

Sound Money Policy Is Promised Nation By Roosevelt Again

Reviewing Program, He Says Progress Is Definitely Made In Right Direction

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(A.P.)—Pres. Roosevelt last night announced the creation of a government market for gold and an easing of the gold embargo in telling the nation of his recovery policies with a firm assertion that "we are on our way."

Standing firmly by his recovery program, the President rapped the "chickens" of the national recovery administration, assuring an increase in agricultural prices with the words "if we cannot do it one way we will do it another," promised a "subsidance of government credit" and "a sound currency," and announced the dollar would be revalued after a restoration of the price level.

Mr. Roosevelt put the operation of the government market for newly mined gold under the administration of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

"Whenever necessary to end in view," he declared, "we shall also buy or sell gold in the world market."

"This is a policy and not an expedient. It is not to be used (Continued On Page Three)

1,700,000 MEN BACK AT WORK LABOR FINDS

But Green Says 30-Hour Week Will Insure Jobs For 10,000,000 Remaining Jobless

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(A.P.)—Organized labor found yesterday that 1,700,000 more men went back to work in August and September, but reiterated its contention that only shorter hours would provide jobs for the 10,000,000 it said remain unemployed.

Asserting that "most of the effect of the re-employment program has already been felt," William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said that the accomplishments in August and September were "striking proof of the results of shorter work hours."

"We have made much progress," he said, "but the unemployment problem when 13,000,000 were out of work," he said, "By September the army of unemployed had been reduced by 4,000,000—but even so, 9,000,000 are still unemployed."

"What is to be done? What are we to do for the 10,000,000 unemployed in the coming months? The only way we can possibly get them to work is by a further shortening of work hours."

The objective of the A. F. of L. is a 30-hour work week for all industry. Green has told the administration that unless all NRA codes, approximately a 30-hour week, organized labor will seek to push through Congress a bill to that end.

His contention is expressed in a bill to that end. (Continued On Page Three)

"Don't Tread On Me!"

Always quick to resent any limitation of their constitutional right of freedom of expression, many American editors these days are viewing with alarm the licensing provisions of the National Recovery Act. It is perhaps the trend in Europe, which has seen the complete throttling of the press in such countries as Italy, Germany, Austria and Russia, that has given added impetus to the fear of censorship in this country. But such instances as occurred recently in Tallahassee, Fla. have not served to reassure the editors.

There Eugene B. Dunningan, a labor conciliator, was sent to that town to settle a coal strike. According to the editor of the Tallahassee Tribune, this government agent informed the newspapers that its articles were in violation of N. R. A. and threatened prosecution. According to Mr. Dunningan's version, he did not threaten prosecution, but he did tell the writer that his editorials were in violation of N. R. A.

"Whichever version is correct," says the New York Herald Tribune, "the moral is plain. (The agent of a government which asserts the right to license a newspaper to print or not to print does not have to threaten to accomplish his purpose. Unless a journal is extraordinarily strong financially and its editor extraordinarily independent and courageous, he can scarcely fail to pay some heed to such criticism."

That is the vice of the whole license system if applied to the press. After the Tallahassee episode was strongly protested, Miss Perkins sent out a departmental order forbidding agents to attempt to influence news or editorials. But if the right to license, upon whatever basis, is asserted by Washington and should ever be admitted by the press, such an order would not be worth the paper it was written on. The mere knowledge that some bureaucrat in Washington held the life and death of a newspaper in his hands would constantly and imperceptibly influence its news and its comment. There might be a Dunningan to blurt out an open threat or there might not. The unspoken threat would remain.

"We print elsewhere on this page the editorials of two leading journals protesting against the license system. The case against the N. R. A. threat to the freedom of the press cannot be stated too forcibly. The episode in Alabama is simply a petty illustration of a fundamental truth which the whole country should clearly understand."

However, uncalculated these fears may be, it is safe to say that if the time ever comes when freedom of the press is no longer the voice of the people will be but a faint murmur lost in the wilderness. The Newspaper Publishers Association is entirely justified in getting this point straight before going any further with its code adoption. There is one thing which the people and the press won't have tampered with and that is the First Amendment to the Constitution.

Treadgold's Death
The death yesterday morning of Robert J. Treadgold, University of Florida football player, as the result of an automobile accident in which three other students were injured, saddened the whole University campus and especially the players who had been associated with him in carrying the banner of the Orange and Gold to gridiron success.

Dr. John Tigert, head of the University, paid tribute to Treadgold as a student and athlete and termed the accident "a very unfortunate affair," and said "It has filled us all with apprehension."

It sometimes requires the death of a prominent person or student, in the prime of his collegiate life, admired by countless football fans, loved and respected by his fellow comrades, and well on the road to what might very well have led to a highly successful life, to bring home to us the needlessness of automobile driving and the need for avoiding every unnecessary risk.

We read with no unusual concern about frequent fatalities on the highways. Somehow they never seem to impress us until someone we know or someone, about whom we have heard a great deal, is killed. Then the sudden realization dawns on us of the awful price being paid by motorists.

FREE PRESS SAID TO BE IMPERILED BY NRA RULINGS

Constitutional Right In Danger Of Being Stilled, Editor Says

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—E. H. Harris, of Richmond, Ind., secretary of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, said recently that the constitutional guaranty of a free press in the United States was in grave danger of destruction under the National Recovery Administration.

Mr. Harris, publisher of "The Richmond Palladium and Item" newspaper for industrialization, organ of the heavy industry commission, maintained that "Soviet economists now discussing import plans in connection with the second five-year plan naturally anticipate such results of the Washington negotiations which will give a strong impetus to the development of trade with the United States."

"The heightened interests of the United States to the U. S. S. R.," said Harris, "reflects an ever-growing conviction that exceptionally favorable conditions exist for the widest co-operation between the two countries in the most varied fields."

"In the course of sixteen years Soviet Russia has established stable and normal relations with its neighbors. "We wish to believe that the establishment of official contact will be welcomed by all sincere friends of peace."

The Komsoolskaya Pravda said the American overture "comes at a time when the entire capitalist world is in a serious plight," and pointed to a "conflict in the Far East, intensification of Russo-Japanese relations, and Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations."

Interest also attached to a history of relations between the two countries. America's last diplomatic representative in Russia was DeWitt C. Poole, who left shortly after the withdrawal of American forces from the White Sea port was completed in June, 1930. A United States consul was kept at Vladivostok, however, until 1923.

Organized labor is in command of the N. R. A. and is attempting to organize every department of the news department. The application of a censorship of the press by organized labor is possible if the newspapers submit to the demands of unions as expressed in the Nira.

After hearing Mr. Harris, the resolutions unanimously adopted resolutions insisting upon the inclusion in the code of the sections safeguarding the freedom of the press.

Hitler appealed to the Storm Troopers saying: "It is our life and our honor which we are fighting for. We will not be taken for a fool by the world."

York, rather than sell them locally at $1.75, which he was offered for nearly a thousand hampers.

The Hull Packing Company will start picking this week and expects a total of at least 15 cars by the end of the week.

The season starts off with a good demand for beans, and "which prices offered have not been high, they are satisfactory for this time of the year, and present indications are that fairly good prices will be realized throughout the season."

Negroes engaged in bean picking at Belle Glade last Monday demanded a price of 25 cents per hamper, and about 50 of them walked out on one grower on his refusal to pay more than 15 cents.

On the threat, however, that has been active in the negotiations of the association for a newspaper code under the N. R. A. He spoke recently before the Inland Press Association.

He asserted that the refusal of the Recovery Administration to accept two sections of the proposed code—one intended to safeguard the freedom of the press and the other prohibiting unions from organizing non-union newspaper plants where employees do not desire union affiliations—had placed in jeopardy free journalism and free government.

After hearing Mr. Harris, the resolutions unanimously adopted resolutions insisting upon the inclusion in the code of the sections safeguarding the freedom of the press.

"Journalism has been destroyed entirely in Germany," Mr. Harris said. "In the United States, Congress has enacted the National Industrial Recovery Act, which gives to the government the right to license all forms of industry."

"The newspapers of the United States are now being asked to sign an agreement with the government under the Nira, which will abridge the right of a free press in this country."

"Organized labor is in command of the N. R. A. and is attempting to organize every department of the news department. The application of a censorship of the press by organized labor is possible if the newspapers submit to the demands of unions as expressed in the Nira."

mendous job—and in pursuit of that job the world is to let us alone.

"We want peace not dishonor. We tell the world frankly: 'If you want to see us in international conferences, if you want to have up in your League of Nations we will participate only when you recognize us as a nation; we are ready at any time to sign treaties if these can be fulfilled and if they are just, but facts that neither can be fulfilled nor are honorable we will not sign!'"

Applause rose in a frenzy when he added: "We will not cooperate in signing dictates."

Hitler said the world must not believe there now was any organization or party in Germany who would ally itself with those who thought they simply could ignore Germany's honor and her right to live.

"The time when Germans were fighting Germans is over and will never return," declared Hitler.

"My aim in taking this step is to establish and maintain continuous control. Government credit will be maintained and a sound currency will accompany a rise in the American commodity price level."

Mr. Roosevelt authorized the Reconstruction Finance Corp. to buy gold newly mined in the United States "at prices to be determined from time to time after consultation with the secretary of the treasury and the President."

"Our troubles will not be over tomorrow," the President said after an exhaustive review of his program, "but we are on our way and we are headed in the right direction."

"Obviously and because hundreds of different kinds of crops and industrial occupations are involved, we cannot reach the goal in a few months. We may take one year or two years or three years."

Citing accomplishments, the President told the people that unemployment had been reduced by 40 per cent with the reemployment of 1,000,000 men; that the average farmer will receive one-third more money for his crops this year than in 1932.

"I do not hesitate to say in the simplest, clearest language of which I am capable, that although the price of many products of the farm have gone up and although many farm families are better off than they were last year, I am not satisfied either with the amount or the extent of the rise, and that it is definitely a part of my policy to increase the rise and to extend it to those products which have as yet felt no benefit."

"If we cannot do this one way we will do it another. Do it, we will."

Going into the complex monetary problem he asserted that when the price level has been restored "we shall seek to establish and maintain a dollar which will not change its purchasing and debt paying power during the succeeding generation."

"Complaining of the susceptibility of the American dollar to international influences, Mr. Roosevelt in his address emphasized that the United States must take firmly into its own hands the control of the gold value in order to prevent dollar disturbances from swinging us away from our ultimate goal, namely the permanent recovery of our command heights."

The government controlled plan for purchase of newly mined gold and sale or purchase of gold in the world market were named as moves in this direction.

Strongly backing the national recovery administration the President declared "In the vast majority of localities, the NRA has been given support as undented as ever."

"We know that there are his- tories," he said "At the bottom of every case of criticism and obstruction we have found some sel-

1,700,000 MEN BACK AT WORK LABOR FINDS

(Continued From Page One) it last week at a hearing on the 36-hour rubber code. It is this: "A 30-hour, 5-day week seems to us essential in all industries because of the great need for re-employing the 10,000,000 now unemployed. This need is not being met by codes providing maximum hours of 35, 40 or more per week."

"In an industry which, like the rubber tire industry, has great technological possibilities, it is all the more essential to limit hours to the employment possibilities of the industry."

He also wants higher pay. He said yesterday: "The re-employment of workers is steadily increasing buying power. The dollar increase in total workers' buying power from March to September was 30.7 percent, but the effect of this gain has been greatly reduced by increased living costs."

"When the rise in prices is taken into consideration, workers' effective buying power has increased by 20.5 percent."

"This even at today's higher prices, workers' total effective power in September was above the March level by $165,000,000 per month and above August by $67,000,000."

60 cents an hour for rubber work. He is asking minimum pay of 60 cents against the 40 cents, with some exceptions, proposed in that code.

"During the spring months," Green said, "we depended on rising industrial activity to put men back to work, and in three months when industrial activity rose by the unprecedented figure of 42 percent, unemployment was reduced by less than 500,000 a month (April through June)."

"In the two months of the President's re-employment program unemployment was reduced as the rate of 850,000 a month. This achievement is all the more striking because it was accomplished while industry declined 11 percent."

It was stated incorrectly in Saturday's issue that funds for repairing the roof of 175 Sanford homes damaged during the Labor Day storm were furnished by the Federal Relief organization. By way of correction we wish to state that it was supplied by the national headquarters of American Red Cross with the assistance of Seminole County Chapter of the Red Cross.

FOOTBALL FANS ASTOUNDED OVER SATURDAY TILTS

Pitt, Notre Dame Lose, To Conclude Nation's Experts

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The shock of seeing Pitt and Notre Dame beaten and Southern California led on the same day left football experts babbling incoherently yesterday when they weren't talking about Michigan's third smashing victory in succession and the rise of Princeton in the East and Alabama in the South.

The mighty triumvirate of the Panther Rambler and Trojan, year in and year out, have been found prone to or at the top of the gridiron heap but for Pitt and Notre Dame, at least, national championship visions were just that and nothing more.

Nothing the Panthers accomplished the rest of the season will wipe out the 7-3 beating they took from Minnesota's powerful Gophers at Minneapolis nor will an already unimpressive Notre Dame outfit be able to offset the 7-0 reverse the Rambler suffered at the hands of Carnegie Tech.

Although saved from defeat, Southern California's scoreless tie with Oregon State was the biggest surprise of the day. The Trojans out gained the Northerners by a wide margin, piled up 12 first downs against one, yet could not break the Beaver defense for a score.

Michigan, meanwhile, gave further indications of crushing power by annihilating Ohio State, 19 to 0, before a crowd of 95,000 persons.

Princeton's sophomore came through their first major test with flying colors, trouncing Columbia's experienced array, 20-0, and just about offering conclusive proof that the Tiger is back to worry other Eastern contenders for the first time in years.

StożanMastasohtz ta ot of BE Alabama looked like the class of the Southern conference as it leveled Knoxville and gave Tennessee its first home defeat since 1924, 12-0.

Internationally, the East offset Pitt's defeat with Army's unexpected conquest of Illinois at Cleveland, 8-0, Carnegie's victory over Notre Dame, and lesser triumphs for Duquesne, Navy, George Washington, and Washington & Jefferson.

PICK THE WINNER

Here's another line of football games, probably the most outstanding to be played throughout the nation, this week-end. Two tickets to the Miami Theater are the prize which goes to each of the three persons who guesses nearest to the actual number of winners.

The important thing to remember is that the sooner you turn in your list the better is your chance to win the tickets because the tickets go to the first three nearest to correct lists.

Clip this coupon, place a "W" opposite the name of the team you think will win, or write "Tie" if you think the teams will tie, and bring or mail your list to The Herald office before noon on Saturday, Oct. 23.

GATORS SCORE FIRST VICTORY OVER TARHEELS

Henderson's 34-Yard Run Is Feature Of Tilt Viewed By 10,000

FLORIDA FIELD, GAINESVILLE, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A weaving side-stepping dash of 34 yards for a touchdown early in the game by Jack Henderson, 147-pound Florida halfback, paved the way for the first Gator victory over North Carolina here Saturday, 9 to 0.

Florida scored two points late in the final period as the Tarheels, trying desperately to attempt to pass from behind the goal line, Alton Brown stepped in and knuckled down the aerial in the end zone.

While the game was played mostly in North Carolina's territory, it was a brilliant display of defensive football, with two stubborn lines holding in critical moments and offensive backs being thrown for loss after loss.

Florida's touchdowns came about mid-way of the first period when Bill Ferrast, Florida center, partially blocked a punt by McCatch and the Gators recovered on the 24-yard line. On the first play Henderson dived off tackle, fought his way clear of tacklers and behind perfect interference shipped over the goal line standing up.

Hughes faked a place kick and passed to Goodyear for the extra point.

Only once did the Tarheels show any sustained effort at scoring and that was in the fourth period when they took the ball on their own 25-yard line as a Florida punt went out of bounds. MacDonald tossed a curling pass to Woolen, who was downed on Florida's 48-yard bar. Another pass from MacDonald to MacBell netted eight yards, and Shaffer hit the line for a first down on Florida's 35, the deepest Carolina penetrated into the Florida territory from offensive thrusts.

North Carolina made six first downs to five for Florida, principally through the air route. The

Theater Tickets Won By Three Local Men

Millam winners of The Herald's Pick-The-Winner contest of two weeks ago, repeated again this week, and in selecting 12 out of a possible 16 winners, they are, with John Schirard, Jr., the winners of two Miami Theater tickets each. Mr. Schirard was the first of seven persons who selected all winners.

The winners should call at The Herald office for their theater passes which are offered Herald readers through the courtesy of Tarheels tried 24 passes and completed four for 30 yards. Passing usually is Florida's most effective weapon, but they played it safe today, being content, after that touchdown, to play along with the Tarheels in the latter's own country.

It was the first time Florida had pulled out a win over the North Carolinians in four attempts, and only once before had they been able to play the men of Chuck Collins' team to a tie. That was two years ago on the same field, when neither team was able to score.

Montana of the Pacific coast conference beat Montana State of the Rocky Mountain, 12-0.

Beware the Cough or Cold that Hangs On

Perennial cough and cold lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Crocinol, an emulsion containing what is known as the "Cough Cure". It is a new medical discovery with two-fold action. It soothes and breaks the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocinol is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agents for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of chest trouble. Crocinol contains, in addition to crocinol, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocinol goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Crocinol is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, influenza, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Crocinol.

Felt Much Better By Taking Cardui

"I took Cardui at two different times for a run-down condition," writes Mrs. P. M. Jackson, of Tyler, Texas. "I was so nervous and could not sleep well. This would make me feel like in daytime. I read about Cardui and thought it would be a good idea to take it. I took eight bottles one time and the next time I felt much better after taking it and was able to sleep. If you are weak run-down, nervous, take Cardui, for women."

WELL I'LL SAY SO! THAT'S PROBABLY AS CLOSE AS YOU'LL EVER GET TO YOUR MILLION!

HE CAN HARDLY WAIT FOR TOMORROW TO COME!

COULD YOU SURELY GET HIM TO COME!

Wanted: To borrow $100.00 for 30 days. Will pay back $100.00 plus interest. Reply to 115 E. End St., Sanford, Fla.
