SENATOR LONG STILL PURSUES HIS FILIBUSTER

Louisiana "Kingfish" Refuses To Yield Floor For Previously Announced Speech

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Refusing to yield the floor for a previously announced speech on prohibition and preventing an agreement to vote tomorrow on the Philippine veto, Senator Long, Louisiana, today began the fifth day of his Senate filibuster against the Glass banking bill.

Stabilization Urged By Superintendent For School Finances

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Stabilization of school finances was recommended in the biennial report of W. S. Cawthon, state superintendent of public instruction, made public today. The school laws should be amended, the report says, to make state appropriations for aiding counties more certain of payment even if smaller in amount. County school boards should be required in counties and districts, it adds. Cawthon recommended that county school boards be limited to paying only current expenses including teachers salaries with stable funds and that past due school obligations be met from county and district funds obtained by enforced tax levies.

FOUR SOUTHERN STATES CONSIDER SALES TAX PLAN

Various Measures Are Being Considered To Raise Revenues

ATLANTA, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Sales taxes of one kind or another are under consideration in four southern states whose general assemblies are now in session. A fifth commonwealth—Mississippi—already has a levy on retail sales. Georgia is the latest state to pass a sales tax measure in its legislative session. One bill before the assembly now would levy a two percent tax on retail sales. Another measure would provide the way for a constitutional amendment—the voters will permit abolition of ad valorem taxes and allowing the state to collect as high as five percent on sales, if necessary.

CLAMOR FOR INFLATION IS ON INCREASE

Hearings On Various Plans Will Be Held But Present-Term Action Is Unlikely

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—An increasing clamor for currency inflation of some sort as a means of easing the nation's financial situation has opened the doors to legislative consideration, but it is generally conceded that definite action at this session of Congress is highly improbable.

Farmers Are Making Keen Efforts To Keep Property From Being Foreclosed On

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The man behind the plow in the corn belt is making a militant plea to stay there and state officials are listening.

This was the situation yesterday at the hearing of the Senate Banking Committee on the Glass Banking bill. Representatives of three states—Iowa, Nebraska, and Wisconsin—took definite course of action in response to the proposal of farmers against high taxes and auctioning of delinquent farm property which reached the crescendo stage over the week-end.

PAYLESS DAYS FOR STATE'S WORKERS SEEN

Sholtz Says Drastic Cuts Must Be Made If Employees Hope To Receive Salaries

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Governor Sholtz Saturday said the state's general revenue fund from which payrolls are met has a deficit of $1,000,000 for the last six months.

Japan Accuses U.S. Of Aiding China With Arms, Money

MIAMI'S RACING SEASON TO OPEN NEXT THURSDAY

Greatest Turf Meeting Of South Will Have Rich Purses

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 14.—The South's greatest turf meeting—forty-five days of brilliant thoroughbred competition will get under way Thursday, Jan. 15, at Hialeah Park.

America's foremost stables including many which have never before appeared on a southern track have sent close to 1,000 of the finest thoroughbreds in the country to compete in a winter meeting which is outstanding in the South and on a par with the best offered on metropolitan courses of the North and East.

More than $300,000 in stakes and purses, overlapping the offer of any other winter track, make the program an unusually rich one for horsemen. The feature of the opening day will be the Hialeah Inaugural handicap for three-year-olds and upward with $2500 added.

Cities of Florida have been honored in the good races of succeeding days of the meeting which are named for cities of the sunshine state.

In tune with the times and another of the factors which is expected to contribute to the most successful winter meeting of the winter, admission prices to Hialeah Park have been sharply slashed by the Miami Jockey Club.

Grandstand admission has been cut from $2.50 to $1.00 plus tax and clubhouse admission reduced from $5.50 to $4.00 which includes tax.

Special rates have been put into effect by both the Florida East Coast and Seaboard Airline Railways to enable race goers with twenty-four hours travel of Miami to attend the "Opening Day." One-way fare plus twenty-five cents covers the round trip from all points on both railways, the reduced fare going into effect Jan. 15, returning Jan. 21.

Racing Secretary Joseph McLenahan this season has inaugurated the "daily double" a wagering feature which has proved extremely popular on northern and eastern courses. The pattern reflects winners in the first and third races and if successful is rewarded with unusually good odds under the pari-mutuel system of betting authorized by the Florida State Racing Commission.

INDUSTRY SEEN LARGE FACTOR IN AIDING RECOVERY

New Inventions Will Open Ways For Added Employment

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—American industries will contribute most to economic recovery by continuing uninterrupted the development of research, invention and labor-saving devices, to open new employment opportunities and make for new consumers' needs, in the opinion of 150 leaders in fields of research industry, engineering, economic education and finance who replied to an inquiry by Mr. Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors Corporation.

When he sent out his inquiry, he did not have technocracy in thought, he said, but the replies to his query "may well be taken as an answer" to the technocrat's assertion that research and invention, improvement of labor-saving devices are more important today than ever before.

Roger Babson, in his reply declared that "technocracy" created by the "sale" of improved products, increased per dollar value, more scientific distribution—is the quickest and surest way to get men back to work, build up widespread purchasing power, reinvigorate business. Steady research through times of prosperity and recession is a vigorous means of attaining these objectives, he added.

American industries should give serious attention to problems of maintaining standards of quality and value and should prosecute research as formerly, because this nation "is not going to remain forever on a 50 percent basis," Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, said.

Dr. James R. Angell, president of Yale University, declared that "any great industry which in these difficult times succeeds in maintaining its standards of value while improving the quality of its output is undoubtedly assisting in the restoration of courage and confidence and is thus rendering an important public service."

Alfred E. Smith, former Governor of New York state, said that "everything we use has been wearing out, and there is piling up a backlog of demand that must soon be met and be reflected in the manufacturing industry."

Mr. Hager tells the story: "We had been fishing all day and had landed a goodly amount of fish when we decided to troll slowly through a number of kingfish boats which were operating just east of Bear Cut. The Bascataurs, which name means fishermen in the Italian language, was going slowly about five miles per hour.

"Mr. Sharp and I received heavy strikes at the same instant. Both were strikes from heavy, fast fish, for they whizzed the lines off the reels rapidly and bored for bottom. Mine was evidently ineffectively hooked because it got off almost at once. Mr. Sharp's line kept right on going against a heavy drag and all the strength he could exert, and headed for deep water. Mr. Sharp fought the fish for nearly an hour, when he grew tired and turned the reel over to Mr. Faulk. Mr. Faulk played the fish until he was tired and turned the reel back to Mr. Sharp. The fish fought Mr. Sharp to a standstill and I took the rod.

SOME CHICKEN!

No, this is not an appreciative comment on a pretty girl, but a comment on the fact that the packers of canned foods have evolved more forms in which to can this highly esteemed domestic bird—chicken—than any other food product.

In the first place you can get whole cooked chickens in cans all prepared and ready to heat and serve. Then you can get boned or boneless chicken, deviled chicken, chicken salad, chicken chop suey, sandwich chicken, chicken tamales and even a product consisting of pure oat bran in a rich chicken broth with bits of chicken in it, which makes an excellent luncheon dish.

More of the Flock
But this isn't all of the flock of chicken products by any means. Of course the variety of chicken soups is endless. There are chicken broth and chicken consommé and creamed soups with such favors as peas, celery, asparagus, spinach, tomatoes, okra, mushrooms, onions and potatoes. A new discovery known as chicken pepper pot. There are also ready-made chicken entrees, including chicken à la king and chicken curry.

And for chicken à la king you don't need any recipe. Just open all crust from bread slices, fill the chicken à la king in the can, and pour over the toast. Place on lettuce leaves, garnish with parsley, and there you are!

Chicken Prosperity: Grind the contents of a can of boned chicken fine, mix with a thick cream sauce, and let mixture cool. Flour hands and mold. Stand in hot box for an hour or more. Roll in beaten egg and then in fine bread crumbs. Bake one hand for eggs and the other for crabs. Place in frying basket and dip in hot fat. Lift and drain.

From the Old South
A succulence from the old South, where everyone knows they perform miracles with chicken, is this Virginia Chicken Pie made according to old Mammy Jackson's favorite recipe. Here is the way she went about it:

Boil ten whole small white onions and one medium potato cut in small pieces together in salted water. Remove the pieces of potato when cooked, allowing the onions to boil until soft.

Remove the contents from a 6-ounce can of fresh-packed chicken, and, without cutting, arrange pieces in a baking dish with the potatoes, onions and one hard-boiled egg which has been cut in pieces. Sprinkle with parsley. Strain gravy over, and cover with pastry made as follows:

Beat one cup flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt into a bowl. Add four tablespoons shortening and mix thoroughly with finger tips. Add four tablespoons cold water, and mix just enough to hold together. Put on slightly floured board and roll out very lightly and quite thin.

Cover pie, brushing pastry well over edge. Trim and put a strip about an inch wide around rim. Press edge with fork, and prick top well. Bake in hot oven—450—about fifteen minutes.

This recipe will serve from four to six people (only four if they are complete eaters in food), and use complete cost is somewhat less than sixty cents!

Miami Fishing Party Has Thrilling Experience In Landing Allison Tuna

MIAMI, Jan. 14.—When W. I. Sharp, and H. H. Hager, court-house superintendent, went fishing Sunday with their friend Earl Faulk, on the latter's fishing boat Bascataurs, they figured it was to be just another fishing trip. When they returned, however, they found that they had hooked, fought and landed one of the rarest fish that swim these seas and had broken a record in the bargain.

Mr. Hager tells the story: "We had been fishing all day and had landed a goodly amount of fish when we decided to troll slowly through a number of kingfish boats which were operating just east of Bear Cut. The Bascataurs, which name means fishermen in the Italian language, was going slowly about five miles per hour.

"Mr. Sharp and I received heavy strikes at the same instant. Both were strikes from heavy, fast fish, for they whizzed the lines off the reels rapidly and bored for bottom. The fish fought Mr. Sharp to a standstill and I took the rod.

"We did not know what kind of a fish it was, but it never broke water or came to surface. It kept on boring down and, at one time, it had 150 yards of line out and was almost directly underneath the boat. We were all tired of fighting that fish before we got it to the side of the boat and succeeded in gaffing it.

Former Stalwarts Of Imperial Army Threaten To Duel

BERLIN, Jan. 14.—Two elderly German military men, stalwarts during the reign of the Hohenzollerns, threatened to fight a duel Tuesday.

Baron Elard von Oldenburg-Januschau, seventy-seven-year-old friend and adviser of President Paul von Hindenburg, published an open letter in the press hinting that he is ready to fight General Erich Ludendorff, who is sixty-seven. General Ludendorff was Field Marshal of Hindenburg's chief of staff during the Battle of Tannenberg, in 1914, and the Baron commanded an infantry regiment in the war at the age of sixty-three.

The controversy started when General Ludendorff, an East Prussian Junker, writing in his own newspaper, charged that he had seen an East Prussian country estate, which a large number of wealthy Germans presented to President von Hindenburg, the President's acre, so that, in the event of the President's death, his acre would be exempt from paying inheritance tax on it.

The Baron replied that "I am prepared to handle fronts like Ludendorff's only when they can be settled in a manner becoming cavaliers."

Branch Banking

With Senator Long still going strong in the fifth day of his filibuster against the Glass bill, many persons are beginning to wonder what it is all about. It seems that the Glass bill proposes a number of reforms in the banking system of our country, not the least of which is a provision for the facilitation of branch banking, a measure which has particularly interested the citizens of Louisiana since a study of the British and Canadian systems which branch banking has been given the most thorough work-out of any country in the world. The December issue of the magazine contains a study of the British and Canadian systems which branch banking has been given the most thorough work-out of any country in the world. ### Bathing Suits

The Miami Beach police chief has contrasting ideas about when modesty ceases to be modesty in public places, and has placed a ban on too scanty attire, decreeing that heretofore bathers must keep the upper part of their bathing suits up while parading on the streets and sidewalks.

On the beaches, however, it is a different matter, and those wishing to get the full advantage of the sun's rays may strip to the waist in perfect safety, so far as the law is concerned.
