Expressway.

No. they don't plan to do away with tolls, just the stopping.

Tommorrow, surveys will be issued to expressway users between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. to determine if they'd be interested in an electronic toll-collection system. The system would eliminate stops at toll plazas and allow motorists to toddle on their way with little more than a slowdown.

Buyer beware when leasing automobile

By SAMORA ELLIOTT Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Do your homework when shopping for an automobile lease then get the details in writing is the advice of one local car dealer to avoid some pitfalls. Car buyers sometimes are led to believe they are buying the vehicles when in fact they are leasing them by fast talking salemen and confusing contracts.

The problem is so bad, Florida Attorney General Bob Butterworth conducted a public hearing earlier this week to hear citizens complaints. Glib salemen and contracts which need a lawyer to interpret were among many complaints some 150 lodged with the state during a public hearing at Tamarac City Hall. The state sponsored the hearing in an effort to identify abuses by dishonest leasing companies - and eventually stop them.

Butterworth, who presided at the hearing Tuesday, says he has more than 600 complaints on file from throughout the state. He said that there are lots of honest dealerships. but that some intentionally mislead customers.

"We are going to take court action against a number of them, unless of course they want to resolve it with us before that," Butterworth said.

New auto tag is a 'license to learn'

By VICKI DeSORMIER Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Times aren't so easy for teachers these days. Finances are tight. There are too many students in the classroom. There isn't always the support from home that there should be. Still, teachers are doing a fine job with some assistance from the Foundation for Seminole County Public Schools.

Now, the Foundation is getting some assistnace from drivers across the county.

If you purchase your automobile tags in Seminole County you have the chance to make a purchase that can be a "license to learn" for the students in local classrooms.

A new auto tag, featuring a bright red apple, a diploma, a mortar board and a pencil inscribed with the words "Support Education" goes on sale in November.

The plate will cost $27 more than the standard auto tag. Of that extra fee, $15 from all the tags sold in Seminole County will be donated to the Foundation to help finance mini-grants to the teachers who are doing unique things in their classrooms.

"I just want people to go out and get these license plates." said school board member Larry Strickler. He said he will purchase two: one for his car and one for his wife's car.

Strickler is also the vice president for external affairs for Southern Bell, the phone company that will feature the plate on the cover of its Orlando. Osceola County and Sanford residential white pages next month and in January.

MIAMI - Former Miami police officer William Lozano's attorney has sued the city to recover $1.8 million in legal fees incurred while representing Lozano in his racial shooting trial. Lozano shot and killed two men on a motorcycle in 1989 but was acquitted. He was fired from the police force, however. The shooting triggered three days of riots in Miami.

Black claims cities routinely reimburse lawyer fees for cases involving police officers on duty. He also said the city's decision not to pay was racially motivated. Lozano was a Colombian national, while the victims were black.

Questions come from student panel Jamerson, Brogan participate in a debate

By JACKIE MALLIPAX Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE - The two men competing to become Florida's next education commissioner drew questions about drugs and prayer in schools and overcrowded classrooms from four school children.

Democrat Doug Jamerson, who was appointed to the Cabinet pust in January by Gov. Lawton Chiles after Betty Castor resigned to become president of the Univerelty of South Floride, introduced himself at Wednesday's debate as "the most qualified candidate."

Republican challenger Frank Brogan, school superintendent in Martin County, said he wanted to work for "a new day" in Florida education

The two candidates were questioned by the student panel, which is involved in Kida Voting, a project designed to promote voter participation. The students, ranging from sixth-graders to 11th-graders, came from Tallahausee, Miami and the Panhandie town of Niceville.

Rachel Shaptro, a 17-year-old in the 11th grade at Miami Beach Senior High, brought up the issue of immigrants and overcrowded

Brogan and Jamerson both criticised the federal government for not doing its fair share in paying for the extra help needed by foreign students.

Jamerson, who served II years in the Legislature before joining the Cabinet, vowed to work to reduce class size by working with state lawmakers.

"I know the Legislature: I have been there," he said. "My opponent has no knowledge of legislative leaders nor has he worked in a legislative capacity."

Brogan countered that a legislative back-ground "happens in some cases to be a liability."

What's more, he added, one of the problems he's faced as a superintendent, principal and teacher is "dealing with all of the incredible mandates and restrictions that have been applied to us at the local level from our Florida Legislature over the years — many of them during Mr. Jameraon's tenure.

Jamerson, however, pointed to his role in state laws and regulations dictating classroom operations.

"I am the reform agent," he said. "I am the author of Blueprint 2000, which ended micromanagement of schools from Talla-hausee, I am the person who has pushed for local control."

The youngsters in both Chicago cases have troubled histories. Robert Sandifer was an abuse victim himself, starting at age 22 months. The 10-year-old charged in Eric's murder had five criminal prosecutions (four were dropped) and last week was supposed to be confined to his home under court order. The fathers of both boys are in

This week, Eric's death stirred an impassioned speech from President Clinton to a gathering of police officers about children taking their signals from parents and the need for role models.

"What we must be worried about is wave upon wave of these little children who don't have somebody both good and strong to look up to, who are so vulnerable that their hearts can be turned to stone by the time they're 10 or 11 years old." Clinton said.

Even those who try to steer kids straight find it tough going. "These kids will listen to a

A study released last week by the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta found that homicides among youths aged 15 to 19 jumped 154 percent from 1905 to 1901, for exceeding increases in any other age group.

Chicago police statistics also show an increase in kide committing murder: In 1985, 198 offenders were vounter than 21: offenders were younger than 21: a decade later, 372 youths fell late that category. In the same period, in the same age group, the number of victims more than doubled.

Violence has become so pervasive that a local researcher found that 35 percent of a group of Chicago inner-city kids he surveyed had seen someone shot, stabbed or severely besten

For many such children. "whether you're a victim or perpetrator depends on what day it is," said Pat Tolan, an associate professor of psychology and psychiatry at the University of Illinois-

Too many tricks, not enough treats

Some people will be making their children's Halloween costumes. Others will be purchasing them, or using leftovers from past years.
Whatever the contume, as has been the case for this holiday in past years, it's time to exercise extreme caution. Letting a youngster go out ... even if accompanied by an adult, in some costumes could cause serious consequences and trouble.

Warnings are coming from every quarter. The Florida Optometric Association (FOA) warns people to be certain children can see and be seen as they travel from house to

They urge the eye-holes in facial masks be large enough so youngsters won't have any difficulties in seeing. They also suggest that light-colored costumes be worn, or adding patches or strips of reflective material to contumes as well as trick or treat bags.

In some cases, the children will argue against this. If a child wants to dress as some creature in black, (such as Dracula), he or she won't want reflective patches or strips. It's just not part of the costume.

Who's the boss? If we allow the children to dictate completely what they will wear, and not be able to give any input, we are merely allowing them to place their lives in jeopardy.

We also caution about where trick-ortreating is done. In many cases, parents drive their children to other neighborhoods where more expensive treats may be given out. The children walk the streets and knock on doors, but because they are not neighbors, often receive a relatively cold reception.

Uthers, who don't have someone to take them to other areas, will travel through their own neighborhoods. Going to houses owned by people they know may be the best solution. Going to others where no one knows what may occur is an unwise decision.

Who's the boss? The smaller and younger the children, the more danger they can encounter while trick-or-treating. The smaller and younger they are, the more parental guidance they need and MUST have. Let's not allow this Halloween to be a tragedy. Today's society already has too much trick and not enough treat. Let's not make it worse by ignoring responsibility.

No casinos

Limited Casinos, "a foot in the door," is a bad idea for Florida. This writer spent 16 months in Atlantic County, N.J. Except for the casino strip. Atlantic City is a depleted area: no large department stores, excellent restaurants, shopping mails, etc. Casinos have shops, restaurants that serve food at a small cost to keep people from leaving and spending their money elsewhere. Huge gambling profits go out of state.

About 80 percent of those who gamble lose and winners most always gamble away their winnings. Some who lose remain in the area, criminals included, and become a major problem i.e., crime, robbery, prostitution, etc. Jaila, charitable organizations that provide food, housing, etc. do a booming business. Dealers, pit bosses are well paid, but are mostly imports from Las Vegas and other areas. Locals are employed as waitresses, waiters, janitors, parking lot attendants, etc.

Florida's large retired senior population is a prime target. While others work, retired seniors are available for weekday gambling. Atlantic City casinos provide free transportation, even from other states. There is a lot of activity, especially around Social Security check time. Each is given "seed money" starting at around $20 that must be used at the casino. The aim is to ignite the gambling desire to win and it most often works. The Social Security check is quickly lost. Family members, charities, must care for the person the rest of the month. Tax revenue from the casinos will be spent many times over on the problems that they create: organized crime, drugs, prostitution, vagrants, robbery, murder, rape, prisons. Bread winners addicted to gambling, the family members go on welfare. Florida is the "plum." Promises are worthless. Casinos take away the resources, but offer little of substantive value in return. Vote "No"

Baseball players strike out

Here we go again with some more bits and pieces about this and that, done here and there, and done just for the "halibut" (small to medium-sized fish.)

"We're gonna strike, by golly." And ... so they did! A whole big bunch of people. Some of 'em are thought of as baseball players. Many of 'em are thought of as "suckers" (small to medium-sized fish.)

It's been reported in the news media that the owners want a salary cap. (Excellent idea, according to many Joe Blow citizens who gross less than 25K per year). It's also been reported in the news media that the average annual (yearly) gross income of these same baseball players is one-point-something "million dollars." Looks like this: $1,000,000 plus $'s.

Let's make a small comparison — Mr. J.B. vs
Mr. Professional Baseball Player, henceforth to be known herein as Mr. P.B.P.
Mr. Joe Blow brings in a whopping 25 thousand gross dollars per year, times 4 years, equals 100 thousand dollars over those same years, times 10 more periods equals just about 40 years and a cool one million dollars. Ain't that absolutely marvelous. A whole million dollars and in "o-n-l-y" 40 years.

And now — let's look at poor old picked-on Mr. P.B.P. and his "paltry" average income of "only" one point something million dollars per year that's one point something million dollars p-e-r y-e-a-r, just in case you good folks out there in baseball/reader land missed it.

They cry up a storm — oink, oink — complaining — oink, oink — about the salary cap - oink, oink - that they refuse - oink. oink - to accept. Aw-gee-whiz ... Gosh-Darn-It ... Dad-Gum-It-All-To-Blazes. And they want m-o-r-e. M-O-R-E!!

Tell ya what, gents. I'll be happy to be your (you and the owners) official arbitrator in this self created, absolute flasco of "dollar dippin"." Yupi I volunteer to be "it" under one, and only o-n-e, condition.

And that one condition is that my decision is final and totally binding on "all" participants — all players, all owners, all clubs ... from now 'till hell freezes over.

Any takers? Anybody? Either side? What's that you ask? What are my thoughts about this right now? Glad you asked. Remember now you asked. First off, I'd give the players precisely what they asked for - "No-salary-cap." that'll give the owners fits, for sure, and make the players stand up and cheer. Whoopeee doool Three-cheers-for-the-ref. Right?

Secondly, I'd give the players something else - an absolute minimum "cut" in salary of 90 percent. Wow! Listen to the cheers that just went up from the owners' section of the bleachers, three-and-a-half cheers for the ref. Woweel Listen to that roar. Sure is nice to be loved and revered by so many fine and generous baseball folks.

Finally, and in conclusion to the "I'm gonna gives," the following: "You're both gonna give" ... to the fans who pay all those zillions of dollars to see drink-est-etc. at your ball parks ... a reasonable ticket price ... a hot dog that doesn't cost an arm and a leg ... a beer that is well abort of an arm and three legs in cost ... and TV broadcast rights at less than seven flaures.

Good Gawdi Listen to all those molars grinding. Remember ... Youuuu asked. Any takery? No? Can't understand "w-h-y?" ...

And this ... just in. Dateline: Fort Myers, Fla. The Department of Corrections has "ordered" the release of 34 more prisoners (major felonies). And that's on top of the reported 92 prisoners released earlier (Sept.) alledgedly for 'overcrowding."

Seems like the state screwed up some 11 years ago when they were doing their simple arithmetic. And, by golly, I want each and every one of you out there in LaLaLand to know that it took o-n-l-y 11 years for them to realize that 300 apples and 125 oranges do not equate to 425 apples OR oranges. Ab-so-lute ly amazing. Eleven years!!??

And to make matters worse, the D.O.C. will sue the counties involved if they don't release per the D.O.C.'s edicts. Maybe we the citizens of Florida should start playing the 'goose/gander" game with the D.O.C. if it's good for them - it's good for us. Yeah!

Every time a D.O.C. released felon commits another felony against a victim, that victim institutes a lawsuit against the D.O.C. as a contributor to that felony. I'll bet that will get their attention.

Chompin' time everybody. Grind those molars. Grimace mightily. By the numbers ...

Sticky business: The Velcro leader

From day one of the Ronald Reagan presidency, it was clear he was not the most perceptive person ever to hold the office.

He told stories about himself and others that were more fanciful than factual. He had little grasp of details and particulars. He bungled names and forgot faces - indeed, he did not recognize his own Housing and Urban Development secretary when he came to the White House with a group of mayors.

It made no difference. The press reported his faults and faux pas, but the stories had little effect on his popularity. Because nothing him the Teflon presi-things are said about him and they cling like burrs to britches.

It makes no difference. Many nasty things are said about him and they cling like burrs to britches. He is the Velcro president. Consider:

- The economy is humming along at a pace, that is nearly historic in its steadiness. Inflation is low, employment is high, the deficit is down. Other presidents have enjoyed immense popularity during the good, times. So why is Velero's public approval rating hovering around 42 percent? Why does the corporate world regard him with such scorn? Why does Business Week feature such stories as, "Why Business Hates Clinton"?

- Velero's direst enemies and women of questionable character or muddled motive. accuse him of so many liaisons that he may go down not in history but in mythology. Eisenhower is said to have had a lover. Kennedy had a hundred, give or take. Johnson dallied, and Carter lusted in his, heart. So why is Clinton the only onen commonly viewed as a satyr?

.. Republicans regularly accuse Velcro of pushing through the "largest tax hike inhistory" and punishing the middle class with tax increases. The great Teflon pushed, through a jumbo tax hike in 1982, but he, called it "revenue enhancement" and an adoring public paid it with scarcely a whimper. Teflon's tax boost soaked. everybody. Veicro's package affects only the well-heeled and doesn't touch the middle class. So why is he a "tax and spend" lefty, and Teffon the people's president?

.. During Velero's tenure, the words "foreign policy" are mentioned mostly as an adjective modifying the noun "disaster." Eighteen American soldiers are killed in-Somalia and it is a Clinton "failure." Velcro plans an invasion of Haiti and lawmakers, wax indignant and scurry for cover. "People" here are just not confident about the president's leadership on foreign policy." says Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., "People remember Somalia." On Oct. 23, 1983, 241 U.S. Marines and sallors in Lebanon died in a terrorist bombing On Oct. 25, the U.S.' invaded Grenada. Did anyone say, "People remember Belrut"?

- Velcro believes in punishing criminals. supports free trade, and is a deficit hawk, albeit a reluctant one. Those are very conservative convictions. Yet business views him as a loony liberal and many of my own correspondents denounce him as a "socialist." Franklin Roosevelt invented Social Security and is considered one of the greats. Bill Clinton proposes national health insurance and is called a Commie. Why?

"What a customer should do when they are leasing a car is make the dealer write down and basically sign the fact that the MSRP (list price) someone should tell them what it is and the capitalized cost which is the sale price which should be less than the MSRP," he said. "Some leases deal with either money factors or interest rates, neither one of which print on the contract. But if they tell you something, you should ask what that is, and have them write it down and guarantee it. The total amount of the interest paid."

Under the truth in lending law, when one buys a car and finances it, the interest cost is located at 100 N. Country Club the total amount of interest paid or the interest rate are not listed.

Buyers should also ask the total amount of sales tax, residual value, depreciation and length of term under the lease.

In addition, don't offer money up front on a lease, possibly you might be better off to buy the car. "That's where they ask you for $5,000 down, and they leave you the car for the same price you would have leased it for anyway. Or your trade-in is worth $5,000 and they don't give you credit for it. You could have leased the car for $449 a month with or without money down or the trade-in. That's just $5,000 to the dealer," he explained.

Judges review federal policy limiting indecency on airwaves

By JEANSHINE AVERDA Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - The government may believe children are harmed by indecent material on radio and television, but it heen't proven it, mays a federal judge reviewing restrictions on auch broadcasta.

A lack of evidence was one reason regulations restricting indecent material on the alreaves was struck down by a federal court in Washington last

"The point here is, there is no data on indecency. There is nothing to interpret," Chief Judge Harry Edwards of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit told the government's attorney. Christopher Wright on Wednes-

Edwards is one of 11 judges on the appeals court reviewing the regulations. The rules forbid TV and radio stations from siring indecent material except during the hours of midnight to 6 a.m. The Federal Communications Commission policy was written at the behest of Congress.

Wright, the PCC's counsel, argued that the government has an interest in protecting children from indecent material, particularly children with "indifferent" parents who don't supervise what their children watch or listen to. The Clinton administration supports the FCC post-

The regulations, Wright said, reasonably accommodate compeling interests: limiting children's exposure to in material and protecting the rights of adults to watch or inten-to legally protected speech. But Judge Patricia Wald said

"The commission has simply come up with no evidence of a problem here," anid Timothy Dyh, who represented oppo-nents. The majority of the FCC's actions against indecent broadcasts have involved talk radio, but studies show children generally don't listen to those programs, he said.

Several judges said the FCC could have taken other action that would have better preserved parental choice, such as requir-ing the installation in TV sets of technology that lets parents block indecent programs. For this to work, though, programs would have to be rated and rodra indereni

The FCC defines broadcast indecency as language or material that "deptets or describes in terms patently offensive as measured by contemporary community standards for the broadcast medium, sexual or excretory activities or organs."

IRS turns down claims for cash equivalent of '40 acres and a mule'

By DAVE SKIDSONE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - Descendants of slaves are not eligible for the modern equivalent of 40 acres and a mule, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS has rejected about 20,000 claims for $43,200 each in what the filers say are reparations for their ancestors' enslavement and continuing discrimination against blacks.

Congress passed a bill in 1866 requiring that Confederate property be confiscated to provide former slaves with 40 acres and a mule. But it was vetoed by President Andrew Johnson.

"There clearly is not statutory authority for honoring these claims," IRS spokesman Frank Keith said Wednesday. "We have taxpayers that are being misled and that's unfortunate."

He warned that taxpayers who reflie subsequent claims after receiving a denial notice could be subject to a 8500 penalty for filing frivolous returns.

Many of the tax forms have come in attached to a copy of a commentary published in the April 1993 touc of the blackoriented magazine Essence, the IRS said. Written by L.G. Sherrod, the commentary argued that racial discrimination functions as a hidden tax and urged readers to fill out their Form 1040s as if they had paid $43,209 in "black taxes" and thereby collect a delinquent tax

"There should be no doubt in our minds about whether the U.S. government owes us reparations - our '40 acres and a mule,' plus interest." Sherrod

Meanwhile, the NAACP Legal and Educational Defense Fund has asked postal inspectors to investigate letters being distributed within black communities and black churches that purport to inform descendants of slaves about how they can claim the tax refund.

Theodore M. Shaw, associate Oklahoma as well.

director-counsel of the fund, which is separate from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the letters have a return address of College Park, Ga., and a letterhead with the name 'Legal Defense Fund' and a logo similar to that of the NAACP

"The real legal defense fund wants to get the word out to the black community that this group is not the NAACP Lenal Defense Panel," Show said, "And, while there have been some legitlangle and useful discussion shout the idea of reparations ... this is not a legitimate effort."

"We don't want people who are untutored to be misled into doing something in a tax return that will result in significant tax liability," he said.

Most of the claims to the IRS have been received over the past month from California, and Shaw said the NAACP fund has received inquiries from

After both the front runners won their first match of the evening. Tim's Team sweeping Bob Jones 15-8, 16-14 on the lobby court while the Young Guns bested Team Beach Scene 15-10, 15-12, they met on Tim's Team, which started the night tied for first place in the league with the Young Guns.

Balough, who drives the PeeWee Griffin Camaro, has dominated FASCAR Late Model racing for almost the entire season.

"We've had a good cycle going all year long. that's what makes it easy to win." said Balough. who has 49 victories on the season. "In racing, you win some, lose some, or don't play at all. That's my philosophy. If you wreck or break, you're out of the game. If you win, that's a plus. If you lose, that's racing." Trailing Balough (by about 10 car lengths) to victory lane was Wayne Anderson. A half a track length behind Anderson were Bill Coody, Roby

Lyons, and Ricky Wood. Bob Doxie held off a hard-charging Jared

Allison and Gene Van Alstine to win the Mini-Stock feature event.

"It's been a long time coming and it sure feels good to be in victory lane," said Doxie. "We've had so many seconds and thirds that I was beginning to feel like a dog chasing his tail."

Trailing Doxie to the checkered flag were Van Alstine, Allison, Conrad Grenier, and Bobby

Barbara Pierce overtook early race leader David LeBeau on the second lap and avoided a front-stretch wall banger to win the Sportsman feature event, taking the checkers two car lengths ahead of Donnie Narmore. Rounding out the top five were, in order of finish. Art Chapman, LeBeau, and Jeff Rule.

On lap four of the Sportsman run, Ed Sherry slid down the front straightaway, turning hard into the inside guard rail. The car got airborne. but remained right side up. Despite extensive damage to the car. Sherry was uninjured.

Bobby Stevens jumped to the early lead in the Bomber feature and by lap five, had about a 10-car advantage over the rest of the field.

A caution on lap seven closed the field for a restart, allowing Chuck Vola to close ground on Stevens. Stevens and Vola raced nose-to-tail for several laps until Voia natled a spinning car in turn four.

New Smyrna Beach driver Jeremy Fitch took advantage of the situation and closed on Stevens' rear bumper followed the second new green flag. Stevens was up to the challenge and went on to victory lane followed by Fitch. Vola. Mark Manfredi, and Bob Richardson.

Other feature event winners were Matt Rauscher (Run-Abouts). Michael Williams (Limited Late Models), Jeff Anderson (Modifieds). and Barbara Moser (Powder Puff Derby).

SANFORD - Alicia Clarke. curator of the Sanford Museum, spoke Friday to the Sallie Harrison Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. She briefly outlined the history of the museum which began in 1967 as a one-room library reproduc-tion of Gen. Henry S. Sanford's library in his home in Con-

Gen. Sanford, 1823-1891, inherited wealth as a young man and traveled to Europe to im-prove his health. He liked Europe so well he made it his permanent home with winters spent in Florida. He originally came to Mellonville in 1870 and saw a frontier opportunity so purchased property west of Mellonville which later became Sanford.

Gen. Sanford headed the Secret Service during the Civil War and served as a diplomat to Belgium. He influenced other wealthy young men to the area and by 1891, the population in Sanford reached 1,000 which was a bustling city with trains — steamships and hotels arriving and departing daily. However, the economy was largely based on citrus and the 1894 freeze crippled the economy. Farmers

Today, Clarke said, the museum is working together with the Main Street program to develop pride in Sanford. She urged anyone with any Sanford mementos to call her. The museum operates as a division of the City Parks and Recreation Dept. and is cooperating with Howard Jeffries, in a National Historic Tree project. One tree has been planted to commemorate the seventh year of the organization of the Sallie Harrison Chapter, DAR.

How to live with osteoarthritis

DEAR. GOTT: I was recently diagnosed with osteoarthritis. What causes it and what can I do for it? It affects my lower back and hips.

DEAR READER: Osteoarthritis, unlike inflammatory arthritis (rheumatoid). is the age-related wearing down of the joint surfaces, causing pain and stiffness. Experts do not un-derstand why some people de-velop this type of arthritis at an early age, while others do not. There may be a genetic tendency.

In any case, the diagnosis is made by X-ray examinations of the joints.

Treatment includes regular exercise (to maintain mobility and muscle strength), physical therapy and analgesics, such as Motrin or Aleve. Sooner or later. everyone suffers from some de-gree of osteoarthritis.

Ask your family physician to recommend therapy.

To give you more information.
I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Understanding Osteoarthritis." Other readers who would like a copy should send 92 plus a long. self-addressed. stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Whenever 1 have blood work done, my doctor never has me fast before the testing. Your position is to fast for eight hours prior to any testing. My question then is, how can the tests I have be accurate without fasting beforehand? DEAR READER: Most blood tests do not require a fasting state - but some, such as the fasting blood sugar, do. In my practice, the routine blood sugar is part of a machine-analyzed "package" of about 20 chemical determinations, including kidney function, liver tests, mineral content, and blood fats.

Therefore, it's more convenient (and less expensive) for my fasting sugar determination. followed later by a second blood test, for the additional compo-

Also, by consistently ordering fasting specimens, I am more able to make valid comparisons between sequential blood tests. For example, I can compare two fasting cholesterol values a year apart. How do I make a similar judgment if last year my patient had oatmeal for breakfast and this year had eggs Benedict and Therefore, while fasting to by no means universally necessary, it is appropriate in many in-
