2 CHARGES OF MURDER FOUND BY GRAND JURY

Eighteen Indictments Presented At Spring Term Of Court For Trial This Session

Eighteen indictments, two of them for murder, were presented this morning in the Spring term of circuit court, presided over by Judge Wallace W. Wright. With States Attorney Millard Smith in charge, the grand jury has been in session since Tuesday and is not expected to conclude its investigation before next Tuesday.

All of the defendants in the true bills, which were presented to Judge Wright, were brought into court and arraigned, the majority of them pleading guilty. The murder charges are against George Merchant, negro, and Charles Davis, negro. The Merchant case is in session since Tuesday and is not expected to conclude its investigation before next Tuesday.

Judge Wright, who was present to see the trial on Thursday morning, with trial on Friday morning, three white men, T. F. Tucker, Jack Dial and F. O. Whitmore will be tried for grand larceny, while B. M. Abercrombie, well-known insurance man of this City, is charged with embezzlement. The continued case of Carl Bruton, indicted for bigamy, will also be heard during the coming week.

Judge Wright has been engaged in the trial of civil cases since Wednesday and two verdicts have been rendered. The ejectment suit of Julia F. Laing vs. Klan Area resulted in a verdict for the defendant, B. R. Dighton, represented the plaintiff, and has prepared an appeal. W. E. Matson, B. White, and Hibbert and Merriday of Palatka, represented the area.

The case of C. W. Zaring and Co. vs. G. W. Spencer Sr., et al., resulted in a verdict for the defendant. The jury was composed of R. F. King, J. E. Walther, W. R. David, J. F. Hodges, Fred Zender and A. R. Hunter. Geo. G. Herring was counsel for C. W. Zaring and Co., with G. W. Spencer Jr., representing the defendant.

Two other civil cases will be heard before Judge Wright on Monday, and the criminal dockets will be begun on Tuesday. Willie Young, negro who plead not guilty to charges of breaking and entering, will be the first criminal case heard.

The following venue has been summoned for petit jury duty at 10 o'clock Monday morning: Abraham Vesina, W. E. Duncanson, O. P. Wade, R. S. Entwistle, L. P. Mills, W. A. Hopkins, J. R. Kenney, Fred Ball, G. G. Flynn, H. E. McGowan, J. E. Terwilliger, H. D. Haldeman, Ben Austin, A. J. Leasing, B. F. Ward, W. R. Dyson, Henry Thurston, L. L. Wheeler, Otto Schmidl, E. S. Kendall Jr., Walter A. Routh, J. Smith, H. J. Krebsberg, H. L. Flowers and C. E. Ward.

Senate Is United In Effort To Prevent Illicit Opium Trade

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Senate is just as determined as the House to enact strong legislation to smash the illicit opium traffic.

Members of the Senate finance committee gave assurance today that they would keep intact the new bill the anti-opium provision passed by the House. This provision which allows of vessels on which smoking opium is seized shall be subject to heavy fines. The penalty is $25 an ounce.

As most of the dope being peddled on the streets of America is smuggled from abroad, congressional leaders agreed that one of the first steps needed to halt the traffic is to take steps against the ships engaging in the nefarious trade.

Senator Bonet (R) of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, declared the fullest consideration would be given by the committee to the House amendment, which has the official approval of the treasury department.

The viewpoint of Democrats on the committee was expressed by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking minority member, who stated: "I am very much in favor of the strictest laws against narcotics. The government must not relax in protecting the American people from the ravages of dope, forming drugs."

MEETING HELD IN CAPITAL ON FLY SITUATION

Local Man Addresses Conference Which Is Studying Extension Of Fruit Quarantine

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(INS)—A hearing to consider the advisability of extending the Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine to cover every state of the United States was held today before the federal plan quarantine board. Probably it will be several days before Secretary of Agriculture Hyde rules on the question.

W. M. Scott, of Sanford, Fla., said that Florida was in a submissive mood and desired to cooperate in every way with the federal government in stamping out the pest.

J. C. Chase, of Orlando, Fla., said there still was a great demand in Florida that was unmet and urged that nothing be done to discriminate against the state.

Dr. C. L. Marlatt, chairman of the board, said the object of the hearing was to provide a basis for the better enforcement of restrictions established on the movement of most fruits and vegetables originating in Florida. The particular object at this time, he said, is by regulation to prevent any shipments of such Florida fruits and vegetables from the areas of destination and utilization specified in the quarantine to other sections of the United States.

It is intended also to furnish the basis for prompt handling of any infested infestation which may later be discovered in other states.

Mr. Marlatt further pointed out that while a vigorous effort is being made by repeated and state-wide inspections, to locate and stamp out the spread of the true fly in Florida and to destroy all fruit at such points, including a considerable area around the determinate line where the infection is found, it is believed that the progress of the infection has been arrested in the young plant, constitute that part of the debt that can be commercialized or turned into bonds.

"We are willing to settle with Belgium on the marks issue apart from the general fare in order to permit Belgium to sign a general accord," the spokesman told International News Service.

"It is unlikely the Belgians will obtain their full demands, but we believe a compromise is possible.

The state, meanwhile, through solicitor General Charles Garrett continued to drive into the sensational case. New evidence came into his hands through G. E. Ewing, an Atlanta printer foreman who declared he was Parks' best friend.

Ewing informed both critics that his master had been ill and had been confined to bed for some time before his death.

According to Mr. Monk, a rumor concerning the screening of trees and fruits in order to allow the fruit to ripen during the hot free period has come to the attention of his office. Dr. Mackie of California is being quoted as authorizing people to screen or sack fruits in order to allow them to ripen

during the hot-free period.

Dr. Mackie has made no such authorization nor is it in his poster to make such a statement, said

Mr. Monk. Such is contrary to the regulations and no one is permited to authority such violation.

"It is really seen why such a violation of the regulations could not and should not be permitted as it would guarantee that the elements will allow a paper bag to remain on the fruit or a screen stand without destruction to prevent a re-infestation of the fly in this territory," said Mr. Monk.

Order Is Being Restored In Texas City Following Onrush Of Waters

HOUSTON, Tex., June 1.—(INS)—Some semblance of order was being restored today as this city took stock of its losses in the flood which swept down upon it yesterday and last night. It was the worst flood in the history of Houston. Every stream in and near the city ranged far out of its banks.

Two lives were lost. One was a messenger boy who rode his bicycle too far into the swirling undercurrents of a downtown street.

Properly damage ran into the millions. The Houston Chronicle said more than $100,000 in newspaper print stock when the basement of a stock warehouse was inundated.

Street cars were not in operation throughout the greater part of the city. Train service, like trams, was suspended.

It was announced the waters would probably recede by tonight.

Love Jilted Woman Fires Fatal Bullet

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(INS)—Alice Johnson, 25, is near death in a hospital here after firing a bullet through her heart from the man she promised to marry her withdrew his promise and flouted her before a church, where she was waiting to keep an appointment with him.

The man, whose name police will not reveal, is reported to have fled the city. Miss Johnson, met the man a month ago and he soon asked her to marry him. Later he withdrew his promise because his mother objected.

As she waited for him before the church last night he passed in an automobile. "Stop, or I'll kill myself," she called to him, but he continued. She unwrapped a gun from a newspaper and shot herself twice.

Spokesman Announces

Reparations Agreement Leaves Only

1 Troublesome Spot

PARIS, June 1.—(INS)—

A general agreement has been reached upon reparations, leaving only the German-Belgian marks issue to be settled.

It was announced this afternoon by Thomas W. Lamont, spokesman for the American delegate.

The last troublesome points were removed during the morning.

While it was admitted that the German-Belgian marks issue is still "troublesome," a French spokesman said. "We are confident that the German-Belgian problem will be settled by direct negotiations through diplomatic channels Monday, permitting a general accord to be signed soon.

In addition to the reparations specified in the discussions here,

Belgium is demanding that Germany pay 25,000,000 marks (about $5,600,000) annually for 37 years to reimburse the Belgian for the depreciated marks left behind

when the Germans evacuated Belgium.

Another problem which still confronted the experts when the private conversations were resumed today was the definite amount of unconditional payments

which are part of the general panalties Germany must pay under the Young plan, constitute that part of the debt that can be commercialized or turned into bonds.

"We are willing to settle with Belgium on the marks issue apart from the general fare in order to permit Belgium to sign a general accord," the spokesman told International News Service.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

SUPPLICATION—Give heed to me, O Lord, and hearken to the voice of them that contend with me.—Jeremiah 18:19.

SHEEP

Siting a country churchyard, when the gray...

Monuments walked, I with a second glance,

Doubling, postponed the apparent

To watch instead the random slow advance

Over the down of hundred nibbling sheep,

And yet these tombs, half fancied

and half seen

In the dim world between waking and sleep,

These headstones brawling on their plot of green

Were sheep indeed and emblems of all life,

For man to dust, dust turns to grass and grass

Grows wool and feeds on grass.

The butcher's knife,

Works magic and the ephemeral

sheep-forms pass

Through swift tombs and through silent tombs, until

Once more God's acre feeds across the hill.

King George seems to be waging a rather uphill fight for complete recuperation from his illness of last December. He is reported now as having suffered a relapse and is greatly weakened by an attack of fever. English people, and friends of the English all hope for the complete recovery of the king, but they have less cause to worry knowing that his throne will be well filled in the event of his death.

If a man stands on the end of a dock with a Winchester rifle in his hands and shoots over the heads of swimmers in a lake just to frighten them or to demonstrate his own ability as a marksman, it is probably an accident if he, unexpectedly flinching or sighted badly, misses his aim and sends a bullet crashing into one of the bathers.

If another man, standing on a dock watching a group in swimming, notices a huge alligator approaching, and fearing for the safety of the swimmers, rushes to his home for a rifle and, returning quickly, fires directly at the alligator, but, through faulty aiming, misses and hits instead a person, that also is an accident.

The difference in these two kinds of accidents lies only in the matter of carelessness. The latter comes under the head of "unavoidable accidents" by which we do not mean that it would not have occurred under any and all circumstances but only that reasonable precaution was exercised so that it might not have been expected to happen. We do not expect a sane man to stop driving an automobile altogether so that he may avoid accidents; we merely expect him to be careful.

The former accident comes under the head of those caused by criminal negligence, too many of which are also called "unavoidable." There was no object to be gained by shooting over the heads of the swimmers. An accident might result. Such amusement should never be indulged in, and yet it is almost every day, sometimes without serious mishap, by the grace of God, and sometimes with disastrous results.

We do not know just how the accident in Lake Mary occurred. There are so many different accounts being repeated. Even eyewitnesses do not agree on all events immediately preceding the accident. At such a time things happen quickly and the excitement of the moment tends to distort what might otherwise be a true account of the happening. In any event it was a serious accident and demands the attention of the community and an investigation by the grand jury.

We have no doubt that the driver of the motor boat is deeply grieved over the whole affair and we hope the public will withhold judgment of him until an investigation has determined the availability of the accident. It is almost impossible to conceive of a grown man deliberately running a speeding motor boat into a group of swimming children except under the most unusual circumstances.

Accidents will happen, of course, as long as people are human, but we seldom hear of one without thinking that a little greater care should be taken in avoiding them.

You Can Make A Living

Lady Astor, in her campaign for re-election to the English parliament, told a group of laborers that one of her sons, if banished to Timbuctoo, would make a fortune. That is some assignment! Timbuctoo, a most unhealthy place, although founded in 1077, has a population of only slightly more than five thousand now. But we have no doubt that Lady Astor's son could do just what she said, as the town is the focal point of the caravan trade of French West Africa and he would probably have a corner on commerce before he had been there thirty days.

So when people come to us and tell us they are leaving town because they cannot make a living, we know that the trouble is with them and not with Sanford. Almost every day it is brought to our attention by some gloom easier that our population is being depleted and that people are out of work, here and must eventually move away. We are perfectly aware that there are lots of people in Sanford who are not working and we presume it is a fact that eventually they will go. But to what?

Where will they go that they can find it easier to make a living? Where will they go, unless to some other Florida city, that they will have to buy no coal or overcoats in winter? Where will they go that they can find rents as cheap as in Sanford? Where is there a place in which one needs as few clothes, where the suits worn in winter can be worn in summer, where the heavy woolen underwear is not needed at all? Where will they find the struggle for existence any easier?

If Lady Astor's son were to come to Sanford today, he would make a living. He would do more than that; he would make a fortune. Can you imagine a man who could make a fortune in Timbuctoo, not being able to make a fortune in Sanford? In Timbuctoo the transit trade amounts to about four million dollars annually. That is practically the only source of revenue the town has. In Sanford the celery crop alone ordinarily aggregates seven million dollars, and there is the revenue from beans, peppers, lettuce, eggplants, and to some extent from tourists, in addition.

Any man who is willing to work and to use the brains God gave him can make a living in Sanford just as well as anywhere else. The fact that the City can't pay the interest on its bonds has nothing whatever to do with the bread and butter the average citizen puts on his table. It may be cause for depression but it is not cause for departure. There are necessary burdens everywhere.

THE FUTURE OF DIRIGIBLES

NEW YORK TIMES

Whatever proves to be the cause of the Graf Zeppelin's engine failure, there is no occasion for forebodings about the future of the lighter-than-air ship. In a day when construction of air liners was experimental the R-31 crossed the Atlantic both ways without misfortune, making fast time on the return trip to England. The Los Angeles made a successful voyage from Friedrichshafen to the United States, and has been in com-mision several years, having traveled all over the United States and visited the West Indies. The Graf Zeppelin had functioned so well that Dr. Nansen expected to use the airship on an ambitious expedition to the Arctic in 1930. It was only the other day that the Graf Zeppelin made a protracted excursion over the Mediterranean and along its shores without a mishap of any kind.

The development of the dirigible assures the use of it for commercial purposes. Inventors have always tried to convince skeptics by judging the ship from the time when installation of motive power was proposed for balloons.
The development has gone on steadily, and since the invention of gasoline engine rapidly. The gas bag is still used but in elongated form and reinforced by a metal inner structure.

The tendency is now to build great air liners. The British diri-

WILLYS COMPANY SEES GOOD DAYS AHEAD OF NATION

Automobile Concern Makes Survey Which Dispells Pessimism

Despite the spectacular decline in the quote values of wheat and other grains this spring, agricultural leaders, bankers and the press in regions of the West and Northwest most vitally affected are confident that business will carry on a high level for the next four to six months and look forward to a continuance of prosperity, according to a survey just completed for the Willys-Overland Company, manufacturers of Willys-Knight and Whippet automobiles.

The confidence in the immediate future of the farmer from Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska, north into Minnesota, Iowa, and the Dakotas, is based principally on three factors: greater diversification of crops; larger profits from record production if hog numbers, cattle, dairy products and poultry; and the fact that a large portion of wheat and other cereal supplies are in the hands of speculative investors, the Willys-Overland survey shows.

Although bankers and newspaper investigators conceded that the slump in wheat will adversely affect buying power in some sections, they declared that it is not the leading factor it has been in the past due to more diversified farming. A leading economist in Chicago, who has been studying the situation, points out for example, that speculative interests hold 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and farmers only about 80,000,000 bushels.

"Prospects are for relatively low wheat prices on this year's crop but this should have no serious effect on farm buying power except in one crop areas of wheat country," he says. "Cheap and abundant corn will be a blessing if livestock prices stay anywhere near present levels and the prospect is they will. There is some improvement in market and farm lands and the general agricultural situation out side of wheat ought to be gone this year. Business prospects are gone for six months at least."

In Kansas and Missouri, the outlook is much better here it appears to uninformed observers, leaders in these states declare. The statistical head of a large chain of important farm papers with headquarters in Kansas City wired the Willys-Overland Company that "Farm implement men are running 25 percent ahead of last year and are predicting that $125,000,000 worth of farm machinery will be sold through here this year. That's a new record. Large wheat combine company here is breaking all records. Largest paint manufacturing company looks for first time in history running over 100,000 bushels every day with earnings 50 percent over last year. Kansas farmers have erected 10,000,000 bushels of wheat storage capacity on farms, last year's crop, placing them in best market position in history."

Carnes Undergoes Examinations For Deciding Health

ATLANTA, June 1—(INS)—Clinton H. Carnes, convicted embezzler Baptist home mission board treasurer, today began his third day of physical examinations by insurance physicians to determine whether he is totally incapacitated by virtue of being in what is described as the last stages of tuberculosis.

Carnes is serving a seven-year sentence in the Milledgeville State Prison.

That these examinations would be made this month and that Carnes was in the last stages of the most virulent form of the dread white plague was pointed out exclusively several weeks ago by International News Service.

On the result of these examinations hangs the lifting of Carnes' $250,000 life insurance. Premiums totalling $11,000 were due this month, which the Carnes' family is said to be unable to pay. It was reported today that Mrs. Carnes and her two sons are in want, but it was learned that immediately following publication of the stories several weeks ago that one of his sons approached an insurance concern with $700 cash to be paid on his father's insurance.

MARQUETTE, NEW BUICK PRODUCT, PUT ON DISPLAY

Car Is In Medium Price Field And Is Offered In 6 Different Types

Buick dealers throughout the country today are displaying the Marquette, a new six, produced and distributed by the Buick Motor Company. This car which is the ninth in the General Motors line, and which will sell in the medium price field, is offered in six models—a two door sedan, rear-door sedan, business coupe, sport coupe, a roadster and touring car.

The Marquette is an exceptionally large car for its price class having a wheel base of 114 inches. Prices on the car range from $900 to $1035.

The six cylinder-head motor and the crank case are cast in one integral unit. The engine has a bore and stroke of 3 1/8" by 4 5/8" and develops 69.8 maximum brake horse power. Buick officials say the Marquette has remarkably quick acceleration and a maximum speed up in the seventies.

All models are designed along low-slung rakish lines. The bodies are built by Fisher and finished in "Dual under-seam construction," that follow the present fashion trends. The radiator which is covered with a metal grille is deep with a narrow chromium plated rim that balances with the chromium plated hub caps. The wheels are sturdy and carry large section 28 x 5.25 balloon tires.

The Marquette has a new non-glass Fisher VV type windshield which sets at an angle of 20 degrees from the perpendicular and reflects all glare, weather from rear, front or sides, below the driver's line of vision.

Other features embodied in the Marquette include large internal expanding Duo-Servo four wheel brakes, and adjustable steering wheel, adjustable driver's seat, built-in bumper mountin and all

The young stars of the picture deal with the ups and downs of a pair of young sweethearts. The boy goes to New York and, when the girl follows him there, she finds that he has been won to the charms of a wealthy society woman. Through this woman's influence, he has made a great success. The girl's efforts to reclaim him are fruitless until, in an exciting incident, another over of the society woman wounds the boy. Then the girl wins.
