

FARMERS' ORGANIZATION SUBJECT OF GREAT TALK AT COURT HOUSE WEDNESDAY

BIG CROWD OUT TO HEAR HON. L. M. RHODES.

One of the most logical and soundest arguments ever offered in favor of farmer's organizations, was delivered to the growers of this section last Wednesday evening at the court house by Hon. L. M. Rhodes, Commissioner of the State Marketing Bureau of Jacksonville.

Mr. Rhodes came to Sanford upon the invitation of the Sanford Truck Growers, Inc., but both organizations, the Sanford Truck Growers, and the Sanford Farmer's Exchange, turned out en masse to hear him. In addition several business men were present as well as Drs. Hillman and Browlee of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches.

Mr. Rhodes spoke entirely from practical experience, both as a producer and marketing shipper. "Too many toll gates" is the manner in which he characterized the present method of distribution. The farmer as Mr. Rhodes puts it, takes the "highest bidder" and the highest bidder at harvest is the merchant, the banker, the doctor, lawyer of unscrupulous in business, he has no sense of price. There is not yet the "producer's union" and as a result the farmer and the consumers and too often the farmer and the consumer are out of touch. He outlined the case of successful organizations throughout the country and figures showed results to the individual that could only come from an organization. In his speech he paid tribute to the fellow who stands up for organizations because, in the part of a dealer, he receives in many cases more than his produce brought in order that his neighbor may reach his neighbor and that the neighbor will continue to do his business as prey for those who live upon his efforts.

Mr. Rhodes stated very frankly that it was not his mission to interfere in the legitimate business of anyone, but he stated that those who had a clear sheet deserved success and patronage, but so many wolves doing business under the same sign had entered the field that farmers, for their own protection must enter at once into cooperative methods and remain cooperative or else become the prey of the hundreds who were stalking the country for the "unsuspecting."

He went further into details when he impressed his hearers with the fact that the ultimate purpose of a co-operative organization was to secure the topmost price for produce shipped, he urged them to stay away from petty jealousies and not try to dabble into minor details that had no bearing on their objective. He urged earnest endeavor on the part of all work for the good name and the success of his organization and reiterated that old saying "farmers cannot be organized" should be indignantly resented by the progressive farmer of today and to demonstrate this resentment, get organized, stay organized and build organized in spite of the thousand and one obstacles that will be thrown in the way.

Mr. Rhodes complimented the farmers on what he had seen and spoke highly of the determined effort apparent among them to organize. He urged co-operation between the organizations here, urged that a common ground for parks and grades be established and in passing remarked that the farmer must get it out of his head that he can lose off bum stuff on the trade these days and get money for doing it. Such farmers, he said, are treacherous in the profession, they fool no one but themselves and in doing such things they ruin their own selves and seriously hamper the efforts of their fellow man.

In conclusion, Mr. Rhodes urged the farmers to be loyal of the fellow outside of the organization who could show, once in a while, a little better returns than the organization had produced. This, he said, is only a bait—an attempt to discourage organization—and once dis-

SHIPPERS GOVERNED BY RULES

RIGHT KIND OF PACK MUST BRING MONEY.

With the approach of another great shipping season in Florida, Federal Food Administrator, Bracton Beacham, is very anxious that all shippers of perishables should be well acquainted with the rules that govern such shipments. One of the rules of the Food Administration provides that, when a consignment of perishables is ordered, or accepted at stated terms, f. o. b. shipping point, the consignee must accept such shipment on arrival, and according to his acceptance must forward payment for same direct to the shipper. However, the Food Administration rules also provide that if, for any reason, there is a delay in transit, or the consignee believed that the shipment is not up to the grade or standard specified, he may demand an inspection. This inspection is made by officials of the Department of Agriculture, and that report forms the basis for the determination of the Food Administration at the point of receipt of shipment, as to the liabilities. If the determination of perishables is due to the lack of dispatch in transportation, then the consignee must look to the railroad for reimbursement or damages.

If the shipment is proved by inspection to be below grade or standard specified in contract of acceptance, then the shipper must abide by the application of the Food Administration. These rules are very simple and Mr. Beacham wishes to say to the shippers of Florida that he will endeavor during the approaching season to protect any and all of them against any unfair practice on the part of consignees. In order to avail themselves of the good offices of the Food Administration, shippers must strive to see that perishables are strictly up to grade, or in other words, conform to specifications. If the Florida shippers will do this, they will find themselves protected through Mr. Beacham's efforts under the Food Administration rulings, and they will save themselves losses and delays in getting reimbursements for perishables they send out.

These suggestions apply to all shipments of fruits or vegetables.

Methodist Church.

Services at the first Methodist Church Sept. 22nd, will be as follows Sunday School at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 11:00 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. The Epworth League meets at 6:30 P. M. The Sunday School showed a gratifying increase last Sunday. The school with its various departments and organized classes affords an opportunity for any to spend an hour pleasantly and profitably in one of the many classes. A most cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the various services of the church. The people are returning from their vacations and the congregations are growing.

solved, the old method of "lose all" would begin again in the general dealings.

"Boast each other" he said. "Find fault only for cause and then find it in an open way. Too many organizations have gone down by too much outside talk, too much knocking each other among members is a death blow. Get out of it! Stick together, and you will be recognized as such and be benefited by so doing."

Mr. Rhodes left on the midnight train for Bradentown, where he will address the Manatee County Growers Association?

BULGARIANS IN RETREAT ALLIES GAIN

GERMANY UNABLE TO STEM THE TIDE.

British troops in desperate fighting are plunging further into the Hindenburg line north of St. Quentin, while west of Cambrai they have withstood vicious German counter attacks. The enemy is making every effort to retain his positions on the 20-mile front and to check the new allied move, which threatens both St. Quentin and Cambrai.

In Macedonia the Bulgarians are in flight northward before the Serbians and French. Hurled from important heights, the enemy has been forced back 12 miles and the pursuit continues.

How serious the menace to the security of the Hindenburg line by the trust north of St. Quentin is shown by the strong counter attacks the Germans have thrown against the British lines from Gouvaucourt to the Arras-Cambrai road, thus extending the battle line nearly 12 miles to the northward. On the front attacked Wednesday, the British are pressing ahead against the bitter resistance toward the St. Quentin-Cambrai high road, highway and canal. Three important enemy defenses.

From Lempire to Fontenoy, which the British now hold, the Germans have been hurled from the forward lines of the Hindenburg position. The British at Lempire are four miles from La-Croix, an important town, which is within one mile of the high road and the canal. A front west of St. Quentin the French are working steadily toward the town and, on the outskirts of Dalton two miles front at Quentin.

German counter attacks at Tessent and Monevres, northwest and west of Cambrai were prelude by an intense artillery bombardment, which severed the British communication lines. At both points the Germans were hurled back with heavy losses. The enemy entered the British trenches at some points but was immediately overwhelmed.

The Bulgarian retreat from the Serbo-Greek border is reported to be in the nature of a flight and the enemy is burning stores and villages in his path. The allies have captured additional prisoners and war material, which have not been counted, so fast has been their advance. A score or more of Serbian villages have been re-conquered and the Bu have been driven beyond Masimloy on the Cerna river, 15 miles south west of Pripel, the immediate objective.

It is not unlikely the Bulgarians will continue their retirement at least to the improved road running east and west through Pripel. Already their loss of the important Sokol ridge endangers the line west toward Monastir and east to the Vardar. Should the Bulgarians back to north of Pripel, a complete readjustment of the Teuton lines in Macedonia and Albania, from the Adriatic to Suloniki, virtually would be inevitable.

On St. Quentin-Cambrai front the best maps fail to show the difficulties attending even a minor advance. For 18 months the Germans have been strengthening their positions, which they consider as being invulnerable. The fact, therefore that the British and French succeeded in storming entrenched heights and strongly defended towns indicates that the blow was one in which strong forces were engaged and may have been designed as the preliminary step to a move of ordinary importance.

French Serbian and Greek forces have continued their advance on the Macedonian front and have taken a number of strongly defended points in the mountainous region east of Monastir. The front is now near 20 miles in length and the advance has reached a depth of over six miles. It is said that the defense of the Teutonic allies was very strong at first, but that, as the entente armies have smashed their way forward, the enemy has appeared to lose his taste for close fighting. The progress made at once in this region.

GASSLESS SUNDAY SAVED W.S.

DIFFICULT TO REALIZE WHAT SACRIFICE MEANS.

When the American people locked up their automobiles for a gassless Sunday on September 1, they saved enough money to provide General Pershing's Army with 5,000 machine guns, costing $250 each.

They saved enough money to buy food for the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe for two whole days.

They saved enough money to provide General Pershing's Army with 2,200,000 hand grenades.

They saved enough money to pay for 35,784 completely equipped rifles which the American infantryman carries when he goes into conflict.

These figures were revealed in a Treasury statement, appealing to the American public to turn its savings from abstinence into War Savings Stamps or set them aside for investment in Liberty Bonds. The Treasury statement reminded the public that these savings which are being effected are of no value to the Government in its prosecution of the war unless they are made available for its use.

The Fuel Administration reported that the saving of gasoline on the second gassless Sunday amounted to five million gallons, which valued at 25 cents a gallon, meant a saving to American pocketbooks of $1,250,000. In transportation alone, this meant a saving of 625 tank cars for an average haul of 222 miles.

The rubber saved by giving tires a day's rest would be sufficient to equip 3,500 motor trucks for the American Army with tires capable of running five thousand miles.

The Treasury reminder called attention to the fact that labor and material essential to the conduct of the war arise from either of these three sources:

- First, released by abstinence of the people; Second, Imported from Neutral countries; Third, Obtained by tapping the roads on our accumulated supplies or equipment.

To that extent with which, by saving, we can carry on the war by means of current abstinence, we shall be better off when the war is over. Whatever we import we must ultimately pay for through some forms of exports, which will mean that we must later deny ourselves the things that we fail now to deny ourselves. To the extent to which we draw on accumulated supplies or equipment, we are putting ourselves in a worse condition to carry on production when the war is over and competition again becomes keen.

Through the effective blockade of Germany, Germany has been compelled to pay for the war, to a great extent, through current abstinence. At least she has been prevented from importing commodities to any important extent. On the other hand, Germany has been compelled to use up her accumulated supplies and equipment, even after using what she has stolen from Belgium, Poland and other invaded countries. Germany will be found to have required copper from her roofs and gutters, her machinery and equipment will be worn out and run down and she must, when the war is over, replenish exhausted capital before she can be properly of the allies, however, would not appear to indicate any general giving way of the Bulgarian forces, which are being assisted by German units, according to a Berlin dispatch.

The fighting has been going on since Sunday and the progress indicates a real threat to the city of Pripel, said to be one of the Teutonichava on this sector of the Macedonian front.

American troops are engaged in consolidating their new lines across the base of the St. Michel salient, which they wiped out last week. The Germans are reported to be feverishly working to strengthen their lines in this sector but it seems improbable that a new American assault will be made at once in this region.

FAIR TRAIN SERVICE FOR SANFORD VEGETABLES - PROMISED THIS SEASON

AMERICA'S REJECTION IS BRIEF

NO MISTAKES ABOUT OUR PEACE STAND.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The government's unconditional rejection of the peace proposals of Austria-Hungary speaks for all the governments allied with the United States; it is believed here. Secretary Lansing rejected the invitation of Austria-Hungary, upon authority of President Wilson, almost simultaneously with its receipt and transmission to the state department by the Swedish embassy. It was one of the shortest notes of such importance ever received.

"The allies feel they cannot confer with the central powers," said President Wilson last night.

"Resolutely, and with entire candor the messages which the United States will consider peace have been stated. It will entertain no proposal for a conference upon a matter concerning which it has made its position and purpose so plain." The direct and clear cut answer of the United States was "accentuated" promptness of the reply, which officials here believe will emphasize to the enemy the determination of the American people in waging this war and set before the people more clearly the position of the United States government.

The quickness of the reply, it is believed, will forestall any speculation or comment tending to convey a wrong impression that the United States as a whole would consider a negotiated peace developed from the "non-binding discussion" proposed by Austria, at the instance, it is believed, of Germany.

Through the other allies may make answers to the Austrian feeler, it was assured today that President Wilson had sounded the keynote and that other replies will be equally emphatic in content.

Since the Vienna note met a flat rejection, speculation turned today to the result in Austria and Germany. It was believed that the central powers' heads would now turn to their war worn people with the allied reply and again seek to place the entire blame for the war on the entente allies and the United States.

In the opinion of some officials, not so numerous, Austria, through submission of the proposal and after its rejection, is prepared to take the next step—a withdrawal from her alliance with Germany, Turkey and Bulgaria, and a complete acceptance of the terms laid down by President Wilson.

At The Baptist Church.

On next Sunday, at the first Baptist Church, the pastor will speak in the morning on the subject "Ye are—That Ye May" and in the evening the subject will be—"The Children and the Streets." The hours for the service are as follows:

- Sunday School 9:30 A. M. Morning Worship 11:00 A. M. B. Y. P. U. 6:30 P. M. Evening Worship 7:30 P. M.

A cordial welcome will be extended to all visitors.

prepared to turn out any considerable volume of current production.

The moral which the Treasury Department points out as a result of the gassless Sunday is that it is important in our conduct of the war to pay as we go as far as possible by abstinence from current consumption and that abstinence in itself contribute to the winning of the war only to that degree with which the money saved is made available to the Government by investment in War Savings Stamps or Liberty Bonds.

BETTER TRAINS AND DIVERSIONS TO BE GIVEN.

All indications point to at least fair train service the coming season, according to the Sanford Truck Growers, Inc., who had a representative in attendance at the meeting of railroads and shippers in the Regional Director's office in Atlanta, September 11th and 12th. One of the things asked for was that No. 212, fast through freight originating at Sanford and running through to New York, be scheduled to leave Sanford at 11:30 P. M., daily instead of 9:00 P. M., as heretofore. This has been previously considered and was granted. This will allow growers more time in which to load their cars daily and give the shipper more time to get his billing instructions in.

D. C. Marlowe, who attended the meeting and who represents the traffic and transportation interests of the Sanford Truck Growers, Inc., reports a fine spirit of co-operation between the railroads and shippers this season and remarks in the highest praise of Messrs. L. T. King, of the Coast Line, Jas. Menzies, of the Coast Line, Mr. Seddon, of the Seaboard and Mr. Chas. Barham, of the N. C. & St. L., all of whom are now associated officially with the Regional Director's office. In the meeting everything in reason was granted the shipper and Mr. King pointed out that it was the sole aim to get impartially in all matters and that the purposes of both sides were the same and all for the government. For the coming season, the schedule for No. 212, Sanford to New York, will be as follows:

- Leave Sanford- 11:30 P. Leave Jacksonville- 12:00 Noon Tuesday. Leave Potomac Yards- 1:45 A.M. Friday. Arrive New York- 6:00 P.M. Friday. Going West. Leave Sanford- 11:30 P.M. Friday. Leave Jacksonville- 9:30 A.M. Tuesday. Leave Weyercross- 5:00 P.M. Tuesday. Leave Montgomery- 5:30 P.M. Wednesday. Leave Memphis- 11:25 P.M. Thursday. Arrive E. St. Louis- 7:00 A.M. Friday.

For Cincinnati and Chicago, cars leaving Sanford say at 11:30 P. M. Monday will reach Cincinnati 2:00 A. M., Friday and into Chicago the following morning.

The Federal Railroad Administration has specified their own routes which is, or should be, entirely satisfactory to the shipper. Freight will, as a rule, be given open routes and kept away from heavy passenger traffic. Heretofore cars moving A. C. L. to Albany, thence Central of Georgia, will now go to the A. B. & A. west of Offerman and to Atlanta. Going east, ordinary routes will be Coast Line to Montgomery, M. & O. delivery to Carlo. It was brought out at the meeting that no circuitous routes would be allowed in reaching destinations. This is a good move and one that shippers should help carry out.

In the matter of diversions, going east, cars can be diverted at Jacksonville, Weyercross or Potomac Yards. West, divert at Jacksonville, Weyercross, Montgomery, Nashville, Cincinnati, Cairo, New Orleans and St. Louis. Diversions from Sanford, will be handled by Mr. J. F. Meade, Division Freight Agent, A. C. L., Jacksonville, who will give the shipper prompt passing reports.

The congestion experienced last season is not looked for the coming winter. Efforts will be made to re-establish New York deliveries at Pier 29 on the Pennsylvania, eliminating cross town hauls and heavy cartage. Generally, the thirty or more railroad officials at the meeting predicted almost normal service this winter and asks for the earnest co-operation of all shippers.

The Funniest of all Musical Cartoon Shows, "Bringing Up Father at Home" at the Lyric Monday, Sept. 30

AMUSEMENT

Bringing Up Father at Home
 More real fun, more hilarious laughter than one is accustomed to hear in the course of at least two distinct theatrical offerings; more sidesplitting situations and complications and irresistible laughter is promised in the future adventures of "Father" and Mother in "Bringing up Father at Home" the latest stage version of George McManus' world famous cartoon, which is to be seen at the Lyric Monday Sept. 30th.

As usual, manager Gus Hill, who first saw the possibilities of placing these wonderful humorous comics upon the stage, is sponsor for what is considered the best of the cartoon play series. It is a typically characteristic Hill offering, replete with original features, innovations and composed on lines different from anything represented in similar entertainments. For three acts "Father" and his dotting better half will have opportunities of airing their domestic differences to a delighted multitude.

"Father" as we have grown to know him, is a most lovable character, his good nature invariably has been his undoing. However, in this instance, the proverbial worm will turn and it does. The evolution of things of course is all brought about in sheer good fun, welded with jingling music, specialties, surprises, ensembles and novelties, all interpreted by a capable cast of thirty people. This includes Walter Vernon and Louise Earle, J. W. Clifford, Jack Stanley, Perry Walling, Louise Wolf, Dorothy Eden, Bernie Ward and a singing and dancing chorus of fifteen smartly gowned, dashing and deliciously beautiful young women. From all accounts of the papers, this contribution is the most enjoyable of the "Father" series to date, which in itself is something exceptional to be able to chronicle. —Lyric Monday Sept 30th. Seats on sale at Philip's Drug Store.

Erectness.
 Sit, stand and walk erect. This keeps our circulation in order and also expands our lungs to the fullest. Be straight like the Indian who believed in being erect, and in reaching his highest stature that he might the better listen to the voice of the Great Spirit. —The Fire Magazine Wokeup.

Budding Diplomat.
 "Wifflie," said his mother, seeing him eating a piece of candy, "did I say you could have a piece of candy?" "Well," said Wifflie, "you didn't say that I couldn't."

HANDLING SEED CORN

Care Necessary in Selecting Requires Shelling by Hand.

Picking Out Most Productive Ears While in Field and Storing in Dry Place is Only Half of Very Important Task.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
 Shelling is one of the important steps in selecting seed corn. The care necessary in selecting and handling corn to be used for seed requires shelling to be done by hand. Selecting the seed from the most productive stocks as they stand in the field and storing them in a dry place free from insects and rodents is only half the job in providing the next year's seed corn supply.

Seed ears should first be rubbed and the kernels from tip and butt should be discarded from the seed supply. The small kernels from the tips are less productive than the other kernels on the ear; the blunt, thick, rounded kernels from the butts are just as productive as any of the rest, but because of their shape and size they do not plant uniformly when used in a corn planter with other kernels.

Shelling by hand takes more time and labor, but is profitable. The mechanical corn sheller is likely to shatter the germ tips of the individual grains and to thus destroy or impair their power to germinate. No matter how large the required supply, it will still pay to shell it painstakingly by manual labor, because the greater the acreage to be planted, the greater the ultimate profit.

Each ear should be shelled separately into a shallow pan or box, and every blemished, misshapen or worm-eaten kernel should be rejected. As the seed from each ear is found satisfactory and sound, and free from poor kernels, it is poured into the general supply, and another ear is shelled in the same way. It is much easier to pick out defective grains from a single layer in a small receptacle than from a large mingled quantity in a bushel measure or a bag.

Good Alibi for the Bee.
 That bees injure fruit is a common belief in some quarters, but investigations recently carried out in Italy proved it to be without foundation. Bees cannot perforate the skin of fruit, and the damage attributed to them is really due to birds, wind, hail, hornets, wasps and certain other insects. Bees are, in fact, of much benefit to the orchardist, because they effect the cross-pollination of fruit trees.—Popular Science Monthly.

Old Idea of the "Far West."
 The citizens of Albany, N. Y., experienced a thrill on February 28, 1795, when 500 emigrants' sleighs passed through that city on their way to the distant and little-known Genesee country of western New York. The Genesee valley was then considered the "far West."

Always Have Danger Signal.
From the beginning of railroads in Great Britain a red necktie has been part of the uniform of trainmen and station employees. The object was that every train and servant might have always something at hand to improvise into a danger signal when a red flag was not available.

TO PROTECT MUSKRAT

Most Valuable Fur Animal in the United States.

Whether It Shall Be Protected or Destroyed Depends on Its Behavior—Sometimes It Does Considerable Damage.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Whether the muskrat, the most valuable animal in the United States, should be protected or destroyed depends upon its behavior. In some circumstances this animal becomes detrimental and is responsible for considerable damage to growing crops, irrigation ditches, milldams, etc. Where the animal is not troublesome, biologists of the U. S. department of agriculture suggest that it be protected and trapped for fur. Even where the animal has become somewhat of a pest, its numbers often may be kept down by trapping, while the sale of pelts makes such activities profitable. Often crops may be protected by the erection of wire-mesh fences between them and the marsh or pond where the animals live. Such fences should reach at least six inches beneath the surface of the ground to prevent the muskrat burrowing under.

Where the animals prove troublesome by causing breaks in embankments, dams, and in the sides of irrigation ditches, probably the most practical remedy is to employ a trapper and hunter to patrol the property both night and day. In narrow waterways barrel traps have proved efficient in catching large numbers of these animals.

By erecting more permanent works, owners of embankments, dams, etc., may guard against injuries to their property by muskrats. A more general use of concrete, for example, has greatly minimized such troubles. The more liberal use of gravel or coarse sand for the surface of embankments has been found effective, since the animals will not burrow in soil that fills the hole as fast as they open it.

Destruction of muskrats, where this is desirable, as well as their protection, which is in most cases advisable, is discussed in a recent Farmers' Bulletin, No. 869, of the United States department of agriculture. Copies of this bulletin may be had free as long as the supply lasts by application to the United States department of agriculture, Washington.

MAKE PATHS THROUGH SNOW

Little Difficulty Experienced if Farmer Will Take Time to Construct Little Plow.

There is little difficulty making paths through the snow around the house and barns if the farmer is equipped with a snow plow. In an hour a path can be made as long as a horse can walk in that time, writes C. E. Brashart, Missouri College of Agriculture. A home-made plow can be built with very little trouble. It consists of two 12-inch planks nailed together in a V shape, with suitable braces between.

The diagram shows a snow plow made of two planks, 2 by 12 inches by feet long. These are beveled and nailed together at one end, and two braces made of 2 by 6-inch stuff are nailed between them. Boards are nailed over the top to help brace and to furnish a place for the driver to ride. A hole is bored through the sides where they join and a single-tree fastened on. One horse pulls the plow without difficulty.

CLEANLINESS IS GREAT HELP

Sanitary Surroundings as Essential for Animals as Proper Nourishment for Them.

Proper nourishment and clean surroundings are helpful in combating animal diseases. Feeding balanced rations will take care of the nourishment factor. The University of Missouri college of agriculture regards clean and sanitary surroundings as essential as proper nourishment. Drainage of quarters, ventilation, keeping sheds and stalls free from manure, dust and other rubbish, a liberal use of lime and other disinfectants and eternal war on parasites will reduce the veterinary bill to the minimum.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Price, of this place, says: "After the birth of my first child... I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time..."

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. about my taking Cardui. He said, "It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble," so he got me 5 bottles. After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved, before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children—be- sides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it.

Every Tooth Visible.

"All right, here they are, look at them." This was the reply of a local manufacturer whose health has been unsatisfactory and who went to a local doctor for examination and treatment. Some of the doctors are ordering patients to have their teeth extracted when rheumatism or other aches fail to respond to treatment. Some perfectly sound teeth have been pulled to relieve patients of illness and they say the loss of all the teeth has in some cases shut off the poison which poisons is said to supply to the circulatory system. This particular manufacturer submitted to a thorough examination and the doctor then said: "I can't find the cause of the trouble. There must be something wrong in your teeth. Let me look at them."

And then the accommodating patient opened his mouth and handed the astonished doctor an upper and lower plate.—Indianapolis News.

How "Johnny Cake" Got Name.

Corn bread coming into its own is a repetition of the story of Civil war days in the confederacy. At that time the bread situation became acute and throughout the South the people supplanted the white flour article with corn pone, later creating what we today know as corn bread. Southern soldiers saw very little other bread during the war. These fighters south of the Mason and Dixon line were known to the Yankees as "Johnny Rebs," and when it was learned that they ate corn bread the Federal soldiers at once named it "Johnny Cake."

Neck of the House.

"The 'director' man had called, and asked the housewife for the name of the occupant."
"Mary Jane Smith," was the reply.
"Widow or spinster?" he asked, briefly; then, noting the sudden glare in her eye, he added, hastily: "If you are married, it's your husband's name I want, as he will, of course, be the head of the house."
"Oh, he will, will he?" exclaimed the woman, with some asperity. "Well, if he's the head, then I'm the neck, and a head's a helpless sort of thing if it hasn't a neck to wag it."

PAINTING CARS - YELLOW POOR DISPLAY OF PATRIOTS

The Panama City Pilot reprehends the actions of a few lawless, and presumably thoughtless young men, who thought they were doing a patriotic thing by painting the car of a citizen from a neighboring town yellow last Sunday night. True patriotism is not shown in any such way. It is rather an evidence of lawlessness which is worthy of punishment. We are not contending the action of the man who did it—perhaps he could not conform to the requests of the fuel administration. We are not familiar with the circumstances of the case. The man may have had a reasonable excuse, and we give him the benefit of the doubt.

Of one thing however, we are certain, the young men who did the deed were guilty of an act which deserves punishment. There is redress for grievances within the law and the man who steps outside of that encourages mob law, and stands at liberty itself.

A similar offense occurred in Illinois two weeks ago, and in less than 36 hours the guilty parties were in the hands of the law and being punished for their misdeeds. Another case happened in Seminole county. A man's car was painted yellow while he was in church. We have heard of no arrests in either of the Florida cases. Is news to get abroad that Florida is less law-abiding than Illinois? We trust not.—Tampa Times.

THE LIMIT OF GALL

Twelve separate articles, twenty-four pages of single spaced typewritten stuff, all from the pen of and bearing across the top the name of the general development agent of a railroad, sent us for free insertion in the Commercial, is what we term the limit of gall.

The United States has taken over the railroads and has guaranteed their earnings. It has not taken over the newspapers and is cutting off their possible earnings. Under such conditions, it certainly is the limit of gall for a railroad to attempt to ride the newspapers for free advertising under the guise of matter of a patriotic nature.

What authority does the railroad attempt to ride upon our space? The particular railroad spent with us in the past six years less than $10.00, yet, in the name of patriotism, it attempts to work us for 2,000 lines of reading matter of the actual value of $100,000 in the same period we have space with this railroad for freight and passenger fares, something over $2,000,000. Yet there are half-baked politicians who attempt to levy again upon us and other honest newspaper publishers the extortion that we would be "bribed" by an exchange of advertising space for mileage on a dollar for dollar basis. Are we less honest than railroads? Are we less honest than legislators? By the Eternal, no! But we have been more gullible. We have permitted both of them to ride us in the same way. We permitted both of them to ride us in the name of patriotism and of community and state welfare.

But enough of this! We newspapers are awake! All that we have is at the service of our government in this time of war but not a penny of our money shall be spent for any position, for imposition and for progrework and ink on the "free staff" that has heretofore been foisted upon us in the name of patriotism. If the railroad wants advertising it can pay for it just as we have to pay our freight bills and our passenger fares.

In August the Commercial's paid advertising was slightly less than $500.00, yet it contributed to patriotism and charity the value of $165.20. Is there any justice in that? And, after it, should we feed pap to the railroad that ignores us? Not on your life. The Coast Line can pay its bills or print its own advertising henceforth. We are through with it.—Leesburg Commercial.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

This week witnessed another opening of our public schools and through out Seminole County the reports of good attendance are most encouraging. Especially is this true of the Sanford schools where it was predicted that the attendance incident to the demands of the war would be decreased considerably but greatly to the surprise of teachers and school officials the attendance was better on opening day than last year.

Our schools are among the best in the state and those pupils who contemplate for any reason to drop their education to be curtailed should ponder over this momentous question before leaving school to engage in any occupation. The war has proven beyond any doubt that the high school pupil is given preference over the man with a common school education and the government even advocates the boys remaining in schools until they are needed to make the world safe for liberty and democracy. The young men in the draft age will be sent to school at the expense of the government and in return the government seeking a commission has found that a college education or at least a high school diploma was the open sesame for a good position or commission or even the chance of a good opening in the army and navy.

If this is true in war times it is even more true of peace times and after this great war is over the call for educated men will be more insistent and urgent than ever before. There will be thousands of good positions open for trained men and trained men are found to be more efficient after they have received a good schooling.

Thus the successful opening of our schools is a most gratifying thing. It shows that more of our young men being trained to take their places in the ranks of our country. The young ladies can always be depended upon to take the high school course and every year sees three times as many lady graduates as young men, therefore this advice is leveled at our young men and the Herald wishes to congratulate those upon a good showing made on opening day.

But to raise no objection to the call to duty, as existed we can only say, well done. The American youth cannot be restrained when the call of the country comes and they will go to war with the same buoyant spirit as they went to school or to play. May they return to us after the war and all of them, take up the school again and finish their education and the government will no doubt make provision for the boys who enlisted before the draft age and helped to uphold the Stars and Stripes over all the world.

The faculty this year is an exceptionally strong one and at the time when teachers are scarce and very difficult to find our school officials are to be congratulated upon opening the schools with every chair filled with earnest and most proficient instructors.

Narrow Escape - Mrs. D. L. Long, who resides on the south end of Beardsall Ave., while-out in the yard last Tuesday noticed that her hens were giving the "snake alarm". She walked down to the wire fence and was looking over when a 5-foot cotton-mouth moccasin, which was coiled near her feet, struck at her. How it missed her at that close range is a mystery! She was naturally very much startled and stepping quickly backward fell in a shallow ditch. The reptile did not follow his advantage but remained coiled. Mrs. Long recovered courage and killed him with a garden rake. The skin measures 6 feet 3 inches.

That's Right - Men seldom, or rather never for a length of time and deliberately, rebel against anything that does not deserve rebelling against.

Juvenile Protective Association of Seminole County.

Sanford, Fla. Sept. 15, 1918. Meeting was called to order by President Jenkins at 2:50 P. M. in the office of County Tax Collector.

Rev. J. P. Hilburn offering a short prayer. Secretary was requested to read minutes of last meeting. The Sec'y reported that all records of the Juvenile Protective Association had been destroyed in the recent fire of the Virginia Carolina Chemical Co., but gave a verbal report as best he could.

Report of Committee on Pool Playing and Sale of Cigarettes to minors was made by Rev. Brownlee. He stating that the officers of the city had been requested to handle this unlawful procedure but after a lapse of a year the practice seems to be continued.

Probation Officer, R. J. Holly gave a very interesting report, showing that during the year there have been four white boys and eight negroes placed under the probation officers care and many others who had not been arrested but were brought to his attention and received the same ministrations of the Juvenile court as these who had been called into the court of the County Judge. Out of this number only two were sent to the industrial school at Marianna and these were sent only after they had been in court several times and their parents or guardians acknowledged that they could do nothing to restrain them or place them in schools of some kind.

In the case of a young girl who had fallen under the influence of a man much older than herself and who was conducting herself in a manner that brought censure upon herself, the courts were unable to handle the case and when it was brought to the attention of the Probation officer she was sent to her relatives where it is hoped that she will have the proper care and attention and after she is older can best judge for herself the course of action that will solve her future. That she was saved is only another proof of the great benefits in accordance of having such a court established and maintained here. Report accepted.

Probation Officer Hilby's resignation was then read. Rev. Hilburn moved and Rev. Brownlee seconded that the Association accept the resignation and also express our appreciation to Mr. Holly for his faithful services. Carried.

President Jenkins then made a short talk expressing our appreciation of the Association. Moved by E. A. Douglas seconded by Judge Householder that a committee of three be appointed to draft resolutions expressing to Mr. Holly our thanks and appreciation. Carried.

Those appointed are E. A. Douglas, Rev. Massey and Judge Householder.

Moved by Rev. Hilburn seconded by E. A. Douglas that H. C. Dahose be elected to fill the vacancy in the office of Probation Officer. Carried.

Secretary requested to write Mr. Mahoney a letter advising him of his election to a request that be served. Suggested by Rev. Brownlee that a committee of three be appointed to draft Constitution and By-laws for the legal Juvenile Protective Association. The President appointed Rev. Brownlee, Rev. Hilburn and Judge Householder.

Moved to adjourn at 4:30 P. M. Sir J. Henry H. Peabody Secretary.

RINGLING BROTHERS ANNOUNCE DATE

Gigantic Spectacle in a Thousand Acres season-up to twice This Local. In season August. Word comes that Ringling Brothers' mammoth circus is to exhibit afternoon and night at Jacksonville Monday Oct. 7th.

Always the leaders in introducing the newest and greatest features the famous showmen this season announce the most remarkable program of their career. There is a brand new spectacle of gigantic proportions entitled "In Days of Old." Produced on the biggest stage ever built, it tells the story of the golden age of Ivanhoe, Robin Hood and King Arthur. An entire trainload of scenery is carried. The cast numbers 1,250 actors and there is an entrancing ballet of 500 dancing girls. A thousand arena sensations follow the spectacle on the magnificent program. There are great troupes of seals, dogs and monkeys that walk on tight ropes and ride lumberjacks; herds of deer; and all new tricks; international athletes in feats of amazing strength; slides for life from tent-top to the ground by men suspended by the hair, and one—the great Hillary—who "jumps the gap" with snakes attached to

The Oath

I will not drink from a German cup. Or eat from a German plate. I will not deal with a German man. All foul with German hate.

I'll use no drug with a German name. That's grown on German land. I'll eat no food and drink no beer. If made by a German hand.

I will not use a German tool. Razor, or knife, or saw. I will not trade with a German shop. That uses the German law.

I will not sail on a German ship. Where German songs are sung. I will not breathe where Gods clean air. Is soiled by a German tongue.

I'll not forget those awful deeds. To girls and little boys. No more I'll hang on Christmas trees. Those blood-stained German toys.

This is my oath when war is done. I'll swear to keep it true. And since I know you feel the same I'll pass it on to you.

CONCRETE COVER FOR WELL

Expert of Ohio State University Gives Plan for Constructing Convenient Platform.

In response to a query for plans for a satisfactory and sanitary covering for a dug well and convenient for thawing pipes Prof. F. W. Ives of the Ohio State university makes the following reply:

The accompanying drawing shows a platform constructed of concrete, which will be sanitary and convenient for thawing pipes. The two slabs will be re-enforced as shown in the drawing. The walls may be built of brick or tile laid up in cement mortar and will save expense for forms. The concrete for the slabs should be in the proportion of one part Portland cement, two parts clean sand and four parts crushed stone or pebbles. If made a quaky consistency, enough of the mortar will come to the top in tamping to finish the platform without using a mortar coat. Ten pounds of hydrated lime added to each sack of cement used will not harm on any working concrete.

In the Fashionable Silhouette. The development of the frock shown here. The waist has an open neck finished with a shawl collar of gun metal silk. The collar extends to the edge of the front and the one-piece sleeves have cuffs of silk to correspond with the collar. The four-piece skirt is plaited front and back, the sides being gathered and trimmed with pockets. In medium size the design requires 4 1/2 yards 34-inch material.

For the majority of the pieces of the pattern, it will be necessary to fold the material in half, though it is arranged differently for the front and back gores of the skirt. Place the side gore of the skirt into position first, with the large "O" perforations on a lengthwise thread of material. In the corner to the lower left of the side gore place the belt. To the right of the side gore the front of the waist is arranged, with the large "O" perforations on a lengthwise thread, while below the front of the waist the back rests on the lengthwise fold. Next to the back comes the pocket, with large "O" perforations on the lengthwise thread of material and above the pocket, the cuff and belt, in the same positions. To avoid a seam, the collar is just rest on the lengthwise fold of the goods. The remaining space on the material is devoted to the pocket and the sleeve, which are laid on a lengthwise thread of material. Now take the remaining cloth and fold in quarters so that the selvages will meet over the center fold. Place the front and back gores into position as shown in the cutting guide so that the triple "O" perforations will rest along the lengthwise fold. The remaining space for the gores are laid along the sloped sides. If the cloth is desired shorter than illustrated, the hem may be turned under deeper than indicated.

Resolution Whereas, the Seminole County Juvenile Association, through its Board of Directors, has this day received the resignation of Hon. R. J. Holly, as Probation Officer, in which capacity he has served, with out pay, since the inauguration of this movement; and whereas, the resignation of Mr. Holly is in view of his expected early call as a Y. M. C. A. Secretary to service overseas; therefore Resolved, by the Board of Directors, acting for and in behalf of the Seminole County Juvenile Association, First, That in the retirement of Mr. Holly, we are mindful of our great debt of gratitude to him for his faithful and efficient service, and that without compensation, in the discharge of his official duties; Second, That in reviewing the work accomplished through the efforts and agencies of this Association in attending the cases of delinquent minors, much credit is due Mr. Holly for his promptness and wisdom in the treatment of each case brought to his attention.

Third, That we assure Mr. Holly of our abiding appreciation and of our very best wishes as he assumes the duties of the new position to whose call he has so readily and gallantly responded. Signed E. A. Douglass, M. H. Massey, E. H. Householder, Committee.

Mrs. Raymond J. Wright Among the pioneers who are to be remembered with high regard for their enterprise, work, and industry are those who came into this part of the state in the seventies and eighties and built up the orange culture before the big freeze. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wright who came from Michigan in 1880. Mrs. Wright was born in Tecumseh, Michigan, seventy-six years ago; her husband was from New York. With Dudley Adams Mr. Wright laid out the town of Tangerine and one orange grove appeared about the lakes. Then came the disaster of 1895, and the following year Mr. Wright passed away.

In 1900 Mrs. Wright moved to Sanford, and has since that time made her home with her daughter Mrs. A. D. Key. A member of the Congregational church here, she was active in service as long as health permitted; and ever deeply spiritual and true to her Christian faith. Of domestic nature her love of home and loved ones were marked qualities of her life, and the most devoted affection and care were in turn unceasingly given her. Mr. Raymond Key, her grandson in the Sanford home, adding a loving devotion which with all gave rich comfort and joy to her who in these recent months has been a great sufferer from incurable disease.

Mrs. Wright passed away Tuesday night. Her pastor, Rev. Mr. Brower had charge of the service at the home, assisted by Rev. Arthur Peck, Mrs. J. E. Terwilliger sang Mrs. Wright's favorite hymn, "Just as I am, without one plea," and "Peace, perfect peace." The interment was in the cemetery at Tangerine beside the grave of Mr. Wright.

Many friends gathered for the funeral, and the floral gifts were expressive of their love and sympathy. Four children survive the mother, three of whom were present at the last. Mrs. A. D. Key of Sanford Mrs. Walter Twitchell of Worcester, Mass., Charles Wright of Jacksonville, The other son, William Wright of Rochester New York was unable to be present.

SAVE THE NUT SHELLS. The Government Needs Them For Gas Masks. War is the American people are told in the simple way in which the government is asking the citizens to save the nut shells. Now, not then, them, such as the latest statement.

The saving of the pits of apricots, peaches, plums, dates, cherries, and the saving of the shells of Brazil nuts, hickory nuts, with nuts and butter nuts will be a help in winning the war. Of course every one will ask how. The answer is simple. Our scientists have discovered that these pits and shells of nuts, when burned, make the best carbon obtainable for use in gas masks. Some of our own soldiers have put the masks to the supreme test in the trenches "over there." The call has gone out to every state for the saving of fruit pits and shells.

What more patriotic way could the children be employed during the autumn months in Florida, and the season is now upon us, than to go to the woods and collect hickory nuts, which grow in such abundance in some localities. These can be collected in lots and turned over to the local Chapters of the Red Cross. The Secretaries of the Red Cross will know just what to do with them. Of course the hickory nuts can be cracked and the kernels extracted as far as possible. The shells are as useful broken as they are unbroken.

Here is an opportunity for every boy and girl to enlist in a real war work, and every donation of the kind they make to the Red Cross is a direct blow against German warlords. The hotels and restaurants have already been asked to save the pits from fruits used in such places, and after drying them, to turn them over to the Red Cross Chapters.

It is the little things that count in winning the war and this is one of the very great little things. The Boy Scouts and all other patriotic organizations are urged by Federal Food Administrator Draxton Beacham to enlist in this very patriotic work of procuring and saving fruit pits and shells, in order that they may be converted into carbon to fill the gas masks, and protect our brave soldiers from horrible suffering and death on the battle field. Every one can help.

UTILIZE COMBINGS OF DOGS English Women Making Articles for the Red Cross Service From Somewhat Odd Materials. The picturesque spinning wheel is coming into its own again in England, but in certain instances an unusual material is employed to work upon. The tiny pet dogs, so very numerous in dog-loving England, are "doing their bit." Watch the spinner at the wheel and guess what her soft and fluffy raw material is? Just simply the combings of Fido and Flit, and a host of similar pets. The softness of these combings suggests before-the-war Shetland, and the wool produced provides for jerseys, mufflers, bedspreads, and operation stockings, of which the Red Cross say they can never have too many. Of course these doggie combings receive special treatment before they reach the spinning wheel. It seems that the use of dog's hair for wool manufacture is not new, as a lady in England tells of her mother having a frieze suit years ago, the material for which was contributed by a favorite Chow. Gossip has it in London that only the fear of looking ghastly prevented the women's branch of the ministry of national service from instituting a scheme for collecting dog's hair. Perhaps the little dogs are trying to justify their tiny lives, in the face of suggestions that their food is more needed in England now than their presence.

WORK HARD AND DON'T WORRY If There May Be Said to Be a Recipe for a Long and Happy Life, Why, There It Is. America is anxiously scanning the casualty lists these days, keenly sensitive to the dread possibilities of war. Yet, if we pause to think, we should find, as the Equitable Life Assurance society has deduced from its vast experience in mortality data, that "worry kills more men than war and disease put together." We read of those killed in action, dead of wounds, accidents or disease at the front, and our hearts are wring for the loss of those brave boys, but day by day a larger company falls out of our own ranks here at home to answer the last call, the Pittsburgh Dispatch observes. Some are spoken of as victims of hard work, of overexertion, but if the truth were known, it would be found it was worry that hastened their end. Hard work never killed anyone. It is worry that kills. A young man, for instance, rises to the head of a good business or to some other responsible position. Perhaps he begins to slacken, to ease up a little, and leaves the details to his subordinates. Things do not move as smoothly, and, when he wakes up, he finds he has lost his grip of affairs and begins to worry. His friends think hard work killed him, but it was worry that shortened his years. While he was fighting his way upward his work "chopped him" as it will any man capable of a career. Work left him no time for worry. Keep pegging away. Worry is the grain of dust that upsets the fine balance of the human mechanism, brings loss of power, slowing down the engine and ultimately racking it to pieces. Bear in mind that "worry kills more

LESSONS FOR THE Home Embroiderer

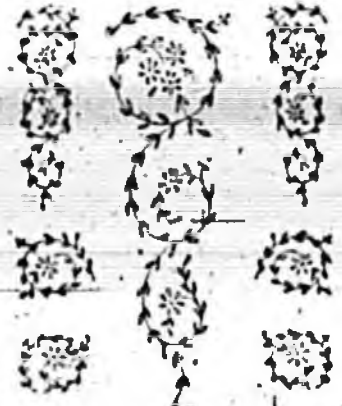

Specially prepared for this Newspaper by Pictorial Review.

A Simple and Attractive Motif for Use in the Decoration of Silk and Linen Dresses.

The dress that is trimmed with hand embroidery is preeminently fashionable this season, whether it be developed in satin, linen or cotton. These are busy days, however, and any embroidery design clamoring for smart favor must be simple in effect and quick to develop. Here is pictured a charming frock of white linen, the skirt being in mate-walstine forming a girldle effect. The tunic is gathered and arranged on gathered side gores joined to the front and back gores under the platts and to the lower edge of the girldle extensions.

The embroidery supplies three panel designs, 2 of which are reversed with 16 motifs for use on dresses in smart materials. The motifs may be used on the waist, girldle or collar of a costume also and if carried out in eyelet, raised satin and outline stitches produces a very handsome effect. The small panels are 3 1/2 inches wide by 12 inches high. The motifs are each 3 1/2 inches high by 1 1/2 inches wide and the largest panel 7 inches wide by 2 1/2 inches high.

If one is making up a costume that is expected to do all-round service, the embroidery may be done in silk or wool, though there is nothing so effective for tub materials as mercerized cotton.

The blouse worn with the panel skirt may be finished with a high, round or V-shaped neckline. The sleeves are in one piece and may be in slaring effect, with flare cuffs or with a straight sleeveband with the sleeve flaring at the back.

SHERM'S DOTS

THE DOTS SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE. By Clifford Leon Sherman.

Dear Folks:—I was allowed to go to Paris yesterday, and, while it didn't seem like the Paris I had imagined, the trip was worth while. Naturally it is not gay as it was before the war, but the Parisians are a jumpy sort and will never give up till they win. I asked one old chap at a newspaper kiosk how long he had been in the business, and he said about a year, ever since the war had driven him out of a manufacturing business in the north of France. I started to sympathize with him, and he said, "Don't worry about me. I only lost my factory. My brother lost his."

German Toys Not What They Were.

Simplicity is the rule in German toy shops now, and wood, once formerly used only for the cheaper toys, is now almost the only material employed. Lack of flour, which is used with cement to make the bodies, prevents the manufacture of new dolls. Wax, used for the heads, is almost unobtainable, and the material for dresses costs four times as much as before the war. Toys cost at least twice as much as formerly, metal toys are few in number, and some of the very cheap varieties cannot be had at all. The metal that formerly went into the making of trunks, boxes, soldiers, and other toys, has been taken by the government for the manufacture of munitions.

Green and Mistrustful.

Thomas W. Lawson said in a Boston lecture: "The green speculator is apt to be more suspicious and mistrustful than the seasoned one. Green speculators by their nature often remind me of the farmer who went to the Boston & Maine station, put down a $20 bill, and said to the ticket agent: 'Household trip to Washington, young fellow.' 'Here you are,' said the agent, 'Clarendon, New York.' 'No, no, I don't want to go to the States. I'll take my check, please, please.'"

LET WORK EXTINGUISH GRIEF

Best of All Antidotes for Excessive Sorrow Over Parting From Those Who Go Forth to Fight.

Grief is an acute form of pain. With some people it is a habit. In a sense we may say it is a sort of differential of our love and emotion, to manifest a reasonable amount of grief for those whose duty has called to danger and suffering. Everybody knows, however, that the intensity and duration of the visible manifestation of grief are seldom in direct proportion to the sincerity of our love and esteem. It is hard to be obliged to yield man or boy we love to become cannon fodder for the Hun. It is a cause for intense sorrow, but it is no cause or excuse for insensibility to our own immediate duty toward that man or boy. If it is our battle they are fighting, and they cannot shoot nor cut our throats. They say it is the anguish of waiting that makes it so hard on the woman. If that is the cause of our grief, we have an easy solution—just stop waiting and get busy. There is plenty to do.

To have something before you, clearly seen, which you know you must do, and can do, and will spend your utmost strength and perhaps life in doing, that is one form at least of very high happiness, and one that appeals to the finer part of our nature, to sublimity and heroism, and to a brave man.

And those who can love enough and are strong enough in heart, will find opportunity for the same happiness, that same exhilaration in doing their part, here at home.

This is the real triumph, the great victory which must be won over there, if any permanent good is to come of this great tragedy.—The Mother's Magazine.

HAS HELPING HAND FOR ALL

Red Cross Most Appropriately Designated as the "Greatest Mother in the World."

Stretching forth her hands to all in need; to Jew or Gentile, black or white, knowing no favorite, yet favoring all.

Ready and eager to comfort at a time when comfort is most needed; helping the little home that's crushed beneath an iron hand by showing mercy in a healthy, human way; rebuilding it, in fact, with stone on stone; replenishing empty bins and empty cupboards; bringing warmth to hearts and hearths too long neglected.

Seeing all things with a mother's sixth sense that's blind to jealousy and meanness; seeing men in their true light, as naughty children—snatching, biting, bitter—but with a hidden side that's quickest touched by mercy. Reaching out her hands across the sea to No Man's Land; to cheer with warmer comforts thousands who must stand and wait in stench and crawling holes and water-soaked entrenchments where cold and wet bite deeper, so they bite, than Boche steel or lead.

She's warning thousands, feeding, healing thousands from her store; the greatest mother in the world—the Red Cross.—Warren Anderson in "Packages."

Diamond Construction Makes This Fighting Mast Strong

Like the PHILADELPHIA DIAMOND GRID BATTERY

The fighting mast is strong because it is supported in every direction by sturdy diagonal braces that form diamonds everywhere.

The battery is strong because its plates, like the fighting mast, are built on the Diamond principle.

That is why the plates do not buckle nor lose their active material. That is why the battery can be guaranteed for eighteen months.

That is why we are the official Philadelphia Service Station.

Expert battery re-charging and repairing. Free inspection — any battery — any make, any car, any time. Drop in to-day and let us look at the condition of your battery.

To make good tea for you and me, We'll heat this carbon pot, you see, Then in it place just one, two, three, four full teaspoons of the fragrant tea. One each for you, and me and three. And when the water boiling be, Turn on, then steep it thoroughly. Three minutes to set flavor free.

MORE GOOD THINGS.

Spinach is one of the spring greens which should be used freely. It is rich in iron and of the material suit.

Spinach and Eggs—Have ready a generous cupful of cooked spinach chopped fine. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add a tablespoonful of flour a fourth of a teaspoonful each of salt and pepper; cook a moment, then add half a cupful of milk and stir until boiling. Add the spinach, mix and use to line a shallow baking dish. Break into the dish three fresh eggs, moist with a moderate quantity of milk, and serve as a luncheon or supper dish.

Mock Orange Marmalade—Strape and grate enough raw carrots to reach two pounds; then squeeze over the carrots the juice of three lemons, and cook in a double boiler and cook an hour, or until the carrots are soft; then add the grated rind and juice of three oranges and four cups of sugar; cook until thick.

Vegetable Pie—Have ready cooked string beans, cubes of carrot, cut-up tomatoes, and canned corn. Mix all together, season with butter, salt and pepper, add a little milk and dip in individual baking dishes. Cover with rounds of pastry, making a lattice for the steam to escape. Bake long enough to cook the pastry thoroughly. Serve as the main dish for luncheon or supper.

Spanish Mackerel—Split a Spanish mackerel down the back, remove the bone and the small bones attached to it. Season inside with one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of paprika, squeeze over the fish the juice of a lemon and sprinkle with a tablespoonful of finely chopped olives; put the fish back in its natural shape and place it in a baking dish, suitable for the table. Lay slices of salt pork over it and bake in a hot oven half an hour. Remove the pork and pour over the fish a cup of highly seasoned tomato sauce. Serve another cup with the fish.
