

GENOA CONFERENCE OVERFLOW MEET AT HAGUE FOR PEACE OF WORLD

Experts Will Further Examine the Russian Problem

U. S. NOT READY

TO RECOGNIZE SOVIET GOVERNMENT UNTIL COUNTRY HAS SETTLED DOWN

(By The Associated Press)
GENOA, May 18.—Sir Edward Grigg announced on behalf of the British delegation this afternoon further advice received from the United States government and did not seem likely the United States would participate in the Hague meeting at least until scope of meeting was better understood.

GENOA, May 16.—Non-aggression pact adopted unanimously at plenary session of political sub-commission of Genoa conference today. Pact was not signed but adopted in form of resolution. Each state pledging itself to respect it.

GENOA, May 18.—The Hague has been definitely selected as the meeting place for the experts who will further examine the Russian problem, it was announced last night. Arrangements for the Hague conference in June were practically completed with yesterday's acceptance by the Russians of the proposals submitted to them, which have been amended so as to provide that a truce between the various powers will continue for a maximum of eight months.

A meeting of the full political commission of the conference will be held this morning and the final plenary session probably on Friday. Premier Lloyd George hopes to start for England Friday afternoon.

The process verbal relating to the Lloyd George plan for dual commissions to meet at the Hague which was presented to the Russians on Monday last was adopted with an annex. With the amendments carried today by the sub-commission it will be sent to Washington probably with a letter of the secretary of the Genoa conference which is likely to be considered today at a meeting of the full political commission.

A second important amendment to the document provides that the truce will continue to operate for a period of four months after adjournment of the Hague meeting.

This extension is considered a victory for Lloyd George because it provides more time for the consummation of the permanent non-aggression pact into which he hopes the truce will be merged.

After a conference with Mr. Lloyd George, M. Barthou and M. Jasper announced that the French and Belgian delegates approved yesterday's proceedings but must refer the whole matter to their home governments for ratification. When asked last night whether France intended to participate in the Hague meeting, the French spokesman answered that it was too early to say.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Any question of the recognition by the United States of the Russian soviet government lies beyond the time when restoration of productivity in Russia shall have been set in motion by that country itself, according to an authoritative and plainly spoken outline of this government obtained yesterday. Refusal to participate both in the Genoa conference and in the proposed commission consideration of Russian affairs at the Hague, it was added, was based on the conviction that such a restoration could not be hoped for under the terms outlined in the Russian memorandum of May 11 at Genoa.

In the meantime it was explained, the United States is ready to embark with other powers on any purely scientific investigation of conditions in Russia with a view to recommending as to steps necessary for the commercial, financial and industrial revival of that country; but it will have no part in any deliberations which even imply a recognition of the soviet regime and would thus tend to "perpetuate delusions" among the Russian people.

SANDERSVILLE, Ga., May 18.—Mrs. Mills Kitchen, 18, was shot and killed today at a lonely spot on the public highway about five miles from Davisboro. Officers said the crime was committed by two negroes. Posses are scouring the country for the suspected slayers.

Mrs. Kitchen was a rural mail carrier and had stopped to put mail in a box at a farm house when the negroes attacked her. The negroes escaped in her automobile but are reported to have been captured this afternoon when the car broke down near Riddleville. Report added that a mob are preparing to lynch them.

WOMEN ARE ADMITTED TO BOARD MEMBERSHIPS SOUTHERN BAPTIST MEETING

Change in Constitution Adopted After a Spirited Debate

JACKSONVILLE, May 18.—Women will be admitted to membership on executive committee and various boards of the Southern Baptist convention here today. A change in the constitution adopted after a spirited disapproval from Dr. J. W. Porter, DLouisville, who quoted Apostle Paul's abjuration of women speaking in church. "We have started on a down grade and time will come when women will preside over this convention," he said. A change in the constitution does not provide for any specific number of women on the executive committee and boards, as asked in memorial for woman's missionary union, but leaves number to be determined from year to year. Action on the proposal preceded reports on foreign missions and home education.

The Baptists adopted report which termed Darwin evolution theory "not science at all but just theory."

HISTORIC HOSPITAL DESTROYED BY FIRE AT ROME TODAY— 16 PATIENTS' BODIES FOUND

Santo Spirito Hospital Was Founded in Twelfth Century by Pope Innocent III

ROME, May 18.—A disastrous fire swept the historic hospital of Santo Spirito, one of the most picturesque and ancient charitable institutions in Rome today. Sixteen bodies were recovered from the burning ruins at 7:30 this morning. Institution accommodates nearly 5,000 patients and includes hospital, lunatic asylum, foundling home and refuge for aged and infirm. Flames originated at midnight in the laundry. Insignificant at first but spread rapidly to neighboring wards, each containing thirty chronic or infirm patients, who became panic stricken. Wooden beams collapsed burying twenty chronic patients. Rescuers rushed through the fire and smoke and brought out twelve but all were dead from suffocation. Santo Spirito was founded in the twelfth century by Pope Innocent, III.

SMITH WOULD REVISE THE STATE ROAD DEPARTMENT INTO EFFICIENT ORGANIZATION

And Under the Head of One Competent Commissioner Instead of Five

The recommendation that the present road department law which provides for a commission of five members to supervise highway construction in the state be amended and that a department of highways under the supervision of one commissioner be created replacing the present commission was made yesterday by Hon. M. M. Smith, a former chairman of the state road department and a recognized authority on highway construction.

Mr. Smith also advocated the use of the best materials obtainable in building Florida's roads, declaring that it was "penny wise and pound foolish" to build highways with cheap material under present traffic conditions. He made the following statement to a reporter for the Sentinel:

"Florida has reached a stage in development when cheap roads will no longer carry the burden of traffic which they are now called upon to carry, in the shape of heavy tonnage on trucks, to say nothing of the heavy passenger car with its speed. The day has come when practically all short hauls of merchandise and freight of all kinds are carried on trucks and it is not an uncommon thing to see a two and a half to five ton truck loaded to the brim, going over our roads from fifteen to twenty-five miles per hour.

"Within the past five years especially, the nation has been discussing the road problem. It is strange but true that it often takes a great calamity to arouse the people to a true sense of their needs. The road question was brought forcibly to the attention of the American people by the great world war, which showed not only the needs for substantial highways, but the benefits as well to any county, state, or nation.

"The day of the sand-clay road, the rock road, and the 9-foot road for trunk line highways is a thing of the past. It is true these types of road served their day and did a herculean task, but the traffic of today alone, to say nothing of the future traffic, is too heavy a burden for them to bear, and it is a "penny wise and pound foolish" man who says: "Let's build cheaper roads, let's get two miles where we have been getting one," and calling upon the bureau of public roads at Washington to modify its specifications. It is not cheaper roads nor narrower roads, but wider, more substantial, and better roads that Florida as well as every other state in the nation needs, for the roads are to be called upon to carry the ever increasing tonnage which is necessary.

"There are those who favor the district plan in state road building, just as the old plan prevails in counties today—five districts, and every member, not only on the boards of county commissioners, but every member of the state road department trying to get all he can for his 'district.'

"I am convinced thoroughly that if ever a state wide system of trunk line roads is to be a reality, or if this is to come in any reasonable length of time, some other plan than that now in effect will have to be put into operation. My own opinion, and this too after very careful thought and consideration, not only of the dangers but the benefits as well of this plan, is that a more effective and efficient road department would be the abolishment of the present plan of five members and the creation of a department of highways, with the office of highway commissioner, and then let the legislature provide a salary commensurate with the duties to be performed and the re-

Kiwanians Had Great Time Yesterday

The regular luncheon of the Kiwanis Club held at the Valdez yesterday was a humdinger. The boys were all there full of pep and ginger and wanted everybody to know it. Kiwanian Connelly reported the results of the Waterways hearing at Titusville Tuesday, and assured the club that ere long the Kiwanians could be the guest of the Captain of the Majestic, largest liner afloat, when she tied up at the city dock in Lake Monroe.

Kiwanians Swope, Russel and Walmsa are headed for the International Convention at Toronto. It is needless to say that these gentlemen will adequately represent Sanford and will bring the Sanford Club standing before the International.

Mr. Phillips, of Lake Mary, ably assisted by Mr. Ball, also of Lake Mary, were guests of the Club and told the boys about Lake Mary, and what was being done at Lake Mary. Mr. Phillips said that "Some people did not know where Lake Mary was or how to get there, but that all roads lead to Lake Mary" and that there would be seventy-five new houses going up there before the close of next season.

Mr. Scoggin was the speaker of the day and occupied the full ten minutes with a splendid talk on "Florida, the greatest State, and Sanford the Greatest City in Florida." Kiwanian Scoggin gave many incidents of what was being done in other states, and how Sanford and Florida, were outdoing them.

Prof. Lawton, of the Educational Committee, spoke on suggestion of Secretary Davis that all immigrants be registered.

At this juncture Ed. Lane received a telegram which he asked permission to read. The telegram follows:

"Mr. Ed. Lane,
"Sanford,
"Understand Kiwanian Jno. Dean will take unto himself one wife on or about June 15th; that said wife will be a great comfort to Johnnie and will assure a regular and prompt attendance at all Kiwanian meetings, etc."
"CORN COB JIM."

Doc Dean was asked for a speech, and responding admitted that the accusation was true.

Ralph Wigh will speak for weeks from yesterday.

415 Votes Cast for Bonds and 53 Against the Bonds

RATIO OF 8 TO 1

ELECTION WAS VERY QUIET
ONE HUT LARGE VOTE WAS POLLED

Bonds for city improvements to the amount of $625,000 were carried here yesterday in a ratio of about 8 to 1 for the bonds. The official figures in the election were 415 votes for the bonds and 53 against the bonds which was about the number of votes that the wise ones figured would be cast against them. There is rarely ever a big vote on any bonding proposition. The average citizen thinks the bonds will be carried whether he votes or not and he is usually disposed to allow the other fellow to carry the bond issue without him. This is true of all election for bonds in all communities. It was surprising to the majority of the people here last night to learn that so many had voted in the bond election. There are about 1,500 voters in the city. Out of this number there were 562 that had not paid their poll taxes or in other words there were 938 that could vote out of which only 469 did vote and considering the vote polled it was one of the largest that has ever voted on a bond issue considering the population.

There was but very little demonstration over the bond issue the facts and figures being presented to the voters in the Herald and in circulars and the streets to be improved were all given with the amount of money to be expended. The $625,000 in bonds really means that the people voted for public improvements yesterday the sum of $290,000. Outstanding warrants will be taken up in the sum of $35,000, making a total of $325,000. Abutting property owners will pay the sum of $300,000 back to the city for these improvements thus making up the total issue for bonds yesterday of $625,000.

The bonds are for new streets, sewers, a municipal pier on the lake, boat basin and many other improvements needed here including a library building.

There was some opposition to the bond issue just as there is opposition to all bond issues and there is opposition to every candidate that aspires to an office. People have the right to vote for bonds and against bonds just as their fancy dictates and no bond issue was ever carried unanimously. The bond issue in Sanford that will come as near being unanimous will be the one for municipal ownership that will come later and will carry by the largest majority that any bond issue ever had in the south. These bonds will be levied against the municipal plants and not against the city although the bonds will be secured by the vote of the people of Sanford.

AIN'T IT THE TRUTH?

The Ocala Star takes the Tampa Times to task for laughing at Park Trammell's exploit of several years ago when he used Henry Brady's New England society dinner speech, and then had it printed in pamphlet form and circulated at his own. The Star thinks entirely too much has been said on this subject, no doubt agreeing with Mr. Trammell, and says the Tampa Times also uses stuff it did not originate. If Brother Benjamin is going to put the Indian sign on all editors who are forced by time and other duties to permit someone else to express an opinion for them he might as well start at the head of the class, and the News pleads guilty with the rest. The editor of the average Florida daily uses the title simply because it is custom. He is also proofreader, local reporter, sports writer, advertising solicitor, copy chaser, bill collector, galley boy, assistant to every other individual in the shop—at least, we are—and if some good guy further along writes a sentimental essay on why music makes the old cow give more milk and in the rush of affairs it saves us leaving an editorial column filled with A. P. advance matter we see no objection to letting a confiding public believe that we would stoop to such slop, for we know that we can do better ourselves. Everybody in the state knows that Brother Benjamin uses nothing but original matter, but it is an accusation instead of an admission. WASTING OUR CHILDREN'S PATRIMONY

Michigan has gone through an experience in the last three-quarters of a century, toward which Florida is rapidly hastening, and which will inevitably be hers, if she fails to profit by the lessons which her sister state of the north has to offer. When settlers first began to flock into Michigan from the east the stories told of the new land, resembled very closely those which we have heard of Florida in recent years. It was represented as a land of swamps and marshes, of malaria and mosquitoes, whose unlucky pioneers were constantly shaking with "fever 'n ager" and kept alive by liberal and frequent doses of quinine, or "kineen" as its shaking devotees called it.

But there was more in Michigan than merely chills and fever. There were seemingly illimitable forests of white pine in the northern part of the southern peninsula and stretching far down to the south. The northern had valuable mines of iron and copper to be developed, and it too had a vast wealth in forests of white pine which had never been touched by the axe of the lumberman. But it was not to remain long in its primitive wildness. The story went out of its great forests of the finest building timber in the world, and attracted great numbers of lumbermen who came with their gigantic saw-mills, cutting millions of feet of lumber every day, and denuding thousands of acres of the trees which had been growing for centuries. There was an active demand for the lumber, not only from the fast developing west, but from points as far east as Massachusetts, in fact, all over the nation. Thriving towns were built up around the lumbering centers, railroads penetrated every corner of the land and there was wonderful prosperity. The inexhaustible forests were cut down and sold and "cut over" lands replaced them, and stand today as lasting monuments of the wasteful folly of mankind. They are unsightly barrens, defying the efforts of nature to cover them again with vegetation because of the annual fires which sweep over them, burning out what little fertility they might have once possessed. The once lively lumber towns are deserted and decadent. The railroads which once were loaded with supplies going in to the camps and lumber going out to all parts of the country, now have no freight to carry, and are rusting away in idleness.

It is a dismal story but one that has been told of many states of the Union, from Maine to Montana, and will yet be told of Florida, for our state is traveling the same wasteful road. We could avert the coming disaster by a wise system of reforestation, by replanting the land as fast as the present growth is cut, but that would require more foresight and care than the average lumberman is willing to exercise. Nature would do our reforesting if we would give her a chance, but we refuse to do even that. If the cut-over lands were fenced and protected from fire the most of them would eventually be covered with a growth of young pines which would be of immense value in a generation or two. But that is too long for impatient Americans to wait. After us, may come the deluge, but what do we care? So we may go on carelessly wasting the patrimony of future generations. Laws are needed for the proper conservation of our forest wealth, but while it is a comparatively simple matter to get thousands of foolish laws enacted, it is difficult to get a sane and sensible one considered by any legislature.

What Michigan is up against and what is eventually coming to Florida is told in the following extract from an editorial in the Atlanta Constitution on this subject:

During recent years worthless cut-over lands by the thousands of acres have been reverting to the state of Michigan in lieu of the tax moneys assessed against them. Already, more than two million acres of unproductive land have thus gone into bankruptcy in Michigan; whole towns have been dismantled and scrapped. The last decennial census shows that not only is the rural population of Michigan declining, but that during the last ten years preceding 1920 almost 14,000 Michigan farms have been deserted; and it has been estimated that the people of Michigan are now sending out of the state over $30,000,000 annually for lumber produced in the south and west, while millions of acres of formerly good growing forest lands, sapped of their fertility by repeated fires lie as an unsightly waste at their very doors.—Tampa Times.

SHORTER ROAD TO JUSTICE

There are indications to encourage the belief that the courts, from the smallest to the largest, are responding to the general policy of avoiding waste and getting results by the least expenditure of the public money and at the same time preserving the rights of the citizen.

While much is yet to be desired in the work of bringing about reforms in court procedure, it is plain that the old-time methods of delaying justice as long as possible are not being received with very good favor by the judges of the present day. The courts are showing more of a tendency to get at the truth, rather than to aid high-priced lawyers earn large fees. The days of the lawyers who would browbeat witnesses and attempt to divert juries from the honest examination of the evidence appear to be passing and the lawyer who depended on his eloquence to bring about the acquittal of his client is not in so much favor as formerly, either by judge or jury.

It is gratifying to see that the jurists who have the confidence of the public to the largest degree are insisting that business methods be adopted by attorneys and others who come into court; that the truth be laid before the courts in the shortest possible time, and that cases stand more and more upon their merits.

The change, though it has not assumed unusual proportions is a real one, and a comparison with the methods of a few years ago will demonstrate the practical character of the new judicial practice. There is still much to be done in the same direction, and judges can advance the reform by insisting on strict adherence to the principles of law as they should be applied in the interests of obtaining justice.—DeLand News.

NOW FOR A BIG CITY

Sanford voted bonds yesterday for $625,000 for new streets, for sewers, for a municipal pier and boat basin and for many other improvements greatly needed here and improvements that will mean a city of ten thousand people here in the next two years. This bond issue was carried by such a handsome majority that it is a cause for congratulation to the men and women of Sanford who have a vision of the future greatness of Sanford. The bond issue was carried by a ratio of eight to one which will have a big bearing in the bond market when it comes to selling the bonds for these figures mean that a big majority of the people of Sanford are in favor of bonds for improvements such as those contemplated. There were 53 people on the other hand who did not think that Sanford should take on any more indebtedness and thought perhaps that the city was large enough, that the people had enough streets and sewers and that the lake front did not need any pier or boat basin, that tourists were not desirable and were well content to let the place drift along as it has for the past ten years. They were honest in their convictions and had a perfect right to vote as they pleased. On the other hand the vote and the present spirit manifested in Sanford means that the old days are over, that the city must advance and expand if it is to become the largest city in this part of the state, that many good people on the west side must have paved streets and they have never had any, that the suburbs growing as rapidly as they are must be served with streets and sewers and they are entitled to this service, that if the St. Johns river is to get deeper water and become the inland Waterway of Florida Sanford must have adequate docking facilities and have a fine concrete pier that will have two approaches for autos, trucks and other service. That if tourists are to come here with their yachts in the winter and in the summer Sanford must have a boat basin, a library building is needed here and many other improvements that can only be made through a bond issue.

The biggest thing about Sanford at the present time is that the city is growing as fast or faster than any city of this size in the entire south. The greatest asset of this city at present is the great feeling of optimism that permeates the entire citizenship and that has spread to other parts of the country until now you cannot meet anyone anywhere that is not talking about the city of Sanford and the wonderful prospects of this city. For the past three years this city has been constricted in population on account of the lack of houses and business blocks and office buildings. The people wanted to come here but could not get accommodations. Now these houses and store rooms and office buildings will be built and the suburbs will come into their own with the needed improvements. People will not hesitate to go farther out to build their homes now for they will have all the conveniences of the city and Sanford will grow as never before in every part of the city.

The bond issue being voted at the ratio of eight to one will have a great effect on the entire state of Florida and will be heralded far and near as one of the big achievements of a Florida city of seven thousand inhabitants.

Sanford had a fine system of paved streets and was among the pioneer cities of the state having some of the first brick paved streets that were put down in Florida. With the improvements in this respect to be made here in the next six months Sanford will have the finest system of paved streets of any city in the state, will have a perfect sewer system, will have a 60,000 municipal pier that will be as good as any city of twenty-five thousand can boast and will have many other improvements that will place Sanford in the front ranks of the progressive cities of the south.

INCREASE IN GAS PRICES; THE SENATE INVESTIGATES

Gasoline is a universal commodity. It is the backbone of modern methods of transportation and an invaluable force in the hands of man in carrying in his various industrial and agricultural activities. Until a satisfactory and cheaper substitute is discovered, gasoline will be classed as one of the essential necessities. At present there is nothing to take its place—that is, in a comparative sense, taking into consideration the eternal problems of maximum service for minimum cost.

Therefore, the rise in the price of gasoline affects everybody, in one way or another. Especially is this true in the United States where the commodity is used to the extent of millions of gallons daily. This country consumes by far greater quantities of gas than all the countries of the earth combined.

It naturally follows everybody is interested in the investigation ordered by the Senate to determine whether a conspiracy exists among big oil producers to gouge the public, and the quicker the investigation is carried out and the results announced more general will be the satisfaction expressed; for if the investigation is a long drawn out affair, as the majority of similar investigations are, the public will conclude it is nothing more than a white-washing process.

What the public is interested in is the price of gasoline, which has been on the incline for several weeks and is still headed skyward. The increase can hardly be charged to the retailers and wholesalers, and recognizing this the Senate is aiming at the sources of supply, where in all probability the trouble lies. The "small fellows" do not gain by an increase—the percentage of their profits seldom varies, and keen competition causes them to favor the lowest possible prices. Nothing keeps prices stabilized as well as competition, which is to be found in the wholesale and retail fields of the gasoline business in an intensified form, but this competition counts for nothing as far as the public is concerned if the big producers have reached an "agreement."—Jacksonville Metropolis.

BANK ADVERTISING.

Bank advertising is a form of publicity that does more good to the community as a community than that of any other business or profession. It is always a pleasure for us to print the statements of conditions as called for, by the State and Federal governments, and which invariably shows substantial growth of Clermont's two fine banks.

In the advertising columns of this issue of the Press, we are printing the statement of the First State Bank of Clermont as called for by the Comptroller on Friday, May 5. These statements are required of every bank and are asked unannounced at different periods throughout the year, in order that the public, as well as the Comptroller, may keep informed as to the different bank's condition.

We have often wondered if Florida bankers themselves realized what a tremendous influence the publication of these statements have had in the development of the state. In many of the larger cities the banks use liberal space in newspapers to show their strength and growth and in that respect Clermont has come in for her full share of publicity.

Recently the publishers of the Press received a letter from Noah M. V. Gerig, one of the most successful farmers in northern Indiana, a man who has accumulated a comfortable fortune by hard work and consistent banking and one who has probably won more prizes at county fairs than any other we know of. In acknowledging receipt of copies of the Press, Mr. Gerig writes:

"We received the papers you sent and read every page and every advertisement, too. We note by the large increase in the Banks' business that your section looks very good."

And as the Florida Metropolis says, "With Florida reported as being in the best economic condition of any state in the Union by the bank examiners of the Federal Reserve System; with the acknowledged best climate in the world and just on the verge of a glorious Florida summer; with the fish biting, the oleanders in full bloom, and the mocking birds splitting their throats in song, why should we worry? The sun shines in the heavens, the governments at Washington and Tallahassee still live and peace reigns."

And this reminds us of the great value of banks to the community in other ways than lending money and helping in a business way. They constantly try to impress on the public that making money and keeping money are different, for in the end it is the money you save that does you the most good—therefore start a savings account where you know your money is safe. Banks really pay you to save your money and compound this payment quarterly. It has been quite forcefully demonstrated that the safest place to keep money, more than is needed for pocket change, is in a bank, as a Jacksonville woman recently learned who had stolen from her $300 which was hid under a mattress. But the Jacksonville woman is not alone in that matter. Hundreds hide money and often the savings of a life time melt away because some one steals it or the money is destroyed by fire. Others will tuck the money under a rug, beneath some clothing in a dresser, behind a picture or in the sugar bowl. As a matter of fact, all of these hiding places are standard ones and are first examined by a thief who knows even the first principles of getting others' valuables. If a bank is robbed, the depositor will be protected. A check book will take the place of ready cash and if it is lost or stolen, it can be easily replaced.—Clermont Press.

SMITH WOULD REVISE STATE ROAD DEPARTMENT INTO EFFICIENT ORGANIZATION

(Continued from Page One) responsibilities which would devolve upon the individual filling this office. Then seek the man, the business man, broad-minded, capable, and thoroughly competent to fill the position of highway commissioner; let him come from Florida or wherever he may be found, give him authority to employ all engineering and other help necessary, and tell him to "go to it and build roads." Of course I do not mean to take the bridle off, but make him responsible and compelled to report to the governor once each month, all of the doings of his department. Let the state see to it that his books are audited once each month. Let him be under a heavy bond, and let the governor have authority to remove him, with the consent of the senate, for sufficient cause. This, in my opinion, is the only way in which we will ever have a department of roads to function properly. Some one will say that this will be one-man rule, but not so, for he will be subject to removal for a proper cause by the chief executive of the state.

"As sure as fate some one must be entrusted with the road building of the state, and when this some one is made responsible and under a sufficient bond, he will make good, and Florida will be the beneficiary.

"During the last two or three sessions of congress there was a bill pending for the creation of a national highway commission, the duties of which commission would be to build national highways, but whether or not the building of such system should be undertaken by the National government direct or whether it would be better to work through the different state highway departments, connecting trunk line roads of the different states, is a matter for the congress to determine.

"Personally I believe a national highway commission should be appointed for the sole purpose of designing, laying out, and building a system of national roads, east and west, north and south, across the continent; at the same time I am greatly in favor of the government continuing federal aid to the states, through state road departments, as is now carried out under existing federal law. "I heartily approve of the efforts of the Road Department to complete Road No. 2 from the Georgia line to Lake City, and Road No. 1 from Lake City to Jacksonville, for these two links in the system are the keynote into South Florida and down the East Coast, as well as going west from Lake City, until such time as it is possible to complete Road No. 2, which will be shorter than via Lake City and Jacksonville into South Florida by 40 miles."—Orlando Sentinel.

More Facts You Should Know Buick First Again in Yellowstone Park!

Each year since Yellowstone Park was opened to automobile travel by the U. S. Government, more Buicks have made this difficult trip than any other car excepting Ford. The figures for 1921, just announced, show 1871 Buicks passed through the Park during that season, 412 more than any other make. The Yellowstone Park tour calls for every ounce of car performance—miles away from service for days at a time—the car must never fail. And that is why each year an increasing number of Park tourists depend on Buick. Buick cars measure up to Buick reputation.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

WE EAT TOO MUCH MEAT WHICH CLOGS KIDNEYS, THEN THE BACK HURTS

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery
in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.
This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive;
makes a delightful effervescent lithiawater drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

MAY SEEK LARGE FUND TO OBTAIN WATERWAY HELP

SLIGH SUGGESTS CLUB OF 5,000 MEMBERS TO ORGANIZE CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGN

Organization of an Inland Florida Watersway Club with at least 5,000 members backed by a fund of not less than $50,000 has been suggested by S. J. Sligh, a local shipper, for the purpose of sponsoring waterways legislation, before congress.

Mr. Sligh, who is president of the Central Florida Traffic League, declared yesterday that a plan similar to the foregoing would make realization of Inland Florida's demand for deepening of the St. Johns river channel and a supplementary canal system virtually assured. He said that with a fund of $50,000 raised by assessing members ten dollars each, a delegation could be sent to Washington in the interest of the desired legislation and committees would be able to keep in constant touch with every congressman in the country.

"It would certainly be no task at all to raise this amount in the counties that comprise this section of the state," Mr. Sligh said. "Not so long ago," he continued, "the citizens of St. Petersburg subscribed $25,000 to pay the expenses of a delegation in Washington in the interest of obtaining federal aid in deepening the harbor in order to raise ten times this amount necessary, to carry on this work which may be the means of saving millions of dollars."

Mr. Sligh and other local business men who attended the hearing before Major Lehman of the government engineering corps in Titusville Tuesday expressed the belief that the figures presented there would eventually serve to bring about favorable action on behalf of Inland Florida. It was said by many that the government could hardly be expected to overlook the rich country in the St. Johns river section in the face of the argument presented at Titusville by Judge Bland, Mr. Sligh and other speakers.

The brief submitted at the hearing disclosed the fact that tonnage figures for last year were 1,426,373 incoming and 1,594,500 outgoing and these, it is said, will increase from year to year as population and production becomes greater.—Orlando Sentinel.

That evening the women assembled and prepared a bountiful feast. After supper the young folks enjoyed themselves in merry games.

The ball team played a close and exciting game of ball with Longwood Saturday and won by a score of 3 to 2. Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's no easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Adv.

ALBERT W. GILCHRIST, PUNTA GORDA, FLA., GOVERNOR OF FLORIDA, 1909-1913 CANDIDATE U. S. SENATOR

Senator Park Trammell on the stump admits that he voted against the draft law, the only fair and just way of raising a great army, contrary to the wishes of President Wilson and the advice of the professional military staff, and to the action of all our allies.

Senator Trammell admits that he voted against the return of the railroads to private ownership.

Senator Trammell admits that he voted against the Woman's Suffrage Amendment.

Senator Trammell admits that during his 5 1/2 years as senator that no bill introduced by himself in the U. S. Senate has ever become a law.

The veterans of all wars, their widows for life and children to the age of sixteen, the veterans at the age of sixty to sixty-two, receive a pension, all disabled veterans receive a pension. This is a great adjusted compensation. The proposed bonus or adjusted compensation bill will cost the tax payers about $4,000,000,000. The soldiers of no other wars have ever received such. The soldiers of the world wide war should not receive the $4,000,000,000 bonus or adjusted compensation and a pension which is also an adjusted compensation. Trammell favors this bonus, Gilchrist is opposed to it. Gilchrist holds that there is nothing too good for the disabled soldiers, sailors and marines. If elected he will do all in his power for them.

Muscle Shoals for Henry Ford, U. S. to enter League of Nations with such reservation as will safeguard our country's interest. When the Republican tariff watermelon is cut, Florida to get some of its heart.
