FRENCH TROOPS REACH KETTEVIG TODAY

ALL TROOPS NECESSARY FOR COERCIVE MOVEMENT INTO GERMANY ASSEMBLED

AT POINT OF CONCENTRATION NEAR THAT CITY BY NOON OF TODAY

REINFORCED ARMY

Being Sent to Take Place of Advancing Units and France is Perfectly Calm

(By The Associated Press) PARIS, Jan. 9.—Reports from Düsseldorf said that all troops necessary for the expected coercive movement of France in the Ruhr district would be assembled at a point of concentration near that city by noon today. Reinforcements were being sent to take the place of advancing units. The French public is taking the situation perfectly calm and there is practically no opposition to the government's prospective move. The opponents of Premier Poincaré naturally express their skepticism at the success of the undertaking and indulge in the usual criticism.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—The soldiers of France will soon be marching into Essen, arousing the Germans with the music of their bands. This long talk of occupation is now accepted as almost an accomplished fact, and the government officials, business men even the bankers, worried by the exchange problem, regard it calmly. They display a reasonable amount of confidence in the results as evidenced by the resistance of the French to the reported bear movement in prospect for London.

There is expectation in certain circles close to the premier that the first phase of the Ruhr action will have been carried out when the premier takes the floor in the chamber of deputies Thursday to make his statement for the house. This phase is expected to be the occupation of Essen by a small joint force of French and Belgians as a guard for the technical forces, and notification to the local officials and officers of the mines there that the Allies until further notice will collect a coal tax and impose an export duty on shipments from the district.

The government, however, has not committed itself to action on any certain date; it has been desired to avoid German demonstrations, and it was therefore thought wiser to carry out the occupation and make the announcement afterwards. Nevertheless there are many who believe that M. Poincaré's extreme caution in political matters will impel him to await parliamentary approval before commencing the Ruhr policy, although the chamber previously voted confidence in the government with the Ruhr action in mind.

It is generally agreed that the premier will receive enthusiastic approval from parliament. The only danger is that there may be a tendency to push the government to intensified action in the Ruhr on the ground that as France is obliged to bear the whole burden it ought to be done so as to bring the greatest results.

Premier Poincaré, however, has said that he intends to resist any temptation to employ rough-shod methods; he has expressed himself as determined to go slowly and surely and leave no room for the world to criticize him. But there are no longer many advocates of waiting until Germany defaults on her 500,000,000 gold marks reparations payment January 15.

The general attitude seems to be that action had been decided upon and ought to be carried out before the Germans organize too much resistance, and it is contended that in any event, Germany's default on coal may be considered justification under the treaty.

This coal default is expected to be declared at noon today when the reparations commission will have concluded the German hearings; it is even hoped that the decision will be unanimous for default, as Sir John Bradbury, the British member, said

NO ULTIMATUM GIVEN TURKS BY THE ALLIES

MUCH MYSTERY SURROUNDS THE DOCUMENT WHICH MAY BE AN ULTIMATUM

(By The Associated Press) LAUSANNE, Jan. 9.—When the Allies' conception of what the Lausanne treaty should be is drafted, there is no intention and will be no disposition to take it to the Turks and say: "Now will you sign it—yes or no?"

That was what the Allied spokesman made clear yesterday in discussing the document which the treaty experts are compiling.

A good deal of mystery surrounds this document and a report has been current that the Allies will present it to the Turks one of these days in the form of an ultimatum. This report has excited the Turks considerably, probably making them more intransigent than they really wish to be. They have induced Riza Nur Bey, in various outbursts to defend his country, for Riza Nur Bey violently voiced the more chauvinistic opinion of Angora's new assembly.

The Allies say they will permit free discussion of the still disputed points in meetings of the full commission, but so much time has passed in the sub-commission debates that it has become imperative to sum up the work and submit the document in as complete a form as possible.

These assurances of the Allies, put forth to lessen the tension, probably influenced Riza Nur Bey to adopt a more conciliatory attitude yesterday on the question of international supervision of Turkey's sanitary arrangements.

An international board has heretofore supervised health conditions at Turkish ports, especially with relation to quarantine.

Rita Nur Bey declared his country would have no more of this, because Turkey was quite capable of managing her own sanitary regulations, but he accepted in principle the institution of an international commission under a Turkish president to supervise the sanitary regulations of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. This commission will be selected from lists of foreign medical experts drawn by the League of Nations and the International Hygiene Association, of which Mr. Barrere is head, and whose headquarters are in Paris. Mr. Barrere will return from Paris today and a session of the full commission dealing with minorities will be held in the afternoon.

An agreement on all points has been reached except as to amnesty, the exemption of Christians from military service, and to an Armenian national home. The uncertainty as to whether the conference will succeed or collapse is causing a steady exodus of Greeks, Armenians and others from Constantinople, according to Allied reports. Artisans and tradespeople are abandoning their life's work and all their little fortunes to flee before the possible break comes and hostilities are renewed.

Although it is true that General Harrington is preparing for the evacuation of the British troops, in view of contemplated peace, the Associated Press is informed that the British forces will remain in Constantinople until peace is actually made, and the report that the British are concentrating at Gallipoli, in order to hold the straits, leaving the French and Italians in Constantinople, is declared to be erroneous.

last night he had not finally made up his mind.

Essen, the first objective in the Ruhr, may be the last, if the Germans take the operation seriously and show a desire to offer France such guarantees as M. Poincaré can take to parliament and say: "Here is sufficient collateral for the present."

HAVE ALREADY REACHED SEVEN MILES SOUTHWEST OF ESSEN AND NEAR DUSSELDORF.

Entire Section of Germany is Covered With the French Military Forces Says Private Advices Received at Essen, Germany.

(By The Associated Press) ESSEN, Germany, Jan. 9.—Advance troops of the French army, largely with technical equipment, have already reached neighboring town of Kettwig seven miles southwest of Essen and section between Dusseldorf and Essen is half covered with French military forces according to private advices received here.

FATHER OF WATT DANIELS TESTIFIES AT TRIAL TODAY REGARDING HOODED BAND

(By The Associated Press) BASTROP, Jan. 9.—J. L. Daniels, father of Watt, a hooded band victim, testified at the open hearing today of the hooded band depredations in the Morehouse Parish that subsequent to the kidnapping of his son and Thomas Richards, whose mutilated bodies recently were found in Lake Lafourche, that four Merouge citizens had been warned they would have to leave the community or "they would be killed."

MER ROUGE, Jan. 9.—Acting on an anonymous telephone message that an attempt might be made to kidnap Addie May Hamilton, a prospective witness in the investigation of the hooded band depredations in the Morehouse Parish, several men stood guard today over the Hamilton home near here and later two soldiers were assigned to guard duty in that section.

MER ROUGE, Jan. 9.—An anonymous telephone message was received at the headquarters of the Department of Justice agents directing assembling of evidence in the inquiry. Miss Hamilton had been expected to testify that certain Morehouse Parish men some months ago forced her to leave the Parish.

BASTROP, Jan. 9.—Mr. Daniels said the information was given him by J. O. Davenport, another Mer Rouge citizen. Davenport, Daniels said, told him he had received such word over the telephone. Daniels said Davenport declared he had been told by "Captain Skipwith" that four men "would have to get away." Captain J. K. Skipwith, of Bastrop, is Exalted Cyclops of the Klan in the Morehouse Parish.

EMBARGO WILL REMAIN ON IMPORTATION OF CITRUS STOCK IN STATE OF FLORIDA

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 9.—There will be no removal of the quarantine against the importation of nursery stock into Florida.

Rather, the approximately fifty delegates, who attended today's hearing by the state plant board on the proposal to modify the restriction at the behest of certain satsuma growers in West Florida, declared they would carry home the message that they are wholeheartedly behind this board's ruling and that good citizens will tolerate no "bootlegging" of outlawed plants.

The plant board voted unanimously to continue the restriction against imported plants following a two hour hearing which, instead of developing a sectional controversy, found south and west Florida spokesmen united in their stand against any relaxation. The only sentiment in favor of modifying the embargo, in order that the present shortage of satsuma plants could be relieved by bringing in out of state plants, was contained in a petition from certain West Florida growers. This sentiment reflected the attitude of only a few individuals, however, according to W. A. Sessoms, of Bonifay, who declared that West Florida, as a whole, while experiencing a temporary inconvenience, wanted to be protected two or three years from now when its satsuma industry has grown to extensive proportions.

Mr. Sessoms and other spokesmen pointed out that by modifying the quarantine now, a very little benefit would accrue to the grower, while he would put himself in the way for much damage by the entrance of citrus canker.

H. H. Hume, prominent nurseryman of Glenn St. Mary's and D. C. Gillette, director of the Florida Citrus Exchange and head of the Buckeye Nurseries, agreed that the present throttling of the satsuma industry in West Florida was due to an unusual boom which the nurserymen could not

CITY OFFICIALS IN APPOINTEES WILL RESIGN

RESIGNATIONS CALLED FOR AT CITY COMMISSION MEETING

The City Commissioners met yesterday afternoon and again last night looking over the bids for paving and transaction of other business that comes before their body in the new year's calendar.

At the meeting yesterday the resignations of all the appointive officials of the city were asked for which includes the following:

City Manager, City Clerk and Auditor, City Tax Collector, City Attorney, Municipal Judge, Chief of Police and Chief of the Fire Department.

This does not necessarily mean that all of these men or any of them will lose their positions but it probably means changes in the personnel of the city officials and it is rumored that some of them will not be reappointed.

Date Changed For Meeting of Chamber Commerce

NIGHT MEETING CHANGED FROM THURSDAY TO FRIDAY, JAN. 19TH.

The Board of Governors of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce have deemed it advisable to change the monthly meeting scheduled for this Thursday, Jan. 11th to Friday, January 19th.

This has been made necessary by the date conflicting with the showing of Coburn's minstrels, which, unfortunately was booked for the same evening that the Chamber of Commerce meeting was scheduled. Judge Blair, upon being advised to this effect very considerably agreed to the postponement. The next meeting, therefore, will be held on Friday evening, January 19th, in the Palm room, and the original program prepared will be carried through as per schedule.

The regular noon meeting will be held Friday of this week.

REPARATIONS COMMITTEE VOTES GERMANY IN WILFUL DEFAULT IN HER COAL DELIVERIES

VOTE WAS THREE TO ONE, SIR JOHN BRADBURY CAST NEGATIVE VOTE

AMERICA PROPOSES

An Inquiry into German Reparations Problem by a Commission

(By The Associated Press) PARIS, Jan. 9.—The reparations commission voted Germany in wilful default in her coal deliveries. The vote was three to one, Sir John Bradbury, the British member, casting the negative vote.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—American proposals for an inquiry into the German reparations problem by a commission of financiers have been transmitted to Paris but still await definite French reaction to the plan, although a preliminary answer has been received here. No time limit was involved in the suggestions as put forward by Secretary Hughes, it was said authoritatively today and the plan still is before the French government. It was made clear that the outline of American thought on the question had been sent to Paris through official channels prior to the premiers' meeting, January 2.

Secretary Hughes did not trust entirely to the informal method of suggestion in his speech at New Haven when he discussed the plan. Although it was indicated in what way the French government had been officially advised of the American views, it was assumed that Ambassador Jusserand was given a very definite statement for that purpose and that this was amplified later in conversations.

There has been ample evidence, the American officials hold, that the suggestion was well received in some quarters abroad. What is lacking, apparently, is a clear understanding of the French position with respect to the American hope that has not been abandoned in Washington that it may yet prove a means of escape for the allied governments from the consequences which it is believed in official quarters here must flow from drastic measures of forcible reparations collections.

The French reply already received is not regarded here as conclusive. It leaves the way open to ultimate acceptance of Mr. Hughes' suggestion, it was indicated, though so far as can be learned officials in Washington are in the dark as to whether France will turn to the alternative of economic studies.

Since Mr. Hughes' speech at New Haven, no authorized spokesman has commented on the probable effect of actual seizures in the Ruhr region as planned by the French. Yet there is no mystery about the view in Washington as to what probably will follow, for the secretary frankly stated in his New Haven address what those views were. He pointed out that economic authorities held that forcible measures "will not produce reparations payments, but might tend to destroy the basis of those payments that must be found in economic recuperation."

The view of the Washington government on this point has not changed nor is it likely to change without very definite proof that the French plan is workable and will produce reparations payments without precipitating financial collapse on Germany. That viewpoint, as well as that international financiers be called, was fully presented to all the allied powers before the meeting of the premiers in Paris.

Despite action by the senate expressing the opinion that American troops should be withdrawn from the Rhine, there is official support for the view that this course would involve possibilities of misunderstandings which it would be inadvisable to risk. The withdrawal, in any case, it is held could not add much weight to the American views as to the wisdom of the course that is to be pursued in the crisis.

American troops are wanted in the Rhine by each of the allied nations and by Germany it was said last evening. In the case of each nation, however, the reason for seeking their retention in Germany is different. To order their withdrawal, it was pointed out, might be taken as implying American endorsement of repudiation of various courses of thought in Europe with which the movement would be wholly unconnected. It was strongly indicated that the troops would not be recalled at present.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—Roland W. Boyden, American representative of the reparations commission, was called upon to give his views and made a brief statement to point out he was expressing personal sentiments. It was learned authoritatively he took the view that while the default actually existed in the German coal deliveries conditions under which the default occurred were such it required special consideration. It was said Boyden stated if he were voting he would be compelled to vote for default.

ATTORNEY GENERAL WHITEWASHED OF IMPEACHMENT CHARGES THAT WERE BROUGHT BY KELLER

(By The Associated Press) House Investigating Committee Finds Nothing Against Daugherty

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Attorney General Daugherty was given a clean bill of health by the house investigating committee which investigated impeachment charges by Representative Keller. Resolution also proposed judiciary committee be discharged from further consideration of the Keller charges and proposed impeachment of Daugherty and that impeachment resolution introduced by Keller be laid on the table.

Rawlings Affidavits Will Not Carry Any Weight in Trial

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 9.—Affidavits to the effect that Frank Rawlings life term convict, had repudiated his previous affidavits exonerating John H. Pope, former Jacksonville attorney of complicity in the murder of Hickman, a Jacksonville Theatre manager, was introduced by Attorney General Buford in oral arguments before the supreme court in an effort to have the court re-open Pope's case.

Some say higher education doesn't pay; but big-league clubs signed up 60 college players this year.

ANTI SALOONISTS HIT BACK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The Anti-Saloon League "never has been against civil service examination for prohibition agents," and "is now backing a bill to put these federal agents under civil service." Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the organization, declared in a statement today replying to charges by W. D. Foulke, vice president of the National Civil Service Reform League, in a letter to S. E. Nicholson, vice president of the Anti-Saloon League.

EVANS IS TRADED

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—Outfielder Joe Evans of Cleveland's American league team has been traded to the Washington club in exchange for Outfielder F. W. Brower. It was announced yesterday.

Sanford and its Chamber of Commerce

We have had the privilege and pleasure several times recently of being present at the noon-day luncheon of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce and, having lived in that substantial city for some little time we were more than impressed with the change that has come over the merchants and other business men composing the Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Today there is a live, wide-awake interest taken in all civic problems by all the members and what was most pleasing to observe, absolute harmony of opinion among the members. The dissenting members is almost an unknown quantity; much more so than in the past. The cause for this change is more than likely due to proper organization, efficient leadership and, last but not least, an awakening on the part of the leaders in the community that to make progress, unity and co-ordination must prevail.

The Sanford C. of C. are doing things, lots of them, and doing them thoroughly. The individual members and the committees are alive and function well. Fine reports of progress of committees are made at every meeting. There are committees for every conceivable civic problem and the intelligent and comprehensive reports made by the chairmen indicate they have been well chosen. That in turn speaks for itself for the quality of leadership. The president could not succeed and accomplish results were he without the proper quality of secretarial assistance. This he has; in fact the whole organization from the president down is one of which any city the size of Sanford could well be proud.—Winter Park Herald.

SCRAP IRON CLASS HAD FINE MEETING OPENING NEW YEAR

The Scrap Iron class, which was organized a little over a year ago by Dr. S. W. Walker, pastor of the Methodist church, held its first meeting of the New Year yesterday at the Princess Theatre. Hon. Forest Lake, the president of the class, was present and presided at this meeting. The lesson was taught by Dr. J. W. Carpenter, the new pastor of the church. Miss Laing was at the piano and the singing was led by Ben Coleman.

Fred E. Wilson addressed the class for a few moments on the subject of a man's duty, touching upon this duty to one's God, country, state, county and municipality.

Dr. Carpenter agreed to teach the class at its meetings and a rising vote of thanks was tendered him for acceding to the request that he act in this capacity. He delivered an able and interesting talk on the subject of the lesson, which dealt with Sabbath observance. He pointed out the error which has been demonstrated time and again, that neither man, animal or machine can perform his or its work satisfactorily without resting on the seventh day. He also called attention to the deplorable conditions of both nations and cities which had sought to abandon the Sabbath as a day of rest. His views of Sabbath Day observance were both logical and sensible, striking a medium between the strict observance required by the law of the ancient Jewish people and the tendency to disregard the sacredness of the day which has grown up in some countries and cities.

While the class misses Dr. Walker, it believes that in Dr. Carpenter, it has a strong, able and consecrated teacher. He suggested the formation of an orchestra and made other suggestions which will be of value to the class. An effort will be made to organize an orchestra and it is not doubted that this effort will meet with success. There was almost an average attendance present yesterday and it is hoped that next Sunday will see this number largely increased.

Come on Scrap Ironers, let's go!

NOT THE BIGGEST BUT ONE OF THE BEST

That hardworking, clean comedy fall of pep, jazzy brand of minstrelsy which has made Coburn's Minstrels for the past twenty years a household word, and welcome visitor will be seen this season at the Princess theatre on Thursday, Jan. 11, when Joe Coburn and his minstrel men invade Sanford on their regular annual tour. Dan Holt of Macon, Ga., named the Georgia Cotton Blossom by his hosts of friends in the south-land and for ten years headliner in big time vaudeville, assumes his old position as principal comedian, along with his banjo, eccentric dancing, and character work. Edward C. Clifford, Interlocutor and Robust Baritone also forsakes vaudeville to rejoin Coburn and great old friends with new song numbers. An entire change of personnel, program, costumes, scenic play and vaudeville acts is said to make the new show the best Manager Coburn has ever carried on route. Don't forget the date and the free band concerts daily.

Hon. Forrest Lake has been installed as mayor of Sanford. The mayor of Sanford has nothing over the commissioners except the honor. In official power he has no more than the two commissioners who work with him. He is, in fact, elected by the two commissioners and serves with them as such.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

ANENT THE LIBRARY

There is a fine article in this issue from Mrs. Key about the library and the reasons for having it placed in one of the city parks. We do not think it will be placed there without a legal fight being made against it but regardless of whether it can be placed there or not the parks are the real locations for the library building.

ABOUT FORREST LAKE

For the ninth time Forrest Lake has taken his seat in the mayor's chair at Sanford. His service has not been consecutive, as he first took the office in 1896 when he was but 22 years old. He is also serving Seminole county as representative for his fourth term. He seems to be a real "going concern." His merit is the "merit that wins the soul." Certainly it catches the voter.—Tampa Times.

PACIFYING THE TURK

The first dispatches yesterday said that the allies had told the Turk to sign the articles of agreement or get off the earth. Today they are greatly modified and say the Turk should be treated more kindly. For some reason or other the Turk has something on some of the powers and they are pulling the strings. If another war means wiping the Turk off the European map let us have the war. It would be worth it.

THE REAL CULPRIT ESCAPES.

Like many of the stories in fiction and real life the guilty usually escape. The vagrant negro who caused all the trouble at Rosewood in this state last week has escaped and is still at large. Those who had nothing to do with the real crime have been killed. This is the main reason why men should use their heads in a case of this kind. Going off at half cock usually kills innocent people and allows the guilty to escape. It is much better to let calm judgment prevail than the guilty may be apprehended. We have had cases of this kind right here at home and we know whereof we speak.

KEEP UP THE BEAUTIFICATION.

That beautification on the public highways agitated by the Rotary Club and taken up by all the clubs and that will ultimately be put over by the Chamber of Commerce is one of the most important items for all the people to take up in the next twelve months. Our highways are traveled by more people now than ever before and thousands will use them every month in the year. This is the one real chance to show our goods to the visitors and our goods are the flowers and trees and the beauties of nature. Let everyone get behind the movement and make it one of the greatest ones in the history of our county.

BEAUTIFYING OUR HIGHWAYS

Seminole county has started the beautification of the highways idea about the right time and every county in the state is taking up this important matter and the state papers are filled with the story. The Times Union has the following editorial on the matter:

"Some people, at first thought, will balk at beautification of Florida, contending that it is superlatively beautiful in its natural condition. They are partially correct. Nature, at work in Florida for centuries past, has done its work magnificently, in a manner that wins admiration, love for the beautiful that is in scenery, in landscape, that charms the eyes of the beholders and wins their hearts. These people are somewhat inclined as are the artists of Japan who do not paint pictures of fruit and flowers, claiming that they cannot attain the perfection, the beauty that is in the natural objects, fashioned and painted by that greatest, most accomplished of all artists—nature.

But there is room for beautification in Florida, admitting all that can be said in praise of natural scenery and landscape. Nature is generous, lavish and somewhat careless, in that some of the most beautiful of her productions, as of tropical plants and flowers are in settings most unattractive. There can be no objection, therefore if humans assume to come to the aid of nature, enhancing the attractiveness of many, very many of the natural scenes and conditions. The only objection that reasonably can be made is to the work of the destroyers who pretend to be improvers. They do not know what they are undertaking to do, as often is evident in scenes that have been 'improved,' in name but spoiled in fact.

Hence it is eminently proper that only those who know what to do, and what not to do, should undertake embellishment work. That is realized by people in certain Florida counties, as in Orange, Lake, Polk and other who have employed competent landscape engineers to take charge of the beautification work contemplated. This is as it should be. It is work that is important, aside from the mere gratification of the artistic senses of those who love beauty in scene and landscape.

Of course, Florida beautification needs to begin about every home, or residence that is erected. It needs no argument to convince that a well-kept, properly ornamented curvilinear front not only makes the place of habitation more attractive, but also more valuable to the owner, as a mere matter of satisfaction, and to the prospective purchaser, in case a sale is contemplated. A beautiful home also bespeaks intelligent, cultivated, refined dwellers.

Public highway beautification is coming into Florida attention and demand. There have been so very many other important things to do first—getting the hard surfaced roads, for instance—but now that the roads are being provided, there is time and need for making the roadsides attractive.

In some Florida counties this work of highway beautification is making considerable progress. It is work that needs to be encouraged. Who would not prefer to drive through a section of country where roadside trees and flowers, planted with discrimination and maintained with care, enhance the natural beauty of the landscape, rather than through a slovenly-kept region. And drivers through often become dwellers in the places that are most attractive. That is well worth keeping in mind, aside from the fact that a well-kept countryside is a delight to those already resident where beautification of the character referred to, has been accomplished.

Florida beautification is an order of the day. It is commendable, and all the more so when done as it should be done, not excessively but artistically, largely to aid in bringing out the natural beauty that is in this 'land of flowers.'

COUNTY AGENTS

MEET AT LAKE CITY ANNUAL CONVENTION

(By The Associated Press) LAKE CITY, Jan. 8.—Approximately seventy-five county and home demonstration agents are scheduled to meet here today and tomorrow in annual convention. Assistant Director Spencer of the extension division of the state university, and several federal agricultural specialists are on the program.

OUT OUR WAY

SAYS YEAR SATISFACTORY ONE FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Legal disabilities of women in the United States have been reduced to a "few slivers in the body politic which can be extracted by a fine needle," according to Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCullough, a member of the Chicago bar and the chairman of the committee on uniform legislation of the National League of Women Voters.

"The needle was applied to many disabilities through laws enacted in 1921, and although 1922 was not regularly a legislative year in most states considerable legislation to establish equal rights was enacted," Mrs. McCullough stated.

The legislation of 1922 which was regarded as conforming with the program of the league has been tabulated for the League by Mrs. Carina C. Warrington, an attorney of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and may be summarized as follows: Federal, age providing independent citizenship for married women; Georgia removal of common law disabilities relative to holding office or performing civil functions; Kentucky, act facilitating jury service by women, age of consent raised to eighteen, wife abandonment made felony for which extradition can be demanded, women made eligible to office; Massachusetts women made eligible to office; New Jersey, Mothers' pension law amended; Rhode Island, committee created to determine to what extent statutes abridge women's rights; Virginia, property rights act passed, mothers' pension act amended, suffrage act amended to provide that for purpose of voting the residence of a married woman shall not be controlled by the residence of her husband; commission on simplification of state and local government authorized.

The league opposes blanket legislation.

SAY CANAL WOULD CUT FREIGHT RATES

West Palm Beach business men are behind a movement to develop the East Coast Canal between Miami and Jacksonville so that it will offer competition with the F. E. C., according to reports from the recent meeting of the chamber of commerce in that city.

The following from the West Palm Beach Times tells of what that city expects to get from an East Coast canal:

"Reduction of freight rates and consequent lowering of the high cost of living in West Palm Beach was the headline in today's discussions by the directors of the chamber of commerce. A group of individuals have under consideration taking over of the East Coast Canal, running from Jacksonville to Miami, putting it in shape for transportation purposes, building barges to carry freight and otherwise building up a complete inland water freight line to make regular runs between Jacksonville and Miami. All intermediate stops will be made.

"It was pointed out that a large developing concern in the past few years had made a thorough investigation of the conditions that prevail here regarding freight rates, and considered them to be prohibitive, and for that reason could not see its way clear to come into this part of the state. This condition, it is believed, will be removed by purchase and use of the East Coast canal for competitive freight purposes. By this arrangement haulage charges from Jacksonville to West Palm Beach, it was said, would be reduced from 30 to 50 per cent, and the cost of living would suffer a sharp and natural result.

"At the present time, according to compiled figures, it costs from one and one half to three times as much for freight from Jacksonville to West Palm Beach as from New York to Jacksonville. There is no relief, it was stated, from this situation by the interstate commerce commission, as the only road over which freight is carried at the present time operates wholly within the state and the F. E. C. has no jurisdiction in the matter. The only remedy is a competitive line, it is held, and it is the most important question affecting the progress of this city and the east coast. A cheaper freight rate means more to this community than any other one thing. Such was the tenor of remarks in the discussion of the project."—New Smyrna News.

HERALD COLLECTIONS

The Herald carriers manage and control their routes, pay in advance for all papers drawn, and absolutely depend upon their collections for their running capital and profits. When subscribers neglect to pay them it is the CARRIER and not THE Herald that stands the "brunt."

Subscribers who do not care to pay the carrier each week may pay the Herald two or more months in advance and they will pay the carrier each week from this fund.

This system of delivery is known as the INDEPENDENT CARRIER PLAN and is used by most of the larger newspapers of the country and has proven beyond doubt to be the very best plan of delivery. When a boy manages his own route, buys and sells at a profit he is in business for himself in exactly the same sense as any merchant. He knows he must give service to be successful and build up his business. He knows that every new customer he secures means more profit. In short, he knows he must conduct his business in a capable and efficient manner to be successful.

The Herald earnestly requests its subscribers not to discourage these boys in this, their first business venture, by refusing to pay promptly each week for their newspaper.

NO COMMUNITY would think of paying 10 percent interest today on highway paving bonds. That would be unwarranted extravagance, and so recognized by every taxpayer. Does it not amount to practically the same thing when a community buys cheap pavements that, in a few years, require large sums annually for maintenance and repairs?

VITRIFIED Brick PAVEMENTS

are economy pavements, which means that they possess more value per dollar of cost than so-called cheaper pavements. When properly constructed they last a generation, and cost next to nothing for maintenance. False economy considers first cost alone. True economy considers total cost and length of service.

ENDURE HARSHNESS AND DANGER FROM WILD TRIBESMEN

FOUND THE CAVES OF THE THOUSAND BUDDHAS

WRITES THE MOST EXPENSIVE BOOKS PUBLISHED.

SIR AUREL STEIN, BRITISH EXPLORER AND WRITER

By Milton Dronner

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Winter and summer alike a sturdy little man with grizzled hair and mustache goes poking about in the wild desert sands of Central Asia enduring endless hardships from cold and heat, thirst and hunger, and positive danger from wild tribesmen.

Once in every three years or so this man comes back to civilization and writes the most expensive books published in English.

The "popular" ones sell at about $15. Those intended for scholars sell at from $60 to $100. And they are always snapped up.

This author is Sir Aurel Stein, born in Budapest 60 years ago, for many years a naturalized Briton and much honored subject of the King.

After serving at the head of the Lahore Oriental College in India and with other educational and governmental institutions, Sir Aurel determined to read the riddle of the great stretch of desert from the Pamirs, north of India, to the Pacific coast watershed.

Sir Aurel has dug under and bro't to light the relics of vanquished civilizations in almost perfect freshness. He has obtained the manuscripts of two Indo-European languages new to scholars.

He has revealed the secrets of the places where Greek, Indian and Chinese civilizations met.

He has found the broad military road Alexander the Great used when he led his Macedonian troops into India.

He has discovered the "footpaths" used by Chinese pilgrims in quest of the holy places of India connected with the life of Buddha.

But most romantic of all, he has found a buried Chinese wall 140 miles long, on the Chinese frontier in the first days of the Christian era.

Here were the watch towers where homesick Chinese soldiers kept guard; ward rooms in which they sat, remnants of their letters.

Even more wonderful, he found the "Caves of the Thousand Buddhas." Here was a vault hidden from the eyes of man more than 500 years, literally crammed with manuscripts and paintings.

In these old manuscripts rolls were discovered the earliest woodcuts in the world and the oldest specimen of printing. The books and the paintings there found will keep scientific men busy for years to come. An entire new chapter has been added to man's knowledge.

Today Stein is out in the sands, trying to dig out more of their riddles.

ANOTHER GOOD REASON FOR A BASE BALL PARK IN SANFORD

Majors Will Play Exhibition in Sanford Next Fall if We Have Park for Them to Play in

There are many good reasons for a baseball park, athletic and fair grounds for Sanford, and we could fill up several columns with these many reasons, but another one of the good reasons just came to light this week.

Last year a little close of the major league season, plans were afoot for the organizing of two all-southern major league teams, one to represent the National League and the other to represent the Americans, with plans to play all the different towns and cities in the south where any of these players lived.

Next Chapman, as good a catcher as balls from below the Mason and Dixon line will in all probability be the first string catcher for an American league club, and Chapman's home is Sanford. That means that Sanford will have an opportunity of getting one or more of these games, if Sanford will furnish some kind of a park in which they may play.

But Sanford must have a baseball park. There will be no chance of getting these players or any other players to come here until we do have a park. A baseball park is promised to Sanford and it is expected to materialize soon, and as long as Sanford is to have one, and must have it, it is to be hoped that plans will be perfected soon enough to have it ready for next fall if not earlier.

Sanford is the only town anywhere near its size that is without an athletic field, and with all our many improvements on other lines it does stand out against us as long as we stay without it. The Boston Braves, Brooklyn Cardinals, Washington Americans, Philadelphia and other big league clubs are booked to train in the south this spring and in most cases they will train in towns much smaller than Sanford.

The Chamber of Commerce committee that is working on this project, will render a report at the next meeting that should give some light as to just when Sanford may expect this park. This committee is alive to the fact that the longer we wait the more a park will cost us and with that in mind we understand that they will rush it through to completion as fast as possible.

And knowing that Sanford needs this park just as bad as she needs anything in the 'improvement' line, and knowing that we are bound to get one, here's hoping that we will get it soon enough to participate in the Southern tour of National and American League stars.

FLORIDA STATE LEAGUE MAY DISBAND AND SEMI-PRO BALL PLAYED INSTEAD

Get the Sanford Base Ball Park Ready and We Can Go Too

It is not an absolute fact yet that the Florida State League will be in existence during 1923 and if the big magnets of the circuit decide to disband, that means that some semi-pro base ball can once more be staged between Sanford and Orlando.

Whether the Florida State league will continue through another season or whether it will be supplanted by a semi-professional baseball organization may be the principal question before the annual meeting here Friday afternoon.

Reports indicate that Jacksonville may surrender its franchise this year and that Daytona may do likewise. That would leave only four clubs in the circuit and it is not likely that Sanford, Palatka, Bradenton, Clearwater, or any other centrally located city would care to take over the surrendered franchises.

There is, on the other hand, the chance that all of the clubs will decide to tear through 1923 just as they did last summer, and that all other differences can be satisfactorily adjusted.

In that event the election of officers will demand the serious consideration of the six clubs. The field for president contains only two possible men, unless others are brought forward at the meeting—President Walter W. Rose and Al Land, former mayor of St. Petersburg.

Mr. Rose is said to be through. He has made no statement, but the general belief here is that he would not accept the presidency another year if it was offered. Mr. Land is said to be in a highly receptive mood and is understood to be specially favored by the Tampa club.

That leaves Daytona, Jacksonville, Lakeland and Orlando with no candidates to present, though Lakeland is expected to line up for Mr. Land.

On good authority it is learned that teams could be brought to Florida from a group of Southern colleges and that they could be placed in several cities, each team to represent a member of the new league.

The expense of such an organization would be approximately one-fifth that of operating the present league, and it is said that a good class of baseball would be presented; good enough to hold the interests of baseball enthusiasts just as successfully as the present Class C organization does.

CHASE & CO. LOSE SLOW ONE TO ROTE TEAM

HENRY BOWLES HIGH SCORE WITH HOUSEHOLDER SECOND

The regular match between the Rotes and Chase & Co., last night was one of the slowest games played on the local alleys, no scores being made that were above the average.

The Rotes won with a majority of 412 pins.

Henry bowled high score with Judge Householder second. Harry Kent, one of the Congregationals, last year bowlers and with the Rotes from now on, broke into the game last night and bowled 163 for one game.

Harry will make a good addition to the Rotes' team and with his help the Rotes hope to be higher up in the running next half.

The scores for last night's games were as follows:

CELERY SEED

So many things going to happen this summer that we just must have that ball park.

Florida State League may go ker-choo. That means semi-pro base ball again. And that also means Sanford can get in the swim with very little expense.

Walter Rose and Mr. Land, of St. Pete, are the two mentioned for the president's job, if the league goes ahead. And Mr. Rose says he is caught up and don't want it.

And whether or not the Florida State League goes again, we would be sitting pretty if our base ball park was finished in time to entertain the majors on their Southern tour at the end of the 1923 season.

The Sanford High School has a real basket ball game scheduled for Friday night in Sanford. Full particulars will be given out about this game tomorrow.

Mr. Wallbrooke, the ex-pro of the Sanford golf links, is home again. He paid a visit to many of the big links on his tour this time and he says they haven't anything on the Sanford course.

Plans are afoot for the arranging of a real tournament at the Sanford Country Club. All you golfers want to keep in trim, the Club record will be the goal.

Judge Householder is, the coming star in so far as golf is concerned. He is getting better every day and when the lawyers meet for their tournament, Householder and DeCotton or maybe Judge Herring will be out for the hurra.

Man reaps what he sows—unless the chickens get it.

CHECK EMBASSY LIQUOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—A close check has been inaugurated by federal prohibition authorities on liquor shipments consigned to foreign embassies and legations here with a view to determining whether disproportionate supplies are being brought through the American customs to the favored destinations.

If the investigation discloses that an embassy or legation is receiving needs of its staff for personal use and official entertaining, the state department will be asked to call the situation to the attention of the foreign government involved.

The watch on liquor supplies of foreign embassies was the result of the charges that some legations in Washington are being used as the medium of supplying the local bootleg trade it was said officially.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NOTES

By R. W. Pearman, Secretary
The weekly meeting of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce was the largest from point of attendance that has ever been held to date.

R. R. Doble, editor of the Winter Park Herald, was also present at the meeting as a visitor.
Reports from different committees showed that they had been active in the work assigned to them.

The no scolding laws for Seminole county were also approved and these measures will all be approved in sufficient time for presentation to the legislature.

The Traffic and Transportation Committee have sent out a letter to each grower requesting that they keep the Chamber of Commerce advised of their car requirements during the shipping season.

The membership committee of the Chamber, under the guidance of Forest Lake, guarantees to have a minimum membership of 200 for this year.

Communications from the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World against advertising imposters now working Florida were read, and copies of these warnings are being sent to the business men of Sanford.

Correspondence from the Florida Development Board requesting action by the Chamber on the proposed change of name resulted in a discussion of some length. It was decided that the Sanford Chamber of Commerce go on record as discouraging any attempt to change the name of the Florida Development Board or organization of any state chamber of commerce.

Letters were also read from the Palatka Chamber of Commerce, Lake County Chamber and Clyde Steamship Company assuring their co-operation in securing tonnage data to support claims to be embodied in a brief now being prepared by the Florida Water Traffic League, which will be submitted at the next hearing of the United States Engineers to be held sometime in March.

A letter requesting the Chamber of Commerce to unite with other committees in a serial film of Florida was referred to the Publicity Committee. The numerous inquiries of this nature which are received at this time of the year from people with pet advertising schemes have the acid test put on them by the Publicity Committee.

W. F. Allen, president of the Civic League of Titusville, spoke at some length on the proposition which brought him to Sanford. He desired to interest the Chamber of Commerce in the Superior Motor Works, which concern now has a plant at his city, but unfortunately is unable to continue further operations due to lack of capital. He requested that a committee from the Chamber of Commerce be appointed to visit Titusville to inspect the plant at that place. It was moved that this matter be referred to the New Industries Committee, requesting that they take prompt action on this matter, and arrangements have been made to visit Titusville at an early date.

The regular monthly banquet of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday, January 11th, at the Valdez Hotel, at 7:30 at which time Honorable W. T. Bland, of Orlando, will be the principal speaker. S. J. Bligh, president of the Water Traffic League will also be present and a number of members of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce have advised that they will be present. Ken Guernsey, the song leader for the Orlando Rotary Club and the Orlando Chamber of Commerce, has promised that he will lead the musical program on the evening of the banquet.

SANFORD PUBLIC LIBRARY

Could a vote be taken today by the patrons of the library as to the location of the new building, without any doubt the site desired is in Fourth Street park. It is at present the most attractive of Sanford's parks and all can see that it would be a lovely setting for the pretty building planned. It is in the quiet zone: The hospital and two churches demand quiet, and for that reason alone the library would be admirably located.

If placed in the Ninth street park, some see a more central location for all.

If a library has any reason at all for its existence in our city, it is that it prove itself the right hand assistant of the schools. Located in the Ninth street park, it would be three blocks from the High school, and the same from the Grammar. These are the grades which need the help that a well equipped library can give, and for that reason should be within a short walking distance for the students.

To place it on the bulkhead, no matter how attractive the surroundings, forcing on children the crossing of First street (the danger zone) will prove unpopular and go far toward making the library as an educational factor, a failure.

Some would-be wit has described a public library as a place whose chief function is to provide my lady with the latest novel. It is true that the fiction department is important, but not for "my lady" alone.

Many a tired business man has found relief and rest after the vexatious cares of the day, in the pages of Zane Grey, Curwood or Conan Doyle.

And the tourist clamors for fiction and more fiction—"something thrilling!"

It is, even in Sanford a little difficult to keep the supply equal to the demand, for fiction of this class.

Some argue that the library should be near the hotels in order to cater to the tourist. Not so. While many have enjoyed the books at the small charge of five cents a volume, and expressed appreciation of the opportunity of borrowing from the library, none have or will complain of a walk in the Florida sunshine. A few blocks more, and a rest in the park, and a book, will prove irresistible; but the boy and girl who is going to use the encyclopedia and dictionary daily, must have them near at hand.

Therefore, from the point of educational value, Ninth street park is to be commended.

Placing the library building in one of the parks, is placing a municipal building on municipal ground. In no sense does it change its usefulness as a public park—rather enhances its value.

Other cities see the value of thus locating branch libraries. This is true in several California cities, and no other state knows better how to beautify for themselves and attract tourists. New York City does the same, going further, placing museums and art galleries, even monkey cages in the larger parks. We drive through Orange City without commenting on the library building in view from the main highway, and even the little stucco building with "Public Library" over its entrance in Daytona Beach, or the one we pass on the way to Orlando, in Maitland—brings always not only a glance, but a word of respect for the citizens who placed them there. Hundreds of automobiles carrying hundreds of strangers enter Sanford from Orlando or Daytona highways. Ninety nine of every hundred drive down Park avenue to First street. Passing down the avenue with glimpses of the handsome school buildings on the right, "Sanford Free Public Library" on the left in its grove of palms and oaks, and further down fine church buildings—these passers-by will take notice, many will be impressed, and some remembering, will return to become Sanford citizens.

For I am not alone in seeing the church, the school, the library, the visible sign and proof of the fitness of a city's citizenship, and a true civic pride.

WAS A BANNER YEAR IN HUMANE WORK

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Passage of compulsory humane education laws in states where none exist, establishment of the National Training School for Humane Workers, and general unity and cooperation in the humane movement, are the chief features in the 1923 program of the American Humane society according to the local chapter of the organization. An international humane conference and convention will be held in New York, October 22-27, at which the results of the year will be reported.

The year just closed was the most successful in humane work in the last hundred years, when the first laws for the protection of animals was passed, said a statement.

HUPMOBILE REDUCTION FROM $25 TO $110

The Hupmobile price reduction, announced January 1st, on all models, is the second that the Hup Motor Car Corporation has made in the last six months, and the third within a year. The latest reductions range from $35 on the touring car, roadster, recently announced special touring and special roadster, to $100 on the coupe and $110 on the sedan.

An official statement issued by the corporation last week declares that the price is being lowered in the face of rising costs of many items entering into automobile manufacturing and is only possible because of the assurance of an even greater Hupmobile business in 1923 than in 1922, when domestic sales more than doubled any previous year.

"The cost of both raw and partially manufactured materials has increased steadily in the last few months," the statement says. "Iron, steel and several other metals, as well as some of the textile products that motor car manufacturers require, have not only increased in cost, but indications are that they will go higher rather than lower."

"We have perfected certain economies in manufacturing, it is true, but these have not equalled the upward trend of material costs."

"The January 1st reduction makes today's Hupmobile the greatest value we have ever offered."

"Since January 1, 1921, when Hupmobiles were at their highest price, reductions varying from $570 on the touring car and roadster to $1015 on the sedan have been made. In the intervening two years, prices have been lowered six other times."

Advertised Goods Reach You Without Lost Motion

A big part of the cost of living, today may be charged to lost motion, to slow, slipshod distribution of goods, and to old-style, wasteful selling methods.

For example, every year tons of fruits and vegetables rot on the ground, because it doesn't pay to pick them. Discouraged growers plant less the next season, and the supply of food is reduced. Meanwhile, consumers in the cities near by grumble over high prices. Demand and supply are not brought together.

Contrast this with the handling of oranges. $1,000,000 a year is spent for advertising by the co-operative association of the California Fruit Growers. A large sum; yet it is only about one-fifth of a cent per dozen—one-sixtieth of a cent for each orange sold.

And this advertising has kept down the cost of oranges. To quote an official of the Exchange: "The cost of selling oranges and lemons through the California Fruit Growers' Exchange is lower today than it was ten years ago."

Advertising, properly done, saves money for the consumer and makes money for the producer by driving out wasteful methods, increasing volume and cutting down the costs of selling and distribution.
