How our ball caps got turned around

Oooh, the kids were goofy when I was growing up. We never wore our baseball caps backward. Some of us didn't even have caps. Nowadays, it seems everyone has a baseball cap. The cap people must be getting very rich, but I imagine some of them are disappointed that the caps they make are being worn backward.

Baseball caps are designed to be worn forward. The brim of the cap helps keep the sun out of our eyes. Unless someone has eyes in the back of his head, there's no practical reason to wear a cap backward.

But here's the catch. Wearing a cap backward is considered to be 1990s cool.

That's what all the kids will tell you. Wearing a baseball cap backward is definitely cool. Rappers wear their caps backward and they're cool. Ken Griffey Jr. of the Seattle Mariners likes to wear his cap backward. And Ken Griffey Jr. is the epitome of cool.

Baseball rules always prohibited players other than catchers to wear their caps backward in competition. There was an exception this year when the Seattle Mariners played a game in futuristic uniforms which allowed Griffey and his teammates to do something no team had done before.

Admittedly, there are far greater threats to society than kids wearing the baseball caps backward. No one has surveyed whether the kids who wore their caps forward did better at school than those who wore them backward. It could be worth checking.

Now and then you've probably seen youngsters wearing their caps sideways. This is sort of comical. Keep an eye on these kids with their caps sideways. They're liable to have their own TV shows in a few years.

The incredible Willie Mays used to purposely wear a cap a size small so it would fly off his head when he ran the bases or chased fly balls. Sey hey, that's the way.

There are fellows who wore their caps backward now in the Hall of Fame. They include immortals named Yogi, Campy and Johnny. In days gone by all the catchers wore their caps backward while they worked behind the plate. Today's catchers wear helmets without brims.

Who knows, baseball caps might not have brims one day. But as for now we'll have to brim rather than bear it.

Airport noise study lands at Timacuan

Lake Mary looks for more information on domestic air service

By Shari Brodie and Maria Orem
HERALD STAFF EDITORS

LAKE MARY - City officials want more information before they will support the addition of domestic air service, which has been proposed by Sanford, at the Orlando Sanford Airport.

The Lake Mary City Commission responded Thursday to a letter sent by Sanford Mayor Larry Dale, to City Manager John Litton, requesting airport for the expansion, as noise monitoring devices were being placed in the community of Timacuan.

The mayor and commissioners discussed the request at the work session prior to the regular commission meeting. Litton had forwarded the letter to the commission, but was not in attendance due to an out-of-town meeting. The commission voiced frustration for the lack of information contained in the letter sent by Dale.

"You want me to support it," said Commissioner George Duryea, "support what?"

Dale's letter that scheduled domestic air service "is needed to serve the growing residential population base," but gave no information to the extent of the proposed service.

Mayor David Meador said it was his understanding the service would be restricted to certain times, similar to service he had seen at the John Wayne Airport in Anaheim, Calif.

Duryea said domestic airlines generally use older, noisier planes and Commissioner Gary Brender said he felt the domestic service would impact the "already atrocious noise levels."

The Sanford Airport Authority is currently conducting a noise study, to determine the impact of noise from international flight, landing at the Orlando Sanford Airport, on communities such as Timacuan.

The $170,000 study, funded in part by the federal government, is being done by HNTB, an architectural, engineering and planning firm.

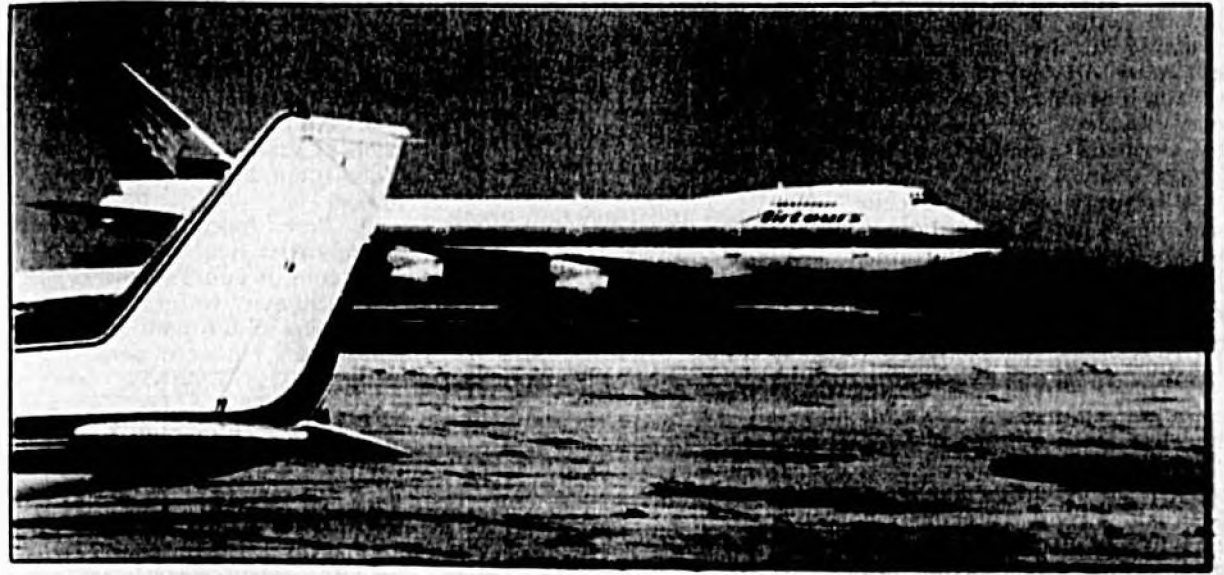

Jimmy Goff, the project manager, said the 12-month study will establish noise contours and help define "what a noise is to your ears."

"I pushed for (the study) to be done at Sanford, to show the people that think they have a noise problem that they probably do not," Goff said.

He said the noise study helps develop a plan for future management of the airport. "It helps educate people on how to work within the system."

Goff was at Timacuan Thursday, with Commissioner Thom Greene to locate the first noise monitoring device which will collect data for the study.

The country club community is in the western approach of the airport and residents had strongly complained of the aircraft noise. Timacuan is the first of about nine locations in and around Sanford that will be monitored to determine noise impact.

The device will be located in the community through the weekend. "It will be there long enough to get accurate readings," Goff said.

Goff said the study will also include meetings with homeowner's associations and the general public. The firms will report its findings to the Federal Aviation Administration. The FAA will come back with two sets of recommendations for the airport.

"It solves a lot of their problems," Goff said.

International flights from Great Britain, now utilizing the Orlando Sanford Airport, may soon be joined by domestic flights from a few selected east coast destinations. Lake Mary officials are concerned that increased traffic will lead to more noise. A noise study is currently underway. Lake Mary Commissioner Thom Greene (left, lower photo) meets with Project Manager Jimmy Goff, of HNTB, in Timacuan Thursday to oversee the placement of a noise monitoring device, which will be in the community through the weekend.

It's all happening at the schools

Homecoming is county's first

By Jeff Bertinich
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - Everything was set for Homecoming '97 at Lake Mary High School.

The parade went off well, the dance was planned and the king and queen were all set to be crowned at half-time of the Friday night football game.

Except for one tiny little problem.

Heavy rains canceled the football game. Opponent Ed White from Jacksonville was unable to make the trip, so everything was held off until the Saturday night dance.

Tonight, Lake Mary will try it again. The weather looks clear and the Rams will attempt to take the field against Winter Springs at 7:30 p.m. with a special king and queen ceremony at half-time. The courts will both parade around the field in automobiles as a prelude to Saturday's Homecoming Dance.

This year, the theme for the dance is Sunset Serenade which means "romantic date at sunset."

Anne Harpster strikes a pose at the 1997 Lake Mary Homecoming.

The dance will be held Saturday in the school cafeteria from 8 p.m. to midnight.

The event is the first of eight high school homecomings to be held in the coming weeks. Please see Lake Mary, Page 3A

WINTER SPRINGS - Cancel the dinner plans and stop checking the Saturday night movie listings.

There is something going on in Winter Springs that just can't be missed.

The Winter Springs High School production of "Brigadoon" is definitely worth spending a Saturday night at a new location.

Director Christine Bredholt brought out the best in a talented cast in the school's adaptation of the musical about a mysterious Scottish town where love truly conquers all. Last night was opening night, with an encore performance on Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

"This whole production was made possible because of the dedication on the part of the students," Bredholt said. "They are really great kids. I also owe a debt of gratitude to the community and the Central Florida Scottish-American society for all of their help and support."

Winter Springs wants to settle case

By Tony Tiano
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

WINTER SPRINGS - Commissioners on Monday proposed a compromise to settle a code enforcement lien from the Community Development Department and Code Enforcement Board dating back to 1990.

Armando Guarin wanted the commission to lower the cost of a fine from March of 1996 from $5,675 to $1,800.

After several comments between the commission and Guarin, Commissioner Michael Blake came up with a compromise. Blake proposed and made a motion that Guarin pay $2,837.50 to clear the books and settle the lien. Guarin did not agree, saying that the judge on the case, Judge McOregon, had supported the original amount.

Guarin said he would have to speak to his attorney before settling the case. Please see Case, Page 3A

Murderer's killing leads to lawsuit

ORLANDO - A wrongful death lawsuit filed this week accuses Real Radio 104.1, WTKS-FM of responsibility for the killing of convicted murderer Donald McDougall.

McDougall was imprisoned at Avon Park Correctional Institution for the 1982 torture killing of 5-year-old Ursula Sunshine Anasid in Altamonte Springs at the time of his death. Shock jocks Russ Rollins and Will "Bo" Rhodes, hosts of The Russ and Bo Show, along with sidekick "Dirty Jim" Colbert, reportedly laughed and joked with callers about lynching McDougall. On Oct. 1, 1998 fellow inmate Arba Earl Barr beat McDougall to death with an iron horseshoe stake. The suit, filed in federal court in Tampa, alleges Barr knew about the radio broadcast calling for McDougall's killing.

Jacksonville lawyer Hank Cox and attorney Richard Smith who filed the suit would not comment. Representatives of Clear Channel Communications, which owns Real Radio, were not aware of the lawsuit and declined to comment.

lens," Goff said of the report. The recommendations give the airport jurisdiction to deal with problems, such as noise, and the power to ask for funding to solve such problems.

Greene has been advancing the concerns of Lake Mary residents to the Sanford Airport Noise Abatement Committee and had asked that a Lake Mary resident be considered for a vacant position on the airport board.

At the work session, Greene said, "If we had a voice there, I would feel more comfortable."

Brender said he absolutely will not support domestic air service, adding the only proactive move made by the airport is the noise study, "every other initiative addresses growing the airport."

Mayor Meador said he would address an invitation for Mayor Dale and Airport Director Victor White to attend a work session on Oct. 15 to further discuss the proposed domestic air service.

Sanford Mayor Larry Dale, a pilot for more than 30 years, said the airport will continue to grow and domestic service will be a benefit to the local economy.

Dale said the airport authority will continue to seek federal funding for noise abatement efforts. The airport, he said, has already made progress in controlling noise.

"There has been much progress in the past year and I can tell you that there is much less noise now than there was in 1969 when the airport was used for Naval training," Dale said.

A new Instrument Landing System has been installed on the east side of the airport at a cost of $2 million, which will bring in the mostly commercial traffic from the northeast, Dale said. A noise abatement committee addresses noise complaints, which are coming from the same people every month, he said, primarily from the Heathrow and Timacuan areas. Also, the airport is working closely with Federal Aviation Administration officials to direct more traffic over Lake Monroe and away from residential areas. Some of the noise, he added, is also coming from flights destined for Orlando International airport.

"Noise is part of the airport and we're doing our best to mitigate the noise," Dale said. "It's an issue every airport in the country faces. Any airport that grows has noise related to it."

As of August, the airport recorded 162 noise complaints.

Dale said Sanford and the airport have been responsive to complaints from Lake Mary, however, the airport has been at its location a long time before Lake Mary.

"I'm not going to roll over and close the airport just because Lake Mary doesn't want it there," Dale said. "We're doing the best we can."

City wants to help you fight mosquitoes

Special to the Herald

LAKE MARY - Blame it on El Nino if you'd like, but mosquitoes are back in force and the city will soon begin an intensive spraying program.

Help from the residents is needed to help combat these pesky flying insects.

Do you have mosquitoes in your yard? You may be breeding them in your own back yard and don't know it.

Dave Dovan, public works supervisor, says you can take simple, positive steps to reduce this menace right at home. Here are a few solutions that are simple, cheap and pesticide-free.

1. Get rid of old tires, tin cans, buckets, drums, bottles or any water holding containers.

2. Fill or drain any low places (puddles, ruts) in yard.

3. Keep drains, ditches and culverts clean of weeds and trash so water will drain properly.

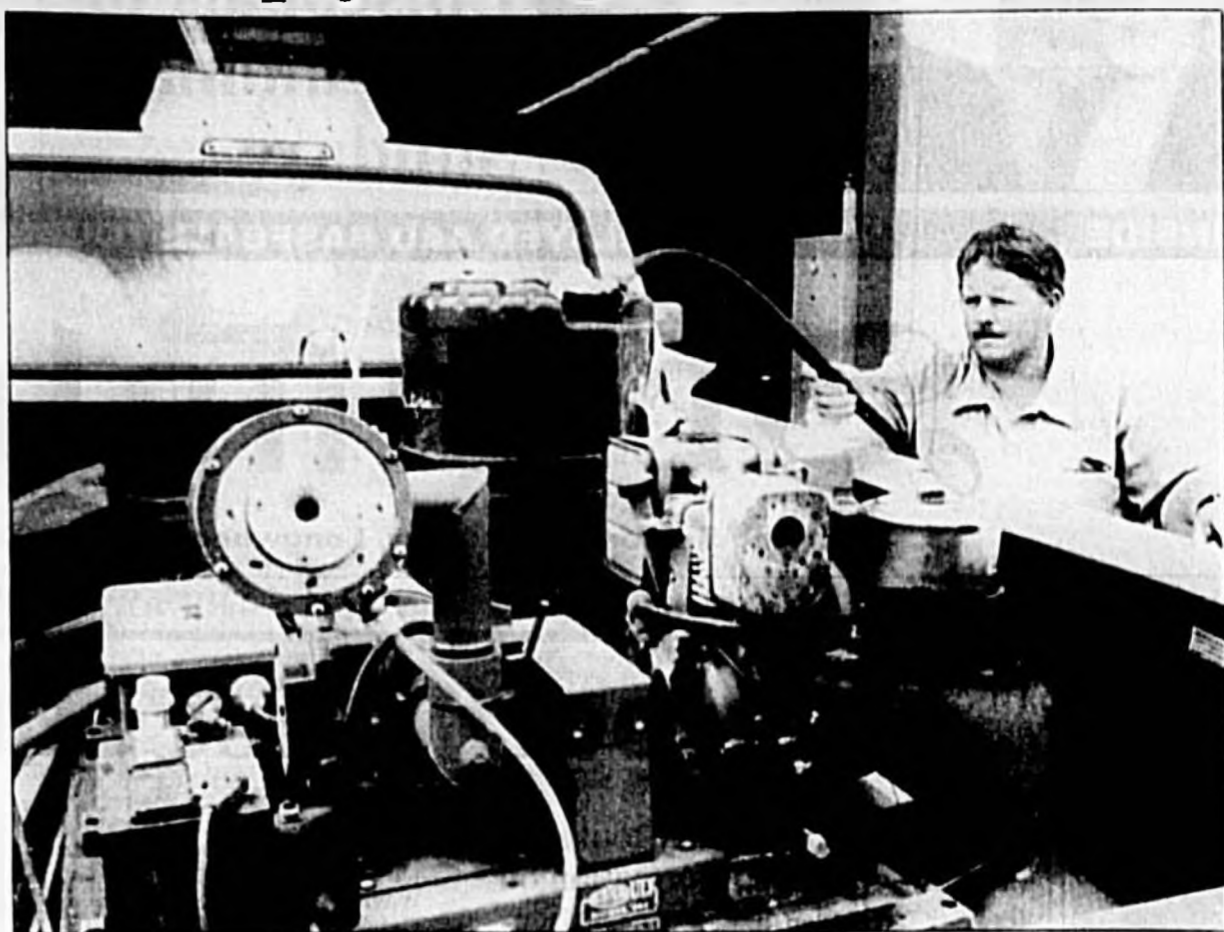

4. Cover trash containers to keep out rain water.

5. Repair leaky pipes and outside faucets.

6. Empty plastic wading pools at least once a week and store them indoors when not in use.

7. Tree holes and hollow stumps that hold water, fill in with sand or concrete.

8. Change water in bird baths and plant pots or drip trays at least once a week.

David Dovan fills sprayer tank with 'Scourge,' an adult mosquito insecticide.

9. Keep grass cut short and shrubbery well trimmed around the house so adult mosquitoes will not hide there.

10. Roof gutters plugged with leaves hold water and mosquito larvae. They should be inspected monthly.

A half-cup of water can produce enough mosquitoes to cause a problem. Please help so all Lake Mary can enjoy the great outdoors.

Historical society hears history of Ft. Mellon Park

By Grace Marie Stinecpher
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

SANFORD - A history of Fort Mellon Park was the timely topic of Jim Robison's presentation at the recent meeting of the Sanford Historical Society.

Robison is the co-author, with Mark Andrus, of Flashbacks, the Story of Central Florida's Past.

Robison began his history of the area with the founding of Camp Monroe on the shores of Lake Monroe, January 1837; Captain Charles Mellon was in charge. On Feb. 8, more than 200 Seminole Indians struck at dawn, but the only United States casualty of the battle, which ended in a draw, was Cpt. Mellon. Three days later, the camp was named Fort Mellon and the settlement that grew up around the fort became Mellonville.

Gen. Henry Sanford purchased land west of Mellonville in 1870 where he founded his town of Sanford which later absorbed Mellonville.

The lakefront in Gen. Sanford's day was a working man's world. It was lined with steamboat wharfs, railroad docks, fish markets and warehouses. The land that became Fort Mellon Park did not exist until the early 1900s as the lake's shoreline was at least 200 yards higher than it is today. It reached to within a block of the downtown buildings and sometimes even closer during storms.

Soon after Seminole County was formed in 1913, plans began being made for the construction of a bulkhead and a boulevard along the lakefront.

These were built in sections and finally completed in 1930.

On April 9, 1935, Sanford commissioners adopted an ordinance that would create Fort Mellon Park on land reclaimed from the lake bottom. Building the park was made possible with $30,000 from the WPA.

The park was dedicated on Feb. 8, 1938 at which time Chamber of Commerce president T.W. Simpson said that Fort Mellon Park was named "to perpetuate the important significance of the historic fort and the early settlement which developed into Sanford of today."

In 1924, a yacht basin and pier complete with a bandshell was built and the present marina was opened September 5, 1967.

Lake Carola, the large pond behind the Sanford Museum in the park, was named for Carola Sanford Dow, daughter of Henry Sanford, on Dec. 27, 1955. In the 1980s, the SISTERS, a civic group, paid to have spring water pumped underground to the lake.

In 1957, a small Sanford Museum was built; it has been enlarged twice.

Prior to the meeting, Robison sold and autographed his book and later presented several signed copies to the historical society which can be purchased at the museum.

During the business meeting, presided over by Millard Hunt, it was announced that the executive board had offered to raise $15,000 for refurbishing the Lakeview Cemetery gazebo on condition of matching funds from the city. The city commission has accepted the offer and funds were being raised. Donations may be sent to Parks Division, City of Sanford, P.O. Box 1788, Sanford, 32772. Checks should be made payable to City of Sanford and marked for Cemetery Improvement Fund. A plaque of donors will be erected.

The drive-through gazebo, is an important landmark for many Sanford residents and please see Park, Page 3A

The Winter Springs' production is complete with Scottish accents, real life bagpipers, Brad Green and Bill Carpenter, and magnificent scenes designed by the Winter Springs High School Art Community.

The story begins when two American's travel to Scotland on a hunting trip. Tommy Albright, played by Geoffrey Young and Jeff Douglas, portrayed by Nik DeZego happen onto the city in the mist. In the course of a day, Tommy falls in love. Jeff is seduced by a beautiful townie and the two discover what "Brigadoon" is really all about.

The town is all a-buzz about an impending wedding between Charlie (Adam Gentry) and Jean (Rachael Beasley). Interesting characters abound and the two American's are fascinated and a little shocked by the new town they have found.

Kara Knowles steals the show as Meg Brockie, a girl just looking for Mr. Right who has two very comical numbers in the production. When Fiona McLaren, performed by Grace Newton, is finally introduced, the chemistry between Tommy and her is evident from the start.

As the story progresses, musical numbers help to reveal the story about a miracle that has transformed the city into a timeless place of protection for its residents. The young lovers Tommy and Fiona are now faced with a decision. The town elder, Mr. Lundie (Chris Donaldson) helps the couple to understand the significance of Brigadoon. The young lovers Tommy and Fiona are now faced with a decision.

In the end, Tommy must weigh the options of remaining in a modern lifestyle with familiar surroundings or choosing to abandon those things for a better life in the unknown.

The music and story line of "Brigadoon" come to life through the actors at the high school. It is evident that the students didn't just memorize lines or practice songs.

"I had so much fun with this part," said Meg portrayer Knowles. "I really lived it up and gave it my all. I know Saturday night is going to be even more fun."

Knowles wasn't the only one who was excited about the performance. After the show, the students were really proud of their achievement and received great accolades from the audience.

"Ever since the general try-outs and especially when I got a call back, I have been looking forward to this production," Young (Tommy) said. Although this is the third production at the second year high school, this was Winter Springs' first attempt at a musical.

Not bad for a first try. Makes you wonder what they can do with the second.

Lake Mary—

Winter Springs, whose team is being labeled the "Teddy Bears" by Lake Mary for tonight's game, will also have an event despite having no students past 11th grade.

A perk to the Lake Mary students is that they can bring their own CDs and request the disc jockey to play them, something not allowed at past events. Photos will be taken and the color theme this year is maroon, gold and black. Dress is formal and refreshments will be served.

The dance caps off a week of fun that included special theme days except for Wednesday when the traditional Homecoming parade around Lake Mary was canceled due to Yom Kippur.

Monday, Lake Mary students celebrated College Day, dressing in their favorite college outfits. The day wound with the Sundown Throwdown which included a collection of canned goods to support their class.

Tuesday, Lake Mary had mismatch day with polka dots and plaid dominating the scene. It was an eyesore but everyone had a good time.

Thursday, the school reverted back to the 80s with neon shirts and cut-offs. A champion banana-eater was crowned and the senior car decorating contest was a success.

Today, Lake Mary will host Spirit Day and everyone is asked to wear Lake Mary's colors of red, black, gray or white to support the Rams football team which is off to a surprising 2-1 start.

Homecoming events are scheduled around the county all the way up until Nov. 13 when Lake Howell hosts the final one scheduled.

was scheduled for demolition. Plans for the brick building in Evergreen Cemetery, built in the 1920s, are to treat and close it.

Alicia Clarke, museum curator, announced that in the cemetery known as Page Jackson located behind Lakeview, graves are being inventoried by the Sanford Museum staff. There are over 3,000 graves 2,000 of which are unmarked. When this project is completed, volunteers will be needed to restore the cemetery and place markers.

The Sanford walking-driving booklet being sponsored by the Sanford Historic Trust has had its grant approved, so this project is assured and the Society will contribute its previously approved funds for its photographs. The society will receive copies of the photographs and will also have a full page in the booklet.

The 1999 historic Sanford calendars were presented and several members signed out copies to sell. Harold Chapman and Joe Hunt were commended for their excellent work on this project.

Since Sept. 29 is the city's 121st birthday, a special cake and punch were served to the large group of attendees by Bette Cannavino and her committee.

fore he went any further.

"This offer is only on the table till the end of November," Balck said, adding that the case started on April 3, 1990, when the original $5,875 lien was entered.

The Code Enforcement lien case involved two violations; the altering of a property and off the street parking.

Commissioner Eddie Martinez said, "This case has gone on for ten years. I recommend that we accept the recommendation and accept the deal."

Commissioner Bob Miller said, "I think we need to send a message to people that you cannot let something like this continue for too long."

Commissioner David McLeod asked Guarin if he would be willing to settle for something more than the $1,600. Guarin said, "No."

Also at this week's meeting, Mayor Paul Partyka presented the City of Winter Springs Youth Soccer Club with a proclamation. Ron Zarbough, the president of the "FC (Football Club) America" thanked the city for supporting the club. The club had garnered two first place state championships, and first, second and third place awards in various age categories.

Larger banks charge bigger fees

Bankers these days seem to be playing a high-stakes game of "I can top that." One week after Citibank and Travelers declared they would join to form the world's largest financial services firm, two more mega-mergers hit the banking industry. First Chicago NBD and Banc One announced they would combine forces to become a Midwest powerhouse. Not to be outdone, BankAmerica and NationsBank said they'd tie the knot as well, thus creating the first national bank and the largest in terms of deposits and branches. This month's merger frenzy follows a record 1997, when banks spent $73 billion on takeovers.

Why should you care? Consider: Studies show that large banks and those that operate in more than one state charge higher fees than smaller, single-state ones, and, further, that less competition eventually leads to lower deposit rates and higher loan rates overall. In the long run, consumers are hammered by bank mergers, says industry newsletter Bank Rate Monitor.

Unfortunately, the frenzy of mergers shows no signs of abating. Thanks to rising bank stock prices and permissive federal laws on bank expansion, acquirers have the resources and the freedom to feast. Result: If your bank hasn't yet merged, it may soon. Within the next few years there will likely be only 8,000 U.S. banks left, versus nearly 10,000 today and some 14,500 in the mid-1980s. Even before these mergers, almost three-quarters of deposits reside at just the 4 percent of banks with assets over $1 billion. In the short run, mergers increase competitiveness. For example, when Wells Fargo merged with First Interstate in 1995, Glendale Federal, the sixth largest thrift in California, ran ads raising the specter of fee hikes at Wells Fargo and touting cheaper checking, unlimited free calls, and no fees for teller visits.

CONSUMER FOCUS

But in the long-run, mergers can lead to lower deposit rates. A case in point: Within a year of the NationsBank 1997 takeover of Boatman's Bank in St. Louis, the yield that former Boatmen customers earned on a six month CD dropped by five-tenths of a point, to 4.2 percent, even though the national average, at 4.89 percent, had not changed. Your best move, especially if you keep $5,000 or more in a CD, is to stash your savings at banks around the country that offer the most tempting rates.

The bigger your bank becomes, the higher, in general, the checking fees. However, such fees usually cover many services, such as live tellers or returned checks. If you don't use the extras, see if your newly-merged bank offers a free or low-cost, no-frills checking option. You'll also need to shop carefully for certain loans. As the number of small banks dwindles, choice goes down and interest rates tend to creep up. Unlike mortgages, the rates on home equity lines of credit and car loans are largely influenced by local lending conditions. As a result, such loan rates are likely to edge up as competition dwindles. To get the best rate, scour your local papers or favorite financial Web sites (see <http://money.com/rates>) for surviving smaller banks that offer solid deals. Or join a credit union, which offer car loans that are 1.5 percentage points cheaper than bank loans.

One opportunity: If you're addicted to ATMs, keep in mind that a bigger bank means a larger number of bank-owned ATMs. So if you stick with the newly-merged giant, you'll have more ATMs you can use without paying a $1 or so per use surcharge that banks typically impose on noncustomers. If the merger goes through, the combined Bank of America and NationsBank will offer customers almost 15,000 ATMs across the country.

If you seldom use an ATM, you might want to bank with a broker. Most major brokerages offer so-called asset management accounts, which let you consolidate your banking and investing in one place and qualify you for benefits such as free check-writing. The biggest disadvantage is that brokerages don't operate their own ATMs, thus leaving you exposed to surcharges when you use a bank's ATM. But why do you care about that if you don't use ATMs? If your bank's offerings are dissatisfying, you can open an asset management account as long as you keep at least $5,000 in various accounts with your broker. Also, several banks, including First Union, now offer brokerage-like asset management accounts to compete.

Avoid boyfriend who drinks

Dear Mary, I've been dating my boyfriend for about eight months, and most of the time he's the sweetest guy in this world.

In fact, he seems a little shy and really doesn't talk much when we're around other people. But after he's had a few beers, he gets real loud and aggressive. It's like he's a totally different person. A couple of times, when we've been at a club, he has gotten so rough that I'm almost afraid of him. That usually happens if I try to get him to calm down. He's never tried to hurt me, but he's made threats to other people that I think he really means. After he sobers up a little, when I tell how he's acted, he's real sorry and says that he'll watch it the next time.

I don't think most people act like this when they've had a few drinks. Do you think it's normal, or do I have a problem here?

Matt's Girlfriend

Dear Girlfriends,

This doesn't have to become your problem, but your boyfriend certainly has one. Do you remember the story of Dr.

FAMILY COUNSELOR

MARY BALK

Jekyll and My Hyde? It has become widely recognized as a symptom of addict behavior that a person's personality often changes when they're under the influence of alcohol or other drugs. This is one of the reasons that drugs (including alcohol) are often involved in the commission of violent crimes, such as murder, sexual assault and abuse. Drunk people often feel that others are picking on them or "asking for trouble" when that is not the case. This may be what is happening when you try to calm him down. My suggestion to you is whenever you find yourself in a situation where ANYONE (including your boyfriend) has had too much to drink and is becoming hostile and aggressive, get away from them. You can't help them but they can surely cause a problem for you, either through their aggressive behavior, or by getting somebody mad who is as hot-headed as your boyfriend is. By the way, of course you NEVER get in a car when he is driving if he's had too much to drink. Be sure to have your own transportation when you go to one of the clubs with him.

Daughter sick with dread over hypochondriac mom

DEAR ABBY: I need your advice. My mother wants to live with me. I'm 56. She's 78. My household now includes my husband, my unmarried daughter and her son, who is 6 years old.

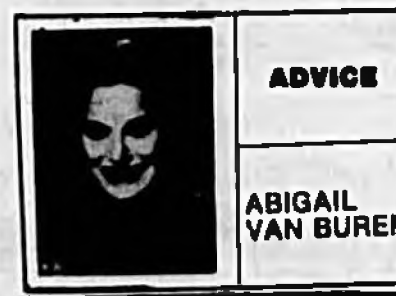

My mother is in great condition. Her main problem is that she's a hypochondriac and is lonely. She would be miserable living with us, but I can't convince her. She wants to sell her condo, help us buy a bigger home and move in. I've countered that if she ever becomes ill and unable to take care of herself, we could buy a duplex.

Abby, I cannot live with my mother and I don't want to live with her. She wants her own room in the same house, no duplex. I can't even describe the dread this is causing me.

I do not like her. If she were not my mother, I couldn't even be friends with her; I would avoid her. She's extremely self-centered, controlling, overcritical and rude, with an opinion on everything. She's been married and divorced many times, and she has no friends. She turns every conversation on any topic back to herself.

Mother knows that I do not want her to live with us, but she's pushing. She knows that I hate it when she drops in on me unannounced early in the morning, but she does it anyway, saying, "I know this drives you crazy, but..."

If my daughter or I plan to meet Mother at a restaurant for a noon lunch, she shows up at the house at 10 a.m. to wait for us.

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

When Mother eats with us at home every week, she samples the food and makes comments like she's the food critic for The New York Times.

I could write pages about her annoying habits. What can I do, Abby? Please help me.

STRESSED DAUGHTER IN FLORIDA

DEAR STRESSED DAUGHTER: If you want my support, you have it. Do not allow yourself to be pushed into residency with your mother and don't feel guilty about it. Your mother may want to be a bigger part of your lives, but it could harm your marriage if you bow to her demands. Stand firm and enlist your husband to present a united front.

DEAR ABBY: My wedding was called off a month ago. I understand now that God is trying to fix some things in my life before he allows me to take such a big step.

I'm a very insecure person. It is hard for me to trust - and that caused me many problems in our relationship. However, I am around my "ex" every day. We have the same friends. We broke up with the understanding that we would remain friends.

Abby, my ex-fiance deals with things by avoiding a confrontation. At the moment, he isn't speaking to me, which makes me feel sick at heart. I know he's hurting, too. I want nothing but to be there for him. I don't want to crowd him or make him think I'm chasing him. How do I deal with his ignoring me?

AMY IN RURAL ILLINOIS

DEAR AMY: It may be difficult to distance yourself from your ex-fiance in your small town, but it would be a happier situation for both of you if you stayed out of each other's sight for a while. It has only been a month since your engagement ended and you are both hurting. Breaking up is painful. Although you would like to continue the friendship as if nothing had happened, your "ex" is trying to put the romance behind him by avoiding you. Give it some time, Amy. Life will get better.

DEAR ABBY: After the death of a spouse, how long should a person wait before starting to date again?

DEAR DOTTIE: The usual period of mourning is one year. However, grief is such a personal emotion that no one can presume to make rules that will apply to everyone.

GARAGE SALE GUIDELINES 1. Advertise what people want! Children's clothing, dishes, collectibles, tools, books and antiques are the most popular items. 2. Make it convenient to shop at your garage sale! Be sure there is adequate parking space. Post signs with directions to parking areas. Make arrangements with neighbors. 3. Make it easy to pay! Have plenty of change and a system for handling. Make sure one person is on duty at all times at a centralized location preferably with a calculator or adding machine. 4. Provide prices. Do not make every person ask, "How much is this?" Prices make for quick, effective sales or a good price for customers to start bargaining. 5. Get an early start. Set up displays the evening before, if possible. 6. Departmentalize. Separate the inexpensive items from the more costly areas. Group furniture, clothing, toys, lawn equipment and other items with similar merchandise. 7. Specialize. Establish one area for "Under $5", another for "Under $1". Consider having a batch of items that are "FREE with purchase of $3". Remember the youngsters, too. Encourage this with small, low-priced items that are appropriate for this purpose. 8. Time your sale carefully! Have it at a time when most people are at home and unconcerned with special events. 9. Combine your efforts! Incorporate your sale with a neighbor for more variety and greater impact. 10. Be specific! When advertising your sale in the newspaper, list individual items. Don't simply say, "several things available." Each time you list an item, you are broadening the list of potential customers. 11. Be generous! If you have items left over, give them to a charitable organization. If you see that some items are not moving well during the sale, mark them down during the last hours. Remember, the prime reason for holding the sale is to turn your unwanted items into cash!

Football a danger at any age

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is football dangerous for a teenager?
 DEAR READER: There are many physical dangers inherent in contact sports, regardless of a participant's age. To begin with, there are risks in simple warm-ups and practice: pulled muscles, cramps and strained tendons are part of any strenuous activity. Heatstroke and fatal cardiac irregularities have been reported among football players.

DR. GOTT

protect the players; for example, spear tackling, head blocking and butting are now either frowned upon or downright illegal.

Despite the improvements in equipment and technique, tackle football remains a dangerous sport for people of any age. Parents and players must remember this and work closely with coaches, trainers and referees to minimize the risks.

You can write to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156

The contact part of the sport means that almost any part of the body can be injured by trauma. The usual broken bones, bruises, twists and sprains come with the territory. However, in my experience, there are three common and serious consequences of contact sports in general, and of football in particular: The first is a ruptured spleen. The spleen is a relatively unprotected organ in the upper left abdomen. It is spongy and filled with blood, and it can burst if given a smart enough blow. Football pads do not do a good job of protecting the spleen, and when it is forcefully struck — during tackling or blocking — uncontrolled hemorrhage can result, making emergency medical attention mandatory. Surgery may be necessary.

Second, kidney bruising is a common consequence of football playing. Several studies have shown that professional players usually pass small amounts of blood in their urine after a game. This comes from violent blows to the kidneys during tackling, blocking and pileups. Although mild kidney bruising is probably unimportant in healthy adolescents, an occasional player may pass urine that is obviously bloody after a game, which may indicate that more severe damage has taken place.

The third is the risk of head and neck injuries, which in my opinion are the most serious danger in football. Minor concussions occur regularly. I can't remember being on duty at a football game in which at least one youngster did not become dazed or have his "bell rung." This phenomenon is virtually universal among professional players. At times, more serious concussions can result, with loss of consciousness.

Although the manufacturers of football helmets continually upgrade their products to make them safer, no helmet is perfect. Head and neck injuries are a common consequence of football; I worry so much about them that I discouraged my own children from playing tackle football.

Head injuries also concern sports experts. This is one reason why the rules are constantly being changed to

WIN AT BRIDGE

Variations on a theme

By Phillip Alder

Bridge is a wonderful game because there are so many variations on a theme. (That sounds like a good title for a piece of classical music.) Today's deal bears some similarity to both Monday's and yesterday's, but the winning defense is different. You are sitting East. Against three no-trump, your partner leads the club jack. Do you see any chance to defeat the contract? As mentioned Monday, North is right to blast into three no-trump. If his partner doesn't have a major to show or enough diamonds to support, he must have club length. The hearts are a greater potential weakness than the clubs. If you, East, return a club at trick two, you should see that declarer has nine assured tricks: one club, six diamonds and two spades (the finesse is working if South needs it). This means you must try to cash four heart tricks immediately. But which is the right card to lead? Before breakfast this morning, probably you would have switched to the heart five, your fourth highest. Yet a quick glimpse at the diagram will show you that if South plays low from hand, he has a heart stopper. You must negate the power of dummy's 10. You have dummy's (RHO's) top card surrounded by your jack and nine, plus you have another higher, nontouching honor (the king). In this situation, switch to the card directly above dummy's top card. So, lead the heart jack. Now, whichever way declarer turns, your side must collect four heart tricks. Watch out for our old friend the surrounding play.

HOROSCOPE

Your Birthday
 Saturday, Oct. 3, 1998

You are likely to make some significant changes in your basic lifestyle in the upcoming year. There will be alterations you've been wanting to make for quite some time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You need some time to catch up on the little things you've been wanting to accomplish and today is the day. Each of your completed tasks will give you life. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) If you really want to be popular, don't do anything extraordinary. The little kind things you do for others will win their approval and admiration.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your interests today will be primarily focused on your home and family, and their immediate needs. You're on a good path that will generate fulfillment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Should you get involved today in something complicated in an unfamiliar field, don't be afraid to ask lots of questions. You need answers to be successful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Those who are involved with you today will experience the depth of your generosity. What you offer will be given from the heart, even if it isn't impressive.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're not an individual who finds solace in being a leader, but today could be an exception. You'll want to be in charge, as well as others.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A different side of you might come to center stage today, but it won't be the real you. Something may have an effect on you to make you a little moody and withdrawn.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) As a Taurus you do not relish loud friends or conditions, and this is going to be doubly so today. Associate with those who are more of the sensitive, subdued sort.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Many significant goals can be achieved today, but don't be careless about how you go about them. Hastiness could make you stumble.

CANCER (June 21-July 23) If you're deliberating something of significance with another today, don't let this person rush you to judgment, nor vice versa. Make your move only after careful study.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) Rewards that aren't there may appear to exist on the surface, so be cautious before you commit to anything. Know all the ramifications before getting involved.

VIROO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Kindness and understanding leaves a lasting impression, especially when dealing with new acquaintances. You can initiate the first steps of a long term friendship today.

Game of the Week

Tonight: Lake Brantley at Seminole, 7:30 p.m.

Tonight's game between Lake Brantley and Seminole could possibly determine the Seminole Athletic Conference champion.

Both teams have faced and beaten two SAC opponents and as the only undefeated teams in the county, a win tonight would put either team in the driver's seat.

Lake Brantley is fresh off a whipping of rival Lyman. That win kept the Patriots undefeated on the season at 4-0 and proved once again that Lake Brantley is playing solid football.

Quarterback Regan Russell is more unstoppable than his predecessor, Brian Criswell was. Last year, Criswell all but had his way with a strong Seminole defense and Russell has the talent to do even more harm. In addition to the threat at the quarterback position, Lake Brantley comes armed with Arnold Celeste who is making his mark on the running game of Seminole County.

Defense is also tough for the Patriots. John Miller and Clint Hanson have been in the forefront of an intense defensive attack.

Don't count Seminole out, however. There is also a lot of talent on the Tribe roster this year.

Spruce Creek handed Seminole its first loss of the season Monday night and now the 3-1 Noles are in need of the confidence boost a win against Lake Brantley could give them.

Seminole certainly has the weapons with which to do that.

Quarterback Garrett Goldsmith has matured into a competent leader of a potent offense. While he doesn't have many receivers to choose from, he doesn't need to rely on his arm to do the talking.

With running backs like Deon Howard, Clarence Lattimer and Mario Frederick to do the talking for him, Goldsmith's decision making is a much more important factor.

Defense has been the spotlight for the Noles this season. Joe Watson, Johnnie McKinnon, Clint Murray, Mike Bradley and Bobby Williams have been wreaking havoc on offenses all season. They will have their hands full with Lake Brantley, however.

If Seminole can regroup after Monday's loss and come at the Patriots with all it has, this one should prove to be a brawl from the first kickoff.

Tonight: West Orange at Lake Howell, 7:30 p.m.

Lake Howell stumbled badly in a 22-8 loss to Seminole two weeks ago. Last week, Lake Howell's game against Lake Mary was postponed until Oct. 16 for Hurricane Georges.

The Hawks sit at 1-2 after being considered one of the favorites to take the SAC title. The Hawks have lots of offensive weapons, including quarterback Jesse Hannon and a host of running backs, but the defense hasn't been as strong as expected except for during the Hawks' only win over Oviedo.

It's a non-conference, non-district game for Lake Howell, but its important since DeLand, Lake Mary and Lake Brantley are next up for Lake Howell.

Tonight: Winter Springs at Lake Mary, 7:30 p.m.

LAKE MARY - It's Homecoming at Lake Mary for the first time in two years.

Last season, the Rams avoided the game when a thunderstorm ripped through Central Florida, cancelling a game against powerful Ed White from Jacksonville.

The Rams are a surprising 2-1 with last week's game against Lake Howell rescheduled after Hurricane Georges flooded the area last week.

The Rams have had two weeks to prepare for a Bears' team that lost 13-12 to Melbourne Central Catholic.

AAU tourney finally starts

Seventeen baseball teams playing this weekend in Sanford

Special to the Herald

SANFORD - After being delayed a week by rains from Hurricane Georges, the Sanford Invitational Tournament finally got underway on Rinker-Stenstrom Field at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium Thursday night.

Thursday's action was the first of 37 games to be played this weekend in the tournament, which features 17 Central Florida youth baseball clubs in two age groups, 11-and-Under and 13-and-Under.

The tournament is sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU), the largest youth sports organization in the United States. The public is welcome. There will be a $2 admission charge for adults and free admission for children.

Two Seminole county ball clubs played

Thursday night, with the Florida Sharks overpowering the Seminole Renegades by a score of 10-1.

The Sharks, a veteran team with at least one state championship crown to their credit, are managed by Ed Powell.

Now entering their fourth year of AAU competition, the Sharks are one of the top seeds in the tournament.

Tournament play will continue Friday night with four 13-and-Under games scheduled.

At the Stadium, play begins at 6 p.m. with the local Central Florida Red Raiders club playing the Orlando Hornets. At 8:30 p.m., the Orlando Outlaws, the official host team, plays the Ormond Beach Waves.

The other two games are scheduled for Sanford's Chase Park beginning at 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

The 11-and-Under teams begin play at 7 p.m. on Friday night at Lakeside Field and Roy Holler Junior Field in Ft. Mellon Park.

The Orlando Outlaws are managed by Bob Breum, who led the Sanford Babe Ruth Bambino Railroaders Cubs to a 22-1 record and the city championship last spring.

The Outlaws team features three Sanford Babe Ruth Bambino All-Stars: short-stop/pitcher Erik Breum, catcher Karl Henkel, and pitcher/first baseman Sean Jackson.

Seminole girls get back in victory column

From Staff Reports

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - The roller coaster ride that the Seminole High School girls' volleyball team has been on reached the bottom of a dip Wednesday and started back up the hill on Thursday.

"We got back on the winning track," said coach Beth Corso after her Fighting Seminoles had defeated host Lake Brantley (4-1), 10-15, 17-15 and 15-7, in Seminole Athletic Conference action.

The Lady Noles (8-8 overall, 4-1 in Class 5A-District 5, 3-4 in the conference) had slumped recently losing three games in a row (including dropping their first district match of the year to Oak Ridge on Wednesday, 15-10, 14-10, 15-13) following a five game winning streak, but pulled out a win.

Seminole's Courtney Newman had eight kills and seven digs to lead the attack. Amanda Cook added nine kills and five digs. Michelle Cardel chipped in with five digs, including the game-winner, and Kim Nelson provided 16 assists in the effort.

In other matches Thursday night, Lake Mary (13-3) was upset by DeLand (9-3), 15-10 and 15-8, in a Class 6A-District 3 contest; Oviedo (6-4) thumped Lake Howell, Please see Fever, Page 6A

Michelle Cardel, who had five digs, including the one that clinched the victory in the final game, celebrates after the Seminole girls' volleyball team broke a three-game losing streak with a 10-15, 17-15 and 15-7 win at Lake Brantley Thursday.

SANFORD - Blake's Boyz and Matthews Associates put on a scoring display at the expense of Sanford Central Baptist and won their first games of the season in the City of Sanford Recreation Department Men's Thursday Night Fall Slow Pitch Softball League at Chase Park.

Dave French and Tony Taylor drove in two runs each and the defense held Sanford Central Baptist Church to only one single as Matthews waltzed to a 13-0 triumph in the first game of the evening.

Then in the nightcap, Raymond Hartsfield and Nakda Roberts combined to drive in six runs as Blake's Boyz started strong (five runs in each of the first and second innings) and finished strong (six runs in the seventh inning) to whip Sanford Central Baptist Church, 16-4.

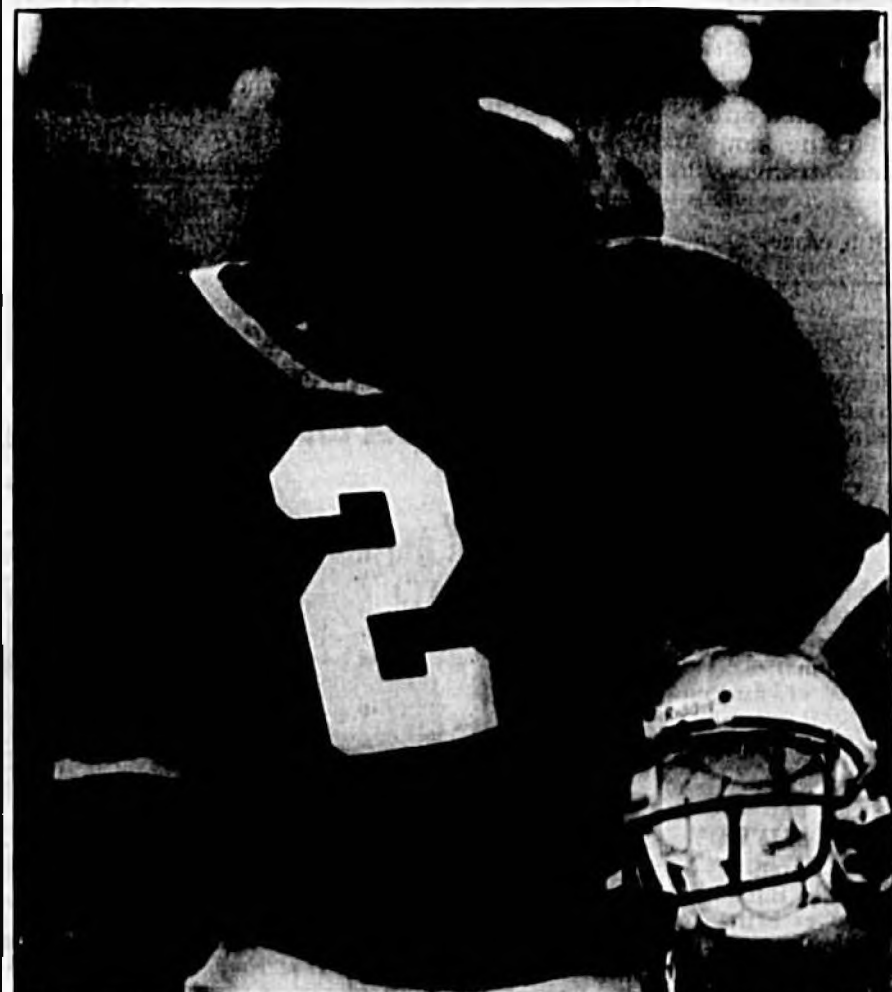

No scores were received from the Beer :30 vs. the Regulators and Headrick Feed vs. K&K games at Pinehurst Park.

Johnnie Blake a shining star for first-year Bears

By Kellie Werner
HERALD STAFF WRITER

WINTER SPRINGS - Even on a team that is struggling in its first year as a varsity contender, there are bright spots.

Johnnie Blake is one of them.

This year, Blake has been a weapon for Winter Springs High School and has made a name not only for himself, but for his team as well.

"Last year Johnnie was the MVP of the junior varsity team as a freshman," said coach Mick Harris. "We knew he was going to be a big play maker for us this year and he has been. He's a good young man, very respectful and a hard worker. He's also a good student which is very important."

Blake's talent is not surprising given his family genes.

His uncle is former Crooms Academy, Bethune-Cookman College and Canadian Football League standout and Seminole High School head coach Emory Blake (who is now an assistant at Winter Springs).

His cousins are teammate, junior quarterback Brandon Blake, and current Cincinnati Bengals quarterback and Seminole High and East Carolina star Jeff Blake.

Football kind of runs in the family.

The fact that this Blake is such a superb athlete is a little unusual given his size.

Standing only 5-foot-4 and weighing in at 145 pounds, the tailback is a little small to be racking up the numbers he has achieved this year.

"We rely on Johnnie to run the ball most of the time because he only needs a little crease to get through," Harris said. "He's hard to throw to because Brandon is 6-foot-2 and Johnnie's size makes him a hard target. But he still manages to catch Brandon's passes when we need him to."

Part of the reason for Blake's success is his dedication. In the off season, he lifted weights and ran every day to improve his strength and speed. Blake is also a member of the track and weightlifting teams, two sports that help keep him in condition for football. He said he enjoys the weight training the most but is willing to do whatever it takes to improve his skills.

And he's expecting a pay off for all of this hard work.

"I want to make big plays on offense and rush for 1,000 yards,"

Celebration led at halftime, 3-0, but had a scare put into them by Hiwassee Christian in the second half with two goals from Brown and one score from Thomas.

Hiwassee Christian could not catch up with Celebration in the end, however, and triumphed in a road win.

HERALD SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Despite the wet conditions last Saturday, the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Youth Flag Football League was able to get in its first full slate of games at the Field across from Sanford Middle School.

In the Major Division, the Falcons and Jaguars were tied at 8-8 after intermission with the Falcons winning the tie-breaker and the Cowboys beat the Bears, 26-12.

The Senior Division played its second week of the season with the Cornhuskers (1-1) winning their first game of the season by pounding the Broncos (0-2), 41-14, and the Seminoles (2-0) won a battle of unbeaten by tripling the score on the Steelers (1-1), 18-6.

Frank Hicks scored a first half touchdown for the Steelers on a five-yard run.

Quentin Herring played great defense for the Seminoles.

Blake

Blake said, "I would consider that a successful season."

Since Blake has been playing football since elementary school in the Pop Warner leagues, he is well aware of what it takes for a team to win.

"We all have to stay in shape with conditioning and weights and keep our heads in the game," Blake explained. "I am one of the leaders on the team and I take that role seriously. We are a family as well as a team and just as we lose together, we also win together. It takes all of us to win."

Blake also wants to ensure that he is a winner off the field. He works hard at his studies and hopes to attend college, and play football, after high school. While he's not sure what he wants his college major to be, he knows what he wants to do after college...play in the NFL.

Before then, however, Blake has this season to think about. If his concentration at practice, focus in the games and dedication to the game is any indication of the type of season the Bears will have, it should be a pretty good one.

Fever

Lake Mary still has a question mark at quarterback. Cory Cooper is the normal starter but hasn't been healthy for much of the season. Jason Hadley stepped in for a win over Pine Ridge in some sloppy weather two weeks ago, but the Rams still haven't mounted much of an offense all year.

A bright spot was the emergence of Justin Wright as a running back during the Pine Ridge game. Normally a defensive standout, Wright can combine with Lawrence Rudolph and Matt Mergo for a potent running game.

Winter Springs has been up and down and sits at 1-3. Quarterback Brandon Blake can be explosive but he can also be erratic. Johnnie Blake has been racking up the yardage but the main thing about the young Bears is they have to avoid mistakes.

Eleven penalties, including several back breakers, one that negated an 83-yard touchdown late in the fourth quarter, were their downfall Monday.

Lake Mary needs to win now. After tonight, only one home game awaits before the Rams hit the road for three straight to end the season.

For Winter Springs, it may be their last serious chance at a win before the Bears take on the powers of the Seminole Athletic Conference along with district foe Cocoa Beach.

Tonight: Lyman at Oviedo, 7:30 p.m.

OVIEDO - The Lions just can't get untracked.

One of the most talented teams in the conference, Oviedo has been saddled with a tough schedule and some bad luck. Playoff hopes are dim, but Oviedo still has a faint shot at the playoffs and can take a big step with a win tonight.

Oviedo has stayed close in all but one game and still boasts plenty of the weapons that carried the Lions to the regional playoffs last season.

Turnovers have plagued the Lions all year and, with two district losses already, a third loss would be devastating.

Same old thing at Lyman. The Greyhounds play hard but come up short. Lyman hasn't been blown out yet this year, but surrendered tons of ground yardage in a loss to undefeated Lake Brantley Monday.

Lyman can win this game, but a desperate Oviedo team can never be counted out.

Last season, it looked like the Lions were down and out and some strange things happened.

Look for Lyman to make it close.

As our animals are blessed, we will be blessed

*Today we celebrate a feast.
A holiday for man and beast.
As we sing, keep in mind
Belongs of a different kind.
Watching those we hold so
dear
We can feel Your presence near.
We think of every friend who speaks in barks and roars and squeaks.
Lord here beside our friends
we stand
Their earthly care within our hand.
When we come at last to You
Let our creatures be there, too.*

ST. PETER'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

LAKE MARY - The annual Blessing of the Animals will take place at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, at 2 p.m. on Sunday, St. Francis Day. Come and bring any and/or all your pets for a special blessing and celebration.

As always, there will be a certificate for each pet; Eric Huss and Antcare will provide "treats" for our animals, and there will be refreshments for all.

We have invited representatives from the Humane Society of Seminole County to join us as they have in the past and bring several very adoptable pets along, too; should you decide to bring a new pet into your family and home, you'll be able to take it with you or get it early the next week. At the least, come and welcome members of this very important community outreach and enjoy all the animals.

One of our St. Peter's members, Dr. Leigh Gill-practicing veterinarian will also be here to give a brief check-out to your pets. Dr. Gill is a long time member of our Honduras Medical Mission team. Every year he cares for over 500 large domestic animals. We appreciate his participation as we do all who will make this special event possible.

The Humane Society has a special need right now for dry dog and cat food, as well as for old blankets. Cash donations will be put to good use, I assure you. Will you make a special effort to bring something to help these "Good Samaritans" who care so much for these special members of our creation for which we, as God's stewards, have been given responsibility? If you can't take a pet yourself, perhaps you know of someone who will; and you can spread the news of this very special humanitarian work. You should know that it's the policy of this organization to honor life and not euthanize any animal unless it is suffering beyond continued and humane endurance.

Our very own church cat, Maggie, was left here at St. Peter's about 10 years ago (we do not know her exact age); she has been a true joy and blessing to all those of us who know and love her.

If your family does not have an animal pet at home, you are welcome to join the festivities and to bring along your favorite stuffed animal!

Remember, as our animals and pets are blessed, we will be blessed.

O Lord, who has looked upon all of His creation and declared that it was good, we thank You for the animals, which whom we share this earth, and particularly for those which You have given into our care. We pray that You will guard them and tend to their necessities, relieve their suffering, protect them from exploitation, and let each of us see in them the beauty and glory of Your creative hand. As You raised Your servant Francis to declare oneness of all Your work, give us gentle spirits, and help us to be instruments of Your loving providence, that we all may abound in Your glory, Amen.

Rollins student discovers she can make a difference

By Tony Tizzo

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

WINTER SPRINGS - Citizens of the United States take things like running water and electricity for granted. Jenny McCluan knows this.

The 20-year-old Central Florida college student is helping the people of the Dominican Republic, because they do not have the things she takes for granted.

The socially-conscious McCluan is a junior chemistry major at Rollins College. For three years, she has gone to that country, with her fellow students. The trip is made possible through donations from religious organizations and private contributors.

Each of the nine-to-fifteen students who travel to the Third World country receives first-hand experience on conditions in that country.

McCluan is a Winter Springs resident and a native Floridian. "This is an experience that has affected my whole life," she said. "Her father and I are both very proud of her," said her mother, Sally.

McCluan was asked by her chemistry professor, Dr. Pedro J. Bernal, to participate in the trip.

"I always was amazed by people who did service projects. They always came back with such excitement in their voice. I didn't know if I was the kind of person who could do something like that," said McCluan.

In the Dominican Republic, McCluan and the other students worked with a group known as ILAC-short for the Institute for Latin American Concerns.

ILAC is run by Jesuit Priests and differs from other organizations in that they stay in the community even after a project is done. The first year, the students worked on a church, and the second year, they worked on a water tank.

McCluan said that she would like more people to experience it. Perhaps the best sign that what she is doing is meaningful came about here at home. McCluan also found that in doing these trips, "anyone can do it. It is not anything special."

Church also figures prominently into McCluan's life.

She attends St. Augustine Catholic Church in Casselberry and is involved in various activities such as the church choir with her mom.

As Americans, McCluan said being in some of these countries does a lot to destroy the stereotypes of how Americans are thought of. It is in these far-off reaches of the world that their only view of Americans are TV shows like Baywatch. Only a few of the citizens are able to see these shows, because there is no electricity or even water.

After she gave a talk at her church one Sunday, an older woman came up to McCluan and said, "I want to thank you for helping my people. Your words go straight up to God."

McCluan suggests for those who would like to make a donation to the Koinonia Foundation to write to Dr. Pedro J. Bernal, c/o Rollins College, 1000 Holt Ave., 2743, Winter Park, Fla., 32789-4499.

The goal of ILAC is to help people help themselves. Given to the residents as kind of a loan, when the money for the supplies is paid off, it is put into the next project. McCluan doesn't know what next year's project is yet.

Helping with the water problem, Dr. Bernal has devised a water filtration system which involves a carbon filter and the use of chlorine bleach. It is part of the Koinonia Foundation, Bernal's non-profit endeavor. In these travels, McCluan said, "you can see the difference in cultures between the U.S. and other countries."

People in these countries are so overwhelmed to actually see Americans do things like getting down in the ditches and getting dirty, said McCluan. On these trips, the group finds living conditions much less than those in the U.S. including dirt floors and chickens roaming throughout the houses. "It is a completely holistic experience," said McCluan.

The people of the Dominican Republic are very warm and friendly, said McCluan. The projects have been done near the Santiago area. The students also travel to the capitol, Santo Domingo. The students had to hike every day from their hosts homes to the work sites as much as 45 minutes away.

The last trip included the 18 to 24-year-old students and sponsors Dr. Bernal and Dr. Tom Cook, Rollins philosophy professor.

On the last trip McCluan especially bonded with her host sister Damaris. The host family changes every year. How long will she continue to go on these trips? McCluan replies, "It is a priority of mine to do this as long as I am physically able."

What would she like people to know about her efforts?
