Chrysler recalls 1,500 workers

NEWARK, Del. — The Chrysler Corp. said Thursday that 1,500 laid-off employees will be called back to work at its local assembly plant next week.

The recall marks the start of the second shift of production of Chrysler's new mid-sized, four-door sedans, Dodge Spirit and Plymouth Acclaim, Monday.

Report: No POWs still alive

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration reporting on eight years of effort to resolve the issue of Americans missing in action in Southeast Asia, concluded Thursday there is no evidence any American prisoners of war are still alive.

The inter-agency report noted that governments in the region have increased their cooperation on the POW-MIA issue and noted a total of 200 sets of remains of American servicemen have been turned over to U.S. authorities since the Paris peace treaty was signed in 1973 calling for the withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam. Saigon fell in April 1975 to communist troops from North Vietnam.

The report said 2,383 Americans are still listed as missing — the majority lost in Vietnam combat zones and many in plane crashes at sea.

Bush takes oath of office

WASHINGTON — In a 200-year-old ceremony marking the peaceful transfer of power, George Bush was ready to become the nation's 41st president Friday, using his moment of glory to call on Americans to help one another and convince Americans he can effectively reach out to the disadvantaged.

The highlight of five days of inaugural celebrations, and the pinnacle of Bush's career, were to take place on the majestic West Front of the Capitol where Bush was to be sworn in and become the first sitting vice president in 152 years to reach the Oval Office through an election.

Montana may have the edge

MIAMI — When Joe Montana played in his first Super Bowl seven years ago, he was the young star against the established veteran.

Montana's 49ers won 26-21. Although Cincinnati's Kenny Anderson had a better passing day, Montana was voted Super Bowl XVI's Most Valuable Player.

In Super Bowl XIX, it was established star Montana against Miami's hotshot young passer Dan Marino. The game was no contest. Montana cut through the Dolphins' defense for 331 yards and three touchdowns in a 38-16 triumph and again won the MVP trophy.

SANFORD — Contractor and developer A K Shoemaker Jr. was honored last night by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce as a man who has made an extraordinary effort to make the city a better place.

Shoemaker, 58, was presented the chamber's highest award, the John S. Kinder Topper Award, during the annual Installation Banquet at the Civic Center.

The banquet is the formal event during which chamber officers pass the gavel to new leaders.

Jack Greene received the Past Presidents Award as he turned the chamber presidency over to Jim Tesar. Central Florida Regional Hospital administrator Greene is a partner in Greene Davis Certified Public Accountants.

Vice president Karen Coleman, the spokesperson for Seminole County schools, treasurer Jim Young, a First Union National Bank executive, as well as new directors, all were installed at the banquet.

Shoemaker, a lifelong resident of Sanford, said he was surprised and gratified to receive the award. He also received a kiss from his wife Sophie.

Mack Cleveland Jr., retired manager of the Sanford Regional Airport, presented the award.

Parents want school board to look into zone violations

By CAROL J. RUMSEY
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — How many parents falsify their addresses so their children can attend schools they do not suppose to attend?

This is the question asked by a group of Seminole High School parents. The issue comes to light now because of the Seminole County School Board's effort to set new attendance zones for its middle and high schools.

We just don't know the numbers, Judy Williams, parent and member of a county-wide rezoning committee, said. Without real numbers, all our efforts to zone are worthless.

A work session will be held before the board votes on new attendance zones. The out-of-zone issue, along with plans for rezoning, will be discussed at this time. It is scheduled for Feb. 1, 7:30 p.m., at Oviedo High School and not at Lake Howell High as previously planned.

The Seminole parents will request the board to begin an immediate review of Greenwood Lakes, Sanford and Lakeview Middle schools. In addition to Lake Mary High and Seminole High. They say students wrongfully attending these schools are creating enrollment problems to crop up at Seminole.

Maybe there is no problem at all, Williams said. But we have heard that up to 75 to 100 students should be attending out of school that are not. We just need to know if the rezoning is to mean anything.

The board will be asked to create new policies to ensure future students' attendance at the appropriate schools, and to strictly enforce those policies. Current rules call for an immediate transfer of any student found lying about his address.

Parents wishing to pursue out-of-zone attendance can do so through a Special Appeals Board, which has set up narrow guidelines for the requests. All reported suspensions of violation. See Parents, Page 5A

Commissioners to review proposals from search firms for city manager

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — CITY COMMISSIONERS announced last night that they will review proposals from six executive search firms to help them find a qualified city manager.

At a special meeting at 7 p.m. next Thursday, the commissioners will hear their 10-minute proposals. The city hopes to find a manager within the next 60 to 90 days.

A maximum of 40 percent of the city manager's salary, agreed upon by the commission, will be paid to the search firms, according to Mayor Dick Ess. Commissioners voted 4-1 on Jan. 12 to hike the manager's salary by $4,000 so it falls within a range of $40,000 to $50,000.

We ought to charge them with the responsibility of what they do for a living — find the best candidate. If we don't hire the candidate they give us, we don't pay them a dime, Commissioner Thomas Mahoney said.

One stipulation the commissioners set is that the firms must submit any of the 40 candidates who had previously applied.

Seven firms were originally contacted by the city. See Search, Page 5A

Murder suspect still in critical condition

By SUSAN LODEN

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Joey Olson, 28, the man police suspect stabbed his parents to death, remained in critical condition today under police guard in an Orlando hospital where he is recovering from a shotgun wound to his abdomen.

He was shot by police Thursday morning when he brandished a gun against Altamonte Springs police who captured him.

Police spokesman Jeff Hawkins said charges are pending against Olson in connection with the stabbing deaths of his mother Pauline, 56, and his father, Jim, 60. The couple was found slau in their home at 613 Birch Blvd. at about 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Today Olson was charged with aggravated assault stemming from his confrontation with police Thursday.

Police have not established a motive for the double homicide. But Hawkins said witnesses who talked with Olson before his capture early Thursday said he told them crack cocaine was the cause of his troubles.

Within minutes of the shooting of Olson, police recovered his mother's car on Markham Woods Road a couple of blocks from the shooting scene. It was missing from her home along with Olson.

Until they found the car and examined its contents, Hawkins said, police had not named. See Olson, Page 5A

CANSEL BERRY — David Lamar Wright, a 19-year-old assailant, has been charged with murder in the stabbing death Thursday of a convenience store clerk who had been working in the store's snack department.

Wright, 19, was arrested Thursday morning by police officers who were patrolling the area.

The victim, 26-year-old Michael Wright, was shot in the chest at the store, which had been closed for the night. Wright was taken to the hospital where he died.

Wright was a clerk in the snack department of the store. He was shot in the chest at the store, which had been closed for the night.

At the scene, a telephone call from a Seminole County sheriff's dispatcher had been made to the police station to report a stabbing. Wright, who was shot in the chest, was taken to the hospital where he died.

The hearing was postponed until Feb. 10 at the Circuit Court in Lake County, where Wright is being held before continuing with the hearing. Wright's attorney, who has a retainer of $2,000, said Wright was not a violent person.

Wright was a clerk in the snack department of the store. He was shot in the chest at the store, which had been closed for the night.

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Navy pilots run into trouble

MILTON — Two Navy pilots walked away from an emergency landing after their training plane developed engine trouble about 40 miles from their base, officials said Thursday.

The two Navy fliers, identified as Lt. Brian Groenhout and Lt. Gary Little, landed their T-34 training plane in a farmer's field about 12 miles west of Andalusia, Ala.

The plane was based at Whiting Field, a Navy facility north of Milton that offers both basic flight training and helicopter training. It developed engine trouble about 40 miles north-northeast of Whiting.

Both pilots were treated and released after receiving what Navy officials described as "very minor" injuries.

Senators urge relief for Miami refugees

WASHINGTON — Florida Sens. Bob Graham and Connie Mack met with Justice Department officials Thursday to urge the federal government to ease Miami's refugee burden and provide temporary work permits to Nicaraguan immigrants.

In the last six days, more than 600 refugees have surged into Miami by bus from the south Texas border after a federal judge lifted a ban on travel for political asylum applicants.

Since last summer, as many as 300 refugees a week have moved to Miami, many of them living in Bobby Maduro Miami Stadium in the weeks before the Baltimore Orioles baseball team begins spring training.

Mack said the senators' meeting with Assistant Attorneys General Tom Boyd and Henry Barr was to "make sure our feelings were conveyed on the need for some relief and assistance for Miami and Dade County."

Graham said they want the federal government to recognize the bureaucratic logjam refugees face at Immigration and Naturalization Service offices and understand that "large numbers of Nicaraguans are without work permits, unable to support themselves or their families."

The lawmakers urged the Justice Department to grant Extended Voluntary Departure status to as many Nicaraguan refugees as possible. Known as EVD status, it would permit refugees to work, but does not allow them to receive welfare or food stamps.

Scientists study turtle tumors

GAINESVILLE — Veterinarians at the University of Florida are trying to find the cause of mysterious tumors that threaten the survival of green sea turtles in Florida and the Hawaiian islands.

"The incidence of the tumors has greatly increased during the past seven years," said Dr. Elliott Jacobson, wildlife specialist at UF's College of Veterinary Medicine. "The best information we have so far suggests they're caused by a virus, and at the moment, we're seeking to isolate a virus from the tissues of affected turtles."

Jacobson said the tumor epidemic is a particular threat to the already endangered green sea turtle.

"The tumors have been spotted on about half the green sea turtles found along the Indian River lagoon system (a 100-mile-long stretch along the Intracoastal Waterway on Florida's West coast) where they have been studied extensively," he said.

In the Hawaiian Islands, marine biologist George Balazs of the National Marine Fisheries Service, has reported about 50 percent of the sea turtles are affected.

The tumors, referred to as green turtle fibropapilloma, develop over the turtle's soft body tissue and its shell, often appearing on and around their eyes. Jacobson, who also found tumors on the kidneys of one sea turtle, said the eye tumors pose an immediate threat "because they can obscure the reptile's vision and hinder its ability to find food, thus leaving the turtle susceptible to starvation."

Ferry to ease commuting problem

GULF BREEZE — Commuters forced to drive a lengthy detour or take passengers-only boats after a bridge was knocked out of service will have another option next week, officials said Thursday.

A 200-foot, vehicle-carrying ferry is expected to begin runs between Gulf Breeze and Pensacola Monday. Tentative plans call for buses and vehicles with the most passengers to have priority.

The ferry was called in to ease the commuter crunch caused Saturday when an empty barge knocked a support from the 3-mile Pensacola Bay Bridge that links suburban Gulf Breeze with Pensacola.

What was a 5-minute drive over the bridge now takes up to 90 minutes on a detour around the area bay system. Limited traffic might be allowed in three weeks, but permanent repairs could take up to six months.

Edward von Bergen, a representative of Mobile Bay Ferry, said the ferry arrived in town Wednesday from Dauphin Island, Ala. He said plans are to operate the vessel 24 hours a day.

The ship can carry six buses, four tractor-trailer rigs or 45 cars. But Gulf Breeze officials Thursday were still trying to decide what will and will not be allowed on board.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Bundy to meet Utah lawmen

United Press International

SALT LAKE CITY — Serial killer Ted Bundy, facing Florida's electric chair next week for the murder of a 12-year-old girl, agreed Thursday to meet with Salt Lake County sheriff's detectives investigating the slayings of four Utah women, officials said.

"Bundy has agreed to meet with our detectives at noon Sunday for two hours," said sheriff's spokesman Merv Quirin.

The former University of Utah Law School student had told Florida State Prison officials Wednesday he did not want to meet with the Utah detectives.

But, the next day, Quirin said, "Bundy's attorneys told our detectives he has agreed to the two-hour meeting" in the prison near Starke, Fla. "I'm sure he'll also have his attorneys present."

The reason for the change of mind "hasn't been released to the sheriff up here," Quirin said.

A circuit court judge refused Thursday to halt the execution scheduled for Tuesday, but the Florida Supreme Court has agreed to hear the appeal today.

Earlier this week, Bundy offered to talk about unsolved killings if the execution was delayed, but Gov. Bob Martinez refused, calling the offer "despicable."

"I think the governor of Florida made it very clear" that Bundy would not be granted a stay of execution to discuss any role he may have had in dozens of other murders or disappearances, Salt Lake County Sheriff Pete Hayward said Thursday. "We, under no circumstances, have conceded any type of negotiations with the governor or are supporting any kind of stay."

Bundy, 42, is suspected in as many as three dozen deaths and disappearances of young women in Colorado, Washington and Utah. He was sentenced to die for the 1978 slaying of Kimberly Leach, 12, Lake City, Fla. He has also been sentenced to die for the bludgeoning deaths of two Chi Omega sorority sisters at Florida State University.

Court rules in murder convictions

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — The state Supreme Court Thursday threw out the conviction of John Edwards, who had been sentenced to death for killing a Sarasota County man in return for sex with the victim's wife.

The court also struck down the death sentence given Broward County killer Arthur Lynn Schafer and rejected an appeal from Tampa murderer Timothy Hudson, who also was sentenced to die.

Edwards was sentenced to death for the April 1987 murder of Ireland Boyd, a neighbor. According to court records, Boyd's wife Mary Boyd asked Edwards to kill her husband because he was a heavy drinker who sexually abused her and beat her and their children.

Boyd had been drinking heavily on the night of his death and tried to get Edwards to go out for more drinks. Several hours after Boyd left, Mary Boyd testified that Edwards came to her home and told her Boyd would not bother her any more.

Edwards told Mary Boyd it was time to pay her part of the bargain and the two had sex. Boyd's body was found the next day. He had died from a blow or blows to the head.

In his appeal, Edwards claimed that the trial judge should not have accepted testimony from a witness who claimed to have seen Edwards and Boyd together just before Boyd's death.

The court accepted that testimony even though the witness said he had had only a brief glimpse of Edwards.

The witness had earlier failed to pick Edwards out of a police line-up and had since seen Edwards' picture in newspaper accounts of the story.

Lawyer says shooting justified

United Press International

MIAMI — The Hispanic policeman who shot and killed an unarmed black motorcyclist Monday, triggering a wave of racial violence in three black neighborhoods, drew his weapon and fired in self defense, his lawyer said Thursday.

Defense lawyer Roy E. Black said shooting victim Clement Lloyd was driving toward officer William Lozano on his motorcycle at the time Lloyd was shot.

"It (the motorcycle) was heading toward him and he used justifiable self defense to protect his own life," Black said. "He had the right to use deadly force to prevent himself from being run over."

Police have not released a detailed account of the events leading up to the shooting, and so far Lozano has refused to give a statement to detectives investigating the incident.

"It doesn't take much to see that he is being set up as the scapegoat here," Black said. "He doesn't want to be the scapegoat to save Miami's civic pride and the success of the Super Bowl."

Lloyd, 23, and a passenger, Allan Blanchard, 24, were being chased Monday by another police officer for speeding when they approached Lozano, who was taking a police report from a crime victim, police said.

Lozano drew his 9mm semiautomatic pistol and fired once, striking Lloyd in the head and killing him instantly. The motorcycle collided with an oncoming car. Blanchard was critically injured in the crash and died Tuesday.

The shooting of Lloyd, which is being investigated by police, state prosecutors, the FBI and an independent review board created by the city, sparked rioting in Miami's Overtown area Monday. The violence spread Tuesday to two other black neighborhoods, but subsided Wednesday.

The rioting marred Miami's week-long celebration of Super Bowl XXIII, to be played Sunday at Joe Robbie Stadium.

Black refused to provide a detailed accounting of the shooting, or to comment on Lozano's state of mind. He noted, however, Lozano's wife and two brothers also are Miami police officers and said his client "has been a dedicated, career police officer."

Black blamed local officials and the media for creating a climate that fed anger in the black community and may lead to the prosecution of Lozano.

The public "got a one-sided story that somehow once again it is police brutality — shooting people without any reason whatsoever — and I think that is what is causing the problems," Black said.

"I think they are going to look for a scapegoat to save our civic pride and the Super Bowl and unfortunately officer Lozano is the only one who they can use." "It has happened before, it is going to happen again. ... It is better to charge the police officer," Black said.

Riots erupted in Miami in 1980, 1982 and 1984 — triggered in each case by allegations of police brutality against blacks.

In 1982, Overtown residents rioted after a Hispanic police officer shot and killed a black man. Riots erupted again in 1984 when the officer was acquitted.

"If the media had reported that this twice-convicted drug dealer who says he doesn't care about police, who thumbs his nose at them, as they say, I think that would help explain why he was trying to run over a police officer, rather than making it sound like this is somebody out for a drive in the country, looking at real estate."

Officials offer site for new state prison

United Press International

DeFUNIAC SPRINGS — A group responsible for attracting business to Walton County revealed four possible state prison sites after a commissioner said he thought enthusiasm over an economic boon would overcome any objections.

The Council of 36, which will show the sites to a panel of state legislators next month, wants the state to put a 700-bed, $10.1 million prison in Walton County. It could create up to 300 jobs.

Federal prison officials are considering locating a prison on land owned by Sanford southeast of the city and residents of nearby Geneva have strongly objected to the proposal.

The Walton County group has proposed three 80-acre sites all north of the DeFuniac Springs city limits and a 110-acre plot near the Walton County Vocational Technical Center.

Member J.W. Adkison said there are two other sites that could be suggested.

Jack Huggins, vice president of the Council of 36, told commissioners at a special meeting Wednesday that he wanted to wait until the state decided on a site before announcing the location.

He said that if the sites are revealed, opposition could arise and the state may choose to put the prison elsewhere.

Ultralites collide; one pilot killed

United Press International

HOLT — One man was killed and another slightly injured when two ultralight aircraft flying in darkness collided in mid-air and plunged to a cow pasture, authorities said Thursday.

"Apparently they were doing some night flying," said Okaloosa County Undersheriff Jerry Alford. "It's my understanding that they had some type of lights."

Alford said the dead man was identified as Brian Lewis, 29, of Holt. The injured man was identified as Dennis Allen Young, 35, of Fort Walton Beach, who is stationed at Eglin Air Force Base.

Young, who received a cut above his eye, and Lewis apparently knew each other. Young, a captain assigned to the 4443rd Test and Evaluation Group at Eglin, is not a rated pilot but flew ultralights as a hobby, an Air Force spokesman said.

Alford said the accident happened around 8 p.m. CST Wednesday just south of U.S. 90 near Holt. Cause of the collision was not immediately known, but a witness said one craft was flying east at 500 feet and the other north when the collision occurred.

Cindy Tashik, who lives near where the craft went down, told the Northwest Florida Daily News one craft had a strobe light and the other a flashlight. But Alford said Young said they both had strobe lights.

POLICE BRIEFS

Armed man robs school cafeteria

WINTER PARK — Seminole County sheriff's deputies are searching for a man who brandished a handgun and robbed the cafeteria at Eastbrook Elementary School at about 1 p.m. Thursday.

The gunman, who confronted a cashier and demanded and got about $250 was wearing a ski mask and a hooded sweat suit, deputies said. After getting the cash he fled to a waiting getaway car driven by another man. They fled north from the school, which is located at 5525 Tangerine Ave., rural Winter Park. Witnesses described the getaway car as a mid-1970s Lincoln Continental, with no license tag.

Pair robs jewelry store in Altamonte Mall

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Police are searching for two men armed with semi-automatic pistols who robbed the Bailey Banks & Biddle store at the Altamonte Mall, State Road 438 at about 11:25 a.m. Wednesday.

The robbers stole about $250,000 in jewelry, mostly diamonds and watches, police spokesman Jeff Hawkins said. The robbers posed as customers before they pulled handguns from their shopping bags and demanding the contents from display cases, Hawkins said. They fled with the goods.

Both suspects are white. One is between 25 and 29 years old. He is about 6-foot tall and weighs about 190 pounds. He is blond. The other suspect is 29 to 34 years old, about 5-foot, 7-inches tall and weighs about 150 pounds. He has brown hair.

Man in wheelchair may have had gun

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Police, who found a wheelchair-bound man lying on the ground after he allegedly brandished a handgun against security personnel at the Holiday Inn, reported finding a handgun beside the man's left arm.

Ronald Lee Belcher, 35, of 385 S. North Lake Blvd., Altamonte Springs, who police said appeared to be under the influence of alcohol, was charged with possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, after police through a records check confirmed that he has a criminal record. Bond is $2,000.

Two jailed on narcotics charges

SANFORD — In separate cases, Sanford police report the Thursday arrests of two men on narcotics charges.

Theophylus Willie Williams, 28, of 12 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, was arrested on 11th Street after he allegedly sold crack cocaine to undercover police at about 4:30 p.m. He is charged with sale and delivery and possession of cocaine. Bond is $2,000.

SHA schedules grievance hearing

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

The Sanford Housing Authority last night scheduled a grievance hearing for former executive director Elliot Smith.

The commissioners agreed to hold the hearing Feb. 20 at 7 p.m. At a special meeting Jan. 3, the authority responded to a request from Smith's attorney to schedule the hearing to discuss the authority's Sept. 8 termination of Smith.

In other business: The authority voted to place additional lighting in dark areas of projects where heavy drug activity is suspected.

The commissioners voted to install 100 additional lights in five housing projects. Interim Executive Director Linda Williams recommended only 35 lights "in the interest of prudence."

Williams told board members that lights were needed in William Clark Court, Edward Higgins Terrace, Cowan-Moughton Terrace, Lake Monroe Terrace and Castle Brewer Court. Lighting is needed in dark areas where children and adults may stand around, such as playgrounds.

After some debate, the board voted 4 to 1 to adopt a resolution authorizing legal counsel representation for commissioners in any litigation over authority-related matters. Bruce Scott of Central Florida Legal Services advised the board to postpone voting on the resolution until its wording is made more specific. As written, the authority could be required to provide use of U.S. Housing and Urban Development funds for legal representation of commissioners not acting in "good faith."

Commissioner Bob Ball Jr. argued that the resolution was not intended to cover individuals not acting in official capacity.

"I've always been behind you, Scott, but this time you're nit-picking," he said.

At the Jan. 3 meeting, Ball asked authority attorney James Sweeting III if commissioners were entitled to individual legal representation. In light of litigations pending against the authority, the commissioners drew up the resolution.

The commissioners passed the resolution on the provision that its wording will be made more detailed. Board chairman Alexander Wynn cast the only vote against the resolution.

The commissioners denied a request by D.B. Young and Associates for an additional $2,000 above the contracted amount for contracting work. Because of difficulties with a roofing project at Redding Gardens, D.B. Young was not able to complete the work in the allotted time.

The commissioners recommended that damage to software by a computer salesman should be assessed. Commissioners want the salesman who erased all authority software while demonstrating his products to pay for damage done to the computer system.

Williams agreed to assess the damage and report to the commissioners.

The commissioners scheduled a Feb. 2 work session on a proposal to seek a management firm to assume executive director duties.

U.S. companies can resume Libyan business

United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, in his last full day in office and just 15 days after American jets shot down two Libyan jets, eased sanctions against Moammar Gadhafi's government, Thursday, telling American oil companies they may resume operations in Libya.

Officials at the State Department and the White House said the Reagan administration's modification of its 1986 economic sanctions against the Libyan government were meant to deprive the Libyans of a financial windfall while allowing U.S. oil companies to protect their investments in Libya.

The oil companies involved are: Conoco, Marathon, Amerada Hess, Occidental and W.R. Grace.

Under an existing order, that would have expired June 30, the U.S. oil companies were at a standstill — unable to pump oil or sell it. The Libyan government took over oil field operations.

The fire that wouldn't die

Salvage workers were removing air conditioning equipment with a torch from an old roadside produce stand on State Road 46 at Kennel Road Thursday when the insulation caught on fire. Workers put the fire out, but it rekindled several times. They called the Sanford Fire Department and the Seminole County Fire Department to put out the fire. Above, Sanford fireman Max Buffkin applies the finishing touches to the structure fire.

Twins delivered 12 days apart

United Press International

SAN ANTONIO — Premature twins were successfully delivered 12 days apart in a procedure so rare doctors at Humana Women's Hospital think it could be a first in North America, doctors said Thursday.

Doctors said the success of the deliveries could mean a better chance of survival for other premature twins.

After her water burst during premature labor, Norma Landez gave birth Jan. 5 to son Aaron Jacob, who was more than two months early. The infant weighed a mere 2 pounds 6 ounces, and had to be placed immediately on a respirator.

But in a procedure so rare that no major medical journal had any report of its ever being done intentionally in North America, Landez's physician used surgery and medication to prevent for 12 days the birth of the second boy, Joshua David, who still was protected in the womb in an intact, fluid-filled membrane despite the delivery of his twin brother.

The delay allowed the second baby to develop more fully before delivery.

"To have one baby and still be pregnant, that sounds like a (National Enquirer headline)," Landez, a chemist at Kelly Air Force Base, joked in her hospital room Thursday prior to a news conference on the technique.

Her husband, Christopher Landez, is an architectural intern.

Mrs. Landez was in especially good spirits because Joshua was born healthy Tuesday, weighing 3 pounds 7 ounces, nearly a pound more than his twin brother.

Shultz leaves with tearful eyes

United Press International

WASHINGTON — After 6 1/2 years, a million miles in the air and three resignation letters, George Shultz walked out of the State Department for the last time Thursday with tears in his eyes and an arm around his beloved wife.

Shultz — who was awarded the Freedom Medal, the nation's highest civilian decoration earlier in the day by President Reagan — was applauded by some 1,000 State Department employees, some of them weeping openly.

He walked down the marble stairs with his arm around his wife, Obie. Shultz appeared unable to speak for several minutes as his eyes filled with tears. Applause echoed through the huge lobby and a small Marine band played the Marine Hymn.

Finally, Shultz, his arm still around his wife, said, "We came as a package deal and we leave as a package."

He said, "There's a wonderful group of people here — able, energetic, hard-working and patriotic. You just knocked yourself out."

His voice breaking slightly Shultz concluded, "We thank you very much."

As Shultz walked through the crowd to the glass doors, he embraced several women whose faces were covered with tears and turned and waved one last time as he climbed into his black limousine. The Marine band broke into "California, Here I Come."

As employees returned to their offices, the building's speaker system broadcast the sound of a tolling bell.

Shultz and his wife are scheduled to take a commercial flight to California on Friday, where he will take a faculty position at Stanford University and become a senior fellow of the Hoover Institute at Palo Alto.

His successor, James Baker, who was recommended for confirmation by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday by a unanimous vote, cannot be sworn in until the full Senate confirms him, most likely on Jan. 25. Meanwhile, Undersecretary of State for Political Affairs Michael Armacost is acting secretary of state.

Shultz was named secretary of state in July 1982, ending a tumultuous 18 months of Alexander Haig's tenure as America's chief diplomat. Haig was fired after a series of running battles with White House staff members, including Baker, and his inability to deal effectively with the Israeli invasion of Lebanon.

Shultz also was the main impetus behind the U.S. supply of arms to anti-government forces in Angola and Afghanistan.

No back-door pardon

Thwarted by the Reagan administration's refusal to release sensitive classified documents, special prosecutor Lawrence E. Walsh has been forced to drop the prime criminal charges against Oliver North. The action may leave unanswered to history some details of the Iran-Contra affair, most notably the extent to which Mr. North's superiors may have condoned or encouraged his activities. Still, the inexorable conflict between national security concerns and a defendant's right to present all relevant evidence has been resolved in the only sensible manner, given the circumstances.

For refusing to make public a raft of secret documents demanded by Mr. North's attorneys, the White House has been accused of granting a "back-door" pardon. In as much as President Reagan has publicly ruled out an official pardon, cynics now argue he invoked national security as a pretext to deny the evidence necessary to prosecute Mr. North on the two central charges — theft and conspiracy to defraud the government.

But there is ample reason to believe that release of the classified materials would have compromised American intelligence sources and exposed friendly nations, such as Israel and Saudi Arabia, which cooperated in the clandestine arms deal. These countries acted only with assurance of the U.S. government that their rule would be kept secret. Betraying that trust would have undermined future joint operations to the lasting detriment of American national security.

Mr. North's flamboyant chief lawyer, Brendan Sullivan, successfully exploited the administration's predicament by seeking thousands of pages of top-secret records and then issuing unprecedented subpoenas to Mr. Reagan, Vice President Bush, Secretary of State George Shultz, former Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, and other senior administration officials. His message was unmistakable: To defend his client he was willing to drag into the courtroom everyone from the President on down, regardless of whether it jeopardized national security or embarrassed the presidency and America's friends.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell may have been on sound ground when he chastised Mr. Sullivan for demanding reams of secret information that was not vital to Mr. North's defense. But the tactic nevertheless produced an impressive victory over Mr. Walsh. Had the special prosecutor attempted to press the charges even though the defendant had been denied the classified evidence he sought, it would have raised legitimate questions about whether Mr. North could have received a fair trial.

Mr. North continues to face a dozen other serious charges. They include lying to Congress, destruction of evidence, accepting a home-security system from a federal contractor, converting government travelers' checks to his personal use, conspiring to defraud the Internal Revenue Service, and obstruction of justice. If convicted on all counts, he would face a maximum sentence of 65 years in prison.

The remaining counts and the protracted trial still confronting Mr. North, not to mention the prospect of a lengthy prison term, illustrate that the President's refusal to turn over classified documents scarcely amounts to a back-door pardon. Indeed, with the trial scheduled to begin at the end of the month, the question of Mr. North's criminal culpability is moving to where it ought to be — in the hand of federal jury.

Who's scared to death of death?

In an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association, doctors at the Medical College of Georgia argue that the warnings of the U.S. surgeon general, printed on every cigarette pack and in every cigarette advertisement, are ineffective in bringing home the dangers of smoking. Many smokers don't even notice the warnings: many who notice them don't read them; and even those who read them often can't remember what they say.

I find myself wondering, though, whether the tobacco industry's foes aren't making some highly gratuitous assumptions about human nature. Does it follow, on the night the day, that if everybody read and absorbed the surgeon general's warnings cigarette smoking in the United States would drop to zero, or something close to it?

However much Americans may disregard the specific warnings, there can't be many of us left to whom the fact that smoking is bad for you would come as news. Yet even Surgeon General C. Everett Koop admits that, in the 24 years since government warnings began in 1965, the percentage of adults who smoke has only declined from 40 to 29, or slightly over a quarter — a substantial reduction, to be sure, but far from sensational.

It seems to me that there are at least two additional influences at work here that prevent the surgeon general's warnings from having the impact that many officious right-minded citizens want them to have.

For one thing, the media discovered, even before the surgeon general got on tobacco's case, that it was possible to scare the daylight out of a fair percentage of the American people simply by yelling "Cancer!" Have too many dental or chest X-rays, and what may you get? Cancer! Live in a house near where radon gas seeps quite naturally from the ground, and what are you risking? Cancer! Live within a 50-mile radius of any of our aging atomic-bomb-making facilities, or even near a nuclear power plant, and what does every "environmentalist" within reach of a microphone prophesy will be your doom? Cancer!

In short, the surgeon general's warning (which happens to think is a relatively true and important one), has to queue up behind all the warnings blared at the public by the print and electronic media at the behest of every hyacinth with an ax to grind. Is it any wonder that the public's ear is a little numb?

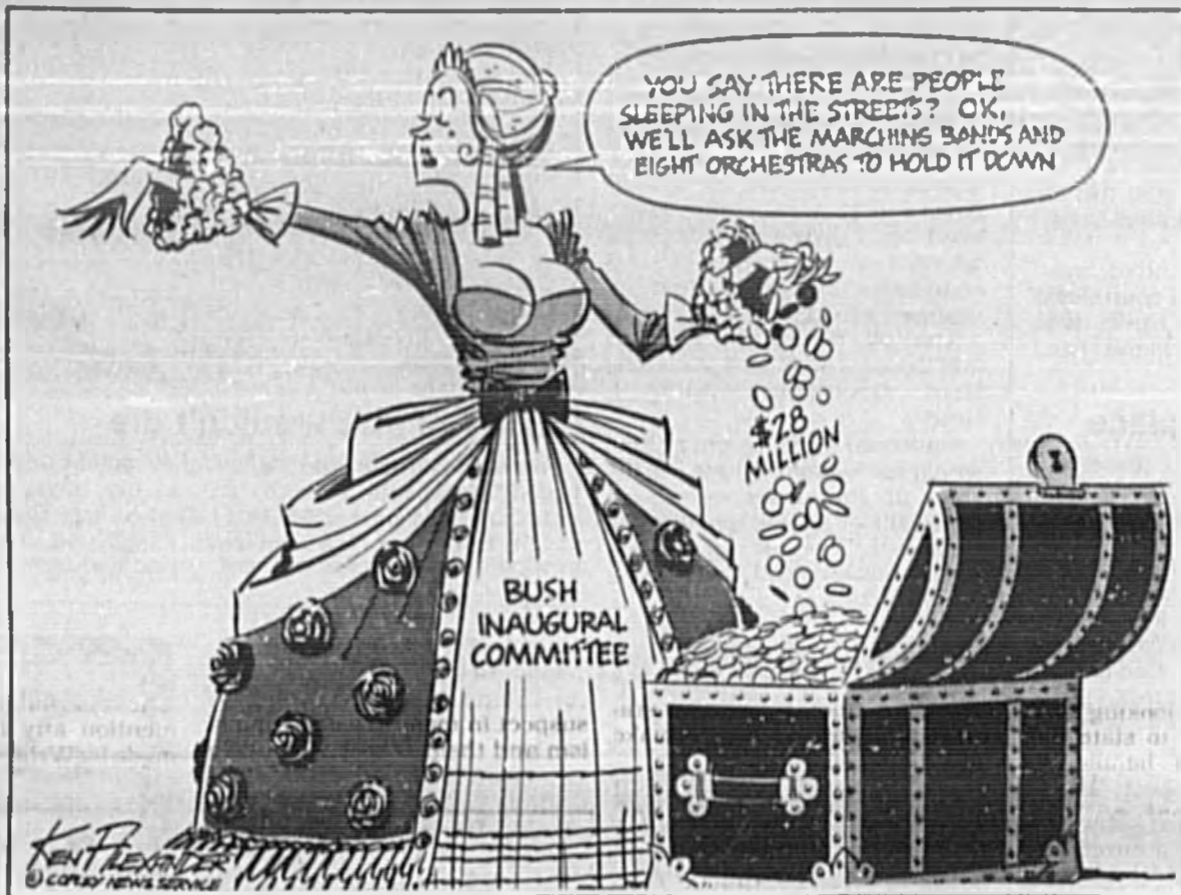

But there is a more rational reason, as well, behind the refusal of many smokers to kick their habit merely because the surgeon general can prove it's bad for them. Take Surgeon General Koop's most recent terrifying statistic, as reported in the New York Times: "Cigarette smoking, Dr. Koop said, was responsible for more than one out of every six deaths in the United States today."

Ah, but they will live longer! Perhaps (though also perhaps not); but, assuming they do, what necessarily is the gain? Additional golden years in the bosom of their loving families or in retirement at one of Red Skelton's sun-kissed resorts? Or years of loneliness, illness and poverty, crawling onward in agony through their 70s, 80s or even 90s?

Each of us must make these grim calculations for himself or herself.

Is it any wonder that the public's ear is a little numb?

A list of chores for President Bush

WASHINGTON — This is a day for a wedding of people and president. But tomorrow, when the groom wakes up as leader of the Free World, the honeymoon is over. We remember all those romantic promises George Bush made when he was courting the country. Here's our list of household duties to post on the White House refrigerator, but-tressed by some sweet nothings Bush whispered in our ears:

- Take out the trash: "I will ban chemical and biological weapons from the face of the Earth. ... Norelga should go, and Norelga will go. ... I will insist on stronger penalties for drug offenses ... the death penalty for drug kingpins and those who kill during drug transactions. ... If terrorists murder innocent Americans, I would not hesitate to strike again. ... George Bush will stamp passports of those convicted of drug sales and will suspend the passports of those convicted of major drug offenses."

We do not need major increases in defense spending!

- Fix up the house: "The chief goal of the Bush administration will be to see that all American families are able to obtain decent, affordable housing. ... Cut the red tape to make it easier for those in need to get government assistance."

- Delegate household chores: "I will create a National Space Council chaired by the vice president. ... I will put my vice president in charge of a Cabinet-level council of war on drugs."
- Clean out the attic: "I am going to stop ocean dumping. ... I am going to have the FBI trace the medical wastes. ... We must reduce the harm done by acid rain. ... We must clean the air."

- Help the kids with school: "Parents should be able to choose which public schools their children attend. ... We should demand more from students. ... We should ensure that they can use a computer before they graduate from high school. ... We should demand more from teachers."

- Balance the check book: "I will push for a cut in the capital gains tax. ... One of my first acts as president will be to sit down with the leaders of Congress and negotiate a plan to cut this federal deficit. ... No new taxes ... We do not need major increases in defense spending."

- Bring home expensive gifts: "I am committed to deployment of SDI as soon as feasible ... I will commit this nation to the development of an operational space station by the year 1996 ... double the current federal prison budget over the next four years ... provide states $10 million to develop radon programs ... offer awards in the form of additional educational and recreational facilities to exemplary neighborhood watch programs ... George Bush will award $5,000 to the best 25 teachers in each of the 50 states ... thirty million jobs in the next eight years."

- Get along with the neighbors: "We must support genuine freedom fighters and assist fledgling democracies. ... The integration of the European community scheduled for 1992 should also reach across the North Atlantic. ... The American-Israeli strategic partnership is going to be even stronger tomorrow. ... I will propose as one of my first acts as president, to convene an early NATO summit."

If Bush lives up to those and hundreds of other pre-nuptial promises, the next four years will be wedded bliss. For her part, the bride promises to be flexible, but not a pushover. When Bush steps out of line, he'll hear about it. In the words of H.L. Mencken: "A man may be a fool and not know it, but not if he is married."

Reagan goes like the setting sun

BOSTON — He goes out the way he came in. With a smile and a softshoe, and a script.

This most extraordinary man, more at ease with himself than any President within memory, less plagued by doubt than any world leader within range of a camera, said farewell the way he said hello. Full of stories. Feeling good.

The tempo he set for his time was upbeat. The backdrop was a flag. The motto was "Morning in America." And not surprisingly, before he moves west, Ronald Reagan let us know again what he cares most about: the American spirit, the national pride, "the new patriotism."

The warning this President left was not about the terrible possibilities of war, nor about the perilous state of the environment, nor the cancerous pockets of poverty. It was about the danger that the good "feeling" could fade. "I am warning," he said, "of an eradication of the American memory that could result, ultimately, in an erosion of the American spirit."

The American memory? The Great Communicator has always been an Indifferent Historian, his memory as selective as his myths. This pitch for patriotism was no belated boost for history lessons at the dinner table. To the very end, this man of Hollywood and Washington preferred a storyline of anecdotes and images to a timeline of facts and figures.

Reagan called on parents and teachers to "remember" what it means to be American — as he defines America. The America to which boat people come pursuing freedom and yelling, "Hello American sailor — Hello Freedom Man." Not the America to which other boat people came in chains.

The America that is a "magnet for all who must have freedom, for all the Pilgrims from all the lost places who are hurtling through the darkness, toward home." Not the America of the homeless who do not "choose" the streets.

His country is made of earth and celluloid, of fact and fiction, created by the soldiers of Omaha Beach and the movie-makers of Culver City. It is no wonder that he worries how we will adhere to this patriotism when he is no longer at the center of the stage leading the salute.

When Ronald Reagan is retired, I will remember the man who confronted a country when the Challenger exploded in mid-air. I will remember the leader who changed his lines, dropping the "evil empire" when he got a new Russian co-star playing a new role. I will remember, with awe and wonder, his supreme self-confidence.

But I will also recall, with much more mixed emotions, the "new American spirit" that he takes such pride in.

If anything, this President led us into an era of feel-good patriotism. His American spirit was not a call to action but to emotion. He required little more from us than from fans. Applause, a standing ovation, up, up for America. All we were expected to do for the country was to feel good about it.

In his farewell speech, Reagan talked much about freedom and not at all about justice, the twin pillars of ideal structure. Freedom is something you have; justice is something you have to work for. But the "new" patriotism is an easy, even lazy, one.

"Younger parents," said the departing President, "aren't sure that an unambivalent appreciation of America is the right thing to teach modern children." I am one of those parents. Alternatively proud of our successes and troubled by our failures. Conscious of the gap between history and myth.

We want our children to be proud and to be aware. To be neither paralyzed by national self-doubt, nor lulled by a smug belief that "We're Number 1." We don't want them to just revel in our ideals but to make them a reality. We want them to do more than cheer for America.

"If we forget what we did, we won't know who we are," said the President. My sentiments exactly.

So, as the credits start to roll on his last hours in office, this is the Reagan I take away: A man who followed and recreated a great American storyline. A man who thought of us as an audience rather than a citizenry. A man who elicited goose bumps more often than action. He projected an image on the screen to make us feel as good as we did at a Saturday matinee, when everybody knew the good guys from the bad and the good guys always won.

His country is made of earth and celluloid.

NEW YORK — Prices opened lower Friday in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which edged up 0.36 Thursday, was off 1.79 to 2237.32 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 259-164 among the 698 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape. Early turnover amounted to about 6,035,000 shares.

Stock prices rose modestly Thursday in heavy trading as buying activity led by investors hoping to capitalize on any further gains was dampened by profit taking in the wake of the market's recent advance.

Analysts said that buying momentum appeared to feed on itself Thursday as investors became convinced there was room for prices to move higher.

Minor sell-offs, which occurred at various times during the session due to profit taking, were viewed as something to be expected as the market consolidated its gains won since mid-November. Price drops also were seen as opportunities for investors to jump into the market.

The dollar was lower against key foreign currencies Friday on major foreign currency markets. Gold was higher.

In Europe, the dollar opened lower against major European currencies.

In earlier trading in Tokyo the dollar dropped sharply against the yen to close at 128.05 yen, down 1.15 yen from Thursday's close.

Tokyo dealers cited intervention by central banks. They were also concerned about the inauguration speech of President-elect George Bush and will be watching for mentions of measures to cut the U.S. budget and trade deficits.

European dealers said dollar-selling intervention by the United States, West Germany and other European countries caused market players to sell the American currency and buy yen and marks.

The dollar began the day in Frankfurt at 1.8470 West German marks, down from 1.8660 West German marks on Thursday.

to those citizens in our community who have actively participated in our community life and have given an extraordinary effort to make our community a good place to live and enjoy," he said.

Shoemaker, who received a degree in building construction engineering from the University of Florida in 1952, has undertaken many building projects in the area. In addition to housing subdivisions, his projects have included the General Sanford Library and Freedom Savings on Park Avenue. Currently, he is building the First Seminole Bank on East First Street.

He also has been active in civic and community affairs.

He is the president of the Sanford Airport Authority and, along with a handful of others, was instrumental in its establishment. His service also includes the Tri-County Transit Authority.

In addition, he is the dean of the board of directors at First Union National Bank of Florida.

He and his wife have two daughter and one son. Two of the children work for his company.

Pete Knowles, Sanford city manager from 1954 to 1985, recalled later that he was impressed with the young Shoemaker during the 1950s after he had graduated from college. They had become acquainted when Shoemaker began dating a mutual friend, later to become Shoemaker's wife.

"He had a way with people," Knowles said. "He always knew how to talk with them."

Knowles capitalized on Shoemaker's ability when he asked him to work for the city as a right-of-way acquisition specialist. The city then was expanding its water and sewer system and needed land from property owners to lay pipes. And the city needed someone to convince the landowners to give them the land for free.

"He was very good at it," Knowles said.

Shortly after he completed the acquisitions for the city, Knowles said Shoemaker left the city's employment and began Shoemaker Construction in 1956. He is the president and owner.

Last night, while chamber members dined at tables adorned with flowers and candlelight, incoming president Tesar explained the theme he chose for 1989 chamber activities.

"Partners for Opportunity" gives us a sense of vision... Opportunity is a call to action; partnership gives meaning and substance to opportunity."

Sanford is an area where opportunities are waiting to be grasped, Tesar said. Opportunities before the chamber, he said, are expansion of Sanford Regional Airport, "our expanding leadership in the Florida legislature, and a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to capture meaning out of tragedy by educating our community about AIDS."

The following are the individuals who will serve on the chamber this year.

Olson as a suspect in the homicides. They wanted to question him, but said early in the investigation he had not been identified as a suspect.

Evidence, which Hawkins refused to name, but which was found in Mrs. Olson's car, according to police, links Olson to the killings.

The murder weapon has not been recovered, Hawkins said today. Agents of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement are probing the car for more clues.

bery as well as petty theft in the Aug. 6 case, Cambre said, because at that time, when he was reportedly stealing beer from the store, Wright asked Ganem if she wanted to die, when she resisted his demand for free beer.

Cambre said she identified a suspect in a police photo lineup and that led to the arrest of Wright in that case. Caselberry police have outstanding warrants on Wright in two other robberies.

Seminole County sheriff's investigators said Wright is known to them, and is a primary suspect in many cases of vandalism and thefts of beer, especially from the Deer Run Country Club, where he once worked.

Investigator Kevin Mahanke said he immediately thought of Wright when he heard about the homicide Thursday morning, because of the location of the homicide and Wright's previous, alleged thefts of beer from Ganem.

Ironically, on Wednesday Mahanke had filed for a warrant to charge Wright with theft of beer from Ganem at the 7-Eleven where she died. Mahanke said that after a Jan. 7 theft of beer from that store, Ganem picked Wright out as a suspect in that theft. When Mahanke questioned her on Jan. 10, she didn't mention any threats reportedly made by Wright.

are investigated, according to school officials. The problem is few are anxious to turn in their neighbors, making the discovery of rule-breakers not so easy a task.

Board Chairman Ann Nelwander said out-of-zone attendance is simply never going to be 100 percent preventable. "It is a recognized problem by the board, and it's one of the things we're looking for our new software system to help us with," Nelwander said.

The system referred to is not only expected to help with this issue, but with rezoning, bus loading and bus routing, as well. With the software, student addresses already kept on a computer data base will appear on a computer generated or digital map, making violators easy to spot.

Bids for the software package are under review, and the system should be in operation by June. It will not, however, stop those wishing to lie about where they live. Over the years, Nelwander and school principals have witnessed some pretty creative attempts at deceit.

The Seminole group suggests checking home deeds or rental leases against tax records. In essence, they are looking for a countywide policy to state how individual schools handle the issue. In this respect, Darvin Boothe, principal of Lake Brantley High, and Wayne Epps, Seminole principal, would agree. Both say one system in which each knows what the other is doing would be desirable.

"I don't think we have real good numbers," Boothe said. "We hear rumors from time to time and we check them out. But, it would be good to have a systematic approach."

The out-of-zone issue has been solved at Oviedo High, according to Cathy Cunningham, assistant principal. She said parents or guardians are asked for proof of residency upon registration.

The procedure, although effective, concerns Don Reynolds, principal of Lake Mary High. "When we have reason to check, we do," he said. "But with so many people we are not able to check up on everybody."

Reynolds said the cost involved in finding just two students in violation may not make it worth the effort.

The Seminole parents, all belonging to that school's LSAC group, say if no satisfaction is received at the Feb. 1 meeting, the issue will be addressed by Citizens for Educational Equality.

The CEE group has formed out of concerns expressed throughout the county's rezoning process. The primary function of this group is to increase the number of vocational and gifted programs in Sanford schools. The group is currently small in numbers, but has received support of the city's mayor.

Air ambulance makes crash landing

SALT LAKE CITY — An air ambulance on a flight from Idaho made a wheels-up, crash landing Thursday night at Salt Lake International Airport, safely gliding to a stop without harming the crew or the tiny premature infant on board, officials said.

Airport spokesman Tom Riley said the crash landing by the University of Utah Hospital plane just before 7 p.m. "was a surprise to everyone here. Nobody expected it and we had no advance warning. He landed without benefit of his gear."

Two pilots, two nurses and a baby born three weeks premature in Boise, Idaho, were on the Mitsubishi MU-2, twin-engine AirMed plane, said University Hospital spokeswoman Anne Brillinger.

"The baby was in stable condition when it left Boise and it was in stable condition when it was admitted to Primary Children's Medical Center" in Salt Lake City, Brillinger said.

Although dense fog had been plaguing the airport all day, Riley said he did not believe poor visibility contributed to the wheels-up landing.

Jet loses part of wing, returns to Atlanta

ATLANTA — An Eastern Airlines Boeing 757 enroute to Los Angeles lost a 15-square foot section of its wing Thursday night and returned to Atlanta, where it made a safe landing, the Federal Aviation Administration said.

Eastern's flight 83, which had 110 people aboard, was in the vicinity of Birmingham, Ala., when the pilot told air traffic controllers the plane had lost a 3-by-5 foot panel off its left wing and was returning to Atlanta.

FAA spokesman Jack Barker said the plane, which had departed Atlanta at 8:04 p.m., made a safe, uneventful landing at Atlanta's Hartsfield International Airport at 9:04 p.m. No one was injured and the passengers were unloaded at an Eastern gate.

The passengers were put on another aircraft and resumed their flight to Los Angeles, authorities said.

The 3-by-5 foot panel came off the upper portion of the left wing of the Boeing 757. Barker said there were unconfirmed reports the wing panel nicked the aircraft's tail when it came off.

Steinberg lawyers: Nussbaum killed girl

NEW YORK — The defense told jurors it was not Joel Steinberg, but the accused child killer's ex-lover, Hedda Nussbaum, who bludgeoned the 6-year-old girl they raised, and that Nussbaum in court "lied to keep her freedom" and avoid prosecution.

In closing statements Thursday, Steinberg's lawyers accused Nussbaum of causing Lisa Steinberg's death in a jealous rage, saying the former children's book editor "did it herself in a fight."

The prosecution was to offer closing statements Friday in Manhattan Supreme Court, where Steinberg is charged with second-degree murder in the death of the girl the couple raised but never legally adopted.

WORLD BRIEFS

Arab boy killed, 38 wounded in clashes

JERUSALEM — The recent rise in Palestinian casualties in the occupied territories shows no sign of easing, the latest violence leaving one Arab youth dead and up to 38 others wounded by army gunfire.

Official Israel Radio quoted Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin Thursday as saying he supports holding elections in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip after a three- to six-month period of calm.

At least 12 Palestinians have died from army gunfire since Jan. 12, one of the highest one-week death tolls since the start of the 13-month-old uprising against Israeli rule in the occupied territories, which Israel seized in the 1967 Six Day War.

Soldiers in Gaza shot and killed Mohammed Ibrahim Dawasch, 17, in a confrontation between an army patrol and stone-throwing youths at the U.N.-run Beach refugee camp, Palestinian sources and the army said.

An army spokesman said Dawasch was shot after he was identified as a leader of the stone-throwing youths. Residents tried to take Dawasch's body to the hospital but soldiers stopped their car and took the body, Palestinian sources said.

At least 347 Palestinians have been killed in the uprising against nearly 22 years of Israeli occupation. Eleven Israelis also have been slain in the violence, which began Dec. 9, 1987.

Seventeen executed in Chinese stadium

BEIJING — Seventeen accused felons were sentenced to death and executed before a crowd of 30,000 people at a stadium in southern China, a news report said Friday.

The public trials and executions were carried out Thursday in the southern city of Guangzhou in order to "allow the masses to celebrate a stable Chinese Lunar New Year," which is observed Feb. 6, the Legal Daily newspaper said.

The mass execution came as China launched a nationwide crackdown against a rising crime rate and widespread profligating and bribery among party and government officials.

The newspaper said 17 people were convicted by the Guangzhou Supreme People's Court and executed for various offenses, including murder, robbery and economic crimes. At least 30,000 people attended the trials and executions, it said.

Soaring crime rates and official corruption are among the darker consequences of senior leader Deng Xiaoping's 10-year-old program to reform the Chinese economy.

More than 10,000 crimes were reported last year in the city of more than 5.5 million residents, according to Deng Guoqi, chief of the Guangzhou Intermediate People's Court.

Jaruzelski eases demands on Solidarity

WARSAW, Poland — Polish leader Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski has apparently softened demands placed on the Solidarity trade union for its re-legalization, a revision that followed Solidarity founder Lech Walesa's cool reception to the government's conditions.

Jaruzelski confirmed that he and three other senior government officials had threatened to resign at a key party meeting this week in a successful bid to persuade hard liners to offer Solidarity some form of legal status.

Walesa, responding for the first time to the outcome of a session of the party's 200-member Central Committee, said Thursday the Polish leadership failed at the meeting to satisfy the "hopes of society."

FBI finds fraud in futures trading

United Press International

WASHINGTON — FBI agents posing as commodities traders during a two-year undercover investigation found evidence of massive fraud in futures trading on the Chicago Board of Trade and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, sources familiar with the inquiry said Thursday.

The sources, confirming a Chicago Tribune story, said the dimensions of the newest financial corruption scandal could rival the insider trading probe that shook Wall Street and brought calls for tougher federal regulation of the stock exchanges.

Undercover agents amassed secret tape recordings of hundreds of conversations on the trading floors of the futures markets, implicating brokers for a number of major commodities firms, the sources said.

They said 50 to 100 floor brokers, traders and commodity firm executives — perhaps even a higher number — had been involved, either acting alone or in collusion with others in schemes to rig trades and cheat customers out of millions of dollars.

At 2 p.m. Thursday, the Board of Trade and the Board of Trade Clearing Corp. were served with a sweeping federal grand jury subpoena seeking "all membership and trading activity records from Jan. 1, 1983, to the present," board spokesman Ray Carmichael said.

The Tribune, which broke the story in its Thursday editions, quoted one source as saying investors had lost "a ton of money on this thing."

U.S. Attorney Anton Valukas

of Chicago, whose office is heading the investigation, refused to confirm or deny its existence and said the story "did not come out of my office." Valukas briefed Attorney General Dick Thornburgh on the inquiry at the Justice Department last Friday, sources said.

FBI Director William Sessions met with Thornburgh Thursday morning, Thornburgh, asked about the investigation following a brief address to Massachusetts police in the department's Great Hall, waved away reporters and said, "We don't have any comment on that."

NATO allies welcome Soviet announcement

United Press International

VIENNA — Western officials welcomed a Soviet announcement that Moscow will remove some tactical weapons from Eastern Europe, but noted that the NATO allies had already reduced their own nuclear arsenal by about 2,400 warheads.

The Soviet announcement was made Thursday by Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze during the final day of the 35-nation Vienna conference on European security and human rights.

In addition to the removal of some tactical weapons, Shevardnadze also promised the Soviets would announce by the end of the month "data on the numbers of troops and armaments" of the Warsaw Pact.

NATO welcomed the Soviet announcement, but noted the West already had significantly reduced its nuclear arsenal in Europe.

A NATO spokesman in Brussels said if the Soviet decision "signals that ... the Soviets are now beginning to realize that their potential far exceeds legitimate requirements, we can only find such steps encouraging."

"Let me point out that NATO, at its own initiative, has already unilaterally reduced its own theater nuclear stockpile by some 2,400 warheads over the past several years," the spokesman said.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said in Washington that U.S. officials would wait to assess the ramifications of the announced withdrawals, but said, "We welcome any move to reduce the Soviet military forces."

Shevardnadze told the conference that the Soviets, in the framework of previously announced troop reductions in East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Hungary, also would withdraw tactical or battlefield nuclear weapons assigned to those troops.

"Pursuing its declared fundamental objective of removing any foreign military presence and bases from the territories of other countries, the Soviet Union will withdraw from central Europe military formations and units with all their organic armaments, including tactical nuclear systems," he said in his speech.

"We proceed from the premise that nuclear weapons are a step backward, not forward," Shevardnadze said.

He said the Soviets were not "engaged in the modernization of tactical nuclear missiles" and implicitly urged the West to adopt a similar stance.

Wednesday, Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev announced a 14.2 percent cut in the defense budget.

Bush: Americans, help each other

United Press International

WASHINGTON — In a 200-year-old ceremony marking the peaceful transfer of power, George Bush was ready to become the nation's 41st president Friday, using his moment of glory to call on Americans to help one another and convince Americans he can effectively reach out to the disadvantaged.

The highpoint of five days of inaugural celebrations, and the pinnacle of Bush's career, were to take place on the majestic West Front of the Capitol where Bush was to be sworn-in and become the first sitting vice president in 152 years to reach the Oval Office through an election.

But before heading up Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol, Bush and his wife, Barbara, planned to attend church and hold a farewell meeting at the White House with President and Mrs. Reagan.

The actual oath-taking ceremony, to take place in view of the Washington Monument and Lincoln Memorial, is brief and very similar to the ceremony held for George Washington two centuries ago.

Vice President-elect Dan Quayle was to go first, with his oath administered by Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor. Bush was then to take his oath at noon, with Chief Justice William Rehnquist presiding.

Bush's inaugural address is slated to last about 20 minutes and designed to lay out broad themes.

Judge restricts North from using classified information

United Press International

WASHINGTON — A federal judge further restricted Oliver North from disclosing classified information at his Iran-Contra trial and said Thursday the proceedings would begin, as scheduled, on Jan. 31.

In a brief order, U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell rejected the former White House aide's latest bid to use highly sensitive documents in his defense to 12 felony counts, including allegations he led to Congress and shredded documents to conceal his secret efforts to aid the Nicaraguan Contra rebels.

The 10-month-old case brought by independent prosecutor Lawrence Walsh has been bogged down over the issue of protecting classified information during testimony. Last Friday, Gesell dismissed the two central charges against North when Attorney General Dick Thornburgh certified that proceeding with the government's case would risk "identifiable damage" to national security.

Walsh has said he can prosecute North on the remaining 12 counts without harming the national security because they are "straightforward." North's motives in such alleged offenses as obstruction of Congress, making false statements and accepting illegal gratuities will not be at issue, he argued last week.

North's lawyers, however, have asserted that the same classified information is relevant for the remaining counts.

Prosecutors have accused North of attempted "graymail" — seeking to scuttle the case by threatening to expose national security secrets — and the judge has sharply limited their use of classified material from the tens of thousands of documents they originally proposed.

The full impact of Gesell's rulings Thursday was murky because they referred largely to events during recent closed hearings and included references to classified documents filed under seal with the court.

Further, in his three-paragraph order, the judge referred to a second, sealed order also issued Thursday about the 300 documents Gesell has allowed North to introduce at trial. It was not immediately clear whether the judge's determinations in that ruling would be acceptable to an inter-agency committee of U.S. intelligence officials that has monitored the case to ensure no national security secrets will be jeopardized.

However, Gesell's rulings: ● Rejected North's recent petition for permission to add more classified documents to those he could submit at trial.

● Granted a motion by Walsh to preclude North "from disclosing certain classified documents at trial."

IN BRIEF

BASKETBALL

Jordan, Bulls overcome Heat

Much to the delight of Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls, the Miami Heat game went off as scheduled Thursday night.

Two days earlier, a Heat game against Phoenix was postponed because of the racial violence that raged in nearby Overtown. The Miami Arena, which borders the ghetto, was surrounded by police cars and officers as rioters heaved rocks and bottles.

Tensions cooled by Thursday, and virtually all the excitement was contained in the arena. Jordan scored 34 points, including 4 crucial free throws in the final 77 seconds, to lift the Bulls to a 112-108 triumph.

"With things being relatively under control, how often are people going to get a chance to see Michael Jordan, the best basketball player in the world?" said former Bull Rory Sparrow, who led the Heat with 27 points.

Elsewhere, Cleveland defeated Indiana 113-106, Washington edged San Antonio 115-112, Phoenix defeated Charlotte 126-112, Seattle beat Houston 124-108 and Sacramento edged New York 112-106.

TENNIS

Graf slams Werdel, 6-0, 6-1

MELBOURNE, Australia — Grand Slam champion Steffi Graf advanced to the fourth round of the Australian Open Friday by defeating American Marianne Werdel 6-0, 6-1.

Graf, the favorite to win the Aussie title and the $140,000 first prize, has lost a mere four games in her first three matches as she heads for her second straight Australian championship. Graf will meet Australian Nicole Provis in the fourth round.

Provis earlier Friday struggled past American Amy Frazier 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, in the center court opener.

Third seed Gabriela Sabatini and sixth seed Zina Garrison will join Graf in the fourth round. Sabatini swept Camille Benjamin of the United States 6-0, 6-0 and will meet 13th seed Raffaella Reggi of Italy in the round of 16.

BASEBALL

A's come to terms with Hassey

OAKLAND, Calif. — Oakland Athletics catcher Ron Hassey agreed to terms for the coming season plus an option year, the club announced Thursday.

Hassey, 35, hit .257 in 107 games last season, his first with the 1988 American League champions after being acquired as a free agent.

The team also invited eight non-roster players to spring training including catchers Chris Bando, Buddy Pryor and Bill Savarino, pitchers Bryan Clark, Brian Snyder and Bill Balwey and outfielders Billy Beane and Doug Jennings.

Bando, 32, the younger brother of former A's star Sal Bando, has spent most of his seven major-league seasons with Cleveland.

HOCKEY

Whalers harpoon Canadlens

Rebounding from a four-goal deficit to win was historic for the Hartford Whalers. Doing it against the Montreal Canadlens made it special.

Kevin Dineen scored a pair of goals in a five-goal uprising to the third period Thursday night as the Whalers roared back from a 4-0 deficit to shock the Canadlens 6-4.

Four of Hartford's goals came in a 5:46 span. The victory marked the first time in the team's 10-year NHL history it had rallied from a four-goal deficit to win.

Dineen scored the tying goal just 28 seconds before rookie forward Jody Hull's game winner at 9:35 of the final stanza. Dineen also poked home the final goal, his 27th of the year, into an empty net with 25 seconds remaining.

In other games, Calgary whipped Boston 7-2, Minnesota tied Toronto 3-3, Quebec nipped New Jersey 5-4, the Islanders tripped Los Angeles 4-2 and the Rangers blanked St. Louis 5-0.

Soccer: Mary tops Pats, 1-0

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald sports editor

LAKE MARY — Of all the tests Lake Mary's Lady Rams took this week both in the classroom and on the athletic field, which one do you suppose they're talking about right now?

Hey, all those As in trigonometry, physics, etc. are nothing to take lightly, but the victory over those arch rivals from Altamonte Springs will have to take the spotlight for now.

The Lady Rams turned in a brilliant all-around performance Thursday night en route to a 1-0 victory over Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots in a crucial Seminole Athletic Conference contest before 501 fans at Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

Lake Mary improved to 19-2 overall and moved closer to its first SAC title as its conference record now stands at 9-0. The Lady Rams host Lyman Saturday afternoon at 2.

"It was a well-played game between two very strong teams," Lake Mary coach Bill Eisale said. "Our defense played a really solid game, everyone on defense did a good job."

Lake Mary's Sandy Powell (No. 9) closely marks Lake Brantley's Karen Kopp while Leeann Bazile looks on. Powell was one of several Lake Mary defenders who turned in superb efforts Thursday in a 1-0 Lady Ram victory.

Hoops: Lake Mary pulls upset

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary's Lady Rams sank nine of 10 free throws in the final two minutes to pave the way to a 61-57 upset over Lake Brantley Thursday night in girls basketball action before 401 fans at Lake Mary High School.

The Lady Rams improved to 8-8 overall and 3-3 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. The Lady Patriots fell to 9-5 and 3-3 in the conference.

"I think we played tremendous defense and played well as a team," Lake Mary coach Anna Van Landingham said. "We fronted their (Lake Brantley's) big girls and we did a good job hitting the boards."

Lake Mary kept the game when Tara Jackson broke free to the bucket and Gretchen Mull fouled her. The infraction was called an intentional foul and Jackson hit one of her two free throws to give Lake Mary a 56-54 lead with 52 seconds to play.

The Lady Rams were then fouled on the inbounds play and

Montana, Esiason: Super opposites

United Press International

MIAMI — When Joe Montana played in his first Super Bowl seven years ago, he was the young star against the established veteran.

Montana's 49ers won 26-21. Although Cincinnati's Kenny Anderson had a better passing day, Montana was voted Super Bowl XVI's Most Valuable Player.

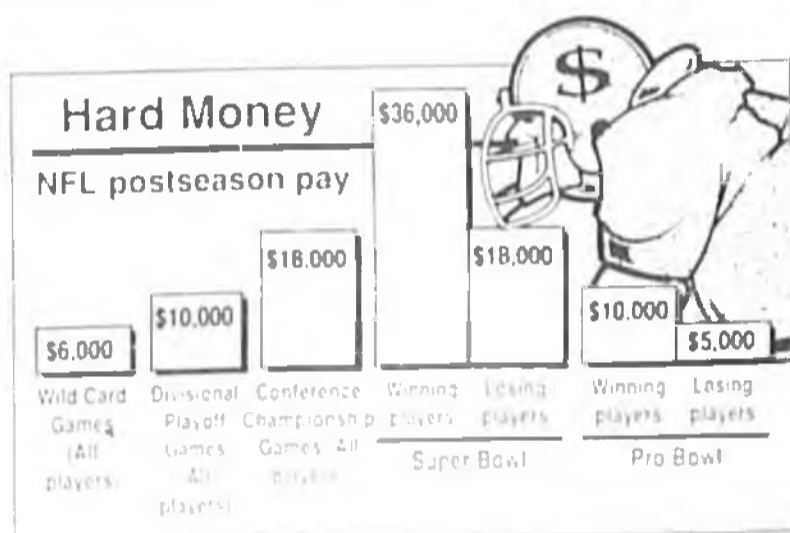

In Super Bowl XIX it was established star Montana against Miami's hotshot young passer Dan Marino. The game was no contest. Montana cut through the Dolphins' defense for 331 yards and three touchdowns in a 38-16 triumph and again won the MVP trophy.

Now he enters Super Bowl XXIII Sunday as the aging veteran against the game's new young star. At 32, Montana has already surprised many just by returning to his third Super Bowl.

Boomer Esiason, the Bengals' 27-year-old passer, was the NFL's MVP for this season and the numbers favor him in his battle against Montana.

He led the league in passing, averaging 6.21 yards per pass for 3,572 yards, 28 touchdowns and 14 interceptions. Montana averaged 7.51 yards per pass for 2,981 yards, 18 TDs and 10 interceptions while throwing nine passes more than Esiason.

Esiason is young, big (6 foot 5 and 225 pounds), strong and gives defenses a different look as a left hander. Montana is 6-2-195 pounds and had major back surgery in 1987. After 10 NFL seasons he offers no surprises.

I have enough problems without worrying about the opposing quarterback. Montana said playing down the matchup "I haven't seen much of him, he's obviously having a great year or he wouldn't have been picked MVP of the league. My UCF's Vernon Pinkney surveys the court during Thursday night's action vs. Texas Wesleyan. Pinkney had eight points in the Knights' 62-77 victory.

A Knight to remember: UCF men, women win

By TONY DeSORMIER
Herald sports writer

ORLANDO — It took 170 days, but the University of Central Florida men's and women's basketball teams finally won again on the same night.

Thursday night the UCF squads scored a rare sweep of a doubleheader, the women opening with an 89-82 victory over the University of Alabama Birmingham and the men finishing with an 82-77 decision over Texas Wesleyan University.

Emotionally, the last time the Knights' and Lady Knights scored a sweep was on Jan. 10 of last year, when the men defeated St. Francis of New York and the women beat Cheyney State.

"We needed this game, this win to build confidence," said Lady Knight coach Bob Key, whose team outlasted St. Francis in a night game road swing today. "This sweep was a special program. We had to play to beat these people."

Key led the Lady Knights, who defeated a top-rated Florida State team, Monday night in play Thursday night. A week ago they were the defending national champion, but they were knocked out of the tournament by the defending champion, the University of Alabama Birmingham.

"I thought we were going to win, but we were out of sync," Key said. "We were out of sync, but we were out of sync."

Key said the UCF squads were treated as if they were the defending national champion. "We were treated as if we were the defending national champion," Key said. "We were treated as if we were the defending national champion."

Against the UAB Lady Knights, Robinson was consistently tough. After her characteristic jump shot, she scored 18 points in the game's first 15 minutes. Robinson started to take control. With UCF down 41-23 with 5:02 remaining in the first half, Robinson scored nine of the period's last 18 points, leading the Lady Knights back to a 38-17 halftime lead.

By the end of the night Robinson scored a game-high 28 points, matched by UAB's Caroline Handsomer, had eight rebounds, five blocked shots and four steals.

"I've had the potential of being one of the best players in our conference," said Key. "When she wants to play, when her mind is in the right mood to play, no one can stop her."

UCF's good UCF leadership, her dominant leadership.

Robinson's game followed a similar pattern. The only difference was that the person in the center was a freshman, not a senior.

Against Texas Wesleyan, Robinson led the Knights in scoring, their honor went to Pat Cricklin, who scored 25 points, his presence was the key to leading the Texas Wesleyan University team.

Robinson scored 18 points in the game's first minute. Leeks scored 18 points and drew two fouls on Ram guard Kevin Wainwright, who was fouled during the rest of the half.

"Leeks did a very fine job," said Ram coach Bob Key. "We kept doing the same thing, we would have scored on us."

Against the Rams, who got a member of the SAC, Wainwright scored 20-25 points in the game, finishing a 20-25 point game. The game was treated as if it were the game that featured a second round of battles. The final tie game was 49-49 remaining in the game at 4:00. The game was broken by an Edsel Bester free throw to give the Knights the lead for SANFORD — The Seminole High wrecking crew returned to the winning column Thursday night with a 51-18 mugging of visiting Lakeland in prep wrestling action in front of 101 fans at Bill Fleming Gymnasium.

Once again it was the middle and heavier weights of the wrecking crew that carried the load, however a newcomer to the crew, Andy Blake, got his first taste of varsity action and came through with a tough 6-5 win over Marquis Phillips.

After losing the first two matches, the Seminole matmen took complete control of matters as they won 10 of the last 11 matches, seven by pins. Ryan Valerino got things started with an 11-8 decision, Tom Brendle followed with a pin in 3:30, and undefeated Larry Nathan pinned down Calvin Graham in 2:44.

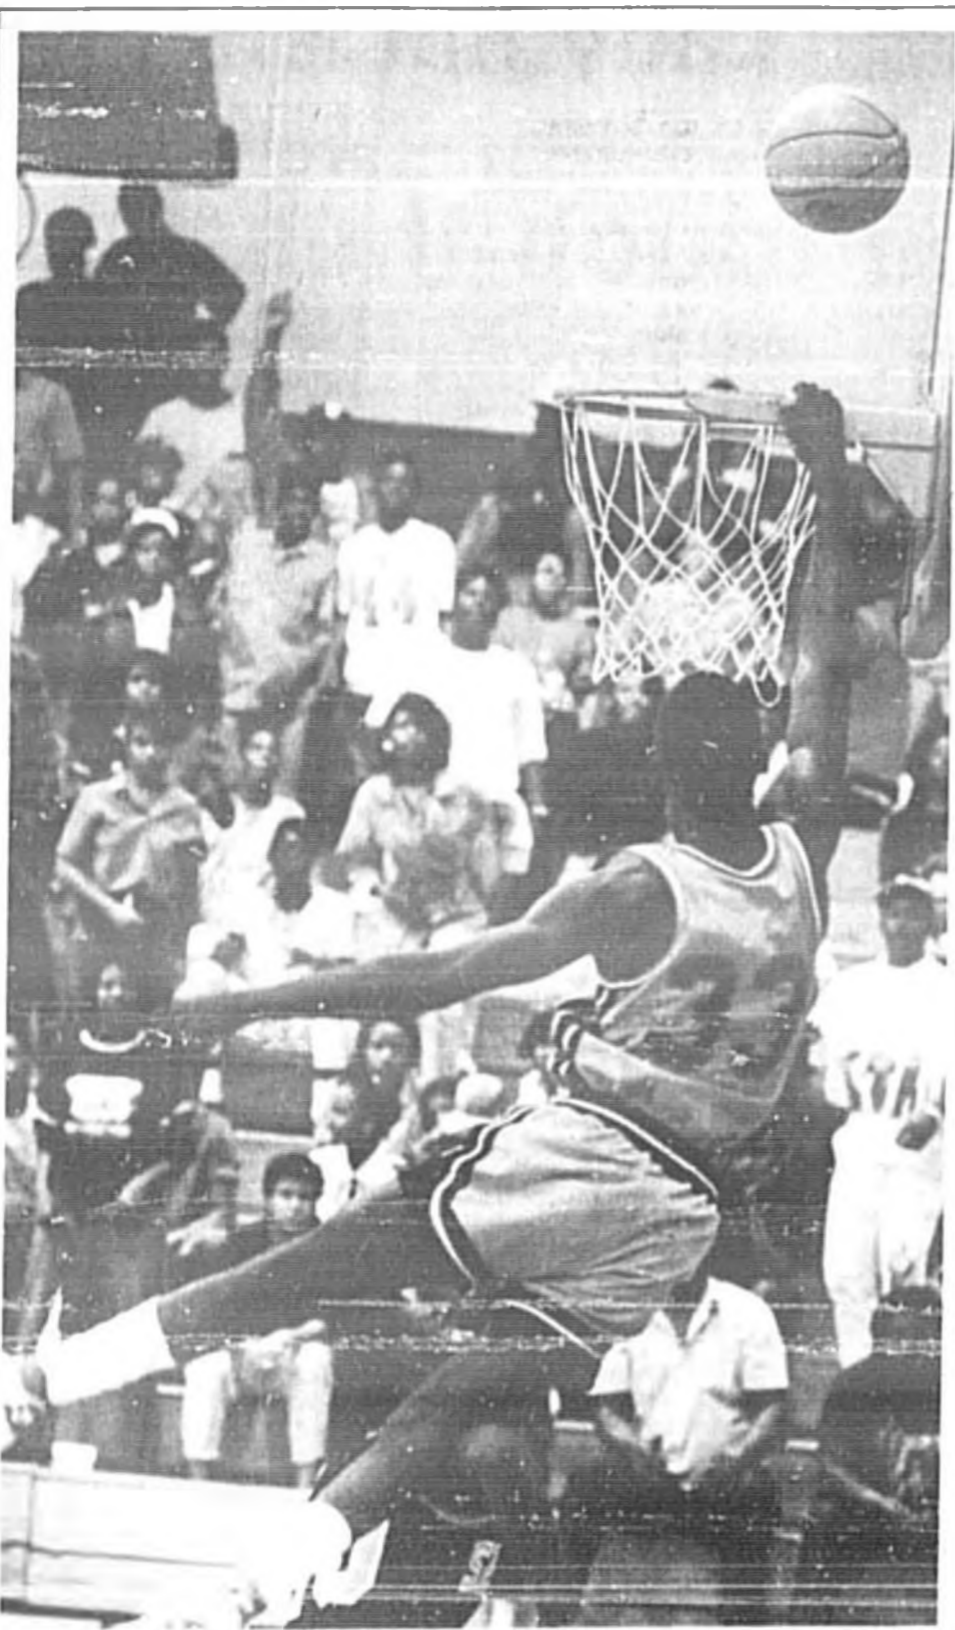

At 140, Trent Schake shook up Zane Kaposzt with a pin in 5:45, followed by Blake's decision, and James Bass got a big 19-10 decision to up the Seminole tally. Kevin Nathan pinned his man in 1:04 and undefeated Troy Rollins got a 24-9 major decision in his match.

Julius Bennett flexed his muscles with a pin over Robert Whitaker in 3:36 and Ken Huffman pinned Brian Crosswalt in a blistering 48 seconds.

OVIEDO TRIUMPHS

DELTONA — First-period pins were the story on Thursday night at Deltona High School as the visiting Oviedo Lions posted a 50-24 win over the host Wolves of Deltona.

For Oviedo, Kevin Newton (pinning Ryan Giampietro in 40 seconds at 119), Paul Issacsion (nailing Kevin Post in 59 seconds at 140), Brock Smith (pinning Adam Moore at 171 in 40 seconds) and heavyweight Mike Cobia (sticking Todd Henderson in 26 seconds) all won their matches in the first round.

Lake Mary's Bernard Mitchell attempts a followup slam against Seminole but was instead called for offensive goaltending. The next time Mitchell grabs the rim, he hopes to be jamming home two points for the Rams who play at Lake Brantley High tonight at 8 p.m. In other boys action tonight, Seminole hosts Spruce Creek, Lyman has a girls-boys doubleheader at home vs DeLand, and Lake Howell is at Oviedo.

Buntz, Hughes lift Lady Lions in OT

By DEAN SMITH
Herald correspondent

CASSELBERRY — Three free throws each by Cheryl Buntz and Betsy Hughes in overtime allowed the Lady Lions of Oviedo High School to escape with a 58-55 win over the Lady Silver Hawks of Lake Howell High School Thursday night before 121 fans at Silver Hawk Gymnasium.

The win moves Oviedo to 7-8 overall and 3-3 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. The Lady Lions next play Tuesday night when they host the Lady Bulldogs of DeLand High School. Junior varsity action is scheduled for 6:15 p.m. with the varsity set for 8 p.m.

"It was foul city," said Lady Lion coach John Thomas. "But it was a sweet win. We worked hard all week for this win, so I feel we deserved it. They gave us a lot of trouble. We had to survive on our man to man defense, which we don't like to do, but it worked tonight."

The Lady Lions got a great all-around performance out of sophomore point guard Betsy Hughes who scored 17 points, handed out 11 assists, grabbed six rebounds, and came up with four steals. She also threw in two 3-point field goals. Also playing well was guard Buntz who scored 16 points. The only other Lady Lion in double figures was senior center Suzanne Hughes who scored ten points despite playing sparingly because of foul trouble. She also had five rebounds and three blocked shots. Senior forward Bridget Jennerette grabbed eight rebounds.

The loss drops the Lady Silver Hawks to 13-8 overall and 3-3 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. They will next play Tuesday night when they host the Lady Rams of Lake Mary High School. Junior Varsity action starts at 6:30 p.m. with the Varsity set for 8:00 p.m.

The Lady Silver Hawks played three girls in double figures paced by Jennifer Brown with 15 points. The others were Sarina Winston with 13 points, and Taryn Lewis with 12.

The fourth quarter was being played the same way until Oviedo made a little run to take a six point lead, 46-40, with 2:52 to play. Baskets by Cathedra Winston, Satina Winston, and Brown of the Silver Hawks finally got the game even at the 1:16 mark. A rebound basket by Michelle Wynn put the Lady Lions back ahead with 0:53 left. Becky Miller grabbed an offensive rebound and in the process of putting the ball back in was fouled. Miller missed the free throw but Q Hawkins grabbed the rebound and was fouled. She made both free throws to give Lake Howell its only lead of the night, 50-48, with 0:20 left in the contest. B. Hughes dribbled down court looking to tie the score but she was stopped at the free throw line and made a nice pass to Buntz who laved the ball in to tie the score 50-50 as time ran out.

In overtime a basket by Jennerette put Oviedo back ahead and the score was tied when Lewis made both ends of a one and one. Then a technical was called on Satina Winston of the Silver Hawks after a foul was called. Buntz made the front end of the one and one and B. Hughes made the two technical free throws to make the score 55-52 with 2:06 to play.

Amy Kuvach hit two free throws to up the lead to 59-54 with 51 seconds to play. Jackson then put the game away with two more free throws with 24 seconds to play.

Kuvach and Jackson led Lake Mary with 14 points apiece with Lisa Johnson netting 11. Tracy Brandenburg led all scorers with 25 points with Gretchen Mull contributing 10 and Lori Bunce eight.

Brantley stretched the lead to 18-12 as Brandenburg opened the second quarter with back to back jumpers. Heather Gleason then took a great feed from Kuvach and pulled the Rams to within three, 18-15, after completing a three point play.

Brantley then moved out to a six point lead behind the play of Tara Gibson and Mull. Brantley went on to take a 28-22 lead with 35 seconds to play in the half.

Anita Mitchell then came up with a steal and was fouled going to the bucket and connected on the three point play. Kuvach then came up with a loose ball, took two dribbles and connected on a three point field goal at the buzzer to even the score at 28 all at the intermission.

The Lady Greyhounds pumped 40 shots on goal Thursday compared to five for DeLand. Lyman goalkeeper Becky Carr made two saves in recording the shutout.

job shutting out the person they were marking.

Lake Brantley, which had a 13 game unbeaten streak snapped, now stands at 17-3-3 overall and 6-2-1 in the league. The Lady Patriots play at Lake Howell on Saturday.

It was Lake Brantley that put on the offensive pressure in the early going Thursday as Lake Mary did not get off a shot for the first 27 minutes of the match.

Both Schaefer and the Lady Patriots charge in the first half while some of the most dangerous chances came on long throws by Tracy Finley. One such throw in at the 12:15 mark went to Tara Harding who headed a shot toward the goal but Lake Mary goalkeeper Tammy Scott came up with the first of many outstanding saves on the night to keep the game scoreless.

Brantley had another close call on a throw in by Finley with 7:59 left in the half when she heaved a throw from the right sideline to the far post where Cindy Becker attempted to knee the ball in but Scott was there for the save.

Lake Mary, with Amy Alexander making several good defensive runs, put together its best chances late in the half but Brantley's defense, anchored by sweepback, Tracy Willis, rose to the occasion.

Brantley breathed a sigh of relief at the 9:00 mark after a play back to the keeper finally went in for its own goal. That set up a Lake Mary corner kick and Michelle Mattingly sent a nice ball in front of the goal that Brantley's defense kept out. Finley then tapped away. Mattingly then got control of the ball and got off a shot that Kurtz saved and it remained a scoreless tie at the end of the first 45 minutes.

At the 43:25 mark of the second half, Brantley was whistled for one of few fouls it was called on in the game. Brantley's defense was busy again though as Finley took a shot on the free kick from 20 yards out over Kurtz' head and into the goal for a 1-0 Lake Mary lead.

Lake Mary nearly took a 2-0 lead with 26 minutes left to play on a well-timed play between Mattingly and Annemirke Stonerock. Mattingly sent a corner kick to the near post and Stonerock, one time a nice shot but it was just wide of the goal.

For the remainder of the game, Lake Brantley pushed forward with everything it had and it was then up to Lake Mary's defense to come through. Amy Basch had a superb all-sweeperback before leaving with an injury and Alexander then moved to sweeper and did a nice job. Jessica Snow, Amy Dombek and Sandy Powell also had excellent defensive games for the Lady Rams.

Lake Brantley had a golden opportunity at the 21:12 mark when Lake Mary was called for obstruction in the box, setting up an indirect free kick from 10 yards out. The kick was deflected by the Lake Mary wall, though, and Brantley could do nothing with the subsequent corner kick.

Schaefer nearly got the equalizer for Brantley with 12:34 left to play when she hit a free kick from 40 yards out that sailed just over the crossbar. Terry Peters then came off the bench to ignite Lake Mary's offense for the next five minutes. But Brantley was back threatening again at the 7:10 mark when another well-taken free kick by Schaefer was saved by Scott.

Brantley's best two chances of the game came in the last three minutes and it took Scott's two most spectacular saves to preserve the victory.

With three minutes remaining, Jennifer McMaster made a nice run down the right side and sent a great crossing ball to Harding who tapped a shot toward the goal but Scott stretched out for a sensational diving save.

Lake Brantley's last chance for a goal came with nine seconds left as Schaefer set up another free kick and again got off an excellent shot but Scott leaped up and tapped it over.

Myasthenia gravis weakens muscles

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 67 and have been told I have myasthenia gravis, but was given no details. What can I expect?

DEAR READER: Myasthenia gravis is a chronic nerve disease, characterized by episodic muscle weakness. The illness is known to be autoimmune, meaning that patients become allergic to a normal component in their own bodies. In the case of myasthenia gravis, this allergy is to the acetylcholine receptor at the neuromuscular junction, the precise area where electrical impulses jump from the nerve to the muscle. Patients with myasthenia experience weakness because nerve impulses are prevented from reaching the muscles, so the muscles cannot contract.

The most common symptoms of myasthenia are double vision (because of weak ocular muscles), dropped upper eyelids and generalized fatigue following exercise. Difficulty swallowing and breathing can complicate the picture. Life-threatening respiratory paralysis occurs in about 10 percent of patients.

The diagnosis is established by the injection of edrophonium, a drug that temporarily enhances the transmission of nerve impulses to muscle. Myasthenic patients will experience a miraculously prompt improvement in strength and symptoms. However, the effect is transitory.

Long-term treatment, using similar drugs (neostigmine or pyridostigmine), is almost always successful in permanently reversing much of the weakness myasthenic patients experience.

MEDICINE

In selected cases of severe myasthenia, thymectomy (removal of the thymus gland) is beneficial. The thymus may be a major source of the allergic antibodies that affect the nerves.

Finally, some patients are helped by plasmapheresis, a technique by which large volumes of blood are removed and the red blood cells are re-infused back into the patient. The removal of the liquid portion of the blood, which contains antibodies, enables certain patients to reduce the doses of medicine.

In summary, myasthenia gravis can be controlled by a variety of methods. However, the treatment of the disease is tricky and should be undertaken only by experienced specialists, such as neurologists.

Notes aren't enough for loan repayment

DEAR ABBY: You advise people never to lend money without getting a "note" stating the terms of repayment. But if the borrower is a fake, you'll have a hard time collecting, regardless of a written note—even with a court judgment.

In addition to a written note, a smart lender will secure collateral property. People are far less likely to walk away when something valuable can revert to the lender.

I should point out that many a borrower has every honest intention of repaying, but "times get tough" or other "unexpected bills" pile up. Whether planned or unintentional, a default turns that lender into a donor. Everyone should regard a loan—even to a friend or relative—as a business transaction, and treat it accordingly.

NOBOFTIE

DEAR NO BOFTIE: You are right, of course. A good rule to follow: Lend no more than you can afford to lose. Or, putting it another way: Consider the money you lend a "gift," and if (or when) it's repaid, regard it as a present.

DEAR ABBY: I've never seen anything regarding answering machine etiquette—what kind of message is proper, and what is not. Are there any guidelines? I have heard some rather wild and crazy stuff on answering machines. Some are even X-rated.

CURIOSUS

DEAR CURIOSUS: On your own machine, resist being clever, cute or original. Simply say,

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"hello, you have reached ...." (then state your telephone number). "If you wish to leave a message, please do so—but please wait for the beep."

When leaving a message on someone else's machine, simply leave your name, the hour and day you called, and if you want the party to return your call, leave your phone number.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for including the USS Midway in your America Remembers/Operation Dear Abby IV campaign. The response has been absolutely incredible! Our public affairs office has a bin full of letter from all over the United States. The guys here are thrilled.

I personally have written to a number of school kids, grandparents and former Navy men, and look forward to hearing from them in the future.

Please touch these ceramics

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald correspondent

SANFORD — You'd hardly think of a ceramics exhibition as one that encourages you to handle the artwork. Quite frankly, you'd probably expect to be separated by a velvet museum rope from the fragile pieces in a show.

"But these artists have made pieces that are very tactile and just call out to be touched," said Grady Kimsey, Seminole Community College ceramics professor, about the current exhibition in the Fine Arts Gallery at SCC.

The ceramic artwork on display through Feb. 9 is meant to be experienced with a variety of senses.

Eyes will be delighted with the dancing colors and designs created with brushstrokes, splatters and sprayers over stencils. Fingers will beg to feel the craggy textures juxtaposed with the cool, smooth layers. A touch will reveal a hollow clang on a piece that appeared to be hewn from natural stone.

The artists encourage loving touches of their work: The exhibit is a celebration for the senses.

Local ceramists Steve Howell of DeLand, Susan Hudson of Winter Park and Steve Jepson of Geneva each display his or her own unique style in the intimate setting of the college's gallery.

Natural light streams in from large windows to illuminate the pieces. A few visitors wander from artwork to artwork, observe in silence or offer commentary to one another on style or technique.

Steve Howell's pieces are large and bold. The colors are bright, splashed with pinks, teal blues and gold. The shapes are vaguely bowl-like and the textures vary not only from piece to piece, but also from one layer to the next on individual works.

Howell garners awards wherever he enters his work into competition. Most recently, he was honored with the "Best of Ceramics" award at Walt Disney World's Festival of the Masters and "Best of Show" at the Winter Park Fall Art Festival.

Susan Hudson, head of the ceramics department at the Crealde School of Art in Winter Park, concentrates her efforts on more functional pieces. An elegant tea set in blue and white exemplifies her work. The slip trailing technique of delecting delicate, raised patterns with wet clay is a mainstay of Hudson's style.

While her work is more subdued than that of Howell, it stands out in the beauty of its simplicity.

Steve Jepson, who owns his own award-winning pottery studio in Geneva, falls somewhere between Howell and Hudson in his use of color and texture. While most of his pieces have a functional quality about them, they also are creatively textured and somewhat whimsical.

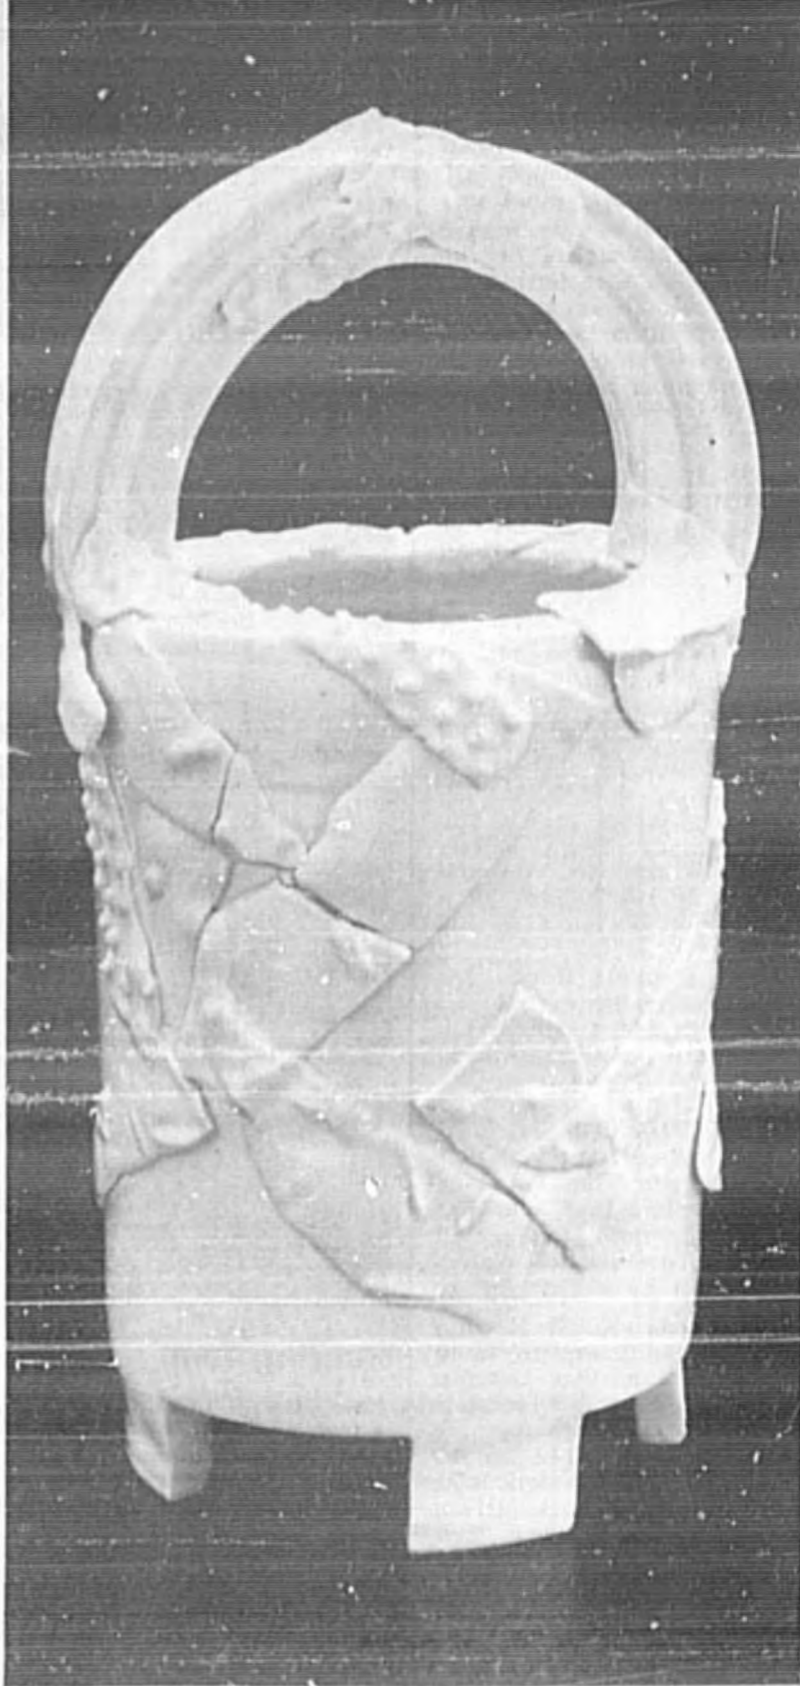

"All three of these artists are concerned with surface decor," Kimsey noted. "They use slip trailing, underglazing and stains in innovative ways. It is almost as if they are using the ceramics as a canvas."

The exhibit blasts the stereotype that confines ceramics to an artform poured into commercial molds and painted with monotonous hues. Each artist works in a diverse way, molding his or her own personal style into the pieces on the pedestals.

"I think they are very concerned with making this medium an expression of themselves," Kimsey said.

And they have met their concerns in wondrous fashion.

The Seminole Community College Fine Arts Gallery is located in the Fine Arts building (Building G) to the left, as Weldon Road dead-ends in front of the SCC gymnasium. Gallery hours are Monday and Wednesday 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday from noon to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

This untitled piece by Susan Hudson gives the intriguing contrast of asymmetrical smoothness and random roughness.

Pope warns of new tensions in '89

United Press International

VATICAN CITY — Pope John Paul II praised progress made during 1988 in East-West relations and toward disarmament, but said Monday current tensions in the Mediterranean show "how fragile is the international equilibrium."

In this annual address to members of the Vatican diplomatic corps from some 115 countries, the Roman Catholic pontiff reviewed the events of last year and urged renewed efforts on behalf of peace and human rights.

John Paul spoke in French from a gold brocade chair to the diplomats assembled in an ornate state room of the Apostolic Palace.

"The Holy See has some cause to rejoice in the consolidation of detente between East and West as well as progress registered in the sector of disarmament," the Pope said, referring to U.S.-Soviet negotiations on strategic nuclear arms and international efforts to ban chemical weapons.

"A propos," he said, "the Holy See hopes that the conference under way in Paris on the prohibition of chemical arms brings durable fruits."

Also on the positive side, the Polish-born pontiff cited a change in the political climate in Eastern Europe and the PLO recognition of Israel's right to exist, which paved the way for an opening of dialogue between the United States and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

He also praised the truce in the 8-year-old Iran-Iraq war, Soviet troop withdrawals from Afghanistan, new initiatives on Cambodia, Vietnam and Korea, agreements on Namibian independence, and worldwide efforts to help earthquake victims in the Soviet republic of Armenia.

"But subjects of concern are not lacking, alas, lessening our confidence a little," the pope said. "In these recent days, tension is rising in the Mediterranean to show once again how fragile is the international equilibrium."

The pontiff apparently referred to the U.S. downing of two Libyan MIG jets last Wednesday amid charges that Libya is building a plant to manufacture chemical weapons.

John Paul also expressed "dismay" over the threat to national unity in Lebanon, and said the Vatican supports minorities elsewhere in the world who are "threatened in their existence or their identity."

Turning to Central America, he called on all parties to "courageously resume the path to the sincere and constructive dialogue" and urged the creation of national committees of reconciliation as proposed under an accord signed by the region's leaders.

Youth ministry deemed essential to Catholics

United Press International

While Roman Catholic young people yearn for a spiritually satisfying life and are open to the church, both cults and evangelical Protestant groups are gaining a significant number of traditionally Catholic young people.

"Youth seek a relationship with God ... see a return to positive and traditional values ... are open to learning about their faith and experiencing the sacraments (and) prayer but (they) are not generally finding these needs fulfilled by the local church," said a new report prepared for the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

The survey of youth and youth ministry was undertaken at the request of the Vatican as part of its effort to get an overall view of the pastoral situation of young people around the world.

It suggests that American Catholicism is having some of the same problems with recruitment of members by fundamentalist and evangelical groups as are churches in a number of Latin American countries.

In addition, the growing attractiveness of cults and other small, intense religious groups parallels problems mainline Protestant and Jewish groups have reported in recent years.

"In the United States cults and sects pose somewhat of a problem, especially for older adolescents and young adults," the report to the Vatican said.

"The most serious threat is from various fundamentalist groups," the report added, but it also cited as posing a somewhat lesser threat such groups as the Unification Church, Jehovah's Witnesses, Hare Krishna, Church of Scientology, The Way International, Word International and Satanic groups.

According to the survey, the primary reason for the popularity of sects is that they respond to adolescents' needs "for belonging, acceptance and fellowship" and "seem to be more successful at tapping into the idealism of Catholic youth."

"These sects place a heavy emphasis on evangelization, outreach and fellowship," the report said. "Cults tend to provide black and white answers to a world filled with complex decisions and gray areas."

In the United States today, the report noted, young people are forced to make decisions about issues that were not asked of their parents when they were young.

How to mend hearts after tragedies

There were children who died in the earthquake in Armenia. What crime, what fault had these children committed?

There were young people who were among the 258 who perished on Pan Am flight 103 over Scotland. Why should their lives, so full of promise, have been snuffed out?

There are the young men and women — each the apple of some parent's eye — who lose their lives in highway crashes week after week.

How can grieving parents deal with such tragic misfortune? Are reactions of anger, rage and bitterness appropriate?

Let me tell you how two fathers responded to such tragedies in their lives.

On the Dartmouth College campus in Hanover, N.H., is a building named after a former Dartmouth student who died in action in World War I.

Inside is a book inscribed by one father to another. It says, "To Edward K. Hall, in recollection of his son and my son who have the privilege by the grace of God to be boys through all eternity." It is signed, "Calvin Coolidge," whose own life had been saddened by the untimely death of a beloved son.

The other story is about a history professor at Hiram College in Ohio. He was a Quaker.

RELIGION

His son went to Vietnam as a civilian serving in the pacification forces. During the Tet offensive he was killed by the Vietcong.

A former student of the professor's wrote his old teacher upon learning of the boy's death. Something about the professor's reply surprised the former student, whose name was Sam. There was nothing in the letter that reflected rage or anger at the Vietcong.

Instead, the father wrote warmly about his memories of his son. One line at the end of that letter has remained with the former student: "I like to think, Sam," the professor wrote, "of what he might have been."

In subsequent years their paths — Sam's and the professor's — crossed a few more times, "and whenever," said Sam, "we talked of his children, he would recall Steve. He would smile, his eyes would water and he would use those same words he used when he wrote to me in 1978: 'Oh Sam, what he might have been.' Never a clenching of fists, never a word of anger. Only a wistful smile of regret."

There are those who will tell us that when we are victims of injustice of cruelty or barbarity, hatred and anger are the appropriate responses. Unless we keep it vividly in memory, we are warned, history's inhumanity will repeat itself.

But it is not forgetting past hurts or past injustices that gives occasion to new hurts and new injustices. It is bitterness and anger over the past that do this.

Sam's old history teacher knew the hurt and the injustice that a cruel fate can mete out. But he knew too that hatred and remembrance of the horror can make the pain worse.

So he turned his thoughts instead to what might have been and what could have been in a world where the "destruction that it's waste" at noonday or in darkness cannot touch us. It is in such thoughts of heaven that the broken heart finds healing.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

How can a bridge teacher persuade his pupils to avoid hasty and careless play? Those who write about the game say it in different ways — plan the play, think before playing to the first trick, count your tricks, etc. Philip Alder has a different way of expressing the concept in his Bols bridge tip for 1988. His advice is: "Don't be impulsive — consider the alternatives." Try today's example. After you open one diamond in third position, partner jumps to two hearts. By agreement you play this jump by a passed hand as showing diamond support plus a decent heart suit. So you ask for aces and bid a grand slam. When the king of spades is led, every declarer will certainly win the ace and play a diamond to dummy. Is it a surprise to anyone that nine out of 10 declarers will now cash the club ace and shed the spade loser? Later, when hearts are played, East makes a trick. How impulsive! Considering the alternative saves the day. In dummy with a diamond, play the ace of clubs and shed a heart. Now play king and ace of hearts and ruff a heart. Return to dummy with another diamond and ruff another heart. The last heart in dummy is now a winner, and declarer can return via the diamond suit to finally get rid of his losing spade.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books. (C)1989, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
