(Pen) Pals: The Big Rip-Off? By LEONARD KRANSDORF

A con game said to have been around since the beginning of the prison system in the United States continues to flourish causing unwitting victims to lose hundreds, sometimes thousands of dollars...and in some cases leaving them physically harmed and emotionally scarred.

And oddly enough, the crime isn't being committed on street corners...it's being done by prison inmates around the nation-right from their prison cells.

The problem came to light recently when The Evening Herald editors became suspicious of letters received from Ohio

The inmates primarily citing the loneliness of prison life asked The Herald to publish letters asking citizens to write and ultimately establish a pen pal relationship—a relationship which often is the basis for a congame, according to prison authorities. Contacting prison officials in Ohio as well as Florida disclosed that while the practice is not secret it is not condoned. Marion, Ohio superintendent E. P. Perini described it as "nothing but a sham or con game and I do not condone it."

"I would say that this has been going on for as long as prisons have been in existence." according to Richard Dugger, assistant dent of Florida State Prison near

The superintendent said that in answering the letters, citizens could eventually be subjecting themselves to money requests, broken feelings and physical injury. And, according to one prison official, these inmate to warn him," according to Roger Overberg superintendent of the London

Overberg added most of the amounts usually do not reach the $5,000 level. He noted though that the case shows that many people

Sanford Crime Lab Shares Problems Cited In Report

Responding to a government-funded report highly critical of crime laboratories in the U.S., Supervisor Claude Trubey, said the state Regional Crime Laboratory in Sanford shares some of the problems, but not the most critical problem identified in the

The report found many crime laboratories could not make some of the required basic tests, such as matching blood samples. The three-year study by the Forensic Sciences Foundation Inc., reported that 71 percent of the laboratories tested got "unacceptable" blood typing results.
Thirty-four percent could not match paint samples. Twenty-two percent could not spot differences among three metal samples.

Fifty percent could not identify dog hair and 18 percent failed to analyse document specimens correctly, according to the report.

"That's scary as hell," Trubey said. The supervisor attributed the errors to "oversealous" analysts who are undertrained and underequipped for the work, two major conclusions reached in the report.

Truley conceded the local crime lab is understalled and unirrequipped which has resulted in a wait of up to three months for certain cases to be completed and returned to the investigating However, Trubey credits the states department of Forensic training and Research for maintaining a high quality of work and

In Isfahan: Americans

Warned To Stay Indoors

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) - The army sent more troops and tanks to the southern city of Isfahan today to enforce martial law following two days of bloody anti-shah rioting by thousands of religious extremists. The 12,000 Americans in Islahan were warned to stay

Isfahan was reported to be quiet following a declaration of martial law and a dusk-to-dawn curfew enforced by heavily armed troops positioned on nearly every street corner in the ancient city 257 miles south of Tehran.

More troops were dispatched in the wake of the first contingent sent Friday to crush an 18hour revolt by bombhurling extremists protesting political liberalization on religious

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI) - Haif a fleet of Cuban-American fishing boats seized Friday after a gunbattle and ramming attempt were being escorted to the Bahamian capital today where 30 crewmen will face poaching charges. Three 60-foot Bahamian patrol boats surprised a group of 30 lobster and shrimp boats Friday morning near Great Isaac Light, about 65 miles off the coast of Fort Lauderdale and 20 miles north of Bimini.

Only 12 of the boats were reported captured and then only after an exchange of gunfire that left one fisherman critically wounded. No condition report was available on the unidentified crewman, but officials said he was receiving medical care.

Bodies Found Off Bimini

BIMINI, Bahamas (UPI) - Authorities say they are stumped by the discovery Friday of four bodies off the coast of Bimini. Investigators said the bodies were decomposed and partially eaten by fish, so the cause of death was not immediately apparent. The identities of the victims were not known. Three of the bodies were picked up and another was sighted, but could not be Investigators said they knew of no missing boats or planes that could account for the Caucasian bodies. Bahamian Police Detective Inspector Garth Johnson was dispatched to Bimini to conduct an investigation.

Remains Discovered

MOSCOW (UPI) - The Soviet newspaper Pravda says the frezen remains of an adult mammoth were found recently in Taimir, an area above the Arctic circle in north central

"The first information about this interesting find came from the Katanga district executive committee, which said huge tusks were spotted, apparently of an elderly mammoth," Pravda said Friday...

"An expedition of the Soviet Academy of Sciences Zoological Institute took out the head, feet, bones and remains of the body." Pravda said the remains were delivered to Leningrad, where "a detailed study of muscular tissues, brain and other organs of this ancient animal" will begin soon.

...Pen Pal Rip-Off?

Both Perini and Overberg noted that emotional as well as financial loss could be an end result of the letter writing.

"This is primarily true in the case of a girl who is unattractive, sees the letter in the paper writes and forms a pen pal type of relationship," Overberg said. He added that sometimes the inmate will build the persons hopes up but when he is released he never shows up at the woman's house. In several cases Perini noted the girl will send the inmate bus fare but the person will

"We had one inmate pose as a female and he began writing to a man in California. Eventually he asked for $130 for plane fare because he was getting released and wanted to go out to visit," Perini said. The warden added that in this particular case the money was recovered. Overberg added that even with the rule that inmates can only get letters from an ap-proved mailing list consisting of family and

He added that his office has not "received a rash of complaints, but I'm sure it exists."

He added that a concerned person should consider calling the prison chaplain so he could check out the situation and see if "th person would be performing a good deed or whether they are being suckered in." ## Rethinking Tax Policy

President Carter is inclined to think that only 'millionaires" would benefit from a reduction in the capital gains tax. But the House of Representatives knows otherwise.

House approval Friday of a capital gains break for homeowners who sell a house at a price driven up by inflated real estate values suggests that members of Congress have been doing their bomework in this case, it means studying the election teturns - particularly those from the June 6 primary in California.

As students of the Proposition 13 phenomenon all know, the Jarvis tax limitation amendment owed its success to the fact that property taxes on California homes were rising much faster than the incomes of the people who live in them.

The 'federal government doesn't levy a property tax, but it cashes in on soaring property values via the capital gains tax when a home owner sells a house and doesn't invest the entire proceeds in another home within 18 months or two years.

The House, following recommendations of its Ways and Means Committee, has seen the opportunity to deflect some of the fire that might be aimed at Washington in the current tax revolt. Now it's up to the Senate.

In all, the House voted for $16.2 billion in cuts in personal income and corporate taxes. Its bill would exempt up to $100,000 of the capital gain from sale of a home whether the owner re-invests it all in another residence or not. This is an important reform, especially for couples whose children have flown the nest and who want to sell the family house and buy or rent a more modest home. The present tax law frustrates or discourages that simple maneuver, and is an example of how the tax structure can get out of step with the conomic trends affecting the lives of taxpayers. Capital gains amendments are only part of the some of them do not suit President Carter because most of the relief would go to taxpayers in the $15,000 to $40,000 range of income rather than the under-$20,000 range targeted in his own tax If Mr. Carter does his homework, too, he will realize that the inequities in the tax structure involve the middle-income taxpayer as much or more than those lower on the economic ladder. He also should be aware that public resentment toward taxes and government spending,

As He Is Buried...

Fifteen years of faithful although troubled stewardship on the throne of St. Peter has come to an end in Rome, with the death of Pope Paul VI.

He will be buried Saturday It was his destiny to follow one of the most popular and tharismatic leaders ever to occupy that throne, John XXIII, and that meant Paul was forever living in the shadow of a legend.

He probably would never have inaugurated the far-reaching changes that John launched when he called the Second Vatican Council, but Paul faithfully completed the work. That meant accepting the burden of criticism and controversy that flowed from the reforms of church liturgy. The terrorism that marks our time, both internationally and n Italy, was abhorrent to him. He offered himself as a hostage in an effort to save the lives of the Israelis at Entebbe and of the tidnapped Italian political leader Aldo Moro. Through all the turnult, he was a quiet man of peace, massuming , taithful, profoundly conservative in spirit and herefore profoundly disturbed by the tides of change that have wept the world and the church in this generation.

Robots New Week

It sounds like something out of science fiction, but it's actually a very well-educated guess at what the industrial near future will be like. The four-day workweek - or as many may prefer to think of it, the three-day weekend - is racing up on us, it appears. We have it on the prescient authority of the Delphi Forecast, a look into the near future of employment trends by a joint research team of the University of Michigan and the Society of Manufacturing Engineers.

In just 12 years, the study predicts a 32-hour workweek will be standard in unionized in dustries. And it will be in large part because of the advent of a new stage in industrial evelopment which might be called the Robot Within the next few years, Delphi advises, new generations of robots and other mechanical devices with sensory sophistication approximating human capabilities in assembly work will be developed and introduced into basic manufacturing processes.

By 1990, at least half of the direct labor presently involved in small parts assembly will have been replaced by programmed automation. Production patterns also will have been changed eliminate repetitious simple tasks by workers. Instead, individuals in a streamlined workforce cannot be automated, in some cases following the production of an item from start to comproblem free, however, Delphi foresees a shortage of technicians with the skills necessary to service all the new computer-controlled robots

His Goal: To Prove Carter ECKE 'Just A Liar, Hypocrite'

ATLANTA - Gene Christie admits that if he were prudent he would keep secret his opinions regarding Jimmy Carter. After all, Christie is music director at local radio WSB, a station which not only supports the president editorially but is owned by long-time Carter friend and contributor Anne Cox Chambers.

Yet the job be hanged.

Christie says that exposing Carter as a "liar and hypocrite" is more important than employment security.

Hence this month he will go to press with the 11th issue of The Carter Watch, a feisty six-page newsletter singularly devoted to picking apart the present White House occupant. As was the case with the previous 10, the 11th issue of The Carter Watch will contain no particular revelations. Publisher Christie does not pretend to print scoops.

What he does do, he says, is publish the only existing journal of "what is really going on" at various levels of the U.S. ad-And what is going on?

Nothing good, says Christie.
For example, in one newsletter he printed the well-known Carter pledge to balance the budget by 1961. Near this item was an opinion by the president's budget manager, James McIntyre, that a reduction of the federal deficit

'He says what people

want to hear..."

will be unlikely for several years.

That about says it all for The Carter Watch view of the current Christie believes the president "says what people want to hear, and to hell with whether it's true or not." Lying "comes easy" for Carter, Christie adds: "That's why I started my newsletter, so that he wouldn't get away with it." So it is that the publication is studed with what are believed to be presidential fabrications and misrepresentations. The Watch says Carter has lied about everything from the Panama Canal to capital punishment; on the latter, Christie says he once said he favored it, and a year later, he said he didn't.

Then there was the Watch item concerning the flying saucer

Carter is supposed to have seen in Leary, Ga., in 1969. Carter originally said he had seen the object with 10 Leary residents, and later said he had seen it with 10-20 townspeople. However, no one in that community remembers the UFO incident

And currently, says Christie, Carter is lying when he says he has not given any thought about running for a second term. If that were true, Christie asks, why has the president hired an Atlanta advertising executive, at $66,000 a year, to refurbish his image with an increasingly disappointed electorate?

Taken alone, none of the executive's suspected fables is grounds But viewed together, Christie insists the "lies" constitute a pattern that is part of Jimmy Carter's character. "The lies are not a recent thing," Christie says.

"Carter has been telling tales now for a good number of years." The first tale Christie heard Carter tell was to a University of Georgia audience in 1970. Carter was running for governor, and Christie says he told the students he would not reappoint a segregationist named Roy Harris as a school regent.

Then, says Christie, "He told Roy Harris that he really didn't At the time, Christie didn't think much about the incident. But when Carter won the Georgia state house, and, "incredibly," went from there to the president's palace, Christie decided to

He created The Carter Watch last October, and dedicated it restitutionally to the people's right to know. Now 27, Christie publishes the newsletter in a small office in an Atlanta suburb (Conyers). He is his own one-man staff. He gathers the news, writes it, edits it, and sets the type. It's a professional job, but a frustrating one; Christie prints 360 copies of the Watch a month, but only about 200 of them are paid.

Ex-Dolphins Scheduled For Release From Jail

MIAMI (UPI) - Don Reese and Randy Crowder, the two former Miami Dolphin defensive linemen sentenced to jail on cocaine charges, are scheduled for release Tuesday, but it might be too late for football this year. Their future was complicated Friday by the disclosure that the NFL has advised its teams not to talk to the two players until they are released and their case has been reviewed by the league

Player Pool Set At $500,000

Commissioner Butch Buchholz announced Friday that the 1979 player pool would be $500,000. Buchholz also said that for the first time individual performances during the regular season would be rewarded from the pool and final distribution of the money would be determined by the league and the sponsor.

When the league was established in 1976, the pool amounted to $60,000. It was $100,000 for the Buchholz also unveiled a new trophy, the King Cup, to be awarded annually to the team champion. The cup was named in honor of star Billy Jean King and her husband, Larry King, founder and past president of the league.

ORLAND PARK, III. (UPI) - One of the starting field for Saturday's Youth Golf Classic, state champion Jerry Nosewicz of Aurora, Colo., was disqualified Friday because he celebrated his 18th birthday one day earlier. Nosewicz won the state crown in qualifying for

PROSPECTUS Raiders have special incentive in '78 - to regain top o division. This is one club that doesn't neglect future while emphasizing present so there's constant infusion of new blood. If you want results, they produce it, such as II-3 last year. Picking Raiders to be in middle of title race is as sure as betting Affirmed.

No quarterback in game means as much to his team as Kenny Stabler, with that superbly accurate southpaw sling. He's big reason club led NFL in scoring. But he's been operating on bad knees, so there's element of ris He also has possibly best line in game protecting him, led by Art Shell, Gene Upshaw on left side (which is also why Raiders run in that direction). Interesting duel between Henry Lawrence, John Vella for right tackle job. Change in receiving corps finds Raymond Chester replacing Mike Stant and providing versatility. He can play light end behind Dave Casper or be used out wide. Mark Van Eeghen gains appreciation as 1,000-yard runner. Rating

They'll undoubtedly stick with 3-4 as basic alignment, but Mike McCoy has chance to supplant Dave Rowe in middle. Raiders' pass rush lags unless Pat Toomay is inserted at end. Return of Phil Villapiano as outside inserted at end. Return of Phil Villapiano as outside linebacker after knee surgery is biggest plus. He and Ted Hendricks keep quarterbacks on edge. Encroachment of age threatens some of the secondary incumbents, like Willie Brown, George Atkinson, so look for increasing action by Charles Phillips, Neal Cotzie. Departure of assistant coach Joe Scannella for Canada won't affect special teams as long as Ray Guy booms punts, Erroi Mann kicks field goals and Cotzie gets loose on punt returns. Rating — B+

PREDICTION Raiders won't be surprised by Denver again. They're not going to get much immediate help from newcomers, unless it's Rich Martini at split end. But tab them to regain first in AFC West.

Residential Sales Show Big Gain For Quarter

The volume of residential sales during the second quarter of 1978 was up 30 percent over volume for the third quarter of 1977, according to statistics released by the Florida Association of realtors.

The data was compiled from multiple listing service figures supplied by local boards of Realtors throughout the state. Sales volume of residential property through the multiplelisting service of 24 local boards amounted to $991.4 million, compared with $762.5 million for third quarter 1977.

Porno King: $17 Million Bill

ATLANTA (UPI) - The Internal Revenue Service is seeking $17 million in back taxes from the pornography empire of fugitive Mike Thevis, who has been added to the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals.

An IRS spokesman Friday said the federal government sought $10.71 million in corporate income taxes from Global Inc., $5 million from Thevis and his ex-wife, Joan, and $1.2 million from Fidelity Equipment Leasing IRS Director John W. Henderson said both Thevis-controlled companies were accused of price-fixing and attempting to monopolize the pornography business.

Realty World Taps Salesman

Realty World has announced that Charles Gracy has joined the firm to service Sanford and surrounding areas for The Real Estate

'Energy Award' For Complexes

Three apartment complexes in Hillsborough County developed by Cardinal Industries. Inc., Sanford-based producer of factory- built apartment units, have been given the "1978 Energy Efficiency Award" by the Tampa Electric Company. They are Grove Court' Apartments in Plant City, Turkscap Apartments in Brandon and University Square Apartments in Tampa.

Auto-Train: Discount Sought

Auto-Train Corp. has applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval of a new discount fare for round-trip travelers-first time, according to the company, such a discount has been offered on its Lorton, Va., to Sanford route.

Publix: Scanning Concept

Publix Super Markets has announced a commitment to the scanning concept in all Publix stores throughout the state. Immediate plans call for installing NCR scanners in all new Publix stores as well all enlarged stores "as soon as possible."

IBM Wins Anti-Trust Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A federal judge has ruled in favor of computer giant International Business Machines in the $918 million antitrust suit brought by Memorex Corp., of Santa Clara, Calif. Memorex used IBM in 1973, asserting illegal monopoly practices in the computer and software business which Memorex said forced it out of the computer business.

How To Keep Home Salable

Q. I am not planning to sell my home, but I wish to heep it saiable should the most arise. What can I do to make it more

A. One of the things you do is to keep the outside maintained. This means both the house and

About New Hospital Public Relations Director...

'Isn't It Great To Have Kay Back?'

The "street talk" around Sanford during the past two weeks has been a repetition of a question defined with ubilance, "Isn't it great to have Kay back?" Nobody has to ask, "Kay Who?"

Involvement and Kay Bartholomew have been tightly linked since the attractive brunette arrived in Sanford with her Navy officer husband and two small children nearly 20 years ago. And Kay never did leave her home here. She just eased across the Seminole County line in the interest of continuing education and employment opportunities. With what seemed like a powerful, dynamic drive accelerated with self-starting determination, and braked with discipline and dedication, the talented lady hit town bundled with an abundance of ideas, - ideas directed to materialized — ideas that flourished. Kay is a neighbor person —a friend—a helping hand. She is a leader—and a follower. She's warm accommodating-humble. She cares. And she's sharpreal sharp-from within, without fanfare.

community leaders for civic advancement - ideas that

After her first week as Director of Marketing and Public Relations for Seminole Memorial Hospital (SMH), Kay said, "Oh, I am delighted. It's like being home again." Caught in a cloud nine wisp of excitement over "being home," Kay continued, "I consider the job community relations. I'm really impressed with the hospital and Mr. Bentley. There are real professionals at the hospital. It has changed-much for the better." With Kay's new job comes responsibility - one of her thriving forces. "I have lots of ideas," she said. She spoke earnestly and enthusiastically in praise of the hospital — the staff, the pleasant working conditions and the food," she said, "is really good, and the cost has gone down."

Since July, 1974, Kay was Community Relations Specialist at Valencia Community College, Orlando, a position she loved, but left to return "closer home" to begin her new job at SMH on July 31. A Texan, Kay's experience in communication began at the University of Houston followed by an editor's position on the Houston Post. After moving to Sanford in 1969, she was a daily columnist-photographer for the Orlando Sentinel Star, Seminole Edition. Scholar Kay was graduated from Florida Technological University, magna cum laude, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in journalism in 1974, and is a Certified Public Relations Practitioner. She received an associate of Arts degree (also magna cum laude) from Seminole Com-

Her accomplishments are lengthy and varied. And she has taken more than a fair share of honors—the merits of hard work and selfleamess.

The busy executive is a member of the following professional organizations: Florida Public Relations Association; Sigma Delta Chi (Society of Professional Journalists, Orlando Chapter; Women's Executive Committee, Orlando Downtown Delvelopment Board; American Women in Radio and Television, Inc., Central Florida Chapter; National Council for Community Relations; Southern Public Relations Federation; and Council for Continuing Education for Women. Her past local activities ran the gamut from swimming interests to culture, including a member of the Board of Directors for the then Sanford Zoo. And she was a big

promoter of Social events. The navy wife assisted in chartering and later became president of Sky Anchors Toastmistress Club, which drew membership from many Sanford women as well as other in 1964 Kay and the late Ann Ray launched a membership drive for Seminole Mutual Concert Association (SMCA). The membership, at that time, was under 366 which the co-chairmen and team of workers boosted to nearly 1500. Kay was later to become the first woman president of the organization.

The inception of the SMCA's First Champagne Ball was the brainchild of Elizabeth and Frank Mebane, along with Kay - a carry-over from the gala balls previously held at the Mayfair Inn to herald the social season. SMCA Ball revelers will recall the pomp and glitter of the annual galas—of days past. On one occasion, a huge tent was pitched adjacent to Mayfair Country Club to accommodate the entourage who couldn't seem to wait to attend the season's most elegant social event. But Kay doesn't dwell on the past. She is a lady who has it all together. She is "now"-from the word "go." In January, Kay was elected to the vestry of Holy Cross Episcopal Church for a three-year term. She and Betty Hallback are the two women on the vestry.

Kay's drughter, Sandy, and her husband, Attorney Thomas G. Ross, live at Annapolis, Md., where she is administrator of London Town Publik House and Gardens. Son Scott is a senior at Florida State University.

When Kay said "exemmently relations"—that bells have story. She rattled off several ideas - appealing ideas ideas geared toward continuing community enrichment. Watch Kay follow through—with flying colors.

Celebrated Dionnes Want Only Privacy

ST. BRUNO, Quebec - Three of the best known women in the world live in this cluttered, undistinguished suburb of Montreal. One is a library assistant at the municipal bibliotheque, another is a checkout clerk at a supermarket, the third is forever unemployed and looking for

They are, respectively, Yvonne, Cecile and Annette Dionne, the surviving members of the celebrated Dionne quintuplets. Once they were like royalty in Canada. In act, for a time, they were property of the crown. Now, having turned 44 in May, they say they want only to be left

Yvonne will not allow her photograph to be taken. Cecile eaves her checkstand if approached by reporters for interviews. Annette, sometimes spokeswoman for the survivors, says the sisters will not even talk for money; they have recently refused a large sum to appear in a CBC-TV documentary of their experience. There is no secret why the women wish seclusion. Their lives have not been happy. From the beginning they have been involved in controversy, family feuds and personal misfortunes. Friends say they are tired of reading about their problems, and are desperately trying to insure tranquility for middle and old age.

It will not be easy. This year a best-selling book here revived Canadian interest in the Dionnes. Next autumn the CBC documentary will add to the fascination. "The women will always be curiosities," says Pierre Berton, author of "The Dionne Years." He doubts the nation can ever forget "le phenomene."

Phenomenon is the appropriate word. When the Dionner were born in 1934 the odds against fraternal quintuplets were 54 million to 1. What's more, the sisters were iden tical, not fraternal. They were freed from a single egg. and were to become the only such quints in history to survive to adulthood. The world was delighted. People gripped by the Depression were suddenly reminded of the hope and wonder of life. The girls' mother worried what the neighbors would say ("They'll think we're pigs"), but millions of news readers were fascinated by such details as how the kids were baptized (with a kitchen dripper).

Early on, there was concern for the babies' survival. Oliva, the father, was encouraged to sign exploitation contracts because "they'll die anyway so you may as well make a profit." There were demands for Canada to take over the quints' affairs, and a hasty law was approved glass-enclosed playground. More than 3 million tourists visited the 200. Author Berton says it's no wonder the girls grew up to be shy, dependent (at age 18, one of them did not know how to board a bus), and completely estranged

Even today, says Berton, the sisters have not forgiven Oliva and Elzire Dionne for having given them over to the crown. Nor have they modified the opinion that their father tried shamefully to capitalize on their birth (he once accepted a $100 down payment to have the girls placed on display at a Chicago exposition).

Reportedly, there is only one remaining contact between the women and their parents. Each year they exchange Christmas cards. The parents still live near the Callander, Ontario, site where the quintuplets were born; they too have withdrawn from the controversy and say they do not want any more publicity.

The family war has undoubtedly been the most enduring sorrow of the Dionne's story, but there have been others. Emilie died at 19, of suffocation, in a convent. Marie died in 1970 of a bloodclot on the brain. Observers say the surviving sisters have had alcohol problems, and two of them have been divorced.

homosexuality leveled at one of the former husbands. And then there are rumors that one of the surviving women is a lesbian. As for money, the Canadian government once set up a $1 million trust fund for the quintuplets, but apparently the fortune has since been squandered. The survivors live now in the middle class. Their homes are not pretentious. Annette has three sons, Cecile has four children living, and one dead; Yvonne never married. Friends say the sisters are close. They remain very shy, but one of their former husbands says they are neither cloistered nor anti social. The local people are fond where Ditinies. There is feeling here, and throughout Canada, that the glory of the quintuplet's birth was twisted - and the girls were accordingly abused — by sundry greed. The community is ashamed of the past, and it does what it can to respect the sisters' desire for privacy. Yet even in St. Bruno the wonder of 1934 can get the better of people. Every so often, says a municipal officer,

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Grover, Oviedo, formerly of Sanford. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alton B. Duxbury, 811 Magnolia

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows an original design created by Mildred M. Caskey of Sanford. Fashioned of moon-mist bridal satin and rosepointe lace, along the Empire silhouette, the gown featured a high neckline and flaring lace sleeves defined with seed pearls. The chapel-length train was lavishly adorned with re-embroidered lace appliques and clusters

Her fingertip veil of illusion, appliqued with lace roses and pearls, was caught into a pearl incrusted lace coronet.

She carried a bouquet of white glamellias interspersed with pale pink rosebuds and trailing greenery.

Angela Barnett, niece of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a pale lavender gown with the peasant neckline trimmed with pleated ruffling, which was repeated through to the waistline. She carried a basket of

She's Back On Job Today

Vacation Almost The Last For Woman

Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Jeann Hare 508 Satsuma Drive, is on the job today as a recording secretary at the Seminole County Clerk's office after a week's vacation in the Smokey Mountains. On her vacation she saw a bear, met some nice people and came close to dying.

Mrs. Hare is a diabetic. She has been taking insulin for the past five years. Mrs Hare and her three children had planned on a week in the woods away from traffic, telephones and the distractions of modern life. What they did not count on was a diabetic attack. A week ago Wednesday Mrs. Hare and her children rented a cabin in Unicoi State Park in northeast Georgia. "We got to the cabin and went for groceries," recalled

Mrs. Here. "All this time I was feeling alabh." That night she slept little, because she was feeling ill. "I get sick every one or two years anyway, so I just thought it was time to get sick to my stomach and that it

She had eaten a sandwich that had been left laying out and she thought that might have something to do with her illness. In fact, her diet that day may have triggered the attack. She had been eating unbalanced hurried meals and the ration of starches may have exceeded the other food items she needed. By mid-morning Thursday Mrs. Hare was so ill she sent her 12-year-old daughter Stephanie to call her husband. George Hare was not home and Stephanie contacted a woman at the camp lodge.

A few minutes later a park ranger arrived at the cabin. "He figured out what was happening to me," said Mrs. Hare. "I was so far out of it I didn't even know what was

The ranger summoned an ambulance and within a few minutes Mrs. Hare was being transported over hill and dale at speeds from 70 to 100 miles per hour to a hospital 86 miles away.

Mrs. Hare, who cordesses a preference for slower speeds, said she was told how fast the ambulance went

"I knew we were moving, but I thought we were just going the speed limit," laughed Mrs. Hare.
"I has lost all sense of time and direction . It seemed to me like the sun had risen and was going down in the west, when it had actually just risen a little while before and it was 11 a.m.," she said.

At the hospital four physicians and three nurses working on Mrs. Hare determined her sugar count was 700. Normal, she said, is 100.

"They were taking vitals on me every 15 minutes, I do remember hearing someone say that," recalled Mrs.

She also remembers asking if she would live.
"I had asked if they thought I was going to make it and they said they thought so, but didn't know. It didn't really bother me that they didn't know. I had asked and they had given me an answer, that's all I wanted," she said. Arrangements were made for her children to spend the night in a loster home that night. By the next morning See HARE, Page 2A

Who Owes Who?

County Attorney Harry A. Stewart has taken the si-fensive in a legal battle between himself and the city of Sanford by filing countersuit for a claim of $94.54 in connection with a car accident in the Seminole County parking lot May 24.

Stewart's countersuit is in response to an $18.87 lawsuit filed against him by the city about three weeks ago. In that suit the city alleged Stewart's car struck a Sanford Police vehicle causing damage to the left front sumper of the police car. In Stewart's counterputt he claims the police car was 'attempting to park in a restricted parking space" in the courthouse parking lot. Stewart claims he was bucking out of his "seeigned parking space" when the mishap inmages to his car. The city has already spent more than it stands to gain in the lowest. The cost of filling its suit against Stewart was 30 and cost of serving the papers on Stewart was $12 or $2.13 more than the damages the city is trying to recover.
