

Learning To Deal With Alcoholism
DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 58-year-old man and have a problem that is beginning to worry me. It's bothering my family and the company I work for.
You see I'm getting to be an alcoholic. Every five or six months my nerves take over and I shake and sweat something awful. It usually takes three or four days to get over it by taking Valium under a doctor's care.
You received a letter from a woman some months ago about her husband, who experienced loose bowels, sea life disappearing, gagging. I don't remember every detail but all these sound just like me. Would it help to talk to my company's doctor?
DEAR READER - You are way ahead of the game because you know what your problem is and want to do something besides Valium during acute reactions to alcoholism. You need to get to the basic reason of why you drink, and learn to stop it all together.
To do that you should take advantage of centers to help people with alcohol problems. These exist in most communities; look in the yellow pages of your phone book under Alcoholism. Your county mental health facility often has a program for individuals with alcohol problems and you may also get some support from Alcoholics Anonymous. The most important thing is to get started with a program now to get off alcohol and stay off alcohol.
Yes alcohol will cause all those symptoms you mention plus affecting your personality and ability to learn. I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Whiskey, Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine, Beer. It will give you more information on how alcohol affects your body.
Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
DEAR DR. LAMB - My problem is severe leg cramps but only at night. I get up eight to 10 times per night; they are so severe that my feet turn under so I can barely pull them straight.
I have taken Benadril for 10 months during which I had no cramps. Now they are starting all over again. I am a 69-year-old woman and don't know what to do. The medication from my two doctors is useless. Please tell me how I can get relief as I get very little sleep.
DEAR READER - First let me say that anyone who has leg cramps should have a careful medical examination. There are some serious causes for leg cramps that often can only be detected by a good physical examination including examination of the circulation to the legs.
Many leg cramps - particularly when they occur only at night - are not the result of poor circulation, but you can only tell as a result of an examination.
Benadril does give you relief there is no reason why you shouldn't take it. The other thing I would recommend is to wear thick warm wool socks to bed. Many of my readers have educated me about the advisability of keeping the feet warm to avoid leg cramps. Use good long ones, and keep the whole body adequately warmed.

HOROSCOPE
By BERNICE REDE OSOL
For Wednesday, May 17, 1978

YOUR BIRTHDAY MAY 17, 1978
something coy, no matter how small or harmless, you'll get caught.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The gentle methods that you hoped to use in a business situation now produce results. Be more firm, but remain fair.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Accept people for exactly what they are because any alliance you make today can be of major importance. A strong bond will be formed.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't take sole credit today for something another has a hand in bringing about. There's room in the limelight for both parties.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll be respected adviser to those you associate with today because of the pleasant, philosophical way you bring harmony out of a crisis.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Instead of assuming something to be fact just because another says so, check it yourself. Your assessment of the situation will be far more accurate.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In a partnership arrangement today it may appear as if your counterpart doesn't have your best interests at heart. The opposite is true, as you'll later learn.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you engage in office gossip today, it'll hamper what should be a very productive and rewarding day. Ignore the busybodies.

Do Residents Need Gator Aid?
By JANE CASSELBERRY Herald Staff Writer
Residents of the Lake Dot area in Sunland Estates are worried...
But their fears may be unfounded, at least as far as the alligators are concerned.
At least two alligators said to be from two-and-a-half feet to four-feet long have been spotted in the lake, a lake frequented by youthful fishermen.
Sue Goebel of 210 Bamboo Drive, one of those residents, said she first became concerned about getting the lake cleaned out after she saw several water moccasins.
"Children were reeling them in when they were fishing and I had to cut their lines," she said. As she began to pay more attention to the lake she noticed the two small alligators swimming.
"I called a week ago and they said they would be out Saturday, but I haven't seen them, so I don't know whether or not they came out," she said.
Mrs. Goebel was referring to the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission which she had contacted for some help.
Capt. David Starling of the commission's regional office in Ocala had one explanation for the sighting of alligators in other lakes around the county:
"It's mating season, and the gators are moving about freely during this time of year."
Are his men going to Lake Dot to remove the gators?
"It's in the mill, I can't say whether or not they have yet been removed. If they are not four feet or longer and pose a potential threat to life or property," Starling said.
The private agents operate under the supervision of wildlife officers under the program coordinated by Gordon Spratt. If an investigation shows the complaints are warranted the trapper is sent to the commission.

Dallabrida Testimony: Intoxication Is Key

By DENNIS FEOLA Herald Staff Writer
The prosecution in the manslaughter trial of Albert Dallabrida Sr., 33, of Sanford, charged in the deaths of his wife and three children, rested today after Kenneth Dale Livingston, a crime lab chemist, testified that Dallabrida was legally intoxicated at the time of the accident.
Livingston said the alcohol content of Dallabrida's blood was .21. A reading of .10 is considered legal intoxication for purposes of arrest in driving while intoxicated cases, according to authorities.
Dallabrida's wife, Elizabeth, 51, and children, Robin, 14, Robert, 13, and Richard, 11, died following a van-truck collision Oct. 20, 1977.
Dallabrida was driving the van at the time of the accident and Assistant State Attorney Ralph Eriksson spent much of Tuesday trying to establish that Dallabrida pulled out in front of the oncoming truck causing the accident.
The remainder of Tuesday's testimony dealt mostly with establishing the chain of evidence for the blood sample, which was taken the night of the accident at Seminole Memorial Hospital.
In attempting to establish that Dallabrida caused the accident, Sanford policeman Lawrence Mante, Lewis Combs and Jack Hansen, all presently or formerly employed by the Sanford Police Department, testified as to the position of the vehicles when they arrived at the accident scene.
The policemen established that the accident occurred in the southbound lanes of U.S. 17-92 near the entrance of the Sanford Burger King Restaurant and the Dallabrida van was traveling diagonally in a northwest direction when it was hit.
Also testifying was James Walter Lane, 21, of Jacksonville driver of the truck which hit the van.
He testified he was traveling no more than 43 miles-per-hour when he saw the van turn in front of him about 30 to 35 feet from the point of impact.
"He was in and out of my lane... Lord knows... He had already come out in my lane when I locked it," Lane said referring to his slamming the brakes with both feet to stop the nine-ton truck.
Lane said he saw the van make a sharp left turn into the southbound turning lane and then a second sharp turn into the inside (about in the median strip) lane when he hit the van "head on."
The van and truck slid 45 feet, before coming to a stop, Lane testified. He also said the brakes on the truck had been repaired within three weeks of the accident.
Also testifying were two young women who were stopped at the exit of Zayre Plaza parallel to the Burger King restaurant the van was attempting to enter.
Denise Finerty testified the oncoming truck made her stop and not pull out of the exit.
"I felt it was coming too fast for me to pull out in front of it," she said, adding the truck did not appear to be exceeding the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit.

John (Who?) Calls Granny
'Don't Know Beatles From A Hole ...'
GEORGETOWN, Ohio (UPI) — The telephone call was for real, a 70-year-old grandmother headed for jail has picked up the support of ex-Beatle John Lennon. And she doesn't even know who Lennon is.
"Granny" Milida Wilburn, who has 20 grandchildren, has received a lot of letters and phone calls from around the country since she decided last week to go to jail for two days instead of paying a $20 fine because of her granddaughter's curfew violation.
One caller Monday afternoon identified himself as John Lennon's daughter as John Lennon, calling from his lawyer's office in New York, told Mrs. Wilburn well.
"I believe it really was John Lennon," said the daughter, Mrs. Shirley Goldron. "He had a British accent and said he was in his attorney's office and that his attorney had just shown him a newspaper story about mom. He said he wanted to talk to mom to wish her well."
But Mom has been getting so many calls lately that she's become allergic to the telephone, Mrs. Goldron said.
"She just waved her hand and told me to say she wasn't here," Mrs. Goldron said.
"My daughter carried on, but I don't know the Beatles from a hole in the ground," said Mrs. Wilburn.
Mrs. Wilburn also doesn't know anything about jail, where she's going as soon as there's a vacancy suitable for an elderly woman.
"I got a letter from a lady in Michigan who said she went to jail instead of paying a fine and she said they took her clothes away from her and caused her quite a bit of trouble," she said.
"So I don't know what to expect."
Mrs. Wilburn also isn't sure how to react to all the fan mail she's been getting.
"I'd like to go under the bed and stay there," she said.

Yanks Evacuated From Zaire Turmoil
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Almost all Americans trapped by fighting in Zaire have been evacuated by truck and helicopter, averting the need for evacuation by the 15th Airborne Division, the State Department said today.
A spokesman said all but about 10 Americans have been evacuated by the Morrison-Knudsen Engineering Co. American workers and their dependents were evacuated with construction of a high voltage power transmission line near Kolwezi, the copper mining town in Shaba province where fighting between Zairean troops and rebels held virtual hostage some 3,000 foreigners.
A spokesman for the State Department said today that about 75 Americans were moved to the town of Muaniso, 60 miles west of Kolwezi. There were no incidents reported during the evacuation.
The spokesman for the Task Force said the remaining Americans are in the vicinity of the fighting in Kolwezi, and could not reach the trucks or helicopters to be evacuated.
The alert of one battalion of the 8th Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., had been a precautionary move, officials said.
The president could have ordered American troops abroad for the evacuation, on the advice of the U.S. ambassador to Zaire, Walter Culter.
A spokesman for the authority to commit U.S. troops abroad is the notified Congress of the action within 48 hours. The troops must be within 90 days unless Congress authorizes a continued commitment, under the War Powers Act passed in 1973 over Richard Nixon's veto.
At Ft. Bragg, N.C., trucks and other equipment had been moved throughout the night to staging areas as units of the 82nd Airborne Division prepared for possible deployment to Zaire.
The division, the nation's crack strike force, last was put on alert during the 1973 Yom Kippur War in the Middle East.

Frustrated Longwood Council Wonders Who's At Fault
A tired collection of Longwood councilmen, frustrated at their inability to reach certain decisions on the proposed city charter, have taken out their frustrations by blaming and criticizing each other for the lack of progress.
The dispute took place after Monday night's regularly scheduled meeting during a workshop on the proposed charter. The council had been in session about three hours and had spent an hour discussing the districting provisions of the charter when the criticisms surfaced.
The districting discussion comes on the heels of weeks of debate over a redistricting ordinance which was voted by Mayor Gerald Connell and upheld by the council. The districts pertain to the areas of the city a person must reside within to run for a city council seat.
The proposed charter leaves the districting the same as it is presently, with councilmen having to reside in a specific district, but elected by all of the city's voters.
Councilman Ray Leibensperger, with support from Councilman Larry Goldberg, proposed the charter be changed to one of two alternatives: Either do away with districts and have all officials elected at-large, or have each district vote only for its councilman.
"Why have a district? It has no meaning," Leibensperger argued. "If you're going to run from a district and represent that district, then they should be allowed to control their own destiny."
"We keep going over the same things and putting things off," Goldberg said.
"I think a lot of it is due to people not doing their homework," Leibensperger added. Grant agreed.
"We need a five-member board, that's what we need," Leibensperger said in reference to Councilman Stephen Barton who missed the meeting because he was out-of-town.
"Steve, he doesn't know from 'shibol' about the charter," Leibensperger said, adding that Barton had missed an earlier workshop meeting on the charter.
Earlier in the discussion, Connell said he had to leave to get up early for a doctor's appointment. Goldberg got in a parting shot as the meeting was about to adjourn.
"We've got to get down to city business," Grant said. "I know Ray's job is important, but Ray's a councilman also and that job's important."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Dominican Coup Looming To Halt Foe's Election?

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Dominican troops seized electoral commission headquarters in Santo Domingo today and there were widespread reports of a military coup to head off a victory by left-wing presidential candidate Antonio Guzman. National police chief Gen. Neivaivar Seijas was heard on the police radio band this morning convoking his section chiefs to headquarters and placing police on alert. "Touching off" speculation he was the coup leader. Guzman's leftist social policies were anathema to him.

Dissident Wife: 'It's Circus'

MOSCOW (UPI) — Yuri Orlov's wife says the human rights activist faces jeering spectators and a judge who won't allow him to cross-examine prosecution witnesses in his trial on charges of anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda. "It's a show. It's a circus. It's really not funny," Irina Orlov told Western correspondents, fellow dissidents and a representative of the U.S. Embassy.

Chaplin's Body Recovered

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Charlie Chaplin's body and coffin, stolen 10 weeks ago, have been recovered and the grave robbers arrested, police said today.

A police spokesman said the theft was a "local affair," and the coffin with the remains of film's famed "little tramp" was discovered "not far away."

Punishment: 12 Lbs. Bananas

COACALCO, Mexico (UPI) — Nearly 4,000 rock-throwing citizens enraged at the police shooting of a workman stormed the town hall, seized Mayor Jose Ramon del Cuelo and forced him to eat 12 pounds of bananas, authorities reported.

Cuelo was then forced to sign his own resignation. The angry crowd also seized the Cmdr. Nicolas Campuzano of the local judicial police and the Deputy Cmdr. Manuel Rodriguez of the municipal police. Both men were stoned.

No Metric, No Punishment

LONDON (UPI) — British shopkeepers won't face jail after all if they refuse to go metric, the government said Tuesday. It abandoned plans for compulsory metrication by 1982 of food, hardware, fabrics and floor coverings that had threatened disobedient shopkeepers with fines of $450 or prison sentences.

Black Civilians Killed

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Fifty black civilians died in a nighttime crossfire between government troops and nationalist guerrillas, the government said, marking the worst civilian slaughter in Rhodesia's five-year war. Rhodesian authorities disclosed Tuesday the incident occurred at 10:30 p.m. Sunday night, when a routine security force patrol came across a terrorist group addressing a group of tribesmen in a curfew area.

Eritrea Rebels Smashed

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Ethiopian troops backed by Cuban troops and Soviet advisers broke out of their encircled enclave of Asmara, using tanks, warplanes and artillery to smash the year-long siege by Eritrean rebels.

Climber Atop Mt. Everest

KARMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — An Austrian mountain climber has reached the summit of Mount Everest in the first solo climb of the world's highest peak, the Foreign Ministry announced today.

Franz Oppy, 36, made it to the summit of the 29,000-foot mountain around noon on Sunday, the ministry said, quelling a message from base camp of the 11-member expedition.

Winter Springs Narrows Choice To 2 Attorneys

By DONNA EYTES Herald Staff Writer

Thomas Lang and William Wack are the two major contenders to replace Gary Massey as city attorney in Winter Springs.

City councilmen, voting individually on resumes of six attorneys submitted by Mayor Trey Pleasant from the 13 who had applied for the $9,000 annually salaried office, chose the two young men for further consideration.

Pleasant, who had earlier told the city council he will appoint one of the attorneys selected by the council from his recommendations, said he will be interviewing both men and discussing the city charter with them.

Neither Lang, 34, of the law office of Jones and Bishop, Altamonte Springs, nor Bill William Wack, 31, of the Altamonte law office of Albert and Wack, has prior experience as a city attorney.

During a vote by individual councilmen Tuesday night, Lang and Wack received four votes each to lead the group. Others receiving one vote each were: O.E. Eaton of Bruch, Maney, Walden and Eaton, Altamonte Springs; Hutchinson and Morris, Sanford; Gary Shearer, Altamonte Springs and Gary Siegel, Casselberry.

Neither Siegel nor Shearer was included among Pleasant's six recommendations.

Lang, a native of Ohio, but resident of Florida since he was five years old, has served as a commissioner of the state's Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC), for the House commerce committee on public sector labor law; for Arthur England when England was consumer adviser to the Commission Votes Appeals On Trees, License Fees

By MAX ERKLETTAN Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission will go to court. This time in an effort to appeal two circuit court rulings that did not go their way.

The commission Tuesday unanimously approved an appeal of a case involving Casselberry Realtor A.L. Seligman to cut trees on his property in the Spring Hammock area near the General Highway Parkway and U.S. 17-92.

At the same time, the commission sought a clarification of the ruling in that case. On a 3-2 vote the commission also authorized County Attorney Harry A. Stewart to appeal a recently decided case striking down the county's 1.5 percent license fee levied on sewer and water utilities in the county.

Stewart recommended the appeal in the license fee case, but declined to make a recommendation in the Seligman matter.

In the Spring Hammock case, the court directed the commission to hold a hearing and grant Seligman a permit to cut trees on the property. The commission questioned whether they had to issue the permit if they held a new hearing. They also wanted to know if they could attach conditions to the permit that would require Seligman to keep the land in agricultural use for five years.

Stewart said the commission's recommendation of appeal was strongly opposed by Commissioner John Alexander.

"I had previously stated that I felt there was a question as to the legality of the license fee," said Alexander. "Secondly, I had a personal question as to whether or not the intention of the fee was purely and simply a source of revenue or are we rendering a degree of service to justify such a fee."

Alexander's motion to prohibit Stewart from filing the appeal in the license fee case was defeated 5-3. Commission

Defense attorney Ronald Brooks, in his opening statement, said he would establish that other factors were responsible for the death, including a "highly dangerous" intersection.

Monte and Combs testified under cross-examination that they believe it is a dangerous intersection.

Brooks also told the four-men, two-women jury that he would present witnesses to refute the claim that Dallabrida was intoxicated and not in full possession of his faculties.

There were nine persons in the van at the time of the accident including three more of Dallabrida's children and his seven-year-old grandson. The four members of the Dallabrida family died within three days of the accident.

"There has got to be a reason before we move in. We are not in the alligator harvesting business," he added. "Just because an alligator is in the lake doesn't mean we are going to remove it, we don't move in unless there is a danger. Just because an alligator is in the lake doesn't mean you need to be afraid you are going to be eaten by it."

Commenting on a recent report of an alligator attacking a boat in Lake Jimmy and killing a Texas man's leg, Staring said from what he had heard it was not exactly the alligator's fault.

The 55-year-old man was in shallow water and he was instinctively trying to get back to deeper water, he explained.

In recent years, developments have occurred on the alligator's natural environment, while the alligators, protected by law, were

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

New Smyrna, Daytona Imperiled With Extinction?

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Almost 30 percent of Florida's sandy beaches including New Smyrna Beach and Daytona Beach, could be completely washed away by a couple of heavy storms, University of Florida oceanographic engineers warned Tuesday.

Dr. Tse-Yi Chiu, of the UF Coastal and Oceanographic Engineering Laboratory, said 540 miles of the state's total of 780 miles of sandy beaches are in trouble, while 210 miles are in critical condition.

Laboratory Director Dr. Morton Smutz said critical beaches include New Smyrna and Daytona.

$3.3 Million Pot Seized

MIAMI (UPI) — The Florida Department of Criminal Law Enforcement said it seized an estimated 5½ tons of marijuana worth $3.3 million and arrested a man and woman in a raid on a southwest Miami residence early today.

Also seized in the early morning raid were $10,000 in cash, two vans and a 1978 luxury car and two guns — a loaded .357 Magnum and a 9mm. automatic, the FDLE said.

Fishermen, Yachtsmen To Cuba

MIAMI (UPI) — American fishermen and yachtsmen have flocked to Cuba in the first sign of goodwill from the Fidel Castro government since the U.S. State Department lifted its travel ban last year.

Highlighting the trip for the 100 eager anglers is a government-sponsored Ernest Hemingway Fishing Tournament. The private fishing fleet docked Tuesday at the Barlovento Marina near Havana.

They were preceded by 250 yachtsmen who left from the Marathon Yacht Club Friday and Saturday for a 10-day "sun and fun" cruise to the once forbidden island.

Paula Hawkins' Sword Drawn

ORLANDO (UPI) — Paula Hawkins' sword is drawn and she's ready to do battle with Southern Bell Telephone Company over the refunds the Public Service Commission staff has determined the company owes customers.

Mrs. Hawkins, PSC chairman, said Tuesday she figures Ma Bell owes consumers between $29 million and $60 million due to an abnormally high rate of return.

Frey's Campaign Heating Up

ORLANDO (UPI) — Lou Frey's camp has heated up the campaign following Jack Eckerd's selection of Paula Hawkins as his running mate for governor.

"Evidentially Jack Eckerd feels Mrs. Hawkins will add something to his effort to buy the governor's mansion," Jotie Palmer, press director for the Frey-for-governor campaign, said Tuesday.

"And Mrs. Hawkins has decided now is the time to capitalize on the governor's race as a step toward running for the U.S. Senate in 1980, just as she jumped on the misfortunes of Ed Gurney in 1974."

Panel Considers Test Report

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Education Council takes up a report today recommending that the state continue to require high school students to pass a functional literacy test in order to get a diploma.

The report also emphasizes the need to continue testing programs in the 3rd, 5th and 8th grades.

Results of the functional literacy test show that a substantial number of students don't know how to read or calculate well enough to graduate. The incidence of failure was highest among blacks and the poor.

Grenade Injures Sanford Guardsman

A National Guardsman required multiple stitches after a "simulator hand grenade" exploded and struck him from the waist down.

The man, Lawrence Speed, 27, resides at the McCalister Hotel, 2102 Southwest Rd., Sanford. The incident occurred on Blackstone Road, which faces the front door of Speed's apartment.

According to sheriff's deputies, the simulator hand grenade differs from a standard hand grenade in that flash powder is used as opposed to gunpowder and it is contained in cardboard as opposed to metal. Speed, for no apparent reason, according to deputies, opened the front door of his apartment about 1 a.m. Monday and threw the grenade into Blackstone Road. He apparently did not throw it far enough, deputies said. Speed has been released following treatment at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

That led to seven additional juveniles being taken into custody, the recovery of $2,200 in merchandise and the closing of 14 burglary cases, Spolski said. Sgt. Taylor Roundtree and Detective Joe Bennett handled the investigation.

In an unrelated series of events, Scott Anthony Preston, 18, and five runaway juveniles were taken into custody in connection with five, since recovered, stolen cars and a $10,000 burglary in Volusia County.

Detective John Poole, who handled the investigation for the sheriff's department, credited the communications division of the department with the swift recovery of all the cars.

Poole also credited Trooper Walter Wolf of the Florida Highway Patrol with one of the initial arrests which broke the case. Poole said the $10,000 burglary in Osteen involved several guns which were recovered.

SEXUAL ASSAULT An 18-year-old Sanford man has been charged in the attempted sexual assault of a neighbor.

According to Sanford police, Paul Howard Galm of 2104 Hartwell Ave., entered the neighbor's home through a bedroom window and attempted to force the 29-year-old woman to have sex with him.

After a half-hour, according to records, the woman was able to convince him to leave and she contacted police. Galm is being held in Seminole County jail.

Soviets And Western Europe

A sick, weak Leonid Brezhnev faltered a few times during his three-day visit to West Germany, but he could go home with the satisfaction that his summit meeting with Chancellor Helmut Schmidt was worth the strain.

It was more of a Soviet show than a German one all along. When it was over, the Russians could count it a plus, even if it confirmed the rumors around Moscow that Brezhnev's health was going from bad to worse.

The illness of the Soviet president feeds speculation about the future of the Kremlin leadership, but it should not detract from the significance of what was going on in Bonn.

Brezhnev, ailing or not, has jumped into the middle of President Carter's problems with Germany and our other European allies.

Brezhnev went into the heart of the Western camp to let it be known that Mr. Carter's attempt to finesse the issue of the neutron bomb is not going to work.

There will be no reduction in the Warsaw Pact tank forces in Eastern Europe. Mr. Carter had hoped for such a tit-for-tat so he could cancel production of the new U.S. weapon designed to help counterbalance the superiority of those forces.

Instead, Brezhnev used his Bonn visit to get in another lick at the "inhumanity" of the neutron weapon, keeping Mr. Carter on the defensive.

The Soviet government will carry its propaganda campaign against the weapon to a special United Nations meeting on disarmament in New York this month.

Schmidt, whose government has acknowledged that West Germany would be safer if the new field weapon were deployed, was left to swallow his embarrassment and join Brezhnev in a declaration on arms control and disarmament — the platitudes of "peace" which the well-armed Russians scattered wherever they go.

Indeed, the principal message Brezhnev was carrying was that the Soviet Union remains dedicated to detente, and that it is Mr. Carter's neutron bomb, and not the Soviet arms buildup in Eastern Europe and Russian adventuring elsewhere in the world, that most irritates it.

West Germans, who live under the muzzle of the Soviet threat, have warmed to the subject ever since former Chancellor Willy Brandt launched his "Ostpolitik" with a Soviet friendship treaty in 1970.

The 25-year trade agreement emerging from the Brezhnev-Schmidt meeting is Ostpolitik revisited — a new attempt by the Russians to draw German attention to the possibilities of economic cooperation with the Soviet Union.

With U.S. inflation and trade deficits straining the economic dialogue between Bonn and Washington, this was a well-timed move by Moscow.

There is nothing hesitant or infirm about Soviet foreign policy, even if the man who represented it in Bonn is battling three different diseases. Moscow is as adept as ever at exploiting weakness in the West — right now, the vaccination of Mr. Carter on an issue important to the defense of central Europe, and the worries of West Germans about the ability of their Western trading partners, including the United States, to deal with problems in their own economies.

Honed Fund Raising

WASHINGTON — The political fund raiser, a seasonal enterprise designed to separate invited guests from their money, is typically an event to be endured rather than enjoyed.

But contributors to a little-publicized May 6 Republican dinner in lavish Palm Springs, Calif., got a good deal more for their money than the usual self-serving speeches and pressed cardboard steak.

The admission price was relatively steep — $1,000 per couple — but those who attended probably viewed it as a bargain. Early arrivals, by instance, had a chance to play golf with former President Gerald R. Ford and veteran vice Billy Casper.

The guests then enjoyed cocktails in the back yard of Ford's new Palm Springs home, and a buffet dinner on the lawn of Ford's neighbor, Leonard K. Firestone, former ambassador to Belgium and one of Richard Nixon's leading fund raisers.

Proceeds from the event were earmarked for the committee of GOP Sens. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee and John G. Tower of Texas, both up for reelection this year.

Tower missed his own party because the Texas primary was held the same day, but Baker attended along with Sen. S.I. Hayakawa, R-Calif., and Barbara H. Schmidt, R-N.M.

Guests not involved in mingling with the political celebrities could rub shoulders with a Hollywood delegation that included producer Otto Preminger and actresses Eva Gabor and Jaye Hotelinger.

The political organizer who persuaded Ford to open his home for a fund raising party for the first time was Brad O'Leary, former executive director of the Texas Republican Party who now heads a Washington-based campaign consulting firm called The Management Group.

Both Tower and Baker have retained the O'Leary firm, which specializes in statewide campaigns for GOP politicians, to provide financial management services this year.

The choice appears to be paying off. Gross receipts of the Ford party alone were estimated at $140,000.

The May 6 Texas primary, by the way, offered the senator's first hard evidence that incumbent members of Congress may have more to worry about this year than they like to believe.

Three-term Rep. Dale Milford, D-Texas was defeated by liberal Dallas attorney Martin Frost while eleven-term Rep. John Young, D-Texas, was forced into a runoff June 2. Young, who figured in the congressional sex scandal of a couple years back, will face State Rep. Joe Wyatt.

Republicans, who had already targeted Texas for special effort because six Democratic House members are retiring there, were heartened by the signs of incumbent slippage.

So you thought the first day of summer was yet to come! The calendar needs adjustment in Central Florida. Just ask any of Seminole County's football players going through spring drills.

The air is hot, and if you pass the practice fields and hear a lot of hootin' and hollerin' don't eliminate the possibility they are praying for rain. Every team has a medicine man. He's the one who looks skyward with arms outstretched and asks "Elijah... great god of rain, why hast thou forsaken us?"

Rules set by the Florida High School Activities Association require spring football practice to be limited to 30 sessions, or days.

Football coaches are trapped into staging drills during May because of the number of conflicting activities during the rest of the spring. Most football players play other sports.

"Everyone hates spring practice... even the coaches," says Oviedo High master Joe Mos-gomery. "I'd like to eliminate it, but if we did, we would just fall farther behind the other schools. It helps round out the football program. But that doesn't make the weather cooperative."

Spring football brings up a few inequities in the athletic programs in the Sunshine State. FHSAA guidelines limit the number of practices for football, but care not how many times during the off-season a basketball coach practices. In fact, there actually encourage year-round drills. That's where championship are spawned.

As long as that breeze hold up, football isn't a total drag. But when it stops, the game ceases to contain an element of fun. It's just plain work. In fact, if it weren't for the intra-squad games and jamborees scheduled, coaches would have a tougher time maintaining squad morale.

This Friday night Seminole and Oviedo have intra-squad games slated. Lake Brantley holds on Saturday night. Kichoffs are at it, and admission is charged at the gate.

Next week is the biggie, with most county schools competing in a Thursday night jamboree at Seminole, and Oviedo traveling to Winter Garden for a Friday night jamboree. Competition is reportedly heavy at many positions for all schools.

So to speak, the heat is on.

Tony Schematz, of Altamonte Springs, was recently named as the top high school baseball player in Orlando.

The Busby Moore catcher received another honor when he was selected to play on the Athletic Enterprise All-Star team which will tour the Philippine Islands June 13-22.

Fourteen players from across the United States were picked for the team, headed by Tampa Catholic coach Pete Mury. Schematz was one of three Floridians picked, the others being Carlos Falla of Sebring and Charles Nodell of Sunrise.

The Philippine Amateur Baseball Association is sponsoring the program and paying the American team's expenses, except air fare.

Leisure Appreciation

As coordinator of the Leisure Time Program at Seminole Community College, I want to express my appreciation to you for the coverage you have given the program recently in the Leisure magazine. The photographs, as well as the stories, have been outstanding!

This coverage has certainly been a boost to the Leisure Time Program, and I hope we can continue to offer quality courses which will merit your interest in the interest of the photographers and reporters at the Evening Herald.

Thanks Community

May the library staff of Seminole High School please use this medium to express to the citizens of Seminole County our gratitude for the generous gifts of books we have received. Thanks to this generosity, it is now practically certain that by October, which are re-estimated, we will have a sufficient number of books to meet the Southern Association Accreditation Standards.

Many individuals, clubs, churches, other schools and Florida Technological University have given us books. All books contributed were gratefully received and appreciated. In some cases the books were too young for our students, were titles of which we already had enough.

To the Chinese (on both sides of the Taiwan Strait) pride or "face" is very important — much more so than most Westerners realize. For Brannitski, his staff, and the State Department there is no incentive in this leads to confirm that news of a major setback in Washington journalists aware of that the Carter administration is suffering from a bad case of militant amateurism.

If you felt you had to skip an old friend's party to avoid offending a new friend who was the old friend's rival, would you then accept an invitation from the rival on the same day? Common sense says no. But, when it came to China, national security advisor Zbigniew Brzezinski said yes.

The Carter administration, which already has friends and allies throughout Asia, worried about whether its words about U.S. commitment in the western Pacific are anything but words, has now gone out of its way — unwittingly or not — to insult an old friend and faithful ally, the Republic of China on Taiwan.

Saturday, May 20, has for months been known as the day that Chiang Ching-kuo, premier of the Republic of China, will be inaugurated as president of that government. It will be an auspicious day in the life of Taiwan's 17 million people, worried as they are that possible "normalization" between Washington and Peking might result in a war of economic strangulation by the communists to force them under Peking's control.

The leaders on Taiwan are realists, however, and know that, despite deep U.S.-Taiwan trade and cultural ties, it might be awkward for the U.S. to send a high-level official to the Chiang inauguration.

So they solved that might have been an embarrassing problem by asking the score or so of nations with which they have diplomatic relations (the largest being the U.S.) not to bother sending special envoys. In most cases, the ambassadors in Taipei are being designated as the official representatives to the inauguration festivities.

But, along comes President Carter's national security advisor, Brannitski, with a speech to the Japanese parliament, U.S. Chief of Mission relations as a "central element" of our global policy (an obvious effort to nudge the Russians in SALT negotiations), followed by the news that he would visit Peking on May 29 — the very day of Chiang Ching-kuo's inauguration on Taiwan, less than 100 miles offshore!

What caused this incredible coincidence? Was it calculated insult? Was it the result of sloppy staff work and bad scheduling in the White House? Or, worst of all, was it suggested by Peking?

To the Chinese (on both sides of the Taiwan Strait) pride or "face" is very important — much more so than most Westerners realize. For Brannitski, his staff, and the State Department there is no incentive in this leads to confirm that news of a major setback in Washington journalists aware of that the Carter administration is suffering from a bad case of militant amateurism.

NATION IN BRIEF

Marston Runs Poor Fourth In Pa. Governor Primary

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Democrat Peter Flaherty, who quit his Carter administration job to go home and run for governor, and Republican David Thornburgh, a crusading prosecutor from Pittsburgh, will battle for the governorship of Pennsylvania this fall.

Pennsylvania voters nominated Flaherty and Thornburgh in Tuesday's primary while virtually ignoring another Republican candidate for governor, David Marston, the U.S. attorney who was fired earlier this year. He finished a distant fourth.

But two Democratic congressmen, who were under investigation by Marston when he was dismissed, easily won renomination. Reps. Joshua Eilberg and Daniel Flood had little opposition.

Wallace: No Senate Race

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Three-term Gov. George C. Wallace, who sought the presidency four times, apparently signaled the end of his political career in a stunning postscript to an otherwise routine speech Tuesday night.

Wallace, 58, paralyzed from the waist down from an assassination attempt during the 1972 presidential campaign, said Tuesday night he will not run for the U.S. Senate despite his certainty that he would win the race.

Senator: End 'Double Standard'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress may be faced with the prospect of living by the rules it sets for private employers.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., accused his colleagues of setting a "double standard" that separates congressional and private employees by exempting Congress from nine major laws covering civil, social, physical and financial rights.

Leahy introduced legislation in the Senate Tuesday to wipe out those exemptions and he warned that if Congress balked, he would attack the legislation piecemeal to other bills.

20 Tons Of Pot Burned

SCARBORO, Maine (UPI) — Nearly 20 tons of confiscated marijuana — worth an estimated $16 million — was burned by authorities Tuesday at an undisclosed location.

State police and federal Drug Enforcement Administration agents were present as the 600 bales of dry marijuana was burned in the 18,200-degree furnace.

Music Man Steinberg Dies

NEW YORK (UPI) — William Steinberg, 78, music director of the Pittsburgh and Boston symphony orchestras, died Tuesday at Lenox Hill Hospital.

The German-born Steinberg, who fled the Nazis in 1938, and came to the United States in 1939, was hospitalized May 2, the day after he contacted the New York Philharmonic in a private concert.

Rules Shunned, 7 Killed

JELLIACO, Tenn. (UPI) — More than 60 days ago, state inspectors gave the owners of the old red-brick Jenkins Hotel in this Tennessee-Kentucky border town 30 days to correct a number of safety defects, including the lack of smoke detectors.

Tuesday, seven of the estimated 40 residents — many of them elderly and poor — were killed and 11 others injured in a pre-dawn fire that blocked their way out of the building, erected around the turn of the century.

Nixon, Ford Wish Pat Well

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Pat Nixon received get-well wishes from two former presidents Tuesday.

Her husband Richard dropped by to see her for an hour at Long Beach Memorial Hospital, where she was being treated for acute viral bronchitis. Former President Gerald Ford called Nixon's office at San Clemente to ask about her health and wish her a speedy recovery.

Lake Brantley Awards Day...

Kris Klein, right, is Lake Brantley's top senior with an average score of 4.8, perfect average and nothing to sneeze at. She and a host of other Lake Brantley students were feted the other day during the high school's award day festivities. In addition to Miss Klein, special recognition went to Dan Falstad, left, whose near-perfect score of 3.94 earned him a national merit scholar award issued by Guidance Counselor Tom Milwee, at right in left photo. The other eight seniors who were among the top-ten high scorers are: Mike Holbert, Rosemary Johnson, Helen Dean, Susan Burdett, Chris Carpenter, Lisa Johnson, Sherry Elliott and Tami Clifton. That, incidentally, is eight females and two males, fellas.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Free Fishing Clinic Scheduled For May 25

A free fishing clinic is scheduled May 25 at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building.

Seminole Sporting Goods is sponsoring the event, with particular information passed on to include skills of off shore trolling, care and rigging of bait, tying fishing knots and tips on boating the catch.

The clinic will begin at 7 p.m.

Net Tourney June 10-12

Area tennis buffs are expected to play in the South Orlando YMCA junior-novice singles tournament June 10-12.

Deadline for entries is June 1 and entry fee is $8. The tourney begins at 8 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday, with finals set Monday afternoon. USTA membership is required and trophies will be awarded to finalists in each division.

All-Stars Home Sunday

The Sanford All-Stars, 9-3 and fresh off 7-4 and 11-0 victories over Inverness and Reddick last weekend, will entertain Avon Park Sunday at 2 p.m. in a semi-pro baseball game at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Clarence Cain held Inverness to four hits last weekend, while Wayne Walker hurled a one-hitter against Reddick.

'Star Coaches Named

Randy Free of Marianna and Floyd Andrews of West Palm Beach Northshore have been selected coaches for the Florida high school all-star game to be played in Gainesville on Aug. 4.

Virginia Holland of Pensacola Catholic and Vicki Johnson of Plantation will head the girls all-star teams, which will play on the same day.

Boykin, Howard Star

Laverne Boykin hit a three-run homer and Rhonda Howard drove in Betty Littles with the winning run Monday night as Seeco Stompers whipped Slumberite, 20-19, in the Women's Softball League. Mary McGovern hit two homers and Florida Foliage Express tripped Burch & Sons, 22-0.

Melton, Link Sparkle

In the Junior Girls Softball League Monday Night, Florida Screen Printing hit home runs from Sebrina Melton and Jackie Link and stopped Sanford Specialty, 23-7. Kiwanis stopped Marc Slade Chrysler-Plymouth, 26-15, in the other game Tony Hardy homered.

Seaver Back 'In Groove'

By United Press International

The year 1978 hasn't been too kind to Tom Seaver. "It was only a matter of time before I came around," said Seaver Tuesday night, after he had fanned 13 Expos and notched his first complete game in Cincinnati's 5-1 victory over Montreal. "I was mixing up my pitches well tonight."

Joe Morgan, who went 3-for-3, blasted a three-run homer in the fifth to help Seaver to his second win in six decisions. After Seaver led off with a walk and Pete Rose doubled to center, Ken Griffey laced a single to drive home Seaver before Morgan belted his sixth homer of the year over the right-field fence.

Seaver effectively spaced seven hits and walked only one in by far his best performance of the season. The Expos' only run came in the fourth on singles by Warren Cromartie, Dave Cash and Andre Dawson. Cincinnati scored its other run in the first when Rose doubled to center and scored on Morgan's double.

"It's too bad we had to meet a hot Tom Seaver tonight," moaned Montreal skipper Dick Williams. "I guess it was time for him to show what kind of pitcher he is."

In other NL games, Houston crushed Philadelphia, 6-1, San Francisco beat Chicago, 6-3, San Diego trounced St. Louis, 7-3, and Los Angeles edged

Bonds, Not Holtzman In Yanks' Showcase

By United Press International

The 21,837 chilled fans in Comiskey Park Tuesday night, who thought they were watching the showcasing of Ken Holtzman for a trade by the New York Yankees learned later they were seeing Bobby Bonds' farewell performance with the Chicago White Sox.

Bonds stroked only his second home run of the season in the White Sox' 8-3 loss to the Yankees Monday night.

The Sox announced they had traded Bonds to the Texas Rangers for another outfielder, Claudell Washington, and two minor leaguers.

It was Holtzman, not Bonds, who was supposed to be the player on the move, but Catfish Hunter's recurring sore arm had given Holtzman his first start in 27 days and most observers on hand figured the Yankees were showcasing him for an imminent trade.

White Sox owner Bill Veck explained the deal as a matter of economics.

Holtzman pitched 5 1/3 innings and, with Chris Chambliss and Thurman Munson combining to drive in five runs and highlight a 14-hit Yankee attack, he wound up with his first victory of the season. And as his team headed for Cleveland Holtzman was still a Yankee. "I'm through hitting my head against the wall," Holtzman said. "If they want to trade me, then trade me."

As for Bonds, the trade to Texas marked his fifth stop in five seasons.

"I'm not unhappy about going to Texas," Bonds said. "They're a contender. But I'm not going to do anything different there than I did here."

White Sox owner Bill Veck explained the deal as a matter of economics.

Rookie Lance Parrish stroked his third home run of the season after Jason Thompson led off the 18th inning for Detroit with a single off loser Shane Rawley.

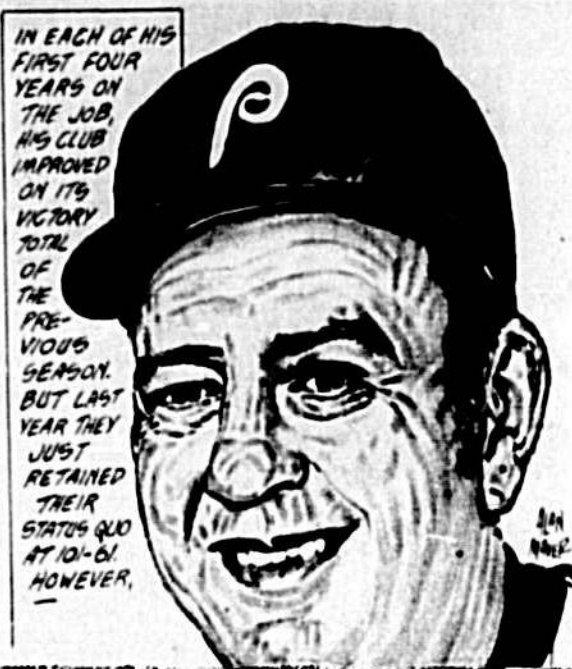

Blue Jays 5, Angels 4: Dave McKay tripled home the tying run and then scored the game-winner on Otto Velez' pinch-hit double.

Indians 3, A's 2: David Clyde tossed a four-inning performance for his first victory since May 15, 1974.

Twins 6, Orioles 1: Rookie Hooker Powell drove in five runs with his first major-league homer and a single and Bach Wynegar added another homer in the Twins' romp.

Reds 5, Royals 2: Dwight Evans drilled a 400-foot homer off Paul Splittortoff to snap a 2-2 tie in the seventh inning and unbeatout soupbow Bill Lee scattered nine hits for his sixth victory.

Tigers 4, Mariners 2:

IN EACH OF HIS FIRST FOUR YEARS ON THE JOB, HIS CLUB IMPROVED ON ITS PREVIOUS SEASON. BUT LAST YEAR THEY JUST RETAINED THEIR STATUS QUO AT 10-61 HOWEVER.

PHILLY OZARK AND HIS PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES WOULD SETTLE FOR ANOTHER STATUS QUO IF IT'S ENOUGH TO LEAD THE N.E. LEAST FOR THE 3RD YEAR IN A ROW AND EARN THEM YET ANOTHER SHOT AT THEIR FIRST PENNANT SINCE 1950. INCIDENTALLY 19-61 IS A PERCENTAGE OF 623, BEST SINCE THE CLUB STARTED IN 1876.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Free Fishing Clinic Scheduled For May 25

A free fishing clinic is scheduled May 25 at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building. Seminole Sporting Goods is sponsoring the event, with particular information passed on to include skills of off shore trolling, care and rigging of bait, tying fishing knots and tips on boating the catch. The clinic will begin at 7 p.m.

Net Tournney June 10-12

Area tennis buffs are expected to play in the South Orlando YMCA Junior-volley singles tennis tournament June 10-12. The deadline for entries is June 1 and entry fee is $8. The tournament begins at 8 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday, with finals set Monday afternoon. USTA membership is required and trophies will be awarded to finalists in each division.

All-Stars Home Sunday

The Sanford All-Stars, 9-3 and fresh off 7-4 and 11-0 victories over Inverness and Reddick last weekend, will entertain Avon Park Sunday at 2 p.m. in a semi-pro baseball game at Sanford Memorial Stadium. Clarence Cain held Inverness to four hits last weekend, while Wayne Walker hurled a one-hitter against Reddick.

'Star Coaches Named

Randy Free of Marianna and Floyd Andrews of West Palm Beach Northshore have been selected coaches for the Florida high school all-star game to be played in Gainesville on Aug. 4. Virginia Holland of Pensacola Catholic and Vicki Johnson of Plantation will head the girls all-star teams, which will play on the same day.

Boykin, Howard Star

Laverne Boykin hit a three-run homer and Rhonda Howard drove in Betty Little with the winning run Monday night as Seeco Stompers whipped Slumberite, 20-19, in the Women's Softball League. Mary McGovern hit two homers and Florida Foliage Express tripped Burch & Sons, 22-0.

Melton, Link Sparkle

In the Junior Girls Softball League Monday Night, Florida Screen Printing hit home runs from Sabrina Melton and Jackie Link and stomped Sanford Speciality, 23-7. Kiwanis stopped Marc Slade Chrysler-Plymouth, 26-15, in the other game Tony Hardy homered.

Seaver Back 'In Groove'

By United Press International
The year 1978 hasn't been too kind to Tom Seaver. In the American League, New York's Seaver pitched a 3-2, Boston edged Kansas City, 3-2. Milwaukee shamed Texas, 4-3. Toronto nipped California, 3-4. Detroit put away Seattle, 6-2, in 14 innings, Cleveland clipped Oakland, 3-2, and Minnesota crushed Baltimore, 6-1. Astros & Phillies 1: Terry Palf had two hits, including his second home run of the season, to lead Houston over Philadelphia behind the combined pitching of Mark Lamotte and Floyd Rains. Steve Carlton was saddled with the loss. Giants & Cubs 1: Larry Herman doubled home three runs to brush a 3-1 tie in the eighth. Chicago and Bob Knapp managed his fifth win in six decisions, despite Dave Kingman's homer, to lead San Francisco to its sixth straight victory. Padres & Cardinals 1: Gene Tenace's two-run triple sparked a four-run first inning that carried San Diego over St. Louis. Dodgers & Pirates 1: Darryl Baker, making his first start in a week, finished off a 2-0 win over Pittsburgh on an RBI-single and led Lou Piniella to a 5-1 victory over Cincinnati. In other NL games, Houston overcame Philadelphia, 6-1. San Francisco took Chicago, 4-3. San Diego trounced St. Louis, 7-1, and Los Angeles edged

By United Press International
The 21,837 chilled fans in Comiskey Park Tuesday night, who thought they were watching the showcasing of Ken Holtzman for a trade by the New York Yankees learned later they were seeing Bobby Bonds' farewell performance with the Chicago White Sox. Bonds stroked only his second home run of the season, the White Sox's 4-3 loss to the Yankees. Minutes after the game, the Sox announced they had traded Bonds to the Texas Rangers for another outfielder, Claudio Washington, and two minor leaguers. It was Holtzman, not Bonds, who was supposed to be the player on the move, but Cal Hubbard's recurring sore arm had given Holtzman his first start in 27 days and most observers on hand figured the Yankees were showcasing him for an imminent trade.

SPRING FOR ART

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association and Sanford Plaza Merchants Association sponsored the first Annual Spring Art Show for school children at the Sanford Plaza. Over $500 in prize money was awarded to winners in the show which featured 29 entries. Two professional judges from out-of-town deliberated for about five hours in judging the three age categories. Mary Daum (upper photo), a Seminole High School student, was awarded first place in the 15-18 age group for a batik, "Shells." Laura Davis (lower photo), a student at Lakeside Middle School, won a Merit Award for a India ink drawing of a tiger in the 11-14 age category.

Cook Of The Week

Her Food Has Continental Flair

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent

Myrtle Jenquin, Casselberry, substitutes in school cafeteria work now, but a few years ago she was the cafeteria manager at Longwood Elementary School, until she retired. Myrtle likes to cook. "I always did enjoy it. Today, I recognize students I used to know, and they still like the same food that they did years ago. Top on the list are pizza, hamburgers and any kind of ice cream, just so it's cream!" Her tastes haven't changed!" she laughed.

With so many schools having the daily lunches satiated, most of Myrtle's work is not in the cooking, but in the serving of the food. "We have conveyor belts at Sabal Point, Winter Springs and Altamonte Elementary Schools. Makes the job much easier and more convenient," she said. Each summer, Myrtle and her husband go to Wisconsin where she does a lot of canning of fresh vegetables. "We're bringing back fish for the freezer and real good sausage and wieners," she said. Myrtle did not learn to cook

She Wants To Marry, But Trouble Is Mom

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman, 6'1" tall, with a man of 5'6". Sidney is a widower with three grown children. He is very attractive and represents the kind of security a woman may rarely find. He was happily married for 30 years, and now he wants to marry me. The trouble is my mother. We have lived together since Dad died 12 years ago, and ever since I told her I want to marry Sidney, she has cried and carried on like you wouldn't believe. She says she's too old for me and it will never work out. I've told her she could live with us, but she refuses to move to the city where we would live. (She and I presently live in a suburb.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a 6-year-old daughter I'll call Mary. My neighbor has a 6-year-old daughter I'll call Lisa. Well, we took our daughters to the doctor for their shots. First my neighbor took Lisa in, and she screamed and howled as if the doctor was cutting off her arm, so Lisa's mother said, "I won't let that man old doctor hurt you. If you cry I'll buy you a new doll on the way home." So Lisa turned off the tears like you would turn off a faucet. When it was my daughter's turn for her shot, I took her in and she started yelling and carrying on just like Lisa did. I said, "Wait a minute, Doctor!" Then I took Mary and love her little bottom. Then I said, "You let the doctor give you the shot so you won't get sick and die, and I don't want to see any more screams." After that, she behaved herself and didn't shed a tear. When we got home, Mary said, "Mama, don't you love me?" And I said, "Sure I do, with all my heart." And then she said, "How come you didn't get me a doll like Lisa's?"

DEAR DONT: Personal letters should be enjoyed. And they "belong" wherever they are read the most pleasure. DEAR ABBY: I have a 6-year-old daughter I'll call Lisa. DEFENSE ATTORNEY RONALD BROOKS QUESTIONS ALBERT DALLABRIDA SR.

In Winter Springs Agency Under Fire By State

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The state fire marshal's office may issue a "cease and desist" order against the Winter Springs Fire Department unless immediate action is taken to have its paid firefighters comply with state law, D.R. DeWar, state firefighters standards coordinator of Ocala, said today.

"The city must either get its firemen certified or terminate their employment," said DeWar, adding that firefighters are supposed to meet state standards set forth in the law before employment.

"After issuance of the cease and desist order, the city will either correct the non-compliance with state law or the Division of State Fire Marshal will pursue the matter in court, DeWar said.

He said a letter to this effect was sent by him on Sept. 25, 1977 to Mayor Troy Flansd advising the mayor of the order.

DeWar said all the regulations have good reasons behind them, adding that a person who cannot meet minimum uncorrected vision standard could lose his eyesight as a fire or in a related job and have difficulty seeing the sign.

"Someone with a 20-600 eyesight cannot see the big F or big E on the eye chart from five feet away," DeWar said.

He said it appeared that the city believes the state "was coming down on them because of a visual acuity problem, but that is not true. The problem with the vision problems were with the Winter Springs Fire Department for a year before they were terminated."

"I received letters dated Sept. 28, 1977, signed by Chief Holzman, saying that firefighters, Roger Roy and J.C. Lawson, were terminated as of that time. The records reflect that we advised the problem with Roy and Lawson's vision in a letter in June, 1976," DeWar said.

He named the firefighters who had not been certified as Lawson, who joined the department in February, 1976; Roy, who joined in April, 1976; and H. Huggins, in July 1976; William Meyer, February 1977; He said the council is composed Dallabrida Takes Stand Analytical, Sobbing...

By DENNIS PEOLA
Herald Staff Writer

At times analytical, at times defiant, but near the end a sobbing Albert Dallabrida Sr., told the jury: "I'd never do anything to hurt my family."

"I take them with me wherever I go. Why would I want to hurt them?"

With that testimony the defense and prosecution rested in the manslaughter trial of Dallabrida, charged with being intoxicated when he pulled his van in front of an oncoming truck. His wife and three children were killed in the ensuing crash.

Most of his family was waiting outside the courtroom in the

"I could hear my grandson screaming, papa, nana."

Final Arguments On Tap Friday

The defense and prosecution has rested in the manslaughter trial of Albert Dallabrida Sr., 56, of Sanford. However, closing arguments and a verdict will have to wait until Friday when the judge in the case returns from a meeting in Tallahassee.

Current Judge Robert McGregor announced he would be out of town today. The judge made the announcement at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday when the defense rested after Dallabrida had testified for one hour and 45 minutes.

The jury was instructed to avoid reading about or watching news reports on the case and speaking about it with anyone. The trial will resume with closing arguments at 9 a.m. Friday.

The defense called eight witnesses in its case, including four friends and fellow members of the Moose Lodge in Sanford who testified they saw Dallabrida throughout the day and he did not appear intoxicated.

Also called to testify were three of the Dallabrida children and a non-law who also said he did not appear intoxicated prior to the accident and testified as to his distraught behavior following the accident.

Dallabrida is charged with four counts of manslaughter by driving while intoxicated in a van-truck collision Oct. 23, 1977 in which his wife and three young children died within three days of the accident. There were also persons in the van when the accident occurred on U.S. 17-62 near the entrance to the Sanford Burger King Restaurant.

made the turn."

In further testimony, Dallabrida said his wife was always cautioning him about getting too close to oncoming traffic.

"She was always saying 'honey, it's too close, be careful,'" Dallabrida said of his wife Elizabeth, 51, one of those who died in the accident. "She didn't say nothing that night," he said.

His attorney then questioned him about testimony from witnesses who said Dallabrida was uncooperative and unaring after the accident.

Dallabrida said he couldn't hear his grandson screaming at his hospital.

"The only reason I was being uncooperative well not yourself in my position, I could hear my grandson screaming, 'papa, nana.' I just wanted to see him. I wanted to see my family. I couldn't walk. I don't know why they wouldn't let me see him. I could have questioned him down."

"They wanted to keep me at the hospital for observation for my leg, but I wanted to go see my children, and my wife, who had been taken to an Orlando hospital following the accident."

Dallabrida described himself as a "soft drinker" who had not been drinking for six months before the accident. "I just made up my mind to lay off because of my weight," he said.

Dallabrida said he was a tractor-trailer driver for 30 years. However, under cross examination he refused to respond when Erickson asked: "In 30 years as a tractor-trailer driver did you ever make a left turn without stopping?"

Finally, Dallabrida said there was a big difference between a van and a truck.

"I thought I had enough time, that's all I can tell you," he said.

Erickson repeatedly asked him if he ever drove to that intersection as a sober man or variations of that same question.

"I didn't think I should have been driving I wouldn't have driven."

"If you call four drinks drunk, then I was drunk, but I don't consider that to be drunk," he said.

"Do you know why you made an improper judgment that night?" Erickson asked.

"I probably all make improper judgments at some time in our lives," Dallabrida responded.

Asked on direct examination why the entire family was in the van, Dallabrida said: "Anywhere I went I always took the children. I don't believe in leaving them home alone. I don't care where I went. I always took the children."

And the children, as they testified, stood by their father and at times displayed the same defiance to Erickson's questions.

Polk Pay Actions Justified - Williams

Seminole County Commission Chairman Dick Williams said this morning Sheriff John Polk was justified in issuing pay raises to some of his employees when the county commission failed to act on his request.

Sheriff Polk several days ago had asked the county commission for money from the general fund to give 64 sheriff's department clerical personnel pay raises in line with other county clerical employees.

"We did have about the request before Tuesday's meeting, and I suppose we could have reviewed it in time to approve it Tuesday, but we were working on other matters," Williams explained.

However, when the county commission Tuesday told the sheriff it would have the request reviewed, he said he took that as an insult.

Polk withdrew his request and informed the county commission he will tender $12,000 from his contingency account to allow for the 6.4% increase.

"We would have to have such a request reviewed by our personnel department," Polk was told by Williams. The commission chairman explained the review would be to make sure the sheriff's employees were doing work comparable to that of the commission employees whose salaries had been raised.

"I regard that as a personal insult," Polk told the commission. "I've already done that, and I'm just as capable of doing that as anyone."

"I'm surprised at that," Williams commented, adding, "We conduct these reviews every year of budget time, and the sheriff never said he considered it an insult before. I personally think the sheriff was angry over other problems, such as the funding for the jail."

Polk convinced his statutory power to distribute money in his budget as he wishes and granted the pay raises to his clerical personnel.

The salary raise granted by the county ranged from 5 to 7 percent, according to the county commission.

The raise Polk indicated, which are retroactive to May 1, average 6 percent.

Soviet Dissident Gets 7-Year Term

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet court found human rights activist Yuri Orlov guilty of anti-Soviet activity today and sentenced him to seven years in prison and five years of exile.

Prosecutor Valentin Lavrentev issued the sentence at the end of the four-day trial in a white brick courtroom near Moscow's center.

Orlov in the day, Nikol Ivanov and Andrei Soloviyev and his wife Yelena were pushed into a police van and taken away after a lengthy delay when Orlov tried to get into the trial. It was not known whether they were officially charged.

Orlov was 43, and two sons by a previous marriage, Dmitri, 25, and Alexander, 28, were allowed into the courtroom but Orlov's father, Oleg, and several reporters were barred to avoid word outside.

Before he was allowed to leave the courtroom Wednesday, Orlov said three agents and three female KGB security agents stepped out of his clothing, with the exception of his bra, as an apparent search for Western reporters and other dissidents waited in the street for a report from the family at the end of the day's proceedings.

Orlov, 43, founder of the dissident organization known as the Soviet Union with the Helsinki accord on human rights, was charged with "anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda."

In his examination Wednesday, Prosecutor Sergei Yemelyanov called for the most severe sentence provided — seven years in a labor camp and five in exile inside the Soviet Union.

Orlov, delivering his own 30-minute submission to save his attorney political embarrassment, accused Yemelyanov of "ideological intolerance," which he said was dangerous when practiced through society as a whole "and inevitably leads to cultural stagnation."

"Ideological intolerance is necessary for peaceful coexistence," Orlov said.

"Ideological intolerance provides the basic cause for the arms race and not the other way around."
