

Hairdo Suggestions For Water Babies

By BETTY CLARKE, AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
You don't have to be a drip at the beach—not if you plan one of the new aquatic hairdos that will keep your hair looking sleek and well-groomed in spite of a high dive or an unexpected wave.

At a recent New York showing of "Hairdos for Water-Babies," a number of specially created aqua-coifs were suggested. Models displayed their seaworthy hairdos in a setting of sandy beach and tropical palm trees.

These new underwater coifs covered many attractive hair styles from the shoulder-length bob to the ear-tip length. Plastic bows and ribbons and other pretty hair decorations worn by the models should be popular for girls who may find that bathing caps don't always keep their hair dry.

You can take a dip in the ocean or pool in one of these tight-to-the-head hair styles reminiscent of the Gibson-Girl era, and still be in the swim for an evening date. These are prided by models who changed from bathing suits to evening dresses without discarding so much as a sheer lace. In the quick-change operation, the plastic ribbons were replaced with taffeta bows, flowers and jeweled clips.

One hairdo was arranged of side rolls and a neck bun. Another was parted in the center from forehead to nape of neck. The two sections of hair then were individually bound with rubber bands, each twisted and pinned into a roll of curls on either side.

If you like braids you can try the back-braid variation. Sweep all the hair to the back of the head and braid down the back, from crown to neckline. Tuck two or three little plastic bows down the back of the braid.

Of course a girl can't jump from water to dance floor if her hair isn't clean. A dirty head of hair will only look worse after it becomes wet and it will take longer to dry. If it has been immersed in salt water, so much the worse.

During the summer months, hair should be washed often. Dry shampoo isn't a good bet if you plan to dunk your head in water. It will cause your hair to become more unmanageable because it may be sticky.

Use a conditioning liquid shampoo that is as effective in salt as in plain water. This will give your hair luster and sheen that will still be apparent after a swim.

Plan to spend a day at the beach, lolling in the sunshine if your hair is wet. This way it should dry within the hour. Then you should be all set for an evening date with a glamor hairdo that can be brushed out and combed back neatly into the same hairstyle.

When exposing your hair to the sun, it is wise to remember that it should be in the sunshine no longer than to dry it. It isn't wise to permit the hair to be baked longer than necessary. Sun shirts heating down on the scalp may ed dry. A scaly scalp may bandanna or other sun cap for protection.

Rural Common Sense

HOMES BETTER, PEOPLE HAPPIER AS RESULT OF VIRGINIA MOORE'S WORK

For nearly a quarter of a century, Virginia P. Moore has been working with rural people of Florida, helping and planning with them to make their lives more comfortable and more complete.

As a result of her work, hundreds of Florida's rural homes are more comfortable and thousands of Florida's rural people are happier than they would have been without her aid. Since 1923 she has been visiting rural homes, talking with families, making observations on their accommodations and surroundings, and emphasizing always the primary importance of making one's abode a home in every sense of the word and not "just a place to live in." And there are folks in communities from Pensacola to Miami Jacksonville who have profited by her efforts and who readily acknowledge their debt of gratitude to her.

She has made hundreds of speeches—if her friendly, conversational, and inspirational little talks can be called speeches—to home demonstration and 4-H club members and to members of other organizations. Those who have heard her have listened eagerly while she told in practical, simple language how a coat of paint would make a house look like new, how a green, well-kept lawn enhanced the surroundings of a home, and reflected the pride and confidence of its owner, how a flower bed took the homemakers' thoughts from house-keeping jobs for a little while, and served as an aesthetic tonic, how running water and electricity in the home would relieve drudgery and help to keep the family well, and how attractive home-made furnishings could make the interior of a home shine.

She has emphasized the comfort and attractiveness of the home and the welfare of its inhabitants. She has carried her ideas of home improvement to individuals as well as groups, and many a rural family recalls with pleasure Miss Moore's visit and the way she talked with them about things that meant so much to them.

Now, after 23 years of capable inspired service to Florida's rural people, Miss Moore is retiring, and the thousands of persons who know her and her work will join workers of the Agricultural Extension Service in expressing to her a fervent "Well done" and in wishing her continued good health and happiness.

Germans Want Music — Not News Reports

BERLIN (AP)—Germans would rather listen to music than news on their radios, a survey by Allied Military Government shows. The sampling of opinion announced by Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, Director of Information Control, disclosed that 65 percent want musical programs. Twenty-five percent prefer news of an interpretative nature. Less than 10 percent want political commentaries.

Byrnes Seeks Decision On Peace Parley

Senator Bridges Hits Russia As Stumbling Block To Establishing Peace

PARIS, June 28 (AP)—An American source said today that Secretary of State James Byrnes has served notice that he intends to seek a decision tomorrow on the calling of a general European peace conference. He served the notice today on the foreign ministers' council meeting in Paris.

Meanwhile, in Moscow, the executive committee of the World Federation of Trade Unions voted to ask the United Nations to declare Generalissimo Franco an outlaw. The committee also urged the recognition of the exile Giral (Giral) group as the real Spanish government. The secretary-treasurer of the CIO, James Carey, attended the Moscow meeting as United States delegate.

And in Washington Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire had some harsh words for Russia. Senator Bridges termed Russia "The great roadblock to the peace of the world. The New Hampshire Republican declared that if the Soviet Union won't move that road block, we'll have to build a road to peace around it."

Bridges spoke before the graduating class at the National Academy of the FBI. He said Russia is trying to turn world opinion in its favor by distorting the truth, but that honest men won't be fooled. He asserted that the Soviet Union is not yet ready to be given the secret of the atom.

The senator went on to say that Russia has tried persistently to compromise American principles. Added Bridges, "In the affairs of man there is a proper place for compromise. But there is no proper place for the compromise of principles of justice and honor."

Another commencement speaker was Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York. He urged the FBI graduates to guard America and themselves against hatreds, greed and bigotry, which he described as the seeds of war.

Last Call Is Made For Tax Payments

The last call was made today for the payment of County taxes assessed on the 1945 tax roll and remaining unpaid. Persons who have purchased real estate during 1946 or 1947 should ascertain if the taxes are paid on their purchases. Jno. D. Jenkins said today, "In some cases it has been found that since the tax assessment was made, property has changed hands several times and none of the owners paid the taxes."

The sale of tax sale certificates for delinquent 1945 county taxes will be held at the Court House on Monday. The first certificate will be sold at 12:00 noon and the sale resumed at 1:00 o'clock.

List of lands advertised for unpaid 1946 taxes appeared in The Sanford Herald on May 31, June 7, 14 and 21.

These delinquent taxes may be paid to the County Tax Collector at any time before the tax sale and in such cases the paid items will be stricken from the sale list.

Mr. Jenkins called attention to the Florida Law which provides that "All owners of property shall be held to know that taxes are due and payable thereon annually, and are hereby charged with the duty of ascertaining the amount of such tax and paying the same before the first of April of each year."

Senate Group Asks Pay Hike For Judges

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved a Labor-Security money bill with an amendment prohibiting recognition of foremen's unions by the National Labor Relations Board. The amendment would prohibit the N.L.R.B. from spending any of its funds in the new fiscal year beginning July 1 on cases involving unions of supervisors employees. The drafter of the amendment, Senator Joseph Ball of Minnesota, says it would have the effect of preventing unionization of foremen during the past year.

Representatives of John Lewis' United Mine Workers will meet in Washington Monday with coal operators for a full discussion of the controversy over unionization of foremen. The coal mines administration, which is operating the government-subsidized soft-coal mines, already is negotiating a contract with the union. It covers 125 supervisory employees of Jones and Laughlin Steel Company mines in western Pennsylvania.

Opposition To Celery Pact Is Heard At Meet

Leffler and Cullum Declare Restricting Shipments Is Harmful To Farmers

Opposition to the celery marketing agreement proposed by the Florida Vegetable Committee in order to control low celery prices at times of heavy shipments through grade size or volume limitations, was yesterday voiced at the Court House by W. A. Leffler, president and M. L. Cullum, sales manager of Chase and Company, and secretary. In the later they repeat in the opinion of 50 growers in the area, government grades on celery were explained by Hugh Flynn, shipper.

Then morning, F. W. Whitehurst, secretary of the Celery Division of the Florida Vegetable Committee and local shippers, clarified terms of the marketing agreement and told of functions of the various committees.

Sam Dugton, as a grower opposing the agreement, addressed President West, president U. S. D. A. official for permission to sell to the stand. During Raoul Novakoski and Palm Beach growers and leaders in opposition to the proposed agreement, Mr. Dugton pointed out that the bill, as presented, would have required that all celery produced in the Bell Glade area had been sold at the Bell Glade market for over a month at least before the average price of 10 cents per pound could be obtained. Mr. Dugton pointed out, "I think the grower's suggestion is that the average price of celery in the Bell Glade area was 20 cents, while many celery farms in the Bell Glade area are of 100 acres or more."

Mr. Leffler in his testimony said that there are two alternate methods of selling celery, shipped in or in the agrees of others than the "average number" of growers, which means quality is not satisfied. Growers have had another reason to buy foreign celery in recent years, he said.

Capone Is Pictured As Rather Nervous

MIAMI, Fla., June 28 (AP)—The family of Al Capone continues to hold out hope that he may be released from prison in Florida. His release is imminent, according to a general statement in view of recent reports that he is going to dominate Chicago gambling.

Doctor Kenneth Phillips—who has attacked Capone since he sent Alcatraz in 1932 to the maximum security section of the federal penitentiary—said the famous underworld figure is still at Miami Beach home and is "nervous and vacillating." The overload of Chicago racketeers has forced him north since the latest part of his former life, Dr. Phillips said. She has not been taking any active part in any business whatsoever. He played a nervous condition remains essentially the same as when he officially reported.

That is the last little knowledge of what is going on around him and is probably unaware of the problems of world peace or any of the current events outside his own little immediate world.

The former gangland leader has been described recently as having the mentality of a child. A source close to him reports that he uses his day downtime with a tennis racket hitting a ball into a net with childlike happiness. Dr. Phillips says Capone makes occasional trips to the drug stores for chewing gum always keeping a bootlegger's cap on his head because according to city officials, caps cannot be deemed in the meantime to safeguard traffic. First Street motorists were given the right of way, and yellow stop signs painted on the French avenue pavement approach.

A hearing to enquire into the cause of the accident was set to be held this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the office of Assistant County Prosecuting Attorney, George A. Deacon. According to Police Chief Roy G. Williams, who investigated the accident, the Chevrolet hit behind the cab of the International Truck, bursting

TRIKE SETTLED

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—The long strike of CIO Mine-unionists against the Phelps Dodge Corporation has been ended. The president of the company, Louis Cates, announced the settlement today.

Cates declared that the terms of the settlement followed the national pattern set in the Anaconda strike settlement—a wage increase of 18 and one-half cents an hour. It applies to the company's Arizona copper mine and to its smelter and refinery at Laurel Hill, N. Y., and El Paso, Tex. The Arizona miners will go back to work Monday. Cates added that the smelter and refinery workers will go back the same day or shortly thereafter.

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—The House of Representatives will begin a comprehensive investigation of wartime profits and losses on Monday. The probe, it was learned, will be conducted by a committee of the House of Representatives.

Passage Of Bill Is Expected By Night; O'Daniel Gives Up His Own Filibuster

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—In a matter of hours at most, the compromise OPA extension bill should be on President Truman's desk, and Administration leaders in the Senate have advised the President to sign it— even though he doesn't like it—as it will be that or nothing.

The House-arranged measure is to be held up temporarily in the Senate by 10 minutes, according to senators who want to link the OPA extension with a separate, controversial measure at night Sunday. Each senator is limited to one hour debate under an agreement obtained by Democratic Leader Alben Barkley at the end of Senator Lee O'Daniel's eight-hour filibuster this morning. The time allotted for debate is running out, so there should be a final vote on the compromise OPA bill shortly. Senate passage of the bill will be followed by a vote on the Senate version of the House OPA bill.

The House of Representatives has cited Corliss Lamont for contempt as a result of his refusal to produce certain papers and records in connection with an investigation of the National Federation of Constitutional Liberties, a communist organization. Representative Thomas of New Jersey says, "Lamont is the most insidious propagandist for the Soviet Union." And the funny thing about it is, Corliss Lamont is a son of Thomas Lamont, one of the oldest partners of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

John L. Lewis has been widely quoted as saying "You cannot mine coal with bayonets." Neither can you milk cows with bayonets, and the government will find it's easier to get the cows of Plymouth, Ohio, where farmers are dumping their milk rather than sell it at O.P.A. prices to milk houses. This may not be the best way of solving the problem of maldistribution, but it serves to drive home the lesson that the country is as dependent upon its farmers as it is upon its miners.

There are two sides to this O.P.A. question, the buyer's side and the seller's side. Higher prices may usually be said to benefit the seller while they hurt the buyer.
Naturally the buyers who live on fixed incomes like salaries and wages don't like high prices.
But on the other hand there is every reason to believe that people who live on the prices they pay for the things they sell do not. These latter include farmers, merchants, professionals, manufacturers, attorneys, a rather substantial portion of the population.

The People's Sayings

Senator Claude Pepper, who since his recent return from Russia has become one of America's most effective propagandists for communism, made out a good case in his letter in The Herald last night for continuation of the O.P.A., but his argument showing that because 40 percent of the nation's families have only 1 percent of the nation's savings, price increases should not be granted, failed to take into consideration certain vital economic considerations. There is every reason for avoiding inflationary price increases, but the distribution of the nation's savings is not one of them.

We submit that there is no known or definite connection between a man's income and his savings. We have all known people who could save more on $2,000 a year than other people on $10,000 a year. We have known spendthrifts and wastrels who had more difficulty making both ends meet on $100 a week than certain hard-working thrifty persons on $40 a week. All of us are acquainted with school teachers, stenographers, clerks, and other low salaried groups who have managed to accumulate substantial savings, while others are apparently never able to save anything out of comparatively large incomes.

We submit too that the majority of the people who have accumulated savings of more than $40 at this time.
There are approximately one hundred million life insurance policy holders in the United States at the present time. Whatever they have invested in those life insurance policies represents savings. Savings accounts in the nation's banks are at an all time high and the number of individual accounts is in excess of 60 million. We do not know offhand the number of persons owning War Bonds and Stamps, but their total must run into the millions.

Add to these those who own their own homes, investments which constitutes one of the best forms of savings, those who own stocks or bonds in large industrial corporations—and there are 150,000 stockholders in General Motors Corporation alone—those who have made investments in real estate, farms, groves, and businesses, and the millions of people who now carry around rolls of cash in their pockets—there is 26 billion dollars of currency in circulation today as compared with 6 billion before the war—and you have a pretty substantial number of people with savings.

Of course, there are those who have spent their money recklessly as fast as they got it. There always have been prodigals and there always will be. Liquor sales in the United States, despite grain shortages, are at their all time peak. The state of Florida has grown rich off its liquor taxes and the proceeds from racetrack gambling.
Not only in Florida but everywhere in the nation betting at horse and dog tracks, bologna gambling, night club patronage and extravagant living of all kinds exceed even the lavish spending which followed the last war. There are always those who will pay $10 for a necktie and any price at all for a pair of silk stockings.

But even if the O.P.A. is killed, as Senator Pepper fears, it does not necessarily follow that there will be less money to spend on gambling, liquor and night clubs.
Unfortunately, what will be one group's loss will be another group's gain. And by the exact amount which those who live on salaries, wages and fixed incomes are hurt by higher prices, those who like farmers live on the income they receive from the prices they get for the things they sell, will have just that much more to save, or to spend on riotous living as their personal inclination leads them.

Whether the farmer will benefit from his higher prices will depend, as it does with the laborer and his higher wage, upon what he does with it.

A Wandering Book

Stories of long-lost and finally reunited relatives always make good reading. They have not the only instances of separation that have come to an end. In 1600 Richard Hakluyt, an English geographer, finished the third and last volume of his great collection of the world's most important travels. Queen Elizabeth was not the least appreciative of his readers.

George Agents, a New Yorker, delighted in buying books illustrating the history of tobacco. As such he bought Hakluyt's "Voyages", being lucky enough to get Queen Elizabeth's own copy, but unfortunately only the first two volumes. Finally he gave his collection to the New York Public Library, which now reports that after many years it has been able to get the missing third volume of the Queen's set. How did it ever get separated, and where has it been all these years?

Books could tell interesting stories if they had tongues.

Holmes Melton, newly named assistant State Adjutant of the American Legion, will leave July 4 for Indianapolis, Ind., where he will attend a two weeks course at national Legion headquarters.
This will consist of 90 hours of class work and 10 hours of recreation work. National Commander John Stelle is scheduled to address the group.

Dade County has found out that it pays to streamline its board trustees. The three man board recently met and more than 100 teacher vacancies in the 10 former districts were appointed. That would have taken 18 meetings and weeks of work under the old system, said School Supt. James T.
Wilson. E. L. Allsworth is chairman of the board which includes W. R. Bird and H. O. Lasseter.
All were elected last Fall for two year terms.

Residents of Key West are warned by Charles A. Lange, state game warden to keep out of the Botanical Gardens for the present, or approach with due caution as there is a one eyed female alligator there, protecting about 60 to 90 eggs. Mr. Lange reported that he would have been in a bad way if he had not carried a stick to apply to the gator's pose. It is even reported the gator will not even allow University of Florida football players to approach the grounds that it does not want to become a valuable football trophy.

Infantile paralysis claimed the lives of two persons at the Naval Hospital at Key West during the past week. They were Lieut.
Comdr. Charles B. Wright, 32 and Pfc. Dean Payne, 19. Mrs. Wright is in the Navy polo ward, suffering from the same disease.

Number one need of Volusia according to the County Judge's office. A local bill which would provide for such an officer (properly compensated) will be probably introduced at the next session of the Legislature. Work of such an officer is not that of apprehending delinquents only but of contacting homes and preventing the juveniles becoming problems of the courts.

Calling inflation the country's Number One domestic problem, W. W. McElheran, Chairman of the Treasury's Savings Bond Advisory Committee for Florida, in commenting on the peacetime program for the continuing sale of government securities said: "I can't too strongly stress the importance of Savings Bonds as sound investments; for there was never a time when national interest as well as individual welfare called more imperatively for spending restraint on the part of the people. The amount of money in circulation is now more than three times the total at the end of 1940; demand deposits in banks have soared from about 35 billion dollars to 75 billion dollars during the same period, and time deposits have risen from 28 billion to 50 billion. The Treasury is now conducting a campaign to inform the public of the urgency for investing in Savings Bonds back their future. If the public will put more of its cash reserves in bonds, the danger of inflation will be sensibly diminished, provided of course new sales are not offset by redemptions of bonds previously purchased, and that is why it is so important to buy bonds 'for keeps.'

The legal debt limit of the has been reduced from $300 billion to $275 billion dollars by mean the debt itself has been In Budapest its cost 100 trillion you some idea of the effects of inflation. We have not reached that point in this country yet,

Recent wage increases granted railroad men will cost the Atlantic ployees". Leaving one to wonder whether wage boosts, as they are

Babies Have Summer Burning Problems

By Betty Clark
If you are planning to come out in the sun, be sure to plan his exposure intelligently. Mothers who are fond of the sun themselves and who stretch out to get as broiled as lobsters shouldn't expect their little tykes to take the same sort of punishment.

Baby's skin is tender and sensitive, and if Mother is too wise as well as considerate, she'll plan gradual sun bathing schedules for herself, baby and the older children too.

Mrs. F. E. Bolz Is Hostess To Circle

Circle No. One of the First Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. F. E. Bolt, 1101 Park Avenue, on Monday afternoon. Mrs. A. L. Thomas led the devotional which was followed by a prayer by Mrs. Joss Phillips.

Mrs. Bolt took personal service records and Mrs. H. E. Thomas gave a report on stewardship.

Mrs. M. N. Cleveland presented the last chapter in the Bible Study, "What Baptists Believe."

The meeting was closed with a prayer after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those attending were Mrs. R. T. Thomas, Mrs. A. L. Thomas, Mrs. L. H. Harvey, Mrs. J. Phillips, Mrs. M. N. Cleveland, Mrs. E. Turner, Mrs. G. Hasty, Mrs. Carl Moore, Mrs. Sam Gardner, Miss Gladys Hasty and Mrs. Bolt.

Both Mom and baby can use a bland baby lotion to help protect delicate skin and ease against wind burn. The nice thing about baby lotion and baby oils is that Mom has found they are a boon to a smooth, even tan for herself.

The baby oil lubricant which helps safeguard tender skin from chafing and chapping is equally effective in aiding older sun bathers to get a good tan without burning or peeling.

When sunning baby, never put him out in the noonday sun. If Mom must take her sunbath early, she'd better leave baby with a sitter while she's basking. The best time for a sun bath for baby, and the younger set-in the morning before the sun's rays are too bright or in the late afternoon.

Always protect baby's eyes even if the sunlight isn't strong. You can place his head in the shade while his body is being sunned or you can place an umbrella above his head to throw a shadow.

MR. T. D. TEAFORD

Prompted to try Retonga because so many other railroad men are crediting it with bringing them long-sought relief, Mr. T. D. Teaford of 8005 Klondyke St., Tampa, Fla., gratefully states:

"I felt so completely worn out it took all the strength I could muster to walk even one block. I had no appetite. I forced food down but everything I ate seemed to sour in my stomach in short order and I suffered terribly from stomach gas. I got little sleep and I had to start the day feeling tired out. Constipation was so bad I had to keep taking strong laxatives, and I seemed to stay full of toxic poisons. I tried lots of medicines but nothing seemed to reach my case."

"Thanks to the relief Retonga brought me I now relish every bite, and eat more in one meal than I did in three. I sleep soundly. I feel more like my old time self than in years. Retonga is grand medicine!"

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. There is only one Retonga; accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at TOUCHTON'S DRUG STORE, Sanford, Fla.
