20 through 24. The exhibition is open to the public free of charge.

The massive display of art works, most of them mounted and framed reproductions, spans a period of over 60 years. It highlights the best known works of America's most famous artist-illustrator.

A substantial element in the exhibit is a complete collection of covers Rockwell created for the Saturday Evening Post over 47 years. His assignment totaled 323 pieces of work, beginning with the cover of May 20, 1916, and continuing through Dec. 14, 1963, and a major category in his artistic achievement.

These are actual Post covers, part of a collection brought out from basements, attics and warehouses. It was completed in 1974 after a 16 year quest. Many magazines were found in fragile condition. The Post covers have been permanently imbedded in canvas to preserve their color and fidelity.

This unique step is called an acrylic-enzyme process and requires that the original print be covered with several layers of acrylic. Then the original paper is completely removed by enzymes, leaving a transparent film of acrylic and ink. This fragile film is then bonded to artists canvas with more acrylic and the resulting product becomes incredibly durable.

A chronological arrangement allows the viewer to survey the development of Norman Rockwell as an artist, plus the advancements made in graphic approach, the revolutionary changes in printing technology and the sweeping changes in our cultural history.

In addition to the Post covers, the Mall exhibit contains prints and color reproductions of several hundred other Rockwell works.

It includes the "Four Freedoms", the complete "Boy Scout Calendar" series, the "Seasons of Love" series, Advertising Art, his "Famous American Portraits" and several limited edition prints.

Rockwell's art communicates a visual message about Americans from the World War I era through the mid-60's. It deals with bringing up children, earning a living, fighting wars, our families, our religious heritage and our institutions.

Safety is a family affair.

Citrus Brings Northerners Joy

Oliver and Roselyn Jones began their month-long Christmas vacation trip by bestowing Chuluota citrus upon all and sundry from the Greater Atlanta area northwards. On their second evening in Atlanta, they were special guests at the Christmas party given by the Atlanta Arm Depot Association of Retired Persons.

Oliver-joined by visiting old friends with whom he had worked for so many years prior to retirement to Chuluota. Among the door prizes for the evening were two large baskets of "Sixth Street" fruit donated by the Joneses right out of their back yard.

After spending four days in Atlanta visiting friends and relatives and extolling the virtues of Florida living, they drove to Oak Ridge, Tenn. where they spent a week with their children, Lynn and Dan Carpenter, in their beautiful new hilltop home.

Thereafter, they drove to Pennsylvania to visit son, David and his family. Christmas with the

Daytona Beach C.C. Loses Power, Game SPORTS

By SCOTT ABRAHAM Herald Correspondent

Sunset had long since passed, and now the chill January darkness settled upon Interstate 4.

Through the night sped the Daytona Beach Community College (DBCC) team bus, the players and fans inside heading for a 7:30 basketball rendezvous with the Raiders of Seminole Community College.

But a funny thing happened as the bus headed into Seminole County over the St. Johns River. The vehicle lost its momentum on the long bridge and soon came to a halt on the incline.

"I don't know what happened," a team spokesman said later at the game. "We just lost power going up the bridge. Never happened before."

It was the start of a long Tuesday night for the DBCC Scots, who managed to fix the bus, but then proceeded to lose to Seminole, 81-49.

The game started 20 minutes late because of the delay, but the Scots presumably left right on time and in a hurry. The thrashing left DBCC at 55 for the year, while the overwhelming Raiders ho-hummed their way to win No. 12 against two losses.

It was the type of game where, for the winners, the regulars take a holiday and let benched. Out came a few more reserves, including Rick Cookendorfer, Sammy Williams, and Vick Wilkerson. Wilkerson put on a dazzling display of inside footwork, hitting 12 points in that final stretch.

"No one hogs the ball on this club," said Sterling later. "We really have team play. We keep the ball moving, and feed it to whoever is open."

Seminole set the tone for the evening by scoring the game's first 12 points. In the second half, the Raiders hit for eight before Dan Harlacher managed to break the Seminole press at the 12:47 mark.

"We made it a point to press hard at the start," said Sterling. "Daytona was slowing the game down considerably, waiting for the good shot and we wanted to be careful and not commit any mistakes."

Sterling's Raiders cruise up to St. Johns Community College on Saturday night for their next game.

Hopefully, the bus won't break down.

Wake Forest Falls From Unbeaten Ranks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was an unexpected pleasure for Dean Smith.

"We certainly didn't expect this kind of game," the North Carolina basketball coach said. "It was a shock for Bill Foster. 'The way we played, we should have gotten beat by 40 points,'" said the Clemson coach.

Smith felt the pleasure and foster the pain after the sixth-ranked North Carolina Tar Heels crushed the Clemson Tigers 83-64 in college basketball Wednesday night.

"We were lucky to catch them on an off-night," Smith said after the lopsided game at Clemson.

Phil Ford had 15 points and 10 assists and Tom Lagarde scored seven points early in the second half to help the tough Tar Heels break the game open.

Three other ranked Atlantic Coast Conference teams were in action Wednesday night as No. 2 Maryland beat George Washington 82-72; Virginia stunned No. 7 Wake Forest 63-58 and 11th-ranked North Carolina State hammered Appalachian State 82-51.

Elsewhere, it was Georgetown 72, St. Joseph's (Pa.) 61; Marshall 89, Temple 83; Tulane 92, Duke 82; Pitt 70, West Virginia 61; Athletes-In-Action 78, Oklahoma 53; Navy 77, Baltimore Loyola 72; Creighton 50, San Diego 48 in overtime; Xavier of Ohio 82, Canisius 64; Detroit 83, St. Bonaventure 81 in overtime; Jacksonville 68, South Alabama 62; Syracuse 55, Fordham 48; VMI 82, Furman 67 and Missouri 90, Lafayette 77.

Brad Davis and Steve Sheppard each scored 20 points to lead Maryland's victory. Wally Walker fired in 22 points, including five in a nine-point string at the end that helped Virginia upset Wake Forest, the recent giant-killer of the ACC. Kenny Carr's 25 points led North Carolina State over Appalachian. The Mountaineers used stalling tactics to no avail against the Wolfpack.

Derrick Jackson scored 18 points in the second half to lead Georgetown over St. Joseph's. In the first game of a double-header at Philadelphia's Palestra, Marshall beat Temple behind Abe Miller's 24 points. Arthur Bibbs led five players in double figures with 21 points as Tulane beat Duke. Larry Harris scored 10 straight points in the second half to lead Pittsburgh past West Virginia. Dan Knight, Tim Hall and Tom Kiffin combined for 41 points as Athletes-In-Action beat Oklahoma. Barry Wilbur's 20 points led

Miller Seeking Encore

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Johnny Miller, golf's new Golden Boy and the brightest young star since Jack Nicklaus' early years, has this little problem.

What does he do for an encore?

The problem, very much his own making, was set up last year when he reached a plateau of performance perhaps unmatched in history. He swept the two Arizona tournaments for the second year in a row — with a string of eight consecutive rounds in the 60s, a two-tournament combined winning margin of 23 strokes and a 14-hole total of 49 under par.

Now, starting the 1976 pro golf tour in the $200,000 Tucson Open, he's faced with the problem of providing a top to that all-but-untopposable showing.

"Of course, I try to win every tournament I play," Miller said. "And I'm playing good now. From tee to green it's about as good as I've ever played. My putting may not be all that I'd want it to be, but sometimes that can be corrected quickly."

"But I don't expect to. I don't expect to ever play like that again. That was ridiculous. It was Dreamville. Most everything was going at 95 percent and some things at 100 percent."

The quick starts over the last two seasons — he won the first three events of 1974 and three of the first four of 1975 — propelled Miller to the front rank of the game's greats and solidified his stature as one of the game's leading lights.

He's not looking for a repeat this year — and, strangely enough, isn't even sure it would be a good thing if he did duplicate.

O.J. Simpson Again Leads The Pick Of The Pros

By MURRAY OLDERMAN The Herald Services

SAN FRANCISCO — In professional football today, there is one unalterable fact. Any all-star team starts with Orneith James Simpson and proceeds downward to more contentious positions.

The Juice — O. J. Simpson of Buffalo — leads for the fourth straight year the 21st annual NEA All-Players All-Pro team, announced today by Newspaper Enterprise Association.

Simpson's domination is reflected in the vote tally. More than 100 ballots were sent to the team captains and player representatives of the NFL. Only one failed to return with O.J.'s name penned in for one of the running back positions.

Simpson, at the age of 28, is at the peak of his game. The rest of the team emphasizes maturity, too, from 35-year-old Fran Tarkenton at quarterback on offense to 32-year-old Emmitt Thomas at corner back on defense.

one of them has been a familiar name on previous all-pro check lists. The 1975 season even in the performance of the successful teams, was obedient to experience.

This is the 75 all-pro roster:

OFFENSE

Wide Receiver — Cliff Branch, Oakland, 27, 5-11, 170, 4th year. Always requires double coverage.

Wide Receiver — Isaac Curtis, Cincinnati, 25, 6-1, 193, 2nd year. Most dynamic deep threat in football.

Tight End — Charles Young, Philadelphia, 24, 6-4, 235, 3rd year. Most spectacular of a fine crop.

Tackle — Ron Yary, Minnesota, 29, 6-5, 255, 8th year. When Vikes need yardage, it's over his spot.

Tackle — Rayfield Wright, Dallas, 30, 6-4, 258, 9th year. Has been steadfast personified for Cowboys.

Guard — Bob Kucshenberg, Miami, 28, 6-2, 249, 6th year. Has amazing reactions for big man.

End — L. C. Greenwood, Pittsburgh, 29, 6-6, 245, 7th year. Those gold shoes fly on a pass rush.

Center — Jim Langer, Miami, 27, 6-2, 253, 8th year. He sets the standard against "odd" defenses.

Quarterback — Fran Tarkenton, Minnesota, 35, 6-0, 190, 15th year. Belongs now in annals of all-time greats.

Running Back — O. J. Simpson, Buffalo, 28, 6-1, 212, 7th year. The Juice keeps turning it on for yardage.

Running Back — Chuck Foreman, Minnesota, 25, 6-2, 215, 3rd year. He's Mr. Versatility for the Vikes.

Placekicker — Jim Bakken, St. Louis, 35, 6-0, 200, 14th year. Was superb in the clutch for Cards.

DEFENSE

End — Jack Youngblood, Los Angeles, 25, 6-4, 248, 5th year. Has amazing reactions for big man.

Guard — Ed White, Minnesota, 28, 6-2, 280, 7th year. May be the strongest man in
